

WHAT DO THESE PEOPLE HAVE IN COMMON?

BARACK OBAMA

44th President of the US

ERIN BURNETT

News Anchor, CNN

BILL SIMMONS

Sports Columnist

ANNE RICE

Fiction Writer

AISHA TYLER

Actor/Director, Author

ILHAN OMAR

House Representative

THEY ALL MAJORED IN POLITICAL SCIENCE!

POLITICAL SCIENTISTS STUDY:

Civil rights | Climate change |
Congress | Diplomacy &
Peacebuilding | Human Rights
| International Business |
Political Philosophy | Statistics |
Terrorism | Foreign Policy

...& more!

POLITICAL SCIENCE MAJORS...

- Intern at Organizations and Governments All Over the World
- Study Abroad
- Become Involved in Student Government
- Participate in Model United Nations
- Promote Excellence Through the Political Science Honors Society, Pi Sigma Alpha
- Volunteer for a Variety of Causes

APSA RESOURCES

Found a Political Science Club

Learn how to start one on your campus today with APSA's Political Science Club Guide!

Learn about Internship Opportunities

APSA provides a list of databases and resources to help students find the perfect internship.

Visit the Annual Meeting Career Fair

At the APSA Career Fair, students can connect with political science departments, institutions, and organizations for informational discussions about jobs in political science.

Apply for the Ralph Bunche Summer Institute

Participants—undergraduates from under-represented racial and ethnic groups—in this five-week program are introduced to the intellectual demands of graduate school through courses and social events.

BECOME AN APSA MEMBER

APSA provides many resources for undergraduate political science students—from awards and research funding to ways for students to connect and programs for diversity and inclusion.

Learn more at www.apsanet.org/membershipbenefits

Learn about these resources, programs, and more at www.apsanet.org

POLITICAL SCIENCE

Makes a difference

