In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science ...................... 3

Job Listings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Administration</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>American Government and Politics</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparative Politics</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Relations</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Methodology</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Non-Academic</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Open</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Political Theory</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Administration</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Law</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Policy</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSAs over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

October 2020 | Volume 9, Issue 10
ISSN 2167-8332
Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science ........................................ 3

Job Listings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Field</th>
<th>Listings</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Administration</td>
<td>4 (4 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>American Government and Politics</td>
<td>7 (34 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparative Politics</td>
<td>24 (40 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Relations</td>
<td>42 (53 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Methodology</td>
<td>71 (17 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Non-Academic</td>
<td>79 (2 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Open</td>
<td>80 (25 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other</td>
<td>93 (36 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Political Theory</td>
<td>115 (20 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Administration</td>
<td>128 (7 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Law</td>
<td>135 (11 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Policy</td>
<td>141 (34 listings)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total listings this issue</td>
<td>283</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Resources and Guidance on Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

---

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

| Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates. |
|---|---|
| Salary | 2. What are departmental or institutional expectations regarding: |
| 1. What is the salary structure? | • the average course load, |
| 2. How is salary normally negotiated? | • the number of different courses taught by faculty, and |
| 3. How are annual increases handled? | • advising of graduate and undergraduate students? |
| 4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members? | Teaching Support |
| Service Activities | 1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support: |
| 1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding: | • the development of teaching expertise, |
| • departmental and institutional committee work, | • innovations in teaching, and |
| • professional or disciplinary activities, and | • the introduction of new courses and new technologies? |
| • outreach activities to communities external to institution? | Health and Life Insurance |
| Research Support | 1. What are the plans offered? |
| 1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support: | 2. What is the matching percentage of the institution? |
| • access to research materials and equipment, | 3. Is contribution required (and how much)? |
| • the employment of research assistants, | Retirement |
| • research expenses on/off campus, and | 1. How many types of retirement plans are offered? |
| • travel expenses for conferences? | 2. What is the matching percentage of the institution? |

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program
For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.
The Antiracist Research and Policy Center (ARPC) at American University (AU) invites applications and nominations for a full-time Executive Director. The successful candidate will join a vibrant and collegial community of scholars, professionals, authors, advocates, activists, organizers, and creators at the University. The Executive Director will continue building a new vision for the Center, and help cohere and amplify the work of other scholars on AU’s campus, while advancing their own scholarly agenda related to antiracist, research, praxis, and/or policy. Research should include an active antiracist agenda, including the study of racial inequalities and racial disparities. The director must be committed to working collaboratively with the Center faculty, fellows, and other partners on campus and in the Washington, D.C. region. Qualified candidates may be eligible for a tenured appointment in an appropriate academic unit with teaching obligations subject to negotiation. The appointment begins July 1, 2021.

About American University
American University (AU) is a highly selective student-centered research private institution within Washington, DC and is defined by its global outlook, practical idealism, and passion for public engagement. AU’s nationally and internationally acclaimed faculty are renowned for their commitment to excellence in scholarship and teaching and for sponsoring programs that draw upon the extraordinary cultural, scientific, public affairs, legal, business, international, and communication resources in the greater metropolitan area of Washington, DC. Our student body is cosmopolitan and globally diverse, with over 12,000 undergraduate and graduate students represented by all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and over 150 countries. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. Learn more about the Center at https://www.american.edu/centers/antiracism/ and the university’s strategic plan here: https://www.american.edu/about/strategic-plan/.

Qualifications
Our ideal candidate will be an emerging or established thought leader in the field(s) of race, racism, racial inequality, colonialism, and related fields, as well as a thought leader in antiracism and related frameworks with a track record and established trajectory of high-impact scholarly, professional, and/or creative work that focuses on antiracism and equity. A focus on the specific experiences of historically marginalized racial groups in the U.S., particularly Black, Indigenous, and Latinx groups, and/or a comparative focus on racial oppression and liberatory movements within and beyond the U.S. is welcome, as are interdisciplinary approaches. Our ideal candidate will shape the Center’s strategic vision and goals while contributing to fundraising efforts for research, outreach, and events. In these and other activities, the Executive Director will be supported by a full-time Managing Director and the university’s Development Office. ARPC’s Executive Director should have a significant record related to antiracism which they will continue to pursue while leading the Center, while also working collaboratively with the AU faculty, students and staff to help define and deepen innovative, pathbreaking, and intersectional approaches to antiracism-related research and praxis, policy analysis and advocacy, and creative projects on and beyond AU’s campus. To browse the eight thematic areas in which faculty affiliates conduct antiracism work across academic disciplines, please see: https://www.american.edu/centers/antiracism/faculty-affiliates.cfm.

Application Instructions
Salary and benefits are competitive (for an overview of AU’s benefits for full-time faculty and staff, visit: https://www.american.edu/hr/benefits/). Please include a cover letter with your application which addresses: 1) the candidate’s leadership style, 2) the candidate’s understanding of and approach to antiracist research, praxis, and policy and 3) how the candidate’s style and approach will complement and grow the existing focal areas and activities of the Center. In addition to the cover letter, all applications must include a curriculum vitae with an appended list of three references and copies of three recent publications or equivalent antiracist projects. Letters of recommendation will be requested at a later stage. Reviews of applications will begin October 30.

To apply, visit: https://careers.american.edu/Staff/job/Washington-Executive-Director%2C-Anti-Racist-Research-and-Policy-Center-DC-20016/676834100/

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8146

Anderson University
Rank: Executive Director

The Center for Security Studies and Cyber Defense (CSSCD) was established through a $1 million dollar Lilly Endowment Grant to support both the mission of Anderson University’s Security Studies Program and the surrounding community.

The CSSCD supports the mission of Anderson University’s Security Studies Program to develop a pipeline of graduates with excellent technical skills, strong Christian ethics, and a desire to serve on the front lines in defending the nation, our communities, and institutions from threats, foreign and domestic, in both the physical and cyber realms. The program consists of interdisciplinary majors in Cybersecurity and National Security designed to help our students develop an understanding of security policy (national, homeland, and cyber), technical skills through experiential learning, and a set of professional ethics from a Christian-faith perspective.

The CSSCD supports the surrounding community by providing a number of low-cost or no-cost security services to local and regional constituents. These services include: 1) Cybersecurity assessment services, network traffic monitoring through a Security Operations Center (SOC), and digital or physical penetration testing. 2) Table-top exercises for testing organizational responses to security threats such as ransomware attacks, data breaches, or catastrophic events. 3) Training and certification for the local workforce through workshops and seminars taught by security studies faculty, CSSCD staff, and field experts. 4) Conferences and publications to keep our constituents informed about current security threats and the tools and practices designed to address them.

As a Christian, liberal arts institution, the mission of AU is to educate for a life of faith and service in the church and society. The CSSCD challenges our students and staff to use their expertise in ethical and constructive ways, while equipping students with the knowledge and skills that can be used to preserve and promote security in every sector of American society. Students will utilize their critical thinking skills to discover solutions to complex problems through creative and ethical innovation and apply their technical skills through the various services offered by the center.

The Executive Director of the Center for Security Studies and Cyber Defense will coordinate the Center’s activities, utilizing his or her professional network to engage partner organizations, potential clients, and both governmental and industry leaders in order to contribute to the success and dynamic growth of the CSSCD as well as the cybersecurity and national security majors at Anderson University.

Duties and responsibilities

- Provide leadership towards accomplishing the mission of the center, working with a team composed of an Assistant Director, Executive Assistant, the teaching faculty of the security studies program, and students in the national security and cybersecurity majors.
- Establish and develop a broadly diverse CSSCD Advisory Board to support the center’s mission.
- Promote the security studies program at AU, raising awareness of the cybersecurity and national security majors and thereby contribute to an increased enrollment in these programs.
- Develop connections with corporate, governmental, civic and social service organizations to generate business for the CSSCD and provide educational, internship, and networking opportunities for students.
- Oversee the CSSCD budget, coordinating expenses and income sources, meeting the necessary income goals to support the Center prior to the end of the grant period.
- Report to the Provost through the established academic structure.

Qualifications

Successful candidate will be a recognized leader in the fields of cybersecurity or national security who demonstrates a professional and personal commitment to the vision, mission, and values of Anderson University. The candidate will demonstrate support for Christian liberal arts education and the specific ability to integrate faith and the disciplines of cybersecurity and national security in a distinctive way. Preference will be given to candidates who possess publications in the field of cybersecurity or national security.

This position is full-time and eligible for full-time benefits.

Qualifications include:

- Ability to develop new and leverage existing networks to advance the mission and funding of the Center.
- Willingness to travel, attend national conferences, and meet with potential partners and clients, primarily within the Midwest region.
- Bachelor’s degree required. Master’s degree preferred.

Direct reports include an Assistant Director and an Executive Assistant

Qualified and interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, resume and employment application to staffjobs@anderson.edu. Persons with an application on file or current university employees should send an email to staffjobs@anderson.edu to express interest in this position.

Anderson University is on a mission to educate students for lives of faith and service, offering more than 60 undergraduate majors, 30 three-year degrees, 20 NCAA Division III intercollegiate sports, alongside adult and graduate programs. The private, liberal arts institution is fully accredited and recognized among top colleges for its business, computer science, cybersecurity, national security, dance, engineering, nursing, and teacher education programs. Anderson University was established in 1917 in Anderson, Indiana, by the Church of God.

AU is an equal opportunity employer. Persons who bring diversity are encouraged to apply. Anderson University complies with federal and state requirements for non-discrimination in employment with regard to sex, age, race, color, disability, and national and ethnic origin.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 8078

The Trilateral Commission

Rank: Research Project Director: Trilateral Commission Initiative on Rethinking Capitalism and the Future of Market-Based Economies

The Trilateral Commission is searching for a director for a new initiative on the future of capitalism and market-based economies.

The initiative will examine whether and in what ways market-based economies and capitalist systems should change to better promote inclusive, prosperous, democratic societies. The project will be comprised of several components, including an international task force on the future of market-based/capitalist societies that will launch in fall 2020. The task force will be led by three prominent co-chairs, one each from North America, Europe, and Asia, and will include experts from government, business, and other intellectual centers across the three geographies. The members will consider an array of topics, generate issue-specific papers, and produce a final, landmark report with specific recommendations. The final report will draw on the experiences of countries from around the world that vary in their balance among government, business, and society.

Working closely with the co-chairs and the Commission leadership, the project director will have primary responsibility for shaping and helping to execute the task force’s intellectual agenda. This will involve commissioning and potentially drafting portions of the various issue-specific papers, conducting background research, disseminating information to members, organizing working group meetings, ensuring that key milestones are met in a timely fashion, and handling expenses associated with the project. The director will draft the landmark report, based on task force deliberations and member input, and ensure a final product that is both reflective of the group’s thinking and includes a clear set of recommendations.

The director will be welcomed at, expected to attend, and potentially participate in the Commission’s regular meetings. Each group (North America, Europe, and Asia) holds an annual regional meeting and the Commission as a whole convenes annually for a meeting that rotates among the three geographies.

Relevant qualifications include a post-graduate degree, either a masters degree or a recent PhD, and some track record working on or publishing about the future of capitalism. The director must be comfortable working with people from a wide variety of backgrounds, be a superb project manager, have a collaborative work style, and be at ease working both on intellectual substance and logistical elements. In the latter, the director will have a close working relationship with the North American coordinator of the Trilateral Commission.

For the foreseeable future, the bulk of the work of the director and the task force will take place virtually, and there are no set residency requirements. Conditions permitting, it is likely that the director will travel in order to consult with co-chairs and members and to facilitate some in-person meetings.

The position is initially for one calendar year and is envisioned to be part-time. There is a strong possibility of renewal after one year, as the remit of the project grows. The salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Candidates should submit a resume, including contact information; a cover letter; an analytical writing sample of 20 pages or less; and names, titles, and contact information for three references. This material should be emailed to Cassandra Favart, Coordinator for the North America Trilateral Commission, at cfavart@trilateral.org. The Commission will be accepting applications until October 15, 2020, with interviews for the position commencing shortly afterward with an aim to fill the position by early November.

About the Trilateral Commission

The Commission is a global membership organization that for decades has brought together senior policymakers, business leaders, and representatives of media and academe to discuss and propose solutions to some of the world’s toughest problems. Founded in 1973, the Commission has for decades served as an important venue to incubate ideas and build relationships across sectors and the geographies of North America, Europe, and Asia. The countries represented in the Commission and its individual members share common values and a commitment to the rule of law, open economies and societies, and democratic principles. Traditionally focused on geopolitical trends and challenges, the Commission recently widened its aperture to also examine issues that affect the ability of individual countries to play traditional leadership roles in the international system.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8075

Congressional Research Service

Rank: Assistant Director and Senior Specialist (American Law Division)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Other

Open: 08/12/2020 to 10/07/2020
Salary: $131,239 to $197,300 per year

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) seeks a senior manager to lead its American Law Division (ALD), one of CRS’s five research divisions. CRS provides objective, nonpartisan, and authoritative legislative research, analysis, and consultative support exclusively to the U.S. Congress.

This position serves as head of the American Law Division, a major CRS research division. In this capacity, and reporting directly to the Director of CRS, the Assistant Director manages, within the interdisciplinary environment of CRS, a professional legal staff in its production of written products and consulting services in support of the U.S. Congress.

Working directly with congressional committees and Members of the House and Senate, attorneys within CRS’s American Law Division contribute to an informed national legislature as it considers legal and policy issues of importance to the American people. Areas of research, analysis, and consultative support include all facets of law in the United States, including administrative, business, civil rights, constitutional, energy, environmental, health, immigration, intellectual property, international, labor, military, national security, procurement, tax and trade law.

The Assistant Director ensures that written and consulting work is of the highest quality and consistently meets the Service’s standards of objectivity, nonpartisanship, timeliness, legislative relevance, authoritativeness, and accessibility. In addition, the Assistant Director actively collaborates with managers and staff in CRS’s other research divisions to ensure that a multifaceted approach to policy issues is taken to best inform Congressional decision-making.

The Assistant Director leads implementation of the Service’s agenda for legal issues within the division’s areas of responsibility, including approaches, frameworks, and methodologies for addressing policy and legislative issues. This includes demonstrating personal intellectual leadership in monitoring congressional needs in the various policy areas and assuring access to the intellectual capacity needed to meet current and changing needs of the United States Congress at a sustained level of excellence. This also includes exercising overall responsibility for the oversight and management of the division’s human, financial, material, and information research assets, including a staff of approximately 65 employees. In performing these activities, the Assistant Director is responsible for ensuring that the research, analytical, and consulting activities of the division are aligned with the legislative needs of Congress and with the priorities, goals, and policies of CRS for meeting those needs.

The Assistant Director also serves as one of the chief advisors to the Director, counseling the Director on all aspects of the research management and operations of CRS and recommending specific policies and procedures for improving the Service’s overall quality, efficiency, and effectiveness. The Assistant Director serves as a member of the Director’s senior management team and serves as a principal CRS representative to Members, committees, and officers of the United States Congress.
Political Science Jobs

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/576048300.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 10/7/2020
Date Posted: 8/12/2020
Salary: $130,000 - $139,999
eJobs ID: 7976

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Boston University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Development, Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in American politics. The position is wide open with respect to substantive focus within American Politics — including, for example, American Political Development, race and racism, elections, inequality, environment, social movements, Congress, and education policy. Applicants who engage public policy or policy analysis in their research and teaching may be particularly welcome. The anticipated start date is 1 July 2021. The successful candidate will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment. The holder of this position will teach undergraduates and graduate students. Please submit a letter of interest to https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/17094. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a writing sample, a statement about your capacity to promote diversity, and three references. Completed applications are due on 10 November 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/10/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8162

University of Houston
Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for two tenure-track assistant professor positions, to begin Fall 2021. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on American Politics. Candidates from all subfields of American politics are invited to apply, though special consideration will be given to those whose research agendas add to the department’s existing strengths. Successful candidates should have extensive methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin November 7 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a Carnegie Tier-1 research university with one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of scholars.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Applications should be submitted through the University’s online job site, http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uhs-careers/. The position number keyword is FAC001466. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, unofficial transcripts and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide a letter of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Elizabeth Simas, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at ensimas@uh.edu

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8158

American University
Rank: Executive Director, Antiracist Research and Policy Center
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Open Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Social Movements, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

Summary/Objective
The Antiracist Research and Policy Center (ARPC) at American University (AU) invites applications and nominations for a full-time Executive Director. The successful candidate will join a vibrant and collegial community of scholars, professionals, authors, advocates, activists, organizers, and creators at the University. The Executive Director will continue building a new vision for the Center, and help cohere and amplify the work of other scholars on AU’s campus, while advancing their own scholarly agenda related to antiracist, research, praxis, and/or policy. Research should include an active antiracist agenda, including the study of racial inequalities and racial disparities. The director must be committed to working collaboratively with the Center faculty, fellows, and other partners on campus and in the Washington, D.C. region. Qualified candidates may be eligible for a tenured appointment in an appropriate academic unit with teaching obligations subject to negotiation. The appointment begins July 1, 2021.

About American University
American University (AU) is a highly selective student-centered research private institution within Washington, DC and is defined by its global outlook, practical idealism, and passion for public engagement. AU’s nationally and internationally acclaimed faculty are renowned for their commitment to excellence in scholarship and teaching and for sponsoring programs that draw upon the extraordinary cultural, scientific, public affairs, legal, business, international, and communication resources in the greater metropolitan area of Washington, DC. Our student body is cosmopolitan and globally diverse, with over 12,000 undergraduate and graduate students represented by all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and over 150 countries. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. Learn more about the Center at https://www.american.edu/centers/antiracism/ and the university’s strategic plan here: https://www.american.edu/about/strategic-plan/.

Qualifications
Our ideal candidate will be an emerging or established thought leader in the field(s) of race, racism, racial inequality, colonialism, and related fields, as well as a thought leader in antiracism and related frameworks with a track record and established trajectory of high-impact scholarly, professional, and/or creative work that focuses on antiracism and equity. A focus on the specific experiences of historically marginalized racial groups in the U.S., particularly Black, Indigenous, and Latinx groups, and/or a comparative focus on racial oppression and liberatory movements within and beyond the U.S. is welcome. Our ideal candidate will shape the Center’s strategic vision and goals while contributing to fundraising efforts for research, outreach, and events. In these and other activities, the Executive Director will be supported by a full-time Managing Director and the university’s Development Office. ARPC’s Executive Director should have a significant record related to antiracism which they will continue to pursue while leading the Center, while also working collaboratively with the AU faculty, students and staff to help define and deepen innovative, pathbreaking, and intersectional approaches to antiracism-related research and praxis, policy analysis and advocacy, and creative projects on and beyond AU’s campus. To browse the eight thematic areas in which faculty affiliates conduct antiracism work across academic disciplines, please see: https://www.american.edu/centers/antiracism/faculty-affiliates.cfm.

Application Instructions
Salary and benefits are competitive (for an overview of AU’s benefits for full-time faculty and staff, visit: https://www.american.edu/hr/benefits/). Please include a cover letter with your application which addresses: 1) the candidate’s leadership style, 2) the candidate’s understanding of and approach to antiracist research, praxis, and policy and 3) how the candidate’s style and approach will complement and grow the existing focal areas and activities of the Center. In addition to the cover letter, all applications must include a curriculum vitae with an appended list of three references and copies of three recent publications or equivalent antiracist projects. Letters of recommendation will be requested at a later stage. Reviews of applications will begin October 30.

To apply, visit: https://careers.american.edu/Staff/job/Washington-Executive-Director%2C-Anti-Racist-Research-and-Policy-Center-DC-20016/676834100/

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
DatePosted: 10/6/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8144

Claremont Graduate University
Rank: Tenured-Track Position in American Politics, focusing on State and Local Politics, American Institutions, and/or Law and Politics

Claremont Graduate University’s School of Social Science, Policy and Evaluation invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in American Politics, focusing on State and Local Politics, American Institutions, and/or Law and Politics, beginning July 1, 2021. The position rank is open. CGU’s Department of Politics and Government offers only graduate-level degrees: the PhD in Political Science; and several MA degrees including the MA in Politics, the MA in Religion and Politics, and the MA in Public Policy.

As a graduate-only research university, CGU values scholarly production, teaching, and mentoring. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in hand and maintain an active research agenda in their field of expertise, with a demonstrably strong record of publications commensurate with rank. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester, and the successful candidate should be prepared to teach graduate-level core American courses such as the US Congress; The Presidency and the Constitution; Political Parties in the United States; State and Local Politics; American Political Development, etc. We expect that the successful candidate will be expert in the use of appropriate research methods such as applied econometrics, survey research, legal research, experimental research, etc. CGU is a small university with a focus on transdisciplinarity, and therefore applicants with interests beyond one field are appreciated.

CGU is a member of The Claremont Colleges, which is composed of five undergraduate liberal arts colleges, and two graduate institutions. Joint research opportunities and teaching with the Claremont colleges may be possible.

Applicants should submit a letter discussing their interest in the position and how they could contribute to Political Science at CGU, a CV, a diversity statement (see below), and references to dpe-search@cgu.edu

Claremont Graduate University is committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to highlight their strengths and experiences in this area via their diversity statement. Applicants who have a demonstrated commitment to issues of diversity and inclusion are particularly encouraged to apply, as are individuals who have membership in one or more of the following groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding: Alaska Natives/Native American Indians, African Americans/Blacks, Mexican Americans/Hispanics/Latinx, Native Pacific Islanders (Hawaiian/Polynesian/Micronesian), and Puerto Ricans.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8144

Francis Marion University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration
Specializations: Criminal Justice, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science and Geography at Francis Marion University invites applications for a tenure track appointment, at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science, who can teach courses in public law, judicial politics, and criminal justice (the latter a program shared with the Department of Sociology.) Ph.D. in political science is preferred, ABD considered. The successful applicant will teach courses related to the candidate’s area of expertise, Intro to U.S. Government, and Intro to Criminal Justice. The teaching load is Assistant Professor – Political Science

The Political Science Department invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning Fall 2021. A strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching at a liberal arts university is essential. The department is seeking a generalist who is committed to developing courses in constitutional law and civil liberties as well as contributing to our department needs in institutions, behavior, methods, gender, or racial and ethnic politics. The candidate will also serve as advisor to our pre-law society. Energy, collegiality, and a commitment to liberal arts education are highly prized attributes in our department. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed the Ph.D. or will complete it before the Fall 2021 semester.

Application Process
Screening of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current vita, transcripts (initial submissions may be unofficial copies), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching excellence, and a one-page statement summarizing their philosophy of teaching to:

Jennifer Verga, Administrative Assistant jverga@mercyhurst.edu.

Mercyhurst is a mid-sized, Catholic, liberal arts, primarily residential university, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students. Class sizes are small, and the normal teaching load is 8 courses per year.

For information about the political science program see the departmental website: http://polisci.mercyhurst.edu.

Mercyhurst does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, creed, sex, citizenship status, ancestry, national or ethnic origin, age, familial status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, physical or mental disability, military or veteran status or any other legally protected characteristic or because of any individual’s legally protected activities.

Mercyhurst complies with federal, state and local legislation and regulations regarding nondiscrimination. This policy applies to faculty, administration and staff, applicants for employment, students and applicants for educational programs and activities.

Candidates must be currently eligible to work in the United States.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 8139

Harvard University
Rank: Democracy Visiting Fellowship
Specializations: United States, Political Theory, American Politics

The Ash Center for Democratic Governance and Innovation invites faculty, doctoral, and postdoctoral students to apply to its Democracy Visiting Fellowship Program and further their research on substantive democratic governance issues. For more information about the Democracy Fellowships, please see our Five-Year Retrospective.

Eligibility
We are broadly interdisciplinary and invite scholars who use approaches from political theory and philosophy, political science, sociology, law, or history. We are especially interested in drawing scholars whose work focuses on innovations in public participation and political participation in democracies or non-democracies.

Details
The duration of the fellowship is one academic year, lasting August 1 until July 31. Visiting Fellows will be expected to participate in a weekly community seminar series and engage in the activities of the Ash Center and Harvard Kennedy School more broadly. The Democracy Visiting Fellowship carries a modest administration fee, and offers institutional support including physical and online library access, access to Harvard’s electronic resources, and use of our shared fellow study space. If required, dedicated office space can be arranged that carries an additional fee.

How to Apply
Apply online here: https://harvard.az1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_51HxsGWLaJ3LpD7 for the AY 2021-2022 competition. The deadline for applications is Tuesday, December 1, 2020 at 11:59 PM ET.
The Ash Center is a vibrant and values-driven community. We are committed to diversity and welcome people of varied backgrounds, cultures, experiences, and disciplines. We actively seek applications from people of color, women, the LGBTQIA+ community, persons with disabilities, and underrepresented backgrounds.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, or any other characteristic protected by law.

If you have questions, please contact Democratic Governance Coordinator James Rasaiah.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/1/2020
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 8131

University of Missouri, Columbia
Rank: Post-Doctoral Position - Preparing Future Faculty – Faculty Diversity (PFFFD) Postdoctoral Program
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Public Policy

The University of Missouri’s Preparing Future Faculty – Faculty Diversity (PFFFD) Postdoctoral Program is designed to develop scholars for tenure-track faculty positions at the University of Missouri and elsewhere. Applicants should demonstrate how they can contribute to faculty diversity, such as through membership in a group that is historically underrepresented in a particular discipline or through other experience. Postdoctoral positions are for two years and provide research, teaching, and professional development opportunities. The stipend is a minimum of $56,000 per year plus University benefits and professional development funds. In order to be eligible for this program, applicants must have completed their doctoral degree, or expect to complete their degree no later than July 1, 2021, at a regionally accredited university.

The University of Missouri (“Mizzou”), located in the culturally vibrant small city of Columbia, is approximately 125 miles from both St. Louis and Kansas City. The campus enrolls more than 30,000 students; it is Missouri’s largest public research university and the heart of the four-campus University of Missouri System. As a member of the Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is one of the nation’s top institutions of higher learning.

We are currently accepting applications in the following research areas:

- Political Science/Public Affairs – Scholar with research and teaching interests in race/ethnicity/diversity in politics, public administration, or public policy. Scholars with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Affairs, or related field.

The deadline for applications is 11:59 PM (Central time), November 2, 2020. Finalists will be interviewed in January - February 2021.

To apply, please go here: https://applygrad.missouri.edu/apply/?sr=959b0871-eaef-44d0-b26-9c1e12ac854

Please create an account in the Graduate School’s application system. After you create an account, select the 2021 Preparing Future Faculty postdoctoral application. A completed application includes:

- Cover letter expressing interest in the position
- CV
- Statement of goals for postdoctoral position
- Diversity statement
- One-page abstract of doctoral dissertation
- Writing sample
- 3 letters of reference

Click here to read more about the University of Missouri’s PFFFD program. Questions about the program and application process may be directed to Dr. Lissa Behm-Morawitz (Associate Dean of the Graduate School) at postdoc@missouri.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/2/2020
Date Posted: 10/1/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8133

Colby College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of Government at Colby College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position to teach American government and politics, commencing September 1, 2021. We seek highly qualified candidates who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and who are committed to working with an increasingly diverse student body. We are looking for a dynamic teacher/scholar with expertise in one or more of the following areas: American political institutions (presidency, Congress, bureaucracy), federalism, public policy, and American political development. The successful applicant will teach Introduction to American Government and Politics, an introductory course in research methods, and additional courses chosen in consultation with the department chair. Teaching load is four courses in the first year, alternating between four and five courses per year thereafter, including the option to teach one course during Colby’s January term. Faculty are also expected to supervise a limited number of undergraduate senior theses.

Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in political science by September 1, 2021. Two years of experience in undergraduate teaching as the instructor of record is strongly preferred. The successful candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching a diverse student body and a strong and on-going research program that is open to the inclusion of undergraduates. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to this goal are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area when they apply.

Applicants should send a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, statements expressing the candidate’s teaching experience and research agenda, three letters of recommendation, a representative sample of current scholarship, evidence of teaching excellence, and a graduate school transcript. Review of applications will begin October 20, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to: governmentsearch@colby.edu

Apply: https://apply.interfolio.com/79109

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2020

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Salary: Competitive

U.S. Naval Academy
Rank: Assistant Professor (American Politics)
Specializations: Congress, Legislative Studies, Quantitative Methods

LOCATION:
United States Naval Academy, Political Science Department

APPLICATION TIMELINE:
Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

ABOUT THE U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY:
The United States Naval Academy is a unique institution of higher learning located in desirable Annapolis, Maryland. As an historic officer accession program and premier undergraduate college, the United States Naval Academy has its own distinctive niche amongst American educational institutions. Our talented faculty and staff are united by one common purpose—to develop the next generation of leaders for naval service. In order to deliver on this promise to our nation, we recruit from all segments of society to find faculty, instructors, and support staff who model the highest professional standards.

The United States Naval Academy serves a diverse student body. We believe that faculty members from diverse backgrounds strengthen our programs and positively impact student success. The United States Naval Academy is committed to building a diverse workforce and encourages qualified applicants from all backgrounds to apply for consideration.

Every year more than one million people tour “the Yard”; to experience what our employees already know — the United States Naval Academy is a special place, with a special purpose. Those selected for employment will find challenging and rewarding work; state-of-the-art facilities which inspire academic and athletic excellence; the benefits of Federal employment; and exceptional quality-of-life.

POSITION DESCRIPTION:
The Political Science Department at the U.S. Naval Academy invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor in American Politics to begin as early as August 2021. USNA is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching and research. American Politics scholars with expertise in Congress, legislative behavior, congressional elections and other subfields related to Congress are encouraged to apply. A strong methodological background and commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust interest to teach Introduction to U.S. Government, undergraduate research methods, and upper-level electives in their fields of concentration. The teaching load is typically three sections per semester with small section sizes (18-22 students) and 2-4 course preparations per year. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence. Candidates should also have a strong commitment to student advising and mentoring, and to service to the institution.

This is a 10-month federal excepted service position with a three year initial academic appointment. Salary for this position will be commensurate with experience and qualifications.

MINIMUM AND PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Minimum:
A Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required (anticipated completion of Ph.D. no later than June 2021 is acceptable). Preferred:
A teaching interest in the following areas: congress and undergraduate research methods.

HOW TO APPLY FOR POSITION:
Interested candidates should send a cover letter, teaching and research statements, diversity statement, curriculum vitae, and arrange for three references that address both teaching and research abilities to the American Government Search Committee at usna_polisci_amgov_2020-group@usna.edu.

Please note: Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT:
U.S. Citizenship Required
All Civilian Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation leading to successful completion of a background investigation with a favorable adjudication. The selectee’s failure to meet this requirement will be grounds for termination. Background investigations for non-US Citizens often require up to two years to complete, and for non-US Citizens the background check must be complete before employment can begin. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost’s website here http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:
The Department of the Navy provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact our Human Resource Office to ensure that the Department of the Navy can consider such requests. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case by case basis.

