

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

February 2020 | Volume 9, Issue 2

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 6

Comparative Politics 40

International Relations 58

Methodology 75

Non-Academic 85

Open 86

Other 92

Political Theory 105

Public Administration 113

Public Law 120

Public Policy 128

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

February 2020 | Volume 9, Issue 2

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (3 listings)

American Government and Politics 6 (64 listings)

Comparative Politics 40 (35 listings)

International Relations 58 (35 listings)

Methodology 75 (22 listings)

Non-Academic 85 (1 listings)

Open 86 (11 listings)

Other 92 (24 listings)

Political Theory 105 (14 listings)

Public Administration 113 (13 listings)

Public Law 120 (15 listings)

Public Policy 128 (28 listings)

Total listings this issue 265

Resources and Guidance on Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for February

ADMINISTRATION

The American Academy of Arts and Sciences

Rank: Program Officer for American Institutions, Society, and the Public Good

The Program Officer is responsible for research and writing, project management, policy development and analysis, meeting organization, and administrative functions related to the Academy's work in the program area of American Institutions, Society and the Public Good. Using a cross-disciplinary approach, the Program Officer will collaborate with Academy members, policy experts, and staff.

- Collaborate with staff, Academy members, project members, and partner organizations to organize and facilitate meetings, to implement outreach and communications plans, and to write reports as part of the final phase of the multi-year Commission on the Practice of Democratic Citizenship.

- Work with the Program Director to explore and develop future initiatives and areas of research for the program area.

- Draft and/or edit materials for internal use and for external publication including background research reports, drafts and final reports, proceedings, occasional papers, and articles for Academy publications.

- Identify and gather research materials for commissions and meetings; facilitate the flow of information among committee/panel members, staff, consultants, and other applicable parties.

- Lead quantitative and qualitative data collection, analysis, and visualization as needed.

- Assemble committees and working groups and provide guidance and support in the conduct of their work.

- Manage workshops, meetings, and/or conferences including developing agendas, inviting presenters and participants, overseeing meeting logistics and multimedia presentations, and preparing written summaries.

- Write grant proposals and assist in fundraising.

- Maintain current relationships and develop a network of new partners and potential new funders for the program area.

- Help expand the profile of the Academy and its audiences within the academic, policy, and professional communities.

- Assist with executive briefings, presidential remarks, and speeches.

- Represent the program areas at various convenings as requested.

- May supervise permanent or temporary Academy staff in tasks related to their project, and encourage staff development.

- Other duties as assigned.

 Qualifications

- A Ph.D., Ed.D., or other relevant degree in the social sciences or public policy, with experience in data collection and analysis plus two years of relevant project administration and professional work; or an M.A. or MPA in a relevant field with at least five years of substantive professional work experience.

- Strong skills in academic research, data collection and analysis, and ability to translate collected data clearly to diverse audiences.

- Expertise in the study or practice of American politics, society, and/or public policy.

- Ability to foster an inclusive team environment and leverage diverse perspectives of committee members and internal staff.

- Knowledge of current policy issues and scholarship in the program area with the ability to work across multiple disciplines.

- Excellent written and oral communications skills, including an ability to synthesize, summarize, and present research findings and recommendations for a variety of audiences.

- Demonstrated ability to effectively engage with a wide variety of internal and external groups including funders, academic, policy, and research institutions, and other potential partners.

- Successful grant writing experience and familiarity with private foundations and other funding sources.

- Ability to work collaboratively and effectively in a team environment.

- Experience managing complex projects on tight deadlines.

- Ability to creatively problem-solve and be flexible in a changing work environment.

- Proficiency in Microsoft Office (Excel, Access, PowerPoint, Word); SPSS, R or similar statistical software; and social media tools. Experience with data visualization (i.e. Tableau) preferred.

- Occasional travel may be required.

Please apply on our website here: <https://www.amacad.org/career/program-officer-american-institutions-society-and-public-good>

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/21/2020

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 7657

Moravian College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Public Policy

POSITION SUMMARY: For Fall 2020 - Spring 2021, we are hiring a visiting assistant professor/instructor to teach American politics.

The political science department of Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania is searching for a one-year, full time, visiting assistant professor or instructor (depending on degree completion status) in American politics for the 2020-2021 academic year. The position will entail a three-three teaching load that will focus on basic American political institutions and processes for a total of six courses. Candidates seeking this position must be able to teach a foundational introductory course in American political systems. Multiple sections of the introductory course would be offered over the course of the two-semester appointment. Candidates must be able to teach a course on American political parties and elections in the Fall 2020 semester. In addition to such courses, candidates for the position will be asked to offer at least two upper division courses over the academic year from among the following areas: Congress and the Presidency, Public Policy and Public Administration (Administrative Politics), and/or Environmental Politics.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Our liberal arts courses require appropriate reading and writing assignments.

QUALIFICATIONS: Successful applicants will have ABD status or a completed doctorate in political science. For ABDs, this position will have visiting instructor status. Teaching experience is required. Moravian College is a New American College with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Our four-person department places a high value on dedicated teaching and high levels of student engagement. The College is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

The deadline for applications is May 1, 2020.

Review of applications will begin on March 16, 2020 and will continue until filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. (Moravian College will not sponsor applicants for this position for a U.S. work visa).

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach their letter of interest, curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, set of recent teaching evaluations and relevant recent syllabi to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Candidates should also arrange to send two (2) letters of recommendation to moyerd@moravian.edu. Please attach documents as a PDF file.

All positions are subject to budget availability.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Occasionally required to remain seated in a normal position for long periods of time

Regularly required to walk about

Regularly required to maintain balance while walking, standing, crouching, or running

Routinely required to reach up and out with hands and arms

Regularly required to talk and hear; verbally express information or instructions

Regularly required to use hands to grasp objects, type, pick up objects, move objects, or hold objects

Routinely required to stoop, kneel, crouch, and/or crawl

Regularly required to climb stairs and/or ladders

Occasionally required to lift up to 25 pounds and carry a distance of 10 feet

Occasionally required to push and/or pull up to 25 pounds a distance of 10 feet

Routinely required to stand for long periods of time

Close vision (clear vision at 20 inches or less)

Depth perception and the ability to judge distances and spatial relationships

Adjustable focus

WORK ENVIRONMENT: The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job. The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

Moravian College is the nation's sixth-oldest college located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs. For more than 275 years, the Moravian College degree has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change. Moravian College is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian College focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Moravian College is committed to enhancing the diversity of our community, recognizing that to provide a diverse learning environment is to prepare students for personal and professional success in an increasingly multicultural and global society. The College community understands that it shares a responsibility for generating and preserving a learning environment where difference is valued, and inclusiveness and social justice are practiced.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7621

Moravian College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Public Policy

POSITION SUMMARY: For Fall 2020 - Spring 2021, we are hiring a visiting assistant professor/instructor to teach American politics.

The political science department of Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania is searching for a one-year, full time, visiting assistant professor or instructor (depending on degree completion status) in American politics for the 2020-2021 academic year. The position will entail a three-three teaching load that will focus on basic American political institutions and processes for a total of six courses. Candidates seeking this position must be able to teach a foundational introductory course in American political systems. Multiple sections of the introductory course would be offered over the course of the two-semester appointment. Candidates must be able to teach a course on American political parties and elections in the Fall 2020 semester. In addition to such courses, candidates for the position will be asked to offer at least two upper division courses over the academic year from among the following areas: Congress and the Presidency, Public Policy and Public Administration (Administrative Politics), and/or Environmental Politics.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Our liberal arts courses require appropriate reading and writing assignments.

QUALIFICATIONS: Successful applicants will have ABD status or a completed doctorate in political science. For ABDs, this position will have visiting instructor status. Teaching experience is required. Moravian College is a New American College with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Our four-person department places a high value on dedicated teaching and high levels of student engagement. The College is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

The deadline for applications is May 1, 2020.

Review of applications will begin on March 16, 2020 and will continue until filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. (Moravian College will not sponsor applicants for this position for a U.S. work visa).

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach their letter of interest, curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, set of recent teaching evaluations and relevant recent syllabi to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Candidates should also arrange to send two (2) letters of recommendation to moyerd@moravian.edu. Please attach documents as a PDF file.

All positions are subject to budget availability.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Occasionally required to remain seated in a normal position for long periods of time

Regularly required to walk about

Regularly required to maintain balance while walking, standing, crouching, or running

Routinely required to reach up and out with hands and arms

Regularly required to talk and hear; verbally express information or instructions

Regularly required to use hands to grasp objects, type, pick up objects, move objects, or hold objects

Routinely required to stoop, kneel, crouch, and/or crawl

Regularly required to climb stairs and/or ladders

Occasionally required to lift up to 25 pounds and carry a distance of 10 feet

Occasionally required to push and/or pull up to 25 pounds a distance of 10 feet

Routinely required to stand for long periods of time

Close vision (clear vision at 20 inches or less)

Depth perception and the ability to judge distances and spatial relationships

Adjustable focus

WORK ENVIRONMENT: The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job. The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

Moravian College is the nation's sixth-oldest college located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs. For more than 275 years, the Moravian College degree has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change. Moravian College is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian College focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Moravian College is committed to enhancing the diversity of our community, recognizing that to provide a diverse learning environment is to prepare students for personal and professional success in an increasingly multicultural and global society. The College community understands that it shares a responsibility for generating and preserving a learning environment where difference is valued, and inclusiveness and social justice are practiced.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7622

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: IGB Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Other

The Carl R. Woese Institute for Genomic Biology (IGB) at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign solicits applications for a position as an IGB Fellow in its new theme Genomic Security and Privacy (GSP). The position is open to scholars who have completed their PhD within the last several years and who are looking for a stimulating and supportive interdisciplinary environment to carry out independent and collaborative research. IGB Fellows typically spend two or more years conducting research in an IGB theme. The theme leadership works with the Fellow to develop an individual program of research that contributes to the theme.

Recent years have seen the rise of a diverse collection of applications of genomics that have profound implications for individuals, society, and the future of humankind. The GSP theme aims to understand the consequences of these scientific and social developments through a highly interdisciplinary research team. The Fellow would contribute to studies on technology and policy for security and privacy of genomic data. Sample areas of research include: privacy-enhancing technologies for sharing genotype, phenotype, and lifestyle data; ramifications of genetic genealogy for law enforcement; models for diversity, consent, and governance; and potential issues with diverse omics data. Contributions may include seeking out and applying for grants, designing and executing studies, coordinating research with and among GSP faculty, and managing graduate or undergraduate researchers tasked to GSP projects. Moreover, there are diverse drivers of developments in the field of genomics bringing on issues that will shape the development of GSP. We encourage applications from candidates in at least these areas as they relate to GSP: Bioinformatics, Computer Science, Law, Social Sciences, and Economics.

Applicants should submit a CV, a research summary, and the names of three recommenders who can write letters on their behalf. Inquiries and applications should be directed to Nikki Gentry by email at ngentry@illinois.edu or Carl A. Gunter at cgunter@illinois.edu. The University of Illinois is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Annual salary is $55,000, plus a $7,500 allowance.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 3/1/2020

Date Posted: 1/29/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7682

University of the District of Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: African American Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science
African American Studies/Politics, Politics of Race, U.S. Politics and/or Public Administration

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

The University of the District of Columbia's Division of Social & Behavioral Sciences invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track, 9-month faculty appointment in the Political Science Program with a target start date of August 16, 2020. Required specializations for this position include African American Studies and/or the politics of race, and U.S. government. Applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science will be given full consideration.

The successful candidate will be expected to have an active research agenda and a strong publication record, as well as to offer both lower- and upper-level undergraduate courses relating to race and ethnicity, U.S. politics, and public policy and administration. Other potential areas of focus include, but are not limited to, black political thought, African Diaspora Studies, and intersections between race, class, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

Preference will be given to candidates who are able to articulate a vision that involves developing community partnerships, fostering student activism, pursuing social justice, and engaging with students from diverse backgrounds. As a small but dynamic program characterized by a transdisciplinary and critical ethos, we also welcome details about how the candidate's work would complement the strengths of current faculty and help to shape the program's trajectory.

The Bachelor of Arts in Political Science is among the most popular undergraduate degree programs at UDC. A hallmark of the program is its research-based curriculum, which includes a three-course sequence that culminates in a senior capstone project. It also offers an interdisciplinary concentration in Global Studies. Faculty are expected to participate in program, division, college, and university service activities, as well as to advise students and supervise undergraduate internships and research projects.

UDC is a public, comprehensive university with an urban land-grant distinction. It is the city's only public institution of higher education and has historically been a minority-serving institution. It serves approximately 5,600 students across its certificate, two-year, baccalaureate, masters, and professional programs. Beyond the university, the Washington metropolitan community provides an exceptional learning laboratory for faculty, staff, and students.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

Letter of interest

Curriculum vitae

Statement of teaching philosophy

Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including selected course syllabi, if available)

Research statement/agenda

Writing sample

Contact information for three references

Three letters of recommendation (required at candidacy phase)

Official transcript of terminal degree (required at candidacy phase)

TO APPLY: Visit <https://udc.applicantstack.com/x/detail/a2hbyxhr9l98> to view the posting and create an online account for applying. Through the website, you will submit your CV and cover letter. After doing so, to complete your application, you must submit all additional materials – statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, research statement/agenda, writing sample, and contact information for three references – to DSBSApplications@gmail.com.

DEADLINE: The position will remain open until filled. Applicants that are submitted by February 28 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/28/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7680

University of the District of Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: African American Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science
African American Studies/Politics, Politics of Race, U.S. Politics and/or Public Administration

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

The University of the District of Columbia's Division of Social & Behavioral Sciences invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track, 9-month faculty appointment in the Political Science Program with a target start date of August 16, 2020. Required specializations for this position include African American Studies and/or the politics of race, and U.S. government. Applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science will be given full consideration.

The successful candidate will be expected to have an active research agenda and a strong publication record, as well as to offer both lower- and upper-level undergraduate courses relating to race and ethnicity, U.S. politics, and public policy and administration. Other potential areas of focus include, but are not limited to, black political thought,

African Diaspora Studies, and intersections between race, class, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

Preference will be given to candidates who are able to articulate a vision that involves developing community partnerships, fostering student activism, pursuing social justice, and engaging with students from diverse backgrounds. As a small but dynamic program characterized by a transdisciplinary and critical ethos, we also welcome details about how the candidate's work would complement the strengths of current faculty and help to shape the program's trajectory.

The Bachelor of Arts in Political Science is among the most popular undergraduate degree programs at UDC. A hallmark of the program is its research-based curriculum, which includes a three-course sequence that culminates in a senior capstone project. It also offers an interdisciplinary concentration in Global Studies. Faculty are expected to participate in program, division, college, and university service activities, as well as to advise students and supervise undergraduate internships and research projects.

UDC is a public, comprehensive university with an urban land-grant distinction. It is the city's only public institution of higher education and has historically been a minority-serving institution. It serves approximately 5,600 students across its certificate, two-year, baccalaureate, masters, and professional programs. Beyond the university, the Washington metropolitan community provides an exceptional learning laboratory for faculty, staff, and students.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

Letter of interest

Curriculum vitae

Statement of teaching philosophy

Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including selected course syllabi, if available)

Research statement/agenda

Writing sample

Contact information for three references

Three letters of recommendation (required at candidacy phase)

Official transcript of terminal degree (required at candidacy phase)

TO APPLY: Visit <https://udc.applicantstack.com/x/detail/a2hbyx9r98> to view the posting and create an online account for applying. Through the website, you will submit your CV and cover letter. After doing so, to complete your application, you must submit all additional materials – statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, research statement/agenda, writing sample, and contact information for three references – to DSBSapplications@gmail.com.

DEADLINE: The position will remain open until filled. Applicants that are submitted by February 28 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/28/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7681

Grinnell College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science (American Politics)
2 Year Term (start Fall 2020)

GRINNELL COLLEGE – POLITICAL SCIENCE/AMERICAN POLITICS– TWO YEAR POSITION (START FALL 2020).

GRINNELL COLLEGE. The Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year appointment in American Politics beginning Fall 2020. Assistant Professor (Ph.D.) preferred; Instructor

(ABD) or Associate Professor possible. Research and teaching interests are open to all areas in American Politics. The teaching load is five courses/year over two semesters, including Introduction to Political Science, two intermediate courses, and a seminar.

Grinnell College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts college with a strong tradition of social responsibility. In letters of application, candidates should discuss their potential to contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. To be assured of full consideration, all application materials should be received by February 14, 2020. Please visit our application website at <https://jobs.grinnell.edu> to find more details about the job and submit applications online. Candidates will need to provide a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts (copies are acceptable), a sample of written scholarly work and provide email addresses for three references. Questions about this search should be directed to the search chair, Professor Gemma Sala, at [PoliSciSearch@grinnell.edu] or 641-269-3141.

Grinnell College is committed to establishing and maintaining a safe and nondiscriminatory educational environment for all College community members. It is committed to a policy of nondiscrimination in matter of admission, employment, and housing, and in access to and participation in its education programs, services, and activities. The college does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national origin, age, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth, religion, disability, creed, or any other protected class.

An offer for this position will be contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/14/2020

Date Posted: 1/27/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7677

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor

Assistant Teaching Professor, starting August 2020

Responsibilities: Teach introductory, upper-division, and graduate courses in American Politics, broadly defined. The teaching load is 4/4. This is a non-tenure track, renewable position.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. or equivalent in political science or a closely related discipline (e.g., government). ABDs are eligible to apply provided that all requirements for the doctoral degree are met before the start date.
- College-level teaching experience in political science, as instructor of record or teaching assistant.
- Area of specialization is American politics.
- Effective teaching of undergraduate students, as demonstrated by the contents of the Portfolio of Teaching Effectiveness (see below).

Preferred Qualifications:

- Experience teaching undergraduate or graduate courses in public administration, or graduate courses taken in public administration

Credentials Required for Application:

- Cover letter including discussion of teaching experience and research interests
- Curriculum vitae
- Writing sample (e.g., a dissertation proposal or chapter, academic journal article, working paper to be submitted to a journal)
- Statement of contributions or commitment to diversity in higher education
- Portfolio of Teaching Effectiveness, which includes a statement of teaching philosophy, a sample syllabus, and quantitative evaluations of teaching (if available)
- Contact information for three professional academic referees who will provide a current (dated within the past year) letter of reference that should address quality of teaching
- Copies of transcripts indicating all relevant graduate course work, indicating highest degree completed

For a complete job description & instructions on how to apply for this position visit <https://bgsu.hiretouch.com/> or contact the Office of Human Resources, BGSU.

Application deadline is February 28, 2020

Background check and official transcript showing highest degree earned required for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/28/2020

Date Posted: 1/24/2020

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7672

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Postdoctoral Fellowships in the Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government and Public Policy and the Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis

The Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government, and Public Policy at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship (with possible renewal for one additional year), for a scholar with advanced quantitative methods training and interest in American politics. We are looking for an outstanding and curious scholar who has a Ph.D. in one of the social sciences, computer science, or a related discipline. Our ideal candidate has strong skills in R and Python and experience working with relational databases. Most importantly, we are looking for someone who is excited to collaborate as part of a team.

The position begins July 1, 2020. The fellow will work under the supervision of Professor Andrew Reeves along with Profs. Betsy Sinclair and Michael Olson.

Fellows are expected to be in residence during the fellowship period and to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science along with the other units of Washington University relevant to the Fellow's research interests. Fellows will work together in a collaborative setting with a team of faculty members on research projects toward the production of jointly published scholarly research. The fellow will mostly be working on collaborative projects with the supervising faculty, but will also have time for his or her own projects. There are no teaching or service obligations.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. and training in Political Science, Computational Social Science, Communications, Computer Science or other related fields. Candidates must have received their Ph.D. degree after July 1, 2017. For candidates finishing their Ph.D. in 2020, all requirements of the degree must be finished no later than June 30, 2020. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to sex, race, ethnicity, protected veteran, or disability status.

Fellows receive a salary of $55,000 per year, plus benefits, a $2,500 research/travel stipend, and a $2,500 moving allowance.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS

Completed applications must include a curriculum vitae, one writing sample (demonstrates both research interests and technical skills), a research statement and three reference letters. We will interview finalists by phone or Skype. The application deadline is January 31, 2020.

Applications and supporting documentation must be submitted electronically. Please visit the Washington University Human Resources web page (<http://hr.wustl.edu/opportunities/Pages/default.aspx>) and search for job requisition number 46529. Candidates should create an account, complete the application form and upload a CV and supporting materials. Please follow the directions below for uploading documents to your profile.

1. Log into your account. Click on 'My Activities'
2. Click on 'Add Attachment'
3. Choose attachment type and purpose and click 'Upload Attachment'
4. Browse for document on your computer and upload file

You may upload your documents as one file or individual files. Letters of recommendation and questions should be e-mailed to Betsy Sinclair (bsinclair@wustl.edu).

SAFETY AND SECURITY

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

EOE STATEMENT

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to sex, race, ethnicity, protected veteran, or disability status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7664

Reed College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Half-Time)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Half-Time)

Reed College

2020-2021

Applications are invited for a half-time visiting appointment in political science with specializations in one or more of the following fields: international relations or American politics/public policy. Candidates with an ability to teach in multiple fields are particularly encouraged to apply. The appointment begins Fall 2020.

Candidates are expected to teach three sections total across one or two semesters. All our courses are capped at 24 students. Because we are a small department, we are interested in candidates who incorporate multiple methods of analysis and integrate this approach into their teaching of undergraduate seminars and in the advising of student research.

Reed College is a highly selective liberal arts institution with a distinguished record of educational accomplishment and a strong commitment to scholarship (<http://web.reed.edu>). Our pedagogy emphasizes the conceptual and theoretical foundations of the discipline. We expect the Ph.D. to be in hand, or very near completion, by the start of the appointment. Above all, we seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level. Information on the department is available at http://academic.reed.edu/poli_sci/. Search inquiries may be addressed to political.search@reed.edu.

Reed College is a community that believes cultural diversity is essential to the excellence of our academic program. In your application materials, we welcome a description of how you would engage and sustain the commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in Reed College's diversity statement (<https://www.reed.edu/diversity/>). An Equal Opportunity Employer, Reed College values diversity and encourages applications from underrepresented groups.

Please send an application letter, CV, demonstration of teaching excellence, and two letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/73270>. Sample syllabi are welcome but not required. The review of applications will begin on February 14, 2020, and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7652

University of Central Arkansas

Rank: Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Central Arkansas invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics with an emphasis on judicial politics. The position begins August 15, 2020. Teaching responsibilities include lower and upper-division courses in an undergraduate political science program. The department seeks candidates who can teach upper-division political science courses in constitutional law, civil liberties, and the American judicial system. The ability to teach a course in other judicial areas (for example, cybersecurity, administrative, or environmental law), would be attractive. Teaching responsibilities include introductory sections of U.S. government & politics. Other responsibilities include serving as the advisor for pre-law students and the legal studies minor. The successful candidate will possess excellent teaching skills and demonstrate the potential for scholarly research and publication. A Ph.D. in Political Science (with an emphasis in judicial politics) is preferred. ABDs will be considered. If the candidate does not have the Ph.D. in hand, he/she will be hired as an instructor until the degree is obtained. In addition to political science, the Department also offers undergraduate degrees in public administration and international studies. To apply, submit a letter of application, current vita, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a scholarly writing sample, course syllabi, and teaching evaluations via UCA's online application system (<https://jobs.uca.edu>). Review of applications will begin February 14, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, please submit a complete application by February 14.

Founded in 1907, the University of Central Arkansas (www.uca.edu) has an enrollment of approximately 11,700 students. The university offers 87 undergraduate and 58 graduate certificate and degree programs, including doctoral programs in five disciplines. The student body consistently scores above the national average on the ACT exam. UCA is proud of its tradition of teaching excellence and its contributions in scholarly and creative activities. The campus is widely acclaimed for its beauty. UCA is located in Conway, Arkansas, a thriving city of approximately 60,000, located in central Arkansas, and thirty minutes from Little Rock. Conway is home to a number of major industries, two private colleges, an excellent public school system, and strong K-12 parochial schools. Residents have easy access to the Ouachita and Ozark National Forests and pristine wild areas near the Buffalo National River. The University of Central Arkansas is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and encourages women and minorities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7650

Trinity College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science in American Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor in American Government commencing in fall 2020. We seek a professor who is able to teach research methods, an introductory course in American government and politics, a course on Congress, and a course on parties and elections. We encourage applicants who share our department's commitment to diversity and inclusion in the broadest terms.

Evidence of scholarly promise is required. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is desired, if available. Teaching load is 3/2. A Ph.D. in Political Science should be in hand or expected by August, 2020. The Department especially welcomes applications from women, minority candidates, and other underrepresented groups. The College is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer. Trinity College is a highly selective, non-sectarian liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in research and teaching. Trinity is located in, and deeply engaged with, Connecticut's capital city of Hartford. Our 2,200 students come from all socio-economic, racial, religious, and ethnic backgrounds from the U.S., and 17 percent of our students are international. Trinity has a number of campuses and exchange programs across the globe.

To ensure full consideration please submit a letter of application (including statement of research and teaching interests), CV, graduate transcript, sample of scholarly writing, course syllabi and evaluations

(if available) as well as at least three letters of reference to <https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com> by March 1, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 3/1/2020
Date Posted: 1/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7616

University of Oxford

Rank: John G Winant Visiting Professor of American Government

The University of Oxford invites applications for the John G Winant Visiting Professorship of American Government. The tenure of each Visiting Professor will be up to one academic year (1 September to 1 July). Applications are now open for the academic years 2021-22, 2022-23 and 2023-24.

You will be expected to deliver one major public lecture, the Winant Lecture, preferably in the first term of your appointment. More generally you will contribute to the intellectual activity of the Rothermere American Institute (www.rai.ox.ac.uk/).

You will be intellectually eminent in American government, with an academic background (e.g. PhD and research experience) in American government, political science, or similar related field of study.

You will hold a Supernumerary Visiting Fellowship at Balliol College (www.balliol.ox.ac.uk/). A stipend is payable (£40,000 for the academic year, or pro rata if appointment is for only part of an academic year). This stipend is intended to be a supplement to your current salary. In addition, some funds are available for travel expenses and for other expenses incurred in the course of your duties as the Visiting Professor.

Further details may be obtained from Sue Morris, Secretary to the Winant Visiting Professorship, Senior Appointments Team, University of Oxford (email: professorships@admin.ox.ac.uk).

Applications including a CV and covering letter should be sent directly by email to: professorships@admin.ox.ac.uk. Please indicate which of the three academic year(s) you wish to be considered for in your covering letter.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 20 April 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 4/20/2020
Date Posted: 1/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7645

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Visiting Lecturer in Politics

Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a one-year Visiting Lecturer position in the Department of Politics (with potential for renewal) with expertise in American public law. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law.

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory American Politics course and a course in your field of specialization, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) the mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate should be able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is February 15, 2020. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted. Instructions are online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/>.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first-generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 2/15/2020
Date Posted: 1/14/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7641

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Methodology and American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track assistant professor in Methodology and American Politics, starting August 2020. The candidates' research interests can be from any area of American Politics. Duties include teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets.

Minimum Qualifications:

Candidates should have PhD or an earned doctorate by Fall 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The successful candidate will possess strong quantitative skills, clear substantive interest in American politics, and an eagerness to teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship is preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form) to the UGA job site at <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/98323>.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Contact:

Wendi Finch

Email:

wendif@uga.edu

Phone:

706-542-2057

Fax:

706-542-4421

Address:

180 Baldwin Hall
Athens GA, 30602-1615

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/14/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7642

University of Mary Washington

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

UMW Visiting Assistant Professor in American Government, 2020-21 Academic Year

The candidate should have a major field in American Politics with demonstrated expertise in political behavior.

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science, be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Introduction to American Politics, quantitative methods, American public opinion, and other American politics courses in the candidate's areas of specialization.

Candidates must submit the following materials to be considered for the position:

Cover Letter

CV

Teaching Statement and Evaluations

Sample Syllabi

Research Statement

Contact Information for References

Graduate Transcripts

The University of Mary Washington accepts only completed online applications and related materials at Careers.umw.edu.

Faxed, mailed, or emailed applications or documentation will not be considered. Employment offers are contingent upon the successful completion of criminal background checks. If accommodations are requested either before or at the time of the interview, please contact the Recruitment Office at 540-654-1238.

The University of Mary Washington is an equal opportunity employer committed to creating and supporting a diverse and inclusive work and educational community that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. We promote access, inclusion and diversity for all students, faculty, staff, constituents and programs, believing that these qualities are foundational components of an outstanding education in keeping with our mission. The university is interested in candidates whose experience and qualifications support an ongoing commitment to these core principles.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7638

Wake Forest University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs (3 Positions)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: American Politics, Africa, Latin American

Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs (3 Positions)

American Politics/Comparative Politics/ International Relations
Wake Forest University

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs is seeking applications for three one-year temporary Visiting Assistant Professor positions: one in the area of American Government and two in Comparative/International Relations (with a preference for African and Latin American foci) beginning July 1, 2020.

Job Description:

We seek highly qualified candidates who have a commitment to excellence in teaching. A Ph.D. or ABD status in Political Science or a related area is required. More information about the department is available at <http://http://politics.wfu.edu/>.

Additional Job Description

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked among the top 30 national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, as indicated by the motto "pro humanitate." For quick facts about the University, go to <http://www.wfu.edu/visitors/quickfacts.html>.

Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>.

The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following: (1) a cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community; (2) a CV with contact information for three professional references; (3) a teaching statement including a plan to establish an inclusive learning environment in the liberal arts context; (4) sample course syllabi; (5) teaching evaluations and (6) copies of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

Review of applications will begin on February 7, 2020. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by February 7, 2020. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to Peter Siavelis, Chair, Wake Forest University, Department of Politics and International Affairs, P.O. Box 7568, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Peter Siavelis, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, siavelpm@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7632

University of Tennessee, Chattanooga

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Parties & Organizations, Public Opinion

The Department of Political Science and Public Service at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position in American Political Behavior beginning Fall 2020. A multi-year contract is available.

We are seeking an American political behavioralist to teach research methods each fall and spring (a required course for all of the majors in the department at the 3000-level) and with a capacity to offer a range of courses in political behavior (such as media and politics, public opinion, campaigns and elections, and parties and interest groups, and upper-level seminars in their area of expertise). We do not need a methodologist per se, but a colleague who desires to work with undergraduates on the foundations of research design and social science methods. The successful candidate will participate in the life of the department, including supporting senior thesis projects and student engagement outside of the classroom, with civic engagement as a particular focus.

Candidates should provide evidence of prior teaching experience and their capacity to provide instruction through a variety of approaches, including online, and their experience and desire to engage with diverse populations. Review of applications will begin January 27; while preference will be given to applications received by that date, the review will continue until the position is filled.

Further information about the department is available at <https://www.utc.edu/political-science-public-service/index.php>

Qualifications:

Successful candidates will possess the following requirements: Ph.D. in Political Science or closely-related field. We will consider ABDs with scheduled completion dates prior to the start of the position.

- Demonstrated experience in political behavior and research methodology.
- Ability to teach introductory/advanced courses in American Political Behavior and Research Methods.
- Willingness to engage in a variety of instructional modalities, including online instruction.
- Willingness to engage in assisting the UTC campus in its ability to reach additional goals as specified in UTC's Strategic Plan, including a demonstrable commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Application Procedures:

Applicants should submit the following information within our online application system for consideration:

- Cover letter/letter of interest
- CV, including up-to-date, personal contact information (email, phone, etc.)
- Unofficial transcripts
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness, including teaching philosophy, course evaluations, and sample syllabi
- Statement of research agenda
- Statement of approach to teaching and working with diverse populations

Additionally, candidates will need to include names, titles, and email addresses for three (3) references. Confidential letters of recommendation will be requested from finalists only.

Inquiries may be made to Dr. Jessica Auchter, search committee chair, at Jessica-Auchter@utc.edu.

Review of applicants will begin on January 10

Applications must be submitted electronically through the UTC Faculty Career Site by visiting: https://ut.taleo.net/careersection/utc_faculty/jobdetail.ftl?job=2000000000

The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga is the second-largest school in the University of Tennessee System and serves a diverse student body of more than 11,600 undergraduate and graduate students through five academic colleges. UTC offers a unique blend of private and public school traditions with a commitment to achieve excellence, embrace diversity and inclusion and offer experiential learning opportunities for students. As an urban university, we also are dedicated to inspiring positive change and enriching our community. Each day, we strive to earn the trust and confidence of those we serve. Our goal is to make a difference in our community and in the lives of our students.

Our definition of student success is a graduate who has the knowledge required to succeed in the workplace and the personal development to show up on time, how to collaborate and work with others and to execute the steps to complete a project. We have held the line on the cost of education with record low tuition increases over the past four years. But we still have $325 million invested in eight ongoing renovations to campus buildings and construction of new facilities.

Chattanooga, the fourth-largest city in the state, is located in Southeast Tennessee on the Georgia stateline and only a few miles from the stateline of Alabama. Because of our location, UTC enrolls students from those states as well as Tennessee. The city itself has received national recognition for the renaissance of its beautiful downtown and redevelopment of its riverfront on the Tennessee River. For two straight years, Outside magazine has twice named Chattanooga as the Best Town Ever, the only city to achieve that distinction. Lonely Planet magazine says we are one of the Top 10 U.S. destinations, and Money Inc. calls us one of the nation's most underrated cities.

Chattanooga also is home to the first 10-gig internet network in the United States, the fastest internet service in the Western Hemisphere. The city's ongoing dedication to advancing technology has attracted dozens of startups to join companies already here such as Volkswagen, Amazon, Unum, McKee Foods, U.S. Xpress, Coca-Cola Bottling Co. United. Attractions such as the Tennessee Aquarium, Lookout Mountain, the Creative Discovery Museum for Children, Civil War battlefield sites and the African American Museum in the Bessie Smith Cultural Center bring thousands of people to the area, as do events such as the Southern Writers Conference and the musical festivities of Riverbend, Nightfall and Jazzanooga. People who love the outdoors are coming to Chattanooga in vast numbers for its multitude of offerings such as hang-gliding, kayaking, rock climbing, biking, fishing and caving expeditions. The world-famous Ironman Triathlon and Ironman 70.3 half-marathon have contracted to take place in Chattanooga until at least 2023.

In short, Chattanooga is internationally recognized as a forward-thinking city that's rich in tradition, history and wide-ranging activities. We are an exciting and vibrant place to live and work. Whether you're raising a family or single, Chattanooga has something for you.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/10/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7630

Ronald Reagan Institute

Rank: Ronald Reagan Visiting Fellows Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Foreign Policy, History & Politics

The purpose of the Visiting Fellows Program is to advance the political, economic, and national security ideas and values of President Ronald Reagan. Visiting Fellows will be selected based on the relevance of their research to these principles. Proposals will also be judged on the likelihood of completion of a book manuscript during the fellowship period.

The fellowship year will begin in Washington, DC in September 2020 and last until August 2021. Reagan Visiting Fellows are required to be resident at the Institute's new headquarters in downtown Washington, DC. Each fellow will be provided with office space. Visiting Fellows will be expected to play an active role in the Institute's activities and in disseminating ideas related to fellows' academic work. The Institute will facilitate research, expand the fellows' contacts, and grow the fellows' visibility in the Washington policy community. In turn, the research and writing of each fellow will enrich and inform the policy community.

All applicants must submit proof of having successfully defended his/her dissertation by August 15, 2020. Acceptance of the award constitutes a commitment by each fellow to produce a book manuscript at the end of the Fellowship year.

Application Requirements

*Please submit all documents as PDFs. Do not send in zip files.

1. Executive Summary (Maximum of 1 page)

- Name, Address, Contact Information
- University Affiliation and Dissertation Advisor and contact information
- Names and contact information for 2 recommenders
- One paragraph summary description of research question and project's relevance to Ronald Reagan

2. Project Proposal (Maximum of 3 pages)

- Proposal should begin with a clear description of the policy issue being examined and a description of how this issue is linked to the ideas and vision of Ronald Reagan.
- Proposal should consider contemporary implications of the policy issue being examined.
- Description of research methods and approach – if the Reagan Library is likely to be a source for research, please explain.
- Notional book outline

3. Writing Sample (less than 20 pages)

4. CV/Resume

5. Transcripts & Letters of Recommendation

- Unofficial school transcripts and two letters of recommendation must be sent directly from your university and your recommenders to ReaganFellowship@ReaganFoundation.org.

NOTES:

2 openings.

Additional Salary Information: In addition to a stipend of $75,000, each fellow will receive an additional $5,000 for research related costs.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 3/2/2020

Date Posted: 1/9/2020

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7623

Elon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Policy Studies (Continuing Track)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Policy Studies at Elon University invites applications for a continuing track position at the Assistant Professor level in Policy Studies, beginning in August 2020. A PhD or similar research doctorate in political science, policy studies, public administration, or closely related fields is required. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American Government (POL 111), Research Methods in Political Science and Policy Studies (POL 220), as well as introductory and upper level courses in the Policy Studies major.

The ideal candidate is a teacher-scholar motivated and committed to supporting student success. Candidates should possess an active scholarly agenda in a policy-related field and possess experience in mentoring undergraduate research. A willingness to teach in Elon's interdisciplinary Core Curriculum is expected. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people or who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

Elon is a dynamic, private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning. To learn more, please visit the University website: Elon.edu.

Continuing track faculty at Elon are eligible for promotion and compensation on a similar schedule as tenure track faculty. More information about this career track can be found here:

<https://elon.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Faculty-Handbook/Employment/Types-of-Appointments/Continuing-Track-Appointments>

To apply, please send the following to PSTSearchCT2019@elon.edu:

1. A letter of interest
2. Curriculum vita
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi)
4. Writing sample
5. Transcripts
6. Two letters of recommendation as one .pdf file

Applications must be received by February 15, 2020 to be assured of consideration. Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/15/2020

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7624

Elon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Policy Studies (Continuing Track)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Policy Studies at Elon University invites applications for a continuing track position at the Assistant Professor level in Policy Studies, beginning in August 2020. A PhD or similar research doctorate in political science, policy studies, public administration, or closely related fields is required. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American Government (POL 111), Research Methods in Political Science and Policy Studies (POL 220), as well as introductory and upper level courses in the Policy Studies major.

The ideal candidate is a teacher-scholar motivated and committed to supporting student success. Candidates should possess an active scholarly agenda in a policy-related field and possess experience in mentoring undergraduate research. A willingness to teach in Elon's interdisciplinary Core Curriculum is expected. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people or who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

Elon is a dynamic, private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning. To learn more, please visit the University website: Elon.edu.

Continuing track faculty at Elon are eligible for promotion and compensation on a similar schedule as tenure track faculty. More information about this career track can be found here:

<https://elon.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Faculty-Handbook/Employment/Types-of-Appointments/Continuing-Track-Appointments>

To apply, please send the following to PSTSearchCT2019@elon.edu:

1. A letter of interest
2. Curriculum vita
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi)
4. Writing sample
5. Transcripts
6. Two letters of recommendation as one .pdf file

Applications must be received by February 15, 2020 to be assured of consideration. Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7625

Moravian CollegeRank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor of American Politics*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Public Policy

POSITION SUMMARY: For Fall 2020 - Spring 2021, we are hiring a visiting assistant professor/instructor to teach American politics.

The political science department of Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania is searching for a one-year, full time, visiting assistant professor or instructor (depending on degree completion status) in American politics for the 2020-2021 academic year. The position will entail a three-three teaching load that will focus on basic American political institutions and processes for a total of six courses. Candidates seeking this position must be able to teach a foundational introductory course in American political systems. Multiple sections of the introductory course would be offered over the course of the two-semester appointment. Candidates must be able to teach a course on American political parties and elections in the Fall 2020 semester. In addition to such courses, candidates for the position will be asked to offer at least two upper division courses over the academic year from among the following areas: Congress and the Presidency, Public Policy and Public Administration (Administrative Politics), and/or Environmental Politics.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Our liberal arts courses require appropriate reading and writing assignments.

QUALIFICATIONS: Successful applicants will have ABD status or a completed doctorate in political science. For ABDs, this position will have visiting instructor status. Teaching experience is required. Moravian College is a New American College with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Our four-person department places a high value on dedicated teaching and high levels of student engagement. The College is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

The deadline for applications is May 1, 2020.

Review of applications will begin on March 16, 2020 and will continue until filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. (Moravian College will not sponsor applicants for this position for a U.S. work visa).

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach their letter of interest, curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, set of recent teaching evaluations and relevant recent syllabi to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Candidates should also arrange to send two (2) letters of recommendation to moyerd@moravian.edu. Please attach documents as a PDF file.

All positions are subject to budget availability.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Occasionally required to remain seated in a normal position for long periods of time

Regularly required to walk about

Regularly required to maintain balance while walking, standing, crouching, or running

Routinely required to reach up and out with hands and arms

Regularly required to talk and hear; verbally express information or instructions

Regularly required to use hands to grasp objects, type, pick up objects, move objects, or hold objects

Routinely required to stoop, kneel, crouch, and/or crawl

Regularly required to climb stairs and/or ladders

Occasionally required to lift up to 25 pounds and carry a distance of 10 feet

Occasionally required to push and/or pull up to 25 pounds a distance of 10 feet

Routinely required to stand for long periods of time

Close vision (clear vision at 20 inches or less)

Depth perception and the ability to judge distances and spatial relationships

Adjustable focus

WORK ENVIRONMENT: The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job. The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

Moravian College is the nation's sixth-oldest college located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs. For more than 275 years, the Moravian College degree has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change. Moravian College is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian College focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Moravian College is committed to enhancing the diversity of our community, recognizing that to provide a diverse learning environment is to prepare students for personal and professional success in an increasingly multicultural and global society. The College community understands that it shares a responsibility for generating and preserving a learning environment where difference is valued, and inclusiveness and social justice are practiced.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 1/8/2020Salary: NegotiableeJobs ID: 7621

Moravian CollegeRank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor of American Politics*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Public Policy

POSITION SUMMARY: For Fall 2020 - Spring 2021, we are hiring a visiting assistant professor/instructor to teach American politics.

The political science department of Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania is searching for a one-year, full time, visiting assistant professor or instructor (depending on degree completion status) in American politics for the 2020-2021 academic year. The position will entail a three-three teaching load that will focus on basic American political institutions and processes for a total of six courses. Candidates seeking this position must be able to teach a foundational introductory course in American political systems. Multiple sections of the introductory course would be offered over the course of the two-semester appointment. Candidates must be able to teach a course on American political parties and elections in the Fall 2020 semester. In addition to such courses, candidates for the position will be asked to offer at least two upper division courses over the academic year from among the following areas: Congress and the Presidency, Public Policy and Public Administration (Administrative Politics), and/or Environmental Politics.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Our liberal arts courses require appropriate reading and writing assignments.

QUALIFICATIONS: Successful applicants will have ABD status or a completed doctorate in political science. For ABDs, this position will have visiting instructor status. Teaching experience is required. Moravian College is a New American College with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Our four-person department places a high value on dedicated teaching and high levels of student engagement. The College is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

The deadline for applications is May 1, 2020.

Review of applications will begin on March 16, 2020 and will continue until filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. (Moravian College will not sponsor applicants for this position for a U.S. work visa).

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach their letter of interest, curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, set of recent teaching evaluations and relevant recent syllabi to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Candidates should also arrange to send two (2) letters of recommendation to moyerd@moravian.edu. Please attach documents as a PDF file.

All positions are subject to budget availability.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Occasionally required to remain seated in a normal position for long periods of time

Regularly required to walk about

Regularly required to maintain balance while walking, standing, crouching, or running

Routinely required to reach up and out with hands and arms

Regularly required to talk and hear; verbally express information or instructions

Regularly required to use hands to grasp objects, type, pick up objects, move objects, or hold objects

Routinely required to stoop, kneel, crouch, and/or crawl

Regularly required to climb stairs and/or ladders

Occasionally required to lift up to 25 pounds and carry a distance of 10 feet

Occasionally required to push and/or pull up to 25 pounds a distance of 10 feet

Routinely required to stand for long periods of time

Close vision (clear vision at 20 inches or less)

Depth perception and the ability to judge distances and spatial relationships

Adjustable focus

WORK ENVIRONMENT: The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job. The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

Moravian College is the nation's sixth-oldest college located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs. For more than 275 years, the Moravian College degree has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change. Moravian College is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian College focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Moravian College is committed to enhancing the diversity of our community, recognizing that to provide a diverse learning environment is to prepare students for personal and professional success in an increasingly multicultural and global society. The College community understands that it shares a responsibility for generating and preserving a learning environment where difference is valued, and inclusiveness and social justice are practiced.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7622

Utah Valley University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Political Communication

The History and Political Science Department at Utah Valley University invites applicants for a teaching-focused tenure-track Assistant Professor position with a full (4/4) load of courses. Under the supervision of the Department's chair, the successful candidate will be required to teach lower-division American Government courses as well as upper-division courses in Political Communication and related topics, such as Campaigns and Elections, Campaign Management, or Media and Politics. The candidate will also be required to seek ways to enhance UVU's dual-integrated mission with a focus on engagement, inclusion, and student success.

The History and Political Science Department currently consists of 12 full-time faculty members in Political Science and serves almost 300 students majoring in Political Science. Our approach to professional education is student-centered and demands a high level of faculty-student engagement, with substantial institutional support for engaging students in faculty research. The College of Humanities and Social Sciences and the institution also support work-life balance; many faculty who have earned tenure have done so while welcoming children into their families. UVU values diverse opinions and perspectives and seeks to be inclusive in all practices.

As the largest University in the State of Utah, Utah Valley University is a rapidly growing regional university of nearly 40,000 students and is located in Orem, Utah—about 40 miles south of Salt Lake City. Central Utah boasts not only fine restaurants and cultural events, but also access to world-class ski resorts, hiking, fishing, biking, and other outdoor activities.

Apply online <http://www.uvu.jobs/postings/16406>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 1/6/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7611

Vanderbilt University

Rank: CSDI Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Vanderbilt University's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions (CSDI) seeks up to three Postdoctoral Scholars to conduct research on political institutions, opinion or behavior during the 2020-21 academic year. Applications are welcome from scholars who have received or will receive their doctoral degrees between September 1, 2017, and August 1, 2020, for year-long appointments beginning September 1, 2020. There is no teaching requirement associated with these positions, but Postdoctoral Scholars will be expected to spend a few hours per week contributing to the Center's ongoing research projects. Successful candidates will receive competitive salary, health care benefits, office space, computing resources, and a research fund.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Vanderbilt is an AA/EEO employer and particularly encourages applications from minorities and women.

Candidates should submit a vita and a cover letter describing your research project, what you hope to accomplish while at CSDI, and why spending time at Vanderbilt would provide a useful setting for that research. A graduate school transcript, a writing sample, and letters of reference are also required. Applicants should submit materials electronically at <https://apply.interfolio.com/72285>. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis, but priority will be given to those received before January 17, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7613

Vanderbilt University

Rank: CSDI Senior Visiting Professorship

Vanderbilt University's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions (CSDI) seeks up to three Senior Visiting Scholars to conduct research on political institutions, opinion or behavior during the 2020-21 academic year. Applications are welcome from scholars of all ranks or equivalent professional positions. The specific length of the appointment will be negotiated on a case-by-case basis, but we especially welcome applications from scholars who are interested in spending the entire academic year at Vanderbilt. There is no teaching requirement associated with these positions. Successful candidates will receive financial support (typically, half-salary to support a full year's leave or a stipend to cover travel and housing expenses for shorter visits), office space, and computing resources.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Vanderbilt is an AA/EEO employer and particularly encourages applications from minorities and women.