Submit a Demographic Information on Applicants Form to rsharps@usna.edu. Your responses will not be shared with the panel rating the applications or to the official making the selection for this position. All Civilian Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. These investigations are conducted to ensure that individuals hired are trustworthy, of good conduct, and reliable. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost’s website here http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8118

University of California, Merced
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a
The position will begin in September 2021. We seek a teacher-scholar in either State Politics and Policy or Urban and Local Politics.

The Department of Political Science at Santa Clara University, a Jesuit, Catholic university, seeks a diverse pool of applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position in US Politics with a specialization in either State Politics and Policy or Urban and Local Politics. The position will begin in September 2021. We seek a teacher-scholar with demonstrated commitment to, and excellence in, both undergraduate teaching and scholarly achievement.

Applicants must have a PhD at the time of appointment and a clear research trajectory, with experience teaching at the university level and a record of publication strongly preferred. The person we hire will teach Introduction to US Politics, upper-division courses in their area of specialty, and Introduction to Political Science Research. We are especially interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching will contribute to the Department’s public sector studies emphasis by promoting student engagement at the city, county, or state level, e.g. involving students in a locally-focused research project or integrating an experiential-learning component into a course.

For full consideration, applications should be received by November 2, 2020. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter addressing how the candidate’s teaching and research might advance diversity and foster intra- and inter-departmental connections, (2) a CV, (3) a teaching portfolio that includes a statement of teaching philosophy and interests as well as sample syllabi and teaching evaluations, (4) a writing sample of no more than 40 pages, and (5) unofficial graduate transcripts. Three confidential letters of recommendation must be emailed directly to the department manager, Casey Robertson, at crobertson26@scu.edu by either the recommenders or a dossier service.

Located in the heart of northern California’s Silicon Valley, Santa Clara is a private, Jesuit, Catholic university committed to promoting social justice in a comprehensive educational setting. Faculty are teaching-scholars who balance a commitment to quality teaching with active programs of research. A full-time teaching load is seven courses over three 10-week quarters, with a one-course reduction for research. Faculty receive scholarship support through sabbaticals and travel funds. Housing assistance is available.

Santa Clara University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer committed to the strategic goal of enriching the quality of our community of scholars by increasing the diversity among faculty, staff, and students. Women, persons of color, and members of historically underrepresented groups who can contribute to this goal are especially encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths, experiences, or interests related to achieving this goal in their letter of application.

Inquiries about this position may be emailed to the department chair, Greg Corning, at gcorning@scu.edu. Full details about the position may be viewed on the application portal at https://wd1.myworkdaysite.com/en-US/recruiting/scu/scu/job/Santa-Clara-CA-Assistant-Professor---Political-Science---State-Politics---Policy-or-Urban---Local-Politics---R969.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/2/2020
Date Posted: 9/26/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8106

Texas Tech University
Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics to begin Fall 2021. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specializations specifically focusing on race, ethnicity, and politics (REP). Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. We expect faculty to provide... service to the department, TTU, and the community. Because TTU is a Hispanic Serving Institution, experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. The successful candidate will have their PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applications for the position will start to be reviewed on 10/22/2020. For questions about the position, contact the department chair, Prof. Timothy Nokken.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/25/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8101

Wake Forest University
Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics (2 Tenure Track Positions)

Job Description Summary:

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY’s Department of Politics and International Affairs is seeking applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in the sub-field of American politics to start July 1, 2021. As a department, we believe that a diverse community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included is a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship. We therefore seek candidates whose areas of specialty will complement those already represented among American politics scholars in the department. More information about the department is available at http://politics.wfu.edu/

Job Description:

We invite applications from American politics scholars with expertise in any of the following, listed in no particular order: political thought, political development, political behavior (including mass movements), political psychology, political communication, urban and local politics, and public policy. A Ph.D. or ABD status in Political Science or a closely related field is required.

We have a particular interest in scholars with dynamic research agendas who make connections between subfields, and leverage intersectional and interdisciplinary perspectives. Faculty in the Politics and International Affairs Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary academic programs, including Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies; American Ethnic Studies; Environmental and Sustainability Studies; African Studies, Latin American and Latino Studies; Middle East and South Asia Studies; and East Asian Studies.

We seek candidates pursuing an active research agenda and committed to excellence in teaching who are prepared to teach introductory courses in American politics and/or undergraduate research methods. Candidates will also have opportunities to develop and teach courses that connect with their research agendas. Compelling applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first-generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community.

The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto “pro humanitate.” The Office of Civic and Community Engagement works to realize that ideal by serving as a hub for connecting students, staff, and faculty with community partners to create meaningful social change. To learn more about the University, please visit https://about.wfu.edu/

Interested applicants should apply via the University’s career website at: https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- Research statement describing candidate’s current research and future trajectory;
- Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- Sample undergraduate course syllabi;
- Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effect student engagement;
- Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation emailed directly to wfupol@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on November 2, 2020. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by November 1, 2020. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to Michaele Browsers, Chair, Wake Forest University, Department of Politics and International Affairs, P.O. Box 7568, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to wfupol@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Michaele Browsers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, bromerw@wfu.edu.

Wake Forest University welcomes and encourages diversity and inclusivity and seeks applicants with demonstrated success in working with diverse populations. Wake Forest University is an AA/EEO employer and values an inclusive and diverse learning community and campus climate. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation,
Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Bucknell University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics with a specialization in race and ethnic politics beginning in the fall semester of 2021. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in American politics, a course in race and ethnic politics, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other American politics courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department’s commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in American politics, but ABD candidates will also be considered with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be completed before the beginning of the second year.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Scott Meinke at smeinke@bucknell.edu. Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8087

Tufts University

Rank: Part Time Lecturer in American Politics Position for Spring 2021

Part-Time Lecturer in American Politics Position Request for Spring 2021

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a part-time lecturer position in American politics for spring 2021 semester. The course load is two courses. Teaching may require in-person, hybrid or remote assignments. One course should cover the U.S. Congress; the other course can be determined by the candidate in conjunction with the Department Chair. Particular areas of interest include the U.S. Congress. Though we welcome applications across the subfield, candidates specializing in American Politics with a sub-field in conjunction with the Department Chair. Particular areas of interest include racial and ethnic politics, gender, judicial politics, and state and local politics, though we welcome applications across the subfield.

Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science or related field required. College/ university teaching experience strongly preferred.

Please submit a dossier including curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests and/or experience, draft syllabi of at least one proposed course, and two letters of recommendation. All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/78900

The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact James
We are seeking a mid-career hire, likely at the advanced Assistant or Associate Professor level. A scholar with a record sufficient to be awarded tenure at UC Berkeley, at the time of hire or shortly thereafter, along with a strong commitment to teaching and diversity, equity, and inclusion. GSPP has a diverse faculty that is committed to all forms of diversity, and we encourage candidates from all backgrounds to apply.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Berkeley and at the Goldman School of Public Policy. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our faculty positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity and inclusion.

Minimum Basic Qualifications: Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree) or enrolled in a Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree) granting program and completion of all requirements except the dissertation at the time of application.

Preferred Qualifications: Receipt of the Ph.D. or equivalent international degree within one year of employment.

To apply please go to the following link:

https://apptrkr.com/2003791

Applications must be received by October 23, 2020. Applications that are not complete by the deadline will not be considered. Please direct all questions to Aaron Schiller at mailto:aaschiller@berkeley.edu.

Letters of Reference: letters of reference will be sought from finalists only, and we will seek your permission before doing so. All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (http://apo.berkeley.edu/evalltr.html) prior to submitting their letters.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmation action policy see: http://https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction

Copyright ©2017 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

https://www.jobelephant.com/joid-fbbf796e2c99747a100319659e8cf62

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/23/2020
Date Posted: 9/17/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8061

University of Miami
Rank: Assistant-Associate-Professor of American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Miami invites applications for an open-rank search in race and ethnic politics and policy. Senior applicants will be considered for an endowed chair position providing salary and research support. This search is part of a college-wide initiative to recruit scholars in conjunction with the establishment of an interdisciplinary Black Studies center. The expected teaching assignment is 2-2. Candidates should have a PhD or anticipate PhD completion by August 15, 2021.

Interested applicants may apply online at www.miami.edu/careers. Junior applicants should upload a single document including a cover letter; CV; a teaching statement focusing on your ability to contribute to an inclusive undergraduate political science major serving a diverse array of students; a PhD transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application); and a writing sample. Please arrange for three reference letters to be sent directly to the search chair at {UMPOLSearc...miami.edu}. Scholars applying for the rank of associate or full professor should upload a single document including a letter of interest (with a statement about your proposed contributions to an inclusive undergraduate political science major serving a diverse array of students), a CV, and a list of three references. Applications received on or before (October 15, 2020), will be given full consideration, though the committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. For further information about the position, please contact the department chair (Gregory Koger, gkoger@miami.edu). Additional information about the Department is available at http://www.as.miami.edu/politicalscience/.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/16/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8056

University of Washington
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science, Comparative Politics or Political Economy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics
Specializations: Advanced Industrial Societies, Developing Nations, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Washington invites applications for a full-time (100%) tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics or Political Economy, starting September 2021. Tenure track faculty engage in teaching, research and service and have an annual service period of nine months (Sept 16-June 15). A strong research record is expected. Candidates should have completed all requirements for a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field (or foreign equivalent) by the appointment start date, though applicants at the ABD level will also be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement and three letters of recommendation. The research statement should describe the applicant’s substantive research interests. The teaching statement should describe the applicant’s teaching philosophy, list undergraduate and graduate level teaching interests, and provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, if applicant has prior teaching experience. As a public institution, the University of Washington seeks candidates committed to working with diverse student and community populations. Therefore, applicants should describe how their scholarship and teaching support diverse communities.

Candidate materials should be electronically submitted to https://apply.interfolio.com/78296. Review of applications will begin on October 17, 2020. Questions about this position can be directed to polisci@uw.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8054

U.S. Army War College
Rank: Political Geography and Demographic Studies
Specializations: Political Development, Science & Technology, International Security

Strategic Studies Institute Seeks Expert on Political Geography and Demographic Studies

The U.S. Army War College’s Strategic Studies Institute (SSI) seeks an expert on political geography and demography to join one of the most dynamic think tanks in the national security research field and help inform and shape U.S. national and defense policy. The successful candidate for this position will serve as a resident research professor of national security affairs. The responsibilities will be to research, analyze, and publish studies, organize collaborative research groups, conferences, and seminars, and serve as a subject matter expert for the U.S. Army War College and the Department of the Army on political demography and geography as related to U.S. national security. SSI research professors also publish widely through external professional and academic outlets and provide presentations to a wide range of military and civilian audiences.

Research professors design their research and publication agenda in consultation with SSI leadership and, at times, respond to specific strategic research requests. While research, analysis, publication, and collaboration are the primary responsibilities, the successful candidate will also have the opportunity to contribute to the War College’s education mission by developing courseware, teaching classes and seminars, and advising student research projects. Research professors have extensive resources available. In addition to the excellent Army War College library and online sources, research professors draw on the assets of Washington, DC, and undertake regular trips to their region.

The U.S. Army War College is located in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, a small, historic town 20 miles west of Harrisburg. It is within an easy drive of a wide range of recreational, artistic, and shopping opportunities. Local public schools are considered very good.

Qualifications. Required qualifications for this position include: (1) master’s degree in geography, demography, or in national security studies, international relations, government, political science, history, regional studies with work relating to political (human) geography; (2) record of scholarly research and publication or evidence of great potential for same in areas relevant to political geography or demography; (3) Refined oral and written communication skills, including the ability to serve as a project team lead for collective research projects or as a student advisor for written research projects; (4) established record of teaching demography or political geography at the undergraduate and graduate level and (5) possession of, or eligibility for, a Top Secret security clearance. Security clearances shall be authorized only to U.S. citizens. Only candidates who demonstrate all of the required qualifications will be considered.

Desired qualifications include: (1) PhD or equivalent evidence of extensive original scholarly research and writing is strongly preferred; (2) experience in the military, government service, or some other strategy-related profession; (3) Subject teaching experience at the graduate or Senior Service College level is preferred.
This appointment may be made at the assistant, associate, or full professor level. Salary is competitive. Research professors are excepted service government employees with renewable contracts averaging three years. The first year of service is probationary. This job announcement will be released in September 2020 through USAJobs. Applications must be submitted in accordance with the instructions outlined on the USAJobs website: https://www.usajobs.gov/

For additional information or questions, applicants may contact the Director, SSI Research Department, U.S. Army War College, Carlisle, PA:

Colonel George Shatzer
gorge.r.shatzer.mil@mail.mil
(717) 245-4125

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8041

Yale University

Rank: Assistant, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Yale University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for an Assistant Professor faculty position in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2021. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, 3 letters of recommendation, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: https://apply.interfolio.com/78527

Review of applications will begin September 25, 2020, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/11/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8038

Stanford University

Rank: Professor of Political Science & MLK Institute Director

Specializations: African American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics

FACULTY POSITION AVAILABLE

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University seeks an outstanding senior scholar for a tenured professorship (associate or full) with expertise in race and racial justice in the U.S., civil rights, social movements, and/or African American politics. This scholar also will serve as the Faculty Director of The Martin Luther King, Jr. Research and Education Institute for a renewable five-year term.

The successful applicant will be expected to play a meaningful role in a department committed to dynamic teaching and to maintain a vibrant and productive scholarly research agenda. This scholar will provide intellectual, strategic and visionary leadership for the Institute. We welcome applications from scholars who are pursuing a wide range of projects that represent the broad diversity of the field of modern African American politics and racial justice. The position will be entirely located in the Political Science Department. The scholar will split time between teaching and research (50%) and directing... the Institute (50%). If the directorship is not renewed after five years, the scholar’s teaching and research obligations will be to the Political Science Department at 100%.

The university views filling this position as an important opportunity to raise the profile of studies relating to race and racial justice on Stanford’s campus. The successful candidate should bring a dynamic vision and leadership ability to contribute to this mission.

Recognizing the crucial benefits that diversity contributes to our intellectual vitality, the university has embarked on significant initiatives to diversify its faculty, student body, and curriculum. We encourage applications from dedicated scholars eager to contribute to this mission.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16829.

Please submit a statement of interest that includes a description of academic background and teaching experience, curriculum vitae, and research statement of no more than three pages.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8036

Princeton University
Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics
Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2021 to September 1, 2022, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on funding and outstanding performance. Appointments will be through the department of Politics. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to reside in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant’s past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17241.

A complete application must include the following:
* a curriculum vitae;
* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
* contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2020; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2021 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:
Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu
Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8018

Princeton University
Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law
Specializations: American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory, Constitutional Law & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.
The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2021 to June 1, 2022. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows’ home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17282 (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:
* a curriculum vitae;
* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
* contact information for two references

Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2020 - July 1, 2021) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2020 for appointments beginning in September 2021. Awards will be announced in March 2021 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:
Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Drake University
Rank: Assistant Professor of American Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Drake University seeks to recruit an assistant professor (tenure-track) of American Public Policy, starting Fall 2021. Teaching responsibilities include a 3-3 teaching load and will include the introductory American Politics course and upper-level undergraduate courses covering domestic public policy (process and theory), policy analysis, and topics consistent with the individual’s research specialization. Faculty also have the opportunity to teach Honors courses and First Year Seminar courses.

Drake is a private, comprehensive, coeducational institution located in Des Moines, Iowa, the state capital and the fastest growing city in the Midwest. Drake is a hub of political activity during the Iowa caucuses and offers exceptional opportunities for experiential learning, student engagement, and scholarship on policy formulation and discourse in local, state, and national contexts. We are an equal-opportunity employer (EEO) dedicated to building a diverse and pluralistic community and strongly encourage applications from all qualified applicants. We are excited to welcome colleagues who will provide support for and work effectively with individuals and groups from diverse backgrounds. The Department consists of 7 full-time faculty members and offers majors in both politics and international relations. Information about the department can be found at: https://www.drake.edu/polsci/.

Salary is competitive with peer schools and dependent on qualifications and experience. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2020. To apply, go to https://drake.hiretouch.com/ and submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, the names of three references, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement on teaching philosophy), a writing sample and a diversity statement.

Questions may be directed to the search committee chair Matt Bruinekool at Matt.Bruinekool@drake.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020
Date Posted: 8/27/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8009

Centenary College of Louisiana
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Centenary College of Louisiana invites applications for a tenure-track political science position at the rank of assistant professor to begin August 2021. Candidates should be broadly trained in American Politics and prepared to teach a range of introductory and upper division courses including constitutional law and civil liberties, the Presidency, and public law subfields, especially public interest law. Research interests in social justice, race and minority politics, or social movements are preferred.

Candidates must also be prepared to advise the department’s legal studies program. The Legal Studies minor is an interdisciplinary course of study that exposes students to a range of classes that strengthen their critical thinking and communication skills, hone their ability to interpret and apply case law, and understand the role and effect of law within various societal contexts. Centenary maintains a partnership with The LSU Paul M. Hebert Law Center that provides Centenary students who meet LSU Law admission requirements and who are interested in public interest careers an opportunity for an expedited admissions review and notification process.

Preference will be given to candidates with a strong record of teaching and a background in a liberal arts education. Engaging teaching and pedagogical skills, a record of scholarship, and a sincere commitment to student mentoring are required. The standard teaching load is six courses per year, with some opportunity to teach in immersive May and August terms, and to participate in college-wide programs such as the first year experience (TREK) program and Centenary in Paris. A completed Ph.D. by August 2021 is required.

Centenary College recognizes that diversity is essential to its goal of providing an educational environment where students explore the unfamiliar, invent new approaches to understanding, and connect their work and lives to the world at large. We thus welcome applicants who would add to the College’s diversity of ideas, beliefs, experiences, and cultural backgrounds. Centenary is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Centenary College of Louisiana is a selective, residential, national liberal arts college affiliated with the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1825, it is the oldest chartered liberal arts college west of the Mississippi river and is a member of the Associated Colleges of the South.

Review of applications will begin on October 19, 2020. To apply, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and transcripts for your terminal degree to Dr. Chad Fulwider either via email: hr@centenary.edu or to the address below. Additional materials may be requested as the search advances.

Political Science Search Committee
c/o Department of Human Resources
Centenary College of Louisiana
2911 Centenary Blvd.
Shreveport, LA 71104

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/20/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7993

University of Notre Dame
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the level of assistant professor in the field of American politics, with a specialty in American political institutions. Candidates should have a promising research agenda focusing on some aspect of political institutions in the United States and be capable of excellent teaching in graduate and undergraduate courses on American political institutions. We are especially interested in candidates with strong backgrounds in quantitative research methods and who are capable of and interested in teaching courses in the department’s methods sequence.

The University of Notre Dame, a Catholic research university, is an equal opportunity employer with strong academic commitments to racial, cultural, and gender diversity. Women, individuals from historically underrepresented groups, and those attracted to a university with a Catholic identity are particularly encouraged to apply. Information about Notre Dame, including our mission statement, is available at www.nd.edu.

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and partners with their job search. All applicants should include a CV, letter of interest, one writing sample, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation. All files should be received by September 25, 2020 to receive full consideration. Due to risks associated with travel during the COVID-19 pandemic, all interviews for this position will be conducted online.

Apply Here: https://apply.interfolio.com/78096

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/25/2020
Date Posted: 8/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7986

Oklahoma State University
Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University (www.polsci.okstate.edu) invites applications for a Teaching Assistant Professor specializing in American politics to begin in August 2021. This position is non-tenure track but offers the potential of reappointment and promotion to Teaching Associate and Teaching Full Professor. This position is designed for instructors who prioritize good pedagogy and student mentoring. The normal teaching load is 3:3 and includes a mix of smaller and larger classes. The primary, though not exclusive, teaching responsibility is Introduction to American Government. The successful candidate will have demonstrated the potential for effective teaching in American Politics. Candidates with previous experience teaching Introduction to American Government as instructor of record and experience teaching a mix of online and face-to-face courses are especially welcome. In addition to teaching, the position entails service responsibilities that could include supervising the department’s internship programs, advising Pi Sigma Alpha, and participating on various departmental committees.

To be considered, candidates must have received a PhD or be nearing completion of their doctoral training (ABD) from an accredited degree program in political science or closely related degree program. Preference, however, will be given to candidates who have received their doctoral degree by the start of appointment. Initial appointment is for three years (which includes a probationary period) but can be renewed for additional terms. Applications completed and received by October 15, 2020 and will be given preference. Applicants are asked to have the following submitted through Interfolio https://apply.interfolio.com/77763. A letter of application outlining your interest in this position, teaching interests/experience; vita; graduate transcripts; three letters of recommendation; evidence of successful teaching; and a short teaching statement.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. The department encourages applications from women and underrepresented racial/ethnic groups. About one third of our undergraduate majors are members of underrepresented groups. Among our tenure-track faculty, 9 percent are from underrepresented racial/ethnic groups and 55 percent are female. Oklahoma State University, as an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. Oklahoma State University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all individuals and does not discriminate based on race, religion, age, sex, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, disability, or veteran status with regard to employment, educational programs and activities, and/or admissions. For more information, visit https://eco.okstate.edu. This position is contingent upon availability of funds.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 8/12/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7974

---

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowships
Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking fellowship applicants for the 2021-2022 academic year. The programs offer unique opportunities, domestic and overseas, for accomplished mid and senior career professionals. Selected fellows broaden their foreign policy experience by spending their fellowships in public service or research environments.

Applications are due by October 31, 2020.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It provides individuals the opportunity to spend one year in policymaking or research oriented environments. The program awards a stipend of $105,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Canada sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada, provides selected fellows the opportunity to spend six to twelve months at a Canadian institution working on U.S.-Canada relations. It awards a stipend of $95,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Japan brings a cadre of American professionals to Japan for three to twelve months to study and work on U.S.-Japan relations. The program is intended for those without substantial prior experience in Japan. The program awards a competitive stipend in yen.

The International Affairs Fellowship in India affords fellows with the opportunity to spend three to twelve months conducting research on India and U.S. relations. It is aimed at professionals who have had little prior experience in India. It awards a stipend of $90,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics offers economists hands-on experience in the U.S. government and the opportunity to apply a range of research tools to international economic policy issues. It lasts six and nine months with a stipend starting at $150,000.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/31/2020
Date Posted: 8/5/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7961

---

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Race and U.S. Politics
Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics, United States

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, with a particular focus on the Black political experience, beginning July 1, 2021. Amherst College is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff. Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed with respect to its student body. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst’s students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 9 percent of our students are international students. We expect the successful candidate to excel at teaching and mentoring students who are diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates’ scholarship should examine racial politics in the U.S. Possible topics include but are not limited to reparations, civil rights, voter suppression, movements for racial justice, the legacies of slavery for contemporary politics, the racial policies and constituencies of political parties, the relationship between racial and ethnic identity, white privilege, police violence, and racial stratification in urban and local politics.

Faculty teach two courses each semester and benefit from ample support for research, including a pre-tenure year-long sabbatical at full pay. We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates the potential for high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level of the aforementioned student body. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialties and in directing undergraduate research projects. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates are asked to submit electronically https://apply.interfolio.com/77688 a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter). The letter of application should describe the main contributions of the candidate’s research and the candidate’s approach to and experience with teaching. Finalists will be asked to offer a presentation of their research, and possibly, a brief teaching demonstration, both via Zoom. Review of applications will begin on September 14, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/31/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7952
Political Science Jobs

Salisbury University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Salisbury University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. This is a full time, 10-month position.

Primary Job Duties: The Department seeks candidates whose expertise is in one or more of the following fields: racial and ethnic politics, political theory, and law and judicial politics. The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper level courses in political theory and/or American politics (political institutions and behavior and courses in the Law, Justice and Advocacy minor). The candidate will also be able to teach a research methods course. Academic advising and student mentoring are also expected as well as ongoing scholarly activities. The teaching load is 3-3 of 4 credit hour courses.

Minimum Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science. If ABD, applicant would be hired at the rank of Instructor and must complete doctoral degree by: May 2022. Demonstrated evidence of a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching.

Preferred Qualifications: Evidence of a commitment to political engagement, an active research agenda, curriculum development, and undergraduate research mentorship.

Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. The position will remain open until filled. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Appointment will be contingent upon verification of eligibility to work in the U.S. and is expected to begin August 2021. Please visit our website http://www.salisbury.edu/HR/careers/ to apply online. See the FAQs of the Online Employment Application System for more information and instructions.

To be considered an applicant, you must apply online and submit the following: 1) A letter of interest; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statements of research and teaching interests; 4) unofficial transcripts; 5) the names and contact information of at least three professional references. All documents must be submitted with your application in the online employment application system. Questions about the position should be directed to the search chair, Dr. Sarah Surak at smsurak@salisbury.edu.

This position is based in Salisbury, MD, an area with a culturally diverse population with rich cultural experiences. Salisbury University, a member of the University System of Maryland is a regionally accredited four-year comprehensive institution offering 60 distinct graduate and undergraduate programs. Founded in 1925, Salisbury University features a beautiful campus close to ocean beaches and the Chesapeake Bay and 2-3 hours from the metropolitan areas of Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Norfolk. SU is consistently ranked among the nation’s top colleges and ‘best values’ by U.S. News and World Report, The Princeton Review and other publications. SU has 440 full-time faculty members serving a student population of approximately 8700.

Diversity and inclusion are core values of Salisbury University. We strive to create a truly diverse and inclusive environment where the richness of ideas, backgrounds, and perspectives of our community is harnessed to create value for our University community to include students, faculty, and staff, today and in the future. To this end, the University recruits exceptional and diverse faculty, staff, and students from across Maryland, the United States, and around the world, supporting all members of the University community as they work together to achieve institutional goals and vision. To learn more about the University’s commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive campus, please visit http://www.salisbury.edu/equity/.

Applications will be accepted via Salisbury University’s online employment application system.

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7950

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, History & Politics

The Fellowship:

The International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS) offers professors from a variety of academic backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policymaking field, providing them with an opportunity to spend their sabbatical year working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization.

The IAF-TIRS program helps close the gap between research and practice, enriching both teaching and scholarship by enabling fellows to become practitioners. The program also benefits policymakers by exposing them to critical scholarly research relevant to the foreign policy and national security issues facing the United States and the world.

The fellowship is for twelve months. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow’s base salary for the academic year (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

Eligibility:

Applicants should be U.S. citizens

Applicants must be full-time tenured professors at a U.S. college or university

Applicants must have arranged a paid sabbatical with their home university

Applicants must hold a PhD

Applicants must propose to spend a year working on peace and security issues in the U.S. government, in Congress, or at an international organization.

Preference is given to candidates with no previous experience in the U.S. government or with an international organization.

*Note: fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance. No indirect costs can be deducted from the stipend award.
How to Apply:
Interested candidates who meet the program eligibility requirements can apply online now through October 31 at cfr.org/fellowships/international-affairs-fellowship-tenured-international-relations-scholars.

If you have additional questions, please contact tirs.fellowships@cfr.org.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/31/2020
Date Posted: 5/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7853

Mills College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Political Science

About Mills College:
Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top masters universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As https://www.mills.edu/uniquely-mills/facts-about-mills.php in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit https://www.mills.edu/

Job Description:

The Department:
Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

The Position:
The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department’s interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master’s degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college’s official pre-law advisor.

Requirements:
We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master’s degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department’s existing expertise and meet the college’s needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Additional Information:
This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills’ non-discrimination policy, please go to https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant’s background check must be cleared.

Application Instructions:
To apply, submit the following documents at https://apprtkr.com/1705390
- Employee Application
- Cover Letter
- Curriculum vitae

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs 23
• Sample of scholarly research
• Teaching portfolio (sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy)
• Contact Information for 3 References who are willing to submit letters of recommendation

Please note that you can only upload 6 "Other" documents. You can consolidate multiple pages/documents into one file upload. The file size limit for each upload is 10Mb.

Review of applicants will begin October 18, 2019; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 11/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7457

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

University of Houston
Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor – Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position, to begin Fall 2021. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on Comparative Politics. The ideal candidate would be someone with strong quantitative skills who specializes in any geographic area but with a research focus on institutions or representation in electoral democracies. Successful candidates should have extensive methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin November 7 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a Carnegie Tier-1 research university with one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of scholars.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Applications should be submitted through the University’s online job site, http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/. The position number keyword is FAC001482. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide a letter of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Lydia Tiede, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at lbtiede@central.uh.edu

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples. Additionally, the University prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8157

University of Mississippi
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Croft Institute for International Studies (www.croft.olemiss.edu) and the Department of Political Science (www.olemiss.edu/depts/political_science) invite applications for the position of Croft Assistant Professor of Political Science in the Comparative Politics of the Middle East. This is a tenure-track position beginning August 2021. The successful candidate will have their research and teaching focus on the Middle East and be able to teach introductory and thematic courses in comparative politics. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. or advanced ABD, field experience and appropriate foreign language proficiency in Arabic, strong methods skills, and demonstrated excellence in teaching. Tenure and promotion reside in the Department of Political Science. Teaching and service responsibilities will be divided equally between the Croft Institute for International Studies and the Department of Political Science. The Croft Institute, a signature program on campus, administers the major in International Studies within the College of Liberal Arts. Interested candidates should apply online at https://careers.olemiss.edu by uploading a letter of application, curriculum vita, and a statement of current and projected research interests. Evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing samples, and letters of recommendation should be sent to jbruce@olemiss.edu.

This position will be open until filled or an adequate applicant pool is reached. Salary is competitive.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8159

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business
Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy - Impact of Race in America
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Stanford seeks to hire as many as 10 strong researchers and scholars—campus-wide—who study the impact of race in American society, including the nature and persistence of racial inequality and its consequences. We seek to support, deepen, and enhance the important research and teaching in these areas long underway on our campus.

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for faculty positions in our seven academic areas: Accounting; Economics; Finance; Marketing; Operations, Information & Technology; Organizational Behavior; and Political Economy under the Impact of Race in America topic. We welcome applications from scholars with all disciplinary backgrounds that bear on race in America and racial justice to apply to the seven areas. Rank is open, although there is the expectation that a majority of the appointments will be made at the assistant professor level. Although all areas of research will be considered, we... are particularly interested in candidates with outstanding records of achievement in developing or using innovative approaches in the broad areas of their discipline. The successful candidates should possess a strong research background within their discipline and the ability to teach effectively in both the MBA and PhD programs in the school. The successful candidates should have or must expect to have their PhD degree by the start date of their faculty appointment at Stanford University.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2020 and will continue until all of the positions are filled. Candidates are invited to apply online via https://www.gsb.stanford.edu/jobs/faculty-recruiting, with the following materials: a statement describing the candidate’s academic background and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a research statement of no more than three pages, and the names of three recommenders. Please direct questions to faculty_recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8155

Randolph-Macon College
Rank: Adjunct Professor

Randolph-Macon College seeks an adjunct professor to teach one course. "Chinese Politics" online for our January term, January 6-February 4, 2021. The course may be taught synchronously (preferred) MTWRF 11:10 a.m.-1:10 p.m. or asynchronously. Pay is $3,250-$3,500, depending on degree earned.

Start Date: Winter 2021
Application Deadline: 12/4/2020
Date Posted: 10/6/2020
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 8145

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse
Rank: Interdisciplinary Research Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

We welcome applications from researchers within a large range of disciplines in the social, behavioral and life sciences: anthropology, evolutionary biology, economics, genetics, history, law, mathematics, neuroscience, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology; however, motivated applications from outside these disciplines will be given full consideration. Successful applicants will have to demonstrate an interest in, and a commitment to, at least one of the other disciplines of IAST.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in their own discipline, but willing and able to develop research projects drawing on IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly the proximity of strong groups in economics (Toulouse School of Economics, TSE).

We are open to a variety of research methods, including theory, field and laboratory experiments, observational field work, and the analysis of large secondary data sets.

All research interests relevant to the broad study of human behavior are welcome, but preference may be given to candidates whose research interests are complementary to those of existing IAST researchers. These include, to cite only a few:

- In history: quantitative economic history (cliometrics), empirical political economy in history, qualitative economic or social history; emergence and dynamics of institutions and networks.
- In evolutionary biology: theoretical models of evolution (applied to family structure, strategic interactions, plasticity, cognition, learning, cultural evolution); related empirical work.
- In anthropology: human biology, life history theory, human development and plasticity, health and infectious disease, aging, demography, host-parasite co-evolution, diet and nutrition, global health, evolutionary medicine and genetics.
- In political science: public opinion and public policies, political economy, political institutions, development, experimental political science, studies of networks and their impact on individual and collective action.
- In law: law and economics, corporate governance, criminology.
- In psychology: cognition, beliefs, memory, the emotions, culture, social trust, gender, group decision-making.
- In sociology: network formation, the impact of networks on social outcomes, sociology of religion.
- In genetics and neuroscience: mental state representation, personality, intelligence.

To apply online please visit: http://www.iast.fr/research-fellowships

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 8135

Brown University
Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2021-2023
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute’s three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, to be taken within a three-year period, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 23, 2020 to the application portal:

A cover letter stating the applicant’s academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute’s core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

An up-to-date curriculum vitae.

A copy of each graduate transcript.

A writing sample.

Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant’s research.

Review of applications will begin on October 24; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2021.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Post-Doctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website watson.brown.edu or contact:

Professor Rose McDermott, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. Rose_McDermott@brown.edu

For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Denison University

The Department of Politics and Public Affairs at Denison University invites applications for a tenure-track vacancy in Comparative Politics, beginning Fall 2021. We seek applicants whose research and teaching emphasize East Asia and who have demonstrated ability to teach political economy. Our newly inaugurated program offers our students an integrated view of the discipline and emphasizes linkages between theory and practice; our major is structured as a learning community, where undergraduates pursue a track of interest along the lines of the traditional subfields and have multiple opportunities to share their knowledge with peers. We require our majors to complement their classroom experiences with an off-campus learning requirement. We are enthusiastic about our new approach to teaching about politics and public affairs, and we seek a new colleague who shares our excitement. Preference will be given to applicants who provide evidence of teaching effectiveness and show promise of a strong record of publication. Broad training in political science is expected. The successful candidate is expected to have significant interest in and demonstrated ability to be effective at undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting, and in contributing to the integration of the theoretical with experiential elements of our new major. The prospective teacher-scholar also will support the University’s commitment to liberal arts education, be an active participant in departmental and university governance, and develop a program of research leading to peer-reviewed publication.

Harvard University

The Ash Center for Democratic Governance and Innovation invites faculty, doctoral, and postdoctoral students to apply to its Democracy Visiting Fellowship Program and further their research on substantive democratic governance issues. For more information about the Democracy Fellowships, please see our Five-Year Retrospective.

Eligibility

We are broadly interdisciplinary and invite scholars who use approaches from political theory and philosophy, political science, sociology, law, or history. We are especially interested in drawing scholars whose work focuses on innovations in public participation and political participation in democracies or non-democracies.

Details

The duration of the fellowship is one academic year, lasting August 1 until July 31. Visiting Fellows will be expected to participate in a weekly community seminar series and engage in the activities of the Ash Center and Harvard Kennedy School more broadly. The Democracy Visiting Fellowship carries a modest administration fee, and offers institutional support including physical and online library access, access to Harvard’s electronic resources, and use of our shared fellow study space. If required, dedicated office space can be arranged that carries an additional fee.

How to Apply

Apply online here: https://harvard.az1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_51JksGWLaJ3LPD7 for the AY 2021-2022 competition. The deadline for applications is Tuesday, December 1, 2020 at 11:59 PM ET.

The Ash Center is a vibrant and values-driven community. We are committed to diversity and welcome people of varied backgrounds, cultures, experiences, and disciplines. We actively seek applications from people of color, women, the LGBTQIA+ community, persons with disabilities, and undertrepresented backgrounds.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, or any other characteristic protected by law.

If you have questions, please contact Democratic Governance Coordinator James Rasaiah.

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: 12/1/2020

Date Posted: 10/1/2020

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 8131

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Denison offers a 3-2 teaching load. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester junior leave is available in the fourth year.

Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or similar field by start date is required (ABD will be considered as Instructor until Ph.D. is attained). Independent teaching experience (beyond TA) strongly preferred. Our college is committed to attracting and supporting an academically and culturally diverse faculty; preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate a commitment to foster a classroom and research environment that engages students from diverse backgrounds.

Denison offers extensive support for faculty, including professional-development funding, opportunities for student-faculty research collaboration, and a range of workshops and other professional development opportunities to cultivate our strengths as teacher-scholars.

Applications must be submitted online at: https://employment.denison.edu and should include: letter of application; curriculum vitae; contact information for three letters of reference; statement addressing the candidate’s teaching interests and scholarly agenda [including estimated time frame of completion of the dissertation if applicable]; transcript [official or unofficial]; teaching evaluations or other evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction [if available]; at least two sample syllabi that reflect the kinds of courses the candidate would teach, e.g. a lower division introductory course in comparative politics and an upper division course in Asian politics.

To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be received by October 23, 2020.

Denison University is an increasingly diverse, highly selective, residential liberal arts college enrolling approximately 2300 students from across the nation and around the world. Our college is committed to attracting and supporting an academically and culturally diverse faculty. Granville is located just 30 minutes from the Columbus metropolitan area, the state capital.

To achieve our mission as a liberal arts college, we continually strive to foster a diverse campus community, which recognizes the value of all persons regardless of religion, race, ethnicity, gender expression and identity, sexual orientation, disability, or socio-economic background. For additional information and resources about diversity at Denison, please see our Diversity Guide at http://denison.edu/forms/diversity-guide. Denison University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Our commitment to being an antiracist and diverse learning and working environment that engages students from diverse backgrounds.

For more information, please contact:
Andrew Z. Katz, Chair
Department of Politics and Public Affairs
Denison University
Granville, OH 43023
katz@denison.edu

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business

Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Earth, Energy & Environmental Sciences, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine). Selection criteria includes the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2021.

To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must be within three years of the date of their terminal degree at the time of appointment. Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA, EdD, DSW, etc.) prior to the start of the fellowship.

Specifically, a cover letter detailing the candidate’s interest in the position; a statement of teaching and research interests and how these interests would be advanced by a fellowship, including needs for laboratory access or special equipment; three letters of recommendation; a curriculum vitae; and samples of written work.

Applications should be submitted electronically at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16562. The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is November 1, 2020. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

More information about Stanford’s IDEAL initiative is available at https://ourvision.stanford.edu/microsites/ideal-homepage.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8126

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor (International Relations/Comparative Politics)
Specializations: Russia, Central Asia, South Asia
LOCATION: United States Naval Academy, Political Science Department

APPLICATION TIMELINE:
Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

ABOUT THE U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY:
The United States Naval Academy is a unique institution of higher learning located in desirable Annapolis, Maryland. As an historic officer accession program and premier undergraduate college, the United States Naval Academy has its own distinctive niche amongst American educational institutions. Our talented faculty and staff are united by one common purpose—to develop the next generation of leaders for naval service. In order to deliver on this promise to our nation, we recruit from all segments of society to find faculty, instructors, and support staff who model the highest professional standards.

The United States Naval Academy serves a diverse student body. We believe that faculty members from diverse backgrounds strengthen our programs and positively impact student success. The United States Naval Academy is committed to building a diverse workforce and encourages qualified applicants from all backgrounds to apply for consideration.

Every year more than one million people tour "the Yard" to experience what our employees already know — the United States Naval Academy is a special place, with a special purpose. Those selected for employment will find challenging and rewarding work; state-of-the-art facilities which inspire academic and athletic excellence; the benefits of Federal employment; and exceptional quality-of-life.

POSITION DESCRIPTION:
The Political Science Department at the U.S. Naval Academy invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in International Relations and Comparative Politics. Scholars with expertise in Russia and Eastern Europe/Central Asia are preferred, but scholars with a focus on South Asia, Southeast Asia, and international political economy are encouraged to apply. Candidates should be methodologically trained, and should demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship.

Duties and Responsibilities:
Candidates should expect to contribute to teaching introductory and intermediate courses in political science, as well as upper-level electives in their field of concentration. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. Teaching load is typically three courses per semester with small section sizes (no more than 20 students) and 2-3 preparations per year. Candidates should also have a strong commitment to student advising and mentoring and to service to the institution.

Candidates at the Assistant Professor level are preferred; however, well-qualified applicants may be considered at the Associate Professor level.

This is a 10-month federal excepted service position with a three year initial academic appointment. Salary for this position will be commensurate with experience and qualifications.

MINIMUM AND PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:
Minimum:
A Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required (anticipated completion of Ph.D. no later than June 2021 is acceptable for an August 2021 employment start date).

Preferred:
Expertise in Russia and Eastern Europe/Central Asia are preferred, but scholars with a focus on South Asia, Southeast Asia, and international political economy are encouraged to apply.

HOW TO APPLY FOR POSITION:
Interested candidates should send a cover letter, a research statement, a statement on teaching which addresses teaching in a diverse environment, writing samples, transcripts and a curriculum vitae to the search committee. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (teaching evaluations and syllabi of courses taught) may accompany the application.

Please arrange for three letters of recommendation that address both teaching and research abilities to be sent to the below email address.

Send all application materials to the International Relations/Comparative Politics Search Committee at usna_polisci_ircp_2020-group@usna.edu and use “USNA IR Comparative” in the subject line.

Please note: Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT:
U.S. Citizenship Required
All Civilian Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation leading to successful completion of a background investigation with a favorable adjudication. The selectee’s failure to meet this requirement will be grounds for termination. Background investigations for non-US Citizens often require up to two years to complete, and for non-US Citizens the background check must be complete before employment can begin. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost's website here: http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:
The Department of the Navy provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact our Human Resource Office to ensure that the Department of the Navy can consider such requests. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case by case basis.

Submit a Demographic Information on Applicants Form to rsharp@usna.edu. Your responses will not be shared with the panel rating the applications or to the official making the selection for this position.

All Civilian Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. These investigations are conducted to ensure that individuals hired are trustworthy, of good conduct, and reliable. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost’s website here: http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 8120

University of California, Merced
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations
The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. This search is supported by an Advancing Faculty...
Diversity Recruitment Grant and the Department seeks candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in political science (or a closely related field) by the position start date.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2021.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by October 28, 2020. Applications will be submitted at https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01031. Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and, 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than October 28, 2020.

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individual with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy (https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction).

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and UC academic salary scales.

For additional information, please contact Tom Hansford at thansford@ucmerced.edu.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

To apply, please visit our UC Merced job posting at: https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01031.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8109

Wabash College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor of Comparative Politics

The Wabash College Political Science Department invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor of Comparative Politics for the Spring 2021 semester.

The appointment is for one semester, and the teaching assignment will be three courses: two sections of introductory comparative politics and one intermediate-level course. We anticipate that these will be in-person courses, but with flexibility to offer hybrid instruction.

The successful candidate must have graduate training in political science. A PhD or ABD candidate with strong background and teaching experience in comparative politics is preferred.

This full-time position offers a competitive salary, benefits, and support for professional development. Wabash College does not provide H-1B or other immigration case sponsorship for short-term visiting positions.

To apply, please visit www.wabash.edu/employment/. Then click the “Apply Now” button to submit a cover letter that includes a discussion of your teaching philosophy, a curriculum vitae, and the names and contact information for three references who can address your scholarship and teaching background.

Please direct questions about the position to Dr. Shamira Gelbman, Chair of the Political Science Department, at gelbmans@wabash.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled, with preference given to applications received before October 15.

Wabash College, a liberal arts college for men, seeks faculty and staff committed to providing quality engagement with students, high levels of academic challenge and support, and meaningful diversity experiences that prepare students for life and leadership in a multicultural global world. We welcome applications from persons of all backgrounds. EOE.

Duke University

Rank: Professor

Specializations: Asian American Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Duke University, Trinity College

Subject Area: Asian American Studies

Application Deadline: 2020/10/26

Position Description:

Duke University Trinity College of Arts and Sciences seeks candidates for two tenuretrack professorships in Asian American Studies. These hires are part of an effort to increase the number of faculty with global perspectives and expertise across core departments, with support from the Office of the Provost and funded by The Duke Endowment. Candidates should be at the assistant or associate professor level; distinguished candidates at the full professor level will also be considered. The search is open to discipline and to field. Preference will be given to candidates whose work is centrally located in Asian American Studies while also substantially linked to other fields of inquiry such as literature, history, anthropology, the arts, sociology, political science,
Pepperdine University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Studies

The International Studies and Languages Division of Pepperdine University’s Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences seeks applications for a tenure track appointment as an Assistant Professor of International Studies (with a specialization in African Studies) beginning August 1, 2021. The ability to teach courses in at least two of the following areas is preferred: African politics, African culture and society, ethnicity in Africa, comparative politics, or comparative political economy. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Anthropology, or Sociology is required. Candidates should demonstrate exceptional interest and effectiveness in teaching and mentoring undergraduate students. Candidates should also have the ability to establish a productive research program. The ability to engage students in their scholarly work would be a plus.

Pepperdine University is a private Christian university overlooking the Pacific Ocean in Malibu, California. Faculty, staff and students partner to support Pepperdine’s Christian Mission. Pepperdine is committed to valuing diversity and inclusion among our students and faculty. Applicants of color are particularly encouraged to apply.

Please submit all application materials at apply.interfolio.com/78908. Review of candidates’ application materials will begin on November 9th, 2020, and will continue until the search is closed.

Contact:
Dr. George Carlsen (george.carlsen@pepperdine.edu)
Divisional Dean of International Studies and Languages
Pepperdine University
24255 Pacific Coast Highway
Malibu, CA 90263

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/25/2020
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 8105

Purdue University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor, International and Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

Visiting Assistant Professor

Purdue Political Science Department seeks applicants for a one-semester visiting assistant professor or visiting instructor position to teach four courses on campus in West Lafayette in spring 2021 in the areas of International Relations and Environmental Politics. Applicants should be prepared to teach core courses in Global Green Politics and/or International Environmental Policy. We especially encourage applicants with teaching strengths in one or more of the additional areas: Intro to International Relations, International Organizations, and/or Model UN. The position has the option of continuing in the summer, teaching up to three additional courses paid on a per-course basis.

Qualifications

Must be a qualified doctoral candidate (ABD) in a PhD program, in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or Environmental Studies, or related field. A PhD is strongly preferred. This position requires postsecondary teaching experience in political science, environmental studies, or international policy.

Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is committed advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort including discover, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests, or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.
The College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. The department offers graduate certificates to students across campus in Social Policy, Environmental Policy, and Human Rights.

Applications

Candidates should submit a cover letter, a CV that includes references, graduate transcripts, a statement on inclusiveness in the classroom, and a teaching portfolio. Application materials must be submitted electronically via https://careers.purdue.edu/

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range for spring semester is $22,500 – $24,000. Summer courses are compensated on a per-course basis and tied to size of enrollment. This position is contingent on course enrollments and final budget approval.

A background check is required for employment in this position.

Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Equal Opportunity

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/25/2020
Salary: $20,000 - $29,999
eJobs ID: 8104

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in Comparative Politics to begin Fall 2021. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specializations in political behavior or comparative political economy. We prefer those candidates with strong, quantitative methods training. Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. We expect faculty to provide service to the department, TTU, and the community. Experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. The successful candidate will have their PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applications for the position will start to be reviewed on or about 11/1/2020. For questions about the position, contact the department chair, Prof. Timothy Nokken.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/25/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8103

U.S. Air War College, Dept. of International Security Studies

Rank: Professor of International Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Air War College Department of International Security Studies invites candidates to apply for a faculty position in the field of national security studies, with an emphasis on space, new domains, and technology. The primary purpose of the position is to teach and develop curriculum on U.S. national and international security for the AWC West Space Seminar. Specialties in the political science subfields of international relations and/or comparative politics are desired, though candidates with space-related focus in other fields and sub-fields (e.g. American politics, Strategic Studies, and History) will be given strong consideration. The possible starting dates are between January and July 2021. Applications are due October 13, 2020.

Academic rank is open but the focus is for appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. This position requires university-equivalent teaching experience (graduate-level preferred) and a suitable academic publication record. Responsibilities include: teaching and developing curriculum for the West Space Seminar; teaching electives in the applicant’s area(s) of specialization; advising student research; and service to the institution. Teaching duties approximate a 2/2 teaching load per academic year.

The Air War College provides a dynamic and academic environment for teaching and research. The in-residence program offers master’s degrees and senior-level professional military education to U.S. military officers, civilian government officials, and to military officers from more than 40 nations. The West Space Seminar offers the opportunity to shape and develop curriculum for future senior leaders of the new U.S. Space Force.

The Air War College contains a diverse faculty of security studies experts engaged in rigorous academic research on critical issues in contemporary security debates. It is a leading contributor of national security thought for leaders across the U.S. Government, and highly encourages policy-relevant scholarship by its faculty. It is located at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, AL.
The position is an Administratively Determined (AD) civil service position, which means that faculty rank comparable to that in civilian universities is assigned to civilian faculty members. The selected candidate will be offered a three year appointment with a probationary first year. This appointment is not renewable. Applicants must hold U.S. citizenship and possess or be able to obtain a Top Secret-SCI security clearance.

Air University is committed to building a culturally diverse and inclusive educational environment. We are dedicated to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty committed to inclusive teaching and scholarship. Prospective candidates must engender a climate that values and uses diversity in all its forms to enrich debate and make the institution more inclusive. Applicants should address how they will further these goals in a diversity statement attached to their cover letter. This statement should include teaching, life experience and/or research interests that contribute to a climate that values and promotes diversity in all its forms.

While open positions are advertised in various publications, including the American Political Science EJobs, applicants must submit their application through USAJobs either online or via mail. The link to the advertisement and application can be found here: https://www.usajobs.gov/Search/Results?k=578661100

Candidates should submit a cover letter, diversity statement, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references.

If candidates prefer to not use the online feature, they can send their resume, or Optional Form 612, along with other required documents to 42 FSS/FSMC, 50 Lemay Plaza South, Building 804, Attn: Air War College faculty position, Maxwell AFB AL 36112-6334. The OF-612 can be accessed through the Office of personnel Management’s web site at www.usajobs.opm.gov.

For more information, contact Colonel Douglas Drake, U.S. Space Force, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427; douglas.drake@us.af.mil. Or contact Dr. Chris Hemmer, Dean, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427. Phone 334-953-7099, email christopher.hemmer@us.af.mil.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/13/2020
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8097

Eastern Illinois University
Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University invites applicants for a non-tenure track instructor with a 3-year contract beginning August 2021. The successful candidate will teach online graduate and face-to-face undergraduate courses in Comparative Politics, Public Policy, and Public Administration.

Successful candidates must have a doctorate or Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or ABD status with evidence of substantial progress toward degree completion. Candidates must demonstrate commitment to teaching excellence, along with dedication to mentoring, applied learning, diversity, and promoting inclusive excellence.

The teaching load will be 3-4 classes per semester, including 2 face-to-face undergraduate courses in non-western Comparative Politics (with the potential for curriculum development), an online graduate course in Public Policy Analysis (taught each semester), an online graduate course in Public Administration Ethics, and two additional courses. The position may include student research mentoring.

Applicants should upload the following to Interfolio, http://apply.interfolio.com/79049:
- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- Contact information for three references
- Graduate school transcripts

Application review begins October 14 and continues until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University offers three undergraduate majors: Political Science, an International Studies option, and a Civic and Nonprofit Leadership option. The department offers an M.A. in Political Science and an online M.A. in Political Science with a Public Administration and Public Policy option. Questions about the search may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Kevin Anderson (kranderson@eiu.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse - UT1
Rank: Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
(Political Economy, Comparative Politics & Quantitative Methods)

The Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse (IAST) and the University of Toulouse Capitole, France, invite applications from political scientists for Faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenured/tenure track), in the fields of political economy, comparative politics, and quantitative methods.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in analytical and quantitative political science, and good teaching skills. Candidates should be able to lead research programs drawing on the IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly though not only the proximity of a strong group in economics at the Toulouse School of Economics.

Research interests close to those already developed at the IAST/ Toulouse School of Economics would be highly appreciated, including: public opinion and public policies, comparative studies of democratic institutions, political economy of development, experimental political science, to cite a few.

RANK: Open rank. SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information, contact Colonel Douglas Drake, U.S. Space Force, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427; douglas.drake@us.af.mil. Or contact Dr. Chris Hemmer, Dean, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427. Phone 334-953-7099, email christopher.hemmer@us.af.mil.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8097

Eastern Illinois University
Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University invites applicants for a non-tenure track instructor with a 3-year contract beginning August 2021. The successful candidate will teach online graduate and face-to-face undergraduate courses in Comparative Politics, Public Policy, and Public Administration.

Successful candidates must have a doctorate or Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or ABD status with evidence of substantial progress toward degree completion. Candidates must demonstrate commitment to teaching excellence, along with dedication to mentoring, applied learning, diversity, and promoting inclusive excellence.

The teaching load will be 3-4 classes per semester, including 2 face-to-face undergraduate courses in non-western Comparative Politics (with the potential for curriculum development), an online graduate course in Public Policy Analysis (taught each semester), an online graduate course in Public Administration Ethics, and two additional courses. The position may include student research mentoring.

Applicants should upload the following to Interfolio, http://apply.interfolio.com/79049:
- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- Contact information for three references
- Graduate school transcripts

Application review begins October 14 and continues until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University offers three undergraduate majors: Political Science, an International Studies option, and a Civic and Nonprofit Leadership option. The department offers an M.A. in Political Science and an online M.A. in Political Science with a Public Administration and Public Policy option. Questions about the search may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Kevin Anderson (kranderson@eiu.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse - UT1
Rank: Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
(Political Economy, Comparative Politics & Quantitative Methods)

The Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse (IAST) and the University of Toulouse Capitole, France, invite applications from political scientists for Faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenured/tenure track), in the fields of political economy, comparative politics, and quantitative methods.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in analytical and quantitative political science, and good teaching skills. Candidates should be able to lead research programs drawing on the IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly though not only the proximity of a strong group in economics at the Toulouse School of Economics.

Research interests close to those already developed at the IAST/ Toulouse School of Economics would be highly appreciated, including: public opinion and public policies, comparative studies of democratic institutions, political economy of development, experimental political science, to cite a few.

RANK: Open rank. SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.
BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: For assistant professor position: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field. Knowledge of French is NOT required.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1st, 2021, with academic year beginning September 2021.

TO APPLY: Applications should be sent to info.researchpositions@iast.fr with the message heading "Application for Faculty Position in Political Science" and must include, in pdf format: letter of application, curriculum vitae, 2-4 samples of written work, research statement, and teaching evaluations if available. Applicants for an assistant professor position should ask 3 referees to submit confidential letters of reference by the deadline to the same address. Inquiries can also be sent to that address.

IAST is committed to equal opportunities in recruitment and scientific practice.

More information on the Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse, the University of Toulouse Capitole and the Toulouse School of Economics:

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/30/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8072

Pepperdine University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Latin American, Russia, East Asia

The Social Science Division of the Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences at Pepperdine University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science to begin Fall 2021. We seek candidates who are broadly trained and able to teach undergraduate courses in international relations and, potentially, the regional politics of Latin America, Russia and Eastern Europe, or South Asia. Specific subfields are open, but candidates whose work engages issues of race and/or gender are especially encouraged to apply. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or International Relations, an active scholarly agenda, and a commitment to excellent teaching in a Christian liberal arts environment. Applications from candidates who will enrich the diversity of our faculty and who are committed to supporting an inclusive educational environment are encouraged.

Applicants should apply on Interfolio: https://apply.interfolio.com/78855. Review of applicants will begin October 1, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. A background check will be required as a condition of employment.

Please address any inquiries regarding the position to:
Dr. Chris Soper (chris.soper@pepperdine.edu)
Chair of the Political Science Search Committee
Social Science Division, Pepperdine University
24255 Pacific Coast Highway
Malibu, CA. 90263

Application instructions:
Applications should include the following documents:
• A cover letter.
• A curriculum vitae, indicating educational record, employment record, achievements, awards, publications, and other relevant information. Please also describe any civic, religious, or charitable interests and activities, and list all current organizational memberships.
• Three confidential letters of reference. (Email addresses will be requested.)
• Official transcripts of all graduate work. (Copies are acceptable during the application process; however, official transcripts will be required for selected applicants.)
• A statement of teaching philosophy, which may focus on your motivation to teach at the university level and your thoughts about what constitutes effective pedagogy.
• A statement of scholarly agenda, which may focus on your current area of research and plans for professional development.
• A statement in support of the University’s Christian mission. The University mission states that Pepperdine University is a Christian university committed to the highest standards of academic excellence and Christian values, where students are strengthened for lives of purpose, service, and leadership. In your statement, please comment on your willingness to support the mission of Seaver College and Christian values of the University including your involvement in a local community of faith and how your faith relates to your teaching, professional, and/or intellectual life.
• Student Evaluations – Please provide evidence of teaching effectiveness at the collegiate level. (This is not required to apply, but may be requested at a later stage.)

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 8077

Stanford University
Rank: 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Stanford University: 2021–2022 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Japan

The Japan Program at Stanford University’s Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing during September 2021. The Japan Program at Stanford University’s Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing during September 2021. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate of $66,000, plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.

The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate of $66,000, plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 21, 2020, until January 4, 2021.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/postdoctoral-fellowship-contemporary-japan
About the Japan Program:
The Japan Program at Stanford’s Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center cultivates multidisciplinary research and education on contemporary Japanese affairs. Through collaboration with experts from academia, government, business, and civil society, we engage in policy-relevant dialogue and scholarship to promote a comprehensive understanding of the internal and external political, economic, and social factors that influence the progress and development of Japan and its role within the Asia-Pacific region and on the world’s stage.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 1/4/2021
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8067

Stanford University
Rank: 2021-2022 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow in Contemporary Asia
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: East Asia, South Asia, Southeast Asia

Stanford University: 2021–2022 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2021-2022 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows in Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferred and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $66,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 21, 2020, until January 4, 2021.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship

About the Center:
The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 1/4/2021
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8067

University of Colorado, Colorado Springs
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology
Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs (UCCS) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of international relations beginning August 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: international security, international conflict, and foreign policy. Additional consideration will be given to candidates with teaching and research interests in comparative politics, international organizations, civil-military relations, East Asian politics, or research methods. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate courses in political science (five courses per year), keeping up an active research agenda, and service at the departmental, university, or professional level. Candidates must have a PhD in political science or a closely related field.

Applications submitted on the CU Careers website by November 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Applications submitted through email or surface mail will not be considered. Please apply at www.cu.edu/cu-careers (job #: 19206). Upon request, please be prepared to provide five professional references, including their email contact information. Official transcripts will be required upon hire. Evidence of teaching effectiveness and samples of research may be required. If you have technical difficulties with your application, please contact the CU Careers help desk at 303-860-4200 #5 or cucareershelp@cu.edu. Job related inquiries should be directed to the posting contact, Dr. Steven Pittz.

To apply, please submit the following application materials on the CU Careers website: a current CV, a cover letter that specifically addresses the job requirements and outlines qualifications, unofficial transcripts, teaching statement, and research statement. In order for an application to be considered, applicants must label each required attachment with the relevant title, attach the required documents for this position announcement to the submission, and check the Job Specific Attachments box next to each document in the submission.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8076

University of Colorado, Boulder
Rank: Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for the position of Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy. We seek a highly visible individual who is deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice... of conservative thinking and policymaking, or both. Thus, applications will be welcome from the academic, policy, military, and media communities, among others. The term of the appointment is variable, with a minimum of two to a maximum of four semesters. The position begins in August 2021.

The University of Colorado Boulder is committed to building a culturally diverse community of faculty, staff, and students dedicated to contributing to an inclusive campus environment. We are an Equal Opportunity employer, including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

The Visiting Scholar will continue an open and vigorous dialogue on campus featuring the principles of conservatism in historical and contemporary contexts. The successful candidate will receive a senior professorial appointment, without tenure, in the College of Arts and Sciences. Specific duties include teaching undergraduate courses, delivering public lectures, and organizing visiting speakers and events.

What We Require
-Candidates are expected to have a PhD at the time of appointment.

What You Will Need
-Candidates are expected to be highly visible scholars who are deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thinking and policymaking or both.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/17/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8064

University of Washington
Rank: Assistant professor of Political Science, Comparative Politics or Political Economy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics
Specializations: Advanced Industrial Societies, Developing Nations, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Washington invites applications for a full-time (100%) tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics or Political Economy, starting September 2021. Tenure track faculty engage in teaching, research and service and have an annual service period of nine months (Sept 16–June 15). A strong research record is expected. Candidates should have completed all requirements for a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field (or foreign equivalent) by the appointment start date, though applicants at the ABD level will also be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement and three letters of recommendation. The research statement should describe the applicant’s substantive research interests. The teaching statement should describe the applicant’s teaching philosophy, list undergraduate and graduate level teaching interests, and provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, if applicant has prior teaching experience. As a public institution, the University of Washington seeks candidates committed to working with diverse student and community populations. Therefore, applicants should describe how their scholarship and teaching support diverse communities.

Candidate materials should be electronically submitted to https://apply.interfolio.com/78296. Review of applications will begin on October 17, 2020. Questions about this position can be directed to polisci@uw.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8054

University of Denver
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking to fill three tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level to begin September 2021. The Korbel School is a recognized leader in international studies education and scholarship that serves an undergraduate major, MA students, and a small, selective PhD program. The school is strongly committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment in full accord with the value that DU places on its commitments to diversity, equity and inclusion. We are interested in candidates working in the following areas related to global concerns: security (broadly construed), development and its alternatives, sustainability and the environment, and/or long-term integrated assessment modeling, scenario building and quantitative methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research that crosses disciplinary boundaries, connects these broad areas to each other or to additional Korbel priorities in social justice and democracy, and can contribute to diversity, equity and inclusion through their teaching, research, and service.