Candidates should submit a vita and a cover letter describing your research project, what you hope to accomplish while at CSDI, and why spending time at Vanderbilt would provide a useful setting for that research. The letter should also indicate how long the desired time in residence would be and whether there are existing financial arrangements that would be relevant (e.g., if you have a paid semester's leave and health care benefits). Applicants should submit materials electronically <https://apply.interfolio.com/72286>. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis, but priority will be given to those received before January 17, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7614

Albright College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Albright College, a dynamic and inclusive learning community in Reading, PA, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science in American politics beginning in fall of 2020. In addition to supporting the other offerings in Political Science, the new faculty member will offer courses for the Legal Studies minor and can make several valuable contributions to the General Education Program at all levels.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field at the time of appointment is expected. The successful candidate should be able to teach an introductory course in American government, an introductory course in the American judiciary, and Constitutional law. The successful candidate will also have the opportunity to teach and develop courses in other areas of interest and in the general studies program. Commitment to teaching excellence, the liberal arts, mentoring undergraduate scholarship, an active program of research, and service to the college and department is required.

Review of applications for this position will begin on January 14, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. Interested applicants should apply on the institution's website by copying and pasting the link below into a new browser:

<https://usr57.dayforcehcm.com/CandidatePortal/en-US/albrightcollege/Site/ALBRIGHTEXTERNALFACULTY/Posting/View/193>

Supporting application materials can be submitted to hr@albright.edu and must include: 1) cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of teaching philosophy; 4) statement of research philosophy; and 5) three letters of recommendation.

Albright College is a liberal arts institution with approximately 1750 students, located within an hour of Philadelphia and three hours of New York, Baltimore and Washington, DC. Additional information about Albright College is available at www.albright.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7591

Emory University

Rank: Post-doctoral Researcher

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Post-doctoral Researcher
Department of Political Science
Emory University
Atlanta, Georgia

The Politics of Policing Lab at Emory University invites applications for a post-doctoral researcher to work with Tom Clark, Adam Glynn, and Michael Leo Owens. The two-year position begins September 1, 2020, funded by a grant from the Law and Sciences Program of the National Science Foundation. Responsibilities include filing government records requests; converting government records into a comprehensive database; database management; and establishing online infrastructure for depositing, maintaining, and disseminating data. The position includes competitive salary and benefits, funding to support conference travel, and opportunities to publish both independent and lab-based research. Applicants should have rigorous database management skills, familiarity with filing government records requests with local governments, and appropriate coding and data analysis skills. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand by September 1, 2020.

To apply for this position, please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and two letters of recommendation to polisci.american@emory.edu. To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 12/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7585

University of South Alabama

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice at the University of South Alabama invites applications for a full-time (9 month), tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Criminal Justice, Political Science, or Public Administration to begin August 15, 2020. An earned Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Political Science, or Public Administration is required at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates near completion of the degree will be considered.

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice is recognized for its research active faculty, award-winning teaching, and for its collegiality. The Department offers the Master of Public Administration degree and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice. Our growing and dynamic graduate program currently offers two concentrations:

Health Administration and Geographic Information Technology, with anticipated development of new concentrations, including Criminal Justice, in the future. More information regarding the MPA program can be found here: <https://www.southalabama.edu/colleges/artsandsci/pscj/mpa.html>

Applicants must have teaching and research interests in the area of criminal justice, judicial process, public law, constitutional law and/or public administration and must show a history or willingness to publish peer-reviewed research in criminal justice, political science, and/or public administration outlets. The committee will favor applicants who can teach judicial process, administrative law, and/or constitutional law. The successful candidate will be expected to teach criminal justice and/or political science undergraduate courses as well as offer courses in the MPA program. In addition to research and teaching, the successful candidate will be expected to advise a diverse student body, including many students of color and first-generation students, and to contribute appropriate service. Our Department is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and highly encourages female, minority, and candidates from other historically underrepresented groups to apply.

To apply, please send by email a letter of application, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and, if ABD or recent Ph.D., a writing sample to Dr. Thomas Shaw, Chair of Search Committee and MPA Director, at the following email address: tshaw@southalabama.edu.

Prospective candidates may be asked to participate first in a digital interview. Candidates selected for the digital interview will need to arrange for three original signed letters of recommendation to be sent to Dr. Thomas Shaw at tshaw@southalabama.edu. Letters of reference must include addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of the letter writers.

In addition, candidates selected for the digital interview will also arrange to have all official graduate and undergraduate transcripts sent directly by the Registrars of all colleges attended to Dr. Thomas Shaw at the following mailing address:

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice

HUMB 221
The University of South Alabama
5991 USA Drive N
Mobile, AL 36688-0002

Candidates selected for an on-campus interview will also need to complete a biographical data form: <https://www.southalabama.edu/departments/eforms/academicaffairs/biographicaldataform.pdf>.

Consideration of applications will begin January, 15, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of South Alabama is an EO/AA employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression), religion, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 12/18/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7584

Oberlin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

The Oberlin College Politics Department invites applications for a full-time visiting position in American politics. This is a non-continuing position for one year beginning fall semester of 2020 and will carry the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor depending on the qualifications of the candidate. The position is open in terms of area, methodology, and approach.

The Politics Department has thirteen full-time faculty positions and approximately 120 junior and senior majors. Information about the Department can be found at our web site: <http://www.oberlin.edu/politics/>

Among the qualifications required for this appointment is the Ph.D. degree in hand or in progress (ABD). Candidates must demonstrate interest and potential excellence in undergraduate teaching. Successful teaching experience at the college level is desirable.

Compensation - Within the range established for this position, salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and includes an excellent benefits package.

To be assured of consideration, a letter of application, which includes a statement of research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, graduate academic transcript, a short writing sample, evidence of teaching experience, and three recent letters of reference should be sent by January 31, 2020. Application materials received after that date may be considered until the position is filled. Salary will depend on qualifications and experience.

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Oberlin College and Conservatory's online application process at: <https://jobs.oberlin.edu/>

*By providing three (3) Professional References (names and email addresses), you agree that we may contact them through our applicant web portal. Reference writers will be asked to submit an electronic Letter of Recommendation on behalf of the applicant. Please note:

At this time we are unable to accept Letters of Recommendation from an Interfolio email address.

Finalists will be required to have official graduate academic transcripts submitted to Oberlin College directly by the degree granting institution.

Review of applications will begin on January 31, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by the January 31st deadline will be guaranteed full consideration.

Address questions about applicant materials to the chair of the search committee, Professor Stephen Crowley scrowley@oberlin.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/13/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7570

Eckerd College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Political Science. Assistant Professor of American Politics, tenure-track position, to start in Fall 2020. Ph.D. in Political Science required. We are seeking someone to play a significant role in directing our American Politics program within the political science discipline. Specialization is open, but preference will be given to those whose teaching and research focus on one or more of the following topics: Congress, criminal justice, racial or ethnic politics, politics of inclusion, health politics, political campaigns, the Presidency, political behavior, and/or the Supreme Court. The successful candidate will teach seven courses per academic year, (3-1-3), including Introduction to American Politics, our quantitative Political Science Research Methods course, and various electives in candidate's area of specialization. Ability to offer courses that would support our Law & Justice minor would be a plus.

Candidates should have an active scholarly research agenda and a demonstrated background of teaching excellence. Participation in an interdisciplinary, values-oriented general education program is required, including a regular rotation in the two-semester first-year program. Eckerd College, the only independent national liberal arts college in Florida, has a tradition of innovative education and teaching/mentoring excellence. Submit a letter of application, vita, teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy, research statement, undergraduate and graduate transcripts, and contact information for three references so that letters of recommendation can be requested, via <https://eckerd.hirecentric.com/jobs/>. Applications must be complete by January 31st, 2020. Inquiries may be sent to Dr. Michael Burch, burchmc@eckerd.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 12/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7567

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Assistant Professor in American Politics to teach undergraduate and graduate courses across the American Politics curriculum including areas such as public law, or race & inequality, democracy, representation or civic engagement; advise students; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service, which may include curricular and programming efforts of Miami's new Menard Family Center for Democracy. The position will begin in the 2020-21 academic year.

Required: Ph.D. by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available, to <https://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/en-us/job/496307/assistant-professor>. Letters of reference will be requested by the department at a later date. Inquiries may be directed to Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin January 2, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7569

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a three-year, non-tenure track position as Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science to start Fall 2020. We seek candidates who are able to teach a broad range of in residence and online introductory and upper-level political theory and American politics classes. The position requires teaching six courses a year. Candidates should have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity. Lecturers/Assistant Teaching Professors participate extensively in the intellectual life of the department, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops, and present research. Salary is competitive and additional money is available for travel and research. Applications must include a cover letter explaining teaching and research experience; a current CV; syllabi from previously taught courses; teaching evaluations (with a key); and samples of scholarly writing. Candidates should also request three confidential letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: plscapplications@psu.edu. Candidates invited to visit campus will be expected to give a teaching demonstration. Review of applications will begin January 13 and continue until the position is filled. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/92360>. Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/92360>

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/12/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7564

College of Wooster

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of U.S. National Politics

The Department of Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill a one-year visiting position at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in August 2020. We are looking for an American Politics scholar to teach Introduction to U.S. National Politics and upper-level courses in U.S. National Politics and to supervise related senior independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement.

We are especially interested in hiring faculty who can contribute to the intellectual vibrancy and diversity of the academic community through their teaching, research, and service. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); all applicants are expected to discuss their experience working with diverse student populations.

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in Political Science. They will teach the equivalent of 6 courses, including introductory and advanced courses in Political Science, credited supervision of independent thesis projects as part of the College's Independent Study program, and courses for non-majors. We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae; unofficial graduate transcripts; evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations) and research (such as a research statement or writing sample of 25 pages or less); a statement detailing how the applicant has engaged and/or expects to engage with issues of diversity and inclusion in the classroom and the curriculum, as well as on campus and in the broader community; and three reference letters through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/72182>. Applications received by January 31, 2020, will receive full consideration. If you have questions regarding Interfolio, please contact Angela Sponsler, Academic Coordinator, at asponsler@wooster.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Angie Bos (abos@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science and Chair of the search committee.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7553

Texas A&M UniversityRank: Albritton Center for Grand Strategy - Pre- and Post- Doctoral FellowshipSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Albritton Center for Grand Strategy at the Bush School of Government and Public Service, Texas A&M University, is inviting applications to its residential fellowship program for the 2020-2021 academic year. The program will support one pre-doctoral and one post-doctoral fellow. The Albritton Center is particularly interested in scholars that are engaging with the fundamental questions surrounding grand strategy: How should the national interest be defined? What are the threats to the national interest? How should the United States use its power in response? Applications are invited from scholars of political science, history, and other relevant disciplines.

Fellows will be expected to be in residence at the Bush School for the duration of their fellowships (September 2020 - August 2021). They will be provided with office space and access to the resources of the Bush School and Texas A&M University.

The pre-doctoral fellow is expected to make substantial progress toward – and ideally complete – a dissertation during the fellowship. The post-doctoral fellow is expected to complete a manuscript for publication. The post-doctoral fellow is also expected to teach one course to Bush School students. Finally, both fellows are asked to write a short, policy-relevant piece while in residence.

Fellows will participate in Center activities, to include seminars, workshops, and conferences. They will work with an active community of scholars in international affairs, political science, history, and other disciplines at Texas A&M University.

Eligibility:

Applicants for the pre-doctoral fellowship must be pursuing a Ph.D. in political science, history or other relevant discipline. Applicants must pass all qualifying exams and advance to the level of candidacy prior to the start of their appointment.

Applicants for the post-doctoral fellowship must have completed their PhD in political science, history, or other relevant discipline to begin the fellowship. Recent PhD recipients are especially encouraged to apply.

Award information:

The pre-doctoral fellow will receive a stipend of $39,000, as well as $5,000 in research funding. The postdoctoral fellow will receive a salary of $60,000 (payable monthly), as well as $10,000 in research funding. The post-doctoral fellow will also be eligible for the benefits package available to TAMU employees.

Application process:

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, short writing sample (no more than 10,000 words), and a letter of recommendation (preferably by the applicant's dissertation advisor) to bushschoolCGS@tam.u.edu.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, with those arriving by January 17, 2020 receiving priority attention.

Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/veterans/disability employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 12/9/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7556Valparaiso University*Rank: Assistant Professor, American/Con LawSpecializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Environmental Policy

Valparaiso University invites applications for the position of Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science and International Relations (<https://www.valpo.edu/political-science/>). Valparaiso University ("Valpo"), a community of learning grounded in the Lutheran tradition of scholarship, freedom, and faith, prepares students to lead and serve both church and society. Located one hour southeast of Chicago on a 310-acre campus, Valpo is a comprehensive university with an enrollment of over 3,500 undergraduate and graduate students. Valpo is consistently recognized as one of the best private universities in the Midwest and is located in Valparaiso, Indiana, a county seat of 30,000 residents with high quality schools and an active social community.

The successful candidate will teach courses in American Politics, typically with a 21-credit teaching load, plus additional research and campus citizenship activities. The position will begin in fall of 2020. The applicant must be able to teach Introduction to American Government, courses in American Constitutional Law and Judicial Behavior. Preference will be given to candidates that can also teach courses related to the politics of race/ethnicity and/or politics of the environment.

The Department has five full-time faculty and over 100 majors and minors, thus we will give preference to candidates who are able to teach a broad range of courses. The Department is committed to community-based learning and operates The Community Research and Service Center, which involves students in community research projects. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field; A.B.D. candidates who have made substantial progress toward the completion of the degree and expect to have it completed by the Fall of 2020 will be considered. In addition to scholarly ability, the University places major emphasis on teaching; preference will be given to persons with teaching experience and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

As a campus with an increasingly diverse student body, we encourage applications from individuals with a commitment to mentoring students from underrepresented communities. Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, writing sample, and contact information for three references to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/72078>. In your cover letter, please include brief statements of (a) how you might contribute to the university's distinctive mission, and (b) what experiences you have had which will enable you to mentor a diverse student body. Candidates who submit names of references should expect that the search committee will contact these references, in confidence, and that credentials will be confirmed prior to hire. Employment will require a satisfactory criminal background check. Applications will be considered until the position is filled; however, applicants are encouraged to apply by January 20, 2020, for timely consideration.

Valparaiso University does not unlawfully discriminate and aims to employ persons of various backgrounds and experiences to develop and support its diverse community. Its entire EOE policy can be found at <http://www.valpo.edu/general-counsel/policies/equal-opportunity-policy/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7557

Washburn University

Rank: Lecturer in Political Science

Lecturer in Political Science

Posting F1041219

Washburn University's Political Science Department invites applications for the position of Lecturer in Political Science with a specialization in American politics and American state and local politics. This position is a full-time, 9-month, non-tenure track appointment to begin August 2020 with the potential for a renewable contract. The Political Science department is committed to helping and supporting students in their academic development and utilizing various instructional methodologies and modalities to meet student needs. The selected candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to students from diverse backgrounds and a dedication to the development of inclusive pedagogies that support equity and student success.

Required Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Political Science.
- Evidence of teaching experience at the university or college level in American politics.
- Experience advising and mentoring undergraduate students.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Experience as instructor of record for courses in American politics at the university or college level.
- Demonstrated knowledge of Kansas state and local government and/or politics.
- Experience performing departmental and/or university service work.
- Effective communication skills.
- Demonstrated knowledge of instructional technology.

Responsibilities:

- Teach 12 credit hours per semester, or a full workload as defined by the faculty handbook.
- Teach undergraduate courses, which may include courses such as Introduction to American Government, Introduction to Kansas State and Local Government, Introduction to Public Administration and other courses in American politics, state and local politics according to the department's needs as assigned by departmental or College leadership.
- Advise and mentor political science undergraduate students.
- Engage in teaching-related service activities in the department and in the university, profession, and/or community.
- Develop and maintain assessment for the Public Administration program.
- Maintain an average of 10 office hours per week.
- Work effectively and professionally with colleagues.

Application Procedures:

- Application review will begin January 31, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. Send a cover letter, vita, evidence of teaching experience, a teaching philosophy statement, evidence of advising/mentoring excellence, copies of transcripts, and the names, email addresses and phone numbers of three professional references to Mrs. Cathy Tunnell at cathy.tunnell@washburn.edu (use Political Science position in the subject line). Only electronic application materials will be accepted. Send questions to Dr. Amber Dickinson, Chair of the screening committee at amber.dickinson@washburn.edu. The successful candidate will be required to submit to a background check prior to hire and to submit official transcripts. Salary is lower to mid $40,000's depending on background and experience.

Washburn University is an open-admission university in a metropolitan setting. Our students represent diversity in terms of sex, gender identity, age, race and ethnicity, socio-economic status, and national identity. We offer a flexible program of study that features a wide array of courses that students find useful in their chosen careers and personally enriching. Successful applicants will use inclusive pedagogy designed to reach a variety of audiences and learning styles, in particular historically and contemporary under-represented populations in higher ed. Successful candidates for this position will also enjoy working in a department that values diverse research and teaching interests.

Washburn is dedicated to providing a student-centered and teaching focused academic environment and a curriculum that engages the diversity of human experience across the globe. We seek candidates who are committed to Washburn's efforts to create a climate that fosters the growth and development of a diverse student body, and we encourage applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education. Application materials should clearly articulate how the candidate will contribute to the University's commitment to diversity and inclusion through their teaching, research, and/or service.

Washburn University is an EOE. Washburn University provides equal access to and opportunity in its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, national origin, ancestry, disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, veteran status, or marital or parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7551

Metropolitan State University of Denver

Rank: Political Science Tenure Track Faculty (Category I)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Latino Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Metropolitan State University of Denver invites applications for a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor to begin in fall 2020. The Department is particularly interested in candidates that are able to teach, and have research interests in, some of the following sub-fields: Racial/Ethnic Politics or Latino Politics specifically, Political Behavior, Comparative Politics or Public Law/Law and Courts. Regardless of sub-field, candidates should be able to teach courses in both qualitative and quantitative research methods. A normal course load is four courses per semester (12 credit hours), and as such, the department seeks applications from candidates with a strong interest in teaching and engaging our students, as well as pursuing a research agenda. The Department is comprised of dedicated teacher-scholars who seek a colleague with a similar approach to academia.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach four courses per semester. Courses will include broad introductory surveys of American National Government and/or Comparative Politics. The successful candidate will also be expected to teach upper-division courses in their area of expertise, as well as courses that meet the needs of the department. The position also requires a commitment to excellence in teaching a diverse student body; student advising activities; scholarship; and service both within the university and the profession or community.

Required qualifications include a PhD in political science or closely related field. PhD must be conferred by July of 2020. Preferred qualifications include evidence of excellence in undergraduate teaching; evidence of scholarly activities and an ongoing research agenda; and a demonstrated experience successfully teaching, mentoring, and advising diverse, under-served students, including students of color and non-traditional students. We are particularly interested in applicants that have the ability to work with and be sensitive to the needs of a diverse urban student population including (but not limited to) students of color, LBGQTQIA students, students from low-income backgrounds, first-generation students, students with disabilities, undocumented students, non-traditional students, student veterans, and English-language learners.

Application Process: Complete applications received by February 3, 2020 will receive full consideration. The position is open until filled. In order to be considered as an applicant, you must apply via the online application system, www.msudenverjobs.com. Applicants must submit a cover letter, CV, teaching philosophy, writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation submitted under "References" in the application, and unofficial transcripts. If you are unable to attach copies of transcripts or the letters of recommendation at the time of application, please submit them to Amy Eckert at eckerta@msudenver.edu by or before the full consideration date. Official transcripts will be required of the candidate selected for hire.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7529

University of Houston

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor – American Politics / Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a visiting assistant professor position for Fall 2020-Spring 2021. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on American Politics and/or Public Policy. Successful candidates should have extensive methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin January 13 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a Carnegie Tier-1 research university with one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of scholars.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 700 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is FAC001313. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide a letter of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Jason Casella, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at jcasella@central.uh.edu.

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7535

Yale University

Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2020. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Please apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/71940>. Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample.

To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020 when we will begin the review process, although we will continue to accept applications if there is still a vacancy.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/1/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7533

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in American Politics

Institute for Politics and Strategy, Carnegie Mellon University
<http://www.cmu.edu/ips/>

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in American Politics.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Please submit your application through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, position ID 56424.
<http://apply.interfolio.com/71633>

Please contact cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu if you have any questions about the application.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/7/2020
Date Posted: 11/21/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7517

Wesleyan University
Rank: Research Fellows in Computational Social Science

The Wesleyan Media Project (WMP) led by Dr. Erika Franklin Fowler, in collaboration with Wesleyan University’s Quantitative Analysis Center (QAC), is seeking postdoctoral or pre-doctoral researchers in computational social science to join us at the forefront of advancing real-time analyses of political and health-related audiovisual and textual messages using computational methods. WMP leverages large-scale advertising and media messaging datasets applying theory and methods from political science, behavioral and communication science, network science, data science and machine learning. The fellowship positions are for a one-year appointment beginning July 1, 2020 with an option for an additional second year contingent upon performance. Individuals with a PhD, or those working towards a PhD, in computer science, data science, political science, in quantitative social science fields, or a cognate discipline including network science or machine learning are encouraged to apply. Preference for candidates with expertise and experience in topic modeling, AI, statistical natural language processing / text mining and analysis of audiovisual materials (including sound, images and video). The fellow will work closely with Dr. Fowler, WMP’s Project Manager, and QAC faculty and staff on the analysis of textual, visual, and video-based political and health messages from a variety of sources (political/ insurance TV ads, digital/social/online ads, television news, tweets, etc.) and will be involved in collaborative publications on an interdisciplinary program to analyze the volume, content, and effect of media messaging on television and online in electoral and health policy contexts. As a Fellow the successful candidate will engage in original research, test and evaluate alternative algorithms and have the opportunity to present and publish your work. The position will also contribute broadly both to computational analysis in the QAC and in the social sciences at Wesleyan by working with undergraduate students engaged in the lab’s research projects and by offering courses in the Quantitative Analysis Center. The teaching load is one course per year in the first year and one course per semester in the second year. We strongly encourage applications from underrepresented minorities.

Minimum Qualifications -
 Ph.D. (ABD considered) in computer science, data science, quantitative social science and related fields.

Strong interest in collaborating on data mining projects and willing to work with social scientists and students of different backgrounds.

Experience with applications of machine learning in data analysis. The ideal candidate will have expertise and experience in text mining, use of HPC tools and data extraction and analysis from audio and video sources. Experience in teaching quantitative/computing courses to undergraduate students.

Special Instructions to Applicants -
 You will be asked to upload electronic versions of the items we require, which are (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) statement of research, and (4) teaching interests. As part of the teaching statement (or cover letter), we invite you to describe your cultural competencies and experiences engaging a diverse student body.

You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of two referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation (please double-check the accuracy of the email addresses of the referees you name to insure that you have the most up-to-date email addresses for each one).

After you have submitted all of the required documents, you will see a confirmation number. At that point, each of the two referees whose email address you have provided will receive an automatically-generated email requesting that he or she submit a letter of reference for you.

Additional Information -

Please contact Erika Franklin Fowler (efowler@wesleyan.edu) if you have questions about the application process.

Note for Interfolio users:

We gladly accept letters of recommendation from Interfolio. From your Interfolio account, please use the "web delivery" method to upload your letters directly to our online application.

For further instructions, look here: <https://support.interfolio.com/>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7511

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Political Science

About Mills College:

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top masters universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As <https://www.mills.edu/uniquely-mills/facts-about-mills.php> in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit <https://www.mills.edu/>

Job Description:

The Department:

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, Economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

The Position:

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

Requirements:

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Additional Information:

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant's background check must be cleared.

Application Instructions:

To apply, submit the following documents at <https://apptrkr.com/1705390>

- Employee Application
- Cover Letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Sample of scholarly research
- Teaching portfolio (sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy,)
- Contact Information for 3 References who are willing to submit letters of recommendation

Please note that you can only upload 6 "Other" documents. You can consolidate multiple pages/documents into one file upload. The file size limit for each upload is 10Mb.

Review of applicants will begin October 18, 2019; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7457

American University-SIS

Rank: One Full-Time Non-Tenure Track Faculty Position

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track faculty appointment for the Academic Year 2020-2021 with a focus on US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Academic Rank and compensation will depend on the successful candidate's experience, accomplishments and professional stature in the field. The appointment is for one academic year, commencing on August 1, 2020, with the expectation that the appointment may be renewed for subsequent academic years subject to satisfactory performance and budgetary authorization.

The position is intended for a person who will teach courses six courses (undergraduate and/or MA-level graduate) per academic year. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service. Applicants should share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a social science discipline by the anticipated start date or employment. Experienced practitioners with equivalent qualifications (MA/MS/JD and ten years of professional experience in the field) will also be considered.

The successful candidate will teach primarily courses related to US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Review of applications will begin in January 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

- Applications must be submitted electronically via <http://apply.interfolio.com/69797>

- Attach a letter of application that addresses affinities with relevant teaching areas

- Attach a 1-page statement of teaching philosophy

- Attach student evaluations of teaching, if applicable and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness

- Please also attach a statement of your past or future contributions to diversity and inclusion in professional settings or in institutions of higher education

- You will be asked to submit the names and email addresses of three professional references and request that they be contacted through the Interfolio portal for a confidential letter of recommendation.

Queries about the search may be sent to Assistant Dean for Graduate Education Michael Schroeder at schroede@american.edu Assistance with the online application system can be found here: <https://support.interfolio.com>

American University is a private institution of higher education in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs with 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. SIS faculty produce transformational research and our prime location provides opportunities for collaboration with professionals in government, the private sector, think tanks and other non-profits. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7410

Colorado Mesa University

Rank: Visiting Professor of History or Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Distinguished scholars in History or Political Science are invited to apply for the Wayne N. Aspinall Chair at Colorado Mesa University. For a $10,000 stipend, the visiting professor will spend three weeks on the Colorado Mesa University campus from late March-to mid-April 2021; teach a one-credit course, give a major public lecture, and make any other invited appearances. Applications must include a vitae, a brief outline of a course proposal and a topic for the major public lecture. Submit application by February 1, 2020 to Dr. Justin Gollob, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Colorado Mesa University, 1100 North Ave., Grand Junction, CO 81501. Feel free to direct any inquiries to ggollob@coloradomesa.edu or 970 248-1279.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 7365

CUNY-Graduate Center

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor – Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science

Position Title: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor – Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science

Job ID: 21254

Compensation: Competitive

Closing Date: Open until filled with review of applications to begin on December 2, 2019

Faculty Vacancy Announcement

Performs teaching, research and guidance duties in area(s) of expertise. Shares responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions.

CAMPUS SPECIFIC INFORMATION

The Graduate Center is the focal point for advanced teaching and research at The City University of New York (CUNY), the nation's largest urban public university. With over 35 doctoral and master's programs of the highest caliber, the Graduate Center fosters pioneering research and scholarship in the arts and sciences and prepares students for careers in universities and the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. The Graduate Center's commitment to research and scholarship for the public good is exemplified by its more than 30 centers, institutes, and initiatives, including its Advanced Science Research Center (ASRC), a 200,000-square-foot facility in upper Manhattan designed to promote collaboration among scientists in global research and innovation.

The Graduate Center (GC) benefits from highly ambitious and diverse students and alumni who in turn teach hundreds of thousands of undergraduates every year. Through its public programs, the Graduate Center enhances New York City's intellectual and cultural life.

The Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science at the GC seeks an Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in American Politics, broadly defined. There may be a possibility to obtain a Distinguished Professor designation for this position. The Political Science Program provides a collegial and inclusive environment to a diverse group of students and faculty. This is a tenure track position reporting to the Executive Officer of the Program.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda, a commitment to graduate teaching, and a genuine interest in serving the GC community. S/he will advise Master's and Ph.D. students, and have regular administrative responsibilities within the Program and University.

The position will begin in Fall 2020.

Qualifications:

For Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor:

Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

A preferred candidate should have:

- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Extensive research experience in American Politics, as demonstrated by publications in books and peer-reviewed journals.
- Ability to teach graduate courses and supervise Master's theses and Ph.D. dissertations.
- Ability to work in collaboration with the GC and CUNY to create fellowship opportunities and employment pipelines for graduate students.

How to Apply:

1. Please apply using the link below:

https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=21254&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

Click on "Apply Now" which will bring you to the registration screen. If you are a new user, you must register to apply. If you already have a user ID, please use your existing ID to apply. The application must include a curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, a research statement including scholarly interests, a teaching statement including topics of seminars the candidate is prepared to offer, and contact information for four (4) references including one from a graduate student. Please upload all documents as one file.

OR

2. Go to <http://cuny.jobs/> and search for Job ID 21254.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7426

CUNY-Graduate Center

Rank: Assistant, Associate, Full, or Distinguished Professor

Performs teaching, research and guidance duties in area(s) of expertise. Shares responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions.

CAMPUS SPECIFIC INFORMATION

The Graduate Center is the focal point for advanced teaching and research at The City University of New York (CUNY), the nation's largest urban public university. With over 35 doctoral and master's programs of the highest caliber, the Graduate Center fosters pioneering research and scholarship in the arts and sciences and prepares students for careers in universities and the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. The Graduate Center's commitment to research and scholarship for the public good is exemplified by its more than 30 centers, institutes, and initiatives, including its Advanced Science Research Center (ASRC), a 200,000-square-foot facility in upper Manhattan designed to promote collaboration among scientists in global research and innovation.

The Graduate Center (GC) benefits from highly ambitious and diverse students and alumni who in turn teach hundreds of thousands of undergraduates every year. Through its public programs, the Graduate Center enhances New York City's intellectual and cultural life.

The Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science at the GC seeks an Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in American Politics, broadly defined. There may be a possibility to obtain a Distinguished Professor designation for this position. The Political Science Program provides a collegial and inclusive environment to a diverse group of students and faculty. This is a tenure track position reporting to the Executive Officer of the Program.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda, a commitment to graduate teaching, and a genuine interest in serving the GC community. S/he will advise Master's and Ph.D. students, and have regular administrative responsibilities within the Program and University.

The position will begin in Fall 2020.

Qualifications:

For Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor:

Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

A preferred candidate should have:

- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Extensive research experience in American Politics, as demonstrated by publications in books and peer-reviewed journals.
- Ability to teach graduate courses and supervise Master's theses and Ph.D. dissertations.
- Ability to work in collaboration with the GC and CUNY to create fellowship opportunities and employment pipelines for graduate students.

How to Apply:

1. Please apply using the link below:

https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=21254&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

Click on "Apply Now" which will bring you to the registration screen. If you are a new user, you must register to apply. If you already have a user ID, please use your existing ID to apply. The application must include a curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, a research statement including scholarly interests, a teaching statement including topics of seminars the candidate is prepared to offer, and contact information for four (4) references including one from a graduate student. Please upload all documents as one file.

OR

2. Go to <http://cuny.jobs/> and search for Job ID 21254.

Equal Employment Opportunity:

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7423

Lamar University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Job Summary: The Department of Political Science invites applications for one full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science beginning August 2020.

Candidates should be able to teach introduction to comparative politics and advanced upper level comparative politics courses covering such areas as Western democracies, developing nations and/or a regional focus. Candidates should also be able to teach American Government (POLS 2301 and POLS 2302).

Qualifications: Candidates should have PhD in Political Science or Government awarded by date of employment. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate Lamar University's diverse population of students online and face-to-face; maintain an active service agenda; demonstrate a strong commitment to and evidence of an active research agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally-related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Application Procedure: The application deadline is January 15, 2020 or until the position is filled. Apply online at: <https://jobs.lamar.edu>.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson.

Recommendation letters can be sent to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7373

University of North Texas

Rank: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2020 in American politics. We seek candidates who study contentious politics broadly defined to include either behavior or institutional analyses. Areas of behavioral research may include social movements, political violence, disaffected groups, collective action/mobilization, labor movements, or the struggle for power. Candidates may also study institutional features such as the legislative process, the courts, and the media as it relates to political contention dynamics. The research focus may be at the local, state, or national level. The successful candidate should be able to contribute to instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate level. Candidates who have the Ph.D. by the start date are preferred.

All applicants must meet the following criteria: (1) A Ph.D. in Political Science (highly qualified ABD candidates will also be considered) and (2) evidence that demonstrates a potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service will be required of the selected candidate. Preference will be given to candidates who have a record of publication, can teach graduate methods courses, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

The faculty member will teach core, upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses, continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

Applicants must submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a narrative describing scholarly research, (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (6) a copy of unofficial transcripts, and (7) the names and contact information of three references via UNT's Faculty Jobs portal at <https://facultyjobs.unt.edu>.

Review of applications will begin on October 24, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit their applications and all supporting materials as close as possible to the review date. UNT is an AA/ADA/EOE.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7331

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting a tenure-track assistant professor in the area(s) of Cyber Security and Privacy. This position will have an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020.

This interdisciplinary position will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units for their appointment. All relevant areas will be considered, such as (but not limited to) Mathematics, Statistics, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, Psychology, Computer Science, Legal Studies, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Philosophy, Criminal Justice, and Political Science.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution at the time of appointment in an area appropriate to the cluster. The selected candidate must also have a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record.

Preferred qualifications: A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is strongly preferred.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. In particular, candidates that have a track record in security and privacy issues affecting software and systems in various platforms (cloud, IoT, cyber-physical) are strongly encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will also have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security and privacy. (See <https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved to date.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided.

UCF has a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry, including large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, Oracle, Apple, AMD, Boeing, SpaceX, Blue Origin, etc. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school. Orlando has one of the fastest growing and dynamic economies in the nation. In 2018, among major metropolitan areas, Orlando enjoyed the fifth largest increase in population. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your approach and experience meeting the needs of a diverse community, both in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague. In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

- 1) the above-mentioned diversity statement,
- 2) a cover letter*,
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) teaching statement,
- 5) research statement, and
- 6) contact information for three professional references (include email addresses).

*In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, any experience working on interdisciplinary teams, how they will enhance the existing cluster team, and identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home and any joint appointments they would desire.

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Yan Solihin at yan.solihin@ucf.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university,

UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7299

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics with specialty in political behavior and civic engagement. Within political behavior and civic engagement, we are especially interested in candidates with interests in group identity, racial or ethnic politics, and survey and/or experimental methods. The successful candidate will possess a strong commitment to producing high-quality independent scholarship, as well as a demonstrated interest in collaborative research efforts.

Candidates who are interested in working with the Community Engagement + Experiments Laboratory, and have an interest in fostering community engagement through their teaching and research, are strongly preferred. <http://ou.edu/ceel> We also welcome applications from candidates who could teach undergraduate methods. The teaching load for this position is two courses per semester.

The University of Oklahoma is located in Norman, a college town of 120,000 featuring great schools and affordable housing. Campus is 30 minutes from Oklahoma City. With a population of over 650,000 and a metropolitan area of over 1.4 million, OKC is home to the NBA's Oklahoma City Thunder, the AAA OKC Dodgers baseball team, America's best new restaurant (Nonesuch) in 2018 according to Bon Appetit magazine, a public boathouse district that doubles as a U.S. Olympic rowing training site, The Myriad Botanical Gardens, and Scissortail Park, a new 70-acre urban park spanning the Oklahoma River downtown.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline at the time appointment begins. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, a writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate transcript, and 3 letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Any questions can be emailed to the American Politics search committee chair, Dr. Tyler Johnson tylerjohnson@ou.edu. The position will begin August 2020. Applicants must apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/68223>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/28/2020

Date Posted: 10/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7279

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

Georgia State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. We seek a scholar whose research focuses on political identity, broadly defined (including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, class, and sexual orientation) in the U.S. context. We welcome scholars employing institutional or behavioral approaches to the study of identity. The position will begin Fall 2020, pending budgetary approval. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to teach courses on political identity at the undergraduate, M.A., and PhD levels. Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to effectively teach a diverse student body. We enthusiastically encourage applications from women, minorities, firstgeneration candidates, and other underrepresented groups in the academy. Candidates must have a PhD in political science or a related field in hand by August 2020.

Applicants should send a letter of interest that includes a brief statement outlining their ability to work with a diverse student body, a curriculum vitae, a statement of your research agenda, examples of scholarly work, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and graduate transcripts to polsearch@gsu.edu. Please list three references who will provide letters of recommendation upon request.

We will begin reviewing files on October 1, 2019. Materials submitted before October 10th will be given full consideration. Georgia State University, an enterprising R-1 university, is located in the heart of downtown Atlanta, a vibrant international city in the Southeastern U.S. GSU enrolls and graduates one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative research by building a diverse faculty. The department offers bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University, a unit of the University System of Georgia, is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate against applicants due to race, ethnicity, gender, veteran status, or on the basis of disability or any other federal, state or local protected class. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6171

Ohio State University

Rank: American Political Institutions

Department: Political Science

Position: American Political Institutions

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in American politics, one of its traditional areas of strength. The candidate should study political institutions, policymaking processes, and/or representational outcomes, and should have a high degree of conceptual and methodological sophistication. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August 2020. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14426>. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate's past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

Review of applications will begin on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to first last at Vladimir Kogan at kogan.18@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:

Cover Letter

Curriculum Vitae

Research Statement

Teaching Statement

Diversity Statement

Publication List

Job Market Letter

Other papers or chapters

Unofficial Graduate Transcript

Three Reference Letters

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6133

Ohio State University

Rank: Politics of Race, Gender, and Ethnicity in American Politics

Department: Political Science

Position: Politics of Race, Gender, and Ethnicity in American Politics

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in the Politics of Race, Gender and Politics, or Ethnicity in American politics. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments, and they should have a high degree of theoretical and methodological sophistication. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

This position is part of a Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative by the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University to increase diversity in our professorial ranks, foster an inclusiveness, and promote research and teaching on topics central to racial, ethnic, gender, and sexual orientation.

Qualifications: The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August of 2020. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14427>. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate's past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service. Review of applications will begin on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to William Minozzi at minozzi.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually vibrant and diverse environment of exceptional faculty, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Research Statement
- Teaching Statement
- Diversity Statement
- Publication List
- Job Market Paper
- Other papers or chapters
- Unofficial Graduate Transcript

Three Reference Letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6134

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood

Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

California State University, Los AngelesRank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science with focus on Public Law

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6014

Lycoming College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2020. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in American politics. Specialization within subfield is open. Lycoming's small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College's interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution. Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered and are encouraged to apply.

To Apply:

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript. Electronic submission of application materials is required (PDF format preferred). Please reference "Assistant Professor of Political Science" in the subject line of the email.

Email: jobs@lycoming.edu

To guarantee full consideration, applications should be submitted by October 1, 2019. Post-offer pre-employment drug screen conducted.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6004

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

You will be impressed by the quality of the Political Science and International Relations Programs at Geneseo. The focus of the department is on analytical sophistication and enabling graduates to think critically about political life in a variety of settings. To learn more about our department visit: https://www.geneseo.edu/political_sciencehttps://www.geneseo.edu/political_science

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNYGeneseo is seeking applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin August, 2020. Duties of the position include:

- Teach the American Politics Introductory course, a course on the American Presidency and/or Interest Groups and Social Movements, plus additional upper division courses in American Politics, which could include courses on Women and Politics, Identity Politics, and/or Class-based Politics.
- Establish a program of research and publication in Political Science with a focus on American Politics.
- Contribute to pedagogical and curricular development and management of the Political Science major at Geneseo.
- Provide academic advisement to students.
- Mentor and supervise undergraduate research and other projects.
- Contribute to governance through service at the department and college level.
- Contribute service to the discipline and university.

Our priority is teaching excellence. We seek someone with a strong commitment to teaching in a liberal arts setting and who is prepared to teach both introductory courses and advanced courses in their area of expertise. A commitment to working effectively with students from diverse backgrounds is essential. We also value applicant experience with integrative learning, such as linking academic endeavors with social advocacy or community engagement.

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter, a CV, and additional materials that speak to their teaching effectiveness. The cover letter should address teaching philosophy, interests and plans for establishing a research program. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit letters of recommendation at the time of application.

Please submit materials at jobs.geneseo.edu. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt.

To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by November 8, 2019. The search committee anticipates conducting initial interviews by telephone/Skype during the week of December 2, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/8/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5979

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Labor Politics

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or Ph.D. in appropriate related discipline, with specialization in American Politics. Degree at time of application or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2020.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, effective teaching.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, successful research and publication.
- Experience with, or demonstrated potential for, effective participation in faculty governance.

- Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Evidence of training in one or more of the following specializations in American politics: political behavior, political institutions, campaigns/elections, public opinion, social movements, state and local politics, or interest groups.
- Ability to connect specific areas of interest with broader questions within political science, such as the impact and intersectional dimensions of economic, racial, ethnic, and gender inequality in American politics and democratic governance.
- Evidence of ability to effectively teach one or more current University course offerings in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels (e.g., Introduction to American Government; Racial and Ethnic Politics—U.S.; Urban Politics; The Media and American Politics; How Democratic is the U.S.?; Public Opinion and Political Behavior; Public Policy; Parties, Campaigns, and Elections; California Government in Comparative Perspective; Scope and Methods of Political Science; The United States Congress; The American Presidency; Senior Seminar in Law, Politics, and Policy; and Graduate Seminars in Research Methods in Political Science, American Political Institutions, American Political Behavior, and Policy and Politics).
- Evidence of ability to develop new course offerings in American politics that engage issues of diversity, particularly as related to race and ethnicity.
- Evidence of support for and/or experience related to the University's strong commitment to the academic success of its diverse student body.
- Evidence of ability to engage in research leading to conference participation and publication.
- Evidence of interest in and/or experience with department, college, university and community service.

Duties:

- Teach and develop courses in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels.
- Advise and mentor students, including the supervision of Master's students taking comprehensive exams and theses.
- Engage in research leading to conference participation and publications.
- Participate in faculty governance.
- Participate in service to the department, college, university, and community.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here:

<https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/careers/benefits/Documents/cfa-unit-3-benefits-summary.pdf>

How to Apply - Required Documentation:

- An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (maximum two pages, single-spaced). For further information and guidelines, please visit: <http://www.csulb.edu/EquityDiversityStatement>
- Letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications
- CV (including current email address)
- Three recent academic letters of recommendation
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree
- Finalists will also be required to submit the following:
 - 1) A signed SC-1 form,
 - 2) Three current letters of recommendation independently provided by references, and
 - 3) An official transcript (e-transcript preferred, if available)

All required documentation shall be submitted electronically through: <https://AcademicJobsOnline.org>

Position ID:

CSULB-PoliticalScience-ASSTPROFESSOR [#13761, 2579]

Upon request, finalists will be required to submit original, official documents, as noted in the required documentation section.

Requests for information should be addressed to:

Darin DeWitt, Associate Professor
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science
1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605
(562) 985-4711
darin.dewitt@csulb.edu

Review of applications to begin October 1, 2019

Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5974

University of Redlands

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics with a focus on Race and Ethnic Politics and Policy. The department encourages applicants from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position, and applicants are required to submit evidence of their strengths and experience in these areas.

The standard six-course load for the position will be distributed across fall and spring semesters and May Term according to the candidate's interests and departmental needs. Primary teaching responsibilities for our undergraduate program include Introduction to American Politics, and courses in race and ethnic politics. The ability to teach Introduction to Public Policy is preferred. Candidates may also offer courses that support various interdisciplinary programs at the university. We welcome teacher-scholars interested in policy areas such as welfare, housing, civil rights, immigration, and urban and regional policy.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in working with students who have diverse cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds to accomplish curricular goals.

The University of Redlands is a private, comprehensive liberal arts institution located 60 miles east of Los Angeles in a suburban town of 70,000. The campus is surrounded by orange groves and sits at the base of the San Bernardino Mountains, approximately 60 miles from the coast and 40 miles west of Palm Springs. Information about the University and its mission and facilities is available at www.redlands.edu.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications received by October 15 are assured consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

POSITION CRITERIA: A Ph.D. in Political Science by September 2020 is preferred. Evidence of success at college teaching and an ability to work in a collaborative, team-based environment are preferred.

INQUIRIES: Candidates may contact the search committee chair, Renée Van Vechten, at renee_vanvechten@redlands.edu with additional questions or concerns. Members of the department will be available to meet with candidates at the 2019 annual meeting of the American Political Science Association.

TO APPLY: Please submit the following materials using the Academic Jobs Online website at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo>: a cover letter, current CV, evidence of teaching and research excellence, and three letters of reference.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed, please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN. MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY. AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 7/16/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5786

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5715

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science
Specializations: American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, with a particular focus on the African-American political experience, beginning July 1, 2020. Amherst College is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff. Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed with respect to its student body. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 10 percent of our students are international students. We expect the successful candidate to excel at teaching and mentoring students who are diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates' scholarship should examine racial politics in the U.S. and can focus on social movements, civil society, elections, civil rights, voter suppression, religion, the racial policies and constituencies of political parties, the relationship between racial and ethnic identity, and racial stratification in urban and local politics.

We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialties and in directing undergraduate research projects. The successful candidate must have a Ph. D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/64697> a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter.) Review of applications will begin on Monday, October 7, 2019, and continue until the position is filled.

Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5710

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

The Institute for the American Constitutional Heritage (IACH) at the University of Oklahoma (OU) seeks an established and nationally recognized scholar to hold the newly established Sanders Family Chair in Law and Liberty. The position is at the associate or full professor level and will be jointly appointed in the Department of Classics & Letters and the successful candidate's home disciplinary department or College, e.g., History or Political Science (both in the College of Arts and Sciences), or the College of Law.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core mission of the IACH, a vibrant interdisciplinary center for the study of American constitutionalism housed in Classics & Letters. The IACH has four faculty lines and over 30 affiliated faculty across the university who offer courses to over 100 undergraduates majoring or minoring in Constitutional Studies.

We seek a candidate with a teaching and research profile that would include, but not be limited to, the ancient roots of law, liberty, and self-governance; the development of republican thought and ideas of liberty and the rule of law in the modern world; and the historical and ideological background of the American founding.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. (or a J.D. for exceptional candidates with established records of scholarly excellence) and a substantial scholarly record in a discipline related to the core mission of the IACH. The successful candidate should also have an established commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students, as well as experience in graduate teaching and mentoring, or clear potential for excellence in this area. The teaching load will be three courses a year (2-1).

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should initially submit a letter of interest, a current C.V., and three letters of reference to. Applicants should go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/59901>.

to submit their application. The position will begin in August 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5469

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: IGB Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Other

The Carl R. Woese Institute for Genomic Biology (IGB) at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign solicits applications for a position as an IGB Fellow in its new theme Genomic Security and Privacy (GSP). The position is open to scholars who have completed their PhD within the last several years and who are looking for a stimulating and supportive interdisciplinary environment to carry out independent and collaborative research. IGB Fellows typically spend two or more years conducting research in an IGB theme. The theme leadership works with the Fellow to develop an individual program of research that contributes to the theme.

Recent years have seen the rise of a diverse collection of applications of genomics that have profound implications for individuals, society, and the future of humankind. The GSP theme aims to understand the consequences of these scientific and social developments through a highly interdisciplinary research team. The Fellow would contribute to studies on technology and policy for security and privacy of genomic data. Sample areas of research include: privacy-enhancing technologies for sharing genotype, phenotype, and lifestyle data; ramifications of genetic genealogy for law enforcement; models for diversity, consent, and governance; and potential issues with diverse omics data. Contributions may include seeking out and applying for grants, designing and executing studies, coordinating research with and among GSP faculty, and managing graduate or undergraduate researchers tasked to GSP projects. Moreover, there are diverse drivers of developments in the field of genomics bringing on issues that will shape the development of GSP. We encourage applications from candidates in at least these areas as they relate to GSP: Bioinformatics, Computer Science, Law, Social Sciences, and Economics.

Applicants should submit a CV, a research summary, and the names of three recommenders who can write letters on their behalf. Inquiries and applications should be directed to Nikki Gentry by email at ngentry@illinois.edu or Carl A. Gunter at cgunter@illinois.edu. The University of Illinois is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Annual salary is $55,000, plus a $7,500 allowance.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 3/1/2020

Date Posted: 1/29/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7682

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Lapop Postdoctoral Scholar

The LAPOP Lab at Vanderbilt University invites applications for one or more two-year postdoctoral fellowships. We are looking for scholars with advanced quantitative methods training, experience with survey research in a developing context, and substantive research interests in public opinion and political behavior. Knowledge of Latin American politics and proficiency in Spanish or Portuguese are preferred but not required. The position will begin August 16, 2020. Fellows will work under the supervision of Professors Noam Lupu and Elizabeth Zechmeister.

The LAPOP Lab is a center for excellence in public opinion research specializing in the Latin American and Caribbean region. Its core project, the AmericasBarometer, collects data every other year on the pulse of democratic attitudes across the Americas. In addition, LAPOP regularly conducts surveys both in Latin America and around the developing world in collaboration with both academic and policymaking organizations. Bringing together faculty, staff researchers, and graduate students, the LAPOP Lab produces collaborative research on survey methods in developing contexts, public opinion and political behavior, and the nexus between public opinion and democracy.

Fellows are expected to be in residence during the fellowship period and to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science. Fellows will work in a collaborative setting with a team of faculty members, research staff, and graduate students on research projects toward the production of jointly published scholarly research. Fellows will spend 50% of their time on collaborative projects within the LAPOP Lab and 50% on their own projects. There are no teaching or service obligations. Fellows will receive a competitive salary, plus benefits, a research/travel budget, and a moving allowance.

Qualifications

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or related social science field, received after July 1, 2017. For candidates finishing their Ph.D. in 2020, all requirements of the degree must be finished no later than June 30, 2020.

Application Instructions

Applications should consist of a cover letter, CV, a relevant writing sample, a research statement, and three letters of reference. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis, but priority will be given to those received before February 10, 2020. Materials can be submitted at <https://apply.interfolio.com/73452>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/27/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7676

University of North Carolina, Greensboro

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor Position in Political Science: International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2020-2021 academic year as Visiting Assistant Professor in International Relations. Candidates should have experience teaching an introductory international relations course and be prepared to offer upper division courses in their area of specialization. Applicants who can complement our offerings in comparative politics are especially encouraged to apply. Renewal of this position for a second year is possible. The teaching load is six courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by July 2020. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; at least two letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available). We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, and sexual orientation. Applications materials and inquiries can be sent to the department chair, Professor Greg McAvoy, gemcavoy@uncg.edu.

UNCG is a Minority Serving Institution, with an undergraduate population of 45% ethnic minority students. UNCG and the Political Science Department foster an environment of collaboration across departments and schools and support community-engaged research. UNCG is proud of the diversity of its student body and we seek to attract an equally diverse applicant pool for this position. UNCG is located in a metropolitan area of more than 1.6 million in the Piedmont region of North Carolina, between the Atlantic Ocean and the Appalachian mountains. UNCG is an EOE/Affirmative Action/M/F/D/V employer and are strongly committed to increasing faculty diversity.

The department webpage is <http://www.uncg.edu/pscl>. The review of applications will begin on February 14th and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/22/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7663

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East & North Africa

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The University of Arizona (UA) located in Tucson, Arizona seeks a qualified applicant for the position of Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, Tenure Track. Candidates will be expected to have a PhD in a field represented in the UA College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS); exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered. This position requires the ability to design and teach undergraduate and graduate courses and mentor students; and occasional domestic and foreign travel for meetings, seminars, and conferences. This position is non-security sensitive and requires a name-based criminal background check.

The faculty member will conduct cutting-edge research in their field, teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, mentor students, including those from underrepresented backgrounds. The faculty member will also participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service. In these and other ways, the faculty member will help to develop innovative approaches to enhancing student engagement, increasing diversity, and expanding collaborations with community and business partners.

Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; sick leave and holidays;

UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more! The University of Arizona has been recognized for our innovative worklife programs. For more information about working at the University of Arizona and relocations services, please see <https://whyua.arizona.edu/>

A new assistant professor (tenure-track, academic year) position in Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, broadly defined, will be placed in the University of Arizona College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). The unit home(s) will be determined at the close of the search. We are interested in a broad range of social science and historical approaches to the study of human rights in the Middle East and North Africa. Of interest are human rights issues related to economic and social rights, environmental justice, gender politics, health, humanitarianism, indigenous rights, migrants and refugees, bioethics, and sustainable development. The successful candidate will be well qualified to engage in undergraduate and graduate teaching; have an active research agenda, with research in or centrally related to the Middle East and/or North Africa; have potential for externally supported research; and have an interest in participating in outreach activities. The teaching load is typically two courses per semester. Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern language is highly desirable (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language).

The exact field of specialization and PhD is open; the appointment may be made in a single SBS unit or as a joint appointment across two units. See <https://sbs.arizona.edu/about/academic-units> for a full listing of SBS units. SBS includes Anthropology, Gender & Women's Studies, Geography & Development, Government & Public Policy, History, Journalism, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, and Sociology, among other units. Given current student interests and the importance of developing certain regional studies within UA Middle East studies, the position has a preferred focus on Egypt, North Africa, or Turkey, although applications from specialists in any area of the Middle East and North Africa are welcome and will receive full consideration.

The UA features an extensive program in Middle Eastern and North African studies. The School of Middle Eastern & North African Studies (MENAS) offers a BA, MA and PhD, a BA in Arabic, and includes an Arabic Flagship program. Also in SBS are the American Institute for Maghrib Studies; Arizona Center for Judaic Studies; Arizona Center for Turkish Studies; Center for Arabic Study Abroad; Center for Middle Eastern Studies, a Title VI US Department of Education-funded National Resource Center; and the Roshan Graduate Interdisciplinary Program in Persian and Iranian Studies. Known for its support of interdisciplinary endeavors, the UA includes a variety of units with programs related to human rights. Interest in human rights-related issues is informed by the UA's location near the US border with Mexico. SBS offers an online MA and graduate certificate in Human Rights Practice and is currently developing a fully online BA in Human Rights Practice and 3 additional graduate certificates in the field. Plans are also underway for creating a PhD in Human Rights Practice. The Global Studies major includes a concentration in Human Rights, Migrations, and Social Movements. The School of Government & Public Policy offers BA programs in Law and Political Science, both of which attract students interested in human rights-related careers. Of related interest are programs in SBS such as the BA in Food Studies; the Philosophy, Politics, Economics and Law major in the Department of Political Economy & Moral Science; and the School of Sociology's Care, Health & Society BS major. The UA College of Law offers advanced training in indigenous people's law and policy, and a human rights concentration for students in the Master of Legal Studies program.

Minimum Qualifications- Assistant Professor: Ph.D. from an accredited institution of higher learning; Exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered; Ph.D. is required for appointment as Assistant

Professor; Teaching experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body

Interest in outreach efforts; Emerging scholarly reputation

Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. by time of appointment; Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern Language (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language)

This is a full time, Assistant Professor position in the Center for Middle Eastern Studies. All applications must be submitted through the University OF Arizona Human Resources website. Direct link to posting information: <https://cmes.arizona.edu/human-rights-faculty-position>

A complete application packet will include four items: a CV; a Cover Letter; the candidate's statement on research agenda (in the Personal Statement) ; the candidate's statement on teaching pedagogy that includes details of the candidate's experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body(in the Statement of Teaching Philosophy); and the names, titles, and email addresses of at least three references.

Questions regarding this position should be directed to Prof. Anne H. Betteridge, Search Committee Chair, The Center for Middle Eastern Studies, The University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ 85721.

Please note: You will be required to provide contact information for a minimum of three professional references within your application. Should you be selected as a finalist for this position, for your convenience, your references may receive an automatic email. This email will ask your references to complete a brief questionnaire in regard to your suitability for the position as well as request the attachment of a letter of recommendation. These letters of recommendation must be uploaded directly via the UACareers.com website by your reference provider. UACareers.com is not compatible with any "dossier aggregate" system (e.g., Interfolio, Intellimedia).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/21/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7658

Central European University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Comparative Politics

Assistant or Associate Professor in Comparative Politics

Department of Political Science

Starting date: August 01, 2020

Application deadline: March 02, 2020

Full- Or Part-Time: Full-Time (40 hours/week)

The Political Science Department at Central European University, Vienna, invites applications for a full-time open rank (Assistant or Associate) position in Comparative Politics. Having an active research interest in challenges to democracy in the 21st century or non-Western polities will be an advantage. Teaching experience, especially on the BA-level, is a welcome asset.

We encourage applications from candidates who are willing to make a long-term commitment to living and working in Vienna.

In the latest QS global academic rankings CEU was ranked 41st for Politics and International Studies. For more information on the department, see <http://politicalscience.ceu.edu/>.

Duties and responsibilities

The successful candidate is expected to teach core and elective courses on the BA, MA, and PhD level in comparative politics, to supervise BA, MA, and PhD students, to publish in international outlets, and to participate in departmental initiatives. A typical teaching load consists of 12 teaching credits (where one credit equals 50 minutes of classroom contact over a 12-week academic term), plus BA, MA, and PhD thesis supervision.

Qualifications

The candidate must have a PhD or equivalent in political science and a proven record of excellence in scholarship. Post-graduate teaching experience in the area of comparative politics is a plus.

Compensation

We offer a competitive salary that is commensurate with experience as well as a dynamic and international academic environment. The initial appointment is for six years, renewable as indefinite, after review.

How to Apply

Applicants need to submit a cover letter, their CV, including the full contact information for three referees, and two English language article-length works presenting their own research.

Please send your complete application to advert005@ceu.edu - including the job code in the subject line: 2020/005.

The privacy of your personal information is very important to us. We collect, use and store your personal information in accordance with the requirements of the General Data Protection Regulation. To learn more about how we manage your personal data during the recruitment process, please see our Privacy Notice at <https://www.ceu.edu/recruitment-privacy-notice>.

CEU is an equal opportunity employer.

About Central European University

Central European University (CEU) is a graduate research-intensive university specializing primarily in the social sciences and the humanities, as well as law, business and public policy. It is located in Budapest and Vienna, and accredited in the United States, Austria, and Hungary. CEU's mission is to promote academic excellence, state-of-the-art research, and civic engagement. CEU offers Bachelor, Masters, and doctoral programs, and enrolls about 1400 students from 100 countries. The teaching staff consists of more than 180 resident faculty members from over 40 countries, and a large number of prominent visiting scholars from around the world. The language of instruction is English.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 3/2/2020

Date Posted: 1/20/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7653

Southwestern University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Southwestern University invites applicants for a full-time three-year Visiting Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics beginning the 2020-2021 academic year. The second and third years of the appointment are contingent on satisfactory performance. We are specifically interested in European politics and someone who could teach courses on the EU and public policy. Applicants should have completed their Ph.D. by August 31, 2020. The application deadline is January 31st, 2020. The successful candidate will teach a 3-3 course load and be eligible for funding for conference travel and research support.

We seek applicants excited about working in a student-centered, undergraduate liberal-arts setting, with its focus on engaged teaching and academic research, participation in shared governance, and active involvement in an institution-wide advancement of diversity, sustainability, and social justice. Candidates who have a strong commitment to enhancing diversity in academia are preferred.

Southwestern University is a selective, undergraduate private institution committed to a broad-based liberal art, sciences, and fine arts education. Southwestern currently enrolls approximately 1,500 students and maintains a student to faculty ratio of 12 to 1. In addition to a number of other national organizations, Southwestern University is a member of two consortia of liberal arts colleges, the Associated Colleges of the South and the Annapolis Group. Located in Georgetown, Texas, 28 miles north of downtown Austin, Southwestern is committed to fostering a diverse educational environment and encourages applications from members of groups traditionally under-represented in academia. For more information concerning the University, visit our web site at www.southwestern.edu.

To apply: Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, a summary of recent teaching evaluations (if available), three letters of reference addressing teaching performance and abilities, a statement of teaching philosophy, a short list of courses in which you have a strong interest in teaching, and a brief research statement to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/73201>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 1/17/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7651

The University of Melbourne

Rank: Lecturer of Public Policy (equivalent to tenure-track Assistant Professor)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Comparative Politics

Lecturer in Public Policy at the University of Melbourne (4 tenured positions)

Applications close – 16 February 2020 11:55 PM Australian Eastern Daylight Time

Applications are invited for four continuing (permanent) Lectureships in Public Policy (research and teaching) in the School of Social and Political Sciences in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Melbourne, from 1 July 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter. The posts are approximately equivalent to the rank of a tenure-track Assistant Professor in North America, or permanent Assistant Professor in Europe.

We are seeking applicants who will build on Melbourne's existing strength in public policy with new expertise and research capacity at an exciting time in the program's development and expansion. We welcome applicants researching and teaching in public policy, public administration, public management, public governance, policy studies and related fields.

You will be expected to develop your research agenda and teaching profile during your appointment within a collegial and supportive environment. More than thirty academic staff work in the Political Science Discipline, which has close affiliations with a number of allied research centres and units, including the Policy Lab. Highlights are:

- Four continuing (permanent/tenured) Lectureships in Public Policy.
- Time to develop your research track record (a typical teaching commitment being equivalent to three, one semester-based subjects per year).
- Opportunity to develop your research profile and be supported to apply for research funding whilst also contributing towards an intellectually vibrant and research-intensive group of scholars specialising in public policy, politics and the social sciences.
- Teach and supervise students in public policy and related fields with a substantive focus on the Master of Public Policy and Management.
- Join a world class research intensive university, which is ranked 15th in the world for Arts and Social Sciences (QS World University Rankings 2018) and 23rd in the world for Social Sciences (Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2017).

For further details on the positions and how to apply: <http://jobs.unimelb.edu.au/caw/en/job/901651/lecturer-in-public-policy>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/16/2020

Date Posted: 1/15/2020

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7647

Wake Forest University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs (3 Positions)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: American Politics, Africa, Latin American

Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs (3 Positions)

American Politics/Comparative Politics/ International Relations

Wake Forest University

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs is seeking applications for three one-year temporary Visiting Assistant Professor positions: one in the area of American Government and two in Comparative/International Relations (with a preference for African and Latin American foci) beginning July 1, 2020.

Job Description:

We seek highly qualified candidates who have a commitment to excellence in teaching. A Ph.D. or ABD status in Political Science or a related area is required. More information about the department is available at <http://http://politics.wfu.edu/>.

Additional Job Description

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked among the top 30 national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, as indicated by the motto "pro humanitate." For quick facts about the University, go to <http://www.wfu.edu/visitors/quickfacts.html>. Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>.

The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following: (1) a cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community; (2) a CV with contact information for three professional references; (3) a teaching statement including a plan to establish an inclusive learning environment in the liberal arts context; (4) sample course syllabi; (5) teaching evaluations and (6) copies of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

Review of applications will begin on February 7, 2020. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by February 7, 2020. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to Peter Siavelis, Chair, Wake Forest University, Department of Politics and International Affairs, P.O. Box 7568, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Peter Siavelis, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, siavelpm@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/7/2020
Date Posted: 1/13/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7632

The College of Wooster

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Africana Studies and Political Science

The Departments of Africana Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill a one-year visiting position at the level of Assistant Professor divided between Africana Studies (2/3rd) and Political Science (1/3rd), beginning in the August 2020. Broad training in Africana Studies and Political Science, with a focus on African politics, is required.

We are especially interested in hiring faculty who can contribute to the intellectual vibrancy and diversity of the academic community through their teaching, research, and service. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); all applicants are expected to discuss their experience working with diverse student populations.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses in Africana Studies, upper level courses in Africana Studies and comparative politics, and to advise undergraduate independent study projects in Africana Studies, comparative politics, and international relations. Preference is given to candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae; unofficial graduate transcripts; evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations) and research (such as a research statement or writing sample of 25 pages or less); a statement detailing how the applicant has engaged and/or expects to engage with issues of diversity and inclusion in the classroom and the curriculum, as well as on campus and in the broader community; and three reference letters through Interfolio. Applications received at <http://apply.interfolio.com/72995> by February 7, 2020, will receive full consideration. If you have questions regarding Interfolio, please contact Santha Schuch, Academic Coordinator, at sschuch@wooster.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Josephine Wright (jwright@wooster.edu), Chair of the search committee.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/7/2020
Date Posted: 1/10/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7631

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of International Affairs (DIA) at the University of Georgia invites applications for a tenure track position in ethnicity, race, and migration at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall of 2020. While we seek a scholar who is trained in the concepts, methods, and approaches used in the study of comparative politics and/or international relations, we are particularly interested in candidates who couple a specialty in ethnicity, race, and migration with teaching and research interests in political violence, underrepresented regions, international law, international and regional organizations, institutions, refugees, or development. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to produce high quality research, show promise of attracting external funding and teaching effectiveness, and be well trained in research methods, including qualitative and/or quantitative methods.

Prospective candidates must apply for the position through the UGA Faculty Job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/136240>. To complete the application, candidates will need to submit a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler

Hall 219, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applicants should have an earned Ph.D. degree in political science or a related discipline by August 2020. Applications received by February 15, 2020 will be assured full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/15/2020
Date Posted: 1/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7608

National University of Singapore

Rank: Two Tenure-Track Positions for Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for 2 full-time tenure-track positions in Comparative Politics or Governance and Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all areas of the two subfields, and we especially welcome applications from candidates with Asia-related research programmes. Candidates should submit a letter of application detailing research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae; publications or other writing samples; three letters of recommendation; and teaching evaluations and materials if available. We will begin to review applications on 31 January 2020 and continue until the search is complete. Application materials should be sent to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg.

The teaching load is three modules per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of South Asian and Southeast Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: 1/31/2020
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7602

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Social Sciences at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay invites applications for 1 Full-Time position in Political Science or Sociology, at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin no later than August 2021. Completion, or near completion of a PhD is required. We seek scholars with strong interest and training in at least one of the following subareas: research methods, public policy, political economy or comparative politics. The successful candidate will have experience in conducting fieldwork and research that is guided by questions of larger theoretical importance.

The position involves a 2-2 course load, advising of undergraduate and graduate theses, and the development of an ambitious research agenda. Working conditions, remuneration, and career prospects will be competitive with respect to regional standards. Successful candidates will be fluent in Spanish and English and will have a concern with social responsibility and the ethical implications of knowledge and action.

The Department of Social Science offers undergraduate and M.A. degrees. Comprised of a group of young scholars with research interests that span across economics, politics, urban studies and sociology, the Department supports an eclectic approach to research, often cutting across traditional academic boundaries.

The Department also hosts the Methods Winter School each July. Montevideo is a small and very livable city, right across Buenos Aires. The Río de la Plata region is one of the two centers of the Southern Cone growing academic network alongside Santiago de Chile.

Prospective candidates should upload a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of undergraduate syllabus, 1 writing sample and three letters of recommendation to the following application webpage: <https://bpm.uca.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>

Review of applications will begin on April 20th 2020 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 4/17/2020
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7601

Australian National University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: India, Economic Policy, Political Economy

Classification: Academic Level A
 Salary package: $73,309 - $92,015 (aud) per annum plus up to 17% superannuation
 Terms: Full time, Fixed term (3 years)
 Position overview

The ANU College of Asia and the Pacific (CAP) leads intellectual engagement with the Asia-Pacific region through research, teaching and contributions to public debate, and seeks to set the international standard for scholarship concerning the region.

Crawford School of Public Policy is one of four Schools within CAP and one of the world's leading public policy schools. Crawford School is the university's focal point for contributing to public policy research, education and policy impact. Its graduate programs have trained many of the region's leaders, and its research has impacted on policy making. Public policy scholarship at Crawford School is characterised by high quality, policy-relevant research across a range of disciplines.

We are seeking a post-doctoral early career researcher to be appointed at Level A (Postdoctoral Fellow) within Crawford School's Policy and Governance program. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be primarily engaged in research on Indian politics or public policy, whether domestic or international in nature. We are particularly interested in candidates with interests in political economy, economic development, or technological change. The position will also involve sharing research findings and new perspectives with the wider public. Fellows with appropriate credentials may have opportunities to contribute to teaching at the Crawford School as well.

The Fellow will also be a member of the New Generation Network (NGN) at the Australia India Institute (Aii). The NGN is a partnership of Australian universities supporting an interdisciplinary collection of postdoctoral fellows undertaking research on contemporary India. NGN scholars participate in twice yearly NGN activities, receive Aii mentorship, and collaborate with other scholars across the network. They also receive professional development opportunities, interacting with figures from government, business, and third sector organisations. In addition, NGN scholars are able to avail of the facilities provided by Aii in Delhi.

For further information please contact Associate Professor Andrew Kennedy, E: andy.kennedy@anu.edu.au

Increasing the representation of women, academics from culturally or linguistically diverse backgrounds and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people is a strategic priority for the Crawford School. We strongly encourage applications from these groups.

ANU Values diversity and inclusion and is committed to providing equal employment opportunities to those of all backgrounds and identities. People with a disability are encouraged to apply. For more information about staff equity at ANU, read here: <https://services.anu.edu.au/business-units/human-resources-division/equity-and-diversity>

The Australian National University is a world-leading institution and provides a range of lifestyle, financial and non-financial rewards and programs to support staff in maintaining a healthy work/life balance whilst encouraging success in reaching their full career potential. For more information, please see here: <https://www.anu.edu.au/jobs>

Application information

In order to apply for this role please make sure that you upload the following documents:

A statement addressing the selection criteria.
A current curriculum vitae (CV) which includes the names and contact details of at least three referees (preferably including a current or previous supervisor). If your CV does not include referees you can complete these online when prompted in the application form.
Other documents, if required.
Applications which do not address the selection criteria may not be considered for the position.

All applications must be submitted via: <https://jobs.anu.edu.au/en/job/533526/postdoctoral-fellow>

Start Date: Spring
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/20/2019
Salary: $90,000 - $99,999
eJobs ID: 7597

Wabash College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor of Political Science

The Wabash College Political Science Department invites applications for a part-time Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, beginning January 6, 2020. The appointment is for one semester, and the teaching assignment will be one section of introductory comparative politics.

The successful candidate must have graduate training in political science. A PhD or ABD candidate with strong background in comparative politics and teaching experience is preferred. The position offers a competitive salary and support for professional development.

To apply, click the "Apply Now" button to submit a cover letter that includes a section on teaching philosophy, a curriculum vitae, and the names and contact information for three recommenders who can address your scholarship and teaching background.

Please direct questions about the position to Dr. Shamira Gelbman, Chair of the Political Science Department, at gelbmans@wabash.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Wabash College, a liberal arts college for men, seeks faculty and staff committed to providing quality engagement with students, high levels of academic challenge and support, and meaningful diversity experiences that prepare students for life and leadership in a multicultural global world. We welcome applications from persons of all backgrounds. EOE.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/16/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7575

University of Rochester

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellow

Applications for 2020-21 are welcome in any area of international or comparative politics, but preference will be given to applicants whose work focuses on Central and Eastern Europe, broadly defined. Fellows offer two courses during the academic year and receive a stipend of $50,000. Applicants without a Ph.D. should describe their plans for completing the degree by the time the fellowship commences.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a 3-5 page research project description, a one-page sketch of proposed courses, one or more writing samples, and three letters of recommendation to: Fellowship in International and Central European Politics, Skalny Center for Polish and Central European Studies, University of Rochester, Harkness Hall 101, Rochester, New York 14627-0147. Applications must be postmarked by Jan. 5, 2020. Direct questions to Dr. Bozenna Sobolewska, bsobolew@mail.rochester.edu, or 585-275-9898.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/3/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7540

University of Wisconsin, River Falls

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Wisconsin River Falls, a member of the University of Wisconsin System, is located in scenic west central Wisconsin, 30 miles from the multi-cultural, multi-ethnic cities of Minneapolis and St Paul. Year-round arts, cultural and recreational events are easily accessible from River Falls. UWRF's 6,100 undergraduate and graduate students pursue degrees in four colleges: Arts and Sciences, Education and Professional Studies; Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences; and Business and Economics.

The University provides an excellent environment for learning, emphasizing the importance of faculty-student interaction in classrooms, laboratories, academic advising, and co-curricular activities. A favorable student-faculty ratio affords opportunity for meaningful interchange between faculty and students. Strong interests in teaching, research and community service are highly valued. More information about UWRF can be found at: <http://www.uwrf.edu/workhere/>.

The Position:

This is a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track undergraduate faculty position (100% teaching) at the rank of Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science. The standard teaching load is 12 credit hours per semester. The successful candidate will demonstrate strong interests and ability to teach courses in the interdisciplinary international studies program, international relations and/or comparative politics, international climate policy, and other classes dependent on expertise and department needs.

The person selected for this position would need to teach in at least 2 of the following areas: Political Science, International Studies, or Geography.

Opportunities exist for optional summer employment through teaching, research grants, internship supervision and other funding sources. Anticipated Appointment date: August 2020.

Specific Duties and Responsibilities:

- Teach a full load of undergraduate courses (4 courses per semester, typically 3 preparations, 12 credits);
- Teach required courses in both Political Science and International Studies, including: POLS 260: International Relations; International Studies 200: Introduction to International Studies; as well as POLS/INTS 300: Research Methods; and POLS/INTS 480: Senior Seminar;
- Teach electives in Political Science in the areas of International Relations and/or Comparative Politics;
- Develop a new elective course in International Climate Policy and other courses in their area of expertise that could be taken as electives in the following majors: Political Science, International Studies, and Geography;
- Advise undergraduate students;
- Collaborate with others in service activities within the department, college, university, and broader community;
- Engage in research and other scholarly activities.

Qualifications Required:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or International Studies. ABD's will be considered if candidate demonstrates she or he will have the Ph.D. completed by June 1, 2020.
- Demonstrated ability or potential to effectively teach undergraduate courses in Political Science and International studies.

- Demonstrated commitment to effective advising, service, and scholarship.

Qualifications Preferred:

- Preference will be given to candidates willing to periodically lead students in Education Abroad experiences.

Materials not submitted through <https://jobs.uwrf.edu/> cannot be considered.

Submit:

- Curriculum vitae (resume)
- Letter of interest specifying qualifications and experience (cover letter)
- A two-part statement, not to exceed 3 pages, covering: 1) your primary and secondary teaching interests, experience in classroom, and any evidence of successful teaching at the college level, and 2) your research and scholarly activity agenda.
- An unofficial transcript (official copies of transcripts will be required if hired).
- Provide the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and e-mail addresses of 3-5 references who can specifically comment on your teaching ability, experience and professional preparation (references).

Inquiries should be addressed to:

David J. Alperin, Search and Screen Chair
Department of Political Science
davida.j.alperin@uwrf.edu

Deadline to Apply: Initial review of applications will begin upon receipt. For full consideration, applicants should submit all required materials by February 1, 2020. A criminal background check will be completed on final candidates.

The University of Wisconsin System will not reveal the identities of applicants who request confidentiality in writing, except that the identity of the successful candidate will be released. See Wis. Stat. sec. 19.36(7).

Through its strategic plan, Pathway to Distinction, UW-River Falls will vigorously pursue three goals: Distinctive Academic Excellence; Global Education and Engagement; Innovation and Partnerships. In support of our first goal, UW-River Falls strives to be a leader in collaborative and undergraduate research; we therefore seek faculty members who have an interest in or experience with faculty-student collaborative research, scholarship, and creative activity. The university is also interested in applicants who can support and extend our partnerships and initiatives in Asia (particularly China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and India) and in Latin America. The university's strategic focus on international education encourages faculty to develop courses/pedagogy that facilitate the transition of international inbound students and out-bound UWRF students and enhance our curricular and programmatic partnerships in these regions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 12/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7543

Metropolitan State University of Denver

Rank: Political Science Tenure Track Faculty (Category I)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Latino Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Metropolitan State University of Denver invites applications for a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor to begin in fall 2020. The Department is particularly interested in candidates that are able to teach, and have research interests in, some of the following sub-fields: Racial/Ethnic Politics or Latino Politics specifically, Political Behavior, Comparative Politics or Public Law/Law and Courts. Regardless of sub-field, candidates should be able to teach courses in both qualitative and quantitative research methods. A normal course load is four courses per semester (12 credit hours), and as such, the department seeks applications from candidates with a strong interest in teaching and engaging our students, as well as pursuing a research agenda. The Department is comprised of dedicated teacher-scholars who seek a colleague with a similar approach to academia.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach four courses per semester. Courses will include broad introductory surveys of American National Government and/or Comparative Politics. The successful candidate will also be expected to teach upper-division courses in their area of expertise, as well as courses that meet the needs of the department. The position also requires a commitment to excellence in teaching a diverse student body; student advising activities; scholarship; and service both within the university and the profession or community.

Required qualifications include a PhD in political science or closely related field. PhD must be conferred by July of 2020. Preferred qualifications include evidence of excellence in undergraduate teaching; evidence of scholarly activities and an ongoing research agenda; and a demonstrated experience successfully teaching, mentoring, and advising diverse, under-served students, including students of color and non-traditional students. We are particularly interested in applicants that have the ability to work with and be sensitive to the needs of a diverse urban student population including (but not limited to) students of color, LBGQTQIA students, students from low-income backgrounds, first-generation students, students with disabilities, undocumented students, non-traditional students, student veterans, and English-language learners.

Application Process: Complete applications received by February 3, 2020 will receive full consideration. The position is open until filled. In order to be considered as an applicant, you must apply via the online application system, www.msudenverjobs.com. Applicants must submit a cover letter, CV, teaching philosophy, writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation submitted under "References" in the application, and unofficial transcripts. If you are unable to attach copies of transcripts or the letters of recommendation at the time of application, please submit them to Amy Eckert at eckerta@msudenver.edu by or before the full consideration date. Official transcripts will be required of the candidate selected for hire.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7529

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in International Relations and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, International Security, Research Methods, and International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, Position ID:56242 <http://apply.interfolio.com/71476>

Please email cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7518

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship - Global Innovation Program

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Defense, Immigration Policy

PERRY WORLD HOUSE POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

The Global Innovation Program at the University of Pennsylvania's Perry World House invites applications for its postdoctoral fellowship program during the 2020-2021 academic year. The Global Innovation Program is the research arm of Perry World House, the University of Pennsylvania's new university-wide hub for global engagement and interdisciplinary international policy research. Perry World House connects Penn to the international policy world through research, student engagement, and public programming, bringing the university's intellectual resources to bear on the urgent global challenges of the 21st century.

We hope to bring several postdoctoral fellows to campus for the 2020-2021 academic year. We are seeking excellent scholars who study global affairs and have interest in interdisciplinary outreach and policy relevance. We are particularly interested in applicants in the following areas:

- The Future of the Global Order: Power, Technology, and Governance
- Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Demography

The Future of the Global Order

Changes in global economic, military, and technological circumstances are evident in growing concerns around the world about the future of arms control, multilateral economic institutions, technological decoupling, the future of the Islamic State, and more. The post-Cold War global order may be at a tipping point. In addition, systemic trends such as globalization and climate change mean that the challenges of today and tomorrow will be global – and require global responses. The role of automated trading algorithms in the 2010 “Flash Crash” in the United States, combined with the specter of drone warfare around the world and the proliferation of military robotics, highlight how the intersection of technologies such as cyber and robotics presents enormous challenges for global business and diplomatic norms. In a time of change, academic research has the potential to shed significant light on these issues, and highlight new and important approaches for the global policy community.

In this theme area, Perry World House will focus in part, but not exclusively, on four areas: the impacts of emerging technologies for global politics, shifting global power balances and how they influence both state and non-state actors, the evolution of international legal regimes, and the ability of the international community to sustain effective governing institutions in times of change.

Global Shifts

Urbanization, migration, and demographic changes are transforming the human environment, creating both new challenges and opportunities. The UN High Commission for Refugees said in 2015 that the world faces the highest level of human displacement since its founding in 1950. New and changing migration patterns, whether driven by civil wars, instability due to environmental change, economic hardships, or potential opportunities elsewhere, have depth and nuance that have proven hard to predict – or track. At the same time, over 66% of the world’s population will live in urban spaces by 2050, raising critical questions about urban vitality and sustainability.

Yet, the diverse causes and consequences of urbanization, migration, and demographic change have not been fully understood, and are too often examined in isolation. The University of Pennsylvania is poised to contribute to pressing policy debates and to help develop new approaches to these global shifts given the University’s numerous strengths in urban studies, sociology, demography, law, and politics. The Global Innovation Program at Perry World House will bring together Penn’s strengths in these areas through an interconnected examination of urbanization, migration, and demography.

Requirements and Application Information

Postdoctoral fellows in Global Order and Global Shifts research areas will pursue their own research as well as participate in the intellectual life of the Global Innovation Program and Perry World House. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to give a presentation during the academic year in the Perry World House Seminar Series, publish policy relevant scholarship related to Perry World House themes, and attend regularly scheduled seminars. They will also be expected to spend up to 10% of their time contributing to the intellectual environment at Perry World House, including working with Perry World House’s Undergraduate Student Fellows, as well as designing and planning engagement in relevant theme areas. Perry World House will also introduce each postdoctoral fellow to related faculty and leaders of centers and institutes at the University of Pennsylvania.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees (including a J.D. in the case of applicants focused on international legal regimes) in the last two years (not earlier than 2018), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting Monday, January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

Upon provision of and contingent upon proof of conferral of the PhD degree, all postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71103>. Applicants will be asked to complete a short form as well as upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation.

General Information

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn’s Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email postdoc@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7479

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The School for International Studies at Simon Fraser University seeks an established scholar for a full-time, tenure track position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor to fill the Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security, a position endowed by The Simons Foundation Canada. The start date could be as early as July 1, 2020.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science discipline, or an SJD in law, and an outstanding record of research and teaching. The chairholder will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and teaching focused on the nexus of international law and human security, broadly defined. The chairholder will create new curriculum, provide intellectual leadership, and foster public understanding through conferences and symposia. The Chair is endowed with a research grant and a reduced teaching load of normally two courses per year. Appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, depending on qualifications.

Simon Fraser University is a leading Canadian public research university (consistently ranked #1 by Maclean's Magazine for best comprehensive university in Canada). The School for International Studies is an interdisciplinary unit with research and teaching programs focused on peace and security; international development; human rights and international law; and governance and civil society. The School is based at SFU's Vancouver campus in the heart of downtown.

This is a senior level position. Only those holding a faculty position at the Associate Professor or Professor rank will be considered. Applications will be treated in confidence and should include: a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching, one representative publication, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants should also provide the names, addresses and phone/e-mail of six academic referees of high standing. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 8, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. The position is subject to the availability of funding.

Materials should be sent in a single pdf file via email to intst@sfu.ca. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Tamir Moustafa, at tmoustafa@sfu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7445

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Comparative Politics with a substantive focus on countries or regions in the developing world. We are especially interested in scholars using big data, machine learning, or experimental and quasi-experimental methods; and whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply on Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70321>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions regarding the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 11/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7438

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Political-Economy with a substantive focus on comparative political-economy and/or applied game theory. We are especially interested in scholars whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply at Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70423>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions about the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is strongly committed to non-discriminatory hiring practices, and encourages applications from individuals who will further expand the diversity of our faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 11/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7436

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in Comparative Politics beginning August 16, 2020. The successful candidate should have a strong research agenda that applies rigorous methods to important theoretical questions. The position is open to candidates with any theoretical or regional expertise, but we seek to expand upon our existing strengths and thus particularly encourage applications from scholars with area expertise in sub-Saharan Africa, Asia, or Russia.

The University of Alabama is a student-centered research university and the flagship campus of the University of Alabama system. The Political Science Department offers B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. A completed Ph.D. in political science is required for appointment at the level of Assistant Professor.

To apply, go to <https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/46049> and complete the online application. Attach a letter of application, curriculum vitae, research statement, samples of publications and papers, and syllabi and course evaluations for any courses taught. Arrange to have transcripts of graduate work and three letters of recommendation sent directly to: Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, University of Alabama, Box 870213, Tuscaloosa, AL 35487-0213, or via email at kmnolen@ua.edu. For more information, contact Terry J. Royed, Search Committee Chair, at troyed@ua.edu. We will begin reviewing applications on January 15, 2020 and will continue reviewing applications until the position is filled. The University of Alabama is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and actively seeks diversity among its employees. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7439

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2020-21

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian

Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for ten months, starting in August or September 2020. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/70841>

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7425

North Dakota State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

North Dakota State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position in political economy, to begin on August 16, 2020.

The department of Criminal Justice & Political Science at NDSU is recruiting for a 9-month tenure-track position, at the rank of assistant professor—or, for especially qualified applicants, associate professor—starting Fall 2020. We seek candidates with expertise in any area of political economy, although especially invite applications from candidates who focus on the political economy of development. For candidates with a regional specialization, we are especially interested in scholars studying areas other than Europe and North America. Successful applicants should be versed in comparative or international political economy and have a strong commitment to policy-relevant research and teaching. This is a 50% research, 40% teaching, 10% service position. The teaching load is, at most, 2-2, with at least one course release in the first three years. While the tenure home will be in the Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science, this position will be affiliated with the NDSU College of Business' Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research, teaching, and outreach that contributes to the Institute's mission. In turn, the Institute may also provide opportunities for graduate student assistance, course buyouts, and summer research support. Successful applicants will be prepared to teach core undergraduate courses in comparative politics and/or international relations, upper-division classes on political economy, political institutions, and global policy issues, and will have opportunities to contribute to existing and emerging programs in public policy, political and economic institutions, and global studies. The department has minimal service expectations for pre-tenure faculty.

Minimum Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for the position are: 1) a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Economics, or a related discipline, conferred no later than August, 2020, 2) evidence of research productivity, or potential to publish scholarship in peer reviewed journals, presses, and other outlets appropriate to one's field, 3) experience teaching political economy, institutions, and/or global policy courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels, 4) potential to contribute to the Challey Institute's mission, and 5) effective written and oral communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications

We will give priority to candidates who 1) can provide substantial evidence of research productivity and quality, 2) can provide substantial evidence of teaching effectiveness, 3) have experience pursuing and/or obtaining external funding, 4) have a research focus on the political economy of development, 5) conduct teaching and research that can contribute to NDSU's commitment to diversity and inclusion, 6) have experience working in, or developing, a global studies program, 7) have experience contributing to, or developing, a master's program in public policy, and/or 8) have a regional focus outside Europe and North America.

Application

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, course materials, evidence of participation in teaching professionalization activities, and, if available, evaluations by peers and/or mentors; please do not include student evaluations of teaching), and names and contact information for 3 references (we will contact references for roughly 10 short-listed applicants). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://jobs.ndsu.edu/postings/10886>. Initial screening of applications will begin on or about November 21, 2019.

NDSU especially encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups.

The Department

The Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science has 12 tenure-track faculty members and serves roughly 100 undergraduate majors in political science, and 200 undergraduate and 20 graduate students in criminal justice. Faculty in the department teach four classes per year. The NDSU community and national organizations have regularly recognized department faculty for excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. The college provides faculty with computing resources and tenure-track faculty within the department receive a yearly research and professionalization budget that covers travel to 1-2 conferences, and which faculty routinely supplement with College and University travel grants.

The Challey Institute

The Sheila and Robert Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth is an interdisciplinary institute that aims to advance understanding in the areas of innovation, trade, and institutions to identify policies and solutions that enhance economic growth and opportunity. The Challey Institute works toward achieving its mission by engaging in research, student programming, and outreach in the areas of (1) international trade, investment, and immigration, (2) innovation and entrepreneurship, and (3) institutions and policy.

The University

North Dakota State University is a comprehensive, student-focused, land-grant, research university with more than 14,000 students from 47 states and 79 countries. NDSU was the first university in North Dakota to be named to the most research-intensive category by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and is listed in the National Science Foundation's top 100 in several areas, including agricultural sciences, social sciences, physical sciences, chemistry, psychology, and computer sciences.

NDSU values faculty members' work-life balance and the needs of dual-career couples. The College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences' guidelines on family-related reassignment of duties are available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/ahss/family2010.pdf> and University policy on extension of the probationary period for personal or family reasons is available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/352.pdf>. NDSU is an ADVANCE institution and has a Focus on Resources for Women's Advancement, Recruitment/Retention, and Development (FORWARD) program, that, as part of its efforts, has developed procedures and funding streams for dual career hiring at NDSU: <https://www.ndsu.edu/forward/>. Applicants can find more information about NDSU at <http://www.ndsu.edu>.

The Community

NDSU is located in Fargo-Moorhead (F-M), a pleasant, safe, diversifying, and growing community of approximately 245,000 people. As the largest population center in the region, F-M is a hub of entertainment, finance, information technology, and medical services for a large geographic area including the state of North Dakota, and western Minnesota. Two universities (NDSU and Minnesota State University Moorhead) and one private liberal arts college (Concordia College) are located in F-M. The F-M area has a healthy economy: ND has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the U.S., good public schools, low crime rates, ample shopping, local theatre and music companies, several art galleries, semi-professional baseball and hockey, and Division I intercollegiate athletics. Hector International Airport in Fargo is convenient and is served by several major airlines. Sun, clear skies, and clean air predominate year-round. Visiting nearby northern Minnesota lakes, canoeing, camping, cycling, softball, and soccer are popular in summer; winter pastimes include cross-country skiing, skating, and snowmobiling. The city has an excellent park system that includes several quality golf courses and bicycle/running/ski paths along the Red River, which divides Fargo-Moorhead. Fargo is an hour drive from a major resort area in the Minnesota "lakes country" and two hours from scenic Itasca State Park, where you will find the headwaters of the Mississippi river. Central and western North Dakota offer beautiful hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and related opportunities in the Badlands, national grasslands, and numerous river valleys. Winnipeg, Manitoba is less than a four-hour drive to the north and Minneapolis-St. Paul is an equal distance to the south-east.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/26/2019

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7385

Lamar University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Job Summary: The Department of Political Science invites applications for one full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science beginning August 2020.

Candidates should be able to teach introduction to comparative politics and advanced upper level comparative politics courses covering such areas as Western democracies, developing nations and/or a regional focus. Candidates should also be able to teach American Government (POLS 2301 and POLS 2302).

Qualifications: Candidates should have PhD in Political Science or Government awarded by date of employment. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate Lamar University's diverse population of students online and face-to-face; maintain an active service agenda; demonstrate a strong commitment to and evidence of an active research agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally-related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Application Procedure: The application deadline is January 15, 2020 or until the position is filled. Apply online at: <https://jobs.lamar.edu>.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson.

Recommendation letters can be sent to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7373

Midwestern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: East Asia, Africa, Middle East

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position to begin in fall 2020. We seek a candidate whose primary teaching interest is comparative politics with a specialization in Asia, Middle East, or Africa, as well as the ability to teach quantitative research methods. The ability to teach courses in climate and environmental politics or international relations is desired, but not required. The applicant should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (an ABD candidate would be required to have a Ph.D. by August 2021), and should contribute to the teaching and research mission of the university.

The Department of Political Science offers a B.A. Political Science and a B.A. Global Studies. It also houses the interdisciplinary minor in Women's and Gender Studies and a successful Model United Nations program.

The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Salary is competitive, depending on experience.

Midwestern State University is a public liberal arts university with an enrollment of approximately 6,000 students located in Wichita Falls, a city of 106,000 about 2 hours northwest of Dallas/Fort Worth (www.msutexas.edu). As a Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) member institution, Midwestern State University is particularly committed to excellence in teaching and seeks applicants that will contribute to this mission. This position is designated as security sensitive and requires the finalist to complete a criminal background check. EEO/ADAAA compliance employer.

Please send a 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) teaching evaluations, 4) one example of scholarly work, and 5) three letters of recommendation to:

Dr. Linda Veazey, Chair
Department of Political Science
Midwestern State University
3410 Taft Boulevard
Wichita Falls, TX 76308
linda.veazey@msutexas.edu

The initial review of complete applications will begin January 13, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7325

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting a tenure-track assistant professor in the area(s) of Cyber Security and Privacy. This position will have an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020.

This interdisciplinary position will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units for their appointment. All relevant areas will be considered, such as (but not limited to) Mathematics, Statistics, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, Psychology, Computer Science, Legal Studies, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Philosophy, Criminal Justice, and Political Science.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution at the time of appointment in an area appropriate to the cluster. The selected candidate must also have a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record.

Preferred qualifications: A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is strongly preferred.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. In particular, candidates that have a track record in security and privacy issues affecting software and systems in various platforms (cloud, IoT, cyber-physical) are strongly encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will also have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security and privacy. (See <https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved to date.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided.

UCF has a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry, including large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, Oracle, Apple, AMD, Boeing, SpaceX, Blue Origin, etc. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school. Orlando has one of the fastest growing and dynamic economies in the nation. In 2018, among major metropolitan areas, Orlando enjoyed the fifth largest increase in population. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your approach and experience meeting the needs of a diverse community, both in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague. In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

- 1) the above-mentioned diversity statement,
- 2) a cover letter*,
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) teaching statement,
- 5) research statement, and

6) contact information for three professional references (include email addresses).

*In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, any experience working on interdisciplinary teams, how they will enhance the existing cluster team, and identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home and any joint appointments they would desire.

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Yan Solihin at yan.solihin@ucf.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7299

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position ID: F00175P

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, beginning August 2020. Candidates should be trained in Comparative Politics with a focus on Latin America. Scholars whose research also has implications for Latino/Latina communities in the United States are especially encouraged to apply. Completed Ph.D. is preferred although A.B.D.s will be considered. The University of Texas at Arlington is a designated Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI).

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive courses in their area of expertise, including introductory courses, core undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate to the rank. Salary is competitive. Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service.

Arlington, Texas is centrally located to major cultural, sporting, and entertainment venues, situated in the heart of the Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan area, with over 6 million residents and more than twenty municipalities (<http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/citieshttp://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities>). The University of Texas at Arlington campus is a short twenty-minute drive to DFW International Airport, downtown Fort Worth and downtown Dallas. The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols/http://www.uta.edu/pols/>) has a strong social media presence (Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter), and offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over three hundred undergraduate majors and minors, and 20 to 30 graduate students.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) provide a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) one writing sample, and 4) names and contact information of three professional references. Screening will begin immediately upon receipt of a completed application. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

UT Arlington is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The use of tobacco products is prohibited on UT Arlington properties. A criminal background check will be conducted on finalists.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6193

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto

College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

* a curriculum vitae;

- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Faculty Position - Sabancı University

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: political behavior, political regime change or political economy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu

<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5910

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics/ Public Policy (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics/Public Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: Turkish Politics, policy evaluation or social policy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5911

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Clark University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, Trade

The Department of Political Science at Clark University seeks to fill a full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor position in International Relations for the academic year 2020-21. We are particularly interested in a candidate with a specialty in international organizations, but other areas of expertise will be considered. There is a possibility for an additional one-year renewal subject to the candidate's performance and departmental need. Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science in hand by August 2020.