Successful candidates will have a strong record of research, be able to contribute to the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Josef Korbel School, and demonstrate an ability to integrate content about and work effectively with ethnically/racially diverse populations. Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, writing sample (or publication), research statement, teaching statement, sample syllabi, one-page statement of how the applicant can contribute to values and practices embracing diversity, equity and inclusivity, and teaching evaluations (if available) to the University of Denver’s online application system: http://www.dujobs.org. In addition, candidates should list the names of three references who will be contacted to provide letters. Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Salary is competitive. Please see our extensive benefit package at http://www.du.edu/hr/benefits. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Deborah Avant, Deborah.Avant@du.edu. The University of Denver is particularly committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, minorities, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/12/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8049
Yale University

Rank: Assistant, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Yale University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for an Assistant Professor faculty position in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2021. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, 3 letters of recommendation, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: https://apply.interfolio.com/78527

Review of applications will begin September 25, 2020, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at polisci@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/11/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8046

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science- focus on Comparative Politics

IE University’s School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Political Science, with a focus on Comparative Politics starting September 1st, 2021.

We are especially interested in scholars who apply quantitative and/or formal methodologies to answer substantive questions of broad disciplinary relevance.

We would especially welcome applications from scholars with a regional focus on either sub-Saharan Africa or East Asia, but other profiles will also be considered.

We seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA’s current network and partnerships.

The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years, and have good teaching skills.

Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science, Public Policy, or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2021.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSSIA).

We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

Applications should include a cover letter and vitae, job market paper, and three academic references with their contact details.

Candidates may apply on Interfolio by October 23rd, 2020, using the following link: http://apply.interfolio.com/77729

Please contact Sara Flores at Sara.Flores@ie.edu for general queries about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/23/2020
Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8034

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Post-Doctoral Research Fellow

Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) is a large-scale data collection and research program, see https://v-dem.net. The V-Dem Institute, Directed by Professor Staffan I. Lindberg, has several large-scale grants from among others the European Commission, several ministries of foreign affairs, Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, the Swedish Research Council, Marcus & Marianne Walenberg’s Foundation, and Knut & Alice Walenberg Foundation.

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow is expected to conduct research with a focus on one or several of the main questions of the research program Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization (FASDEM). Details and project description can be found here: https://www.v-dem.net/en/our-work/research-projects/fasdem/

One of V-Dem’s strengths is the flexibility and collaborative spirit of everyone at the institute, and we assume a willingness to contribute to coding of data, quality control, data management and/or teaching during peak periods. The Postdoctoral Research Fellow may be asked to perform such tasks up to one-third of full time employment (FTE).

Qualifications

The position is open to candidates who (at the time of assuming the position) have a PhD in political science or related field.

Applications will be evaluated primarily on research excellence in areas of relevance to one of the projects listed above. Research at high international level in the field of comparative democratization, autocratization, regime breakdown, authoritarian regimes, and/or political development, is required. Excellence in English (orally and written) is a requirement.

Qualifications in one or more of the following areas are meritorious:

- Prior use of V-Dem data in applied research or similar evidence of familiarity with the project.
- Explicit interest in further extending on the sequencing methods developed in the FASDEM program.
Political Science Jobs

- Demonstrated experience designing, implementing and analyzing surveys in an international context. Work on survey experiments is also meritorious.
- Strong competence in advanced time-series, cross-sectional regression techniques, Vector Auto-Regression (VAR), sequencing algorithms, optimal matching methods, Monte Carlo chains, and/or Dynamic treatment regimes.
- Demonstrated R programming skills and analysis using STATA.
- Demonstrated resourcefulness, flexibility, and very good ability to do teamwork in different configurations.
- Experience working collaboratively on a large-scale research project.
- Documented experience with service to the profession and collaboration with the surrounding community.

We will make an overall assessment of the applicants’ qualifications and select one or more judged to complement the rest of the team in the best way possible for the needs of the research programs. Personal qualities and team-working skills are highly relevant for the position and are of great importance.

Type of employment: Fixed-term employment, 24 months, full time in residence.
Extent: 100 %
Location: V-Dem Institute, Department of Political Science, Gothenburg, Sweden Application Deadline: Starting Spring 2021, or latest by 2021-09-01

Please apply online:
https://www.movetogothenburg.com/

Applicants are expected to visit the website https://www.v-dem.net/en/our-work/research-projects/fasdem/ and read program documents. The application should clearly relate to the FASDEM research program.

The letter of application should include a self-evaluation of how the applicant’s proposed research agenda would contribute to the above listed research program, and in which ways the applicant meets the requirements specified above.

Attach to the application: a CV, an excerpt of citation count from Google scholar (including H-index), and one writing sample. The application should also include a list of at least three references from whom letters of recommendation can be solicited.

Information for International Applicants
Choosing a career in a foreign country is a big step. Thus, to give you a general idea of what we and Gothenburg have to offer in terms of benefits and life in general for you and your family/spouse/partner please visit:

https://www.movetogothenburg.com/

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2021 to September 1, 2022, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on funding and outstanding performance. Applications will be through the department of Politics. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research appointments with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant’s past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17241(link is external).

A complete application must include the following:
* a curriculum vitae;
* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
* contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2020; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2021 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:
Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu
Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8018

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding, new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high-quality, policy-relevant research on critical issues related to global development.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2021 for a one- or two-year appointment. The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program is intended for promising new PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy-relevant research on topics related to international development and poverty alleviation. The King Center’s postdoctoral fellows should expect to be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University.

The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program particularly encourages applications from women and minority PhD recipients, and from scholars from low- and middle-income countries, as well as from others whose backgrounds and experience would contribute to the diversity (broadly defined) of the program.

The King Center provides a competitive fellowship stipend, plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2020 via the application form linked from the King Center’s website.

For more details and the application, please visit: https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoral-fellows-program

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7983

Tel Aviv University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Tenure-Track

The School of Political Science, Government, and International Affairs at the Tel Aviv University invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor (lecturer) position in comparative politics. The position is open to all subfields of comparative politics. The term of appointment would begin October 1st, 2021.

Successful candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence as demonstrated by a record of publications, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, and independent program and to pursue outstanding research.

Candidates must also demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Teaching at the Tel Aviv University is primarily in Hebrew, and candidates must be able to teach courses in Hebrew within three years of their appointment.

Applicants should send a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and brief research and teaching statements (no more than two pages for each statement). Interested individuals should send their applications to polijobs@tauex.tau.ac.il

Applications should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed) to the search committee via e-mail to polijobs@tauex.tau.ac.il by September 30th, 2020.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 30th, 2020, but may consider files received after this date.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/30/2020
Date Posted: 8/21/2020
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 7934

Department of Defense
Rank: Analyst
Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC), https://www.jwac.mil/, is currently recruiting motivated individuals who are excited about the opportunity to lead research aimed at developing advanced methods for defense analysis.

JWAC’s mission is to provide the military with effects-based analysis in order to carry out the national security and military strategies of the United States during peace, crisis, and war.

Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background and professional experience or substantive research in the areas of military affairs, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy.

We offer generous benefits and competitive pay. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

Individuals interested in more information can email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/13/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7970
University of Richmond
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with expertise in the politics of development, broadly defined. The department has a strong preference for an area concentration in either Africa or the Middle East, which will complement its existing strengths in the politics of Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The position, to begin in 2021-2022 academic year, is intended to meet and expand curricular goals within the major; to broaden the department’s research expertise; and to contribute to interdisciplinary initiatives in the School of Arts and Sciences and to the University of Richmond’s mission of “preparing students for responsible leadership in a diverse world.” More specifically, the position carries a 3-2 teaching load consisting of a regular offering of a survey course on the politics of development. Other courses would relate to the faculty’s regional specialization, with particular preference for courses on the politics of Africa and/or the Middle East. The new hire would also share responsibility for teaching the department’s ongoing offerings of Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations and, as schedule permits, contribute to departmental First Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation by August 1, 2021. Applicants should apply online at https://richmond.cod.com/ats/careerite/jobDetails.aspx?site=1&id=2062.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see https://polisci.richmond.edu/.

Applicants should click “Apply Now”; at the top of the page and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter containing a brief summary of the candidate’s research and teaching interests and indicating commitment to the teacher-scholar model, and separate research and teaching statements. The research statement should expand on the candidate’s research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy, interests, experience and goals. It should also address commitment to inclusive pedagogy and to fostering thriving and inclusive intercultural community, as outlined in the President’s Making Excellence Inclusive report (https://president.richmond.edu/inclusive-excellence/report-pdfs/making-excellence-inclusive-final-report-2019.pdf). In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence on October 1, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Please address any questions about the application to Dr. Jennifer Erkulwater (jerkulwa@richmond.edu), Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Richmond, Richmond, VA 23173.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/10/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7971

Lycoming College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Law at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2021. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in Public Law. Candidates with a secondary specialization in Comparative Politics are encouraged to apply.

Lycoming’s small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College’s interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution.

Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae along with submitting a teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript using the link below. https://lycomingcollege.applytojob.com/apply/CqDmzXdFUU/Assistant-Professor-Of-Political-Science-Public-Law

Letters of recommendations can be mailed to:

Attention: Missy Cashner, HR Generalist
Lycoming College
One College Place, Campus Box 861
Williamsport, PA 17701

To guarantee full consideration applications should be submitted by October 1, 2020. A pre-employment drug screening will be conducted.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7954

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Wofford College
Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin fall 2021. We require candidates to be broadly trained in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics and to have the ability to teach a range of introductory and upper level international relations and comparative politics courses. We are particularly interested in applicants able to teach courses in security studies, Asian politics or global health. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is also beneficial. In addition, we value inclusive pedagogical approaches that aim to engage with a diverse student community. Although not required, graduate coursework on teaching and/or other forms of pedagogical training are helpful for this position.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE:
Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, S.C. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,720 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, study abroad participation and successful graduates, Wofford is home to one of the nation’s 283 Phi Beta Kappa chapters. The college community enjoys 19 NCAA Division 1 athletics teams.

Wofford’s mission is to provide superior liberal arts education that prepares its students for extraordinary and positive contributions to society. The focus of Wofford’s mission is upon fostering commitment to excellence in character, performance, leadership, service to others, and life-long learning. We enjoy a campus culture where conversation among faculty and students often spills over outside the classroom.

The Department of Government and International Affairs is a growing department with five full-time tenure-track faculty and over a hundred majors. We cover a broad scope of subject matter with an intellectual diverse faculty.

EXPECTATIONS
Wofford’s faculty teach 3-1-3 load; the 1 indicates the January Interim course term in which professors may travel with students or teach on a variety of topics using experiential teaching methods. Wofford faculty are teacher-scholars with a high aptitude and interest in undergraduate teaching and advising, community outreach and a commitment to the liberal arts. To earn tenure, faculty are required to demonstrate excellence in teaching, continued scholarly development and service to the college. Therefore, faculty members are expected to engage in scholarly research and continued professional development.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS
A Ph.D. in Political Science, equivalent or closely related field. One-year full-time teaching experience or its equivalent.

APPLICATION
All applications must include the following materials:
1. a letter of application that addresses how the candidate is prepared to meet the specific needs of Wofford College’s Government and International Affairs department;
2. a curriculum vitae;
3. a statement addressing the candidate’s teaching philosophy (which should include an articulation of interest in, and understanding of, working at a residential, liberal arts college and at Wofford College) and outlining teaching interests;
4. evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi;
5. letters of support from three professional references;
6. an example of scholarly writing;
7. unofficial graduate transcripts.

All application materials should be sent to InternationalAffairsSearch@wofford.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2020 will receive full consideration. Please contact the Department Chair, Dr. Rachel Vanderhill (vanderhillrj@wofford.edu), with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 7/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7942

---

Carleton College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Asian American Politics, China, East Asia

The Carleton College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin September 1, 2021. We are specifically interested in candidates who have regional expertise in Chinese politics and prefer candidates who can speak both to domestic dynamics as well as China’s role in a broader Asian and/or global context. Successful candidates should be able to teach a range of courses in Comparative Politics (including the introductory course) as well as offer instruction in research methods (qualitative and/or quantitative). The standard teaching load is five courses spread across three trimesters. The ideal candidate will also be interested in contributing to a vibrant college-wide culture of undergraduate research and have a commitment to attracting and retaining students from underserved groups. A PhD in hand or its imminent completion is required.

Carleton is a highly selective liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000, located in the historic and thriving town of Northfield, Minnesota. We are in commuting distance of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, whose greater metro area has a diverse population of three million people and a rich variety of cultural resources. The Political Science Department strives to introduce students—majors and non-majors alike—to a broad array of theoretical and philosophical perspectives while equipping them with the necessary analytic skills to engage with an increasingly diverse world and contribute constructively to one’s community. For further information about the department, please consult the department website at carleton.edu/political-science.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, and a statement about teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment and how you would contribute to a college community that embraces a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We also require a statement about research interests, one scholarly writing sample and contact information for three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to jobs.carleton.edu. Inquiries can be directed to preiken@carleton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/4/2020
Date Posted: 7/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7917

---

Carleton College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Asian American Politics, China, East Asia

The Carleton College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin September 1, 2021. We are specifically interested in candidates who have regional expertise in Chinese politics and prefer candidates who can speak both to domestic dynamics as well as China’s role in a broader Asian and/or global context. Successful candidates should be able to teach a range of courses in Comparative Politics (including the introductory course) as well as offer instruction in research methods (qualitative and/or quantitative). The standard teaching load is five courses spread across three trimesters. The ideal candidate will also be interested in contributing to a vibrant college-wide culture of undergraduate research and have a commitment to attracting and retaining students from underserved groups. A PhD in hand or its imminent completion is required.

Carleton is a highly selective liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000, located in the historic and thriving town of Northfield, Minnesota. We are in commuting distance of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, whose greater metro area has a diverse population of three million people and a rich variety of cultural resources. The Political Science Department strives to introduce students—majors and non-majors alike—to a broad array of theoretical and philosophical perspectives while equipping them with the necessary analytic skills to engage with an increasingly diverse world and contribute constructively to one’s community. For further information about the department, please consult the department website at carleton.edu/political-science.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, and a statement about teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment and how you would contribute to a college community that embraces a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We also require a statement about research interests, one scholarly writing sample and contact information for three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to jobs.carleton.edu. Inquiries can be directed to preiken@carleton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/4/2020
Date Posted: 7/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7917

---

Political Science Jobs
October 2020

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant or associate (non-tenured) professor. The employment starts in Fall semester of 2021. The openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political theory. Candidates who have a research focus on issues of public policy are strongly encouraged to apply for the positions. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field. Although the working environment in SUFE is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

The position is a full-time appointment for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years of employment. The tenure-track faculty are expected to publish research on highly reputable international journals, offer high-quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at SUFE. The rules of evaluation and promotion are standardized at the university and similar to those for tenure positions in a regular American university.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 380,000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (240K RMB housing subsidy, medical insurance, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Motivated by the rapidly changing world, SUFE promotes the establishment of a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):
1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list;
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

The deadline for accepting applications is September 31, 2020, for this round of recruitment. We will arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Wechat during November and December 2020.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/14/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7872

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Review of applications will commence immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/12/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7899

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science or be close to completion, and demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence, strong research skills, and potential for research productivity.

Applicants should apply online at https://careers.providence.edu and submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, and contact information for three professional references. For additional information, please contact Dr. Joe Cammarano, Chair of the Political Science Department, at jpcammar@providence.edu with questions.

The City of Providence is vibrant and diverse city with a long history of welcoming immigrant populations, most recently from West Africa, Latin America, and Southeast Asia.

Applicants should apply online at https://careers.providence.edu and submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, and contact information for three professional references. For additional information, please contact Dr. Joe Cammarano, Chair of the Political Science Department, at jpcammar@providence.edu with questions.

Review of applications will commence immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science or be close to completion, and demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence, strong research skills, and potential for research productivity.

Applicants should apply online at https://careers.providence.edu and submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, and contact information for three professional references. For additional information, please contact Dr. Joe Cammarano, Chair of the Political Science Department, at jpcammar@providence.edu with questions.

Review of applications will commence immediately and will continue until the position is filled.
Council on Foreign Relations
Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS)
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, History & Politics

The Fellowship:
The International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS) offers professors from a variety of academic backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policymaking field, providing them with an opportunity to spend their sabbatical year working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization.

The IAF-TIRS program helps close the gap between research and practice, enriching both teaching and scholarship by enabling fellows to become practitioners. The program also benefits policymakers by exposing them to critical scholarly research relevant to the foreign policy and national security issues facing the United States and the world.

The fellowship is for twelve months. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow’s base salary for the academic year (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

Eligibility:
Applicants should be U.S. citizens
Applicants must be full-time tenured professors at a U.S. college or university
Applicants must have arranged a paid sabbatical with their home university
Applicants must hold a PhD
Applicants must propose to spend a year working on peace and security issues in the U.S. government, in Congress, or at an international organization.

Preference is given to candidates with no previous experience in the U.S. government or with an international organization.

*Note: fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance. No indirect costs can be deducted from the stipend award.

How to Apply:
Interested candidates who meet the program eligibility requirements can apply online now through October 31 at cfr.org/fellowships/international-affairs-fellowship-tenured-international-relations-scholars.

If you have additional questions, please contact tirs.fellowships@cfr.org.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/31/2020
Date Posted: 5/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7853

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
University of Copenhagen
Rank: Researcher(s) to the Centre for Military Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Methodology
Specializations: Defense, Foreign Policy, International Security

Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen (UCPH) seeks excellent candidates for one or more positions as Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies.

The position(s) is available from 1st May 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Appointment as Researcher is a three-year position.
Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who have experience with research and teaching within the field of defence, security, strategic and military studies. We define national security and strategy in broad terms and welcome applications from Researchers with backgrounds in political science and other relevant disciplines. Applicants with experience in applied research in foreign, security, or defence policy are especially welcome. The successful candidate(s) will have a strong commitment to both excellence and relevance.

Introduction

Based in the Department of Political Science, the Centre for Military Studies is a university research centre focusing on research in defence, security, and strategic studies. In order to provide new knowledge and to identify relevant strategic options for Denmark in particular, we conduct both curiosity-driven and problem-driven independent research. The Centre works closely with the Danish Ministry of Defence, the Danish Armed Forces and other national and international stakeholders when investigating issues and developing ideas and options. As a fully integrated part of the Department of Political Science, the Centre takes part in teaching and research activities at the Department. For more information, please consult our webpage: https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/

Duties and Responsibilities

Duties and responsibilities of the post include contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the University by conducting world-class research and teaching. A Researcher also has administrative responsibilities.

As Researcher at the Centre for Military Studies the general duties are:

• Research within the field of defence, security, and strategic studies
• Applied research and commissioned analytical tasks for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement
• Knowledge sharing with society, including media appearances and public lectures
• Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and postgraduate students at the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The weighting of the different duties may vary periodically, but the successful candidate can expect to spend most of his/her time doing research and specific studies including applied research for the Danish
Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement. A limited amount of teaching is also to be expected even if this is not primarily a teaching position.

Read more about this position and apply here: https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=1525556&DepartmentId=18992&MediaId=4636

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8164

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Senior Researcher(s) to the Centre for Military Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Methodology
Specializations: Defense, Foreign Policy, International Security

Senior Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen (UCPH) seeks excellent candidates for one or more positions as Senior Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies.

The position(s) is a permanent, full-time position and is available from 1st May 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who have experience with research and teaching within the field of defence, security, strategic and military studies. We define national security and strategy in broad terms and welcome applications from researchers with backgrounds in political science and other relevant disciplines. Applicants with experience in applied research in foreign, security, or defence policy are especially welcome. The successful candidate(s) will have a strong commitment to both excellence and relevance.

Introduction

Based in the Department of Political Science, the Centre for Military Studies is a university research centre focusing on research in defence, security, and strategic studies. In order to provide new knowledge and to identify relevant strategic options for Denmark in particular, we conduct both curiosity-driven and problem-driven independent research. The Centre works closely with the Danish Ministry of Defence, the Danish Armed Forces and other national and international stakeholders when investigating issues and developing ideas and options. As a fully integrated part of the Department of Political Science, the Centre takes part in teaching and research activities at the Department. For more information, please consult our webpage: https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/

Duties and Responsibilities

Duties and responsibilities of the post include contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the University by conducting world-class research and teaching. A Senior Researcher also has administrative responsibilities and is expected to develop the field in synergy with other fields as well as to exercise academic leadership.

As Senior Researcher at the Centre for Military Studies the general duties are:

- Research within the field of defence, security, and strategic studies
- Applied research and commissioned analytical tasks for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement
- Knowledge sharing with society, including media appearances and public lectures
- Research management, including administrative tasks related to the position
- Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and postgraduate students at the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The weighting of the different duties may vary periodically, but the successful candidate can expect to spend most of his/her time doing research and specific studies including applied research for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement. A certain amount of teaching is also to be expected, even if this is not primarily a teaching position.

Read more about this position and apply here: https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=1525556&DepartmentId=18992&MediaId=4636

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8163

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor (Indigenous Studies)

The Department of Global and International Studies at the University of California, Irvine (UCI) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position. We are looking for outstanding scholars involved in critical, interdisciplinary and innovative approaches to global Indigenous issues. Applicants should address explicitly how global perspectives are deployed and/or local-global dimensions feature in their research. The successful candidate will hold a PhD in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service.

The candidate will be participating in an innovative, transdisciplinary and diverse intellectual environment and developing curriculum around global theory, non-western epistemologies, and pressing regional and transnational issues manifesting in the lives and experiences of people. See department website at: www.globalstudies.uci.edu

Completed applications must include: a cover letter highlighting qualifications, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching, statement of research, up to three publications, and three letters of reference by the deadline. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials.

Interested candidates should apply online at: https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF06367

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2020, but the position will remain open until filled. If you have questions, please feel free to contact Department Chair, Eve Darian-Smith via email to edarian@uci.edu
University of California, Irvine
Rank: Assistant Professor (Racial Studies)

The Department of Global and International Studies at the University of California, Irvine (UCI) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position. We are looking for outstanding scholars involved in critical, interdisciplinary and innovative approaches to structural racism as a pressing global issue. We are especially interested in candidates engaging in critical approaches to racial capitalism, Black Internationalism and Black geographies. Applicants should address explicitly how global perspectives are deployed and/or local-global dimensions feature in their research. The successful candidate will hold a PhD in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service.

The candidate will be participating in an innovative, transdisciplinary and diverse intellectual environment and developing curriculum around global theory, non-western epistemologies, and pressing regional and transnational issues manifesting in the lives and experiences of people. See department website at: www.globalstudies.uci.edu

Completed applications must include: a cover letter highlighting qualifications, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching, statement of research, up to three publications, and three letters of reference by the deadline. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials.

Interested candidates should apply online at: https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF05186

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2020, but the position will remain open until filled. If you have questions, please feel free to contact Department Chair, Eve Darian-Smith via email to edarian@uci.edu

Preference may be given to those candidates who demonstrate a sustained commitment to advance equitable access to higher education, and who have performed public and university service that addresses the needs of underrepresented minority populations.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8153

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse
Rank: Interdisciplinary Research Fellowship
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

We welcome applications from researchers within a large range of disciplines in the social, behavioral and life sciences: anthropology, evolutionary biology, economics, genetics, history, law, mathematics, neuroscience, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology; however, motivated applications from outside these disciplines will be given full consideration. Successful applicants will have to demonstrate an interest in, and a commitment to, at least one of the other disciplines of IAST.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in their own discipline, but willing and able to develop research projects drawing on IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly the proximity of strong groups in economics (Toulouse School of Economics, TSE).

We are open to a variety of research methods, including theory, field and laboratory experiments, observational field work, and the analysis of large secondary data sets.

All research interests relevant to the broad study of human behavior are welcome, but preference may be given to candidates whose research interests are complementary to those of existing IAST researchers. These include, to cite only a few:

- In history: quantitative economic history (cliometrics), empirical political economy in history, qualitative economic or social history; emergence and dynamics of institutions and networks.
- In evolutionary biology: theoretical models of evolution (applied to family structure, strategic interactions, plasticity, cognition, learning, cultural evolution); related empirical work.
- In anthropology: human biology, life history theory, human development and plasticity, health and infectious disease, aging, demography, host-parasite co-evolution, diet and nutrition, global health, evolutionary medicine and genetics.
- In political science: public opinion and public policies, political economy, political institutions, development, experimental political science, studies of networks and their impact on individual and collective action.
- In law: law and economics, corporate governance, criminology.
- In psychology: cognition, beliefs, identity, memory, the emotions, culture, social trust, gender, group decision-making.
- In sociology: network formation, the impact of networks on social outcomes, sociology of religion.
- In genetics and neuroscience: mental state representation, personality, intelligence.

To apply online please visit: http://www.iast.fr/research-fellowships

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/5/2020

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
University of Oklahoma - Norman
Rank: Newman Post-Doctoral Fellow

We seek to hire a Newman Post-Doctoral Fellow with an abiding interest in multi-disciplinary work focused on China’s growing influence around the world and the role of American multinational corporations in U.S.-China relations. The individual will assist with the research initiatives of the Institute for U.S.-China Issues, support the Institute’s biannual symposia, help to organize and participate in the Institute’s events, teach one interdisciplinary course on China in a comparative or global context in the Department of International and Area Studies (IAS) per year, and deliver a research presentation per semester.

Fields of specialization might include (but are not limited to) political science, international relations, China Studies, economics, political economy, security studies, public policy, history, sociology, and geography. Chinese language and quantitative research skills are strongly preferred.

We will accept applications from those who have earned a Ph.D. (or those who expect to earn their doctorate before September 2021). Applicants must submit a cover letter, vita, 500-word description of a proposed course, a single-authored writing sample, 1,000-word description of a research project, three recommendation letters, and a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion by November 15, 2020 for full consideration. The Newman Post-Doc Fellowship will commence on August 1, 2021 and end on July 31, 2022. The salary will be $40,000 per year and the Institute will provide fringe benefits.

The Institute for US-China Issues at the University of Oklahoma College of International Studies was established in 2006 with the generous financial support of Harold J. & Ruth Newman. It seeks to establish national distinctiveness and preeminence in enhancing the understanding and management of U.S.-China relations by simultaneously addressing two sets of interrelated issue clusters—the security, technology, economic, environmental, political, and public health (STEEPP) issues, and the instrumental role culture plays in shaping how the two nations perceive and engage each other. Additional information about the Institute’s activities may be found at https://www.ou.edu/cis/sponsored_programs/institute-for-us-china-issues.

Those seeking a fellowship should submit applications to: uschina@ou.edu.

For inquiries, please contact Bo Kong (bo.kong@ou.edu).

The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity institution (www.ou.edu/eoo).

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8138

William & Mary
Rank: Research Scientist or Senior Research Scientist
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other
Specializations: International Political Economy, Developing Nations, Research Methods

AidData is currently recruiting for a Research Scientist (U13) OR Senior Research Scientist (U15), depending on the applicant’s qualifications. These positions are based in Williamsburg, VA. As such, applicants will be expected to relocate to the Williamsburg area in 2021.

Application Instructions

For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal (https://jobs.wm.edu/postings/39689). There, click Apply for this Job to apply with your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter, and a peer-reviewed publication that highlights your ability to design and execute policy-relevant, empirical research with rigorous methods. This position closes at 11:59pm on October 15th, 2020.

The Research Scientist will provide intellectual leadership for AidData’s Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and work closely with the Director of Policy Analysis to provide technical and management oversight of the grants and contracts that support this program. The Research Scientist will assume the management, fiscal, and research integrity responsibilities of a Co-Principal Investigator on relevant, externally-sponsored research projects. The individual will also contribute to the conceptual development and preparation of grant and contract proposals in line with the mandate of the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and Policy Analysis Unit, represent the program and unit externally in presenting research results to academic and policy audiences, and broker financial and partnership arrangements to advance the program and unit’s research agenda.

The Senior Research Scientist will provide intellectual leadership for AidData’s Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and provide technical and management oversight of the grants and contracts that support this program. This is a senior leadership position within AidData. The Senior Research Scientist will assume the management, fiscal, and research integrity responsibilities of a lead Principal Investigator on relevant, externally-sponsored research projects. The individual will lead the conceptual development and preparation of grant and contract proposals in line with the mandate of the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program, and represent the program externally to academic and policy audiences. The individual will also be responsible for brokering financial and partnership arrangements to advance the program’s research agenda, while ensuring the long-term health and sustainability of the program area.

Either position may include oversight of staff conducting data collection and analysis related to the nature, scope, distribution, and effects of Chinese, Russian, and Middle Eastern financing. Either role will be responsible for the successful delivery of analysis, datasets and tools related to sponsored research projects, including:

Financial oversight (managing budgets for active grants and contracts, developing proposals for new grants);
External client management (ensuring on-time, high-quality deliverables for external funders);
Personnel oversight (supervision of staff/research assistants);...
Senior Research Scientist:
A terminal degree in a relevant discipline with several years’ experience as a principal investigator or co-principal investigator;
Demonstrated academic rigor to lead the design and implementation of externally sponsored research projects as a Principal Investigator;
Established track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods;
Experience writing compelling grant proposals and securing external funds for policy research projects;
Track record of leading collaborative research projects;
Established subject matter expert in at least one domain relevant to the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program (e.g., China, Russia, Gulf Cooperation Council, development finance, foreign direct investment, blended finance, South-South cooperation, etc.);
Track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods;
Experience working with large, complex datasets using one or more of the following: Stata, R, Python, SAS, SPSS;
Strong and effective communication skills;
Ability to work both independently and collaboratively in a demanding and complex work environment; to carry out assignments in a timely manner, and to adapt to changing situations and priorities;
Experience managing small to mid-size project teams and delivery schedules.

Preferred Qualifications
Research Scientist:
A Master’s degree or Doctorate in a relevant discipline;
Experience designing and/or managing large-scale data collection and/or research projects in developing country contexts;
Knowledge/experience with qualitative data collection and research methods (FGDs, interviews, Nvivo);
Advanced experience with data science methods (machine learning, web scraping, and text mining);
Demonstrated ability to implement rigorous analysis using experimental methods or quasi-experimental methods, including regression discontinuity, matching, difference-in-differences, instrumental variables estimation, social network analysis, and spatial analysis;
Experience preparing statistical code for reproduction of results by a third party;
Extensive knowledge and experience working with development finance or foreign direct investment data;
Detailed knowledge of aid classification schemes and experience in collecting, standardizing, and publishing data from multiple actors;
Experience delivering datasets and actionable research for policy and academic audiences;
Knowledge of the standards, best practices, and systems related to public service and/or international aid program delivery in developing countries.