The teaching load for this position is six (6) courses per academic year. The successful applicant will be expected to teach two (2) sections of Research Methods, and four (4) courses in the IR subfield, including two (2) sections of the survey course (Introduction to International Relations) and two courses in the candidate's area of expertise.

Clark University embraces equal opportunity and affirmative action as core values: we believe that cultivating an environment that embraces and promotes diversity is fundamental to the success of our students, our employees and our community. This commitment applies to every aspect of education, services, and employment policies and practices at Clark. Our commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment, hiring and retention. All positions at Clark share in the responsibility for building a community that values diversity and the uniqueness of others by exhibiting integrity and respect in interacting with all members of the Clark community to create an atmosphere of fairness and belonging. We strongly encourage members from historically underrepresented communities, inclusive of all women, to apply.

Please send CV, statement of teaching interests, transcript, three letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to the Department Chair, Prof. Robert Boatright, at rboatright@clarku.edu. In order to receive full consideration, application materials must be received by no later than 31 March 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/26/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7675

Harvard University

Rank: Regions in a Multipolar World Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Regions in a Multipolar World research cluster at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs at Harvard University seeks a postdoctoral researcher for academic year 2020-2021 to work with the cluster's principals (see below) on questions of regions and regionalism in the world, past and present.

About the cluster:

What brings together the cluster's faculty participants, heterogeneous in disciplinary background and geographic expertise, is a shared curiosity about the organization of the international system at a time of transition. World regions lie at the heart of our collaboration. Our aim is to build intellectual bridges between the study of regions, the evolution of the world system, and shared dilemmas of governance. The organizing questions we put forward include:

- Is a "world of regions," as it is sometimes phrased, indeed coming into being?
- What factors account for the variation in regional relations from one part of the world to another, and over time in particular areas?
- As the world becomes less US-centric, how can we expect the exercise of power in and over world regions to figure in the emergence of a multipolar global order?
- What difference will developments at regional level, and linkages with system dynamics, make for the aggregate capacity to address urgent problems of transnational and global scope?

Faculty affiliates of the Regions cluster include Timothy Colton (Government Department, GSAS) and Meg Rithmire (HBS) as co-directors, alongside Pol Antras (Economics Department, GSAS), Tamar Herzog (History and HLS), Zoe Marks (HKS), Tarek Masoud (HKS), and Kathryn Sikkink (HKS), and Arne Westad (Yale).

Expectations:

The postdoctoral fellow will be housed by the Weatherhead Center with a total stipend of $70,000. Health insurance benefits will also be provided. The fellow must reside in the greater Boston area for the duration of the appointment, which is July 1, 2020 through June 30, 2021.

Specifically, we envision the fellow's intellectual tasks to be two-fold, and her/his time equally distributed between these tasks:

- 1) Aggregating, wrangling, and analyzing data related to regions in the world. We have research assistants collecting data on topics such as regional identity, interactions (e.g. travel and tourism, cultural production and consumption), economic cooperation and interdependence, political affinities, and more. The fellow will help wrangle and analyze these data, marshalling them to answer questions of substantive importance.
- 2) Collaborating with various permutations of faculty members on projects to advance the collective and the fellow's own research agenda. Ideally, the successful applicant's own research agenda includes questions of regional dynamics at a global or level or with regard to a specific geography. Our aim is to work toward joint publication, meaning the fellow will be expected to co-author with the faculty participants.

Qualifications:

Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 2017 and July 2020. Preference will be given to applicants with a degree in social science or related fields whose research interests include regions or regionalism. A successful applicant must have training in quantitative data analysis.

Application Process:

To apply, you will be required to submit an online application on the Harvard portal: <https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9537> You are required to submit:

- 1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
- CV
- 2 scholarly writing samples
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees
- Two letters of reference. Include contact information for the references and have them submit letters directly to the email below.

Application Deadline: March 1, 2020

Please direct all questions to regionscluster@wcfa.harvard.edu

Start Date:Application Deadline: 3/1/2020Date Posted: 1/24/2020Salary: $70,000 - $79,999eJobs ID: 7671Old Dominion University*Rank: Associate Professor or Full Professor in Political Science/ International Studies

The Department of Political Science and Geography and the Graduate Program in International Studies (GPIS) at Old Dominion University invite applications for an Associate Professor or Full Professor position in Political Science and International Studies to begin July 25, 2020. The department and program seek a scholar in International Relations. Preference will be given to candidates with a specialization in U.S. Foreign Policy.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Studies or a closely related discipline, and have a record of excellence in teaching. They must also have a research portfolio worthy of tenure and the rank of Associate Professor or Full Professor at a Carnegie-designated High Research Activity institution. The successful candidate will have a demonstrable commitment to promoting and enhancing diversity, mentoring students, and professional leadership.

Old Dominion University is a residential and research-extensive public institution with a student enrollment of 25,000 including approximately 5,000 graduate students, and a full time equivalent diverse and multicultural faculty of over 850. The university's primary campus is located in Norfolk, VA, one of the seven cities that make up the historic Hampton Roads region of Virginia, a major recreational area with a population of 1.7 million near the Atlantic Ocean and Chesapeake Bay. More information about the Political Science program can be found at <https://www.odu.edu/pols-geog/political> and more information about the Graduate Program in International Studies can be found at <https://www.odu.edu/gpis>

Applicants should submit a cover letter which outlines research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, three samples of scholarly writing and evidence of teaching excellence, unofficial graduate transcripts, and a list of five references to Dr. Regina Karp, Chair, Political Science/GPIS Search Committee at <https://jobs.odu.edu>. The review of applications will commence January 24, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2020Application Deadline: 1/24/2020Date Posted: 1/23/2020Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7670Tufts University*Rank: Part-Time Lecturer in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University seeks applications for a part-time Lecturer in International Relations for the 2020-21 academic year, starting September 1, 2020. The expected teaching load is two courses per semester. A PhD or ABD status in Political Science or related field is required. Prior college-level teaching experience is strongly preferred.

Applications must be submitted via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/73433>

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, current CV, draft syllabi, and three confidential letters of recommendation uploaded directly by the reviewers to Interfolio. Applications will be reviewed starting on by February 23, 2020. Review will begin immediately thereafter and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be directed to Peter Morency (Peter.Morency@tufts.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 1/23/2020Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7669Long Island University Post*Rank: Associate/Full Professor in International Relations and Diplomacy

LIU Post's Department of Social Sciences is seeking an accomplished, mid-career, tenured professor to contribute to its International Relations and Diplomacy program. Applicants should specialize in the study of diplomacy, have demonstrated their ability to secure significant external funding, and have a substantial record of teaching and scholarly achievement that would qualify for a tenured appointment. Beginning in Fall 2020, this is a 9-month full-time faculty position (paid over 12 months) with rank commensurate with credentials and experience.

Principal Responsibilities:

- * Teach courses within the International Relations and Diplomacy program
- * Contribute to planning and curriculum development for the International Relations and Diplomacy Program
- * Participate in recruitment, retention and admissions activities
- * Disseminate scholarly work and compete for major sponsored grant funding
- * Advise students on academic, professional, and/or personal issues while providing referrals when appropriate.
- * Help facilitate and oversee student internship placements
- * Participate in departmental committee work, including program evaluation
- * Serve on department and university committees
- * Demonstrate professionalism and ethical behavior
- * Fulfill other duties and responsibilities as requested by the Department Chair and Dean, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in International Relations, a record of excellence in teaching, significant published research, and a demonstrated ability to secure external funding. Preference will be given to applicants with working connections to the United Nations and other international agencies who can help facilitate student internship placements within such organizations.

Please submit cover letter, CV, evidence of teaching excellence, and the names of 3 references to https://jobs.liu.edu/#/job_details/1488. We will not contact references unless applicant is being seriously considered for the position.

Review of applications will begin on March 1st, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/22/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7662

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East & North Africa

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The University of Arizona (UA) located in Tucson, Arizona seeks a qualified applicant for the position of Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, Tenure Track. Candidates will be expected to have a PhD in a field represented in the UA College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS); exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered. This position requires the ability to design and teach undergraduate and graduate courses and mentor students; and occasional domestic and foreign travel for meetings, seminars, and conferences. This position is non-security sensitive and requires a name-based criminal background check.

The faculty member will conduct cutting-edge research in their field, teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, mentor students, including those from underrepresented backgrounds. The faculty member will also participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service. In these and other ways, the faculty member will help to develop innovative approaches to enhancing student engagement, increasing diversity, and expanding collaborations with community and business partners.

Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; sick leave and holidays; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more! The University of Arizona has been recognized for our innovative worklife programs. For more information about working at the University of Arizona and relocations services, please see <https://whyua.arizona.edu/>

A new assistant professor (tenure-track, academic year) position in Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, broadly defined, will be placed in the University of Arizona College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). The unit home(s) will be determined at the close of the search. We are interested in a broad range of social science and historical approaches to the study of human rights in the Middle East and North Africa. Of interest are human rights issues related to economic and social rights, environmental justice, gender politics, health, humanitarianism, indigenous rights, migrants and refugees, bioethics, and sustainable development. The successful candidate will be well qualified to engage in undergraduate and graduate teaching; have an active research agenda, with research in or centrally related to the Middle East and/or North Africa; have potential for externally supported research; and have an interest in participating in outreach activities. The teaching load is typically two courses per semester. Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern language is highly desirable (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language).

The exact field of specialization and PhD is open; the appointment may be made in a single SBS unit or as a joint appointment across two units. See <https://sbs.arizona.edu/about/academic-units> for a full listing of SBS units. SBS includes Anthropology, Gender & Women's Studies, Geography & Development, Government & Public Policy, History, Journalism, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, and Sociology, among other units. Given current student interests and the importance of developing certain regional studies within UA Middle East studies, the position has a preferred focus on Egypt, North Africa, or Turkey, although applications from specialists in any area of the Middle East and North Africa are welcome and will receive full consideration.

The UA features an extensive program in Middle Eastern and North African studies. The School of Middle Eastern & North African Studies (MENAS) offers a BA, MA and PhD, a BA in Arabic, and includes an Arabic Flagship program. Also in SBS are the American Institute for Maghrib Studies; Arizona Center for Judaic Studies; Arizona Center for Turkish Studies; Center for Arabic Study Abroad; Center for Middle Eastern Studies, a Title VI US Department of Education-funded National Resource Center; and the Roshan Graduate Interdisciplinary Program in Persian and Iranian Studies. Known for its support of interdisciplinary endeavors, the UA includes a variety of units with programs related to human rights. Interest in human rights-related issues is informed by the UA's location near the US border with Mexico. SBS offers an online MA and graduate certificate in Human Rights Practice and is currently developing a fully online BA in Human Rights Practice and 3 additional graduate certificates in the field. Plans are also underway for creating a PhD in Human Rights Practice. The Global Studies major includes a concentration in Human Rights, Migrations, and Social Movements. The School of Government & Public Policy offers BA programs in Law and Political Science, both of which attract students interested in human rights-related careers. Of related interest are programs in SBS such as the BA in Food Studies; the Philosophy, Politics, Economics and Law major in the Department of Political Economy & Moral Science; and the School of Sociology's Care, Health & Society BS major. The UA College of Law offers advanced training in indigenous people's law and policy, and a human rights concentration for students in the Master of Legal Studies program.

Minimum Qualifications- Assistant Professor: Ph.D. from an accredited institution of higher learning; Exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered; Ph.D. is required for appointment as Assistant

Professor; Teaching experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or

curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body

Interest in outreach efforts; Emerging scholarly reputation

Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. by time of appointment; Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern Language (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language)

This is a full time, Assistant Professor position in the Center for Middle Eastern Studies. All applications must be submitted through the University OF Arizona Human Resources website. Direct link to posting information: <https://cmes.arizona.edu/human-rights-faculty-position>

A complete application packet will include four items: a CV; a Cover Letter; the candidate's statement on research agenda (in the Personal Statement) ; the candidate's statement on teaching pedagogy that includes details of the candidate's experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body (in the Statement of Teaching Philosophy); and the names, titles, and email addresses of at least three references.

Questions regarding this position should be directed to Prof. Anne H. Betteridge, Search Committee Chair, The Center for Middle Eastern Studies, The University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ 85721.

Please note: You will be required to provide contact information for a minimum of three professional references within your application. Should you be selected as a finalist for this position, for your convenience, your references may receive an automatic email. This email will ask your references to complete a brief questionnaire in regard to your suitability for the position as well as request the attachment of a letter of recommendation. These letters of recommendation must be uploaded directly via the UACareers.com website by your reference provider. UACareers.com is not compatible with any "dossier aggregate" system (e.g., Interfolio, Intellimedia).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/21/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7658

Reed College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Half-Time)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Half-Time)
Reed College
2020-2021

Applications are invited for a half-time visiting appointment in political science with specializations in one or more of the following fields: international relations or American politics/public policy. Candidates with an ability to teach in multiple fields are particularly encouraged to apply. The appointment begins Fall 2020.

Candidates are expected to teach three sections total across one or two semesters. All our courses are capped at 24 students. Because we are a small department, we are interested in candidates who incorporate multiple methods of analysis and integrate this approach into their teaching of undergraduate seminars and in the advising of student research.

Reed College is a highly selective liberal arts institution with a distinguished record of educational accomplishment and a strong commitment to scholarship (<http://web.reed.edu>). Our pedagogy emphasizes the conceptual and theoretical foundations of the discipline. We expect the Ph.D. to be in hand, or very near completion, by the start of the appointment. Above all, we seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level. Information on the department is available at http://academic.reed.edu/poli_sci/. Search inquiries may be addressed to political.search@reed.edu.

Reed College is a community that believes cultural diversity is essential to the excellence of our academic program. In your application materials, we welcome a description of how you would engage and sustain the commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in Reed College's diversity statement (<https://www.reed.edu/diversity/>). An Equal Opportunity Employer, Reed College values diversity and encourages applications from underrepresented groups.

Please send an application letter, CV, demonstration of teaching excellence, and two letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/73270>. Sample syllabi are welcome but not required. The review of applications will begin on February 14, 2020, and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7652

DePaul University

Rank: Endowed Chair in Applied Diplomacy

DePaul University invites applications for an endowed Chair in Applied Diplomacy. Successful candidates will demonstrate a record of academic accomplishment commensurate with the appointment to the rank of Full Professor with tenure. We are seeking an intellectual leader who is well-prepared to advance an innovative, transprofessional approach to the study and practice of diplomacy that is the hallmark of DePaul's Grace School of Applied Diplomacy. The successful candidate will be a dynamic scholar with a notable record of publication, an established history of interdisciplinary approaches to the field, expertise in non-state actor and grassroots diplomatic practices, and a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching.

The Grace School is housed in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and offers both BA and MA programs in Applied Diplomacy. It places a premium on promoting collaboration among practitioners of diplomacy in multiple contexts, and as such, its curriculum is designed to prepare students to practice diplomacy not only as foreign service officers, but also as businesspeople, scientists, NGO representatives, religious leaders, international civil servants, community organizers, artists, educators, and grass roots activists. The faculty of the Grace School represent twenty-two different departments and programs from across the University. The School is privileged to be located in Chicago, a globally-engaged city that is home to a rich array of consuls and international initiatives.

Candidates will find an enriching and innovative climate at DePaul, with institutional support for cross-disciplinary, inter-departmental, and community-engaged collaboration. Faculty draw on resources and cultivate partnerships across DePaul's centers, institutes, departments, schools and programs. Our students benefit from robust study abroad and global learning exchange programs.

DePaul is deeply sensitive to the educational goals of a culturally diverse student population and committed to diversity and equality in education and employment. We seek candidates who will reflect and engage the diversity of the university and its urban community. We strongly encourage applications from people of color, women, and individuals from other historically underrepresented groups.

Review of applications will begin on February 14th. Applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled. Applicants are requested to provide a cover letter with a personal statement, a CV and a list of references. The start date for this position is September 1, 2020.

In order to apply, please visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/72500>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7627

Wake Forest University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs (3 Positions)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: American Politics, Africa, Latin American

Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs (3 Positions)

American Politics/Comparative Politics/ International Relations

Wake Forest University

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs is seeking applications for three one-year temporary Visiting Assistant Professor positions: one in the area of American Government and two in Comparative/International Relations (with a preference for African and Latin American foci) beginning July 1, 2020.

Job Description:

We seek highly qualified candidates who have a commitment to excellence in teaching. A Ph.D. or ABD status in Political Science or a related area is required. More information about the department is available at <http://http://politics.wfu.edu/>.

Additional Job Description

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked among the top 30 national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, as indicated by the motto "pro humanitate." For quick facts about the University, go to <http://www.wfu.edu/visitors/quickfacts.html>.

Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>.

The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following: (1) a cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community; (2) a CV with contact information for three professional references; (3) a teaching statement including a plan to establish an inclusive learning environment in the liberal arts context; (4) sample course syllabi; (5) teaching evaluations and (6) copies of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

Review of applications will begin on February 7, 2020. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by February 7, 2020. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to Peter Siavelis, Chair, Wake Forest University, Department of Politics and International Affairs, P.O. Box 7568, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Peter Siavelis, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, siavelpm@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7632

Ronald Reagan Institute

Rank: Ronald Reagan Visiting Fellows Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Foreign Policy, History & Politics

The purpose of the Visiting Fellows Program is to advance the political, economic, and national security ideas and values of President Ronald Reagan. Visiting Fellows will be selected based on the relevance of their research to these principles. Proposals will also be judged on the likelihood of completion of a book manuscript during the fellowship period.

The fellowship year will begin in Washington, DC in September 2020 and last until August 2021. Reagan Visiting Fellows are required to be resident at the Institute's new headquarters in downtown Washington, DC. Each fellow will be provided with office space. Visiting Fellows will be expected to play an active role in the Institute's activities and in disseminating ideas related to fellows' academic work. The Institute will facilitate research, expand the fellows' contacts, and grow the fellows' visibility in the Washington policy community. In turn, the research and writing of each fellow will enrich and inform the policy community.

All applicants must submit proof of having successfully defended his/her dissertation by August 15, 2020. Acceptance of the award constitutes a commitment by each fellow to produce a book manuscript at the end of the Fellowship year.

Application Requirements

*Please submit all documents as PDFs. Do not send in zip files.

1. Executive Summary (Maximum of 1 page)

- Name, Address, Contact Information
- University Affiliation and Dissertation Advisor and contact information
- Names and contact information for 2 recommenders
- One paragraph summary description of research question and project's relevance to Ronald Reagan

2. Project Proposal (Maximum of 3 pages)

- Proposal should begin with a clear description of the policy issue being examined and a description of how this issue is linked to the ideas and vision of Ronald Reagan.

- Proposal should consider contemporary implications of the policy issue being examined.
- Description of research methods and approach – if the Reagan Library is likely to be a source for research, please explain.
- Notional book outline

3. Writing Sample (less than 20 pages)

4. CV/Resume

5. Transcripts & Letters of Recommendation

- Unofficial school transcripts and two letters of recommendation must be sent directly from your university and your recommenders to ReaganFellowship@ReaganFoundation.org.

NOTES:

2 openings.

Additional Salary Information: In addition to a stipend of $75,000, each fellow will receive an additional $5,000 for research related costs.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 3/2/2020

Date Posted: 1/9/2020

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7623

University of California San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar Appointment, China Data Lab

Postdoctoral Scholar Appointment, China Data Lab

Department: School of Global Policy and 21st Century China Center

Salary: Commensurate with experience

Appointment: 12-24 months (extendable by 12-24 based on mutual agreement) Start Date: September 1, 2020

Location: UC San Diego, La Jolla, CA

The 21st Century China Center is pleased to announce a one-year Postdoctoral Research Employee position in the China Data Lab in the area of Chinese politics for the academic year 2020-2021, with the possibility of a one-year reappointment. In addition to carrying out their own research, the appointee will work with faculty in the 21st Century China Center under the supervision of Professor Margaret Roberts at the University of California San Diego. The position offers the opportunity to join a large community of China scholars with a strong track record of high-quality publications on data-driven research on Chinese politics and focus on policy impacts. The position will offer the opportunity to co-author papers with mentors committed to helping the selected candidate launch a successful academic career with a strong research pipeline.

The Associate will reside at the UC San Diego campus and will be expected to actively participate in the intellectual life of the University. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science or another quantitative social science field with a focus on Chinese politics is required. The candidate should have a strong background in quantitative social science and a demonstrated ability to produce high quality research papers.

To Apply: submit a cover letter, CV with list of publications, academic transcripts, job market paper and at least two recommendations to Professor Margaret Roberts at: meroberts@ucsd.edu

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, but it is highly recommended that you apply before March 1, 2020 for full consideration.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7629

Princeton University

Rank: PIIRS Reimagining World Order Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) at Princeton University invites applications for a postdoctoral fellowship program for the 2020-21 year for the PIIRS Reimagining World Order Research Community. One postdoctoral fellowship will be awarded to an exceptional recent Ph.D. recipient who is researching issues relating to the theory, history, and politics of international order in the fields of history and political science. Areas of special interest include the rise and decline of international order, the order-building grand strategies of major states, the logic and character of liberal international order, and non-Western conceptions of world order. Appointment is for two academic years, with the possibility of renewal for a third year pending satisfactory appointment and continued funding. The appointment will be made through the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). Applicants must have already demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and excellence in teaching. A Ph.D. is required.

The fellowship's responsibilities include teaching (co-teaching in first year, one full course each semester in second and third years), and actively participating in research, discussions, and scholarly collaborations within the Reimagining World Order Research Community. In addition, the successful candidate may have the opportunity to advise students in his/her specialty or related areas. When teaching, the successful candidate will carry a secondary teaching rank, and any teaching role is contingent on sufficient course enrollments and the prior approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

Appointments will be made at the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate. In addition to salary and benefits, the program will provide fellow a research account of $3,000 a year and office space.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14921>. The following application items should be uploaded by the applicant:

*Cover letter

*Curriculum vitae

*Dissertation abstract

*Writing sample: one chapter of the dissertation or one published article related to the dissertation topic

*Research proposal

*Two course proposals

*Details of prior courses taught and evaluation results if available

*Document confirming your completion of all requirements for the PhD degree

*Names and email addresses for three references, who will be automatically invited to upload their confidential letter of recommendation to the online portal once the application has been submitted

For fullest consideration applicants should apply by February 28, 2020, 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time. Due to the anticipated volume of applications, only final candidates will be contacted. Further information about PIIRS can be found at: <http://piirs.princeton.edu/>. For questions about this position, please contact Nicole Bergman at nbergman@princeton.edu.

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7626

Georgetown University

Rank: Non-Tenure Line Teaching Professor or Professor of the Practice in International Business and Policy

Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business and Walsh School of Foreign Service invite applications for a full-time, 12-month, non-tenure-line Teaching Professor or Professor of the Practice in international business and policy.

The position will contribute to the B.S. in Business and Global Affairs, an innovative new joint undergraduate degree program focusing on the complex interactions at the intersection of international business, geopolitics, and policy. More information can be found here.

Responsibilities include 9-12 credits of instruction and program management, primarily developing and delivering on-location experiential learning around the world and in Washington, DC.

A Ph.D. or terminal degree and/or distinguished professional experience in a discipline, area or specialty related to business and global affairs is required, along with either demonstrated experience or aptitude for teaching excellence and relevant program management. The period of the initial contract is three years, with the possibility of renewal and opportunities for professional advancement and promotion within the non-tenure-line ranks. We will begin reviewing applications in February 2020 and the search process will continue until the position is filled.

All applications should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/72856>. Interested applicants should provide a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, teaching statements and evaluations, as well as the names and contact information for three references.

ABOUT GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY: Georgetown University is one of the world's leading academic and research institutions, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of global citizens to lead and make a difference in the world. We are a vibrant community of exceptional students, faculty, alumni and professionals dedicated to real-world applications of our research, scholarship, faith and service.

Established in 1789, Georgetown is the nation's oldest Catholic and Jesuit university. Drawing upon the 450-year-old legacy of Jesuit education, we provide students with a world-class learning experience focused on educating the whole person through exposure to different faiths, cultures and beliefs. More information can be found here.

ABOUT THE MCDONOUGH SCHOOL OF BUSINESS: Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business attracts faculty and students from around the world. We are committed to developing principled leaders capable of making complex business decisions in a global environment and who are dedicated to serving both business and society. Georgetown McDonough offers undergraduate, MBA, Executive MBA, and specialized programs. More information can be found here.

ABOUT THE WALSH SCHOOL OF FOREIGN SERVICE: The Walsh School of Foreign Service (SFS), founded in 1919, is a premier school of international affairs. At Georgetown's Washington, D.C., and Qatar campuses, SFS provides a rigorous education grounded in both theory and practice while instilling the Jesuit values of service. SFS hosts top-ranked undergraduate and graduate studies which feature an interdisciplinary core curriculum that focuses on international affairs, government, economics, history, theology, philosophy, geography, and language. SFS faculty are scholars in political science, economics, history, and cultural studies, as well as professionals with backgrounds in business, government, and the nonprofit sector. More information can be found here.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/3/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7609

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of International Affairs (DIA) at the University of Georgia invites applications for a tenure track position in ethnicity, race, and migration at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall of 2020. While we seek a scholar who is trained in the concepts, methods, and approaches used in the study of comparative politics and/or international relations, we are particularly interested in candidates who couple a specialty in ethnicity, race, and migration with teaching and research interests in political violence, underrepresented regions, international law, international and regional organizations, institutions, refugees, or development. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to produce high quality research, show promise of attracting external funding and teaching effectiveness, and be well trained in research methods, including qualitative and/or quantitative methods.

Prospective candidates must apply for the position through the UGA Faculty Job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/136240>. To complete the application, candidates will need to submit a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 219, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applicants should have an earned Ph.D. degree in political science or a related discipline by August 2020. Applications received by February 15, 2020 will be assured full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/15/2020

Date Posted: 1/3/2020

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7608

Appalachian State University Rank: International Relations Faculty

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in International Relations beginning August 1, 2020. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: international security, international conflict, comparative foreign policy, or leadership in international relations. Additional consideration will be given to candidates with teaching and research interests in research methods, European politics, or the European Union. A Ph.D. in Political Science or International Relations is required at the time of appointment. The teaching load is 3 courses per semester for faculty with an active research agenda.

Appalachian State University, in North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains, prepares students to lead purposeful lives as global citizens who understand and engage their responsibilities in creating a sustainable future for all. The transformational Appalachian experience promotes a spirit of inclusion that brings people together in inspiring ways to acquire and create knowledge, to grow holistically, to act with passion and determination, and embrace diversity and difference. As one of 17 campuses in the University of North Carolina system, Appalachian enrolls about 19,500 students, has a low student-to-faculty ratio and offers more than 150 undergraduate and graduate majors.

Applicants must submit an electronic application consisting of a letter outlining teaching and research interests, a current vitae, and three letters of recommendation online at <http://appstate.peopleadmin.com/postings/24803>. Three letters of recommendation must also be submitted to the following address: psfaculty@appstate.edu. Any additional questions can be directed to the search chair, Dr. Curtis Ryan, at psfaculty@appstate.edu.

Review of applications will begin on January 31, 2020, and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University's receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report. Appalachian State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. The University does not discriminate in access to its educational programs and activities, or with respect to hiring or the terms and conditions of employment, on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity and expression, political affiliation, age, disability, veteran status, genetic information or sexual orientation.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Director & ADA/504 Coordinator, at 828- 262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu.

Proper documentation of identity and employability will be required before the hiring process can be finalized. For more information, please visit <http://www.hrs.appstate.edu/employment/epa-jobs/academic-affairs>.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7607

Ashoka University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor in International Relations

The Department of International Relations at Ashoka University invites applications for three open rank positions (Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, Professor) in International Relations.

Scholars should hold a doctorate in Political Science or International Relations (or clear evidence that the completion of such a doctorate is imminent). All candidates will be required to demonstrate:

- (a) Evidence of ability to engage in internationally recognized research in International Relations, with publications and participation in scholarly activity commensurate with stage of career.
- (b) Evidence of ability to teach International Relations, including general survey courses outside of their areas of specialization.
- (c) Evidence of grants and funds that a candidate might have applied for (please mention both successful and unsuccessful research bids).
- (d) Ability to play an effective and collegial role in the work of the department.

Ashoka is a research university based near New Delhi, India. It offers internationally competitive terms and conditions. The teaching load is comparable to the top universities in the world, and the University supports research in various ways. Ashoka University strongly encourages applications by women and members of other groups underrepresented in academia.

Applicants should submit, among other things, a cover letter of not more than 750 words. The closing date for applications is 31 January 2020.

All materials should be submitted through: <https://facultypositions.ashoka.edu.in/>

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 1/31/2020
Date Posted: 1/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7592

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship

The Center for the Study of Contemporary China (<http://cscs.sas.upenn.edu/>) at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications to fill two postdoctoral fellowship positions for the 2020-2021 academic year. Applications are welcomed from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 30, 2020. The term of appointment is July 1, 2020-June 30, 2021.

The CSCC postdoctoral fellowships support research on all aspects of contemporary China that fall within the broad mission of the CSCC -- to advance Penn's leadership in programs, research, and scholarship about the political, legal, economic, and social factors shaping China and its role in the world today. The Center provides an institutional home for campus-wide collaboration among departments, programs, institutes, faculty and students at Penn engaged in work pertaining to contemporary China. Activities include conferences, roundtables, and a speaker series.

Fellows at the CSCC will pursue their own research and participate in the activities of the Center. Because fellows are expected to be fully integrated with the intellectual life of the Center, they must plan to physically reside in the vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania. Each fellow receives a stipend of $50,000, a $2500 research fund, and health insurance.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. CSCC will start to accept applications on December 1, 2019 and begin reviewing applications on February 15, 2020. To receive full consideration, your application should be received by February 15, 2020. Applicants will be notified of the outcome by April 1, 2020. To apply, please send a C.V., a research statement, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to csc-contact@sas.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/12/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7568

Texas A&M University

Rank: Albritton Center for Grand Strategy - Pre- and Post- Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Albritton Center for Grand Strategy at the Bush School of Government and Public Service, Texas A&M University, is inviting applications to its residential fellowship program for the 2020-2021 academic year. The program will support one pre-doctoral and one post-doctoral fellow. The Albritton Center is particularly interested in scholars that are engaging with the fundamental questions surrounding grand strategy: How should the national interest be defined? What are the threats to the national interest? How should the United States use its power in response? Applications are invited from scholars of political science, history, and other relevant disciplines.

Fellows will be expected to be in residence at the Bush School for the duration of their fellowships (September 2020 - August 2021). They will be provided with office space and access to the resources of the Bush School and Texas A&M University.

The pre-doctoral fellow is expected to make substantial progress toward – and ideally complete – a dissertation during the fellowship. The post-doctoral fellow is expected to complete a manuscript for publication. The post-doctoral fellow is also expected to teach one course to Bush School students. Finally, both fellows are asked to write a short, policy-relevant piece while in residence.

Fellows will participate in Center activities, to include seminars, workshops, and conferences. They will work with an active community of scholars in international affairs, political science, history, and other disciplines at Texas A&M University.

Eligibility:

Applicants for the pre-doctoral fellowship must be pursuing a Ph.D. in political science, history or other relevant discipline. Applicants must pass all qualifying exams and advance to the level of candidacy prior to the start of their appointment.

Applicants for the post-doctoral fellowship must have completed their PhD in political science, history, or other relevant discipline to begin the fellowship. Recent PhD recipients are especially encouraged to apply.

Award information:

The pre-doctoral fellow will receive a stipend of $39,000, as well as $5,000 in research funding. The postdoctoral fellow will receive a salary of $60,000 (payable monthly), as well as $10,000 in research funding. The post-doctoral fellow will also be eligible for the benefits package available to TAMU employees.

Application process:

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, short writing sample (no more than 10,000 words), and a letter of recommendation (preferably by the applicant's dissertation advisor) to bushschoolCGS@tamu.edu.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, with those arriving by January 17, 2020 receiving priority attention.

Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/veterans/disability employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7556

University of Notre Dame

Rank: 2020 Emerging Scholars Conference Participant

The Notre Dame International Security Center (NDISC) seeks nominations of outstanding candidates (advanced ABD students or pre/post doctoral fellows) to present their work at the fifth annual Emerging Scholars in Grand Strategy Conference. The three-day conference will consist of 6 workshops, one for each successful nominee. Each workshop will include a research presentation by the Emerging Scholar, a response by a senior scholar in the field, and a general discussion. NDISC will make all arrangements and cover all expenses related to the conference, which will be held May 20-22 at the Oakwood Resort in Syracuse, IN.

By grand strategy, we mean some aspect of where, when, and how states (as well as armed groups) consider using military force among other instruments of statecraft to achieve foreign policy goals, broadly defined. We seek nominees whose work applies the very best scholarship to the most pressing issues facing the United States in the 21st Century and does so in a way that broadens the intellectual and practical discussion of these issues in innovative ways. In addition to having first-rate scholarly credentials, the ideal nominee will also have an interest in applying their scholarly work to some aspect of the formulation and implementation of foreign policy goals.

Nominee(s) should upload a CV, a brief bio, and a 250-word abstract that describes their project to (<https://apply.interfolio.com/72033>). The automated system will subsequently ask nominators for a letter of recommendation; letters that have already been written for other purposes (e.g. fellowships, academic jobs) are sufficient.

The deadline for receipt of all materials is January 24, 2020.

Please feel free to contact mdesch@nd.edu if you have any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/24/2020

Date Posted: 12/4/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7545

University of Rochester

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellow

Applications for 2020-21 are welcome in any area of international or comparative politics, but preference will be given to applicants whose work focuses on Central and Eastern Europe, broadly defined. Fellows offer two courses during the academic year and receive a stipend of $50,000. Applicants without a Ph.D. should describe their plans for completing the degree by the time the fellowship commences.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a 3-5 page research project description, a one-page sketch of proposed courses, one or more writing samples, and three letters of recommendation to: Fellowship in International and Central European Politics, Skalny Center for Polish and Central European Studies, University of Rochester, Harkness Hall 101, Rochester, New York 14627-0147. Applications must be postmarked by Jan. 5, 2020. Direct questions to Dr. Bozena Sobolewska, bsobolew@mail.rochester.edu, or 585-275-9898.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/3/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7540

University of Wisconsin, River Falls

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Wisconsin River Falls, a member of the University of Wisconsin System, is located in scenic west central Wisconsin, 30 miles from the multi-cultural, multi-ethnic cities of Minneapolis and St Paul. Year-round arts, cultural and recreational events are easily accessible from River Falls. UWRF's 6,100 undergraduate and graduate students pursue degrees in four colleges: Arts and Sciences, Education and Professional Studies; Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences; and Business and Economics.

The University provides an excellent environment for learning, emphasizing the importance of faculty-student interaction in classrooms, laboratories, academic advising, and co-curricular activities. A favorable student-faculty ratio affords opportunity for meaningful interchange between faculty and students. Strong interests in teaching, research and community service are highly valued. More information about UWRF can be found at: <http://www.uwrf.edu/workhere/>.

The Position:

This is a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track undergraduate faculty position (100% teaching) at the rank of Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science. The standard teaching load is 12 credit hours per semester. The successful candidate will demonstrate strong interests and ability to teach courses in the interdisciplinary international studies program, international relations and/or comparative politics, international climate policy, and other classes dependent on expertise and department needs.

The person selected for this position would need to teach in at least 2 of the following areas: Political Science, International Studies, or Geography.

Opportunities exist for optional summer employment through teaching, research grants, internship supervision and other funding sources. Anticipated Appointment date: August 2020.

Specific Duties and Responsibilities:

- Teach a full load of undergraduate courses (4 courses per semester, typically 3 preparations, 12 credits);
- Teach required courses in both Political Science and International Studies, including: POLS 260: International Relations; International Studies 200: Introduction to International Studies; as well as POLS/INTS 300: Research Methods; and POLS/INTS 480: Senior Seminar;
- Teach electives in Political Science in the areas of International Relations and/or Comparative Politics;
- Develop a new elective course in International Climate Policy and other courses in their area of expertise that could be taken as electives in the following majors: Political Science, International Studies, and Geography;
- Advise undergraduate students;
- Collaborate with others in service activities within the department, college, university, and broader community;
- Engage in research and other scholarly activities.

Qualifications Required:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or International Studies. ABD's will be considered if candidate demonstrates she or he will have the Ph.D. completed by June 1, 2020.
- Demonstrated ability or potential to effectively teach undergraduate courses in Political Science and International studies.
- Demonstrated commitment to effective advising, service, and scholarship.

Qualifications Preferred:

- Preference will be given to candidates willing to periodically lead students in Education Abroad experiences.

Materials not submitted through <https://jobs.uwrf.edu/> cannot be considered.

Submit:

- Curriculum vitae (resume)
- Letter of interest specifying qualifications and experience (cover letter)
- A two-part statement, not to exceed 3 pages, covering: 1) your primary and secondary teaching interests, experience in classroom, and any evidence of successful teaching at the college level, and 2) your research and scholarly activity agenda.
- An unofficial transcript (official copies of transcripts will be required if hired).
- Provide the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and e-mail addresses of 3-5 references who can specifically comment on your teaching ability, experience and professional preparation (references).

Inquiries should be addressed to:
 Davida J. Alperin, Search and Screen Chair
 Department of Political Science
 davida.j.alperin@uwrf.edu

Deadline to Apply: Initial review of applications will begin upon receipt. For full consideration, applicants should submit all required materials by February 1, 2020. A criminal background check will be completed on final candidates.

The University of Wisconsin System will not reveal the identities of applicants who request confidentiality in writing, except that the identity of the successful candidate will be released. See Wis. Stat. sec. 19.36(7).

Through its strategic plan, Pathway to Distinction, UW-River Falls will vigorously pursue three goals: Distinctive Academic Excellence; Global Education and Engagement; Innovation and Partnerships. In support of our first goal, UW-River Falls strives to be a leader in collaborative and undergraduate research; we therefore seek faculty members who have an interest in or experience with faculty-student collaborative research, scholarship, and creative activity. The university is also interested in applicants who can support and extend our partnerships and initiatives in Asia (particularly China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and India) and in Latin America. The university's strategic focus on international education encourages faculty to develop courses/pedagogy that facilitate the transition of international inbound students and out-bound UWRF students and enhance our curricular and programmatic partnerships in these regions.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/1/2020
Date Posted: 12/3/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7543

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in International Relations and Politics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, International Security, Research Methods, and International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, Position ID:56242 <http://apply.interfolio.com/71476>

Please email cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/7/2020
Date Posted: 11/21/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7518

Creighton University

Rank: Resident Assistant Professor

Creighton University's Department of Political Science and International Relations invites applications from highly motivated, successful, and collaborative candidates for a Resident Assistant Professor position in the Department of Political Science and International Relations beginning August 2020. The successful candidate will have completed the PhD., have teaching experience, and show promise of excellence in both teaching and scholarship. We are interested in candidates broadly trained in international relations theories and approaches. Successful candidates will also have substantial methodological training. The candidate will need to teach introductory and upper division undergraduate courses in the International Relations program. The successful candidate will also be willing and able to mentor undergraduates in substantial empirical research projects, such as the department's senior thesis requirement and contribute to collaborative faculty-student research. The position would begin in August of 2020 and is renewable for an additional academic year.

We encourage applications from qualified individuals representing all backgrounds and faith traditions who can contribute to our distinctive academic traditions. Creighton is a Jesuit/Catholic University, emphasizing formation of character as well as education in the liberal arts. It places a premium on small class size and on serious interaction among faculty and students that contribute to a strong community of learning. Creighton University is an EEO/AA employer, committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. Minority and women candidates are encouraged to apply. Review of applications begins on January 6, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Please submit letter of interest indicating qualifications, statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly agenda, as well as an updated C.V., four letters of recommendation, and evidence of achievement in teaching and scholarship to: Dr. Erika Moreno, Chair, Political Science and International Relations, Creighton University, 2500 California Plaza, Omaha, NE 68178.

Potential candidates are encouraged to review the Faculty Handbook at:

https://www.creighton.edu/fileadmin/user/GeneralCounsel/docs/Faculty_Handbook_2016__complete_.pdf

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7493

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship - Global Innovation Program

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Defense, Immigration Policy

PERRY WORLD HOUSE POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

The Global Innovation Program at the University of Pennsylvania's Perry World House invites applications for its postdoctoral fellowship program during the 2020-2021 academic year. The Global Innovation Program is the research arm of Perry World House, the University of Pennsylvania's new university-wide hub for global engagement and interdisciplinary international policy research. Perry World House connects Penn to the international policy world through research, student engagement, and public programming, bringing the university's intellectual resources to bear on the urgent global challenges of the 21st century.

We hope to bring several postdoctoral fellows to campus for the 2020-2021 academic year. We are seeking excellent scholars who study global affairs and have interest in interdisciplinary outreach and policy relevance. We are particularly interested in applicants in the following areas:

- The Future of the Global Order: Power, Technology, and Governance
- Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Demography

The Future of the Global Order

Changes in global economic, military, and technological circumstances are evident in growing concerns around the world about the future of arms control, multilateral economic institutions, technological decoupling, the future of the Islamic State, and more. The post-Cold War global order may be at a tipping point. In addition, systemic trends such as globalization and climate change mean that the challenges of today and tomorrow will be global – and require global responses. The role of automated trading algorithms in the 2010 “Flash Crash” in the United States, combined with the specter of drone warfare around the world due and the proliferation of military robotics, highlight how the intersection of technologies such as cyber and robotics presents enormous challenges for global business and diplomatic norms. In a time of change, academic research has the potential to shed significant light on these issues, and highlight new and important approaches for the global policy community.

In this theme area, Perry World House will focus in part, but not exclusively, on four areas: the impacts of emerging technologies for global politics, shifting global power balances and how they influence both state and non-state actors, the evolution of international legal regimes, and the ability of the international community to sustain effective governing institutions in times of change.

Global Shifts

Urbanization, migration, and demographic changes are transforming the human environment, creating both new challenges and opportunities. The UN High Commission for Refugees said in 2015 that the world faces the highest level of human displacement since its founding in 1950. New and changing migration patterns, whether driven by civil wars, instability due to environmental change, economic hardships, or potential opportunities elsewhere, have depth and nuance that have proven hard to predict – or track. At the same time, over 66% of the world's population will live in urban spaces by 2050, raising critical questions about urban vitality and sustainability.

Yet, the diverse causes and consequences of urbanization, migration, and demographic change have not been fully understood, and are too often examined in isolation. The University of Pennsylvania is poised to contribute to pressing policy debates and to help develop new approaches to these global shifts given the University's numerous strengths in urban studies, sociology, demography, law, and politics. The Global Innovation Program at Perry World House will bring together Penn's strengths in these areas through an interconnected examination of urbanization, migration, and demography.

Requirements and Application Information

Postdoctoral fellows in Global Order and Global Shifts research areas will pursue their own research as well as participate in the intellectual life of the Global Innovation Program and Perry World House. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to give a presentation during the academic year in the Perry World House Seminar Series, publish policy relevant scholarship related to Perry World House themes, and attend regularly scheduled seminars. They will also be expected to spend up to 10% of their time contributing to the intellectual environment at Perry World House, including working with Perry World House's Undergraduate Student Fellows, as well as designing and planning engagement in relevant theme areas. Perry World House will also introduce each postdoctoral fellow to related faculty and leaders of centers and institutes at the University of Pennsylvania.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees (including a J.D. in the case of applicants focused on international legal regimes) in the last two years (not earlier than 2018), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting Monday, January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

Upon provision of and contingent upon proof of conferral of the PhD degree, all postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71103>. Applicants will be asked to complete a short form as well as upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation.

General Information

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email postdoc@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7479

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The School for International Studies at Simon Fraser University seeks an established scholar for a full-time, tenure track position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor to fill the Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security, a position endowed by The Simons Foundation Canada. The start date could be as early as July 1, 2020.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science discipline, or an SJD in law, and an outstanding record of research and teaching. The chairholder will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and teaching focused on the nexus of international law and human security, broadly defined. The chairholder will create new curriculum, provide intellectual leadership, and foster public understanding through conferences and symposia. The Chair is endowed with a research grant and a reduced teaching load of normally two courses per year. Appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, depending on qualifications.

Simon Fraser University is a leading Canadian public research university (consistently ranked #1 by Maclean's Magazine for best comprehensive university in Canada). The School for International Studies is an interdisciplinary unit with research and teaching programs focused on peace and security; international development; human rights and international law; and governance and civil society. The School is based at SFU's Vancouver campus in the heart of downtown.

This is a senior level position. Only those holding a faculty position at the Associate Professor or Professor rank will be considered. Applications will be treated in confidence and should include: a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching, one representative publication, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants should also provide the names, addresses and phone/e-mail of six academic referees of high standing. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 8, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. The position is subject to the availability of funding.

Materials should be sent in a single pdf file via email to instst@sfu.ca. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Tamir Moustafa, at tmoustafa@sfu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7445

American University-SIS

Rank: One Full-Time Non-Tenure Track Faculty Position

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track faculty appointment for the Academic Year 2020-2021 with a focus on US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Academic Rank and compensation will depend on the successful candidate's experience, accomplishments and professional stature in the field. The appointment is for one academic year, commencing on August 1, 2020, with the expectation that the appointment may be renewed for subsequent academic years subject to satisfactory performance and budgetary authorization.

The position is intended for a person who will teach courses six courses (undergraduate and/or MA-level graduate) per academic year. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service. Applicants should share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a social science discipline by the anticipated start date or employment. Experienced practitioners with equivalent qualifications (MA/MS/JD and ten years of professional experience in the field) will also be considered.

The successful candidate will teach primarily courses related to US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Review of applications will begin in January 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

- Applications must be submitted electronically via <http://apply.interfolio.com/69797>

- Attach a letter of application that addresses affinities with relevant teaching areas

- Attach a 1-page statement of teaching philosophy

- Attach student evaluations of teaching, if applicable and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness

- Please also attach a statement of your past or future contributions to diversity and inclusion in professional settings or in institutions of higher education

- You will be asked to submit the names and email addresses of three professional references and request that they be contacted through the Interfolio portal for a confidential letter of recommendation.

Queries about the search may be sent to Assistant Dean for Graduate Education Michael Schroeder at schroede@american.edu Assistance with the online application system can be found here: <https://support.interfolio.com>

American University is a private institution of higher education in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs with 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. SIS faculty produce transformational research and our prime location provides opportunities for collaboration with professionals in government, the private sector, think tanks and other non-profits. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7410

Colorado Mesa University

Rank: Visiting Professor of History or Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Distinguished scholars in History or Political Science are invited to apply for the Wayne N. Aspinall Chair at Colorado Mesa University. For a $10,000 stipend, the visiting professor will spend three weeks on the Colorado Mesa University campus from late March to mid-April 2021; teach a one-credit course, give a major public lecture, and make any other invited appearances. Applications must include a vitae, a brief outline of a course proposal and a topic for the major public lecture. Submit application by February 1, 2020 to Dr. Justin Gollob, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Colorado Mesa University, 1100 North Ave., Grand Junction, CO 81501. Feel free to direct any inquiries to jgollob@coloradomesa.edu or 970 248-1279.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 7365

North Dakota State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

North Dakota State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position in political economy, to begin on August 16, 2020.