Senior Research Scientist:
Doctorate in a relevant discipline such as economics, political science, public policy, public affairs, international relations, international development, or development finance or comparable advanced level experience;
Track record of obtaining research funding from a variety of funders;
Experience designing and/or managing large-scale data collection and/or research in developing country contexts;
Advanced proficiency/experience with data science methods (machine learning, web scraping, and text mining);
Demonstrated ability to implement rigorous analysis using experimental methods or quasi-experimental methods, including regression discontinuity, matching, difference-in-differences, instrumental variables estimation, social network analysis, and spatial analysis;
Demonstrated experience preparing statistical code for reproduction of results by a third party;
Extensive knowledge and experience working with development finance or foreign direct investment data;
Experience delivering datasets and actionable research for policy and academic audiences;
Extensive knowledge of traditional and non-traditional donor classification schemes (with a particular emphasis on Non-DAC donors like China, Russia and the Gulf Cooperation Council countries).

Application Instructions
For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal. There, click on the link, provide a brief summary of your background and interests, and submit your resume and letter of interest. Applications should be received by October 23, 2020. For more information, contact: Applications@brown.edu or Professor Rose McDermott, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. Rose_McDermott@brown.edu

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 23, 2020 to the application portal:

A cover letter stating the applicant’s academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute’s core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

An up-to-date curriculum vitae.

A writing sample.

Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant’s research.

Review of applications will begin on October 24; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2021.
Duties and Responsibilities:
Candidates should expect to contribute to teaching introductory and intermediate courses in political science, as well as upper-level electives in their field of concentration. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. Teaching load is typically three courses per semester with small section sizes (no more than 20 students) and 2-3 preparations per year. Candidates should also have a strong commitment to student advising and mentoring and to service to the institution.

Candidates at the Assistant Professor level are preferred; however, well-qualified applicants may be considered at the Associate Professor level.

This is a 10-month federal excepted service position with a three year initial academic appointment. Salary for this position will be commensurate with experience and qualifications.

MINIMUM AND PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:
Minimum:
A Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required (anticipated completion of Ph.D. no later than June 2021 is acceptable for an August 2021 employment start date).

Preferred:
Expertise in Russia and Eastern Europe/Central Asia are preferred, but scholars with a focus on South Asia, Southeast Asia, and international political economy are encouraged to apply.

HOW TO APPLY FOR POSITION:
Interested candidates should send a cover letter, a research statement, a statement on teaching which addresses teaching in a diverse environment, writing samples, transcripts and a curriculum vitae to the search committee. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (teaching evaluations and syllabi of courses taught) may accompany the application.

Please arrange for three letters of recommendation that address both teaching and research abilities to be sent to the below email address.

Send all application materials to the International Relations/Comparative Politics Search Committee at usna_polisci_ircp_2020-group@usna.edu and use “USNA IR Comparative” in the subject line.

Please note: Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT:
U.S. Citizenship Required

All Civilian Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation leading to successful completion of a background investigation with a favorable adjudication. The selectee’s failure to meet this requirement will be grounds for termination. Background investigations for non-US Citizens often require up to two years to complete, and for non-US Citizens the background check must be complete before employment can begin. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost’s website here http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:
The Department of the Navy provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact our Human Resource Office to ensure that the Department of the Navy can consider such requests. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case by case basis.

Submit a Demographic Information on Applicants Form to rsharps@usna.edu. Your responses will not be shared with the panel rating the applications or to the official making the selection for this position.

All Civilian Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. These investigations are conducted to ensure that individuals hired are trustworthy, of good conduct, and reliable. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost’s website here http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8120

University of California, Merced
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. This search is supported by an Advancing Faculty Diversity Recruitment Grant and the Department seeks candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in political science (or a closely related field) by the position start date.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2021.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by October 28, 2020. Applications will be submitted at https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01031. Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and, 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applications should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than October 28, 2020.

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individual with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual
University of Oxford
Rank: Research, Research Fellow, and Senior Research Fellow positions at the Future of Humanity Institute, University of Oxford
Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Methodology
We currently have open research positions at several levels of seniority, and will make up to 9 appointments. Specifically relevant to applicants with an international relations or political science background, we are interested in applicants with an interest in (1) great power peace and conflict, transparency and surveillance, and cooperative principles and institutions; (2) AI ethics and AI governance, including to work with the Centre for the Governance of AI. Other relevant areas include: Foundational Deep Future Topics / Global Priorities Research, Technical AI Safety, and Biosecurity.

Of potential relevance to political methodologists, we are conducting extensive surveys of machine learning experts and the public on AI governance issues, we are seeking expertise in the politics of machine learning algorithms, developing models of inter-firm and inter-state technology competition, and we value careful causal inference. Questions about these positions can be directed to the chair of the selection committee, Allan Dafoe &lt;allan.dafoe@politics.ox.ac.uk&gt;.

FHI is a multidisciplinary research institute at the University of Oxford. Academics at FHI bring the tools of mathematics, philosophy, and the social and natural sciences to bear on big-picture questions about humanity and its prospects.

Application deadline: October 19th. More information here: https://www.fhi.ox.ac.uk/researcher-hiring-2020/

Start Date: Winter 2020
Application Deadline: 10/19/2020
Date Posted: 9/28/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8108

Purdue University
Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor, International and Environmental Politics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

Visiting Assistant Professor
Purdue Political Science Department seeks applicants for a one-semester visiting assistant professor or visiting instructor position to teach four classes on campus in West Lafayette in spring 2021 in the areas of International Relations and Environmental Politics. Applicants should be prepared to teach core courses in Global Green Politics and/or International Environmental Policy. We especially encourage applicants with teaching strengths in one or more of the additional areas: Intro to International Relations, International Organizations, and/or Model UN. The position has the option of continuing in the summer, teaching up to three additional courses paid on a per-course basis.

Qualifications
Must be a qualified doctoral candidate (ABD) in a PhD program, in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or Environmental Studies, or related field. A PhD is strongly preferred. This position requires postsecondary teaching experience in political science, environmental studies, or international policy.

Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is committed advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort including discover, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests, or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

The College and University
Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. The department offers graduate certificates to students across campus in Social Policy, Environmental Policy, and Human Rights.

Applications
Candidates should submit a cover letter, a CV that includes references, graduate transcripts, a statement on inclusiveness in the classroom, and a teaching portfolio. Application materials must be submitted electronically via https://careers.purdue.edu/

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range for spring semester is $22,500 – $24,000. Summer courses are compensated on a per-course basis and tied to size of enrollment. This position is contingent on course enrollments and final budget approval.
A background check is required for employment in this position.

Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Equal Opportunity

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/25/2020
Salary: $20,000 - $29,999
eJobs ID: 8104

East Carolina University
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science is one of sixteen departments in the Thomas Harriot College of Arts and Sciences at East Carolina University in Greenville, North Carolina. The Department is composed of 15 full-time faculty. It offers BS and BA degrees in political science and minors in public administration, comparative politics/international relations, leadership studies, and security studies at the undergraduate level. It is also home to the multidisciplinary studies majors in security studies and international studies. At the graduate level, it offers a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration degree, a Master of Science in Security Studies and certificates in public management and security studies. The department emphasizes excellent teaching, quality research, and a tradition of service to the community, the university, and the discipline.

More information about the department can be found at its home page: https://politicalscience.ecu.edu/.

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 13, 2021. The successful candidate will become one of the faculty members in the Department of Political Science with primary teaching responsibilities in the Security Studies program. He/she will be expected to teach at both the graduate and undergraduate levels in the classroom and online. The assigned teaching load will be a 3:2. Service to the university, community and profession is expected.

A PhD in Political Science and Government, Homeland Security, International Relations and National Security Studies, International/Global Studies, or Peace Studies and Conflict Resolution. The position is open in terms of regional or issue-area specialization within the broader security-related context. ABD candidates must provide documented evidence of dissertation defense and completion of study prior to hire. It is expected that ABD applicants will have the degree conferred by August 13, 2021. Candidates with Ph.D. conferred at the time of initial appointment will hold the rank of Assistant Professor upon initial appointment. ABD candidates will also be initially appointed with the probationary term rank of Assistant Professor and must have the terminal degree conferred prior to their first reappointment. Qualifying degrees must be conferred from appropriately accredited institutions.

Given the department’s current needs, preference will be given to candidates who have experience (educational, teaching, and/or research) in international security and national security policy. Teaching experience at the graduate and undergraduate levels, as well as distance education is strongly preferred.

To apply, complete a candidate profile and submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, statements of research interests and teaching experience/philosophy, unofficial transcripts and a writing sample online at https://ecu.peopleadmin.com/. Candidates will add the names of 3 recommenders in the PeopleAdmin interface. Candidates should be aware that recommenders will be contacted through PeopleAdmin and asked to upload their letters through that interface. Letters of reference submitted via the PeopleAdmin applicant tracking system will be verified and considered towards meeting this requirement. Official transcripts are required upon employment. Review of applications will begin on October 23, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions should be directed to: Dr. Marie Olson Lounsbury, Chair, Security Studies Search Committee, Department of Political Science, (olsonlounsbury@ecu.edu).

In order to be considered for this position, applicants must complete a candidate profile online via the PeopleAdmin system and submit any requested documents. Additionally, applicants that possess the preferred education and experience must also possess the minimum education/experience, if applicable.

Apply here at: http://ecu.peopleadmin.com/postings/37859

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/23/2020
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8092

U.S. Air War College, Dept. of International Security Studies
Rank: Professor of International Security
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Air War College Department of International Security Studies invites candidates to apply for a faculty position in the field of national security studies, with an emphasis on space, new domains, and technology. The primary purpose of the position is to teach and develop curriculum on U.S. national and international security for the AWC West Space Seminar. Specialties in the political science subfields of international relations and/or comparative politics are desired, though candidates with space-related focus in other fields and sub-fields (e.g. American politics, Strategic Studies, and History) will be given strong consideration. The possible starting dates are between January and July 2021. Applications are due October 13, 2020.

Academic rank is open but the focus is for appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. This position requires university-equivalent teaching experience (graduate-level preferred) and a suitable academic publication record. Responsibilities include: teaching and developing curriculum for the West Space Seminar; teaching electives in the applicant’s area(s) of specialization; advising student research; and service to the institution. Teaching duties approximate a 2/2 teaching load per academic year.
The Air War College provides a dynamic and academic environment for teaching and research. The in-residence program offers master's degrees and senior-level professional military education to U.S. military officers, civilian government officials, and to military officers from more than 40 nations. The West Space Seminar offers the opportunity to shape and develop curriculum for future senior leaders of the new U.S. Space Force.

The Air War College contains a diverse faculty of security studies experts engaged in rigorous academic research on critical issues in contemporary security debates. It is a leading contributor of national security thought for leaders across the U.S. Government, and highly encourages policy-relevant scholarship by its faculty. It is located at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, AL.

The position is an Administratively Determined (AD) civil service position, which means that faculty rank comparable to that in civilian universities is assigned to civilian faculty members. The selected candidate will be offered a three year appointment with a probationary first year. This appointment is not renewable. Applicants must hold U.S. citizenship and possess or be able to obtain a Top Secret-SCI security clearance.

Air University is committed to building a culturally diverse and inclusive educational environment. We are dedicated to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty committed to inclusive teaching and scholarship. Prospective candidates must engender a climate that values and uses diversity in all its forms to enrich debate and make the institution more inclusive. Applicants should address how they will further these goals in a diversity statement attached to their cover letter. This statement should include teaching, life experience and/or research interests that contribute to a climate that values and promotes diversity in all its forms.

While open positions are advertised in various publications, including the American Political Science EJobs, applicants must submit their application through USAJobs either online or via mail. The link to the advertisement and application can be found here: https://www.usajobs.gov/Search/Results?k=578661100

Candidates should submit a cover letter, diversity statement, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references.

If candidates prefer to not use the online feature, they can send their resume, or Optional Form 612, along with other required documents to 42 FSS/FSMC, 50 Lemay Plaza South, Building 804, Attn: Air War College faculty position, Maxwell AFB AL 36112-6334. The OF-612 can be accessed through the Office of personnel Management’s web site at www.usajobs.opm.gov.

For more information, contact Colonel Douglas Drake, U.S. Space Force, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427; douglas.drake@us.af.mil. Or contact Dr. Chris Hemmer, Dean, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427. Phone 334-953-7099, email christopher.hemmer@us.af.mil.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/13/2020
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8097

United States Military Academy
Rank: Assistant Professor and Deputy Director of the Johnson Grand Strategy Program
Specializations: International Security, Defense, Foreign Policy

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR AND DEPUTY DIRECTOR FOR THE JOHNSON GRAND STRATEGY PROGRAM at West Point. Position beginning in July 2021. Candidates will be evaluated according to the following factors: (i) Advanced degree (Ph.D.) in political science with a strong background in security studies. (ii) Ability to develop, design, direct, and teach undergraduate political science courses. (iii) Strong research agenda and the demonstrated ability to present results in a variety of media. (iv) Ability to lead an interdisciplinary Grand Strategy Program, to include: coordinating across academic departments to develop and assess curriculum; managing a high-impact guest speaker series; facilitating cadet and faculty research on grand strategy; providing subject matter expertise and guiding outreach; and communicating grand strategy lessons learned to communities of study and practice.

This is a full-time appointment for a period of one to three years. Successful candidates for this position must be available to begin work no later than early July 2021, with all requirements for a doctoral degree completed. U.S. citizens and non-citizens with allegiance to the United States may apply. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. To receive full consideration, application packages must include: a cover letter to include discussion of your teaching philosophy as one of the topics, a curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, three letters of recommendation, one writing sample, DD214 (if claiming veteran’s preference), and a copy of sponsor’s Permanent Change of Station orders, (if claiming a military spouse preference). Mail a hard copy of all material to: Department of Social Sciences, Grand Strategy Program Search Committee, ATTN: Ms. Marianne Daniello, 607 Cullum Road, United States Military Academy, West Point, New York 10996-1718. Inquiries about this position can be directed to Prof. Scott A. Silverstone at scott.silverstone@westpoint.edu. For administrative questions concerning application submission, please contact by email: marianne.daniello@westpoint.edu or telephone: (845) 938-3397. In order to receive full consideration, applications should be postmarked or received by 16 November 2020. Only paper submissions will be considered.

The United States Military Academy at West Point was established in 1802 and continues to be the nation’s premier leader development institution. It is the only college specifically charged with preparing young men and women for service as officers in the United States Army. As such, it has a singular educational focus on graduating enlightened military leaders of strong moral character whose minds are creative, critical, and resourceful. Located 50 miles north of New York City, this prestigious institution is nestled in the beautiful Hudson River Valley.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 11/16/2020
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8099

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
University of Notre Dame
Rank: Director, Ford Program in Human Development Studies and Solidarity

The University of Notre Dame’s Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a senior faculty position in development studies or a social science discipline directly relevant to the study of international development, who will serve as the Faculty Director of the Ford Program in Human Development Studies and Solidarity.

For over 10 years, the Ford Family Program (https://kellogg.nd.edu/about/outreach-initiatives/ford-program-human-development-studies-and-solidarity) has been dedicated to research, teaching, and service that promotes integral human development, a holistic model of flourishing emerging from the tradition of Catholic social thought and rooted in each person’s human dignity and full potential. With the goal of understanding the challenges and aspirations of people living in extreme poverty around the developing world, the Program conducts and supports research that grows out of engagement with local communities. Ford Program research initiatives, which are conducted both with a variety of University of Notre Dame faculty and with local partners, have been centered primarily in East Africa, but more recently its research has extended into other parts of Africa, the Mediterranean basin, and Latin America.

The Ford Program is situated within the Kellogg Institute for International Studies (http://kellogg.nd.edu/), which has for over 35 years been a leading center for interdisciplinary research and programming on issues of democracy and human development. The Kellogg Institute is one of the principal constitutive units of the University of Notre Dame’s Keough School of Global Affairs (http://keough.nd.edu/). Oriented toward research, teaching, and service dedicated to the advancement of integral human development, the Keough School promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a professional master’s degree and undergraduate degrees, and supports doctoral programs.

The successful hire will hold a faculty appointment, and have teaching responsibilities, in the Keough School. The appointment may be at the level of either Associate or Full professor, as would be commensurate to the candidate’s prior experience and trajectory.

The Director will be expected to provide overall intellectual leadership for the Ford Program, both by designing and conducting his or her own research initiatives within the context of Ford Program, as well as by identifying, encouraging, and supporting opportunities for other Notre Dame faculty members to undertake research that advances the mission of the Ford Program. The Director will be assisted by other Ford Program staff members, and will be able to draw on the annual endowment revenues of the Ford Program.

Applicants from a variety of disciplines who are engaged in the study of international development will be considered. Applicants should have a strong record of conducting and supervising field-based research, and should have experience securing and managing substantial grants in support of their own research and/or in support of broader programmatic initiatives. Applicants should also have an interest in designing and supporting research that explores the values of integral human development, as well as a more general interest in contributing to a multi-disciplinary and policy-oriented school.

Applicants are required to submit a letter of interest and a C.V. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio online application system: http://apply.interfolio.com/79007.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:
Prof. Paolo Carozza
Chair, Ford Program Director Search
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
pcarozza@nd.edu

Applications should be received by October 31, 2020, and review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/31/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 8080

National University of Singapore
Rank: Research Fellow, International Relations with a focus on Asia and Conceptions of International/Regional Order (3 year-contract, renewable)
Specializations: East Asia, South Asia, Southeast Asia

The Centre on Asia and Globalisation (CAG), at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore, opens applications for a Research Fellowship position in the field of International Relations with a focus on Asia.

The Lee Kuan Yew School is a leading school of public policy with an international faculty and student body. CAG was established in 2006 to provide accurate, independent, and high-quality analysis on issues of regional and global significance for academia, decision-makers, commentators, and the general public. Its current research agenda is focused on two broad areas: the prospects of regional and global order; and the future of economic globalisation/de-globalisation and their impact on Asia (https://lkyspp.nus.edu.sg/cag).

Job Description
The candidate will conduct independent, in-depth and fruitful research on issues in his/her expertise and contribute to the Centre’s agenda on the future of globalization and de-globalization. He/she is expected to initiate and organize research projects, policy workshops, conferences and other research events. He/she should be able to reach out to publishers and actively engage with academia, policy practitioners, media and business leaders as well as apply for external grants. In addition, he/she is expected to play a role in coordinating with other researchers and contribute to the broader intellectual life of the centre which focuses on the international relations of Asia.

Job Requirements
• A Ph.D. degree in Political Science/International Relations
• Expertise in the International Relations of Asia with an interest in conceptions of global and regional order
• An ability to engage with policy and research communities in Singapore, Asia and around the world
• A strong and demonstrated sense of academic independence and collegiality
• A willingness to engage in interdisciplinary interactions at the School

Benefits Include:
• Internationally competitive salary, 3-year renewable contract
• Housing benefit, travel assistance and transit accommodation, subject to NUS eligibility criteria
Pepperdine University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Latin American, Russia, East Asia

The Social Science Division of the Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences at Pepperdine University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science to begin Fall 2021. We seek candidates who are broadly trained and able to teach undergraduate courses in international relations and, potentially, the regional politics of Latin America, Russia and Eastern Europe, or South Asia. Specific subfields are open, but candidates whose work engages issues of race and/or gender are especially encouraged to apply. Qualifications include, but are not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research on Japan.

Applicants should apply on Interfolio: https://apply.interfolio.com/78855. Review of applicants will begin October 1, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. A background check will be required as a condition of employment.

Please address any inquiries regarding the position to:

Dr. Chris Soper (chris.soper@pepperdine.edu)
Chair of the Political Science Search Committee
Social Science Division, Pepperdine University
24255 Pacific Coast Highway
Malibu, CA. 90263

Application instructions:
Applications should include the following documents:

• A cover letter,
• A curriculum vitae, indicating educational record, employment record, achievements, awards, publications, and other relevant information. Please also describe any civic, religious, or charitable interests and activities, and list all current organizational memberships.

• Three confidential letters of reference. (Email addresses will be requested.)
• Official transcripts of all graduate work. (Copies are acceptable during the application process; however, official transcripts will be required for selected applicants.)
• A statement of teaching philosophy, which may focus on your motivation to teach at the university level and your thoughts about what constitutes effective pedagogy.
• A statement of scholarly agenda, which may focus on your current area of research and plans for professional development.
• A statement in support of the University’s Christian mission. The University mission states that Pepperdine University is a Christian university committed to the highest standards of academic excellence and Christian values, where students are strengthened for lives of purpose, service, and leadership. In your statement, please comment on your willingness to support the mission of Seaver College and Christian values of the University including your involvement in a local community of faith and how your faith relates to your teaching, professional, and/or intellectual life.
• Student Evaluations – Please provide evidence of teaching effectiveness at the collegiate level. (This is not required to apply, but may be requested at a later stage.)

Application Procedure
Please send electronic submissions to Ms. Serene Teang (cag@nus.edu.sg)

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 11/30/2020
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8053

Stanford University

Rank: 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Stanford University: 2021–2022 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Japan

The Japan Program at Stanford University’s Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing on Japan.

The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $66,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 21, 2020, until January 4, 2021.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/postdoctoral-fellowship-contemporary-japan

About the Japan Program:
The Japan Program at Stanford’s Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center cultivates multidisciplinary research and education on contemporary Japanese affairs. Through collaboration with experts from academia, government, business, and civil society, we engage in policy-relevant dialogue and scholarship to promote a comprehensive understanding of the internal and external political, economic, and social factors that influence the progress and development of Japan and its role within the Asia-Pacific region and on the world’s stage.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 1/4/2021
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8067

Stanford University
Rank: 2021-2022 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow in Contemporary Asia
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: East Asia, South Asia, Southeast Asia

Stanford University: 2021–2022 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2021-2022 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows in Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferred and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $66,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 21, 2020, until January 4, 2021.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship

---

University of Colorado, Colorado Springs
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology
Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs (UCCS) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of international relations beginning August 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: international security, international conflict, and foreign policy. Additional consideration will be given to candidates with teaching and research interests in comparative politics, international organizations, civil-military relations, East Asian politics, or research methods. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate courses in political science (five courses per year), keeping up an active research agenda, and service at the departmental, university, or professional level. Candidates must have a PhD in political science or a closely related field.

Applications submitted on the CU Careers website by November 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Applications submitted through email or surface mail will not be considered. Please apply at www.cu.edu/cu-careers (job #: 19206). Upon request, please be prepared to provide five professional references, including their email contact information. Official transcripts will be required upon hire. Evidence of teaching effectiveness and samples of research may be required. If you have technical difficulties with your application, please contact the CU Careers help desk at 303-860-4200 #5 or cucareershelp@cu.edu. Job related inquiries should be directed to the posting contact, Dr. Steven Pittz.

To apply, please submit the following application materials on the CU Careers website: a current CV, a cover letter that specifically addresses the job requirements and outlines qualifications, unofficial transcripts, teaching statement, and research statement. In order for an application to be considered, applicants must label each required attachment with the relevant title, attach the required documents for this position announcement to the submission, and check the Job Specific Attachments box next to each document in the submission.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8062

---

Georgetown University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Security and Emerging Technology
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology
Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University invites applications for the position of tenure-track Assistant Professor of security studies with a focus on the intersection of emerging technologies (and specifically artificial intelligence) and international security. This will be the inaugural hire for the Gracias Family Chair in Security and Emerging Technology. Candidates from all relevant disciplines are invited to apply, but must have a demonstrated track record of scholarly research focused on the implications of artificial intelligence for international security. The ideal candidate would have enough relevant technical skills in the area of artificial intelligence to teach courses in the subfield of international security affairs; apply the relevant technical knowledge in his or her research and publications; and have the scholarly trajectory to make a major contribution to this emerging field. The search committee welcomes applications from a diverse representation of scholars who at a minimum expect to complete their Ph.D. by the time of appointment for the 2021 fall semester.

The position will be based in the interdisciplinary SFS Security Studies Program (SSP) with the potential for affiliations with the Science, Technology and International Affairs Program (STIA) and the Center for Security and Emerging Technology (CSET).

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a representative writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and if possible, evidence of teaching record (syllabi, course evaluations, etc.). SFS is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. Applicants should also submit a one-page diversity statement that discusses how they would contribute to inclusive excellence in the areas of research, teaching, and service in the SFS and reflects on their teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds.

All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link: https://apply.interfolio.com/78871. Faxed, emailed, or mailed applications will not be accepted. Applications should be submitted no later than November 1, 2020. Invited interviews will occur shortly thereafter.

Questions about the online application should be directed to Sarah Krauss, Director of Faculty Affairs at srk50@georgetown.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Dr. Michael Green, search committee chair, at mjg73@georgetown.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 9/17/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8059

University of Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science, Comparative Politics or Political Economy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics
Specializations: Advanced Industrial Societies, Developing Nations, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Washington invites applications for a full-time (100%) tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics or Political Economy, starting September 2021. Tenure track faculty engage in teaching, research and service and have an annual service period of nine months (Sept 16-June 15). A strong research record is expected. Candidates should have completed all requirements for a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field (or foreign equivalent) by the appointment start date, though applicants at the ABD level will also be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement and three letters of recommendation. The research statement should describe the applicant’s substantive research interests. The teaching statement should describe the applicant’s teaching philosophy, list undergraduate and graduate level teaching interests, and provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, if applicant has prior teaching experience. As a public institution, the University of Washington seeks candidates committed to working with diverse student and community populations. Therefore, applicants should describe how their scholarship and teaching support diverse communities.

Candidate materials should be electronically submitted to https://apply.interfolio.com/78296 . Review of applications will begin on October 17, 2020. Questions about this position can be directed to polisci@uw.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8054

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, International Relations, International Studies

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking to fill three tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level to begin September 2021. The Korbel School is a recognized leader in international studies education and scholarship that serves an undergraduate major, MA students, and a small, selective PhD program. The school is strongly committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment in full accord with the value that DU places on its commitments to diversity, equity and inclusion. We are interested in candidates working in the following areas related to global concerns: security (broadly construed), development and its alternatives, sustainability and the environment, and/or long-term integrated assessment modeling, scenario building and quantitative methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research that crosses disciplinary boundaries, connects these broad areas to each other or to additional Korbel priorities in social justice and democracy, and can contribute to diversity, equity and inclusion through their teaching, research, and service.

Successful candidates will have a strong record of research, be able to contribute to the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Josef Korbel School, and demonstrate an ability to integrate content about and work effectively with ethnically/racially diverse populations. Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, writing sample (or publication), research statement, teaching statement, sample syllabi, one-page statement of how the applicant can contribute to values and practices embracing diversity, equity and inclusivity, and teaching evaluations (if available) to the University of Denver’s online application system: http://www.dujobs.org. In addition, candidates should list the names of three references who will be contacted to provide letters. Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Salary is competitive. Please see our extensive benefit package at http://www.du.edu/hr/benefits. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Deborah Avant, Deborah.Avant@du.edu. The University of Denver is particularly committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, minorities, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.
University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking to fill three tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level to begin September 2021. The Korbel School is a recognized leader in international studies education and scholarship that serves an undergraduate major, MA students, and a small, selective PhD program. The school is strongly committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment in full accord with the value that DU places on its commitments to diversity, equity and inclusion. We are interested in candidates working in the following areas related to global concerns: security (broadly construed), development and its alternatives, sustainability and the environment, and/or long-term integrated assessment modeling, scenario building and quantitative methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research that crosses disciplinary boundaries, connects these broad areas to each other or to additional Korbel priorities in social justice and democracy, and can contribute to diversity, equity and inclusion through their teaching, research, and service.

Successful candidates will have a strong record of research, be able to contribute to the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Josef Korbel School, and demonstrate an ability to integrate content about and work effectively with ethnically/racially diverse populations. Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, writing sample (or publication), research statement, teaching statement, sample syllabi, one-page statement of how the applicant can contribute to values embracing diversity, equity and inclusion, and teaching evaluations (if available) to the University of Denver’s online application system: http://www.dujobs.org. In addition, candidates should list the names of three references who will be contacted to provide letters. Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Salary is competitive. Please see our extensive benefit package at http://www.du.edu/hr/benefits. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Deborah Avant, Deborah.Avant@du.edu. The University of Denver is particularly committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, minorities, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/12/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8049

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Davis invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in International Relations with a specialization in the area of conflict broadly defined. Areas of focus could include interstate or intrastate conflict, or the interaction between them. We are seeking candidates with strong theoretical and methodological skills.

Applications will be accepted on-line at https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/JPF03749. Candidates should upload a curriculum vitae, cover letter, a statement describing their research interests, sample publications or an article-length writing sample, a statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, and a statement of teaching accomplishments and philosophy. Applicants will also be asked to provide three to five letters of reference through the online recruitment system. A Ph.D. or evidence that the degree would be complete by the time of the appointment start date is required. The anticipated starting date is July 1, 2021. Applications must be received by October 9, 2020 to guarantee initial full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

This recruitment is conducted at the assistant rank. The resulting hire will be at the assistant rank, regardless of the proposed appointee’s qualifications. If you experience technical problems in uploading your application material please contact our Academic Personnel Coordinator, Angus Chang, at aychang@ucdavis.edu.

The University of California, Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports diversity, equity, and inclusion that are embedded within our Principles of Community. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer, and we particularly encourage applications from members of historically underrepresented racial/ethnic groups, women, individuals with disabilities, veterans, LGBTQ community members, and others who demonstrate the ability to help us achieve our vision of a diverse and inclusive community.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 6/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/11/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8047

University of Maine

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science/International Affairs (Climate Change Policy)

Statement of the Job:

The School of Policy and International Affairs (SPIA) and Department of Political Science at the University of Maine are seeking qualified candidates to fill a full-time, tenure-track academic-year faculty position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor, anticipated to start September 1, 2021. This is a 60/40 joint appointment in SPIA and Political Science with a tenure home in Political Science.

This position has teaching, research, and service duties. The typical teaching assignment is five courses per year: two introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and three courses at the master’s level. Other responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Supervise internships and undergraduate and master’s theses.
- Advise students on their course of study and aid them in the registration process, which includes maintaining regular office hours.
- Maintain an active research program in international relations with a focus on climate change policy.
- Perform appropriate service, which may include, but is not limited to, active participation in the internal governance of the School of Policy and International Affairs and Department of Political Science, and service to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and University communities.

We are a faculty that values work-life balance and particularly on maintaining a productively collegial workplace.

About the University:

The University of Maine is a community of more than 11,200 undergraduate and graduate students, and 2,500 employees located on the Orono campus and throughout the state. UMaine is the state land and sea grant university and maintains a leadership role as the System’s flagship university. As a result, it is dedicated to providing excellent teaching, research, and service at the university, state, and national levels.

Further information about UMaine can be found at https://umaine.edu/

The University of Maine offers a wide range of benefits for employees including, but not limited to, tuition benefits (employee and dependent), comprehensive insurance coverage including medical, dental, vision, life insurance, and short and long term disability as well as retirement plan options. As a former NSF ADVANCE institution, the University of Maine is committed to diversity in our workforce and to dual-career couples.