The department of Criminal Justice & Political Science at NDSU is recruiting for a 9-month tenure-track position, at the rank of assistant professor—or, for especially qualified applicants, associate professor—starting Fall 2020. We seek candidates with expertise in any area of political economy, although especially invite applications from candidates who focus on the political economy of development. For candidates with a regional specialization, we are especially interested in scholars studying areas other than Europe and North America. Successful applicants should be versed in comparative or international political economy and have a strong commitment to policy-relevant research and teaching. This is a 50% research, 40% teaching, 10% service position. The teaching load is, at most, 2-2, with at least one course release in the first three years. While the tenure home will be in the Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science, this position will be affiliated with the NDSU College of Business' Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research, teaching, and outreach that contributes to the Institute's mission. In turn, the Institute may also provide opportunities for graduate student assistance, course buyouts, and summer research support. Successful applicants will be prepared to teach core undergraduate courses in comparative politics and/or international relations, upper-division classes on political economy, political institutions, and global policy issues, and will have opportunities to contribute to existing and emerging programs in public policy, political and economic institutions, and global studies. The department has minimal service expectations for pre-tenure faculty.

Minimum Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for the position are: 1) a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Economics, or a related discipline, conferred no later than August, 2020, 2) evidence of research productivity, or potential to publish scholarship in peer reviewed journals, presses, and other outlets appropriate to one's field, 3) experience teaching political economy, institutions, and/or global policy courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels, 4) potential to contribute to the Challey Institute's mission, and 5) effective written and oral communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications

We will give priority to candidates who 1) can provide substantial evidence of research productivity and quality, 2) can provide substantial evidence of teaching effectiveness, 3) have experience pursuing and/or obtaining external funding, 4) have a research focus on the political economy of development, 5) conduct teaching and research that can contribute to NDSU's commitment to diversity and inclusion, 6) have experience working in, or developing, a global studies program, 7) have experience contributing to, or developing, a master's program in public policy, and/or 8) have a regional focus outside Europe and North America.

Application

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, course materials, evidence of participation in teaching professionalization activities, and, if available, evaluations by peers and/or mentors; please do not include student evaluations of teaching), and names and contact information for 3 references (we will contact references for roughly 10 short-listed applicants). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://jobs.ndsu.edu/postings/10886>. Initial screening of applications will begin on or about November 21, 2019.

NDSU especially encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups.

The Department

The Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science has 12 tenure-track faculty members and serves roughly 100 undergraduate majors in political science, and 200 undergraduate and 20 graduate students in criminal justice. Faculty in the department teach four classes per year. The NDSU community and national organizations have regularly recognized department faculty for excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. The college provides faculty with computing resources and tenure-track faculty within the department receive a yearly research and professionalization budget that covers travel to 1-2 conferences, and which faculty routinely supplement with College and University travel grants.

The Challey Institute

The Sheila and Robert Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth is an interdisciplinary institute that aims to advance understanding in the areas of innovation, trade, and institutions to identify policies and solutions that enhance economic growth and opportunity. The Challey Institute works toward achieving its mission by engaging in research, student programming, and outreach in the areas of (1) international trade, investment, and immigration, (2) innovation and entrepreneurship, and (3) institutions and policy.

The University

North Dakota State University is a comprehensive, student-focused, land-grant, research university with more than 14,000 students from 47 states and 79 countries. NDSU was the first university in North Dakota to be named to the most research-intensive category by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and is listed in the National Science Foundation's top 100 in several areas, including agricultural sciences, social sciences, physical sciences, chemistry, psychology, and computer sciences.

NDSU values faculty members' work-life balance and the needs of dual-career couples. The College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences' guidelines on family-related reassignment of duties are available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/ahss/family2010.pdf> and University policy on extension of the probationary period for personal or family reasons is available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/352.pdf>. NDSU is an ADVANCE institution and has a Focus on Resources for Women's Advancement, Recruitment/Retention, and Development (FORWARD) program, that, as part of its efforts, has developed procedures and funding streams for dual career hiring at NDSU: <https://www.ndsu.edu/forward/>. Applicants can find more information about NDSU at <http://www.ndsu.edu>.

The Community

NDSU is located in Fargo-Moorhead (F-M), a pleasant, safe, diversifying, and growing community of approximately 245,000 people. As the largest population center in the region, F-M is a hub of entertainment, finance, information technology, and medical services for a large geographic area including the state of North Dakota, and western Minnesota. Two universities (NDSU and Minnesota State University Moorhead) and one private liberal arts college (Concordia College) are located in F-M. The F-M area has a healthy economy: ND has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the U.S., good public schools, low crime rates, ample shopping, local theatre and music companies, several art galleries, semi-professional baseball and hockey, and Division I intercollegiate athletics. Hector International Airport in Fargo is convenient and is served by several major airlines. Sun, clear skies, and clean air predominate year-round. Visiting nearby northern Minnesota lakes, canoeing, camping, cycling, softball, and soccer are popular in summer; winter pastimes include cross-country skiing, skating, and snowmobiling. The city has an excellent park system that includes several quality golf courses and bicycle/running/ski paths along the Red River, which divides Fargo-Moorhead. Fargo is an hour drive from a major resort area in the Minnesota "lakes country" and two hours from scenic Itasca State Park, where you will find the headwaters of the Mississippi river. Central and western North Dakota offer beautiful hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and related opportunities in the Badlands, national grasslands, and numerous river valleys. Winnipeg, Manitoba is less than a four-hour drive to the north and Minneapolis-St. Paul is an equal distance to the south-east.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/26/2019

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7385

Lamar University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Job Summary: The Department of Political Science invites applications for one full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science beginning August 2020.

Candidates should be able to teach introduction to comparative politics and advanced upper level comparative politics courses covering such areas as Western democracies, developing nations and/or a regional focus. Candidates should also be able to teach American Government (POLS 2301 and POLS 2302).

Qualifications: Candidates should have PhD in Political Science or Government awarded by date of employment. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate Lamar University's diverse population of students online and face-to-face; maintain an active service agenda; demonstrate a strong commitment to and evidence of an active research agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally-related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Application Procedure: The application deadline is January 15, 2020 or until the position is filled. Apply online at: <https://jobs.lamar.edu>.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson.

Recommendation letters can be sent to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7373

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in International Relations starting Fall 2020. The position is on a fixed-term contract (Four years renewable) and open to candidates at the Assistant or Associate Professor levels. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses at the B.A. and M.A. levels in the field of international relations (including introductory courses in international relations theory), foreign-policy analysis and international security. Candidates with a focus on the global south (Asia, Africa, and/or Latin America) and/or critical security studies are particularly encouraged to apply. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, an accomplished and active research agenda, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to equal opportunity and a diverse faculty.

Requirements:

A PhD is required at the time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing research and publication program and teaching experience. In addition to research and teaching, responsibilities include service to the Department and the University.

Application Procedures:

Priority will be given to applications received by November 30, 2019. The position is open until filled.

All applicants must submit the following documents online:

- a) A current C.V
- b) A letter of interest
- c) A statement of teaching philosophy
- d) A completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF)
- e) A copy of a recently published or accepted article or chapter
- f) Three letters of reference

Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; with the name of the candidate/Faculty position/ Department.

All applications should be uploaded online:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/faculty/services/faculty-vacancies>

Please take note of your account login details. If additional questions are asked, you will be prompted to login into the AUC portal.

For more information, e-mail Dr. Rabab El Mahdi, Chair, relmahdi@aucegypt.edu; Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, gehanwm@aucegypt.edu; or visit the department's website at:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7329

Midwestern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: East Asia, Africa, Middle East

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position to begin in fall 2020. We seek a candidate whose primary teaching interest is comparative politics with a specialization in Asia, Middle East, or Africa, as well as the ability to teach quantitative research methods. The ability to teach courses in climate and environmental politics or international relations is desired, but not required. The applicant should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (an ABD candidate would be required to have a Ph.D. by August 2021), and should contribute to the teaching and research mission of the university.

The Department of Political Science offers a B.A. Political Science and a B.A. Global Studies. It also houses the interdisciplinary minor in Women's and Gender Studies and a successful Model United Nations program.

The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Salary is competitive, depending on experience.

Midwestern State University is a public liberal arts university with an enrollment of approximately 6,000 students located in Wichita Falls, a city of 106,000 about 2 hours northwest of Dallas/Fort Worth (www.msutexas.edu). As a Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) member institution, Midwestern State University is particularly committed to excellence in teaching and seeks applicants that will contribute to this mission. This position is designated as security sensitive and requires the finalist to complete a criminal background check. EEO/ADAAA compliance employer.

Please send a 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) teaching evaluations, 4) one example of scholarly work, and 5) three letters of recommendation to:

Dr. Linda Veazey, Chair
Department of Political Science
Midwestern State University
3410 Taft Boulevard
Wichita Falls, TX 76308
linda.veazey@msutexas.edu

The initial review of complete applications will begin January 13, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7325

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019
Date Posted: 8/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5986

Sabancı University

Rank: Open rank - International Political Economy (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve International Political Economy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5912

Sabancı University

Rank: Open rank - International Relations (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve International Relations. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: international conflict, foreign policy or civil conflict.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5913

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

METHODOLOGY

Merrimack College

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science and Public Policy

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Open

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Urban Politics, Environmental Policy

Position Overview: Merrimack College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor appointment in the Department of Political Science and Public Policy beginning in Fall 2020. Teaching load is three courses per semester. The position will support both the Political Science Department and International Studies Program, with the potential to work with other interdisciplinary programs and our graduate program in Public Affairs. The successful candidate will be expected to teach our quantitative Research Methods course as well as relevant courses in politics and public policy, based on expertise. The candidate will also be expected to develop additional courses to complement existing undergraduate curriculum.

Qualifications: Areas of expertise must include both public policy and quantitative research methodology. Areas of public policy specialization might include, but are not limited to, urban policy, environmental policy, or electoral policy. Expertise in research methods must include ability to teach relevant software, such as SPSS, GIS, Tableau, R, etc. A demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching, research, and service is essential. PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or related field is required at time of appointment.

To Apply: Interested applicants should apply online through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15900>. Application materials should include: letter of interest, C.V., evidence of teaching effectiveness, sample of scholarship, and three letters of recommendation.

Merrimack College seeks to nourish and sustain our five core values of leadership, community, awareness, scholarship, and service. The College is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups. All candidates are encouraged to describe in their application previous activities or interest in building a culture committed to diversity and inclusive excellence, as well as how they will engage in fostering a culture that values diversity and inclusive excellence at Merrimack College.

Review of applications will begin on February 18, 2020 and will continue until the position has been filled.

About Merrimack: The only Catholic, Augustinian college in New England, Merrimack College is an independent, coeducational institution with more than 4,200 undergraduates and graduate students from 34 states and 36 countries, and comprises schools of liberal arts, science and engineering, health sciences, education and social policy, and business. The college's 220-acre campus is approximately 25 miles north of Boston in North Andover and Andover, Mass. Merrimack is a Master's Colleges & Universities/Medium Programs institution in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Merrimack recently placed 21st in the nation for "Colleges That Add the Most Value" in Money's special Best Colleges report and was ranked as one of the top 10 colleges in the northern United States for the fourth year in a row — and the only regional college judged "up and coming" by higher education leadership in the northern United States, according to U.S. News.

This position is subject to the successful completion of a criminal background check.

Merrimack College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7665

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Postdoctoral Fellowships in the Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government and Public Policy and the Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis

The Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government, and Public Policy at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship (with possible renewal for one additional year), for a scholar with advanced quantitative methods training and interest in American politics. We are looking for an outstanding and curious scholar who has a Ph.D. in one of the social sciences, computer science, or a related discipline. Our ideal candidate has strong skills in R and Python and experience working with relational databases. Most importantly, we are looking for someone who is excited to collaborate as part of a team.

The position begins July 1, 2020. The fellow will work under the supervision of Professor Andrew Reeves along with Profs. Betsy Sinclair and Michael Olson.

Fellows are expected to be in residence during the fellowship period and to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science along with the other units of Washington University relevant to the Fellow's research interests. Fellows will work together in a collaborative setting with a team of faculty members on research projects toward the production of jointly published scholarly research. The fellow will mostly be working on collaborative projects with the supervising faculty, but will also have time for his or her own projects. There are no teaching or service obligations.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. and training in Political Science, Computational Social Science, Communications, Computer Science or other related fields. Candidates must have received their Ph.D. degree after July 1, 2017. For candidates finishing their Ph.D. in 2020, all requirements of the degree must be finished no later than June 30, 2020. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to sex, race, ethnicity, protected veteran, or disability status.

Fellows receive a salary of $55,000 per year, plus benefits, a $2,500 research/travel stipend, and a $2,500 moving allowance.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS

Completed applications must include a curriculum vitae, one writing sample (demonstrates both research interests and technical skills), a research statement and three reference letters. We will interview finalists by phone or Skype. The application deadline is January 31, 2020.

Applications and supporting documentation must be submitted electronically. Please visit the Washington University Human Resources web page (<http://hr.wustl.edu/opportunities/Pages/default.aspx>) and search for job requisition number 46529. Candidates should create an account, complete the application form and upload a CV and supporting materials. Please follow the directions below for uploading documents to your profile.

1. Log into your account. Click on 'My Activities'
2. Click on 'Add Attachment'
3. Choose attachment type and purpose and click 'Upload Attachment'
4. Browse for document on your computer and upload file

You may upload your documents as one file or individual files. Letters of recommendation and questions should be e-mailed to Betsy Sinclair (bsinclair@wustl.edu).

SAFETY AND SECURITY

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

EOE STATEMENT

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to sex, race, ethnicity, protected veteran, or disability status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7664

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Research Fellow

We are hiring a postdoctoral research fellow to assist in developing data infrastructure for social scientists. The selected candidate will be based in the Center for Political Studies (CPS; <http://www.isr.umich.edu/cps>), part of the Institute for Social Research (ISR) at the University of Michigan.

This is a one-year, full-time position where the selected person will work 50% on an NSF-funded project to develop the data infrastructure and 50% on one's own research activities. The project involves building a suite of software tools to integrate spatially-misaligned data, to account for differences in measurement across primary sources, and to facilitate the assessment of the generalizability and robustness of statistical results across data sources, scales, integration methods, and geographic/historical contexts. The person will assist the leadership team in the design and implementation of new tools for dataset development, creation, and archiving. The PIs on this project are Ken Kollman and Yuri Zhukov. Nearly a dozen other researchers at ISR will also be working on the project.

The postdoc offers a terrific opportunity to hone skills, to work in a multi-disciplinary environment, and to work together to implement new research infrastructure of value to broad sets of social scientists.

More information about the position can be found here: https://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/183112/research_fellow

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/12/2020

Date Posted: 1/22/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7659

University of Toronto

Rank: Part Time Academic Appointment (Teaching Stream)

Part Time Academic Appointment (Teaching Stream), Department of Political Science, University of Toronto, St. George Campus.

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto, St. George (downtown) Campus, invites applications for a one-year Part Time Lecturer, Teaching Stream position (75% appointment) to teach required introductory courses in quantitative methods to political science undergraduate students during the 2020-2021 academic year. The teaching load comprises two sections of POL 222H1: Introduction to Quantitative Reasoning I, an introductory lecture course on quantitative empirical research, in the fall semester, and three sections of POL 232H1: Introduction to Quantitative Reasoning II, an intermediate quantitative methods (data analysis) course, typically taught in a computer lab, during the winter semester. The chosen candidate will be eligible to receive TA support.

The successful candidate must have completed a graduate-level training in quantitative methods in political science or a closely related discipline and be able to teach quantitative methods used in political science research at the introductory level to undergraduate students. The successful candidate must be knowledgeable in R and is required to teach R in POL 222H1 and POL 232H1. Candidates with a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline and/or the experience of teaching political science undergraduate students are preferred. Experience of teaching introductory statistics with the R programming language is also desirable.

The appointment will be for July 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021.

Closing date for applications is February 28, 2020.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching file (which could include teaching evaluations, teaching philosophy and course syllabi) and the names of three referees to Elizabeth Jagdeo, Undergraduate Office, Department of Political Science, 3027 Sidney Smith Hall, University of Toronto, 100 St. George Street, Toronto, ON, M5S 3G3, Canada, via email at undergrad.polsci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, February 28, 2020.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, all qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/28/2020

Date Posted: 1/22/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7660

University of Toronto

Rank: Part Time Academic Appointment (Teaching Stream)

Part Time Academic Appointment (Teaching Stream), Department of Political Science, University of Toronto, St. George Campus.

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto, St. George (downtown) Campus, invites applications for a one-year Part Time Lecturer, Teaching Stream position (75% appointment) to teach required introductory courses in quantitative methods to political science undergraduate students during the 2020-2021 academic year. The teaching load comprises two sections of POL 222H1: Introduction to Quantitative Reasoning I, an introductory lecture course on quantitative empirical research, in the fall semester, and three sections of POL 232H1: Introduction to Quantitative Reasoning II, an intermediate quantitative methods (data analysis) course, typically taught in a computer lab, during the winter semester. The chosen candidate will be eligible to receive TA support.

The successful candidate must have completed a graduate-level training in quantitative methods in political science or a closely related discipline and be able to teach quantitative methods used in political science research at the introductory level to undergraduate students. The successful candidate must be knowledgeable in R and is required to teach R in POL 222H1 and POL 232H1. Candidates with a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline and/or the experience of teaching political science undergraduate students are preferred. Experience of teaching introductory statistics with the R programming language is also desirable.

The appointment will be for July 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021.

Closing date for applications is February 28, 2020.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching file (which could include teaching evaluations, teaching philosophy and course syllabi) and the names of three referees to Elizabeth Jagdeo, Undergraduate Office, Department of Political Science, 3027 Sidney Smith Hall, University of Toronto, 100 St. George Street, Toronto, ON, M5S 3G3, Canada, via email at undergrad.polsci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, February 28, 2020.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, all qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/28/2020

Date Posted: 1/22/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7661

Duke University

Rank: Pre/Postdoctoral Associate

DevLab@Duke has openings for Pre/Post-Doctoral fellows working on an innovative project that combines machine learning and forecasting with extensive expert-based data collection and coordinated, cross-country field interventions. The project has two aims: first, to understand and forecast democratic breakdowns with an eye toward defending civil society against repression; and second, to detect and forecast authoritarian influence abroad.

Pre/postdoc responsibilities will depend on skills, but they are likely to include scraping data, natural language processing, and building machine learning models to predict regime backsliding as well as collecting, managing and analyzing field data from local experts around the world. Excellent data skills are necessary. Experience with visualization, python and R are desirable.

Prospective candidates are expected to have done graduate work in one or more of these areas:

- International Development
- Economics
- Political Science
- Statistics
- Computer Science

Successful candidates will collaborate with Professors Scott de Marchi and Erik Wibbels, as well other members of DevLab in an interdisciplinary environment. They will be expected to work with lab associates to provide timely input to development practitioners affiliated with DevLab—including donors, implementers and evaluators—at all stages of project conceptualization, design, implementation and evaluation. DevLab activities will leave considerable time for independent research, and the position offers ample opportunity for developing new research projects in conjunction with DevLab members.

There is no deadline for applying to the opening, but applications will be considered on a rolling basis starting immediately. The position comes with competitive salary and benefits. The initial appointment is for one year, with an option of renewal. For questions/information/submissions, please email david.dow@duke.edu. All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15884>.

Application Requirements:

- Cover Letter
- CV
- Contact information for recommenders

Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina. Durham and the surrounding Research Triangle are home to several major universities and a booming cultural life. Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status

Start Date: Spring 2020

Date Posted: 1/21/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7656

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Methodology and American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track assistant professor in Methodology and American Politics, starting August 2020. The candidates' research interests can be from any area of American Politics. Duties include teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets.

Minimum Qualifications:

Candidates should have PhD or an earned doctorate by Fall 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The successful candidate will possess strong quantitative skills, clear substantive interest in American politics, and an eagerness to teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship is preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form) to the UGA job site at <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/98323>.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Contact:

Wendi Finch

Email:

wendif@uga.edu

Phone:

706-542-2057

Fax:

706-542-4421

Address:

180 Baldwin Hall
Athens GA, 30602-1615

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/14/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7642

University of Tennessee, Chattanooga

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Parties & Organizations, Public Opinion

The Department of Political Science and Public Service at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position in American Political Behavior beginning Fall 2020. A multi-year contract is available.

We are seeking an American political behavioralist to teach research methods each fall and spring (a required course for all of the majors in the department at the 3000-level) and with a capacity to offer a range of courses in political behavior (such as media and politics, public opinion, campaigns and elections, and parties and interest groups, and upper-level seminars in their area of expertise). We do not need a methodologist per se, but a colleague who desires to work with undergraduates on the foundations of research design and social science methods. The successful candidate will participate in the life of the department, including supporting senior thesis projects and student engagement outside of the classroom, with civic engagement as a particular focus.

Candidates should provide evidence of prior teaching experience and their capacity to provide instruction through a variety of approaches, including online, and their experience and desire to engage with diverse populations. Review of applications will begin January 27; while preference will be given to applications received by that date, the review will continue until the position is filled.

Further information about the department is available at <https://www.utc.edu/political-science-public-service/index.php>

Qualifications:

Successful candidates will possess the following requirements:
Ph.D. in Political Science or closely-related field. We will consider ABDs with scheduled completion dates prior to the start of the position.

- Demonstrated experience in political behavior and research methodology.
- Ability to teach introductory/advanced courses in American Political Behavior and Research Methods.
- Willingness to engage in a variety of instructional modalities, including online instruction.
- Willingness to engage in assisting the UTC campus in its ability to reach additional goals as specified in UTC's Strategic Plan, including a demonstrable commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Application Procedures:

Applicants should submit the following information within our online application system for consideration:

- Cover letter/letter of interest
- CV, including up-to-date, personal contact information (email, phone, etc.)
- Unofficial transcripts
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness, including teaching philosophy, course evaluations, and sample syllabi
- Statement of research agenda
- Statement of approach to teaching and working with diverse populations

Additionally, candidates will need to include names, titles, and email addresses for three (3) references. Confidential letters of recommendation will be requested from finalists only.

Inquiries may be made to Dr. Jessica Auchter, search committee chair, at Jessica-Auchter@utc.edu.

Review of applicants will begin on January 10

Applications must be submitted electronically through the UTC Faculty Career Site by visiting: https://ut.taleo.net/careersection/utc_faculty/jobdetail.ftl?job=2000000000

The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga is the second-largest school in the University of Tennessee System and serves a diverse student body of more than 11,600 undergraduate and graduate students through five academic colleges. UTC offers a unique blend of private and public school traditions with a commitment to achieve excellence, embrace diversity and inclusion and offer experiential learning opportunities for students. As an urban university, we also are dedicated to inspiring positive change and enriching our community. Each day, we strive to earn the trust and confidence of those we serve. Our goal is to make a difference in our community and in the lives of our students.

Our definition of student success is a graduate who has the knowledge required to succeed in the workplace and the personal development to show up on time, how to collaborate and work with others and to execute the steps to complete a project. We have held the line on the cost of education with record low tuition increases over the past four years. But we still have $325 million invested in eight ongoing renovations to campus buildings and construction of new facilities.

Chattanooga, the fourth-largest city in the state, is located in Southeast Tennessee on the Georgia stateline and only a few miles from the stateline of Alabama. Because of our location, UTC enrolls students from those states as well as Tennessee. The city itself has received national recognition for the renaissance of its beautiful downtown and redevelopment of its riverfront on the Tennessee River. For two straight years, Outside magazine has twice named Chattanooga as the Best Town Ever, the only city to achieve that distinction. Lonely Planet magazine says we are one of the Top 10 U.S. destinations, and Money Inc. calls us one of the nation's most underrated cities.

Chattanooga also is home to the first 10-gig internet network in the United States, the fastest internet service in the Western Hemisphere. The city's ongoing dedication to advancing technology has attracted dozens of startups to join companies already here such as Volkswagen, Amazon, Unum, McKee Foods, U.S. Xpress, Coca-Cola Bottling Co. United. Attractions such as the Tennessee Aquarium, Lookout Mountain, the Creative Discovery Museum for Children, Civil War battlefield sites and the African American Museum in the Bessie Smith Cultural Center bring thousands of people to the area, as do events such as the Southern Writers Conference and the musical festivities of Riverbend, Nightfall and Jazzanooga. People who love the outdoors are coming to Chattanooga in vast numbers for its multitude of offerings such as hang-gliding, kayaking, rock climbing, biking, fishing and caving expeditions. The world-famous Ironman Triathlon and Ironman 70.3 half-marathon have contracted to take place in Chattanooga until at least 2023.

In short, Chattanooga is internationally recognized as a forward-thinking city that's rich in tradition, history and wide-ranging activities. We are an exciting and vibrant place to live and work. Whether you're raising a family or single, Chattanooga has something for you.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/10/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7630

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Social Sciences at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay invites applications for 1 Full-Time position in Political Science or Sociology, at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin no later than August 2021. Completion, or near completion of a PhD is required. We seek scholars with strong interest and training in at least one of the following subareas: research methods, public policy, political economy or comparative politics. The successful candidate will have experience in conducting fieldwork and research that is guided by questions of larger theoretical importance.

The position involves a 2-2 course load, advising of undergraduate and graduate theses, and the development of an ambitious research agenda. Working conditions, remuneration, and career prospects will be competitive with respect to regional standards. Successful candidates will be fluent in Spanish and English and will have a concern with social responsibility and the ethical implications of knowledge and action.

The Department of Social Science offers undergraduate and M.A. degrees. Comprised of a group of young scholars with research interests that span across economics, politics, urban studies and sociology, the Department supports an eclectic approach to research, often cutting across traditional academic boundaries.

The Department also hosts the Methods Winter School each July. Montevideo is a small and very livable city, right across Buenos Aires. The Río de la Plata region is one of the two centers of the Southern Cone growing academic network alongside Santiago de Chile.

Prospective candidates should upload a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of undergraduate syllabus, 1 writing sample and three letters of recommendation to the following application webpage: <https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>

Review of applications will begin on April 20th 2020 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 4/17/2020
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7601

Columbia University

Rank: Lecturer in Discipline - Quantitative Analysis

Lecturer in Discipline
 Quantitative Analysis

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline in the field of quantitative analysis, to begin July 1, 2020.

Candidates must have a demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and in appropriate field of research. Research interests should be policy-relevant. Ph.D. degree required.

Applicants should be qualified to teach courses in quantitative analysis at the introductory, intermediate and advanced levels to students in demanding two-year Master's degree programs in international and public affairs. Ability to teach STATA is required, and familiarity with R preferred. The teaching assignment is five sections per year (each section meets one per week).

Please visit our online application site at:

<http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4945> for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Committee will begin reviewing applications on a rolling basis on February 1. For further information, please contact Joe Chartier, Academic Department Administrator, School of International and Public Affairs, at jc3317@sipa.columbia.edu.

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train students at the master's and doctoral level for careers in global public policy.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA's academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/20/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7599

Georgetown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow, Massive Data Institute

The Massive Data Institute (MDI) at the McCourt School of Public Policy seeks a postdoctoral Fellow with research interests at the intersection of public policy and big data to help build up--and be a part of--the research efforts here at MDI. Applicants can hold a Ph.D in any discipline, but must conduct policy-relevant research that involves large data sets.

The Massive Data Institute is an interdisciplinary center focusing on key public policy and analytic issues involving high-dimensional data. It is the expectation that the postdoctoral Fellow will assist in building relationships across disciplines and departments within the University. Further, MDI has budding partnerships with numerous external agencies and the Fellow will be involved in conversations and interactions with potential partners. Some travel (domestic and international) may be required.

The postdoctoral Fellow will help MDI advance faculty research and impact policy. Duties include research development and support and teaching data science workshops.

Research:

Fellows are expected to engage in their own advanced independent research and engage in projects with the research faculty and affiliated faculty at the Massive Data Institute. The Fellow will also look for opportunities to collaborate with faculty and practitioners at Georgetown, and is expected to give at least one seminar presentation based on their work while a Fellow.

Teaching:

Fellows will teach 2 to 3 data-oriented workshops related on a big data topic each semester, i.e. participate in the "MDI Data Workshop Series" and contribute to the intellectual life of the McCourt School and the Massive Data Institute by interacting with students and faculty.

Administrative:

The Postdoctoral Fellow will assist the Director and Research Professors of the Massive Data Institute and help manage and supervise students working in MDI.

--

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/13/2019
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 7574

Yale University

Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2020. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Please apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/71940>. Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample.

To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020 when we will begin the review process, although we will continue to accept applications if there is still a vacancy.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7533

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in International Relations and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, International Security, Research Methods, and International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;

- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, Position ID:56242 <http://apply.interfolio.com/71476>

Please email cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7518

Creighton University

Rank: Resident Assistant Professor

Creighton University's Department of Political Science and International Relations invites applications from highly motivated, successful, and collaborative candidates for a Resident Assistant Professor position in the Department of Political Science and International Relations beginning August 2020. The successful candidate will have completed the PhD., have teaching experience, and show promise of excellence in both teaching and scholarship. We are interested in candidates broadly trained in international relations theories and approaches. Successful candidates will also have substantial methodological training. The candidate will need to teach introductory and upper division undergraduate courses in the International Relations program. The successful candidate will also be willing and able to mentor undergraduates in substantial empirical research projects, such as the department's senior thesis requirement and contribute to collaborative faculty-student research. The position would begin in August of 2020 and is renewable for an additional academic year.

We encourage applications from qualified individuals representing all backgrounds and faith traditions who can contribute to our distinctive academic traditions. Creighton is a Jesuit/Catholic University, emphasizing formation of character as well as education in the liberal arts. It places a premium on small class size and on serious interaction among faculty and students that contribute to a strong community of learning. Creighton University is an EEO/AA employer, committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. Minority and women candidates are encouraged to apply. Review of applications begins on January 6, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Please submit letter of interest indicating qualifications, statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly agenda, as well as an updated C.V., four letters of recommendation, and evidence of achievement in teaching and scholarship to: Dr. Erika Moreno, Chair, Political Science and International Relations, Creighton University, 2500 California Plaza, Omaha, NE 68178.

Potential candidates are encouraged to review the Faculty Handbook at:

https://www.creighton.edu/fileadmin/user/GeneralCounsel/docs/Faculty_Handbook_2016__complete_.pdf

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/18/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7493

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Comparative Politics with a substantive focus on countries or regions in the developing world. We are especially interested in scholars using big data, machine learning, or experimental and quasi-experimental methods; and whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply on Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70321>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions regarding the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 11/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7438

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Political-Economy with a substantive focus on comparative political-economy and/or applied game theory. We are especially interested in scholars whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply at Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70423>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions about the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is strongly committed to non-discriminatory hiring practices, and encourages applications from individuals who will further expand the diversity of our faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/15/2019
Date Posted: 11/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7436

University of North Texas

Rank: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2020 in American politics. We seek candidates who study contentious politics broadly defined to include either behavior or institutional analyses. Areas of behavioral research may include social movements, political violence, disaffected groups, collective action/mobilization, labor movements, or the struggle for power. Candidates may also study institutional features such as the legislative process, the courts, and the media as it relates to political contention dynamics. The research focus may be at the local, state, or national level. The successful candidate should be able to contribute to instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate level. Candidates who have the Ph.D. by the start date are preferred.

All applicants must meet the following criteria: (1) A Ph.D. in Political Science (highly qualified ABD candidates will also be considered) and (2) evidence that demonstrates a potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service will be required of the selected candidate. Preference will be given to candidates who have a record of publication, can teach graduate methods courses, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

The faculty member will teach core, upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses, continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

Applicants must submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a narrative describing scholarly research, (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (6) a copy of unofficial transcripts, and (7) the names and contact information of three references via UNT's Faculty Jobs portal at <https://facultyjobs.unt.edu>.

Review of applications will begin on October 24, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit their applications and all supporting materials as close as possible to the review date. UNT is an AA/ADA/EOE.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7331

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science of the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political methodology.

The department seeks applicants from all subfields of political methodology. Strong candidates will make significant contributions to political methodology and seek to address important substantive questions in political science. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. Appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2020. Minimum basic qualification (must be met by time of application).

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching and service. Typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Applicants will be required to submit a cover letter of interest that describes their research and training, CV, writing samples, teaching evidence/evaluations, Statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of reference. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only completed applications that include the letters of reference may be reviewed by the committee.

Review of Applications will begin on October 30, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 30, 2019 will receive full consideration. Applications and materials will be submitted using UCR's on-line application system located at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01163>.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up (<http://product-help.interfolio.com/m/27438/l/266289-confidential-letter-uploads-to-online-application-systems>.)

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 4/1/2020

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6064

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science of the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political methodology.

The department seeks applicants from all subfields of political methodology. Strong candidates will make significant contributions to political methodology and seek to address important substantive questions in political science. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. Appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2020. Minimum basic qualification (must be met by time of application).

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching and service. Typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Applicants will be required to submit a cover letter of interest that describes their research and training, CV, writing samples, teaching evidence/evaluations, Statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of reference. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only completed applications that include the letters of reference may be reviewed by the committee.

Review of Applications will begin on October 30, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 30, 2019 will receive full consideration. Applications and materials will be submitted using UCR's on-line application system located at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01163>.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up (<http://product-help.interfolio.com/m/27438/1/266289-confidential-letter-uploads-to-online-application-systems>.)

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law

Start Date: Summer 2020
Date Posted: 8/27/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6065

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in the fields of Formal Theory or Quantitative Analysis. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13301> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. Ph.D. is required. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton Politics faculty members. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to F/Q Postdoctoral Fellowship Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 14, 2020.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition Number: D-20-POL-00010

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6050

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase “cPASS Postdoc Fellow” in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

NON-ACADEMIC

New York University

Rank: Lab Manager - Center for Social Media and Politics

We are looking for a full-time lab manager. In this role, you will be embedded in our research teams in order to directly support the lab’s cutting-edge output. Currently, we have a portfolio of over 25 projects on a wide range of questions related to social media and politics, each of which has different substantive and methodological motivations. As the lab manager, you will have two main responsibilities. First, you will monitor and coordinate all of the lab’s research projects; second, you will provide direct support to a selected portfolio of projects. Given the nature of this position, a graduate-level background in quantitative social science and/or data science research is strongly encouraged, as is experience leading teams in a fast-paced environment.

Each project will require something different from the lab manager, ranging from coordinating with our survey vendors to training undergraduate RAs. We value initiative and adaptability, as well as a passion for the research process. While far from an exhaustive list, your responsibilities will include:

- Instituting systems of regular reporting on work performed, setting goals, tracking progress towards deliverables
- Holding meetings with research teams on each project, and reporting to Faculty Directors and Executive Director on progress
- Ensuring data tasks are regularly updated and best lab practices (e.g. coding and documentation) are followed
- Managing paper writing/revisions, writing IRB paperwork, and coordinating conference/journal submissions
- Training and supervising graduate/undergraduate RAs

The Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Center has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors. You will be given the opportunity to participate in the center's research environment, including attending conferences and seminars and working closely with a broad group of researchers associated with the lab.

The directors of CSMaP are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754><https://apply.interfolio.com/66754>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7326

OPEN

Princeton University

Rank: Research Specialist

Specializations: Political Economy, Foreign Policy, International Political Economy

Position Summary:

The Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University has an opening for a research specialist to assist the Director of the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Helen V. Milner, in conducting research on the political economy of international economic policy, globalization, development, and technological change. The Research Specialist will conduct research on a variety of topics, as assigned by faculty. He/she will locate and compile statistical data, edit data for accuracy and completeness, run statistical analyses, collect and review academic literatures, maintain faculty website, proofread research, replicate statistical analyses, and perform other duties as assigned.

The candidate should be well organized, flexible, attentive to detail, and able to respond to deadlines in a timely fashion. Knowledge about and interest in the topics are important as well since the position requires reading studies, gathering information and data, analyzing them, and then providing some summaries.

DUTIES & RESPONSIBILITIES: Provide statistical consulting and programming assistance to faculty member who is the director of NCGG and at times to WWS and NCGG faculty members, associated faculty members with the Department of Economics and Politics, as well as NCGG associated fellows and students. This requires advanced knowledge of statistics and quantitative methods and specialized computer skills, such as experience using specialized software (e.g. Stata and programming languages (e.g. R, Python). This includes creating datasets and the management and empirical analysis of economic and political data. It also includes programming field experiments and surveys in programs such as Qualtrics.

Provide logistical and technical support to director, faculty and fellows with survey and field experiments. This requires advanced knowledge of research design and experience conducting field experiments. Also, assist faculty members in the management and empirical analysis of economic and political data.

Conduct literature reviews on topics of interest to faculty member and maintain database of citations. Also, maintain faculty member's website and proofread papers.

Create analytic datasets; perform complex statistical analyses of data, using advanced econometric and other statistical methods.

Contribute to the design and building of research presentations in PowerPoint or Beamer.

Participate in NCGG programs, including seminars, luncheons, public events and conferences, as well as assist graduate and undergraduate students on occasion.

Formal Education (minimal level REQUIRED for this position)

Masters or Professional degree (M.B.A., J.D., etc.)

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities

Minimum advanced degree (Masters or PhD) preferred, in a social science discipline such as Economics, Political Science, etc.

- Strong computing skills, including programming in Stata and R and experience in compiling, managing, and manipulating large data sets are essential; knowledge of ArcGIS and Python are also desirable.
- Knowledge of statistics and econometrics is essential;
- Strong research and analytical skills are necessary;
- Knowledge of standard Internet tools and HTML is necessary;
- Knowledge of Qualitative Case Study Methods.

Additional Qualifications:

Familiarity with standard political science or international economics related literatures and data sources is important.

- Familiarity with standard international trade, finance, and development datasets;
- Extensive experience working with large databases, specifically cleaning, merging, and analyzing panel data;
- A self-starter with the drive to learn new software programs and research methodologies;
- Foreign language skills is a plus.

Start Date: Spring

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/24/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7673

Merrimack College

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science and Public Policy

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Open

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Urban Politics, Environmental Policy

Position Overview: Merrimack College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor appointment in the Department of Political Science and Public Policy beginning in Fall 2020. Teaching load is three courses per semester. The position will support both the Political Science Department and International Studies Program, with the potential to work with other interdisciplinary programs and our graduate program in Public Affairs. The successful candidate will be expected to teach our quantitative Research Methods course as well as relevant courses in politics and public policy, based on expertise. The candidate will also be expected to develop additional courses to complement existing undergraduate curriculum.

Qualifications: Areas of expertise must include both public policy and quantitative research methodology. Areas of public policy specialization might include, but are not limited to, urban policy, environmental policy, or electoral policy. Expertise in research methods must include ability to teach relevant software, such as SPSS, GIS, Tableau, R, etc. A demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching, research, and service is essential. PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or related field is required at time of appointment.

To Apply: Interested applicants should apply online through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15900>. Application materials should include: letter of interest, C.V., evidence of teaching effectiveness, sample of scholarship, and three letters of recommendation.

Merrimack College seeks to nourish and sustain our five core values of leadership, community, awareness, scholarship, and service. The College is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups. All candidates are encouraged to describe in their application previous activities or interest in building a culture committed to diversity and inclusive excellence, as well as how they will engage in fostering a culture that values diversity and inclusive excellence at Merrimack College.

Review of applications will begin on February 18, 2020 and will continue until the position has been filled.

About Merrimack: The only Catholic, Augustinian college in New England, Merrimack College is an independent, coeducational institution with more than 4,200 undergraduates and graduate students from 34 states and 36 countries, and comprises schools of liberal arts, science and engineering, health sciences, education and social policy, and business. The college's 220-acre campus is approximately 25 miles north of Boston in North Andover and Andover, Mass. Merrimack is a Master's Colleges & Universities/Medium Programs institution in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Merrimack recently placed 21st in the nation for "Colleges That Add the Most Value" in Money's special Best Colleges report and was ranked as one of the top 10 colleges in the northern United States for the fourth year in a row — and the only regional college judged "up and coming" by higher education leadership in the northern United States, according to U.S. News.

This position is subject to the successful completion of a criminal background check.

Merrimack College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7665

University of Essex

Rank: Open Rank in Political Science

Open Rank in Political Science

Salary: Competitive

Department

The Department of Government at Essex are world leaders in political science, ranked top in the UK for research excellence (REF2014), 5th for politics in the UK (The Times Good University Guide 2018 and 2019 National Student Survey), top 10 in the world for political science and international relations according to the Centre for World University Rankings (2018), among the top 50 departments worldwide according to the QS World University Rankings. Having been awarded Q-Step Affiliate Status, we are committed to excellence in education and research.

This is a genuinely open search in terms of sub-field. We are always seeking to build on our existing strengths in comparative politics, international relations (especially conflict studies), political behaviour, political economy, political institutions, and political theory. We have identified British politics, gender and politics, and ideology and discourse analysis as priority areas in this round.

The Department is now looking to make an appointment at Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, Reader or Professor level.

Please note that appointments will be made at the UK equivalent of Lecturer level (Assistant Professor), Senior Lecturer level (Associate Professor), Reader level (Associate Professor) or Professor and will be referred to by these titles throughout the advertisement and University documentation.

Duties of the Role

The post-holder is expected to conduct research and teaching in Political Science. They will (co-) supervise undergraduate projects, MA, and PhD dissertations. In addition, the successful candidate will be expected to generate research income, to contribute to the administration and leadership responsibilities within the Department, and to the local, regional and international profile of the Department.

Duties at Lecturer level will include contributing to excellence in education by designing and delivering substantive and effective teaching and learning support as agreed with the Head of Department, producing research outputs for publication at acceptable levels of volume and academic excellence and disseminate the result of research and scholarship through appropriate Knowledge Exchange activities.

Duties at Senior Lecturer or Reader level will moreover include engaging in curriculum development, undergraduate and postgraduate teaching, and research supervision at both an individual and a strategic level along with providing research leadership and engaging in activities that will enhance the research profile of the Department.

Duties at Professor level will include additionally building up a sustained and effective record of impact at a strategic level in relation to teaching and learning, as part of a wider commitment to academic practice and pursuing research that is world leading in terms of originality, significance and rigour.

At all levels the successful candidate will be expected to engage in individual and/or collaborative research activity (resulting in internationally excellent publications) that is in keeping with REF criteria and generate external research income appropriate in scale to career stage and subject area norms.

The post-holder will undertake a full range of Education, Research and Leadership and Citizenship responsibilities as detailed in the respective job pack of the level for which you are applying.

Qualifications and Skills required

Applicants will hold a relevant doctoral level degree in Political Science or allied field (or be close to completion of PhD if applying for Lecturer level), or possess equivalent professional experience or practice.

Applicants at the Lecturer level will be required to provide evidence of a research agenda, engagement in high-quality research activity and a developing research profile; and have proven experience in teaching at undergraduate and/or postgraduate levels, or demonstrable potential to achieve this.

Applicants at the Senior Lecturer or Reader level will be required to provide evidence of an established and internationally recognised research profile, with a strong track record of published academic output at international levels of recognition; a sustained record of effectiveness in education at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels; and a record of success in generating external research income appropriate in scale to disciplinary norms and career stage.

Applicants at the Professor level will be required to demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels appropriate to the discipline; a strong, sustained record of academic publication at international or world-leading levels of recognition; and an established record of success in securing and managing substantial research grants (appropriate to the discipline).

Applicants at all levels will need to possess evidence of a clear publication plan for submission to future Research Excellence Framework (REF) programmes.

This is a permanent, full-time post on an ASER (teaching and research) contract, with appointment being made as Lecturer (R), Senior Lecturer (R), Reader or Professor (R). Please state clearly on your application form which level for which you are applying.

The Department of Government is working towards a Scientific Women's Academic Network (Athena SWAN) award and particularly welcome applications from those who identify as female or non-binary as they are under-represented in the Department.

At the University of Essex internationalism is central to who we are and what we do. We are committed to being a cosmopolitan, internationally-oriented university that is welcoming to staff and students from all countries and a university where you can find the world in one place.

Please see the further detail link below for a full job description and person specification which outlines the full duties, skills, qualifications and experience needed for this role plus more information relating to the post. We recommend you read this information carefully before making an application. Applications should be made on-line, but if you would like advice or help in making an application, or need information in a different format, please telephone the Resourcing Team (01206 876559).

Closing Date: 10 February 2020

Interview Date: 18 March 2020 (Lecturer); 19 March 2020 (Senior Lecturer / Reader); 23 March 2020 (Professor)

Apply link https://vacancies.essex.ac.uk/tlive_webrecruitment/wrd/run/ETREC107GF.open?VACANCY_ID=534791LULz&WVID=9918109NEm&LANG=USA

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 2/10/2020

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7633

Royal Holloway, University of London

Rank: Lecturer (Assistant Professor) in Politics and International Relations (Quantitative Methods)

The Department of Politics, International Relations and Philosophy at Royal Holloway seeks to appoint a Lecturer (Assistant Professor) in Politics or International Relations with expertise in quantitative methods. The successful applicant would be expected to start in July 2020.

About the Department. The Department of Politics, International Relations and Philosophy is part of the School of Law and Social Sciences. It is a research-intensive unit that offers teaching which both challenges and enriches students. We provide a full range of undergraduate, postgraduate and doctoral programmes. We carry out research across the different disciplines, but we place special emphasis on our research centres: the Centre for International Security, the Democracy and Elections Centre, the Global Politics and Development Centre, and the New Political Communication Unit.

About the role. We're looking for someone with the potential to make distinctive research contributions in the field of politics or international relations broadly defined and who has expertise in quantitative methods. We are interested in hearing from applicants working in a range of different subfields in PIR and who can contribute to the growth and development of one of our research centres.

Expertise in quantitative methods, and the ability to teach quantitative methods to undergraduate and postgraduate students, is an essential characteristic for this position.

About the characteristics we value. Alongside research and teaching, we're looking for individuals who can build intellectual communities, are collegial, and value collaborative working.

In return we offer a highly competitive rewards and benefits package including:

- Generous annual leave entitlement
- Training and Development opportunities
- Pension Scheme with generous employer contribution
- Various schemes including Cycle to Work, Season Ticket Loans and help with the cost of Eyesight testing.
- Free parking

The post is based in Egham, Surrey where the College is situated in a beautiful, leafy campus near to Windsor Great Park and within commuting distance from London.

To view further details of this post and to apply please visit <https://jobs.royalholloway.ac.uk>. For queries on the application process the Human Resources Department can be contacted by email at: recruitment@rhul.ac.uk.

Please quote the reference: 1219-454

Closing Date: Midnight, 31 January 2020

Interview Date: TBC

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 1/6/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7612

University of Texas at Dallas

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The School of Economic, Political, and Policy Sciences at the University of Texas at Dallas (UTD) invites applications for a full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor position beginning in August 2020 in the Political Science Program. UTD is a fast-growing, suburban research university with undergraduate, Master's, and PhD programs in Political Science. We currently have approximately 60 graduate students and 250 undergraduate majors.

The University of Texas at Dallas has the highest freshman SAT scores of any public University in Texas and was recently ranked 24th among the 100 best universities in the world under 50 years old by Times Higher Education magazine. UT Dallas is one of the youngest universities to achieve the Carnegie Commission's highest research classification of "Doctoral Universities – Highest Research Activity."