UMaine is located in beautiful Central Maine. Many employees report that a primary reason for choosing to come to UMaine is quality of life. Numerous cultural activities, excellent public schools, safe neighborhoods, high quality medical care, little traffic, and a reasonable cost of living make the greater Bangor area a wonderful place to live.

Learn more about what the Bangor region has to offer here.

Qualifications:

Required:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field by date of hire
- Specialization in international relations with a focus closely related to climate change policy
- Evidence of ability to develop and teach courses in a variety of areas including introductory international relations, a graduate field seminar in international relations, and advanced topics related to climate change and the candidate’s other specialties.
- Record of or demonstrated potential for success in university-level teaching
- Record of or demonstrated potential for an active research program
- Appropriate methodological training and analytical skills.

Preferred:

- Evidence of effective commitment to the values of diversity, equity, and inclusion
- A proven record of international fieldwork, preferably in language(s) other than English is desired, but not required.
- Area of specialization is open, although due to existing programmatic strengths, we do not have significant needs for area expertise in East or South Asia.

How to Apply:

Materials must be submitted via the University of Maine system at https://umaine.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=64568&job=assistant-professor-of-political-science-assistant-professor-of-international-affairs. You will need to create a profile and application; upload:

1.) a cover letter which describes your experience, interests, and suitability for the position
2.) a resume/curriculum vitae
3.) letters from three professional references. To maintain confidentiality, these should be emailed to Peter Fandel at peter.fandel@maine.edu rather than uploaded.
4.) an unofficial copy of graduate transcripts(s)

Additional materials, including samples of research, and available teaching evaluations and course syllabi will be requested at the second round of interviews. Review of applications will begin October 15 and continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by October 15 will receive full consideration.

You will also need to submit the affirmative action survey, the self-identification of disability form, and the self-identification of veteran status forms. Incomplete application materials cannot be considered.

Materials received after the initial review date will be reviewed at the discretion of the University.

Search Timeline is as follows:

Review of applications to begin: October 15, 2020
Screening interviews to begin no earlier than: October 21, 2020
Second round interviews to begin no earlier than: November 2, 2020
Tentative start date: September 1, 2021

Specific questions may be addressed to James Settele, Director, School of Policy and International Affairs, james.settele@maine.edu, 207-581-1835.

Applicants must be prepared to conduct interviews remotely if circumstances require, and understand that a successful applicant may be asked to consider an offer with a deadline without having been able to make an in-person visit to campus should travel or other restrictions apply.

Appropriate background checks are required.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/11/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8042
Yale University

Rank: Assistant, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Yale University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for an Assistant Professor faculty position in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2021. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, 3 letters of recommendation, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: https://apply.interfolio.com/78527

Review of applications will begin September 25, 2020, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/11/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8046

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science- focus on International Relations

IE University’s School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in political science, with a focus on International Relations starting September 1st, 2021.

We are especially interested in scholars who apply quantitative and/or formal methodologies to answer substantive questions of broad disciplinary relevance. We would especially welcome applications from scholars studying either conflict processes or global governance and international organizations.

The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals in the coming years and have good teaching skills.

We seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA’s current network and partnerships.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and strongly encourages applications from individuals who will expand the ethnic and gender diversity of our faculty.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSA).

We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

Applications should include a cover letter and vitae, a job market paper, and three academic references with their contact details.

Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science, International Relations, or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2021.

Candidates may apply on Interfolio by October 23rd, 2020, using the following link: http://apply.interfolio.com/77730

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references with their contact details. Please contact Sara Flores at Sara.Flores@ie.edu for general queries about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: October 23, 2020
Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8035

Princeton University

Rank: NIEHAUS POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH ASSOCIATE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM IN REGIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY (2021-2022)

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2021 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2021-2022 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis.

Candidates may apply on Interfolio by Monday, December 7, 2020 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 7, 2020 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.
Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2021 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 10, 2020. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in January 2021. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8032

Princeton University

Rank: NIEHAUS VISITING FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM
(2021 – 2022)

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2021-2022 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply.

Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2021 - July 1, 2022).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 27, 2020 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17381.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Wednesday, December 2, 2020. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candiates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2020 - July 1, 2021) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2021.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8031
to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2021 - July 1, 2022).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 7, 2020 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17361.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 10, 2020. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

• Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
• Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2020 - July 1, 2021) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2021.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8033

Princeton University
Rank: Professional Specialist/Data and Statistical Analyst

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2021 for the 2021-2022 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2021 - July 1, 2022).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Friday, November 27, 2020 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17341.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2021 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 10, 2020. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.
Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2021. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding, new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high-quality, policy-relevant research on critical issues related to global development.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2021 for a one- or two-year appointment. The King Center's Postdoctoral Fellows Program is intended for promising new PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy-relevant research on topics related to international development and poverty alleviation. The King Center’s postdoctoral fellows should expect to be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University.

The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program particularly encourages applications from women and minority PhD recipients, and from scholars from low- and middle-income countries, as well as from others whose backgrounds and experience would contribute to the diversity (broadly defined) of the program.

The King Center provides a competitive fellowship stipend, plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2020 via the application form linked from the King Center’s website.

For more details and the application, please visit: https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoral-fellows-program

Leiden University
Rank: Assistant Professor in Global Transformations and Governance Challenges
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Other

Project description

Leiden University is investing over 1.4 million Euros in a new program on Global Transformations and the Citizen. The overall aim of this interdisciplinary research cluster is to combine research on global transformations (such as shifting multipolar world order, climate change, pandemics, and new information technologies) with research on governance responses to these challenges. The focus area of Leiden University on Global Transformations and Governance Challenges aims to deepen understanding of these complex processes, including their impacts on citizens and democracy.

In the context of this research cluster, Leiden’s Institute of Security and Global Affairs and Institute of Political Science seek to jointly recruit an Assistant Professor, who will work alongside the newly appointed Chair of Global Transformations and Governance Challenges (Professor Dr. Jan Aart Scholte) and an interdisciplinary research team in order to develop a set of innovative approaches to these problems.

Key responsibilities

Conducting research in the interdisciplinary area of Global Transformations and in close collaboration with the Chair of Global Transformation and Governance Challenges and the relevant Head of Research Groups at the Institute of Security and Global Affairs and the Institute of Political Science

Developing theory-driven empirical research addressing the main questions from the broad area of Global Transformations, Governance Challenges and the Citizen:

- How are global issues and cross-border movements changing citizen attitudes toward national sovereignty, democratic accountability, and the legitimacy of liberal democracy?
- How are changing public expectations affecting national governments’ attitudes toward international cooperation, global governance, and openness to cross-border movements?
- What concrete innovations are necessary to make global governance mechanisms more effective in addressing today’s cross-border issues while ensuring their democratic legitimacy at a time of declining trust in public institutions?
- How are familiar and emerging cross-border dynamics, as well as the rise of new world powers, challenging existing governance institutions at national and global levels?
- Teaching two courses per year relevant to global transformations themes;
- Co-organizing and contributing to activities of the Focus Area “Global Transformations” and the Leiden University Centre for International Relations (LUCIR).

Selection criteria

- PhD degree in Political Science, International Relations or a related academic area;
- Demonstrated affinity with the themes of the Global Transformations focus area;
- High quality international peer-reviewed publications appropriate to candidate’s career stage;
- Teaching experience and teaching skills appropriate to the candidate’s level of experience;
- Interest and ability to work in an interdisciplinary context;
- Ability to connect academic research to policy-oriented impact;
- Competence with quantitative methods is seen as a plus;
- Applicants must be able to teach in English.

Our organisation

Leiden University is one of Europe's foremost research universities. It is the oldest university in the Netherlands, founded in February 1575, and currently ranks in the top 100 of most international rankings. The University has approximately 23,000 students and 4,000 staff members.
The Faculty of Governance and Global Affairs, located in The Hague—the International City of Peace and Justice—offers a range of other programs focused on international relations, security, international law and international organization. It also hosts the Leiden University College (LUC), an international honors college of Leiden University situated The Hague. Firmly rooted in the academic tradition, the Faculty of Governance and Global Affairs provides an inspiring and challenging education and research environment, with a strong interdisciplinary character and international orientation; it is a meeting place for students, scholars and professionals, a platform for innovation and entrepreneurship.

The Faculty of Social and Behavioural Sciences is located in Leiden and The Hague and comprises four institutes: Education and Child Studies, Political Science, Psychology and Cultural Anthropology & Development Sociology. The Faculty also includes the Centre for Science and Technology Studies. The Faculty is home to 5,000 students and 600 members of staff. Our teaching and research programmes cover diverse topics varying from adoption to political behaviour.

Terms and conditions
The position starts as soon as possible, preferably by January 2021. We offer a temporary contract of 3 years. Review for a permanent appointment may be possible during or after the term of the initial contract, depending on funding and performance. Salary range from 3,746.- to 5,127.- gross per month, depending on experience (pay scale 11, in accordance with the Collective Labour Agreement for Dutch Universities).

Leiden University offers an attractive benefits package with additional holiday (8%) and end-of-year bonuses (8.3 %), training and career development and sabbatical leave. Our individual choices model gives you some freedom to assemble your own set of terms and conditions. For international spouses we have set up a dual career programme. Candidates from outside the Netherlands may be eligible for a substantial tax break. For more information see the website.

The working language is English, but the appointed candidate is required to learn Dutch. Staff who do not speak Dutch upon appointment are required to progress steadily toward at least a B1 level (CEFR) through training financed by both institutes.

UTQ
Leiden University requires teaching staff to obtain the University Teaching Qualification (UTQ). If the successful applicant does not already possess this qualification or its equivalent, he/she must be willing to obtain this Qualification within two years.

Diversity
Leiden University is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from members of under-represented groups.

Information
If you have any additional questions about the position, please contact the chair of the search committee Jan Aart Scholte, e-mail j.a.scholte@fsw.leidenuniv.nl.

For further questions about the research programme or Institutes, please Antoaneta Dimitrova, email a.l.dimitrova@fgga.leidenuniv.nl or Daniel Thomas, email d.c.thomas@fsw.leidenuniv.nl.

Applications

---

Naval War College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, Cyber and Innovation Policy Institute

Specializations: Science & Technology, Defense, International Security

The President, U.S. Naval War College, invites applications for an Assistant/Associate Professor in the Cyber and Innovation Policy Institute, in the Strategic and Operational Research Department, at the Center for Naval Warfare Studies.

The Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

Strategic and Operational Research Department. The Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) produces innovative research and analysis for the U.S. Navy, the U.S. Department of Defense, the U.S. interagency, and the broader national security community. It also generates new scholarship and actively participates in the broader community of scholars. The SORD department is one of three in the Center for Naval Warfare Studies at the Naval War College, the others being the War Gaming Department and the Stockton Center for International Law. The department is home to a number of specialized centers, institutes, and advanced research groups that foster deeper levels of research, analysis, and teaching on subjects of critical interest for the Navy: the China Maritime Studies...
Salary Considerations. Salary is competitive and is accompanied by a generous federal benefit package that includes health insurance and retirement saving plans (with employer matching contributions), paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits. Rank and salary are commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with Department of the Navy Faculty Pay Schedule.

The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Institute, the Cyber and Innovation Policy Institute, the Russia Maritime Studies Institute, and the Halsey, Mahan and Brodie groups. The department’s faculty employ varied and multi-disciplinary approaches to national security issues, generating new knowledge for the Navy and the Department of Defense. The department’s faculty are educated in a range of social sciences, humanities, sciences, and critical languages, and the faculty consists of civilians and retired and active-duty military officers.

Cyber and Innovation Policy Institute. The Cyber and Innovation Policy Institute (CIPI) is the premier hub for cyber operations and strategy research at the Naval War College. CIPI faculty conduct academic research to provide original insight into cybersecurity policy and military innovation. This research is published to inform the Navy and engage the Nation. CIPI faculty also advise policymakers and educate the next generation of military leadership. CIPI faculty consist of a core group of scholars in SORD along with a large community of affiliates across the Naval War College. In addition, CIPI collaborates with other leading academic institutions, think tanks, and government organizations in the United States and around the world. Understanding cybersecurity and innovation requires global engagement as well as interdisciplinary expertise: military and civilian, social and technical, open-source and classified, scholarly and policy. Drawing on its diverse expertise, CIPI is uniquely equipped to create new knowledge about technology and international security.

Responsibilities. The Assistant/Associate Professor will work under the supervision of the CIPI Director and SORD Chair. Duties will include individual and team research, engagement, and education to support Navy leadership on cybersecurity and innovation. Research topics will include—but not be limited to—questions about cyber offense and defense at the operational level of war, integration of cyber effects with other instruments of national power, assessment of cyber expertise, information warfare, and military decision making about capabilities such as data analytics and artificial intelligence.

Qualifications and Competencies. Qualified candidates must have an advanced degree from an accredited university. A Master’s Degree is required. A research-oriented Ph.D. is highly preferred. Ph.D. candidates who are close to defending their dissertations will be considered, as will practitioners with equivalent relevant experience. The field of study is open: political science, computer science, sociology, science and technology studies, information science, public policy, and other applicable disciplines will all be considered. Demonstrated familiarity with information technology and military forces and the ability to conduct research and analysis is required. Candidates with interdisciplinary expertise in technology, innovation, and international relations are preferred. Knowledge of computer network operations is desirable. Familiarity with naval/maritime strategies, concepts, and capabilities is desirable. Teaching experience is also valued. Successful candidates will have an active and ambitious research agenda that they will continue to pursue at the Naval War College.

Candidates must be U.S. citizens and capable of obtaining a Department of Defense TOP SECRET/SCI security clearance. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and to random drug testing thereafter.

Salary Considerations. Salary is competitive and is accompanied by a generous federal benefit package that includes health insurance and retirement saving plans (with employer matching contributions), paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits. Rank and salary are commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with Department of the Navy Faculty Pay Schedule.

Applications. Applicants must reference VA#NWC-20-11 and submit their application package to: nwc-20-11@usnwc.edu. The application package must include: (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, and (3) names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted until 14 October 2020.

Questions should be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Peter Dutton, at duttonp@usnwc.edu.

Active duty members may apply under this announcement but are subject to eligibility requirements of the Veterans Opportunity to Work Act (VOW). Active duty members must submit a statement of service printed on command letterhead and signed by the command. The statement of service must provide branch, rating, all dates of service, the expected date of discharge and anticipated character of service (Honorable, General, etc.). Please note: you will be ineligible for consideration if your statement of service is not submitted with your application or it shows an expected discharge or release date greater than 120 days after being submitted with your application.

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement dated to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020
Date Posted: 8/25/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8003

Cornell University
Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Government invites applications from scholars with international, global, or transnational interests for a tenure-track position in international relations at the rank of assistant professor in the fall semester 2021. A PhD is required no later than July 1, 2021.

We are especially interested in candidates who share the department’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in the research and teaching of international relations, broadly defined. All applicants must submit a statement of their approach and contributions to these objectives.

Applicants should apply online at https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16734. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, statement of diversity, equity, and inclusion, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations. We will begin to review applications starting October 1, 2020, and will continue until the search is complete.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020
Date Posted: 8/25/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7998

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Naval War College

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN NATIONAL SECURITY AFFAIRS AD-1701-03

Launch your scholarly career at one of the nation’s largest and most vibrant graduate teaching departments in the interdisciplinary field of national and international security studies. The National Security Affairs (NSA) Department at the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island seeks to fill a tenure-track assistant professor of national security affairs with an emphasis on international security anticipated vacancy beginning in July 2021.

U.S. Naval War College. The Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

National Security Affairs Department. The NSA Department is one of the college’s core academic teaching departments and is composed of scholars and practitioners engaged in a wide range of teaching, research, and outreach. You can learn more about the NSA Department at our webpage: https://usnwc.edu/Faculty-and-Departments/Academic-Departments/National-Security-Affairs-Department Responsibilities. Specific responsibilities include: teaching two distinctive common core graduate-level security studies survey courses (one focuses on US strategy in Europe or the Indo-Pacific and the other US National Strategy), collaborating in the development of common core curricula including individual class sessions, developing and teaching elective courses as desired, scholarly research and publication, and college service. There is no requirement or expectation to attract external funding. Maximum teaching load excluding optional elective classes is 2/2/0 based on a 10-month trimester system. This involves teaching up to two seminar sections (single preparation) of no more than 16 students in the fall and winter trimesters, with a spring trimester and summer inter-sessional period devoted primarily to research, curriculum development, and college service. All positions are year-round (12-month). The college is a tenure-granting institution.

Qualifications. Qualified candidates must have a relevant and recent Ph.D. and a promising scholarly agenda in international security. Concentrations include international relations, foreign policy analysis, or U.S. foreign policy. The department is especially interested in candidates with an active research agenda on security studies, European security or security in the Indo-Pacific with an emphasis on China, and/or political economy. Candidates with Ph.D. in hand by July 2021 are encouraged to apply. Candidates must be U.S. citizens capable of obtaining a Department of Defense security clearance at the SECRET level.

Salary. Rank and salary commensurate in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule for assistant professor. This compensation package is accompanied by a generous federal employee benefits package that includes health insurance with employer contribution, retirement savings plan, paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits.

Application Procedures. Applications will be accepted through October 15, 2020.

The application package must include the following: 1) cover letter; 2) Curriculum Vitae; 3) research agenda (no more than 5 pages); 4) teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available); and, 5) three letters of recommendation sent separately.

Applicants must reference VA#NWC-20-12 and forward their application package to: nwc-20-12@usnwc.edu.

Signed letters of recommendation should be sent via email to jennifer.marcucci@usnwc.edu (preferred method) or be mailed to:

Department of National Security Affairs
U.S. Naval War College
686 Cushing Road
Newport, RI 02841-1207
ATTN: Jennifer Marcucci

Please direct any questions about the position or the institution to the Department Chair, Professor Derek Reveron, at derek.reveron@usnwc.edu.

Active duty members may apply under this announcement but are subject to eligibility requirements of the Veterans Opportunity to Work Act (VOW). Active duty members must submit a statement of service printed on command letterhead and signed by the command. The statement of service must provide branch, rate/rank, all dates of service, the expected date of discharge and anticipated character of service (Honorable, General, etc.). Please note: you will be ineligible for consideration if your statement of service is not submitted with your application or is shows an expected discharge or release date greater than 120 days after being submitted with your application.

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement date to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

The U.S. Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 8/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7987

Department of Defense

Rank: Analyst

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC), https://www.jwac.mil/, is currently recruiting motivated individuals who are excited about the opportunity to lead research aimed at developing advanced methods for defense analysis.

JWAC’s mission is to provide the military with effects-based analysis in order to carry out the national security and military strategies of the United States during peace, crisis, and war.
Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background and professional experience or substantive research in the areas of military affairs, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy. We offer generous benefits and competitive pay. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

Individuals interested in more information can email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/13/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7970

---

University of Richmond
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with expertise in the politics of development, broadly defined. The department has a strong preference for an area concentration in either Africa or the Middle East, which will complement its existing strengths in the politics of Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The position, to begin in 2021-2022 academic year, is intended to meet and expand curricular goals within the major; to broaden the department’s research expertise; and to contribute to interdisciplinary initiatives in the School of Arts and Sciences and to the University of Richmond’s mission of “preparing students for responsible leadership in a diverse world.” More specifically, the position carries a 3-2 teaching load consisting of a regular offering of a survey course on the politics of development. Other courses would relate to the faculty’s regional specialization, with particular preference for courses on the politics of Africa and/or the Middle East. The new hire would also share responsibility for teaching the department’s ongoing offerings of Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations and, as schedule permits, contribute to departmental First Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation by August 1, 2021. Applicants should apply online at https://richmond.cod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?site=1&id=2062.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see https://polisci.richmond.edu/.

Applicants should click “Apply Now” at the top of the page and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter containing a brief summary of the candidate’s research and teaching interests and indicating commitment to the teacher-scholar model, and separate research and teaching statements. The research statement should expand on the candidate’s research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy, interests, experience and goals. It should also address commitment to inclusive pedagogy and to fostering thriving and inclusive intercultural community, as outlined in the President’s Making Excellence Inclusive report (https://president.richmond.edu/inclusive-excellence/report-pdfs/making-excellence-inclusive-final-report-2019.pdf). In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence on October 1, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Please address any questions about the application to Dr. Jennifer Erkulwater (jerkulwa@richmond.edu), Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Richmond, Richmond, VA 23173.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/10/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7971

---

Wellesley College
Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level in international relations beginning in the academic year 2021-22.

We seek candidates with expertise in international/global political economy or global governance. We are open to all areas of specialization in these subfields, but are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns issues such as trade, finance, global development, international economic organizations (global and regional), inequality, or race. The search is open as to regional expertise. In addition to teaching courses in international political economy, the successful candidate will also regularly teach a broad introduction to international relations. We would additionally be interested in candidates who could offer a research methods course.

Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment. Faculty members at Wellesley teach two courses per semester.

Applications should include the following:
- A cover letter of no more than two pages;
- a one-page teaching statement;
- additional teaching materials (e.g., evaluations and sample syllabi);
- writing samples of research;
- a curriculum vitae; and
- three (3) letters of recommendation.

Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community through teaching, research, and service. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification. Where applicable, candidates should include (as relevant) how diversity, inclusion, and equity connect to their teaching, scholarship, and service.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at https://career.wellesley.edu. We will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2020, and will continue accepting applications after that date. If circumstances do not allow you to submit materials through our on-line application system, please email us at working@wellesley.edu. Wellesley College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

We recognize that these are uncertain times with changing health and safety restrictions during the COVID-19 pandemic. This search will follow all state and college policies, and we anticipate collaborating with candidates to best navigate health and safety during the recruitment process.

Specific inquiries should be addressed to Prof. Tom Burke, chair of the department, at tburke@wellesley.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7964

Wellesley College
Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level in international relations beginning in the academic year 2021-22.

We seek candidates with expertise in international/global political economy or global governance. We are open to all areas of specialization in these subfields, but are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns issues such as trade, finance, global development, international economic organizations (global and regional), inequality, or race. The search is open as to regional expertise. In addition to teaching courses in international political economy, the successful candidate will also regularly teach a broad introduction to international relations. We would additionally be interested in candidates who could offer a research methods course.

Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment. Faculty members at Wellesley teach two courses per semester.

Applications should include the following:
- A cover letter of no more than two pages;
- a one-page teaching statement;
- additional teaching materials (e.g., evaluations and sample syllabi);
- writing samples of research;
- a curriculum vitae; and
- three (3) letters of recommendation.

Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community through teaching, research, and service. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification. Where applicable, candidates should include (as relevant) how diversity, inclusion, and equity connect to their teaching, scholarship, and service.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at https://career.wellesley.edu. We will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2020, and will continue accepting applications after that date. If circumstances do not allow you to submit materials through our on-line application system, please email us at working@wellesley.edu. Wellesley College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

We recognize that these are uncertain times with changing health and safety restrictions during the COVID-19 pandemic. This search will follow all state and college policies, and we anticipate collaborating with candidates to best navigate health and safety during the recruitment process.

Specific inquiries should be addressed to Prof. Tom Burke, chair of the department, at tburke@wellesley.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7965

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowships

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking fellowship applicants for the 2021–2022 academic year. The programs offer unique opportunities, domestic and overseas, for accomplished mid and senior career professionals. Selected fellows broaden their foreign policy experience by spending their fellowships in public service or research environments.

Applications are due by October 31, 2020.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It provides individuals the opportunity to spend one year in policymaking or research oriented environments. The program awards a stipend of $105,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Canada sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada, provides selected fellows the opportunity to spend six to twelve months at a Canadian institution working on U.S.-Canada relations. It awards a stipend of $95,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Japan brings a cadre of American professionals to Japan for three to twelve months to study and work on U.S.-Japan relations. The program is intended for those without substantial prior experience in Japan. The program awards a competitive stipend in yen.

The International Affairs Fellowship in India affords fellows the opportunity to spend three to twelve months conducting research on India and U.S. relations. It is aimed at professionals who have had little prior experience in India. It awards a stipend of $90,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics offers economists hands-on experience in the U.S. government and the opportunity to apply a range of research tools to international economic policy issues. It lasts six and nine months with a stipend starting at $150,000.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/31/2020
Date Posted: 8/5/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7961

Colorado College

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations
Specializations: Health Care, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College is hiring for a tenure track Assistant Professor in International Relations. We are open to areas of expertise, but particularly welcome expertise in issues of global health, human rights, the global south, and/or development, or work which considers global and transnational issues through the lenses of class, gender, and/or race. Crucial to the position is the potential for excellence in scholarship as well as a commitment to providing students with a liberal education.

Colorado College is committed to becoming an anti-racist institution. Through our anti-racism initiative, we are working to foster an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work.
Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals.

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The average teaching load is five blocks per year, with an addition block overseeing senior research. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research.

All requirements for the Ph.D. should be complete by the starting date of August 24, 2021.

Applicants should submit the following by October 15th, 2020: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research goals; 4) a statement of pedagogical principles; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (including syllabi and evaluations); 6) graduate transcripts; 7) a dissertation abstract; 8) a sample of scholarly publications, and 9) three letters of recommendation to (CC employment posting URL).

Given the current pandemic, we are happy to entertain alternative interviewing arrangements.
Please apply at the following link:
http://employment.coloradocollege.edu/postings/4451

Colorado College
Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations - US Foreign Policy

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College is hiring for a tenure track Assistant Professor in International Relations. We are open to areas of expertise, but particularly welcome expertise in United States foreign policy, and from a variety of critical perspectives. Crucial to the position is the potential for excellence in scholarship as well as a commitment to providing students with a liberal education.

Colorado College is committed to becoming an anti-racist institution. Through our anti-racism initiative, we are working to foster an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work.
Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals.

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The average teaching load is six blocks a year. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research.

All requirements for the Ph.D. should be complete by the starting date of August 24, 2021.

Applicants should submit the following by October 15th, 2020: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research goals; 4) a statement of pedagogical principles; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (including syllabi and evaluations); 6) graduate transcripts; 7) a dissertation abstract; 8) a sample of scholarly publications, and 9) three letters of recommendation to (CC employment posting URL).

Given the current pandemic, we are happy to entertain alternative interviewing arrangements.
Please apply at the following link:
http://employment.coloradocollege.edu/postings/4451

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Politics and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs seek applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in international relations. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/16964

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information for three references.

Please apply at the following link:
http://employment.coloradocollege.edu/postings/4451

Start Date:
  Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
  Date Posted: 8/4/2020
  Salary: Competitive
  eJobs ID: 7960

eJobs ID: 7965

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Nicole Wagenblast, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 7, 2020.

Requisition number: D-21-POL-00001

Start Date: Application Deadline: 9/7/1985
Date Posted: 7/28/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7946

Wofford College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin fall 2021. We require candidates to be broadly trained in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics and to have the ability to teach a range of introductory and upper level international relations and comparative politics courses. We are particularly interested in applicants able to teach courses in security studies, Asian politics or global health. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is also beneficial. In addition, we value inclusive pedagogical approaches that aim to engage with a diverse student community. Although not required, graduate coursework on teaching and/or other forms of pedagogical training are helpful for this position.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE:
Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, S.C. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,720 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, study abroad participation and successful graduates, Wofford is home to one of the nation’s 283 Phi Beta Kappa chapters. The college community enjoys 19 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

Wofford’s mission is to provide superior liberal arts education that prepares its students for extraordinary and positive contributions to society. The focus of Wofford’s mission is upon fostering commitment to excellence in character, performance, leadership, service to others, and life-long learning. We enjoy a campus culture where conversation among faculty and students often spills over outside the classroom.

The Department of Government and International Affairs is a growing department with five full-time tenure-track faculty and over a hundred majors. We cover a broad scope of subject matter with an intellectual diverse faculty.

EXPECTATIONS
Wofford’s faculty teach 3-1-3 load; the 1 indicates the January Interim course term in which professors may travel with students or teach on a variety of topics using experiential teaching methods. Wofford faculty are teacher-scholars with a high aptitude and interest in undergraduate teaching and advising, community outreach and a commitment to the liberal arts. To earn tenure, faculty are required to demonstrate excellence in teaching, continued scholarly development and service to the college. Therefore, faculty members are expected to engage in scholarly research and continued professional development.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS
A Ph.D. in Political Science, equivalent or closely related field. One-year full-time teaching experience or its equivalent.

APPLICATION
All applications must include the following materials:
(1) a letter of application that addresses how the candidate is prepared to meet the specific needs of Wofford College’s Government and International Affairs department;
(2) a curriculum vitae;
(3) a statement addressing the candidate’s teaching philosophy (which should include an articulation of interest in, and understanding of, working at a residential, liberal arts college and at Wofford College) and outlining teaching interests;
(4) evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi;
(5) letters of support from three professional references;
(6) an example of scholarly writing;
(7) unofficial graduate transcripts.

All application materials should be sent to InternationalAffairsSearch@wofford.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2020 will receive full consideration. Please contact the Department Chair, Dr. Rachel Vanderhill (vanderhillr@wofford.edu), with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 7/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7942

University of British Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at The University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations. The area of specialization is open.

The successful candidate will have a completed Ph.D. in Political Science (or related field), or be able to demonstrate all Ph.D. requirements are sufficiently close to completion. The successful candidate is expected to have a Ph.D. for the start of the appointment. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2021.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop and maintain an active program of research leading to peer-reviewed publications and the securing of external research funding, and to contribute to the education and training of undergraduate as well as graduate students.

This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Given uncertainty caused by the global COVID-19 pandemic, applicants must be prepared to conduct interviews remotely if circumstances require. A successful applicant may be asked to consider an offer with a deadline without having been able to make an in-person visit to campus should travel or other restrictions apply. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To apply, applicants must upload online the following to: https://poli.air.arts.ubc.ca/job-application-assistant-professor-in-international-relations/

Job ID: 37878.
? an application letter;
? a curriculum vitae;
Texas A&M University

Rank: Instructional Assistant Professor (non-tenure track)

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a non-tenure track, instructional assistant professor in the area of international political economy, to work in the School’s teaching site in Washington, D.C. The position will be for a period of two-years, with the possibility of renewal. The start date for this position will be January 1, 2021. The successful candidate will teach five courses per academic year in a professional master’s degree program in international policy – two sections of the required course on the global economy and three elective courses. In consultation with the department head, a reasonable amount of department and professional service will also be expected.

The Department of International Affairs is one of two departments in the Bush School of Government and Public Service. Additional information about the Bush School and departments is available at http://bush.tamu.edu.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, politics or government with a specialization in the sub-field of international political economy to be considered.

Applicants with additional expertise in the intersection of international political economy and international security issues, and/or expertise in the politics and political economy of a particular world region, are particularly encouraged to apply.

Applicants must submit: 1) Letter of Interest, 2) CV, and 3) three letters of recommendation. The application materials must be submitted online at http://apply.interfolio.com/76363.