The teaching load for this position is 3 courses per long semester and the standard pay rate is $20,000 per long semester. The position is renewable for up to 4 long semesters. Ideal candidates will demonstrate their ability to contribute to existing program strengths in teaching excellence. Topics of interest include American politics, international relations, or comparative politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the introductory state politics course and the introductory American national government course, as well as more specialized upper-level undergraduate courses. PhD by time of employment is expected. The position begins in August 2020.

Applicants should submit letter of application, current curriculum vitae and three letters of recommendation to the Program Head, Tom Brunell (tbrunell@utdallas.edu). Review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Texas at Dallas is an Equal Opportunity / Equal Access / Affirmative Action Employer and strongly encourages applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the University's faculty and administration.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/3/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7541

George Washington University

Rank: Director

The Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies (WGSS) program at The George Washington University seeks to appoint a tenured faculty member to serve as the Director of the WGSS program.

The WGSS program at GWU is the first graduate program in Women's Studies in the United States. Today, it is a thriving program that offers a BA, a BA/MA, two graduate degrees, two minors, one certificate, and a joint JD/MA. The Director of the program will provide scholarly leadership, oversee administration, budgeting, as well as student recruitment for the program.

The successful candidate will be jointly appointed and tenured in the appropriate department at The George Washington University as a Full or Associate Professor.

The appointment is expected to begin as early as Fall 2020.

Minimum Qualifications

PhD in Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies or in any Humanities or Social Sciences field or a terminal MFA degree; a record of scholarly publications such as books or journal articles; administrative and leadership experience; demonstrated commitment to global and inter-sectional approaches to the study of gender and sexuality; experience working with a diverse range of faculty, staff, and students; experience with program building, teaching, and/or advising at undergraduate and graduate levels.

Special Instructions to Applicants

Applicants should submit an online application at <http://www.gwu.edu/jobs/postings/71761> and upload the following documents:

1. Cover letter (addressing teaching experience, program building experience, qualifications for leadership, and research interests).
2. Curriculum vitae.

Only complete applications will be considered. Review of applications will begin December 16, 2019 and continue immediately until the position is filled.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7531

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in International Relations starting Fall 2020. The position is on a fixed-term contract (Four years renewable) and open to candidates at the Assistant or Associate Professor levels. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses at the B.A. and M.A. levels in the field of international relations (including introductory courses in international relations theory), foreign-policy analysis and international security. Candidates with a focus on the global south (Asia, Africa, and/or Latin America) and/or critical security studies are particularly encouraged to apply. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, an accomplished and active research agenda, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to equal opportunity and a diverse faculty.

Requirements:

A PhD is required at the time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing research and publication program and teaching experience. In addition to research and teaching, responsibilities include service to the Department and the University.

Application Procedures:

Priority will be given to applications received by November 30, 2019. The position is open until filled.

All applicants must submit the following documents online:

- a) A current C.V
- b) A letter of interest
- c) A statement of teaching philosophy
- d) A completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF)
- e) A copy of a recently published or accepted article or chapter
- f) Three letters of reference

Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; with the name of the candidate/Faculty position/ Department.

All applications should be uploaded online:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/faculty/services/faculty-vacancies>

Please take note of your account login details. If additional questions are asked, you will be prompted to login into the AUC portal.

For more information, e-mail Dr. Rabab El Mahdi, Chair, relmahdi@aucegypt.edu; Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, gehanwm@aucegypt.edu; or visit the department's website at:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7329

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: SNF Agora Open Rank Faculty - Challenges of Multi-Ethnic Democracy, Race, Inequality

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at the rank of Associate or Full Professor (soon-to-be-tenured Assistant Professors with exceptional records of scholarship can also be considered) in any discipline who focus on the dynamics of race and ethnicity, class and inequality, migration, group identities (including gender and sexuality), community and urban dynamics, and forms of structural inequality in shaping, interacting with, making possible, and challenging the realization of democracy in global contexts and the U.S. We define these terms broadly and seek scholars from a range of disciplines.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university's Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute.

Qualifications

Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2020.

Please apply at apply.interfolio.com/69848

Any nominations should be emailed to the SNF Agora Institute, at snfagora@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7313

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: SNF Agora Open Rank Faculty - Institutions of Democracy Under Stress

Description

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at the rank of Associate or Full Professor (soon-to-be-tenured Assistant Professors with exceptional records of scholarship can also be considered) in any discipline who focus on the institutional and organizational dimensions of democracy under stress, particularly as related to questions of civic engagement and inclusive discourse. We define these terms broadly and seek scholars from a range of disciplines, including but not limited to scholars who study the dynamics of states; state contexts; political, civic, social, and economic organizations and institutions; social movements; and social networks, as well as their role in shaping, interacting with, constraining, making possible, and challenging the realization of democracy in global contexts or the U.S.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university's Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute.

Qualifications

Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications by applying at <https://apply.interfolio.com/69837>.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2020.

Any nominations should be emailed to the SNF Agora Institute, at snfagora@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7311

Saint Anselm College

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellow

The Department of Politics at Saint Anselm College invites applications for a two-year year term post-doctoral faculty member to begin Fall 2020. The successful candidate will enhance the diversity of the Department's curricular offerings, teaching in one or more areas of specialization not currently included in our Department's areas of expertise, and at least partly focusing on marginalized or underserved groups. Areas of specialty could include the politics of race in America, intersectionality, politics of First Nations and/or indigenous peoples, or regional politics of with a specialization in Middle East, North Africa, or Asia. The ability to teach a course on Research Methods is a plus, but not required.

To apply, submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability and research potential (samples of scholarship, articles or conference papers) and academic transcripts to the attention of Dr. Jennifer Lucas, Chair, Politics Department via the college website at www.anselm.edu/hr. Three letters of recommendation are required and should be submitted in PDF format via email to the department faculty assistant, Lorie Cochran (at lcochran@anselm.edu). Full consideration will be given to applications received by December 1, 2019.

The position includes a 2-2 teaching load, with each semester likely including an introductory course (American Government, Comparative Politics, or International Relations) and either a course on Research Methods or an upper-level elective in their area of specialty. Interest in or experience working with students from underrepresented groups is preferred. In addition, the Department would expect him/her to serve on senior thesis committees, and to engage in conversation with the Politics faculty on methods of maintaining diversity in our curriculum. In addition to faculty development funds available for conferences, competitive funding opportunities for engaging pedagogies and presenting research are available, including grants funded by the New Hampshire Institute of Politics and the Diversity & Inclusion Innovation Fund.

A Ph.D. in political science is required by August 2020. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in teaching at the undergraduate level as well as scholarly research. Teaching experience at the undergraduate level is preferred.

Successful candidates will be able to assist the college to further its strategic goals for institution-wide diversity and inclusiveness.

Founded in 1889, Saint Anselm College is a Catholic, liberal arts college in the Benedictine tradition. The community includes approximately 2,000 students, 155 full-time faculty members and 401 full-time staff in addition to the monks of Saint Anselm Abbey. Located in Manchester, NH, Saint Anselm College is just 1 hour from Boston, the White Mountains, and the New England seacoast.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7280

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13302> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition No: D-20-POL-00011

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 8/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6051

OTHER

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: IGB Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Other

The Carl R. Woese Institute for Genomic Biology (IGB) at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign solicits applications for a position as an IGB Fellow in its new theme Genomic Security and Privacy (GSP). The position is open to scholars who have completed their PhD within the last several years and who are looking for a stimulating and supportive interdisciplinary environment to carry out independent and collaborative research. IGB Fellows typically spend two or more years conducting research in an IGB theme. The theme leadership works with the Fellow to develop an individual program of research that contributes to the theme.

Recent years have seen the rise of a diverse collection of applications of genomics that have profound implications for individuals, society, and the future of humankind. The GSP theme aims to understand the consequences of these scientific and social developments through a highly interdisciplinary research team. The Fellow would contribute to studies on technology and policy for security and privacy of genomic data. Sample areas of research include: privacy-enhancing technologies for sharing genotype, phenotype, and lifestyle data; ramifications of genetic genealogy for law enforcement; models for diversity, consent, and governance; and potential issues with diverse omics data. Contributions may include seeking out and applying for grants, designing and executing studies, coordinating research with and among GSP faculty, and managing graduate or undergraduate researchers tasked to GSP projects. Moreover, there are diverse drivers of developments in the field of genomics bringing on issues that will shape the development of GSP. We encourage applications from candidates in at least these areas as they relate to GSP: Bioinformatics, Computer Science, Law, Social Sciences, and Economics.

Applicants should submit a CV, a research summary, and the names of three recommenders who can write letters on their behalf. Inquiries and applications should be directed to Nikki Gentry by email at ngentry@illinois.edu or Carl A. Gunter at cgunter@illinois.edu. The University of Illinois is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Annual salary is $55,000, plus a $7,500 allowance.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: 3/1/2020
Date Posted: 1/29/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7682

University of Connecticut

Rank: Assistant Professors in Native American and Indigenous Studies

The University of Connecticut's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professors in Native American and Indigenous Studies. These are part of a larger cluster hire which also includes a tenured Associate or Full Professor of Native American and Indigenous Studies.

Applicants should have research and teaching interests focused on one or more of the following areas: Indigenous Cultures and Histories, Indigenous Ecologies, and Indigenous Knowledges. We are particularly interested in scholars of indigenous North America, South America, and Pacific Islands/ Oceania, though applicants may work on any geographical region.

Applicants may be hired in the following departments: Anthropology, English, History, Literatures Cultures & Languages, Sociology, Philosophy, or Political Science. They may also choose to be affiliated or jointly appointed with the Human Rights Institute, El Instituto, American Studies, Africana Studies, Asian and Asian American Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies.

The successful candidate will be expected to establish and maintain a strong program of research and publication in Native American and Indigenous Studies. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in their hiring department. They will also be expected to mentor graduate and undergraduate students, participate in public engagement, and contribute to the profile of Indigenous Studies at the university and in New England.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. completed in a humanities or social sciences discipline with a focus of Native American or Indigenous Studies. Strong oral and written communication; the ability to contribute through research, teaching, and/or public engagement to the diversity of the College.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Experience with community-engaged scholarship.

A research and teaching focus in one or more of three broad areas:

Indigenous Cultures and Histories: cultural production/ cultural resistance, indigenous media, language & power, law & sovereignty.

Indigenous Ecologies: dispossession, settler colonialism, climate justice

Indigenous Knowledges: decolonial theory, indigenous epistemologies, feminist theory.

APPOINTMENT TERMS

This are a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track positions with an anticipated start date of August 23, 2020. The successful candidates primary appointments will be at the Storrs campus. Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please navigate to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15896> to complete your application.

Please submit a letter of application that addresses the criteria for the position, including research and teaching interests. Additional required materials include a curriculum vitae, commitment to diversity statement and a sample article or chapter. Additionally, please follow the instructions in Academic Jobs Online to direct three reference writers to submit letters of recommendation on your behalf. Preference will be given to those who apply by February 15, 2020; however, screening of applicants will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check. (Search #)

For questions about this position, please contact either of the search committee co-chairs, Mark Healey at mark.healey@uconn.edu or Chris Vials at Christopher.vials@uconn.edu

These positions will be filled subject to budgetary approval.

All employees are subject to adherence to the State Code of Ethics, which may be found at <http://www.ct.gov/ethics/site/default.asp>.

APPLICATION MATERIALS REQUIRED:

Submit the following items online at this website to complete your application:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Commitment to diversity statement
- Writing Sample
- Three Reference Letters (to be submitted online by the reference writers at this site)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/15/2020

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7666

University of Connecticut

Rank: Associate or Full Professor in Native American and Indigenous Studies

The University of Connecticut's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences invites applications for a tenured Associate or Full Professor in Native American and Indigenous Studies. This is part of a larger cluster hire of three tenure-track positions across various departments – this position and two additional positions at the Assistant Professor level.

Applicants should have research and teaching interests focused on one or more of the following areas: Indigenous Cultures and Histories, Indigenous Ecologies, and Indigenous Knowledges. They may work on any geographical region, although preference in the tenured position search will be given to a specialist in indigenous North America.

Applicants may be hired in the following departments: Anthropology, English, History, Literatures Cultures & Languages, Sociology, Philosophy, or Political Science. They may also choose to be affiliated or jointly appointed with the Human Rights Institute, El Instituto, American Studies, Africana Studies, Asian and Asian American Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies.

The successful candidate will be expected to establish and maintain a strong program of research and publication in Native American and Indigenous Studies. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in their hiring department. They will also be expected to mentor graduate and undergraduate students, participate in public engagement, and contribute to the profile of Indigenous Studies at the university and in New England.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. completed in a humanities or social sciences discipline with a focus of Native American or Indigenous Studies. Strong oral and written communication; the ability to contribute through research, teaching, and/or public engagement to the diversity of the College.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Experience with community-engaged scholarship.

A research and teaching focus in one or more of three broad areas:

Indigenous Cultures and Histories: cultural production/ cultural resistance, indigenous media, language & power, law & sovereignty.

Indigenous Ecologies: dispossession, settler colonialism, climate justice

Indigenous Knowledges: decolonial theory, indigenous epistemologies, feminist theory.

APPOINTMENT TERMS

This is a full-time, 9-month, tenured position with an anticipated start date of August 23, 2020. The successful candidate's primary appointments will be at the Storrs campus. Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please navigate to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15896> to submit your application.

Please submit a letter of application that addresses the criteria for the position, including research and teaching interests. Additional required materials include a curriculum vitae, commitment to diversity statement and a sample article or chapter. Additionally, please follow the instructions in Academic Jobs Online to direct three reference writers to submit letters of recommendation on your behalf. Preference will be given to those who apply by February 15, 2020; however, screening of applicants will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check. (Search #)

For questions about this position, please contact either of the search committee co-chairs, Mark Healey at mark.healey@uconn.edu or Chris Vials at Christopher.vials@uconn.edu

This position will be filled subject to budgetary approval.

APPLICATION MATERIALS REQUIRED:

Submit the following items online at this website to complete your application:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Commitment to diversity statement
- Writing Sample
- Three Reference Letters (to be submitted online by the reference writers at this site)

Start Date:

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7667

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East & North Africa

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The University of Arizona (UA) located in Tucson, Arizona seeks a qualified applicant for the position of Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, Tenure Track. Candidates will be expected to have a PhD in a field represented in the UA College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS); exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered. This position requires the ability to design and teach undergraduate and graduate courses and mentor students; and occasional domestic and foreign travel for meetings, seminars, and conferences. This position is non-security sensitive and requires a name-based criminal background check.

The faculty member will conduct cutting-edge research in their field, teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, mentor students, including those from underrepresented backgrounds. The faculty member will also participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service. In these and other ways, the faculty member will help to develop innovative approaches to enhancing student engagement, increasing diversity, and expanding collaborations with community and business partners.

Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; sick leave and holidays; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more! The University of Arizona has been recognized for our innovative workforce programs. For more information about working at the University of Arizona and relocations services, please see <https://whyua.arizona.edu/>

A new assistant professor (tenure-track, academic year) position in Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, broadly defined, will be placed in the University of Arizona College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). The unit home(s) will be determined at the close of the search. We are interested in a broad range of social science and historical approaches to the study of human rights in the Middle East and North Africa. Of interest are human rights issues related to economic and social rights, environmental justice, gender politics, health, humanitarianism, indigenous rights, migrants and refugees, bioethics, and sustainable development. The successful candidate will be well qualified to engage in undergraduate and graduate teaching; have an active research agenda, with research in or centrally related to the Middle East and/or North Africa; have potential for externally supported research; and have an interest in participating in outreach activities. The teaching load is typically two courses per semester. Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern language is highly desirable (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language).

The exact field of specialization and PhD is open; the appointment may be made in a single SBS unit or as a joint appointment across two units. See <https://sbs.arizona.edu/about/academic-units> for a full listing of SBS units. SBS includes Anthropology, Gender & Women's Studies, Geography & Development, Government & Public Policy, History, Journalism, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, and Sociology, among other units. Given current student interests and the importance of developing certain regional studies within UA Middle East studies, the position has a preferred focus on Egypt, North Africa, or Turkey, although applications from specialists in any area of the Middle East and North Africa are welcome and will receive full consideration.

The UA features an extensive program in Middle Eastern and North African studies. The School of Middle Eastern & North African Studies (MENAS) offers a BA, MA and PhD, a BA in Arabic, and includes an Arabic Flagship program. Also in SBS are the American Institute for Maghrib Studies; Arizona Center for Judaic Studies; Arizona Center for Turkish Studies; Center for Arabic Study Abroad; Center for Middle Eastern Studies, a Title VI US Department of Education-funded National Resource Center; and the Roshan Graduate Interdisciplinary Program in Persian and Iranian Studies. Known for its support of interdisciplinary endeavors, the UA includes a variety of units with programs related to human rights. Interest in human rights-related issues is informed by the UA's location near the US border with Mexico. SBS offers an online MA and graduate certificate in Human Rights Practice and is currently developing a fully online BA in Human Rights Practice and 3 additional graduate certificates in the field. Plans are also underway for creating a PhD in Human Rights Practice. The Global Studies major includes a concentration in Human Rights, Migrations, and Social Movements. The School of Government & Public Policy offers BA programs in Law and Political Science, both of which attract students interested in human rights-related careers. Of related interest are programs in SBS such as the BA in Food Studies; the Philosophy, Politics, Economics and Law major in the Department of Political Economy & Moral Science; and the School of Sociology's Care, Health & Society BS major. The UA College of Law offers advanced training in indigenous people's law and policy, and a human rights concentration for students in the Master of Legal Studies program.

Minimum Qualifications- Assistant Professor: Ph.D. from an accredited institution of higher learning; Exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered; Ph.D. is required for appointment as Assistant Professor; Teaching experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body
Interest in outreach efforts; Emerging scholarly reputation
Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. by time of appointment; Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern Language (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language)

This is a full time, Assistant Professor position in the Center for Middle Eastern Studies. All applications must be submitted through the University OF Arizona Human Resources website. Direct link to posting information: <https://cmes.arizona.edu/human-rights-faculty-position>

A complete application packet will include four items: a CV; a Cover Letter; the candidate's statement on research agenda (in the Personal Statement) ; the candidate's statement on teaching pedagogy that includes details of the candidate's experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body(in the Statement of Teaching Philosophy); and the names, titles, and email addresses of at least three references.

Questions regarding this position should be directed to Prof. Anne H. Betteridge, Search Committee Chair, The Center for Middle Eastern Studies, The University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ 85721.

Please note: You will be required to provide contact information for a minimum of three professional references within your application.

Should you be selected as a finalist for this position, for your convenience, your references may receive an automatic email. This email will ask your references to complete a brief questionnaire in regard to your suitability for the position as well as request the attachment of a letter of recommendation. These letters of recommendation must be uploaded directly via the UACareers.com website by your reference provider. UACareers.com is not compatible with any “dossier aggregate” system (e.g., Interfolio, Intellimedia).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/21/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7658

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor & Executive Director of the Program for Public Discourse

Position Summary

The College of Arts & Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a Teaching Assistant Professor who will also serve as the Executive Director of the new Program for Public Discourse. The Program for Public Discourse seeks to build a culture of robust debate and civic engagement at UNC while upholding our core principles of freedom of expression and academic inquiry. The program supports the development or enhancement of courses and campus life experiences that explicitly engage the full range of structured techniques, practices, habits, and processes for discussion, deliberation, and debate. The program will bring speakers to campus for moderated events that explore a broad range of contemporary topics and will support Polis student fellows who will build skills in public discourse and civic engagement as well as contribute to a quarterly publication.

The position will begin July 1, 2020 and is a non-tenure-track, renewable, twelve-month position with a three-year initial appointment. The faculty member will hold a fixed-term appointment in an appropriate academic department.

The successful candidate will teach one course per semester and be responsible for managing programming in the Program for Public Discourse. This includes hiring and supervising one intern, mentoring the Polis Fellows, recruiting speakers, and working with the Center for Faculty Excellence, The Institute for the Arts and Humanities, the Carolina Center for Public Service, and other campus centers to support civic engagement and the wider use of structured argumentation, advocacy, or debate in the classroom.

Educational Requirements

PhD or other terminal degree in any field represented by Arts & Sciences.

Qualifications and Experience

Previous teaching experience is required. Preference will be given to candidates with experience using deliberation, debate, or structured argumentation in the classroom and/or research on civil discourse and deliberation.

Special Instructions

Applications are open to candidates from any field represented by the 44 departments of the College of Arts & Sciences (see <https://college.unc.edu/news-and-features/departments-curricula-centers-institutes/>). We are especially interested in applicants from the fields of Communications, History, Philosophy, Political Science, or Public Policy, and those who may have expertise or experience in debate-centered instruction.

The application package should include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and a statement of teaching interest and experience that includes strategies for inclusive teaching, two sample syllabi, and three letters of recommendation. At the time of application, candidates will also be required to identify the names, titles, and email addresses of professional references (three are required). The recommenders that candidates identify will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their recommendation letters. Application materials and letters of recommendation must be submitted in electronic form only.

We will begin considering candidates after February 6, 2020, and will continue accepting applications until the position is filled.

Application Types Accepted

Applications will be considered until the position is filled. Please submit an online application for vacancy ID FAC0003106 at <http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/175540>

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

PI117239166

Start Date:

Date Posted: 1/20/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7655

Western Carolina University

Rank: Director of African and African American Studies - #212900

WCU seeks a dynamic scholar at either the senior assistant (tenure-track) or associate professor (tenure-track or tenured) level to direct and contribute to the development of its new interdisciplinary minor in African and African American studies beginning in August of 2020. This is a nine-month position. Employment in this position is contingent upon final budgetary approval. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until a successful candidate has been identified.

The director will build the intellectual identity of the program, and will assure an exciting and collegial environment for faculty, students, and staff by fostering interdisciplinary campus, regional, and national collaboration and help shape the curriculum, mission, and community outreach of the program. Proposed by students at WCU as a necessary part of creating a diverse campus community and supported by faculty, this minor is part of an effort to encourage students to develop their analytic, research, and literary skills. The director will have a disciplinary home in one of the following departments: Anthropology and Sociology, English, History, Philosophy and Religion, or Political Science and Public Affairs.

The director's duties will include:

Teaching course(s) for student in the minor and in their discipline that support the minor and other majors on campus and conducting research.

Designing curriculum appropriate for an African and African American studies minor and facilitating the development of relevant courses across campus.

Establishing a program board of supportive faculty, students, and community members to guide the minor.

Developing signature programming associated with the minor that showcases faculty scholarship, student work, and community engagement.

Recruiting and advising students in the minor.

Managing a budget for the program.

Developing and implementing an assessment plan for the minor

Other duties could include:

Developing a growth plan.

Coordinating with cultural programs in partnership with university units and departments.

Bringing in outside scholars or speakers.

The successful applicant will join the appropriate disciplinary department in the College of Arts and Sciences and will develop, in conjunction with the Dean of Arts and Sciences and their home department head, a service load reflective of the interdisciplinary mission of the program. The director will work with a board of interested faculty, students, and community members who will aid in supporting, developing, and promoting programming.

Located in Cullowhee, NC, the campus is about one hour west of Asheville and less than twenty miles from the Eastern Band of the Cherokee Indians. WCU is in the Southern Appalachian Mountains and adjacent to several thriving communities, including nearby Sylva. The area has a mild climate, tremendous recreational opportunities, and natural beauty.

Western Carolina University is committed to a diverse and inclusive workforce by ensuring all our students, faculty, and staff work in an environment of openness and acceptance. We strive to foster a community where people of all backgrounds, identities, and perspectives can feel secure and welcome. We also value the well-being of each of our employees and are dedicated to creating a healthy place to work, learn and live. We believe in transparency and encourage you to visit our "Diversity at WCU" website. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, we strongly encourage veterans, individuals with disabilities, women, and all minorities to consider our employment opportunities.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/15/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7646

York University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Gender, Post-Colonialism, and the Islamic World

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Middle East, Women & Politics

The Department of Politics, Faculty of Liberal Arts & Professional Studies, York University invites applications for a tenure-track Professorial Stream position at the Assistant Professor level in Gender, Post-Colonialism, and the Islamic World to commence July 1st, 2020. Candidates must demonstrate excellence or promise of excellence in teaching, service and in scholarly research, and have produced original scholarly research appropriate to their stage of career. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval.

A PhD by the start of the appointment in Political Science or an appropriate related field is required. The Department of Politics is internationally recognized as one of the leading sites for the study of gender and politics informed by a diverse range of critical intellectual approaches. We seek candidates with exceptional promise of scholarly achievement exploring the complex gendered processes of colonialism/postcolonialism and the Islamic world; teaching success and pedagogical innovation at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; strong prospects for external research funding; and demonstrated commitment to multidisciplinary scholarship. The successful candidate's research should complement the present scholarly profile of the Department of Politics in the study of gender, post-colonialism, anti-imperialism, and the Islamic World, conceived to encompass not only "Islamic countries" but in a diasporic sense, and to develop the conception in new and innovative ways. This research may be located within one, or span across two or more, of the Department's five fields: Gender and Politics, Comparative Politics, Canadian Politics, International Politics, and Political Theory.

The successful candidate must be suitable for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. The position will involve graduate teaching and supervision, as well as undergraduate teaching. Pedagogical innovation in high priority areas such as experiential education and technology enhanced learning is preferred.

York University has a policy on Accommodation in Employment for Persons with Disabilities and is committed to working towards a barrier-free workplace and to expanding the accessibility of the workplace to persons with disabilities. Candidates who require accommodation during the selection process are invited to contact David Mutimer, Chair of the Search Committee at polschr@yorku.ca.

York University is an Affirmative Action (AA) employer and strongly values diversity, including gender and sexual diversity, within its community. The AA Program, which applies to women, members of visible minorities (racialized groups), Aboriginal (Indigenous) people and persons with disabilities, can be found at <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/> or by calling the AA line at 416-736-5713. Applicants wishing to self-identify as part of York University's Affirmative Action Program can do so by downloading, completing and submitting the form found at: <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/self-identification-form/>. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens, Permanent Residents and Indigenous peoples in Canada will be given priority. No application will be considered without a completed mandatory Work Status Declaration form which can be found at <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/work-authorization-form>.

The deadline for receipt of completed applications is January 25, 2020. Applicants should submit a signed letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a teaching dossier, a sample of their scholarly writing (no longer than 20 pages), a completed Work Status Declaration form (mandatory), a completed Self-Identification form (optional) and arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to Prof. David Mutimer, Chair, Department of Politics, by email to polsjobs@yorku.ca (subject line: "Gender, Post-Colonialism, and the Islamic World").

Posting End Date: January 25, 2020

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 1/25/2020

Date Posted: 1/14/2020

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7643

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Two-Year Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship in Latin America, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies (LALCS)

Center for Interdisciplinary Studies
 Two-Year Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship in Latin American, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies (LALCS)

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Latin American, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies (LALCS) program and the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies (CIS) at the College of the Holy Cross invite applications for a two-year postdoctoral teaching fellowship in Migration Studies to begin August 2020. The search committee seeks fellows whose interdisciplinary research addresses Latin American migrations from one or more of the following perspectives: migration and (im)mobilities, urban and gang-related violence, systemic economic and political factors affecting migratory flows, legal systems, gender and sexuality, labor geographies, or Christian social ethics. Candidates whose research and teaching profiles can also contribute to Latinx or Caribbean topics, as well as other interdisciplinary programs in CIS and in the College will be given particular consideration.

This position carries a 2-1 teaching load. Postdoctoral fellows are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits. To learn more about faculty life at the College & the Worcester area, candidates are encouraged to visit <http://holycross.edu/join>.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. required. For those currently in a doctoral program, Ph.D. must be completed by August 2020. Ph.D. in Ethnic Studies, Theology/Religious Studies (with an emphasis on social ethics), or other related fields from the humanities or social sciences are welcome. Strong preference will be given to those who have received their Ph.D. since 2017.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, a curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching, 2-3 sample syllabi of courses the candidate would like to teach, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation. As a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college, the College values dialog among diverse perspectives as integral to the mission and essential to the excellence of our academic program (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>). In your application, please highlight how your teaching, scholarship, and mentorship might support the College's mission and its commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/72830>.

Review of applications will begin on January 31st, 2020 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will take place in mid-February. We will conduct these preliminary interviews by Skype. Questions about this search may be directed to Juan G. Ramos <ramos@holycross.edu>.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 3,000 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7635

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Two-Year Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship in Environmental Studies

Two-Year Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship in Environmental Studies

The Environmental Studies Program at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time, two-year postdoctoral fellowship (2020-2022) to begin August 2020. A recent Ph.D. with a strong emphasis in environmental studies within the humanities, arts, or social sciences is required. A Ph.D. from an interdisciplinary program in Environmental Studies is preferred. We are particularly interested in scholars whose work addresses one or more of the following issues: environmental racism, social and economic justice, globalism, development, sustainability, urban nature, human geography, environmentally displaced communities.

The fellow will teach three courses (2-1 or 1-2) per academic year, including Environmental Perspectives, an introduction to Environmental Studies. The fellow is eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits. The Environmental Studies Program at Holy Cross has a strong core of dedicated faculty; our commitment to liberal arts education enables meaningful collaborations among faculty and across courses. To learn more about our program visit: <https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/environmental-studies>.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must complete the Ph.D. by August 2020. They must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching as informed by current practice and scholarship in the field.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching philosophy and interests, one sample syllabus of a course you have taught or would like to teach in this position, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address the ways you might contribute to and further the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://www.holycross.edu/mission>), and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. Previous experience teaching, mentoring, or advising diverse student populations is an asset. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>. To learn more about faculty life at the College, applicants are encouraged to visit <http://holycross.edu/join>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/72278>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. For full consideration, please apply by January 18, 2020. Questions about this search may be directed to Prof. Sarah Luria, Director, Environmental Studies Program, sluria@holycross.edu.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 3,000 students and is located in the city of Worcester, 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/13/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7634

New York University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The SMaPP Lab studies the influence of social media on politics, and develops new and innovative ways to measure such influence. Postdocs will work on projects that could include: analyzing the behavior of bots in elections, working with survey data merged with respondents' social media behavior, analyzing Facebook data made available through the Social Science One program, identifying which users are most influential in online networks, examining the impact of YouTube and other sites on news consumption of individuals, the spread of disinformation through social media platforms, and studying how and what individuals learn from social media during the 2020 U.S. election campaign.

The SMaPP Lab consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Lab has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors.

The Postdocs will work with the faculty directors and others to conduct cutting edge research: analyzing data using tools of modern machine learning, designing data collection schemes, developing and testing new algorithms, and producing code and writing up results. Postdocs are expected to participate in co-authoring multiple lab papers. We are looking for candidates with a PhD in Political Science, a related social science field, Data Science, or Computer Science.

The directors of the SMaPP Lab are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/65615>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7615

Old Dominion University

Rank: Environmental Politics, Policy and Justice - Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at Old Dominion University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science to begin July 25, 2020. The Department seeks a scholar in Environmental Politics, Policy and Justice. Additional specialization in the American Presidency, Bureaucracy, Women and Politics, or African American Politics is desired.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related discipline and have a record of excellence in research and teaching. Evidence of the potential for extramural research support is preferred. The successful candidate will have a demonstrable commitment to mentoring students and professional leadership. The College especially encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups and those with a demonstrated track record of promoting and enhancing a diverse and inclusive environment.

The successful applicant will be well suited for and interested in participating in ODU's Institute for Coastal Adaptation and Resilience (ICAR) (<https://oduadaptationandresilience.org/>). ICAR is a national center that advances the resilience of coastal communities by integrating science, engineering, and human dimensions to develop innovative resilience programs. ICAR's foci include climate change and sea level rise, urban flooding, social science and policy, and health dimensions of adaptation and resilience.

Old Dominion University is a residential and research-extensive public institution with a student enrollment of 25,000 including approximately 5,000 graduate students, and a diverse and multicultural full-time equivalent faculty of over 850. The University's primary campus is in Norfolk, VA, one of the seven cities that make up the historic Hampton Roads region of Virginia, a major recreational area with a population of 1.7 million near the Atlantic Ocean and Chesapeake Bay. More information about the Political Science program can be found at <https://www.odu.edu/pols-geog/political>.

Applicants should submit a cover letter which outlines research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, three samples of scholarly writing and evidence of teaching excellence, unofficial graduate transcripts, and a list of three (3) references to Dr. Michael Clemons, Chair, Environmental Politics and Policy Search Committee at <https://jobs.odu.edu>. The review of applications will commence February 14, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/14/2020

Date Posted: 1/6/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7610

National University of Singapore

Rank: Two Tenure-Track Positions for Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for 2 full-time tenure-track positions in Comparative Politics or Governance and Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all areas of the two subfields, and we especially welcome applications from candidates with Asia-related research programmes. Candidates should submit a letter of application detailing research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae; publications or other writing samples; three letters of recommendation; and teaching evaluations and materials if available. We will begin to review applications on 31 January 2020 and continue until the search is complete. Application materials should be sent to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg.

The teaching load is three modules per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of South Asian and Southeast Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 1/2/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7602

Australian National University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: India, Economic Policy, Political Economy

Classification: Academic Level A

Salary package: $73,309 - $92,015 (aud) per annum plus up to 17% superannuation

Terms: Full time, Fixed term (3 years)

Position overview

The ANU College of Asia and the Pacific (CAP) leads intellectual engagement with the Asia-Pacific region through research, teaching and contributions to public debate, and seeks to set the international standard for scholarship concerning the region.

Crawford School of Public Policy is one of four Schools within CAP and one of the world's leading public policy schools. Crawford School is the university's focal point for contributing to public policy research, education and policy impact. Its graduate programs have trained many of the region's leaders, and its research has impacted on policy making. Public policy scholarship at Crawford School is characterised by high quality, policy-relevant research across a range of disciplines.

We are seeking a post-doctoral early career researcher to be appointed at Level A (Postdoctoral Fellow) within Crawford School's Policy and Governance program. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be primarily engaged in research on Indian politics or public policy, whether domestic or international in nature. We are particularly interested in candidates with interests in political economy, economic development, or technological change. The position will also involve sharing research findings and new perspectives with the wider public. Fellows with appropriate credentials may have opportunities to contribute to teaching at the Crawford School as well.

The Fellow will also be a member of the New Generation Network (NGN) at the Australia India Institute (Aii). The NGN is a partnership of Australian universities supporting an interdisciplinary collection of postdoctoral fellows undertaking research on contemporary India. NGN scholars participate in twice yearly NGN activities, receive Aii mentorship, and collaborate with other scholars across the network. They also receive professional development opportunities, interacting with figures from government, business, and third sector organisations. In addition, NGN scholars are able to avail of the facilities provided by Aii in Delhi.

For further information please contact Associate Professor Andrew Kennedy, E: andy.kennedy@anu.edu.au

Increasing the representation of women, academics from culturally or linguistically diverse backgrounds and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people is a strategic priority for the Crawford School. We strongly encourage applications from these groups.

ANU Values diversity and inclusion and is committed to providing equal employment opportunities to those of all backgrounds and identities. People with a disability are encouraged to apply. For more information about staff equity at ANU, read here: <https://services.anu.edu.au/business-units/human-resources-division/equity-and-diversity>

The Australian National University is a world-leading institution and provides a range of lifestyle, financial and non-financial rewards and programs to support staff in maintaining a healthy work/life balance

whilst encouraging success in reaching their full career potential. For more information, please see here: <https://www.anu.edu.au/jobs>

Application information

In order to apply for this role please make sure that you upload the following documents:

A statement addressing the selection criteria.

A current curriculum vitae (CV) which includes the names and contact details of at least three referees (preferably including a current or previous supervisor). If your CV does not include referees you can complete these online when prompted in the application form.

Other documents, if required.

Applications which do not address the selection criteria may not be considered for the position.

All applications must be submitted via: <https://jobs.anu.edu.au/en/job/533526/postdoctoral-fellow>

Start Date: Spring

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/20/2019

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 7597

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Lecturer or Assistant Teaching Professor Global and Intercultural Studies

Global and Intercultural Studies: Assistant Lecturer or Assistant Teaching Professor beginning August 2020. The Assistant Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor will teach undergraduate courses in International Studies, as well as other interdisciplinary courses in the department; advise students; and provide professional service to the department and institution.

Lecturers/Teaching Professors in the Department of Global and Intercultural Studies are expected to make service contributions in such areas as advising, curriculum development, assessment, work with student organizations, and programming. While the position is not tenurable, it is renewable, and there are opportunities for promotions that include longer-term contracts.

Required: Ph.D. for appointment as Assistant Teaching Professor by date of appointment or Master's degree for Assistant Lecturer. Degree should be in Anthropology, Geography, History, Political Science or a closely-related field, including interdisciplinary degrees appropriate for teaching Global and Intercultural Studies courses. This position is available to persons who are currently authorized to work in the United States on a full-time and indefinite basis. Persons authorized to work on such a basis include US citizens, lawful permanent residents ("green card" holders), asylees, refugees, and temporary residents under IRCA.

Consideration may be given to candidates with prior teaching experience at the college level, as well as those with interest in contributing to supervision of undergraduate student research and field-based experiences.

Submit cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to <https://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/en-us/job/496379/assistant-lecturer-or-assistant-teaching-professor>. Department will request letters of recommendation from references listed in the application. Inquiries can be directed to Walt Vanderbush at vanderw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin January 20, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7600

University of Nottingham

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor in Political Science

Reference SOC425219

Closing Date Friday, 24th January 2020

Job Type Research & Teaching

Department Politics and International Relations

Salary £36914 to £62727 per annum, depending on skills and experience. Salary progression beyond this scale is subject to performance. Associate Professor minimum salary £52560 per annum

Applications are invited for the post of Assistant/Associate Professor (Research and Teaching) in the field of Political Science and Quantitative Methods within the School of Politics and International Relations at the University of Nottingham.

The University of Nottingham has 43,000 students and over 8,000 staff and is described by The Times Good University Guide 2016 as 'the nearest Britain has to a truly global university, with campuses in China and Malaysia modelled on a headquarters that is among the most attractive in Britain'.

A founding member of the Russell Group and placed in the top 100 universities worldwide, The University of Nottingham has consistently gained recognition for world-class research across a wide range of academic disciplines, and has a proud history of influencing social development on a global scale. Our commitment to research and discovery is further demonstrated by our two Nobel Prize winners. The School of Politics and International Relations provides a dynamic and research active setting. It is one of the largest and most diverse schools in the UK in respect to its coverage of the discipline.

The successful candidate would be expected to develop high quality modules for undergraduates and postgraduates; conduct assessments of student work at all levels; undertake research and publish in internationally recognised journals; to develop Impact work for the Research Excellence Framework; to seek grant income and to contribute to administrative tasks in the School. Appointments at the level of Associate Professor are expected to have an established research portfolio, evidence of grant income and a record of teaching excellence.

Candidates must have a completed or be nearing completion of a PhD (or equivalent) in the field of Politics/Political Science.

The School of Politics and International Relations values equality, diversity and inclusion. As a holder of an Athena Swan Award, we are committed to offering equal treatment and opportunities to our workforce and student body. As such, we welcome applications from all, regardless of personal characteristics or background.

This full time post is available from 1 September 2020 and will be offered on a permanent contract.

To apply: <https://www.nottingham.ac.uk/jobs/currentvacancies/ref/SOC425219>

Informal enquiries may be addressed to Caitlin Milazzo, Head of School, email: caitlin.milazzo@nottingham.ac.uk. However, applications sent to this email address will not be accepted.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 1/24/2020

Date Posted: 12/6/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7548

Colorado Mesa University

Rank: Visiting Professor of History or Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Distinguished scholars in History or Political Science are invited to apply for the Wayne N. Aspinall Chair at Colorado Mesa University. For a $10,000 stipend, the visiting professor will spend three weeks on the Colorado Mesa University campus from late March to mid-April 2021; teach a one-credit course, give a major public lecture, and make any other invited appearances. Applications must include a vitae, a brief outline of a course proposal and a topic for the major public lecture. Submit application by February 1, 2020 to Dr. Justin Gollob, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Colorado Mesa University, 1100 North Ave., Grand Junction, CO 81501. Feel free to direct any inquiries to jjollob@coloradomesa.edu or 970 248-1279.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 7365

New York University

Rank: Lab Manager - Center for Social Media and Politics

We are looking for a full-time lab manager. In this role, you will be embedded in our research teams in order to directly support the lab's cutting-edge output. Currently, we have a portfolio of over 25 projects on a wide range of questions related to social media and politics, each of which has different substantive and methodological motivations. As the lab manager, you will have two main responsibilities. First, you will monitor and coordinate all of the lab's research projects; second, you will provide direct support to a selected portfolio of projects. Given the nature of this position, a graduate-level background in quantitative social science and/or data science research is strongly encouraged, as is experience leading teams in a fast-paced environment.

Each project will require something different from the lab manager, ranging from coordinating with our survey vendors to training undergraduate RAs. We value initiative and adaptability, as well as a passion for the research process. While far from an exhaustive list, your responsibilities will include:

- Instituting systems of regular reporting on work performed, setting goals, tracking progress towards deliverables

- Holding meetings with research teams on each project, and reporting to Faculty Directors and Executive Director on progress

- Ensuring data tasks are regularly updated and best lab practices (e.g. coding and documentation) are followed

- Managing paper writing/revisions, writing IRB paperwork, and coordinating conference/journal submissions

- Training and supervising graduate/undergraduate RAs

The Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Center has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors. You will be given the opportunity to participate in the center's research environment, including attending conferences and seminars and working closely with a broad group of researchers associated with the lab.

The directors of CSMaP are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754> <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7326

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: SNF Agora Open Rank Faculty - Social Cognition/Political Psychology

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at the rank of Associate or Full Professor (soon-to-be-tenured Assistant Professors with exceptional records of scholarship can also be considered) in any discipline who focus on social cognition or political psychology. We seek scholars from a range of disciplines examining the cognitive and psychological foundations of social and collective behavior, especially as it relates to questions about civic engagement and inclusive discourse across the globe or in the U.S.

This search is part of a broader initiative at Johns Hopkins University to expand expertise in social cognition within the Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences and in other departments. Faculty hired to the SNF Agora Institute, however, can sit in any department in the university.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university's Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute.

Qualifications

Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2020.

Please apply at apply.interfolio.com/69846

Any nominations should be emailed to the SNF Agora Institute, at snfagora@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7314

California State University, Sacramento

Rank: Political Science Faculty/Internship Coordinator

The Department of Political Science at California State University, Sacramento seeks candidates to fill a tenure-track position of Political Science Faculty/Internship Coordinator at the rank of assistant professor to begin in fall 2020. Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field are encouraged to apply. ABD candidates will be considered; if ABD, candidates will be required to complete the doctoral degree by January 2021. Applicants are expected to have the ability to coordinate and develop the department's internship programs and to direct the Sacramento Semester Program in addition to teaching undergraduate and graduate courses. Candidates must have a demonstrated commitment to working with a diverse student body and a diverse community. Candidates are also required to have a strong commitment to college teaching, experiential learning, and an ability to teach a range of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science, including an introduction to American government. Candidates are required to demonstrate potential for scholarly achievement; the department is open to methodological approaches. Additional preferred qualifications and application procedures are listed in the full vacancy announcement. The department reminds applicants that it is only necessary to meet the required qualifications in order to apply.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2019 and the position will remain open until filled. An applicant can find the full vacancy announcement at, and must apply through, the Sacramento State jobs website at <https://csus.peopleadmin.com/postings/4493>. The job posting number is 4493. Inquiries can be made to pols2019@csus.edu.

AA/EO Employer, Clery Act, mandated reporter, background check required.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7309

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting a tenure-track assistant professor in the area(s) of Cyber Security and Privacy. This position will have an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020.

This interdisciplinary position will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units for their appointment. All relevant areas will be considered, such as (but not limited to) Mathematics, Statistics, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, Psychology, Computer Science, Legal Studies, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Philosophy, Criminal Justice, and Political Science.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution at the time of appointment in an area appropriate to the cluster. The selected candidate must also have a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record.

Preferred qualifications: A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is strongly preferred.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas.

In particular, candidates that have a track record in security and privacy issues affecting software and systems in various platforms (cloud, IoT, cyber-physical) are strongly encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will also have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security and privacy. (See <https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved to date.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided.

UCF has a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry, including large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, Oracle, Apple, AMD, Boeing, SpaceX, Blue Origin, etc. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school. Orlando has one of the fastest growing and dynamic economies in the nation. In 2018, among major metropolitan areas, Orlando enjoyed the fifth largest increase in population. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your approach and experience meeting the needs of a diverse community, both in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague. In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

- 1) the above-mentioned diversity statement,
- 2) a cover letter*,
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) teaching statement,
- 5) research statement, and
- 6) contact information for three professional references (include email addresses).

*In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, any experience working on interdisciplinary teams, how they will enhance the existing cluster team, and identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home and any joint appointments they would desire.

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Yan Solihin at yan.solihin@ucf.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7299

Cornell University

Rank: HIST/GOVT Endowed Chair

Specializations: History & Politics, China, Southeast Asia

Cornell University's College of Arts and Sciences and the History Department, in collaboration with the Department of Government, welcomes applications for an endowed chair. Appointment could be at the full professor or associate professor level. The successful candidate may teach courses and potentially serve in a leadership capacity with Cornell's CAPS program (<https://caps.cornell.edu/>). The position will begin July 1, 2020.

We seek a senior scholar (Associate or Full Professor) whose scholarship focuses on China and the Asia Pacific region in the world. Candidates should exhibit superb research achievements, excellence in teaching, and leadership ability. Preference is for a scholar who brings a historical perspective to their research and has Mandarin language skills. Please apply through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/12996>.

We will begin to review applications starting October 1, 2019. Questions about the position and the search can be sent to the chair of the committee, Professor Derek Chang, at dsc37@cornell.edu. We embrace diversity and seek candidates who will create a climate that attracts students and faculty of all races, nationalities and genders. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply. Cornell University is a recognized EEO/AA employer and educator, valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5956

Sabancı UniversityRank: FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEYFACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION
SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabanci University (<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding scholars specialized in conflict resolution/transformation. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research concerns one or more of the following areas: peace psychology; scientific study of peace and conflict; dynamics of cooperation; approaches to peacemaking (negotiation, mediation, facilitation); theories of applied conflict resolution; processes and mechanisms for solving and transforming conflicts.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/5/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5914Sabancı University*Rank: FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEYFACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION
SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabanci University (<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding scholars specialized in conflict resolution/transformation practices. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research and teaching focus on conflict resolution skills, such as listening, reframing, negotiation and mediation.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/5/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5915University of California, San Diego*Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow*Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase “cPASS Postdoc Fellow” in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

POLITICAL THEORY

Central European University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory

Assistant Professor in Political Theory

Department of Political Science

Starting date: August 01, 2020

Application deadline: March 02, 2020

Full- Or Part-Time: Full-Time (40 hours/week)

The Department of Political Science of the Central European University in Vienna, announces a call for an Assistant Professor in Political Theory. The applicants should be able to carry out state of the art research and teach undergraduate and graduate courses (at the MA and PhD level) on the main problems of contemporary normative political theory, such as the theory of justice, political authority and obligations, democratic theory, as well as the history of political philosophy. Area of specialization is open, but a research focus on gender justice is an advantage.