Point of Contact: Ms. Peg Hosea plhosea@tamu.edu

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7900

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, History & Politics

The Fellowship:
The International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS) offers professors from a variety of academic backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policymaking field, providing them with an opportunity to spend their sabbatical year working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization.

The IAF-TIRS program helps close the gap between research and practice, enriching both teaching and scholarship by enabling fellows to become practitioners. The program also benefits policymakers by exposing them to critical scholarly research relevant to the foreign policy and national security issues facing the United States and the world.

The fellowship is for twelve months. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow’s base salary for the academic year (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

Eligibility:
Applicants should be U.S. citizens

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Postdoctoral positions are available with Dr. Erik Gartzke in the Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) in the Political Science Department at the University of California, San Diego.

ePASS conducts rigorous, data-driven research on international affairs and U.S. foreign policy. Its mission is to apply cutting-edge social science to improve our collective understanding of how humans can best cooperate in an increasingly globalized and connected world with rapidly advancing technologies. cPASS is committed to promoting research excellence and diversity within cPASS and our academic field.

The postdoctoral fellows will assist in a Hewlett Foundation funded project on “Cyber-Escalation in Power Projection.” This project focuses on understanding how humans and their institutions interact with technology to better assess how the introduction of a new kind of connectedness through cyberspace shapes decisions concerning power projection. This project hopes to overcome the challenges for young scholars interested in cyber escalation by investing in building expertise and creating quality data to test theories.

As part of their duties, the postdoctoral fellows will collaborate with the Machine-learning for Social Science Lab (https://cpass.ucsd.edu/mssl) to create a foundational dataset of cyber events focused on basic scientific standards that is transparent, replicable, and reproducible. The postdoctoral fellows will also work with cPASS staff to develop the Cyber Escalation Lab and build a community dedicated to cyber escalation topics. Additional duties may arise in line with the goals of the “Cyber-Escalation in Power Projection” project. Authorship/co-authorship of scholarly research will be strongly encouraged.

A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Social Science, Computer Science, Information Science or a related field is required at the time of appointment. Applicants with appropriate skills are encouraged from a wide range of disciplines related to international relations and computer science. The appointment may be delayed for applicants expected to complete their PhD within the next six months.

Candidates must have extensive knowledge and experience in the cyber domain and a strong working knowledge of international relations theory.

Ideal candidates will also have experience with data science and machine learning. Candidates with demonstrated leadership or commitment to support diversity, equity, and inclusion in an academic setting are preferred.

Applications must apply for this position at this link: https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02537

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, or status as a protected veteran.

This position will be 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible. Some flexibility exists as to the starting date of the position with fall 2020 as the earliest. Candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego by the start of the postdoc.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7823

University of Southern California

Full-Time, Teaching-Track Faculty Position in Political Science and International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California seeks to hire a full-time teaching-track faculty position (Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, Master Lecturer, Assistant Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor (Teaching), Professor (Teaching), Assistant Professor of the Practice, Associate Professor of the Practice, and Professor of the Practice) to teach classes in one or more of the following areas: Gender and International Relations, Diplomacy and Security, Human Rights, and Public Law. A Ph.D., and strong teaching record are required. The rank of the position will be commensurate with experience.

Applicants should provide a CV, letter with a statement of teaching experience and interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and a list of 3 references. In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser:
DePaul University

Rank: Endowed Chair in Applied Diplomacy

DePaul University invites applications for an endowed Chair in Applied Diplomacy. Successful candidates will demonstrate a record of academic accomplishment commensurate with the appointment to the rank of Full Professor with tenure. We are seeking an intellectual leader who is well-prepared to advance an innovative, transprofessional approach to the study and practice of diplomacy that is the hallmark of DePaul’s Grace School of Applied Diplomacy. The successful candidate will be a dynamic scholar with a notable record of publication, an established history of interdisciplinary approaches to the field, expertise in non-state actor and grassroots diplomatic practices, and a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching.

The Grace School is housed in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and offers both BA and MA programs in Applied Diplomacy. It places a premium on promoting collaboration among practitioners of diplomacy in multiple contexts, and as such, its curriculum is designed to prepare students to practice diplomacy not only as foreign service officers, but also as businesspeople, scientists, NGO representatives, religious leaders, international civil servants, community organizers, artists, educators, and grassroots activists. The faculty of the Grace School represent twenty-two different departments and programs from across the University. The School is privileged to be located in Chicago, a globally-engaged city that is home to a rich array of consuls and international initiatives.

Candidates will find an enriching and innovative climate at DePaul, with institutional support for cross-disciplinary, inter-departmental, and community-engaged collaboration. Faculty draw on resources and cultivate partnerships across DePaul’s centers, institutes, departments, schools and programs. Our students benefit from robust study abroad and global learning exchange programs. DePaul is deeply sensitive to the educational goals of a culturally diverse student population and committed to diversity and equality in education and employment. We seek candidates who will reflect and engage the diversity of the university and its urban community. We strongly encourage applications from people of color, women, and individuals from other historically underrepresented groups.

Review of applications will begin immediately, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7821

METHODOLOGY

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Researcher(s) to the Centre for Military Studies

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen (UCPH) seeks excellent candidates for one or more positions as Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies.

The position(s) is available from 1st May 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Appointments as Researcher is a three-year position. Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who have experience with research and teaching within the field of defence, security, strategic and military studies. We define national security and strategy in broad terms and welcome applications from Researchers with backgrounds in political science and other relevant disciplines. Applicants with experience in applied research in foreign, security, or defence policy are especially welcome. The successful candidate(s) will have a strong commitment to both excellence and relevance.

Introduction

Based in the Department of Political Science, the Centre for Military Studies is a university research centre focusing on research in defence, security, and strategic studies. In order to provide new knowledge and to identify relevant strategic options for Denmark in particular, we conduct both curiosity-driven and problem-driven independent research. The Centre works closely with the Danish Ministry of Defence, the Danish Armed Forces and other national and international stakeholders when investigating issues and developing ideas and options. As a fully integrated part of the Department of Political Science, the Centre takes part in teaching and research activities at the Department. For more information, please consult our webpage: https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/

Duties and Responsibilities

For more information, please contact
POIR Instructor (Teaching) Search Committee
USC Department of Political Science and International Relations
3518 Trousdale Parkway, VKC 330
Los Angeles, CA 90089-0043

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Duties and responsibilities of the post include contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the University by conducting world-class research and teaching. A Researcher also has administrative responsibilities.

As Researcher at the Centre for Military Studies the general duties are:

- Research within the field of defence, security, and strategic studies
- Applied research and commissioned analytical tasks for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement
- Knowledge sharing with society, including media appearances and public lectures
- Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and postgraduate students at the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The weighting of the different duties may vary periodically, but the successful candidate can expect to spend most of his/her time doing research and specific studies including applied research for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement. A limited amount of teaching is also to be expected even if this is not primarily a teaching position.

Read more about this position and apply here: https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=152556&DepartmentId=18992&MediaId=4636

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8164

University of Copenhagen
Rank: Senior Researcher(s) to the Centre for Military Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Methodology
Specializations: Defense, Foreign Policy, International Security

Senior Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen (UCPH) seeks excellent candidates for one or more positions as Senior Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies.

The position(s) is a permanent, full-time position and is available from 1st May 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who have experience with research and teaching within the field of defence, security, strategic and military studies. We define national security and strategy in broad terms and welcome applications from researchers with backgrounds in political science and other relevant disciplines. Applicants with experience in applied research in foreign, security, or defence policy are especially welcome. The successful candidate(s) will have a strong commitment to both excellence and relevance.

Introduction

Based in the Department of Political Science, the Centre for Military Studies is a university research centre focusing on research in defence, security, and strategic studies. In order to provide new knowledge and to identify relevant strategic options for Denmark in particular, we conduct both curiosity-driven and problem-driven independent research. The Centre works closely with the Danish Ministry of Defence, the Danish Armed Forces and other national and international stakeholders when investigating issues and developing ideas and options. As a fully integrated part of the Department of Political Science, the Centre takes part in teaching and research activities at the Department. For more information, please consult our webpage: https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/

Duties and Responsibilities

Duties and responsibilities of the post include contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the University by conducting world-class research and teaching. A Senior Researcher also has administrative responsibilities and is expected to develop the field in synergy with other fields as well as to exercise academic leadership. As Senior Researcher at the Centre for Military Studies the general duties are:

- Research within the field of defence, security, and strategic studies
- Applied research and commissioned analytical tasks for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement
- Knowledge sharing with society, including media appearances and public lectures
- Research management, including administrative tasks related to the position
- Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and postgraduate students at the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The weighting of the different duties may vary periodically, but the successful candidate can expect to spend most of his/her time doing research and specific studies including applied research for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement. A certain amount of teaching is also to be expected, even if this is not primarily a teaching position.

Read more about this position and apply here: https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=152556&DepartmentId=18992&MediaId=4636

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8163

W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research
Rank: Senior Researcher
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Methodology
Specializations: Economic Policy, Labor Politics, United States

The W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research is seeking to diversify its senior research staff in terms of discipline and methodology. We invite Ph.D. researchers with at least 5 years of experience in sociology, public policy, social policy, political science or a related field to apply for a senior researcher position.

The Institute is searching for candidates who have demonstrated experience in using qualitative, mixed, and/or survey methods to research labor and employment issues. Candidates should have a solid publication record, excellent oral and written communication skills for both academic and lay audiences, and a strong interest in addressing... policy-relevant issues. The Institute is seeking to hire a researcher on a full-time basis or on a part-time basis that, for example, might be combined with an academic appointment and is open to remote work arrangements.

About the Institute
The Upjohn Institute is an endowed, nonprofit research organization that conducts independent, nonpartisan research on employment-related issues. The Institute offers a thriving and collaborative research environment. Our staff includes eleven Ph.D.s. who share common research interests and are excellent colleagues. The Institute’s endowment allows researchers considerable freedom in developing their agenda within the Institute’s mission. Research staff also seek funding from foundations or government agencies as a way of augmenting their research or becoming more involved in finding practical solutions to employment problems. Researchers receive excellent support from in-house staff, including research assistants, technology specialists, information and database specialists, and administrative staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8141

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse
Rank: Interdisciplinary Research Fellowship
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

We welcome applications from researchers within a large range of disciplines in the social, behavioral and life sciences: anthropology, evolutionary biology, economics, genetics, history, law, mathematics, neuroscience, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology; however, motivated applications from outside these disciplines will be given full consideration. Successful applicants will have to demonstrate an interest in, and a commitment to, at least one of the other disciplines of IAST.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in their own discipline, but willing and able to develop research projects drawing on IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly the proximity of strong groups in economics (Toulouse School of Economics, TSE).

We are open to a variety of research methods, including theory, field and laboratory experiments, observational field work, and the analysis of large secondary data sets.

All research interests relevant to the broad study of human behavior are welcome, but preference may be given to candidates whose research interests are complementary to those of existing IAST researchers. These include, to cite only a few:

In history: quantitative economic history (cliometrics), empirical political economy in history, qualitative economic or social history; emergence and dynamics of institutions and networks.

In evolutionary biology: theoretical models of evolution (applied to family structure, strategic interactions, plasticity, cognition, learning, cultural evolution); related empirical work.

In anthropology: human biology, life history theory, human development and plasticity, health and infectious disease, aging, demography, host-parasite co-evolution, diet and nutrition, global health, evolutionary medicine and genetics.

In political science: public opinion and public policies, political economy, political institutions, development, experimental political science, studies of networks and their impact on individual and collective action.

In law: law and economics, corporate governance, criminology.

In psychology: cognition, beliefs, identity, memory, the emotions, culture, social trust, gender, group decision-making.

In sociology: network formation, the impact of networks on social outcomes, sociology of religion.

In genetics and neuroscience: mental state representation, personality, intelligence.

To apply online please visit: http://www.iast.fr/research-fellowships

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 8135

Yale University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2021-22

Yale University’s Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for twelve months, starting in July 2021. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/79312.

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8116

University of Oxford

Rank: Research, Research Fellow, and Senior Research Fellow
positions at the Future of Humanity Institute, University of Oxford

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Methodology

We currently have open research positions at several levels of seniority, and will make up to 9 appointments. Specifically relevant to applicants with an international relations or political science background, we are interested in applicants with an interest in (1) great power peace and conflict, transparency and surveillance, and cooperative principles and institutions; (2) AI ethics and AI governance, including to work with the Centre for the Governance of AI. Other relevant areas include: Foundational Deep Future Topics / Global Priorities Research, Technical AI Safety, and Biosecurity.

Of potential relevance to political methodologists, we are conducting extensive surveys of machine learning experts and the public on AI governance issues, we are seeking expertise in the politics of machine learning algorithms, developing models of inter-firm and inter-state technology competition, and we value careful causal inference. Questions about these positions can be directed to the chair of the selection committee, Allan Dafoe &lt;allan.dafoe@politics.ox.ac.uk&gt;.

FHI is a multidisciplinary research institute at the University of Oxford. Academics at FHI bring the tools of mathematics, philosophy, and the social and natural sciences to bear on big-picture questions about humanity and its prospects.

Application deadline: October 19th. More information here: https://www.fhi.ox.ac.uk/researcher-hiring-2020/

Start Date: Winter 2020
Application Deadline: 10/19/2020
Date Posted: 9/28/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8108

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse - UT1

Rank: Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
(Political Economy, Comparative Politics & Quantitative Methods)

The Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse (IAST) and the University of Toulouse Capitole, France, invite applications from political scientists for Faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenured/tenure track), in the fields of political economy, comparative politics, and quantitative methods.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in analytical and quantitative political science, and good teaching skills. Candidates should be able to lead research programs drawing on the IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly though not only the proximity of a strong group in economics at the Toulouse School of Economics.

Research interests close to those already developed at the IAST/ Toulouse School of Economics would be highly appreciated, including: public opinion and public policies, comparative studies of democratic institutions, political economy of development, experimental political science, to cite a few.

RANK: Open rank. SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: For assistant professor position: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field. Knowledge of French is NOT required.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1st, 2021, with academic year beginning September 2021.

TO APPLY: Applications should be sent to info.researchpositions@ iast.fr with the message heading &quot;Application for Faculty Position in Political Science&quot;, and must include, in pdf format: letter of application, curriculum vitae, 2-4 samples of written work, research statement, and teaching evaluations if available. Applicants for an assistant professor position should ask 3 referees to submit confidential letters of reference by the deadline to the same address. Inquiries can also be sent to that address.

CLOSING DATE: September 30th, 2020.

IAST is committed to equal opportunities in recruitment and scientific practice. More information on the Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse, the University of Toulouse Capitole and the Toulouse School of Economics:

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/30/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8072

University of Colorado, Colorado Springs

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs (UCSS) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of international relations beginning August 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: international security, international conflict, and foreign policy. Additional consideration will be given to candidates with teaching and research interests in comparative politics, international organizations, civil-military relations, East Asian politics, or research methods. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate courses in political science (five courses per year), keeping
What You Will Need
- Candidates are expected to have a PhD in political science or a closely related field.

Applications submitted on the CU Careers website by November 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Applications submitted through email or surface mail will not be considered. Please apply at www.cu.edu/cu-careers (job #: 19206). Upon request, please be prepared to provide five professional references, including their email contact information. Official transcripts will be required upon hire. Evidence of teaching effectiveness and samples of research may be required. If you have technical difficulties with your application, please contact the CU Careers help desk at 303-860-4200 #5 or cucareershelp@cu.edu. Job related inquiries should be directed to the posting contact, Dr. Steven Pittz.

To apply, please submit the following application materials on the CU Careers website: a current CV, a cover letter that specifically addresses the job requirements and outlines qualifications, unofficial transcripts, teaching statement, and research statement. In order for an application to be considered, applicants must label each required attachment with the relevant title, attach the required documents for this position announcement to the submission, and check the Job Specific Attachments box next to each document in the submission.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8076

University of Colorado, Boulder
Rank: Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for the position of Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy. We seek a highly visible individual who is deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thinking and policymaking, or both. Thus, applications will be welcome from the academic, policy, military, and media communities, among others. The term of the appointment is variable, with a minimum of two to a maximum of four semesters. The position begins in August 2021.

The University of Colorado Boulder is committed to building a culturally diverse community of faculty, staff, and students dedicated to contributing to an inclusive campus environment. We are an Equal Opportunity employer, including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

The Visiting Scholar will continue an open and vigorous dialogue on campus featuring the principles of conservatism in historical and contemporary contexts. The successful candidate will receive a senior professorial appointment, without tenure, in the College of Arts and Sciences. Specific duties include teaching undergraduate courses, delivering public lectures, and organizing visiting speakers and events.

What We Require
- Candidates are expected to be highly visible scholars who are deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thinking and policymaking or both.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/17/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8064

University of Denver
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking to fill three tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level to begin September 2021. The Korbel School is a recognized leader in international studies education and scholarship that serves an undergraduate major, MA students, and a small, selective PhD program. The school is strongly committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment in full accord with the value that DU places on its commitments to diversity, equity and inclusion. We are interested in candidates working in the following areas related to global concerns: security (broadly construed), development and its alternatives, sustainability and the environment, and/or long-term integrated assessment modeling, scenario building and quantitative methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research that crosses disciplinary boundaries, connects these broad areas to each other or to additional Korbel priorities in social justice and democracy, and can contribute to diversity, equity and inclusion through their teaching, research, and service.

Successful candidates will have a strong record of research, be able to contribute to the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Josef Korbel School, and demonstrate an ability to integrate content about and work effectively with ethnically/racially diverse populations. Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, writing sample (or publication), research statement, teaching statement, sample syllabi, one-page statement of how the applicant can contribute to values and practices embracing diversity, equity and inclusivity, and teaching evaluations (if available) to the University of Denver’s online application system: http://www.dujobs.org. In addition, candidates should list the names of three references who will be contacted to provide letters. Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. Salary is competitive. Please see our extensive benefit package at http://www.du.edu/hr/benefits. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Deborah Avant, Deborah.Avant@du.edu. The University of Denver is particularly committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, minorities, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/12/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8049

University of Denver
Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Migration and Development)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). In the face of the challenging social, political, economic, and ethical issues raised by the substantial increase in foreign-born populations, IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to examine the impact of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. Through collaborations with the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research generates solutions with the potential to improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
We are looking for a postdoctoral fellow to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects broadly related to migration and development. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but January 2021 or earlier is preferred. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running and managing field experiments and/or household surveys in developing countries is preferred. Knowledge of immigration/refugee policy will also be valued, with the ability to operate professionally in French highly preferred.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16649 (ID16649). We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2020. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the executive director of the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc – Migration and Development).

Start Date: Winter 2021
Application Deadline: 9/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8026

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Migration and Development)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). In the face of the challenging social, political, economic, and ethical issues raised by the substantial increase in foreign-born populations, IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to examine the impact of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. Through collaborations with the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research generates solutions with the potential to improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
We are looking for a postdoctoral fellow to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects broadly related to migration and development. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but January 2021 or earlier is preferred. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running and managing field experiments and/or household surveys in developing countries is preferred. Knowledge of immigration/refugee policy will also be valued, with the ability to operate professionally in French highly preferred.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16649 (ID16649). We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2020. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the executive director of the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc – IPL community member). Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

Start Date: Winter 2021
Application Deadline: 9/15/2020
Salary: Competitive

Department of Defense
Rank: Analyst
Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC), https://www.jwac.mil/, is currently recruiting motivated individuals who are excited about the opportunity to lead research aimed at developing advanced methods for defense analysis.

JWAC’s mission is to provide the military with effects-based analysis in order to carry out the national security and military strategies of the United States during peace, crisis, and war.

Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background and professional experience or substantive research in the areas of military affairs, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy.

We offer generous benefits and competitive pay. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

Individuals interested in more information can email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Salary: Competitive

Princeton University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in quantitative methods. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/16965.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Nicole Wagenblast, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 7, 2020.

Requisition: D-21-POL-00002

Start Date: Open until Filled
Application Deadline: 9/7/2020
Salary: Competitive

Carleton College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Asian American Politics, China, East Asia

The Carleton College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin September 1, 2021. We are specifically interested in candidates who have regional expertise in Chinese politics and political economy. Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background and professional experience or substantive research in the areas of political economy, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy.

We offer generous benefits and competitive pay. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

Individuals interested in more information can email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7947

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
in research methods (qualitative and/or quantitative). The standard teaching load is five courses spread across three trimesters. The ideal candidate will also be interested in contributing to a vibrant college-wide culture of undergraduate research and have a commitment to attracting and retaining students from underserved groups. A PhD in hand or its imminent completion is required.

Carleton is a highly selective liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000, located in the historic and thriving town of Northfield, Minnesota. We are in commuting distance of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, whose greater metro area has a diverse population of three million people and a rich variety of cultural resources. The Political Science Department strives to introduce students—majors and non-majors alike—to a broad array of theoretical and philosophical perspectives while equipping them with the necessary analytic skills to engage with an increasingly diverse world and contribute constructively to one’s community. For further information about the department, please consult the department website at carleton.edu/political-science.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, and a statement about teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment and how you would contribute to a college community that embraces a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We also require a statement about research interests, one scholarly writing sample and contact information for three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to jobs.carleton.edu. Inquiries can be directed to pteiken@carleton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/4/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7917

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

Job Type: Full-Time

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant or associate (non-tenured) professor. The employment starts in Fall semester of 2021. The openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political theory. Candidates who have a research focus on issues of public policy are strongly encouraged to apply for the positions. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field. Although the working environment in SUFE is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

The position is a full-time appointment for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years of employment. The tenure-track faculty are expected to publish research on highly reputable international journals, offer high-quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at SUFE. The rules of evaluation and promotion are standardized at the university and similar to those for tenure positions in a regular American university.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 380,000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (240K RMB housing subsidy, medical insurance, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):
1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list;
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

The deadline for accepting applications is September 31, 2020, for this round of recruitment. We will arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Wechat during November and December 2020.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7872

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

Postdoctoral positions are available with Dr. Erik Gartzke in the Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) in the Political Science Department at the University of California, San Diego.

cPASS conducts rigorous, data-driven research on international affairs and U.S. foreign policy. Its mission is to apply cutting-edge social science to improve our collective understanding of how humans can best cooperate in an increasingly globalized and connected world with rapidly advancing technologies. cPASS is committed to promoting research excellence and diversity within cPASS and our academic field.
The postdoctoral fellows will assist in a Hewlett Foundation funded project on “CyberEscalation in Power Projection.” This project focuses on understanding how humans and their institutions interact with technology to better assess how the introduction of a new kind of connectedness through cyberspace shapes decisions concerning power projection. This project hopes to overcome the challenges for young scholars interested in cyber escalation by investing in building expertise and creating quality data to test theories.

As part of their duties, the postdoctoral fellows will collaborate with the Machine-learning for Social Science Lab (https://cpass.ucsd.edu/mssl) to create a foundational dataset of cyber events focused on basic scientific standards that is transparent, replicable, and reproducible. The postdoctoral fellows will also work with cPASS staff to develop the Cyber Escalation Lab and build a community dedicated to cyber escalation topics. Additional duties may arise in line with the goals of the “Cyber-Escalation in Power Projection” project. Authorship/co-authorship of scholarly research will be strongly encouraged.

A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Social Science, Computer Science, Information Science or a related field is required at the time of appointment. Applicants with appropriate skills are encouraged from a wide range of disciplines related to international relations and computer science. The appointment may be delayed for applicants expected to complete their PhD within the next six months.

Candidates must have extensive knowledge and experience in the cyber domain and a strong working knowledge of international relations theory.

Ideal candidates will also have experience with data science and machine learning. Candidates with demonstrated leadership or commitment to support diversity, equity, and inclusion in an academic setting are preferred.

Applicants must apply for this position at this link: https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02537

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, or status as a protected veteran.

This position will be 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible. Some flexibility exists as to the starting date of the position with fall 2020 as the earliest. Candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego by the start of the postdoc.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7823

NON-ACADEMIC

W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research
Rank: Senior Researcher
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Methodology
Specialization(s): Economic Policy, Labor Politics, United States

The W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research is seeking to diversify its senior research staff in terms of discipline and methodology. We invite Ph.D. researchers with at least 5 years of experience in sociology, public policy, social policy, political science or a related field to apply for a senior researcher position.

The Institute is seeking for candidates who have demonstrated experience in using qualitative, mixed, and/or survey methods to research labor and employment issues. Candidates should have a solid publication record, excellent oral and written communication skills for both academic and lay audiences, and a strong interest in addressing policy-relevant issues. The Institute is seeking to hire a researcher on a full-time basis or on a part-time basis that, for example, might be combined with an academic appointment and is open to remote work arrangements.

About the Institute
The Upjohn Institute is an endowed, nonprofit research organization that conducts independent, nonpartisan research on employment-related issues. The Institute offers a thriving and collaborative research environment. Our staff includes eleven Ph.Ds. who share common research interests and are excellent colleagues. The Institute’s endowment allows researchers considerable freedom in developing their agenda within the Institute’s mission. Research staff also seek funding from foundations or government agencies as a way of augmenting their research or becoming more involved in finding practical solutions to employment problems. Researchers receive excellent support from in-house staff, including research assistants, technology specialists, information and database specialists, and administrative staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8141
Qualifications

- Strong quantitative skills, including an ability to use various statistical programs to organize and analyze large amounts of data.
- Strong verbal and written communications skills.
- Ability to balance numerous projects simultaneously.
- Strong project management skills.
- Attention to detail, including exacting standards to maintain accuracy and impartiality in all work products.
- Ability to work well in a team setting.

We encourage you to apply even if you meet some, but not all, of the requirements listed.

FLSA Status: Exempt
Application Procedure
Applicants should apply electronically and include a résumé, and cover letter.

The Pew Research Center is an equal opportunity employer, committed to a diverse and inclusive workplace. Pew Research considers qualified applicants for employment without regard to age, sex, ethnicity, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation or gender identity, military/veteran status, or any other basis prohibited by applicable law.
to antiracism-related research and praxis, policy analysis and advocacy, and creative projects on and beyond AU’s campus. To browse the eight thematic areas in which faculty affiliates conduct antiracism work across academic disciplines, please see: https://www.american.edu/centers/antiracism/faculty-affiliates.cfm.

Application Instructions
Salary and benefits are competitive (for an overview of AU’s benefits for full-time faculty and staff, visit: https://www.american.edu/hr/benefits/). Please include a cover letter with your application which addresses: 1) the candidate’s leadership style, 2) the candidate’s understanding of and approach to antiracist research, praxis, and policy and 3) how the candidate’s style and approach will complement and grow the existing focal areas and activities of the Center. In addition to the cover letter, all applications must include a curriculum vitae with an appended list of three references and copies of three recent publications or equivalent antiracist projects. Letters of recommendation will be requested at a later stage. Reviews of applications will begin October 30.

To apply, visit: https://careers.american.edu/Staff/job/Washington-Executive-Director%2C-Anti-Racist-Research-and-Policy-Center-DC-20016/676834100/

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8146

University of North Carolina, Charlotte
Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Management or Urban Policy (#007144)
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Open

Assistant Professor in Public Management or Urban Policy (#007144)

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte Department of Political Science and Public Administration invites applications for a tenure track faculty position at the Assistant Professor level specializing in public management or urban management and policy to teach in the NASPAA-accredited and nationally ranked Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program. The standard teaching load for an assistant professor is two courses each Fall and Spring semester. We seek an exceptional colleague and scholar with a research focus on diversity, equity, and social justice in government, nonprofits, or in urban communities, like Charlotte. We welcome scholars employing a variety of methodological approaches including but not limited to the analysis of experiments, large N data analyses, interpretive and critical research methods, and surveys. This nine-month position begins Fall 2021.

Qualified candidates must have a PhD in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field at the time of appointment; an active research agenda and demonstrated excellence in research that will contribute to and enhance the department’s and program’s national reputation; and a commitment to teaching in a diverse environment.

The Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program ranks in the top 20% nationwide by US News and World Report and 2nd best MPA Value in the US. The MPA program offers concentrations in: Urban Management and Policy, Nonprofit Management, Arts Administration, Emergency Management, and Public Budgeting and Finance (Ranked #23). The MPA Program operates in an urban environment where it has strong ties to local government and nonprofit organizations, alumni, and the local chapters of the American Society for Public Administration, the North Carolina City and County Management Association, and the National Forum for Black Public Administrators. The program offers courses both on the main campus and at UNCC’s Center City Building in downtown Charlotte. Additional information may be found at: http://www.mpa.uncc.edu.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration has award-winning faculty, houses the Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program, operates an experimental lab offering research opportunities to faculty and graduate students (POLS-Lab), and is a core department in the interdisciplinary Public Policy PhD Program.

As the largest and most diverse college at UNC Charlotte, the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences houses 21 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, natural sciences and mathematics, and military sciences, as well as 28 applied research centers and interdisciplinary programs. With its 35 graduate degrees and 78 undergraduate degree options, the College is connected to the world and its concerns, and is particularly supportive of the greater Charlotte region.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive urban university, located on an expanding modern campus. The second largest of the 16 UNC System campuses, UNC Charlotte offers more than 30,000 culturally and ethnically diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The University is a Carnegie Foundation Community Engagement campus and an APLU Innovation and Economic Prosperity University. It supports faculty with excellent family and medical leave policies, junior faculty development awards, internal faculty research grant opportunities, and other research opportunities. Charlotte offers a dynamic space to live, work and connect for faculty, students, alumni, and staff, with its outstanding cultural, recreational, and business amenities. As the 15th largest U.S. city, Charlotte is consistently ranked one of the best cities to live (#20 by U.S. News & World Report).

Applicants must apply electronically at https://jobs.uncc.edu (position number #007144) and attach the following:

• Cover letter describing your research accomplishments and agenda, teaching experience and philosophy, and a commitment to diversity (e.g., how have multicultural issues influenced and/or been a part of your teaching, research, and outreach/service)
• Curriculum vitae
• Evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available)
• One writing sample (single or lead author preferred)
• Contact information for three professional references

Review of applications begins November 2, 2020 and continues until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Jaclyn Piatak, chair of the search committee, at jpiatak@uncc.edu with any questions about the position.

As an affirmative action, equal opportunity and an ADVANCE Institution, UNC Charlotte is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/ or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.
The Department of Political Science and Public Administration seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

The candidate chosen for this position will be required to provide an official transcript of their highest earned degree and submit to a criminal background check.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8150

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position - Preparing Future Faculty – Faculty Diversity (PFFFD) Postdoctoral Program
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Public Policy

The University of Missouri’s Preparing Future Faculty – Faculty Diversity (PFFFD) Postdoctoral Program is designed to develop scholars for tenure-track faculty positions at the University of Missouri and elsewhere. Applicants should demonstrate how they can contribute to faculty diversity, such as through membership in a group that is historically underrepresented in a particular discipline or through other experience. Postdoctoral positions are for two years and provide research, teaching, and professional development opportunities. The stipend is a minimum of $56,000 per year plus University benefits and professional development funds. In order to be eligible for this program, applicants must have completed their doctoral degree, or expect to complete their degree no later than July 1, 2021, at a regionally accredited university.