We encourage applications from candidates who are willing to make a long-term commitment to living and working in Vienna.

Duties and responsibilities:

Teach 12 credits per Academic Year at the BA, MA and PhD level

Supervise BA, MA and PhD theses

Carry out independent research and regularly publish in international scholarly journals

Contribute to departmental and university service

Qualifications:

Applicants should have a PhD degree in political theory/political philosophy;

A record of peer-reviewed international publications in political theory is an advantage;

A record of successful teaching and supervision in political theory/political philosophy is a plus;

Compensation

We offer a competitive salary that is commensurate with experience as well as a dynamic and international academic environment. The initial appointment is for six years, renewable as indefinite, after review.

How to apply:

Please send your application cover letter

curriculum vitae

publication sample

a sample course syllabus in political philosophy

contact information for three referees

Please send your complete application package to advert006@ceu.edu - including job code in subject line: 2020/006.

The privacy of your personal information is very important to us. We collect, use and store your personal information in accordance with the requirements of the General Data Protection Regulation. To learn more about how we manage your personal data during the recruitment process, please see our Privacy Notice at <https://www.ceu.edu/recruitment-privacy-notice>.

CEU is an equal opportunity employer.

About Central European University

Central European University (CEU) is a graduate research-intensive university specializing primarily in the social sciences and the humanities, as well as law, business and public policy. It is located in Budapest and Vienna, and accredited in the United States, Austria, and Hungary. CEU's mission is to promote academic excellence, state-of-the-art research, and civic engagement. CEU offers Bachelor, Masters, and doctoral programs, and enrolls about 1400 students from 100 countries. The teaching staff consists of more than 180 resident faculty members from over 40 countries, and a large number of prominent visiting scholars from around the world. The language of instruction is English.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 3/2/2020

Date Posted: 1/20/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7654

WZB Berlin Social Science Center

Rank: Pre-doctoral research fellows (Ph.D. Position)

Specializations: Africa, Middle East, Political Theory

The Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung gGmbH (WZB Berlin Social Science Centre) seeks to hire up to two Pre-doctoral research fellows (Ph.D. Position).

The positions are at 65% of full-time (currently 25.35 weekly hours) and with a contract duration of three years. The starting date is flexible, but not later than September 2020.

The positions will be within the interdisciplinary research area Migration and Diversity, headed by Prof. Ruud Koopmans. The research area Migration and Diversity“ includes the research department “Migration, Integration, Transnationalization” (headed by Prof. Ruud Koopmans) and the research group “International Citizenship Law” (headed by Prof. Liav Orgad).

The research area focuses on issues related to migration, integration, and majority-minority relations, including political unfreedom and religious conflicts in source countries as drivers of migration. The research takes an interdisciplinary perspective, encompassing sociology, political science, social-psychology, economics, law, and political philosophy. Ongoing research foci include patterns and drivers of migration from West Africa; religious fundamentalism and extremism; and majority and minority rights. Methodologically, the research is mostly grounded in quantitative and experimental evidence, complemented with legal, institutional, and normative analyses.

Information about the WZB can be found at <https://www.wzb.eu/en> and about the MAD research area at <https://www.wzb.eu/en/research/migration-and-diversity>.

The researchers will conduct research leading to a dissertation under the supervision of Professor Ruud Koopmans (as well as of Professor Liav Orgad in the case of candidates applying to topic 3) on one of the following research topics:

- 1) Jihadist movements and inter-religious communal violence in West Africa
- 2) Democratization and political Islam in the Middle East and North Africa
- 3) Cross-nationally comparative analysis of majority rights – both of national titular majorities and of national minorities or indigenous groups as majorities in their historical regions of settlement – and their normative bases.

In addition to their primary research tasks, the WZB offers its researchers the possibility to participate in various international exchange programs that the Center is involved in. The research of WZB fellows is supported by research assistants, travel funding, access to small and medium-scale research funds for data collection, as well as opportunities to invite external collaborators and speakers.

Requirements

- Excellent MA degree
- Disciplinary background depending on the topic (topics 1 and 2: political science, sociology or economics; topic 3: political science, political philosophy or a relevant field of law)
- Excellent English writing and communication skills
- Knowledge of local languages of countries/regions of study is advantageous
- Knowledge of German is welcome but not required
- Excellent methodological skills appropriate to the research topic.

Remuneration: EG 13 TVöD (in accordance with German civil service collective agreement)

Equally well qualified disabled candidates will be given preference. The WZB expressly invites women and persons with migration background to apply.

Candidates are invited to send applications electronically in pdf-format (not more than 2 pdf-files) consisting of

- a motivation letter
 - CV
 - copies of relevant certificates
 - a synopsis (2-3 pages) of the research within one of the three suggested topical areas they would like to conduct if they were to get the position.
 - Applications regarding topics 1 and 2 should include – but need not be limited to – the use of quantitative and/or experimental methods into the research synopsis.
- Applications regarding topic 3 should combine normative and empirical approaches, the latter including both qualitative case studies and systematic cross-national analyses of majority rights.

Please, send applications by 16 February, 2020 to Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung gGmbH (WZB) / WZB Berlin Social Science Centre

Prof. Ruud Koopmans
Bewerbungen-mit@wzb.eu

quoting “pre-doctoral researcher MIT” in the subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/16/2020

Date Posted: 1/15/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7644

WZB Berlin Social Science Centre

Rank: Postdoctoral research fellows

Specializations: Africa, Immigration Policy, Political Development

The Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung gGmbH (WZB Berlin Social Science Centre) seeks to hire up to two Postdoctoral research fellows.

The positions are full-time (currently 39 weekly hours) and with an initial contract duration of three years with the intention of renewal for three more years. Depending on the qualifications and experience of the candidate, an initial contract duration of more than three years may be possible.

The starting date is flexible, but not later than September 2020.

The positions will be within the interdisciplinary research department Migration, Integration, Transnationalization, headed by Prof. Ruud Koopmans.

The department focuses on issues related to migration, integration, and majority-minority relations, including political unfreedom and religious conflicts in source countries as drivers of migration. The research takes an interdisciplinary perspective, encompassing sociology, political science, social-psychology, economics, law, and political philosophy. Ongoing research foci include patterns and drivers of migration from West Africa; religious fundamentalism and extremism; and majority and minority rights. Methodologically, the research is mostly grounded in quantitative and experimental evidence, complemented with legal, institutional, and normative analyses.

Information about the WZB can be found at <https://www.wzb.eu/en> and about the MIT research unit at <https://www.wzb.eu/en/research/migration-and-diversity/migration-integration-transnationalization>

Job description

The researchers will conduct independent research, contribute to the research program of the department, and produce high-level international publications in relation to one or more of the following research topics:

- 1) Jihadist movements and inter-religious communal violence in West Africa
- 2) Democratization and political Islam in the Middle East and North Africa
- 3) Modernization movements and reform theology within Islam in response to the challenge of fundamentalism, with a focus on Islam in Europe and/or the countries of the Islamic world.

In addition to their primary research tasks, the WZB encourages the researchers to teach courses at universities in Berlin, and to participate in various international exchange programs that the Centre is involved in. The research of WZB fellows is supported by research assistants, travel funding, access to small and medium-scale research funds for data collection, as well as opportunities to invite external collaborators and speakers.

Requirements

- Excellent Ph.D. degree (obtained already or soon to be completed), with
- Disciplinary background depending on the topic (topics 1 and 2: political science, sociology or economics; topic 3: sociology, theology, Middle Eastern or Islamic studies)
- Articles in recognized peer-reviewed journals or equivalent monograph, either published or, in case of a very recent Ph.D., in an advanced stage of preparation
- Excellent methodological skills appropriate to the research topic
- Experience with primary data collection.
- Excellent English writing and communication skills
- Knowledge of local languages of countries/regions of study is advantageous
- Knowledge of German is welcome but not required.

Remuneration: EG 14 TVöD (in accordance with German civil service collective agreement)

Equally well qualified disabled candidates will be given preference. The WZB expressly invites women and persons with migration background to apply.

Candidates are invited to send applications electronically in pdf-format (not more than 2 pdf-files) consisting of

- a motivation letter
- CV
- copies of relevant certificates
- a synopsis (2-3 pages) of the research within one of the three suggested topical areas they would like to conduct if they were to get the position.
- Applications regarding topics 1 and 2 should include – but need not be limited to – the use of quantitative and/or experimental methods into the research synopsis. Applications regarding topic 3 will likely rely more heavily on qualitative methods but may also include quantitative aspects (e.g., in content analyses).

Please, send applications by 16 February, 2020 to Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung gGmbH (WZB) / WZB Berlin Social Science Centre

Prof. Ruud Koopmans
Bewerbungen-mit@wzb.eu
quoting “postdoc researcher MIT” in the subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/16/2020

Date Posted: 1/14/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7639

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Bates College invites applications for a tenure-track position focusing on Contemporary Political Theory starting in the fall of 2020. The department is particularly interested in candidates whose research focuses on topics such as power, justice, and inequality, through the lens of race and ethnicity. Candidates who demonstrate success with marginalized and underrepresented students and lived experiences are encouraged to apply. Applicants should show a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching, to scholarly research, and to the implementation of inclusive pedagogies. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in political science completed or nearly complete. We are open to and encourage a variety of methodological approaches and paths to scholarly excellence. Faculty members teach five courses per year (usually two courses per semester and one course during a three-week spring “short term”) as well as advise individual senior theses. This position would require introductory and intermediate courses in political theory as well as advanced seminars in that field. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to this goal and identify their strengths and experiences in this area are encouraged to apply. Consideration of applications will begin February 15, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

QUALIFICATIONS

ABD will be considered, Ph.D., preferred.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Review of applications begins February 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit the following: (1) a letter of application, (2) curriculum vita, (3) pedagogy statement, (4) research statement, (5) statement on how attention to inclusion and equity informs your teaching and research, (6) writing sample, (7) graduate transcripts, and (8) three letters of recommendation.

Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check.

APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/72864>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7617

Capital University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Capital University invites applications for an Assistant Professor tenure-track position in Political Science with a focus on Political Theory. Qualified candidates should have expertise in political theory and demonstrate an ability to teach introductory and advanced courses, with an expectation that the candidate will propose and develop new courses. Additionally, candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to liberal education and undergraduate scholarship, must be able to teach in general education, and to show a commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration. Doctorate must be completed at the time the contract is signed.

Capital University is committed to increasing the diversity of the Capital community and curriculum. This commitment includes Capital's dedication to the development of faculty and staff who are committed to inclusive practices in teaching, learning, working and all other campus and community interactions. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are particularly encouraged to apply.

Capital University offers a rich benefits package that includes medical, dental, vision, retirement, family education benefits, short-term and long-term disability, life insurance and free parking.

Application Process

Interested candidates should submit the following:

1. Curriculum vitae
2. Unofficial copies of all academic transcripts
3. Examples of teaching effectiveness
4. Three letters of recommendation
5. Names and contact information for three references
6. Letter of interest specifying the applicant's interest in the assistant professor or instructor position, and describing the applicant's educational philosophy and commitment to liberal education.

APPLY HERE: <https://capital.applicantpro.com/jobs/1254892-435377.html>

The review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The position will begin August 2020.

Inquiries regarding the position should be e-mailed to:
Tracey Arnold Murray, Ph.D.
Chair, Search Committee
politicalscience-search@capital.edu

For more information on Capital University, visit our website at www.capital.edu/employment.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7619

Dartmouth College

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowship in Political Economy

The Political Economy Project at Dartmouth invites applications for post-doctoral fellowship for recent Ph.D.'s to begin July 1, 2020. The Fellowship extends up to two years.

The Political Economy Project (PEP) is an interdisciplinary initiative combining empirical and normative perspectives---past and present---at the intersection of economics, politics, and ethics. The majority of the fellow's time will be devoted to independent research. The fellow will teach two courses per year, at least one of which will directly engage historical and normative questions related to political economy. The fields of specialty that PEP Fellows might focus on include (but are not limited to) American Political Thought, Critical Race Studies, Economics, Economic History, Philosophy, and Political Theory. The courses will be taught in separate quarters, and will range from introductory to advanced levels. The selected candidate will hold an appointment as a Lecturer in the host Department and as a Postdoctoral Fellow in PEP, and will be in-residence for the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. The fellow is expected to attend and actively assist in planning PEP events, and otherwise participate in the intellectual life of PEP and the College. The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative and Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences. Salary is competitive and includes benefits; the appointment is not tenure-track.

Qualifications.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. prior to September 15, 2020.

Candidates should submit via Interfolio a cover letter, current CV, writing sample (no more than 25 pages), statement of research (no more than 3 pages), graduate transcript, three confidential letters of reference, and teaching evaluations. A successful candidate will show evidence of outstanding scholarship and effective teaching. To APPLY, please visit: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66410>

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The application deadline is January 31.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/2/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7604

Australian National University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: India, Economic Policy, Political Economy

Classification: Academic Level A

Salary package: $73,309 - $92,015 (aud) per annum plus up to 17% superannuation

Terms: Full time, Fixed term (3 years)

Position overview

The ANU College of Asia and the Pacific (CAP) leads intellectual engagement with the Asia-Pacific region through research, teaching and contributions to public debate, and seeks to set the international standard for scholarship concerning the region.

Crawford School of Public Policy is one of four Schools within CAP and one of the world's leading public policy schools. Crawford School is the university's focal point for contributing to public policy research, education and policy impact. Its graduate programs have trained many of the region's leaders, and its research has impacted on policy making. Public policy scholarship at Crawford School is characterised by high quality, policy-relevant research across a range of disciplines.

We are seeking a post-doctoral early career researcher to be appointed at Level A (Postdoctoral Fellow) within Crawford School's Policy and Governance program. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be primarily engaged in research on Indian politics or public policy, whether domestic or international in nature. We are particularly interested in candidates with interests in political economy, economic development, or technological change. The position will also involve sharing research findings and new perspectives with the wider public. Fellows with appropriate credentials may have opportunities to contribute to teaching at the Crawford School as well.

The Fellow will also be a member of the New Generation Network (NGN) at the Australia India Institute (Aii). The NGN is a partnership of Australian universities supporting an interdisciplinary collection of postdoctoral fellows undertaking research on contemporary India. NGN scholars participate in twice yearly NGN activities, receive Aii mentorship, and collaborate with other scholars across the network. They also receive professional development opportunities, interacting with figures from government, business, and third sector organisations. In addition, NGN scholars are able to avail of the facilities provided by Aii in Delhi.

For further information please contact Associate Professor Andrew Kennedy, E: andy.kennedy@anu.edu.au

Increasing the representation of women, academics from culturally or linguistically diverse backgrounds and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people is a strategic priority for the Crawford School. We strongly encourage applications from these groups.

ANU Values diversity and inclusion and is committed to providing equal employment opportunities to those of all backgrounds and identities. People with a disability are encouraged to apply. For more information about staff equity at ANU, read here: <https://services.anu.edu.au/business-units/human-resources-division/equity-and-diversity>

The Australian National University is a world-leading institution and provides a range of lifestyle, financial and non-financial rewards and programs to support staff in maintaining a healthy work/life balance whilst encouraging success in reaching their full career potential. For more information, please see here: <https://www.anu.edu.au/jobs>

Application information

In order to apply for this role please make sure that you upload the following documents:

A statement addressing the selection criteria.

A current curriculum vitae (CV) which includes the names and contact details of at least three referees (preferably including a current or previous supervisor). If your CV does not include referees you can complete these online when prompted in the application form.

Other documents, if required.

Applications which do not address the selection criteria may not be considered for the position.

All applications must be submitted via: <https://jobs.anu.edu.au/en/job/533526/postdoctoral-fellow>

Start Date: Spring

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/20/2019

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 7597

Amherst College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position at the rank of visiting assistant professor in political theory.

Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed its student body in terms of socioeconomic status, ethnicity, race, and nationality. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 10 percent of our students are international students. Our expectation is that the successful candidate will excel at teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates may focus on the history of political thought or on ancient or modern political theory. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020.

We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialty and be able to direct undergraduate research projects. We expect candidates to offer the year-long sequence of courses covering ancient to modern political theory. The successful candidate must have the Ph.D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates are asked to submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/72638>, a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter). Review of applications will begin on February 17, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7588

Oberlin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Oberlin College Politics Department invites applications for a full time non-continuing position in Political Theory. Appointment to this position will be for one year beginning fall semester 2020 and will carry the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor depending on the qualifications of the candidate.

The Politics Department has thirteen full-time faculty positions and approximately 120 junior and senior majors. Information about the Department can be found at our web site: <http://www.oberlin.edu/politics/>

The incumbent will teach five courses in the general area of political theory. We seek someone who would be able to teach courses covering the history of political thought.

Among the qualifications required for this appointment is the Ph.D. degree in hand or in progress (ABD). Candidates must demonstrate interest and potential excellence in undergraduate teaching. Successful teaching experience at the college level is desirable.

Within the range established for this position, salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and includes an excellent benefits package.

A complete application will be comprised of 1) a Cover Letter that includes an articulation of the applicant's teaching philosophy; 2) a Curriculum Vitae; 3) Unofficial transcript; 4) Writing Sample; 5) Evidence of Teaching; and, 6) Letters of Reference from three (3) recommenders.

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Oberlin College and Conservatory's online application process at: <https://jobs.oberlin.edu>.

Accepting applications through 2/21/2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7587

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Stanford University)

Call for applications: Stanford University Civics Initiative Postdoctoral Fellowship

Review of applications begins February 15, 2020.

The Stanford University Political Science Department seeks to appoint at least one postdoctoral fellow for the 2020-2021 academic year as part of the Stanford Civics Initiative. Fellows will teach, conduct their own research, and participate in the intellectual community of the department and the university. We invite applications from recent Ph.D. recipients whose research agendas and teaching experience focus on political philosophy, political economy, and/or the history of political thought.

Stanford Civics Initiative

This new fellowship is part of the Stanford Civics Initiative (SCI) in the Political Science Department of Stanford University. SCI furthers the Department's longstanding commitment to teaching and research on the moral and philosophical foundations of democratic citizenship. SCI's goals are to strengthen, expand, and diversify the community of scholars working on issues of democratic citizenship, the history of political thought and practice, political economy, and political philosophy and to teach a full range of rigorous undergraduate courses on these topics. The postdoctoral fellows will take on integral roles in achieving both goals.

Fellowship responsibilities

This is a combined research and teaching fellowship. Fellows will have one quarter per year free of teaching responsibilities and will teach two or three seminar-style classes over the rest of the year. Fellows are expected to be on campus for the full academic year and take part in the department's intellectual community, for example by participating in the weekly Political Theory workshop and presenting their own in-progress work.

Appointment requirements and application details

The fellowship is initially for one year (September 1, 2020 to August 31, 2021) but is renewable for up to a total of three years, dependent on performance and departmental need. Salary is competitive, and fellows receive full Stanford University benefits, including healthcare, as well as research funds. Applicants must have received their Ph.D. no earlier than September 2017 and no later than the fellowship start date of September 1, 2020. Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Please submit the following via Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15741>

- A cover letter explaining why you are applying for this fellowship.
- A statement of your research interests, experiences, and plans.
- A writing sample of no more than 25 double-spaced pages.
- Two academic letters of reference.
- List of classes that you have taught and/or are prepared to teach.
- C.V.

With any questions, please contact Brian Coyne, Lecturer in Political Science, at bkcoyne@stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 12/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7572

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a three-year, non-tenure track position as Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science to start Fall 2020. We seek candidates who are able to teach a broad range of in residence and online introductory and upper-level political theory and American politics classes. The position requires teaching six courses a year. Candidates should have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity. Lecturers/Assistant Teaching Professors participate extensively in the intellectual life of the department, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops, and present research. Salary is competitive and additional money is available for travel and research. Applications must include a cover letter explaining teaching and research experience; a current CV; syllabi from previously taught courses; teaching evaluations (with a key); and samples of scholarly writing. Candidates should also request three confidential letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: plscapplications@psu.edu. Candidates invited to visit campus will be expected to give a teaching demonstration. Review of applications will begin January 13 and continue until the position is filled. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/92360>. Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/92360>

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/12/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7564

University of Massachusetts, Lowell

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Lowell invites applicants for an Assistant Professor in Political Theory beginning in the fall of 2020. The successful candidate will have a demonstrable record of scholarship and teaching. All fields within political theory will be considered. Preference will be given to scholars whose research intersects with one of the two research strengths of the Department: Political Communication and Global Peace, Conflict, and Security. Other areas of interest include critical race theory, feminist theory, queer theory, intersectionality, or other approaches to identity. In terms of teaching, candidates should be prepared to teach introductory courses on ancient and modern political theory, democratic theory, and upper level courses in their specialty areas. Current workload guidelines assign a 2/2 teaching load to research productive scholars. Responsibilities include maintaining an active program of research, including pursuit of external funding if appropriate; teaching undergraduate and graduate level courses; engaging in departmental and university service.

The Political Science Department is housed within the University's College of Fine Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences (FAHSS). The College is the largest unit of the University, with 11 academic departments and over 200 full time faculty. FAHSS has experienced significant growth in recent years, including hiring more than 75 new faculty members, achieving 70% growth in funded research expenditures, and the addition of several new interdisciplinary graduate programs. The Department of Political Science features a growing and diverse body of faculty with research and teaching interests that cut across different geographical, methodological and thematic areas. The department has experienced significant enrollment growth in its undergraduate major (which includes specializations in American Politics, Political Communication, International Politics, and Law & Politics), and has played an integral role in the College's interdisciplinary graduate programs, including its PhD in Global Studies, Masters degree program in Peace and Conflict Studies, and the new MPA. Department faculty are engaged in leadership roles for a range of campus-wide research and experiential learning initiatives, including the Model UN Program, Emerging Scholar Program, the UMass Lowell Center for Public Opinion, Climate Change Initiative, and International Study Abroad Programs. For more information, please visit our homepage: <https://www.uml.edu/FAHSS/Political-Science/>

UML is committed to increasing the diversity in its faculty, staff, and student populations, as well as curriculum and support programs, while promoting an inclusive environment. We seek candidates who can contribute to this goal.

Minimum Qualifications (Required):

Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or have finished requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment (fall of 2020)
Evidence of strong teaching ability
Established record of publication and/or conference dissemination displaying a clear research agenda in areas of research

Instructions to Applicants:

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. However, the position may close once an adequate number of qualified applications are received.

Please include the following required documents with your application:

CV

Cover letter

A statement of research agenda

A statement describing teaching goals and style

Three letters of recommendation

To apply, please visit <https://explorejobs.uml.edu/lowell/en-us/job/503181/assistant-professor-political-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7290

Princeton UniversityRank: Garwood Visiting ProfessorSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political TheorySpecializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:Application Deadline: 12/1/2019Date Posted: 8/22/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6036Princeton University*Rank: James Madison Program Visiting FellowSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political TheorySpecializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

University of the District of Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: African American Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science
African American Studies/Politics, Politics of Race, U.S. Politics and/or Public Administration

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

The University of the District of Columbia's Division of Social & Behavioral Sciences invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track, 9-month faculty appointment in the Political Science Program with a target start date of August 16, 2020. Required specializations for this position include African American Studies and/or the politics of race, and U.S. government. Applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science will be given full consideration.

The successful candidate will be expected to have an active research agenda and a strong publication record, as well as to offer both lower- and upper-level undergraduate courses relating to race and ethnicity, U.S. politics, and public policy and administration. Other potential areas of focus include, but are not limited to, black political thought, African Diaspora Studies, and intersections between race, class, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

Preference will be given to candidates who are able to articulate a vision that involves developing community partnerships, fostering student activism, pursuing social justice, and engaging with students from diverse backgrounds. As a small but dynamic program characterized by a transdisciplinary and critical ethos, we also welcome details about how the candidate's work would complement the strengths of current faculty and help to shape the program's trajectory.

The Bachelor of Arts in Political Science is among the most popular undergraduate degree programs at UDC. A hallmark of the program is its research-based curriculum, which includes a three-course sequence that culminates in a senior capstone project. It also offers an interdisciplinary concentration in Global Studies. Faculty are expected to participate in program, division, college, and university service activities, as well as to advise students and supervise undergraduate internships and research projects.

UDC is a public, comprehensive university with an urban land-grant distinction. It is the city's only public institution of higher education and has historically been a minority-serving institution. It serves approximately 5,600 students across its certificate, two-year, baccalaureate, masters, and professional programs. Beyond the university, the Washington metropolitan community provides an exceptional learning laboratory for faculty, staff, and students.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

Letter of interest
Curriculum vitae
Statement of teaching philosophy
Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including selected course syllabi, if available)
Research statement/agenda
Writing sample
Contact information for three references
Three letters of recommendation (required at candidacy phase)
Official transcript of terminal degree (required at candidacy phase)
TO APPLY: Visit <https://udc.applicantstack.com/x/detail/a2hbyxhr9l98> to view the posting and create an online account for applying. Through the website, you will submit your CV and cover letter. After doing so, to complete your application, you must submit all additional materials – statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, research statement/agenda, writing sample, and contact information for three references – to DSBSApplications@gmail.com.

DEADLINE: The position will remain open until filled. Applicants that are submitted by February 28 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/28/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7680

University of the District of Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: African American Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science
African American Studies/Politics, Politics of Race, U.S. Politics and/or Public Administration

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

The University of the District of Columbia's Division of Social & Behavioral Sciences invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track, 9-month faculty appointment in the Political Science Program with a target start date of August 16, 2020. Required specializations for this position include African American Studies and/or the politics of race, and U.S. government. Applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science will be given full consideration.

The successful candidate will be expected to have an active research agenda and a strong publication record, as well as to offer both lower- and upper-level undergraduate courses relating to race and ethnicity, U.S. politics, and public policy and administration. Other potential areas of focus include, but are not limited to, black political thought,

African Diaspora Studies, and intersections between race, class, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

Preference will be given to candidates who are able to articulate a vision that involves developing community partnerships, fostering student activism, pursuing social justice, and engaging with students from diverse backgrounds. As a small but dynamic program characterized by a transdisciplinary and critical ethos, we also welcome details about how the candidate's work would complement the strengths of current faculty and help to shape the program's trajectory.

The Bachelor of Arts in Political Science is among the most popular undergraduate degree programs at UDC. A hallmark of the program is its research-based curriculum, which includes a three-course sequence that culminates in a senior capstone project. It also offers an interdisciplinary concentration in Global Studies. Faculty are expected to participate in program, division, college, and university service activities, as well as to advise students and supervise undergraduate internships and research projects.

UDC is a public, comprehensive university with an urban land-grant distinction. It is the city's only public institution of higher education and has historically been a minority-serving institution. It serves approximately 5,600 students across its certificate, two-year, baccalaureate, masters, and professional programs. Beyond the university, the Washington metropolitan community provides an exceptional learning laboratory for faculty, staff, and students.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

Letter of interest

Curriculum vitae

Statement of teaching philosophy

Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including selected course syllabi, if available)

Research statement/agenda

Writing sample

Contact information for three references

Three letters of recommendation (required at candidacy phase)

Official transcript of terminal degree (required at candidacy phase)

TO APPLY: Visit <https://udc.applicantstack.com/x/detail/a2hbxyhr9l98> to view the posting and create an online account for applying. Through the website, you will submit your CV and cover letter. After doing so, to complete your application, you must submit all additional materials – statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, research statement/agenda, writing sample, and contact information for three references – to DSBSapplications@gmail.com.

DEADLINE: The position will remain open until filled. Applicants that are submitted by February 28 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/28/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7681

The University of Melbourne

Rank: Lecturer of Public Policy (equivalent to tenure-track Assistant Professor)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Comparative Politics

Lecturer in Public Policy at the University of Melbourne (4 tenured positions)

Applications close – 16 February 2020 11:55 PM Australian Eastern Daylight Time

Applications are invited for four continuing (permanent) Lectureships in Public Policy (research and teaching) in the School of Social and Political Sciences in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Melbourne, from 1 July 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter. The posts are approximately equivalent to the rank of a tenure-track Assistant Professor in North America, or permanent Assistant Professor in Europe.

We are seeking applicants who will build on Melbourne's existing strength in public policy with new expertise and research capacity at an exciting time in the program's development and expansion. We welcome applicants researching and teaching in public policy, public administration, public management, public governance, policy studies and related fields.

You will be expected to develop your research agenda and teaching profile during your appointment within a collegial and supportive environment. More than thirty academic staff work in the Political Science Discipline, which has close affiliations with a number of allied research centres and units, including the Policy Lab. Highlights are:

- Four continuing (permanent/tenured) Lectureships in Public Policy.
- Time to develop your research track record (a typical teaching commitment being equivalent to three, one semester-based subjects per year).
- Opportunity to develop your research profile and be supported to apply for research funding whilst also contributing towards an intellectually vibrant and research-intensive group of scholars specialising in public policy, politics and the social sciences.
- Teach and supervise students in public policy and related fields with a substantive focus on the Master of Public Policy and Management.
- Join a world class research intensive university, which is ranked 15th in the world for Arts and Social Sciences (QS World University Rankings 2018) and 23rd in the world for Social Sciences (Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2017).

For further details on the positions and how to apply: <http://jobs.unimelb.edu.au/caw/en/job/901651/lecturer-in-public-policy>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/16/2020

Date Posted: 1/15/2020

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7647

Elon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Policy Studies (Continuing Track)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Policy Studies at Elon University invites applications for a continuing track position at the Assistant Professor level in Policy Studies, beginning in August 2020. A PhD or similar research doctorate in political science, policy studies, public administration, or closely related fields is required. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American Government (POL 111), Research Methods in Political Science and Policy Studies (POL 220), as well as introductory and upper level courses in the Policy Studies major.

The ideal candidate is a teacher-scholar motivated and committed to supporting student success. Candidates should possess an active scholarly agenda in a policy-related field and possess experience in mentoring undergraduate research. A willingness to teach in Elon's interdisciplinary Core Curriculum is expected. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people or who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

Elon is a dynamic, private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning. To learn more, please visit the University website: Elon.edu.

Continuing track faculty at Elon are eligible for promotion and compensation on a similar schedule as tenure track faculty. More information about this career track can be found here:

<https://elon.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Faculty-Handbook/Employment/Types-of-Appointments/Continuing-Track-Appointments>

To apply, please send the following to PSTSearchCT2019@elon.edu:

1. A letter of interest
2. Curriculum vita
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi)
4. Writing sample
5. Transcripts
6. Two letters of recommendation as one .pdf file

Applications must be received by February 15, 2020 to be assured of consideration. Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/15/2020
Date Posted: 1/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7624

Elon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Policy Studies (Continuing Track)
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Policy Studies at Elon University invites applications for a continuing track position at the Assistant Professor level in Policy Studies, beginning in August 2020. A PhD or similar research doctorate in political science, policy studies, public administration, or closely related fields is required. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American Government (POL 111), Research Methods in Political Science and Policy Studies (POL 220), as well as introductory and upper level courses in the Policy Studies major.

The ideal candidate is a teacher-scholar motivated and committed to supporting student success. Candidates should possess an active scholarly agenda in a policy-related field and possess experience in mentoring undergraduate research. A willingness to teach in Elon's interdisciplinary Core Curriculum is expected. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people or who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

Elon is a dynamic, private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning. To learn more, please visit the University website: Elon.edu.

Continuing track faculty at Elon are eligible for promotion and compensation on a similar schedule as tenure track faculty. More information about this career track can be found here:

<https://elon.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Faculty-Handbook/Employment/Types-of-Appointments/Continuing-Track-Appointments>

To apply, please send the following to PSTSearchCT2019@elon.edu:

1. A letter of interest
2. Curriculum vita
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi)
4. Writing sample
5. Transcripts
6. Two letters of recommendation as one .pdf file

Applications must be received by February 15, 2020 to be assured of consideration. Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 1/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7625

University of South Alabama

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Law, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice at the University of South Alabama invites applications for a full-time (9 month), tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Criminal Justice, Political Science, or Public Administration to begin August 15, 2020. An earned Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Political Science, or Public Administration is required at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates near completion of the degree will be considered.

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice is recognized for its research active faculty, award-winning teaching, and for its collegiality. The Department offers the Master of Public Administration degree and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice. Our growing and dynamic graduate program currently offers two concentrations:

Health Administration and Geographic Information Technology, with anticipated development of new concentrations, including Criminal Justice, in the future. More information regarding the MPA program can be found here: <https://www.southalabama.edu/colleges/artsandsci/pscj/mpa.html>

Applicants must have teaching and research interests in the area of criminal justice, judicial process, public law, constitutional law and/or public administration and must show a history or willingness to publish peer-reviewed research in criminal justice, political science, and/or public administration outlets. The committee will favor applicants who can teach judicial process, administrative law, and/or constitutional law. The successful candidate will be expected to teach criminal justice and/or political science undergraduate courses as well as offer courses in the MPA program. In addition to research and teaching, the successful candidate will be expected to advise a diverse student body, including many students of color and first-generation students, and to contribute appropriate service. Our Department is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and highly encourages female, minority, and candidates from other historically underrepresented groups to apply.

To apply, please send by email a letter of application, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and, if ABD or recent Ph.D., a writing sample to Dr. Thomas Shaw, Chair of Search Committee and MPA Director, at the following email address: tshaw@southalabama.edu.

Prospective candidates may be asked to participate first in a digital interview. Candidates selected for the digital interview will need to arrange for three original signed letters of recommendation to be sent to Dr. Thomas Shaw at tshaw@southalabama.edu. Letters of reference must include addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of the letter writers.

In addition, candidates selected for the digital interview will also arrange to have all official graduate and undergraduate transcripts sent directly by the Registrars of all colleges attended to Dr. Thomas Shaw at the following mailing address:

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
HUMB 221
The University of South Alabama
5991 USA Drive N
Mobile, AL 36688-0002

Candidates selected for an on-campus interview will also need to complete a biographical data form: <https://www.southalabama.edu/departments/eforms/academicaffairs/biographicaldataform.pdf>.

Consideration of applications will begin January, 15, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of South Alabama is an EO/AA employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression), religion, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 12/18/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7584

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Assistant Professor/Director of Fire Administration

Tenure-track Assistant Professor and Director of Fire Administration
12-month position, starting August 2020.

Responsibilities: Teach introductory, upper-division and graduate courses in Fire Administration, Public Administration and Political Science; direct the Fire Administration program, an online undergraduate degree completion program training fire service personnel skills in public administration needed to assume leadership positions; develop an academic research program resulting in a high level of productivity.
Minimum Qualifications: Doctoral degree in Political Science, Public Administration or another related social science field

(e.g., Government, Public Policy & Administration), ABDs will be considered as long as the requirements for the degree are completed by August 2020; College-level teaching experience as instructor of record or teaching assistant; and a demonstrated record of scholarly activity, including a research agenda and at least one research presentation at a national or regional conference or one or more published or in press journal articles, book chapters or books in peer reviewed outlets; Primary research focus in Public Administration, Fire Administration, Emergency Management or closely related fields.
Preferred Qualifications: Research program focusing on fire management administration, fire sciences, emergency services administration, disaster sciences, or public safety; experience teaching or designing online courses; fire service experience.
Credentials Required for Application: Cover letter describing teaching and research interests; Curriculum vitae; Writing sample (e.g., a dissertation proposal or chapter, academic journal article, working paper to be submitted to a journal); Statement of contributions or commitment to diversity in higher education; Portfolio of Teaching Effectiveness, which includes a statement of teaching philosophy, a sample syllabus, and quantitative teaching evaluations (if available); Contact information for three professional academic referees who will provide a current letter of reference (dated within the past year); Copies of transcripts indicating all relevant graduate course work.

For a complete job description & instructions on how to apply for this position visit <https://bgsu.hiretouch.com/> or contact the Office of Human Resources, BGSU. In compliance with the ADA Amendments Act (ADAAA), if you have a disability and would like to request an accommodation in order to apply for a position with Bowling Green State University, please call 419-372-8421.

Application deadline is January 27, 2020.

Background check and official transcript showing highest degree earned required for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/27/2020
Date Posted: 11/18/2019
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 7494

Gallaudet University

Rank: Public Administration

Gallaudet University
Department of Government and Public Affairs
Tenure Track Position
Assistant Professor, Public Administration

Gallaudet University serves Deaf, Hard-of-Hearing, and hearing students from many different backgrounds and seeks to develop a workforce that reflects the diversity of its student body. Gallaudet is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action employer and actively encourages deaf, hard-of-hearing, members of traditionally underrepresented groups, people with disabilities, women, and veterans to apply for open positions.

General Information: The Department of Government and Public Affairs seeks candidates for one full-time 9-month tenure track position. Appointment date: August 16, 2020. Position is contingent upon funding.

Qualifications: A doctoral degree in Public Administration, specializing in any sub-field, or a Ph. D. Political Science, with a specialization in Public Administration or one of its subfields. Candidate would be expected to teach at least one course related to economics for public administrators. College teaching experience preferred; candidates should show a strong commitment to students and the department through quality teaching, scholarship, and service. Proficiency in American Sign Language (ASL) is highly desirable at the time of hire; if not already proficient, a new faculty member must develop proficiency in ASL in accordance with the Gallaudet University Faculty Handbook. Experience or interest in teaching within an on-line environment is a plus.

Responsibilities: The candidate is expected to teach within the MPA program, and will be responsible for a variety of courses within the core MPA curriculum. The department offers both face-to-face and on-line courses and would like a candidate who is comfortable teaching in both modes of instruction. The successful candidate will be expected to engage in service activities for the Department, University and Community including advising and mentoring students, participation in Department meetings and events, recruitment of students and open houses, assessment of students and other appropriate activities. The candidate will also be expected to take an active role in leadership of the program and Department. The successful candidate will also be expected to produce scholarship within the field.

Application: Review of applications begins immediately and will continue until filled. Send a letter of application clearly outlining your qualifications and fit with the job description and requirements, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and research interests, and your personal and/or academic connection to diverse communities. In addition to this letter, please send your curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation to:

MPA Search Committee Chair,
Department of Government & Public Affairs
Gallaudet University
800 Florida Avenue, NE
Washington, D.C. 20002

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7444

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration to begin August 16, 2020. Individuals conducting research in Nonprofit Administration, Emergency Management, or Local Government are especially encouraged to apply. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to the department's NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program, with the ability to teach core and elective classes in this program. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, or a closely related field of study is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Xuhong Su (suxuhong@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/16/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6185

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/26/2019
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 6049

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/31/2019
Date Posted: 8/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5986

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:
 Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Starting Date:
 August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

1) An earned Ph.D. or DPA in Public Administration, Political Science, or a closely related field from an accredited institution is required;

however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).

- 2) Evidence of successful teaching at the undergraduate level.
- 3) Evidence of experience teaching American government courses.
- 4) Documented research and scholarship in public administration in one or more of the following areas: third-sector and non-profit management; information technology, e-governance, m-governance; and/or public sector organizational communication.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful experience teaching Public Administration courses at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of successful teaching using high impact practices, including, but not limited to: writing intensive curriculum, collaborative assignments and projects, diversity exploration, and/or community-based learning.
- 3) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate may be required to teach an introductory American government course, undergraduate upper division public administration courses, and graduate level public administration courses.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics and international relations. The department is one of 15 departments within the College of Natural and Social Sciences, which supports the academic programs for 6000 students and 660 instructional personnel. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, who participate in University governance and serve in numerous student advisory capacities. We have a very robust public administration program and congenial faculty who are strongly committed to a long-range strategic vision that links our urban focus with global issues and opportunities. Our highly regarded NASPAA-accredited MPA program, which serves Southern California, has become an important resource for government and nonprofit agencies seeking graduates with skills in all areas of public administration, including policy analysis, budgetary process and financial administration, human resource management, program and policy evaluation, and intergovernmental and intersectoral relations. In a given year, well over half of our 90+ MPA students are employed professionals seeking an MPA for purposes of advancement to managerial positions.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:
Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Public Administration Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair Jessica DeShazo at: jdeshaz@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

In addition to meeting fully its obligations under federal and state law, Cal State LA is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual. To that end, all qualified individuals will receive equal consideration without regard to economic status, race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, pregnancy, national origin or cultural background, political views, sex, sexual orientation, gender identification, age, disability, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran status.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/TITLE IX EMPLOYER

Upon request, reasonable accommodation will be provided to individuals with protected disabilities to (a) complete the employment process and (b) perform essential job functions when this does not cause undue hardship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5897

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

PUBLIC LAWMount Holyoke College*Rank: Visiting Lecturer in PoliticsSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Visiting Lecturer in Politics

Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a one-year Visiting Lecturer position in the Department of Politics (with potential for renewal) with expertise in American public law. We seek teachers-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law.

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory American Politics course and a course in your field of specialization, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) the mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate should be able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is February 15, 2020. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted. Instructions are online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/>.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first-generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date:Application Deadline: 2/15/2020Date Posted: 1/14/2020Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7641Emory University*Rank: Post-doctoral ResearcherSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Post-doctoral Researcher

Department of Political Science

Emory University

Atlanta, Georgia

The Politics of Policing Lab at Emory University invites applications for a post-doctoral researcher to work with Tom Clark, Adam Glynn, and Michael Leo Owens. The two-year position begins September 1, 2020, funded by a grant from the Law and Sciences Program of the National Science Foundation. Responsibilities include filing government records requests; converting government records into a comprehensive database; database management; and establishing online infrastructure for depositing, maintaining, and disseminating data. The position includes competitive salary and benefits, funding to support conference travel, and opportunities to publish both independent and lab-based research. Applicants should have rigorous database management skills, familiarity with filing government records requests with local governments, and appropriate coding and data analysis skills. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand by September 1, 2020.

To apply for this position, please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and two letters of recommendation to polisci.american@emory.edu. To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: 2/1/2020Date Posted: 12/18/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7585University of South Alabama*Rank: Assistant ProfessorSubfield(s): Public Law, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice at the University of South Alabama invites applications for a full-time (9 month), tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Criminal Justice, Political Science, or Public Administration to begin August 15, 2020. An earned Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Political Science, or Public Administration is required at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates near completion of the degree will be considered.

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice is recognized for its research active faculty, award-winning teaching, and for its collegiality. The Department offers the Master of Public Administration degree and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice. Our growing and dynamic graduate program currently offers two concentrations:

Health Administration and Geographic Information Technology, with anticipated development of new concentrations, including Criminal Justice, in the future. More information regarding the MPA program can be found here: <https://www.southalabama.edu/colleges/artsandsci/pscj/mpa.html>

Applicants must have teaching and research interests in the area of criminal justice, judicial process, public law, constitutional law and/

or public administration and must show a history or willingness to publish peer-reviewed research in criminal justice, political science, and/or public administration outlets. The committee will favor applicants who can teach judicial process, administrative law, and/or constitutional law. The successful candidate will be expected to teach criminal justice and/or political science undergraduate courses as well as offer courses in the MPA program. In addition to research and teaching, the successful candidate will be expected to advise a diverse student body, including many students of color and first-generation students, and to contribute appropriate service. Our Department is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and highly encourages female, minority, and candidates from other historically underrepresented groups to apply.

To apply, please send by email a letter of application, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and, if ABD or recent Ph.D., a writing sample to Dr. Thomas Shaw, Chair of Search Committee and MPA Director, at the following email address: tshaw@southalabama.edu.

Prospective candidates may be asked to participate first in a digital interview. Candidates selected for the digital interview will need to arrange for three original signed letters of recommendation to be sent to Dr. Thomas Shaw at tshaw@southalabama.edu. Letters of reference must include addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of the letter writers.

In addition, candidates selected for the digital interview will also arrange to have all official graduate and undergraduate transcripts sent directly by the Registrars of all colleges attended to Dr. Thomas Shaw at the following mailing address:

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
HUMB 221
The University of South Alabama
5991 USA Drive N
Mobile, AL 36688-0002

Candidates selected for an on-campus interview will also need to complete a biographical data form: <https://www.southalabama.edu/departments/eforms/academicaffairs/biographicaldataform.pdf>.

Consideration of applications will begin January, 15, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of South Alabama is an EO/AA employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression), religion, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 12/18/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7584

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Assistant Professor in American Politics to teach undergraduate and graduate courses across the American Politics curriculum including areas such as public law, or race & inequality, democracy, representation or civic engagement; advise students; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service, which may include curricular and programming efforts of Miami's new Menard Family Center for Democracy. The position will begin in the 2020-21 academic year.

Required: Ph.D. by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available, to <https://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/en-us/job/496307/assistant-professor>. Letters of reference will be requested by the department at a later date. Inquiries may be directed to Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin January 2, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7569

Metropolitan State University of Denver

Rank: Political Science Tenure Track Faculty (Category I)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Latino Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Metropolitan State University of Denver invites applications for a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor to begin in fall 2020. The Department is particularly interested in candidates that are able to teach, and have research interests in, some of the following sub-fields: Racial/Ethnic Politics or Latino Politics specifically, Political Behavior, Comparative Politics or Public Law/Law and Courts. Regardless of sub-field, candidates should be able to teach courses in both qualitative and quantitative research methods. A normal course load is four courses per semester (12 credit hours), and as such, the department seeks applications from candidates with a strong interest in teaching and engaging our students, as well as pursuing a research agenda. The Department is comprised of dedicated teacher-scholars who seek a colleague with a similar approach to academia.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach four courses per semester. Courses will include broad introductory surveys of American National Government and/or Comparative Politics. The successful candidate will also be expected to teach upper-division courses in their area of expertise, as well as courses that meet the needs of the department. The position also requires a commitment to excellence in teaching a diverse student body; student advising activities; scholarship; and service both within the university and the profession or community.

Required qualifications include a PhD in political science or closely related field. PhD must be conferred by July of 2020. Preferred qualifications include evidence of excellence in undergraduate teaching; evidence of scholarly activities and an ongoing research agenda; and a demonstrated experience successfully teaching, mentoring, and advising diverse, under-served students, including students of color and non-traditional students. We are particularly interested in applicants that have the ability to work with and be sensitive to the needs of a diverse urban student population including (but not limited to) students of color, LBGTQIA students, students from low-income backgrounds, first-generation students, students with disabilities, undocumented students, non-traditional students, student veterans, and English-language learners.

Application Process: Complete applications received by February 3, 2020 will receive full consideration. The position is open until filled. In order to be considered as an applicant, you must apply via the online application system, www.msudenverjobs.com. Applicants must submit a cover letter, CV, teaching philosophy, writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation submitted under "References" in the application, and unofficial transcripts. If you are unable to attach copies of transcripts or the letters of recommendation at the time of application, please submit them to Amy Eckert at eckerta@msudenver.edu by or before the full consideration date. Official transcripts will be required of the candidate selected for hire.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7529

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Assistant Professor of Legal Studies
Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
College of Behavioral and Social Sciences

CSU, Chico is committed to recruiting, developing and retaining the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. The university enrolls over 17,000 students annually; 43% are white, 33% are Latinx, 5% are Asian, 3% are African American, .5% are Native American and 5% are multi-racial/ethnic. We proudly hold Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI) designation, and over half of our students will be the first generation in their family to earn a bachelor's degree.

The ideal candidate will share Chico State's demonstrated commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion, have prior experience working in culturally and socio-economically diverse learning environments, and will contribute to student success through inclusive pedagogy, as well as research and service to the university and surrounding North State communities. We invite you to apply to our welcoming teacher/scholar environment where you can have a successful career.

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for a tenure-track position in Legal Studies at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins August 18, 2020. Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

Initial Review Date: 12/6/2019; complete applications received after that date will be considered until position is filled.

How to Apply: All applicants must apply online at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/5836>.

Applicants must provide a cover letter to include, a statement of views on teaching, promoting and fostering a learning environment supportive of diverse backgrounds, a CV, and student evaluations of teaching, if available. Three professional references with contact information should be sent directly to: Professor Sally Anderson at ssanderson@csuchico.edu.

Applications submitted via email or in-person to the department will not be considered.

Qualification Details:

Minimum Qualifications The minimum requirements for appointment to this position are: a Bachelor's degree and a Juris Doctor (J.D.) from an accredited law school, current membership in the State of California Bar or membership within two years of the start of employment, ability to teach courses in clinical legal education (i.e., Community Legal Information Clinic) and legal research and writing, and the capacity to engage in publishable academic and/or legal/professional research. The successful candidate should provide evidence of their commitment to or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants with any of the following: legal clinical experience, paralegal supervision, experience in practicing law, teaching experience, and/or additional degrees, such as a L.L.M. or Ph.D. In addition to teaching courses in clinical legal education and legal research and writing, the ideal candidate will be able to teach courses in any one of the following areas: Legal Studies Senior Seminar, Constitutional Law, Introduction to Legal Studies, and other elective courses. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department's course offerings: Course offerings. Ideal candidates will demonstrate evidence of a research agenda that will lead to publishable academic and/or legal/professional research.

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and the University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our department's programs. Additional information about our Department is available at Political Science/. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at College of BSS. CSU, Chico is committed to recruiting, developing and retaining the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool.

The Legal Studies Program: The Legal Studies Program within the Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice includes an active moot court program, a paralegal certificate program, and the Community Legal Information Clinic (CLIC). Founded in 1970, CLIC is an extensive undergraduate law clinic designed to benefit participating students by providing hands-on legal training and active learning experiences. CLIC also provides a unique civic engagement program that helps serve the legal service needs of Northern California. Additional information about the Legal Studies Program is available at: Legal Studies program

Job-related questions should be directed to:
Professor Sally Anderson, Search Committee Chair
CSU, Chico

400 W. First Street
Chico, CA 95929-0455
530-898-6478
saanderson@csuchico.edu

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for California State University, Chico can be obtained by contacting the Chico State University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by visiting: Clery Report

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 (revised July 21, 2017) as a condition of employment.

All positions are contingent on funding.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7441

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The School for International Studies at Simon Fraser University seeks an established scholar for a full-time, tenure track position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor to fill the Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security, a position endowed by The Simons Foundation Canada. The start date could be as early as July 1, 2020.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science discipline, or an SJD in law, and an outstanding record of research and teaching. The chairholder will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and teaching focused on the nexus of international law and human security, broadly defined. The chairholder will create new curriculum, provide intellectual leadership, and foster public understanding through conferences and symposia. The Chair is endowed with a research grant and a reduced teaching load of normally two courses per year. Appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, depending on qualifications.

Simon Fraser University is a leading Canadian public research university (consistently ranked #1 by Maclean's Magazine for best comprehensive university in Canada). The School for International Studies is an interdisciplinary unit with research and teaching programs focused on peace and security; international development; human rights and international law; and governance and civil society. The School is based at SFU's Vancouver campus in the heart of downtown.

This is a senior level position. Only those holding a faculty position at the Associate Professor or Professor rank will be considered. Applications will be treated in confidence and should include: a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching, one representative publication, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants should also provide the names, addresses and phone/e-mail of six academic referees of high standing. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 8, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. The position is subject to the availability of funding.

Materials should be sent in a single pdf file via email to intst@sfu.ca. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Tamir Moustafa, at tmoustafa@sfu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7445

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2020-21

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for ten months, starting in August or September 2020. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/70841>

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7425

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position ID: F00176P

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, focusing on American politics and public law/judicial politics, beginning August 2020. Completed Ph.D. is preferred although A.B.D.s will be considered. Scholars with a focus on the US Supreme Court/federal courts are especially invited to apply.

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive policy courses in their area of expertise, to contribute to the Department's pre-law curriculum, to participate in pre-law advising, and to teach introductory courses, core undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate to the rank. Salary is competitive. Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service.

Arlington, Texas is centrally located to major cultural, sporting, and entertainment venues, situated in the heart of the Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan area, with over 6 million residents and more than twenty municipalities (<http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities><http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities>). The University of Texas at Arlington campus is a short twenty-minute drive to DFW International Airport, downtown Fort Worth and downtown Dallas. The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols><http://www.uta.edu/pols> and <https://www.facebook.com/POLSatUTARlington><https://www.facebook.com/POLSatUTARlington>) offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over two hundred and forty undergraduate majors and minors and twenty to thirty graduate students.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) provide a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) one writing sample, and 4) names and contact information of three professional references. Screening will begin immediately upon receipt of a completed application. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

UT Arlington is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The use of tobacco products is prohibited on UT Arlington properties. A criminal background check will be conducted on finalists.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6192

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Apply at: <https://mills.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=115636>

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top master's universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6166

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science with focus on Public Law

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6014

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Immigration Policy

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5759

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

The Institute for the American Constitutional Heritage (IACH) at the University of Oklahoma (OU) seeks an established and nationally recognized scholar to hold the newly established Sanders Family Chair in Law and Liberty. The position is at the associate or full professor level and will be jointly appointed in the Department of Classics & Letters and the successful candidate's home disciplinary department or College, e.g., History or Political Science (both in the College of Arts and Sciences), or the College of Law.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core mission of the IACH, a vibrant interdisciplinary center for the study of American constitutionalism housed in Classics & Letters. The IACH has four faculty lines and over 30 affiliated faculty across the university who offer courses to over 100 undergraduates majoring or minoring in Constitutional Studies.

We seek a candidate with a teaching and research profile that would include, but not be limited to, the ancient roots of law, liberty, and self-governance; the development of republican thought and ideas of liberty and the rule of law in the modern world; and the historical and ideological background of the American founding.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. (or a J.D. for exceptional candidates with established records of scholarly excellence) and a substantial scholarly record in a discipline related to the core mission of the IACH. The successful candidate should also have an established commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students, as well as experience in graduate teaching and mentoring, or clear potential for excellence in this area. The teaching load will be three courses a year (2-1).

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should initially submit a letter of interest, a current C.V., and three letters of reference to. Applicants should go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/59901> to submit their application. The position will begin in August 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5469

PUBLIC POLICY

Merrimack College

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science and Public Policy

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Open

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Urban Politics, Environmental Policy

Position Overview: Merrimack College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor appointment in the Department of Political Science and Public Policy beginning in Fall 2020. Teaching load is three courses per semester. The position will support both the Political Science Department and International Studies Program, with the potential to work with other interdisciplinary programs and our graduate program in Public Affairs. The successful candidate will be expected to teach our quantitative Research Methods course as well as relevant courses in politics and public policy, based on expertise. The candidate will also be expected to develop additional courses to complement existing undergraduate curriculum.

Qualifications: Areas of expertise must include both public policy and quantitative research methodology. Areas of public policy specialization might include, but are not limited to, urban policy, environmental policy, or electoral policy. Expertise in research methods must include ability to teach relevant software, such as SPSS, GIS, Tableau, R, etc. A demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching, research, and service is essential. PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or related field is required at time of appointment.

To Apply: Interested applicants should apply online through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15900>. Application materials should include: letter of interest, C.V., evidence of teaching effectiveness, sample of scholarship, and three letters of recommendation.

Merrimack College seeks to nourish and sustain our five core values of leadership, community, awareness, scholarship, and service. The College is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups. All candidates are encouraged to describe in their application previous activities or interest in building a culture committed to diversity and inclusive excellence, as well as how they will engage in fostering a culture that values diversity and inclusive excellence at Merrimack College.

Review of applications will begin on February 18, 2020 and will continue until the position has been filled.

About Merrimack: The only Catholic, Augustinian college in New England, Merrimack College is an independent, coeducational institution with more than 4,200 undergraduates and graduate students from 34 states and 36 countries, and comprises schools of liberal arts, science and engineering, health sciences, education and social policy, and business. The college's 220-acre campus is approximately 25 miles north of Boston in North Andover and Andover, Mass. Merrimack is a Master's Colleges & Universities/Medium Programs institution in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Merrimack recently placed 21st in the nation for "Colleges That Add the Most Value" in Money's special Best Colleges report and was ranked as one of the top 10 colleges in the northern United States for the fourth year in a row — and the only regional college judged "up and coming" by higher education leadership in the northern United States, according to U.S. News.

This position is subject to the successful completion of a criminal background check.

Merrimack College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/23/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7665

Reed College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Half-Time)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Half-Time)
Reed College
2020-2021

Applications are invited for a half-time visiting appointment in political science with specializations in one or more of the following fields: international relations or American politics/public policy. Candidates with an ability to teach in multiple fields are particularly encouraged to apply. The appointment begins Fall 2020.

Candidates are expected to teach three sections total across one or two semesters. All our courses are capped at 24 students. Because we are a small department, we are interested in candidates who incorporate multiple methods of analysis and integrate this approach into their teaching of undergraduate seminars and in the advising of student research.

Reed College is a highly selective liberal arts institution with a distinguished record of educational accomplishment and a strong commitment to scholarship (<http://web.reed.edu>). Our pedagogy emphasizes the conceptual and theoretical foundations of the discipline. We expect the Ph.D. to be in hand, or very near completion, by the start of the appointment. Above all, we seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level. Information on the department is available at http://academic.reed.edu/poli_sci/. Search inquiries may be addressed to political.search@reed.edu.

Reed College is a community that believes cultural diversity is essential to the excellence of our academic program. In your application materials, we welcome a description of how you would engage and sustain the commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in Reed College's diversity statement (<https://www.reed.edu/diversity/>). An Equal Opportunity Employer, Reed College values diversity and encourages applications from underrepresented groups.

Please send an application letter, CV, demonstration of teaching excellence, and two letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/73270>. Sample syllabi are welcome but not required. The review of applications will begin on February 14, 2020, and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7652

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist II

Overview

The Initiative for Data-Driven Social Science (DDSS) at Princeton University invites applications for a Senior Research Specialist (SR) position, which will provide research and data management support for a variety of computational social science research projects. The SRS will serve as a key contact and consultant for a portfolio of faculty research projects across social science disciplines.

This is a one-year term position with the possibility of renewal. End date is dependent on start date, which may vary.

Responsibilities

Reporting to the DDSS Executive Director and working closely with Princeton faculty and professional researchers, the Senior Research Specialist will assist with the collection, documentation, and statistical analysis of large data sets. The position will serve as a technical and methodological consultant for faculty, staff, and students in areas of data-intensive social science research design and practice. In addition, this individual will be expected to write summaries of research, perform literature searches and reviews, and post and retrieve information from online repositories.

The Senior Research Specialist will also have the opportunity to help shape the development of this new initiative's strategic vision, long- and short-term agenda, and research infrastructure. The position would offer exposure to academic life of Princeton, including seminars, events, and regular interaction with faculty and graduate students.

Qualifications

- A Master's degree in a social science field, computer science, mathematics, statistics, or related computational field.
- Excellent programming skills in Python, R, C/C++, Stata, or other languages used in social science research.
- Excellent research and writing skills.
- Experience managing projects from initiation through completion.
- Knowledge of statistics and data analysis methods.
- Thorough understanding of social science research design and the academic research process.
- Eagerness to collaborate with both technical and non-technical colleagues.

Preferred qualifications:

- Doctorate in a related field.
- Knowledge of Unix or Linux.
- Knowledge of standard Internet tools and HTML, as well as web-based design and visualization fundamentals.
- Strong problem-solving skills; ability to communicate complex problems and solutions to relevant stakeholders.
- Experience acquiring, securing, and managing data sets in the support of academic research.
- Working knowledge of standard social science data sources.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer (<https://rrr.princeton.edu/eop>) and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW (https://www.eeoc.gov/employers/upload/poster_screen_reader_optimized.pdf)

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/bzj9h2j6p9kwqyzf>

PI117155732

Start Date:

Date Posted: 1/16/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7648

Public Policy Institute of California

Rank: Research Fellow

PPIC research fellows contribute directly to the mission of the Public Policy Institute of California, using their strong analytical skills in an interdisciplinary setting to create and communicate knowledge that informs California's policymaking processes.

PPIC aims to recruit a research fellow with a background and strong interest in policy analysis and evaluation, who demonstrates the ability to connect interdisciplinary research to policymaking. Ideally, candidates will bring substantive knowledge and interest in behavioral health (mental health and/or substance use disorder) and its connection to criminal justice policy issues. Recognizing that behavioral health services operate within the broader context of health and social safety net policy, we especially welcome applicants whose interests connect behavioral health to both criminal justice and safety net policy.

A successful applicant will have a doctoral degree in criminology, economics, public policy, psychology, public health, sociology, or other related field with an emphasis on applied research, and excellent analytical, non-technical writing, policy engagement, and communication skills.

While a deep understanding of California policy is an advantage, we also encourage applications that highlight research experience secured outside the California context through relevant policy research in other states, other regions, or at the federal level. We welcome applications from recent Ph.D. graduates through senior-level researchers.

PPIC offers an impactful, inclusive, collaborative, and intellectually stimulating work environment, and a competitive compensation and benefits package. The position will initially be based in PPIC's San Francisco office.

PPIC values the wide variety of backgrounds and experiences of our research staff. Key elements in the consideration of qualified candidates include excellence; diversity of talents, backgrounds, and viewpoints; and a strong fit with the institute's mission, values, and goals.

To Apply: Please visit <https://www.ppic.org/about-ppic/employment-opportunities/> and follow the application instructions. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis and until the position has been filled.

As an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, PPIC is committed to excellence through diversity. We encourage women and members of minority groups to apply.

Pursuant to the San Francisco Fair Chance Ordinance, we will consider for employment qualified applicants with arrest and conviction records. AA/EEO/Veterans/Disabled employer.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/16/2020

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 7649

The University of Melbourne

Rank: Lecturer of Public Policy (equivalent to tenure-track Assistant Professor)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Comparative Politics

Lecturer in Public Policy at the University of Melbourne (4 tenured positions)

Applications close – 16 February 2020 11:55 PM Australian Eastern Daylight Time

Applications are invited for four continuing (permanent) Lectureships in Public Policy (research and teaching) in the School of Social and Political Sciences in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Melbourne, from 1 July 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter. The posts are approximately equivalent to the rank of a tenure-track Assistant Professor in North America, or permanent Assistant Professor in Europe.

We are seeking applicants who will build on Melbourne's existing strength in public policy with new expertise and research capacity at an exciting time in the program's development and expansion. We welcome applicants researching and teaching in public policy, public administration, public management, public governance, policy studies and related fields.

You will be expected to develop your research agenda and teaching profile during your appointment within a collegial and supportive environment. More than thirty academic staff work in the Political Science Discipline, which has close affiliations with a number of allied research centres and units, including the Policy Lab. Highlights are:

- Four continuing (permanent/tenured) Lectureships in Public Policy.
- Time to develop your research track record (a typical teaching commitment being equivalent to three, one semester-based subjects per year).
- Opportunity to develop your research profile and be supported to apply for research funding whilst also contributing towards an intellectually vibrant and research-intensive group of scholars specialising in public policy, politics and the social sciences.
- Teach and supervise students in public policy and related fields with a substantive focus on the Master of Public Policy and Management.
- Join a world class research intensive university, which is ranked 15th in the world for Arts and Social Sciences (QS World University Rankings 2018) and 23rd in the world for Social Sciences (Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2017).

For further details on the positions and how to apply: <http://jobs.unimelb.edu.au/caw/en/job/901651/lecturer-in-public-policy>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 2/16/2020

Date Posted: 1/15/2020

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7647

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Visiting Lecturer in Politics

Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a one-year Visiting Lecturer position in the Department of Politics (with potential for renewal) with expertise in American public law. We seek teachers-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law.

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory American Politics course and a course in your field of specialization, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) the mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate should be able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is February 15, 2020. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted. Instructions are online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/>.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first-generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/15/2020

Date Posted: 1/14/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7641

Ronald Reagan Institute

Rank: Ronald Reagan Visiting Fellows Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Foreign Policy, History & Politics

The purpose of the Visiting Fellows Program is to advance the political, economic, and national security ideas and values of President Ronald Reagan. Visiting Fellows will be selected based on the relevance of their research to these principles. Proposals will also be judged on the likelihood of completion of a book manuscript during the fellowship period.

The fellowship year will begin in Washington, DC in September 2020 and last until August 2021. Reagan Visiting Fellows are required to be resident at the Institute's new headquarters in downtown Washington, DC. Each fellow will be provided with office space. Visiting Fellows will be expected to play an active role in the Institute's activities and in disseminating ideas related to fellows' academic work. The Institute will facilitate research, expand the fellows' contacts, and grow the fellows' visibility in the Washington policy community. In turn, the research and writing of each fellow will enrich and inform the policy community.

All applicants must submit proof of having successfully defended his/her dissertation by August 15, 2020. Acceptance of the award constitutes a commitment by each fellow to produce a book manuscript at the end of the Fellowship year.

Application Requirements

*Please submit all documents as PDFs. Do not send in zip files.

1. Executive Summary (Maximum of 1 page)

- Name, Address, Contact Information
- University Affiliation and Dissertation Advisor and contact information
- Names and contact information for 2 recommenders
- One paragraph summary description of research question and project's relevance to Ronald Reagan

2. Project Proposal (Maximum of 3 pages)

- Proposal should begin with a clear description of the policy issue being examined and a description of how this issue is linked to the ideas and vision of Ronald Reagan.
- Proposal should consider contemporary implications of the policy issue being examined.
- Description of research methods and approach – if the Reagan Library is likely to be a source for research, please explain.
- Notional book outline

3. Writing Sample (less than 20 pages)

4. CV/Resume

5. Transcripts & Letters of Recommendation

- Unofficial school transcripts and two letters of recommendation must be sent directly from your university and your recommenders to ReaganFellowship@ReaganFoundation.org.

NOTES:

2 openings.

Additional Salary Information: In addition to a stipend of $75,000, each fellow will receive an additional $5,000 for research related costs.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 3/2/2020

Date Posted: 1/9/2020

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7623

University of California San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar Appointment, China Data Lab

Postdoctoral Scholar Appointment, China Data Lab
 Department: School of Global Policy and 21st Century China Center
 Salary: Commensurate with experience
 Appointment: 12-24 months (extendable by 12-24 based on mutual agreement) Start Date: September 1, 2020
 Location: UC San Diego, La Jolla, CA

The 21st Century China Center is pleased to announce a one-year Postdoctoral Research Employee position in the China Data Lab in the area of Chinese politics for the academic year 2020-2021, with the possibility of a one-year reappointment. In addition to carrying out their own research, the appointee will work with faculty in the 21st Century China Center under the supervision of Professor Margaret Roberts at the University of California San Diego. The position offers the opportunity to join a large community of China scholars with a strong track record of high-quality publications on data-driven research on Chinese politics and focus on policy impacts. The position will offer the opportunity to co-author papers with mentors committed to helping the selected candidate launch a successful academic career with a strong research pipeline.

The Associate will reside at the UC San Diego campus and will be expected to actively participate in the intellectual life of the University. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science or another quantitative social science field with a focus on Chinese politics is required. The candidate should have a strong background in quantitative social science and a demonstrated ability to produce high quality research papers.

To Apply: submit a cover letter, CV with list of publications, academic transcripts, job market paper and at least two recommendations to Professor Margaret Roberts at: meroberts@ucsd.edu

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, but it is highly recommended that you apply before March 1, 2020 for full consideration.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7629

Elon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Policy Studies (Continuing Track)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Policy Studies at Elon University invites applications for a continuing track position at the Assistant Professor level in Policy Studies, beginning in August 2020. A PhD or similar research doctorate in political science, policy studies, public administration, or closely related fields is required. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American Government (POL 111), Research Methods in Political Science and Policy Studies (POL 220), as well as introductory and upper level courses in the Policy Studies major.

The ideal candidate is a teacher-scholar motivated and committed to supporting student success. Candidates should possess an active scholarly agenda in a policy-related field and possess experience in mentoring undergraduate research. A willingness to teach in Elon's interdisciplinary Core Curriculum is expected. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people or who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

Elon is a dynamic, private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning. To learn more, please visit the University website: Elon.edu.

Continuing track faculty at Elon are eligible for promotion and compensation on a similar schedule as tenure track faculty. More information about this career track can be found here:

<https://elon.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Faculty-Handbook/Employment/Types-of-Appointments/Continuing-Track-Appointments>

To apply, please send the following to PSTSearchCT2019@elon.edu:

1. A letter of interest
2. Curriculum vita
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi)
4. Writing sample
5. Transcripts
6. Two letters of recommendation as one .pdf file

Applications must be received by February 15, 2020 to be assured of consideration. Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/15/2020

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7624

Elon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Policy Studies (Continuing Track)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Policy Studies at Elon University invites applications for a continuing track position at the Assistant Professor level in Policy Studies, beginning in August 2020. A PhD or similar research doctorate in political science, policy studies, public administration, or closely related fields is required. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American Government (POL 111), Research Methods in Political Science and Policy Studies (POL 220), as well as introductory and upper level courses in the Policy Studies major.

The ideal candidate is a teacher-scholar motivated and committed to supporting student success. Candidates should possess an active scholarly agenda in a policy-related field and possess experience in mentoring undergraduate research. A willingness to teach in Elon's interdisciplinary Core Curriculum is expected. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people or who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

Elon is a dynamic, private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning. To learn more, please visit the University website: Elon.edu.

Continuing track faculty at Elon are eligible for promotion and compensation on a similar schedule as tenure track faculty. More information about this career track can be found here:

<https://elon.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Faculty-Handbook/Employment/Types-of-Appointments/Continuing-Track-Appointments>

To apply, please send the following to PSTSearchCT2019@elon.edu:

1. A letter of interest
2. Curriculum vita
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi)
4. Writing sample
5. Transcripts
6. Two letters of recommendation as one .pdf file

Applications must be received by February 15, 2020 to be assured of consideration. Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7625

Moravian College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Public Policy

POSITION SUMMARY: For Fall 2020 - Spring 2021, we are hiring a visiting assistant professor/instructor to teach American politics.

The political science department of Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania is searching for a one-year, full time, visiting assistant professor or instructor (depending on degree completion status) in American politics for the 2020-2021 academic year. The position will entail a three-three teaching load that will focus on basic American political institutions and processes for a total of six courses. Candidates seeking this position must be able to teach a foundational introductory course in American political systems. Multiple sections of the introductory course would be offered over the course of the two-semester appointment. Candidates must be able to teach a course on American political parties and elections in the Fall 2020 semester. In addition to such courses, candidates for the position will be asked to offer at least two upper division courses over the academic year from among the following areas: Congress and the Presidency, Public Policy and Public Administration (Administrative Politics), and/or Environmental Politics.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Our liberal arts courses require appropriate reading and writing assignments.

QUALIFICATIONS: Successful applicants will have ABD status or a completed doctorate in political science. For ABDs, this position will have visiting instructor status. Teaching experience is required. Moravian College is a New American College with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Our four-person department places a high value on dedicated teaching and high levels of student engagement. The College is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

The deadline for applications is May 1, 2020.

Review of applications will begin on March 16, 2020 and will continue until filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. (Moravian College will not sponsor applicants for this position for a U.S. work visa).

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach their letter of interest, curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, set of recent teaching evaluations and relevant recent syllabi to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Candidates should also arrange to send two (2) letters of recommendation to moyerd@moravian.edu. Please attach documents as a PDF file.

All positions are subject to budget availability.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Occasionally required to remain seated in a normal position for long periods of time

Regularly required to walk about

Regularly required to maintain balance while walking, standing, crouching, or running

Routinely required to reach up and out with hands and arms

Regularly required to talk and hear; verbally express information or instructions

Regularly required to use hands to grasp objects, type, pick up objects, move objects, or hold objects

Routinely required to stoop, kneel, crouch, and/or crawl

Regularly required to climb stairs and/or ladders

Occasionally required to lift up to 25 pounds and carry a distance of 10 feet

Occasionally required to push and/or pull up to 25 pounds a distance of 10 feet

Routinely required to stand for long periods of time

Close vision (clear vision at 20 inches or less)

Depth perception and the ability to judge distances and spatial relationships

Adjustable focus

WORK ENVIRONMENT: The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job. The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

Moravian College is the nation's sixth-oldest college located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs. For more than 275 years, the Moravian College degree has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change. Moravian College is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian College focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Moravian College is committed to enhancing the diversity of our community, recognizing that to provide a diverse learning environment is to prepare students for personal and professional success in an increasingly multicultural and global society. The College community understands that it shares a responsibility for generating and preserving a learning environment where difference is valued, and inclusiveness and social justice are practiced.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7621

Moravian College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Public Policy

POSITION SUMMARY: For Fall 2020 - Spring 2021, we are hiring a visiting assistant professor/instructor to teach American politics.

The political science department of Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania is searching for a one-year, full time, visiting assistant professor or instructor (depending on degree completion status) in American politics for the 2020-2021 academic year. The position will entail a three-three teaching load that will focus on basic American political institutions and processes for a total of six courses. Candidates seeking this position must be able to teach a foundational introductory course in American political systems. Multiple sections of the introductory course would be offered over the course of the two-semester appointment. Candidates must be able to teach a course on American political parties and elections in the Fall 2020 semester. In addition to such courses, candidates for the position will be asked to offer at least two upper division courses over the academic year from among the following areas: Congress and the Presidency, Public Policy and Public Administration (Administrative Politics), and/or Environmental Politics.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Our liberal arts courses require appropriate reading and writing assignments.

QUALIFICATIONS: Successful applicants will have ABD status or a completed doctorate in political science. For ABDs, this position will have visiting instructor status. Teaching experience is required. Moravian College is a New American College with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Our four-person department places a high value on dedicated teaching and high levels of student engagement. The College is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

The deadline for applications is May 1, 2020.

Review of applications will begin on March 16, 2020 and will continue until filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. (Moravian College will not sponsor applicants for this position for a U.S. work visa).

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach their letter of interest, curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, set of recent teaching evaluations and relevant recent syllabi to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Candidates should also arrange to send two (2) letters of recommendation to moyerd@moravian.edu. Please attach documents as a PDF file.

All positions are subject to budget availability.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Occasionally required to remain seated in a normal position for long periods of time

Regularly required to walk about

Regularly required to maintain balance while walking, standing, crouching, or running

Routinely required to reach up and out with hands and arms

Regularly required to talk and hear; verbally express information or instructions

Regularly required to use hands to grasp objects, type, pick up objects, move objects, or hold objects

Routinely required to stoop, kneel, crouch, and/or crawl

Regularly required to climb stairs and/or ladders

Occasionally required to lift up to 25 pounds and carry a distance of 10 feet

Occasionally required to push and/or pull up to 25 pounds a distance of 10 feet

Routinely required to stand for long periods of time

Close vision (clear vision at 20 inches or less)

Depth perception and the ability to judge distances and spatial relationships

Adjustable focus

WORK ENVIRONMENT: The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job. The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

Moravian College is the nation's sixth-oldest college located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs. For more than 275 years, the Moravian College degree has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change. Moravian College is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian College focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Moravian College is committed to enhancing the diversity of our community, recognizing that to provide a diverse learning environment is to prepare students for personal and professional success in an increasingly multicultural and global society. The College community understands that it shares a responsibility for generating and preserving a learning environment where difference is valued, and inclusiveness and social justice are practiced.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7622

Georgetown University

Rank: Non-Tenure Line Teaching Professor or Professor of the Practice in International Business and Policy

Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business and Walsh School of Foreign Service invite applications for a full-time, 12-month, non-tenure-line Teaching Professor or Professor of the Practice in international business and policy.

The position will contribute to the B.S. in Business and Global Affairs, an innovative new joint undergraduate degree program focusing on the complex interactions at the intersection of international business, geopolitics, and policy. More information can be found here.

Responsibilities include 9-12 credits of instruction and program management, primarily developing and delivering on-location experiential learning around the world and in Washington, DC.

A Ph.D. or terminal degree and/or distinguished professional experience in a discipline, area or specialty related to business and global affairs is required, along with either demonstrated experience or aptitude for teaching excellence and relevant program management. The period of the initial contract is three years, with the possibility of renewal and opportunities for professional advancement and promotion within the non-tenure-line ranks. We will begin reviewing applications in February 2020 and the search process will continue until the position is filled.

All applications should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/72856>. Interested applicants should provide a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, teaching statements and evaluations, as well as the names and contact information for three references.

ABOUT GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY: Georgetown University is one of the world's leading academic and research institutions, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of global citizens to lead and make a difference in the world. We are a vibrant community of exceptional students, faculty, alumni and professionals dedicated to real-world applications of our research, scholarship, faith and service.

Established in 1789, Georgetown is the nation's oldest Catholic and Jesuit university. Drawing upon the 450-year-old legacy of Jesuit education, we provide students with a world-class learning experience focused on educating the whole person through exposure to different faiths, cultures and beliefs. More information can be found here.

ABOUT THE MCDONOUGH SCHOOL OF BUSINESS: Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business attracts

faculty and students from around the world. We are committed to developing principled leaders capable of making complex business decisions in a global environment and who are dedicated to serving both business and society. Georgetown McDonough offers undergraduate, MBA, Executive MBA, and specialized programs. More information can be found here.

ABOUT THE WALSH SCHOOL OF FOREIGN SERVICE: The Walsh School of Foreign Service (SFS), founded in 1919, is a premier school of international affairs. At Georgetown's Washington, D.C., and Qatar campuses, SFS provides a rigorous education grounded in both theory and practice while instilling the Jesuit values of service. SFS hosts top-ranked undergraduate and graduate studies which feature an interdisciplinary core curriculum that focuses on international affairs, government, economics, history, theology, philosophy, geography, and language. SFS faculty are scholars in political science, economics, history, and cultural studies, as well as professionals with backgrounds in business, government, and the nonprofit sector. More information can be found here.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/3/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7609

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Social Sciences at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay invites applications for 1 Full-Time position in Political Science or Sociology, at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin no later than August 2021. Completion, or near completion of a PhD is required. We seek scholars with strong interest and training in at least one of the following subareas: research methods, public policy, political economy or comparative politics. The successful candidate will have experience in conducting fieldwork and research that is guided by questions of larger theoretical importance.

The position involves a 2-2 course load, advising of undergraduate and graduate theses, and the development of an ambitious research agenda. Working conditions, remuneration, and career prospects will be competitive with respect to regional standards. Successful candidates will be fluent in Spanish and English and will have a concern with social responsibility and the ethical implications of knowledge and action.

The Department of Social Science offers undergraduate and M.A. degrees. Comprised of a group of young scholars with research interests that span across economics, politics, urban studies and sociology, the Department supports an eclectic approach to research, often cutting across traditional academic boundaries.

The Department also hosts the Methods Winter School each July. Montevideo is a small and very livable city, right across Buenos Aires. The Río de la Plata region is one of the two centers of the Southern Cone growing academic network alongside Santiago de Chile.

Prospective candidates should upload a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of undergraduate syllabus, 1 writing sample and three letters of recommendation to the following application webpage: <https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>

Review of applications will begin on April 20th 2020 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 4/17/2020
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7601

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - International Development

The Harris School of Public Policy seeks postdoctoral researchers in international development and international policy. Postdoctoral researchers work on independent research under a senior faculty member's guidance, teach 2 quarter-length courses per year, and participate in the academic life of the school (including attending workshops and seminars). The position of postdoctoral researcher at the rank of instructor, is initially for a one-year, renewable term.

Candidates should have a demonstrated record of research achievement. Candidates are expected to complete their PhD by the appointment start date. To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic jobs board at: apply.interfolio.com/72826. Applicants must upload a: 1) cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) one writing sample; and 4) two letters of recommendation. Applicants may also submit optional documents such as a third letter of reference and/or an additional writing sample. Review of applications will begin on February 1, 2020. No applications will be accepted after June 30, 2020.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7606

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy seeks postdoctoral researchers in political economy. Postdoctoral researchers work on independent research under a senior faculty member's guidance, teach 2 quarter-length courses per year, and participate in the academic life of the school (including attending workshops and seminars). The position of postdoctoral researcher at the rank of instructor, is initially for a one-year, renewable term.

Candidates should have a demonstrated record of research achievement. Candidates are expected to complete their PhD by the appointment start date. To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic jobs board at: apply.interfolio.com/72814. Applicants must upload a: 1) cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) one writing sample; and 4) two letters of recommendation. Applicants may also submit optional documents such as a third letter of reference and/or an additional writing sample. Review of applications will begin on January 29, 2020. No applications will be accepted after June 30, 2020.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/2/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7605

Emory University

Rank: Post-doctoral Researcher

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Post-doctoral Researcher
 Department of Political Science
 Emory University
 Atlanta, Georgia

The Politics of Policing Lab at Emory University invites applications for a post-doctoral researcher to work with Tom Clark, Adam Glynn, and Michael Leo Owens. The two-year position begins September 1, 2020, funded by a grant from the Law and Sciences Program of the National Science Foundation. Responsibilities include filing government records requests; converting government records into a comprehensive database; database management; and establishing online infrastructure for depositing, maintaining, and disseminating data. The position includes competitive salary and benefits, funding to support conference travel, and opportunities to publish both independent and lab-based research. Applicants should have rigorous database management skills, familiarity with filing government records requests with local governments, and appropriate coding and data analysis skills. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand by September 1, 2020.

To apply for this position, please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and two letters of recommendation to polisci.american@emory.edu. To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 12/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7585

Georgetown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow, Massive Data Institute

The Massive Data Institute (MDI) at the McCourt School of Public Policy seeks a postdoctoral Fellow with research interests at the intersection of public policy and big data to help build up--and be a part of--the research efforts here at MDI. Applicants can hold a Ph.D in any discipline, but must conduct policy-relevant research that involves large data sets.

The Massive Data Institute is an interdisciplinary center focusing on key public policy and analytic issues involving high-dimensional data. It is the expectation that the postdoctoral Fellow will assist in building relationships across disciplines and departments within the University. Further, MDI has budding partnerships with numerous external agencies and the Fellow will be involved in conversations and interactions with potential partners. Some travel (domestic and international) may be required.

The postdoctoral Fellow will help MDI advance faculty research and impact policy. Duties include research development and support and teaching data science workshops.

Research:

Fellows are expected to engage in their own advanced independent research and engage in projects with the research faculty and affiliated faculty at the Massive Data Institute. The Fellow will also look for opportunities to collaborate with faculty and practitioners at Georgetown, and is expected to give at least one seminar presentation based on their work while a Fellow.

Teaching:

Fellows will teach 2 to 3 data-oriented workshops related on a big data topic each semester, i.e. participate in the "MDI Data Workshop Series" and contribute to the intellectual life of the McCourt School and the Massive Data Institute by interacting with students and faculty.

Administrative:

The Postdoctoral Fellow will assist the Director and Research Professors of the Massive Data Institute and help manage and supervise students working in MDI.

--

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/13/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7574

Augustana College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Public Policy

About Augustana College:

Augustana College is a selective liberal arts and sciences college of 2,500 students, including 26 percent first generation college students, 23 percent Pell Grant students, 24 percent students of color, and 12 percent international students. Our beautifully wooded and largely residential campus is located in Rock Island, IL, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago. Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body. Details about Augustana College, our expectations of the faculty, the selection process, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana.

Job Description:

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Public Policy position beginning in August of the 2020-2021 academic year. The candidate must be broadly trained in Public Policy. This position is open with respect to methodology and focus. The successful candidate will teach American National Government and courses in Public Policy including those in her/his area of interest. Over time, the candidate will develop a curriculum for Public Policy, one of the concentration areas offered by the political science program.

Preference will be given to candidates who hold a doctoral degree in Political Science by the time of employment, although ABD candidates will also be considered. Candidates with a variety of expertise areas are encouraged to apply; however, preference will be given to individuals with research and teaching background in Public Health Policy or Environmental Policy and those who examine public policy issues through perspectives that have been historically marginalized. All faculty contribute to the first-year experience through a combination of teaching in the college's first-year inquiry program and/or offering January-term courses aimed at first-year students.

The successful candidate will join a diverse and active, five-member department. Each faculty colleague has interdisciplinary interest beyond political science that complement the political science curriculum such as Africana Studies, Latin American Studies, Asian Studies, Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Environmental Studies and more. Successful candidate will be able to demonstrate teaching effectiveness and a willingness to embrace the nature of a liberal arts education. An interest in involving students in faculty research is preferred. Experience and interest in working with students and community members of many backgrounds will be an asset for applicants.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will be accepted through February 3, 2020.

Requirements:

Preference will be given to candidates who hold a doctoral degree in Political Science by the time of employment, although ABD candidates will also be considered.

Additional Information:

Augustana College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Augustana College provides equal opportunity to all qualified employees and applicants without regard to race, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, veteran status, and any other category protected by federal, state, or local law.

Application Instructions:

To apply, please go to this link and click "Apply Now" at the bottom of the page : <https://augustana.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=118841>

A complete application will include: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copy of graduate transcripts, a statement of teaching and scholarship philosophies, evidence of teaching effectiveness, three letters of recommendation, and a scholarship sample. Questions should be directed to Dr. Xiaowen Zhang, Search Committee Chair, at 309-794-8954 or xiaowenzhang@augustana.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/3/2020

Date Posted: 12/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7554

Texas A&M University

Rank: Albritton Center for Grand Strategy - Pre- and Post- Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Albritton Center for Grand Strategy at the Bush School of Government and Public Service, Texas A&M University, is inviting applications to its residential fellowship program for the 2020-2021 academic year. The program will support one pre-doctoral and one post-doctoral fellow. The Albritton Center is particularly interested in scholars that are engaging with the fundamental questions surrounding grand strategy: How should the national interest be defined? What are the threats to the national interest? How should the United States use its power in response? Applications are invited from scholars of political science, history, and other relevant disciplines.

Fellows will be expected to be in residence at the Bush School for the duration of their fellowships (September 2020 - August 2021). They will be provided with office space and access to the resources of the Bush School and Texas A&M University.

The pre-doctoral fellow is expected to make substantial progress toward – and ideally complete – a dissertation during the fellowship. The post-doctoral fellow is expected to complete a manuscript for publication. The post-doctoral fellow is also expected to teach one course to Bush School students. Finally, both fellows are asked to write a short, policy-relevant piece while in residence.

Fellows will participate in Center activities, to include seminars, workshops, and conferences. They will work with an active community of scholars in international affairs, political science, history, and other disciplines at Texas A&M University.

Eligibility:

Applicants for the pre-doctoral fellowship must be pursuing a Ph.D. in political science, history or other relevant discipline. Applicants must pass all qualifying exams and advance to the level of candidacy prior to the start of their appointment.

Applicants for the post-doctoral fellowship must have completed their PhD in political science, history, or other relevant discipline to begin the fellowship. Recent PhD recipients are especially encouraged to apply.

Award information:

The pre-doctoral fellow will receive a stipend of $39,000, as well as $5,000 in research funding. The postdoctoral fellow will receive a salary of $60,000 (payable monthly), as well as $10,000 in research funding. The post-doctoral fellow will also be eligible for the benefits package available to TAMU employees.

Application process:

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, short writing sample (no more than 10,000 words), and a letter of recommendation (preferably by the applicant's dissertation advisor) to bushschoolCGS@tamu.edu.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, with those arriving by January 17, 2020 receiving priority attention.

Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/veterans/disability employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7556

University of Houston

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor – American Politics / Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a visiting assistant professor position for Fall 2020-Spring 2021. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on American Politics and/or Public Policy. Successful candidates should have extensive methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin January 13 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a Carnegie Tier-1 research university with one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of scholars.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 700 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is FAC001313. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide a letter of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Jason Casellas, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at jcasella@central.uh.edu.

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7535

University of Chicago

Rank: Research Professor - Public Finance

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for a Research Professor in the field of state and local public finance. We are searching for candidates with relevant specialization in public capital markets, government accounting, state and local fiscal policy, public-private partnerships, or related topics. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in economics, political science, or associated discipline. The position will be an initial 5-year appointment.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/71697. Applicants are required to submit the following materials with their application: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) contact information for 2 references; 3) writing/research sample; 4) research statement; and 5) teaching statement. Review of applications will begin on December 20, 2019. No applications will be accepted after May 15, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7515

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2020-21

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian

Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for ten months, starting in August or September 2020. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/70841>

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7425

North Dakota State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

North Dakota State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position in political economy, to begin on August 16, 2020.

The department of Criminal Justice & Political Science at NDSU is recruiting for a 9-month tenure-track position, at the rank of assistant professor—or, for especially qualified applicants, associate professor—starting Fall 2020. We seek candidates with expertise in any area of political economy, although especially invite applications from candidates who focus on the political economy of development. For candidates with a regional specialization, we are especially interested in scholars studying areas other than Europe and North America. Successful applicants should be versed in comparative or international political economy and have a strong commitment to policy-relevant research and teaching. This is a 50% research, 40% teaching, 10% service position. The teaching load is, at most, 2-2, with at least one course release in the first three years. While the tenure home will be in the Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science, this position will be affiliated with the NDSU College of Business' Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research, teaching, and outreach that contributes to the Institute's mission. In turn, the Institute may also provide opportunities for graduate student assistance, course buyouts, and summer research support. Successful applicants will be prepared to teach core undergraduate courses in comparative politics and/or international relations, upper-division classes on political economy, political institutions, and global policy issues, and will have opportunities to contribute to existing and emerging programs in public policy, political and economic institutions, and global studies. The department has minimal service expectations for pre-tenure faculty.

Minimum Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for the position are: 1) a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Economics, or a related discipline, conferred no later than August, 2020, 2) evidence of research productivity, or potential to publish scholarship in peer reviewed journals, presses, and other outlets appropriate to one's field, 3) experience teaching political economy, institutions, and/or global policy courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels, 4) potential to contribute to the Challey Institute's mission, and 5) effective written and oral communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications

We will give priority to candidates who 1) can provide substantial evidence of research productivity and quality, 2) can provide substantial evidence of teaching effectiveness, 3) have experience pursuing and/or obtaining external funding, 4) have a research focus on the political economy of development, 5) conduct teaching and research that can contribute to NDSU's commitment to diversity and inclusion, 6) have experience working in, or developing, a global studies program, 7) have experience contributing to, or developing, a master's program in public policy, and/or 8) have a regional focus outside Europe and North America.

Application

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, course materials, evidence of participation in teaching professionalization activities, and, if available, evaluations by peers and/or mentors; please do not include student evaluations of teaching), and names and contact information for 3 references (we will contact references for roughly 10 short-listed applicants). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://jobs.ndsu.edu/postings/10886>. Initial screening of applications will begin on or about November 21, 2019.

NDSU especially encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups.

The Department

The Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science has 12 tenure-track faculty members and serves roughly 100 undergraduate majors in political science, and 200 undergraduate and 20 graduate students in criminal justice. Faculty in the department teach four classes per year. The NDSU community and national organizations have regularly recognized department faculty for excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. The college provides faculty with computing resources and tenure-track faculty within the department receive a yearly research and professionalization budget that covers travel to 1-2 conferences, and which faculty routinely supplement with College and University travel grants.

The Challey Institute

The Sheila and Robert Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth is an interdisciplinary institute that aims to advance understanding in the areas of innovation, trade, and institutions to identify policies and solutions that enhance economic growth and opportunity. The Challey Institute works toward achieving its mission by engaging in research, student programming, and outreach in the areas of (1) international trade, investment, and immigration, (2) innovation and entrepreneurship, and (3) institutions and policy.

The University

North Dakota State University is a comprehensive, student-focused, land-grant, research university with more than 14,000 students from 47 states and 79 countries. NDSU was the first university in North Dakota to be named to the most research-intensive category by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and is listed in the National Science Foundation's top 100 in several areas, including agricultural sciences, social sciences, physical sciences, chemistry, psychology, and computer sciences.

NDSU values faculty members' work-life balance and the needs of dual-career couples. The College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences' guidelines on family-related reassignment of duties are available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/ahss/family2010.pdf> and University policy on extension of the probationary period for personal or family reasons is available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/352.pdf>. NDSU is an ADVANCE institution and has a Focus on Resources for Women's Advancement, Recruitment/Retention, and Development (FORWARD) program, that, as part of its efforts, has developed procedures and funding streams for dual career hiring at NDSU: <https://www.ndsu.edu/forward/>. Applicants can find more information about NDSU at <http://www.ndsu.edu>.

The Community

NDSU is located in Fargo-Moorhead (F-M), a pleasant, safe, diversifying, and growing community of approximately 245,000 people. As the largest population center in the region, F-M is a hub of entertainment, finance, information technology, and medical services for a large geographic area including the state of North Dakota, and western Minnesota. Two universities (NDSU and Minnesota State University Moorhead) and one private liberal arts college (Concordia College) are located in F-M. The F-M area has a healthy economy: ND has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the U.S., good public schools, low crime rates, ample shopping, local theatre and music companies, several art galleries, semi-professional baseball and hockey, and Division I intercollegiate athletics. Hector International Airport in Fargo is convenient and is served by several major airlines. Sun, clear skies, and clean air predominate year-round. Visiting nearby northern Minnesota lakes, canoeing, camping, cycling, softball, and soccer are popular in summer; winter pastimes include cross-country skiing, skating, and snowmobiling. The city has an excellent park system that includes several quality golf courses and bicycle/running/ski paths along the Red River, which divides Fargo-Moorhead. Fargo is an hour drive from a major resort area in the Minnesota "lakes country" and two hours from scenic Itasca State Park, where you will find the headwaters of the Mississippi river. Central and western North Dakota offer beautiful hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and related opportunities in the Badlands, national grasslands, and numerous river valleys. Winnipeg, Manitoba is less than a four-hour drive to the north and Minneapolis-St. Paul is an equal distance to the south-east.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/26/2019

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7385

University of Texas at Dallas

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

The Public Policy and Political Economy Program in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences at The University of Texas, Dallas is seeking applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the assistant professor rank. The hire will support a new interdisciplinary master's degree, the MS in Cyber Security, Technology, and Policy, which is collaboratively staffed with computer science and other disciplines. The goal of the degree is to prepare students to analyze cyber security and technologies issues, implementation, and analysis, within an interdisciplinary and strategic approach. We are seeking a Ph.D. in a social science or public policy-related field, who focuses on cybersecurity. Particular topics of interest include legal aspects of the regulation of technology, resilience and security, the economics of information security, the interaction of security, privacy, and technology, or analysis of cybersecurity policy, but all exceptional candidates will be considered.

The University of Texas at Dallas has the highest freshman SAT scores of any public University in Texas and was recently ranked 39th among the 100 best universities in the world under 50 years old by Times Higher Education magazine. UT Dallas is one of the youngest universities to achieve the Carnegie Commission's highest research classification of "Doctoral Universities – Highest Research Activity."

Applicants should submit letter of application, current curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation to <https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/13164>. Additional questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Patrick Brandt (pbrandt@utdallas.edu). Review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Texas at Dallas is an Equal Opportunity / Equal Access / Affirmative Action Employer and strongly encourages applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the University's faculty and administration.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7300

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics/ Public Policy
(Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics/Public Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: Turkish Politics, policy evaluation or social policy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5911

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684