The University of Missouri (“Mizzou”), located in the culturally vibrant small city of Columbia, is approximately 125 miles from both St. Louis and Kansas City. The campus enrolls more than 30,000 students; it is Missouri’s largest public research university and the heart of the four-campus University of Missouri System. As a member of the Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is one of the nation’s top institutions of higher learning.

We are currently accepting applications in the following research areas:

- Political Science/Public Affairs – Scholar with research and teaching interests in race/ethnicity/diversity in politics, public administration, or public policy. Scholars with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Affairs, or related field.

The deadline for applications is 11:59 PM (Central time), November 2, 2020. Finalists will be interviewed in January - February 2021.

To apply, please go here: https://applygrad.missouri.edu/apply/?sr=959b0871-eaf9-44d0-b26c-9cc11e2e854

Please create an account in the Graduate School’s application system. After you create an account, select the 2021 Preparing Future Faculty postdoctoral application. A completed application includes:

- Cover letter expressing interest in the position
- CV
- Statement of goals for postdoctoral position
- Diversity statement
- One-page abstract of doctoral dissertation
- Writing sample
- 3 letters of reference

Click here to read more about the University of Missouri’s PFFFD program. Questions about the program and application process may be directed to Dr. Lisa Behm-Morawitz (Associate Dean of the Graduate School) at postdoc@missouri.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/2/2020
Date Posted: 10/1/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8133

Bilkent University

Rank: Open Rank Positions in International Relations

Bilkent University’s Department of International Relations invites applicants for multiple tenure-track, open rank positions in international relations commencing September 2021. The search is open with respect to subfield (e.g. foreign policy, international political economy, international security, conflict processes).

Candidates are expected to have rigorous methods training and promising research potential. A strong publication record for senior appointments is required. Successful applicants will have a teaching load of two courses per semester, beginning with a reduced load in their first four years, maintain productive research programs, and supervise graduate students. Bilkent University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty; female scholars are especially encouraged to apply.

Candidates must submit 1) CV, 2) cover letter, 3) research statement, 4) teaching statement, 5) three letters of recommendation, and 6) a writing sample to ir@bilkent.edu.tr by December 1st 2020. Applicants are expected to have completed a PhD in Political Science, International Relations or a related area by the beginning of the appointment.

Bilkent University is an English-medium private research university located in Ankara, Turkey. It is the country’s first private, non-profit university, and is globally renowned as a research and teaching institution. The university offers on-campus housing, International Baccalaureate schooling options for dependents, a diverse intellectual environment, and a variety of other facilities and outstanding opportunities for its staff.

The Department of International Relations, which serves approximately 460 undergraduate students and 60 graduate students, fully embraces the university’s foundational objectives of providing high-quality education and high-impact research.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8121

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
University of Oxford

Rank: Research, Research Fellow, and Senior Research Fellow positions

FHI is a multidisciplinary research institute at the University of Oxford. Academics at FHI bring the tools of mathematics, philosophy, and the social and natural sciences to bear on big-picture questions about humanity and its prospects.

We currently have open research positions at several levels of seniority, and will make up to 9 appointments. Relevant areas include: Foundational Deep Future Topics / Global Priorities Research, Centre for the Governance of AI, Technical AI Safety, and Biosecurity.

Specifically relevant to applicants with an international relations or political science background, we are interested in applicants with an interest in great power peace and conflict, transparency and surveillance, cooperative principles and institutions, AI ethics and AI governance, to help shed light on crucial considerations that might reshape our understanding of the future or of how to evaluate different possible outcomes, especially in the context of technology strategy.

Application deadline: October 19th. More information here: https://www.fhi.ox.ac.uk/researcher-hiring-2020/

Start Date: Winter 2020
Application Deadline: 10/19/2020
Date Posted: 9/28/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8107

University of Oxford

Rank: Research, Research Fellow, and Senior Research Fellow positions at the Future of Humanity Institute, University of Oxford

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Methodology

We currently have open research positions at several levels of seniority, and will make up to 9 appointments. Specifically relevant to applicants with an international relations or political science background, we are interested in applicants with an interest in (1) great power peace and conflict, transparency and surveillance, and cooperative principles and institutions; (2) AI ethics and AI governance, including to work with the Centre for the Governance of AI. Other relevant areas include: Foundational Deep Future Topics / Global Priorities Research, Technical AI Safety, and Biosecurity.

Of potential relevance to political methodologists, we are conducting extensive surveys of machine learning experts and the public on AI governance issues, we are seeking expertise in the politics of machine learning algorithms, developing models of inter-firm and inter-state technology competition, and we value careful causal inference. Questions about these positions can be directed to the chair of the selection committee, Allan Dafoe &lt;allan.dafoe@politics.ox.ac.uk&gt;.

FHI is a multidisciplinary research institute at the University of Oxford. Academics at FHI bring the tools of mathematics, philosophy, and the social and natural sciences to bear on big-picture questions about humanity and its prospects.

Application deadline: October 19th. More information here: https://www.fhi.ox.ac.uk/researcher-hiring-2020/

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 10/19/2020
Date Posted: 9/28/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8107

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Research Social Scientist

The School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) at the University of Arizona invites applications for an assistant research social scientist position in the Arizona Policy Lab, beginning in Spring 2020. The Arizona Policy Lab (https://policylab.arizona.edu) is devoted to producing evidence-based policy research (including surveys, experiments, and other human subjects research) with relevance for scholars, elected leaders, public officials, industry, and citizens. Our activities are grounded in cutting-edge scientific practices, cross-disciplinary collaborations, and the mentoring and training of undergraduate and graduate students. The Research Social Scientist position will be responsible for the oversight of research and training in the Lab. The position involves teaching 1 undergraduate course per year and allows for opportunities to collaborate on research and carry out independent research activities in the Lab.

The School of Government and Public Policy is a growing and vibrant academic community housing scholars of Political Science, Public Policy, and Administration and Management, and offers in person and online Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees, as well as an in-residence PhD. Additional information on the SGPP is available at http://sgpp.arizona.edu/. SGPP is situated within the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS).

Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more. The University of Arizona has been recognized as a Hispanic Serving Institution and, together with the SBS, has a strong commitment to diversity. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds; individuals from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Duties & Responsibilities
• Oversee operation and daily management of the Lab;
• Coordinate and run research studies in the lab;
• Co-author or author publications and co-present research results at workshops and conferences;
• Train and mentor graduate and undergraduate research assistants;
• Actively participate in acquiring research funding, including initiating and writing grant proposals;
• Contribute to ensuring regulatory compliance of Lab activities, including by coordinating with IRB and granting agencies;
• Teach one class per year at the undergraduate level;
• Participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service.

Knowledge, Skills, & Abilities
Minimum Qualifications: A PhD in public policy, political science, or a related social science field, is required by the time of appointment. A minimum of 8 years of relevant experience (which includes the duration of graduate studies) is typically required. The candidate will be expected to have a demonstrated ability to conduct and publish significant empirical research.

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Research Social Scientist

The School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) at the University of Arizona invites applications for an assistant research social scientist position in the Arizona Policy Lab, beginning in Spring 2020. The Arizona Policy Lab (https://policylab.arizona.edu) is devoted to producing evidence-based policy research (including surveys, experiments, and other human subjects research) with relevance for scholars, elected leaders, public officials, industry, and citizens. Our activities are grounded in cutting-edge scientific practices, cross-disciplinary collaborations, and the mentoring and training of undergraduate and graduate students. The Research Social Scientist position will be responsible for the oversight of research and training in the Lab. The position involves teaching 1 undergraduate course per year and allows for opportunities to collaborate on research and carry out independent research activities in the Lab.

The School of Government and Public Policy is a growing and vibrant academic community housing scholars of Political Science, Public Policy, and Administration and Management, and offers in person and online Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees, as well as an in-residence PhD. Additional information on the SGPP is available at http://sgpp.arizona.edu/. SGPP is situated within the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS).

Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more. The University of Arizona has been recognized as a Hispanic Serving Institution and, together with the SBS, has a strong commitment to diversity. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds; individuals from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Duties & Responsibilities
• Oversee operation and daily management of the Lab;
• Coordinate and run research studies in the lab;
• Co-author or author publications and co-present research results at workshops and conferences;
• Train and mentor graduate and undergraduate research assistants;
• Actively participate in acquiring research funding, including initiating and writing grant proposals;
• Contribute to ensuring regulatory compliance of Lab activities, including by coordinating with IRB and granting agencies;
• Teach one class per year at the undergraduate level;
• Participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service.

Knowledge, Skills, & Abilities
Minimum Qualifications: A PhD in public policy, political science, or a related social science field, is required by the time of appointment. A minimum of 8 years of relevant experience (which includes the duration of graduate studies) is typically required. The candidate will be expected to have a demonstrated ability to conduct and publish significant empirical research.
Applications will be considered.

Letters of Reference: Applicants will need to provide three letters of references. Please submit these letters of reference via email to the School of Government & Public Policy, Manager of Administration, Angela Hackett at ahackett@email.arizona.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 10/19/2020
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8100

University of Chicago
Rank: Instructor in Human Rights

Description
The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago invites applications for a one-year, renewable post-doctoral instructor in Human Rights, beginning September 1, 2021. Responsibilities include the design and teaching of three courses over three quarters, participation in the activities of the Pozen Center for Human Rights, and advising a small number of BA or MA theses. The salary is competitive, and the instructor will receive applicable University benefits, a professional development fund, and a relocation allowance.

Qualifications
We seek to attract an outstanding scholar whose work in the humanities or social sciences demonstrates excellence and addresses questions of lasting importance for the study of human rights. All applications are welcome and we especially encourage topics and approaches which include decolonizing methodologies and literatures, gender and sexuality, Third World approaches to international law, or a regional focus on the global south. Prior experience teaching undergraduate level courses in Human Rights is preferred. The position requires a Ph.D. in a social science or humanities discipline and is open to applicants who will have completed all requirements for their doctoral degree no later than August 31, 2021.

Application Instructions
To be considered for the position you must submit your application through the University of Chicago Academic Job Opportunities site apply.interfolio.com/79055 and upload the following: 1) a curriculum vitae; 2) a cover letter discussing your interest and qualifications for the position; 3) a research statement addressing current and future research plans; 4) a teaching statement addressing teaching experience and philosophy; 5) a sample syllabus for an undergraduate human rights course; 6) one sample of scholarly writing (a published article or unpublished paper or chapter); and 7) the names and contact information of three references whose recommendation letters will be solicited automatically by the application system. Only complete applications will be considered.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement
We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University’s Statements on Diversity are at https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University’s Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

University of Texas at El Paso
Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

The University of Texas at El Paso
College of Liberal Arts
Department of Criminal Justice
Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

Position Description: The Department of Criminal Justice is seeking to fill one full-time tenure-track position beginning Fall 2021 at the Assistant Professor level. Responsibilities include conducting and publishing scholarly research, seeking extramural funding, teaching face-to-face and online courses, and service to the department, university, and profession.

About UTEP: The University of Texas at El Paso is a Carnegie R1 and Community Engaged research university in the heart of the U.S.-Mexico border region, in a bicultural metropolis of over 800,000 people. UTEP faculty are nationally recognized for their commitment to student success, teaching, and research. UTEP enrolls more than 25,000 students, of whom nearly 80 percent are Latino/Latina. UTEP provides equal access and social mobility for over 50% of its student body of first generation students. UTEP comprises 10 academic colleges/schools. The Department of CJ offers an online B.A. in Security Studies, a Master of Science in Intelligence and National Security and a Master of Defense and Strategic Studies. The department also offers a B.A. in Criminal Justice, an equivalent 100% online B.A., and an M.S. in Criminology and Criminal Justice.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology or closely related field in Intelligence and/or Security Studies from an accredited university. ABD applicants will be considered if doctorate will be completed by Fall 2021. Active research agenda and published scholarly journal articles are required. to apply. Applicants with only a J.D., Psy.D., or Ed.D. will not be considered.

Preferred Areas: All research/teaching areas of criminal justice and criminology will be considered, but preference will be given to candidates who have demonstrated teaching and/or research areas in at least one of these areas: security studies, open source intelligence, or quantitative methods/statistics.

Application Instructions and Contact Information: To apply, visit https://utep.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=124115 Applicants must electronically submit: (1) letter of interest that includes teaching areas and research expertise, (2) curriculum vita, (3) one scholarly publication or dissertation manuscript, and (4) names and full contact information of three references that we may contact. If you have questions about the position, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Egbert Zavala, at EgbertZ@utep.edu.

Application Review Date: Review of applications will begin October 5th, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Hiring decisions are based on budget approval.

In keeping with its Access and Excellence mission, the University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all.

The University of Texas at El Paso does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran’s status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or in the provision of services in accordance with state and federal law. Discrimination on the basis of sex includes an employer’s or prospective employee’s right to be free from sexual harassment under Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8084

Anderson University
Rank: Executive Director

The Center for Security Studies and Cyber Defense (CSSCD) was established through a $1 million dollar Lilly Endowment Grant to support both the mission of Anderson University’s Security Studies Program and the surrounding community.

The CSSCD supports the mission of Anderson University’s Security Studies Program to develop a pipeline of graduates with excellent technical skills, strong Christian ethics, and a desire to serve on the front lines in defending the nation, our communities, and institutions from threats, foreign and domestic, in both the physical and cyber realms. The program consists of interdisciplinary majors in Cybersecurity and National Security designed to help our students develop an understanding of security policy (national, homeland, and cyber), technical skills through experiential learning, and a set of professional ethics from a Christian-faith perspective.

The CSSCD supports the surrounding community by providing a number of low-cost or no-cost security services to local and regional constituents. These services include: 1) Cybersecurity assessment services, network traffic monitoring through a Security Operations Center (SOC), and digital or physical penetration testing. 2) Table-top exercises for testing organizational responses to security threats such as ransomware attacks, data breaches, or catastrophic events. 3) Training and certification for the local workforce through workshops and seminars taught by security studies faculty, CSSCD staff, and field experts. 4) Conferences and publications to keep our constituents informed about current security threats and the tools and practices designed to address them.

As a Christian, liberal arts institution, the mission of AU is to educate for a life of faith and service in the church and society. The CSSCD challenges our students and staff to use their expertise in ethical and constructive ways, while equipping students with the knowledge and skills that can be used to preserve and promote security in every sector of American society. Students will utilize their critical thinking skills to discover solutions to complex problems through creative and ethical innovation and apply their technical skills through the various services offered by the center.

The Executive Director of the Center for Security Studies and Cyber Defense will coordinate the Center’s activities, utilizing his or her professional network to engage partner organizations, potential clients, and both governmental and industry leaders in order to contribute to the success and dynamic growth of the CSSCD as well as the cybersecurity and national security majors at Anderson University.

Duties and responsibilities
- Provide leadership towards accomplishing the mission of the center, working with a team composed of an Assistant Director, Executive Assistant, the teaching faculty of the security studies program, and students in the national security and cybersecurity majors.
- Establish and develop a broadly diverse CSSCD Advisory Board to support the center’s mission.
- Promote the security studies program at AU, raising awareness of the cybersecurity and national security majors and thereby contribute to an increased enrollment in these programs.
- Develop connections with corporate, governmental, civic and social service organizations to generate business for the CSSCD and provide educational, internship, and networking opportunities for students.
- Oversee the CSSCD budget, coordinating expenses and income sources, meeting the necessary income goals to support the Center prior to the end of the grant period.
- Report to the Provost through the established academic structure.

Qualifications
Successful candidate will be a recognized leader in the fields of cybersecurity or national security who demonstrates a professional and personal commitment to the vision, mission, and values of Anderson University. The candidate will demonstrate support for Christian liberal arts education and the specific ability to integrate faith and the disciplines of cybersecurity and national security in a distinctive way. Preference will be given to candidates who possess publications in the field of cybersecurity or national security.

This position is full-time and eligible for full-time benefits.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

October 2020
Qualifications include:
- An entrepreneurial mindset to enthusiastically promote the Center’s growth.
- Significant experience in the cybersecurity or national security fields, and a vision for the future in these areas.
- Superior communication skills.
- Ability to manage multiple projects simultaneously.
- Experience managing a team.
- Ability to develop and leverage existing networks to advance the mission and funding of the Center.
- Willingness to travel, attend national conferences, and meet with potential partners and clients, primarily within the Midwest region.
- Bachelor’s degree required. Master’s degree preferred.

Direct reports include an Assistant Director and an Executive Assistant

Qualified and interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, resume and employment application to staffjobs@anderson.edu. Persons with an application on file or current university employees should send an email to staffjobs@anderson.edu to express interest in this position.

Anderson University is on a mission to educate students for lives of faith and service, offering more than 60 undergraduate majors, 30 three-year degrees, 20 NCAA Division III intercollegiate sports, alongside adult and graduate programs. The private, liberal arts institution is fully accredited and recognized among top colleges for its business, computer science, cybersecurity, national security, dance, engineering, nursing, and teacher education programs. Anderson University was established in 1917 in Anderson, Indiana, by the Church of God.

AU is an equal opportunity employer. Persons who bring diversity are encouraged to apply. Anderson University complies with federal and state requirements for non-discrimination in employment with regard to sex, age, race, color, disability, and national and ethnic origin.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 8078

Princeton University
Rank: Lecturer

The Politics Department at Princeton University has an occasional need for lecturers (part-time and/or full-time) to teach or co-teach in areas such as American Politics, Comparative Politics, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods, International Relations, and/or Political Theory. Advanced degree required.

Please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of teaching interest. Due to the volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No letters of recommendation are required at this time. You will be required to submit contact information for one reference, but your reference will not be contacted at this time.

This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Interested applicants must apply online at: https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/17422

Requisition No: D-21-POL-00006
Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8073

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. Scholars in all subfields of political science will be considered. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/17521 and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

Requisition No: D-21-POL-00007
Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8074

Dartmouth College
Rank: Endowed Chair in Globalization

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College invites applications and nominations for appointment to an endowed chair in globalization at the level of full professor. The Globalization Chair is one of three positions in a cluster hire in the study of globalization. The other two positions are in the Tuck School of Business and the Department of Economics. We are particularly interested in scholars who bring innovative approaches to the study of human rights and the rule of law, democracy, and/or capitalism, and who will help lead, initiate, and participate in collaborative research projects within the Department of Government, the Department of Economics, the Tuck School of Business, and beyond, including Dartmouth researchers from other Arts & Sciences departments and centers on campus.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter how their teaching, research,
Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Migration and Development)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). In the face of the challenging social, political, economic, and ethical issues raised by the substantial increase in foreign-born populations, IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to examine the impact of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. Through collaborations with the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research generates solutions with the potential to improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
We are looking for a postdoctoral fellow to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects broadly related to migration and development. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but January 2021 or earlier is preferred. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running and managing field experiments and/or household surveys in developing countries is preferred. Knowledge of immigration/refugee policy will also be valued, with the ability to operate professionally in French highly preferred.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16649 (ID16649). We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2020. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the executive director of the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc – Migration and Development).

Start Date: Winter 2021
Application Deadline: 9/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 8026

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Migration and Development)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). In the face of the challenging social, political, economic, and ethical issues raised by the substantial increase in foreign-born populations, IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to examine the impact of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. Through collaborations with the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research generates solutions with the potential to improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.
Political Science Jobs

October 2020

Position

We are looking for a postdoctoral fellow to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects broadly related to migration and development. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but January 2021 or earlier is preferred. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running data analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

Stanford University

Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity

Subfield(s): Open, Open, Open

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Earth, Energy & Environmental Sciences, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine). Selection criteria includes the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2021.

To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must be within three years of the date of their terminal degree at the time of appointment. Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA) prior to the start of the fellowship.

Specifically, a cover letter detailing the candidate’s interest in the position; a statement of teaching and research interests and how these interests would be advanced by a fellowship, including needs for laboratory access or special equipment; three letters of recommendation; a curriculum vitae; and samples of written work.

Applications should be submitted electronically at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16562 The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is November 1, 2020. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

Additional details about the fellowship program can be found at https://facultydevelopment.stanford.edu/ideal-provostial-fellows.

More information about Stanford’s IDEAL initiative is available at https://ourvision.stanford.edu/microsites/ideal-homepage.

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Open Rank SNF Agora Institute Professor (Challenges of Multi-Ethnic Democracy, Race, Inequality)

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at any rank (Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor) who focus on the dynamics of race and ethnicity, class and inequality, migration, group identities (including gender and sexuality), community and urban dynamics, and forms of structural inequality in shaping, interacting with, making possible, and challenging the realization of democracy in global contexts and the U.S. We define these terms broadly and seek scholars from a range of disciplines.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university’s Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute. Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Applicants should apply online and submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Junior applicants without well-established publication records should also submit three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2020 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2021.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 11/6/2020
Date Posted: 8/20/2020
Salary: Negotiable
ejobs ID: 7992

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Open Rank SNF Agora Institute Professor (Social Cognition/Political Psychology)

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at any rank (Assistant, Associate, or Full Professors) who focus on social cognition or political psychology. We seek scholars from a range of disciplines examining the cognitive and psychological foundations of social and collective behavior, especially as it relates to questions about civic engagement and inclusive discourse across the globe or in the U.S.

This search is part of a broader initiative at Johns Hopkins University to expand expertise in social cognition within the Department of Psychological and Brian Sciences and in other departments. Faculty hired to the SNF Agora Institute, however, can sit in any department in the university.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute. Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university’s Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

Applicants should apply online and submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Junior applicants without well-established publication records should also submit three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2020 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2021.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 11/6/2020
Date Posted: 8/20/2020
Salary: Negotiable
ejobs ID: 7992
Department of Political Science
540 N. 15th Street, 468 William Wehr Bldg
Marquette University
P.O. Box 1881
Milwaukee, WI 53201-1881 (USPS); 53233 (courier)

Applications received by October 1, 2020 will be assured full consideration. However, review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants who make the list of potential candidates for interviews will be required to have their official graduate academic transcripts sent to the department chair.

Additional information about the university and department can be found at http://www.Marquette.edu and http://www.Marquette.edu/polisci.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020
Date Posted: 8/20/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7994

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/Program in Latin American Studies

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-21-LAS-00001

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

How to Apply
For full consideration, applications should be submitted by December 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.
All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/16701.
1) Cover letter
2) Curriculum vitae

---

Political Science Jobs

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 11/6/2020
Date Posted: 8/20/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7990

Marquette University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Identity and Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Identity and Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2021. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment. The position is open with respect to subfield.

Candidates’ scholarship should examine racial, ethnic, and/or indigenous studies. Possible topics include, but are not limited to, how identity should be conceptualized; how identities are represented politically; the intersection of racial and ethnic identities with other identities; race and public policy; and how the politics of race and ethnicity affects democratic governance.

Marquette is a Jesuit, Catholic university and seeks candidates who will contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at http://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php. We enthusiastically encourage applications from women, minorities, first-generation candidates, and other underrepresented groups in the academy. We seek a colleague with a record demonstrating the potential for excellent teaching and research. Faculty are expected to conduct research and publish scholarship in leading peer-reviewed outlets. The successful candidate will teach an introductory course in her or his subfield and will have the opportunity to develop undergraduate and graduate courses in her or his areas of expertise.

The successful candidate will also offer a course for Marquette’s new Race, Ethnicity, and Indigenous Studies (REIS) program on a regular basis. This course will be part of their teaching load, which will be commensurate with junior faculty in the Department of Political Science. The successful candidate will also serve on one of the two main departmental committees and engage in other departmental, university, and professional service as appropriate.

All applications for this position must be received through Marquette University’s online recruiting system (https://employment.marquette.edu/). The applicant should upload the following:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- List of those who will be submitting recommendation letters
- Unofficial graduate transcript
- Writing sample (of up to 50 pages)
- Evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness
- Syllabi (for courses independently taught and/or a sample syllabus for an undergraduate course in your field). This last item is optional.

Additionally, three letters of recommendation are required. Recommendation letters cannot be uploaded by the candidate. Applicants should arrange to have their recommendation letters sent either via email to polisciresearch@marquette.edu or via hard copy to the following address:

Dr. Paul Nolte, Chair

Marquette University
540 N. 15th Street, 468 William Wehr Bldg
Marquette University
P.O. Box 1881
Milwaukee, WI 53201-1881 (USPS); 53233 (courier)

Applications received by October 1, 2020 will be assured full consideration. However, review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants who make the list of potential candidates for interviews will be required to have their official graduate academic transcripts sent to the department chair.

Additional information about the university and department can be found at http://www.Marquette.edu and http://www.Marquette.edu/polisci.
3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)
5) Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/3/2020
Date Posted: 8/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7923

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select postdoctoral scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The postdoctoral appointment will be for one academic year for scholars who have received a Ph.D. at an institution outside the United States and, who at the time of application, do not have a tenure-track faculty appointment. The candidates must also demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and have exhibited unusual intellectual promise.

During the academic year 2021-22, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Sustainable Futures." The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. We define sustainability expansively. What do economics teach us about inclusive growth and equality of opportunity? How can countries leverage ecological sciences and engineering to scale energy sources that are sustainable and practical, encourage environmentally sound consumption patterns, promote resource renewal and protect biodiversity? What would sustainable global integration look like? How is understanding the behavior of complex systems crucial to sustainability? How can architecture and engineering build smarter and more sustainable cities? What can countries learn from sociology about supporting family structures and community institutions? How might information science and technology render virtual public spheres civil while keeping them open? How can societies use political science to improve governance, raise political participation, and manage a wide diversity of views that healthy societies must have? Above all, how can countries create and propagate consensus narratives of sustainability that balance interests?

Applicants must apply online at: https://www.princeton.edu/academic-positions/position/16742. Applications are due by November 16, 2020 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, post-doctoral applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements before 9/1/2021 but cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, 9/1/2021. If a candidate has turned in a final draft of their dissertation but not yet completed their Ph.D. before the start date, they may be temporarily appointed as a Senior Research Assistant with 10% reduction in salary. Upon providing verification of their Ph.D. degree, they would be promoted in rank and salary. The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' proposed research projects, the relationship of their projects to the program theme, the candidates' scholarly records and their ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information on eligibility requirements and the Fung Global Fellows Program see http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggfp/call-applications. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 16, 2020:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (To be submitted by your referees by the November 16, 2020 deadline.)

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/16/2020
Date Posted: 7/21/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7935

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired at this rank will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The fellowships will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar. They will also be expected to return to their positions at the conclusion of the fellowship. Lastly, they must have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and unusual intellectual promise. Early-career scholars will be appointed at the rank of Visiting Research Scholar.

During the academic year 2021-22, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Sustainable Futures." The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. We define sustainability...
expansively. What does economics teach us about inclusive growth and equality of opportunity? How can countries leverage ecological sciences and engineering to scale energy sources that are sustainable and practical, encourage environmentally sound consumption patterns, promote resource renewal and protect biodiversity? What would sustainable global integration look like? How is understanding the behavior of complex systems crucial to sustainability? How can architecture and engineering build smarter and more sustainable cities? What can countries learn from sociology about supporting family structures and community institutions? How might information science and technology render virtual public spheres civil while keeping them open? How can societies use political science to improve governance, raise political participation, and manage a wide diversity of views that healthy societies must have? Above all, how can countries create and propagate consensus narratives of sustainability that balance interests?

Applicants must apply online at: https://www.princeton.edu/academic-positions/position/16822. Applications due by November 16, 2020 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. or equivalent no earlier than September 1, 2011. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate’s proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program theme, the candidate’s scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information see: http://piiris.princeton.edu/funggfp/call-applications.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 16, 2020:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- For those applicants with a current faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant’s current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University. If applicant is an established independent scholar, please upload a PDF stating this as applicant’s current status.
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 16, 2020 deadline.)

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: 11/16/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7936

Fudan University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellows

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time “Post-doc fellows” at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong potentials to publish their research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI). They should employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the fields. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China’s top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review’s editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press. The journals are both included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection of of Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuter).

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae; including a publication list and information of three references.
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. 1-2 published articles/writing samples;

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7920

Fudan University

Rank: University Distinguished Professors

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time positions at the top rank of “University Distinguished Professor” at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong publication records and their potentials to continue their scholarship during their tenure, and employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the fields, and well recognized as leading scholars in the fields of their research. Applicants are expected to continue publishing research on highly

[Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs]
Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China’s top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review’s editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press. The journals are included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection of of Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuter).

Application documents (all in English):
1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive/detailed curriculum vitae; including honors and awards in disciplines, list of publications, information of three references. Letters of recommendation may be requested.

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended rank/position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8156

Stanford University
Rank: HAI Junior Fellow/Assistant Faculty (Research)

The Institute for Human-Centered Artificial Intelligence (HAI) at Stanford University invites applications for a fixed-term Assistant Professor (Research) faculty position. The appointment is for a non-renewable term of five years, beginning in September 2021. The selected candidate will be appointed in an appropriate disciplinary department (e.g., Communications, Computer Science, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology), and will be a Junior Fellow of the Stanford Institute for Human-Centered Artificial Intelligence. We are seeking applicants from all areas of research related to artificial intelligence, spanning theoretical foundations, systems, software, applications, and human or societal impact. We are particularly interested in researchers working at the frontiers of artificial intelligence and other disciplines, including but not limited to the humanities, business, education, law, medicine, and physical and social sciences. Applicants must have received a PhD prior to the start of the appointment, must show outstanding promise in research, and must have a strong commitment to teaching. A successful candidate will be expected to teach one course per year at the graduate and/or undergraduate levels and will be provided generous research support.

This search is part of the first stage of a three to five year-long university-wide cluster hiring initiative in Latinx Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to participate in that initiative, intended to create a critical mass of scholars with expertise in Latinx studies at the University. More detailed information about the Provost’s Latinx cluster hiring initiative can be found here: https://www.provost.pitt.edu/latinx-cluster-hire-initiative.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2021. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department’s mission. Required qualifications: applicants have or expect to have a Ph.D. in hand before the appointment begins, research interests related to Latinx politics, and demonstrated ability or potential to publish high-quality scholarship. Preferred qualifications: research interests related to migration, representation, voter attitudes, political behavior, and identity; demonstrated commitment or potential to contribute to equity and inclusion.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters.

Please apply online at: https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjk3.

In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by November 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/6/2020
Date Posted: 10/8/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8156

OTHER

University of Pittsburgh
Rank: Assistant Professor – Latinx Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor in Latinx Politics, pending budgetary approval. We are especially interested in candidates whose research focuses on understanding Latinx perspectives and experiences related to issues of migration, representation, voter attitudes, political behavior, and identity. We seek candidates who would complement our current faculty’s research and teaching strengths and will help strengthen the department’s research program by broadening the perspectives, questions, theories, methods, or sources of evidence used to study political behavior and institutions, including those whose research employs civically engaged or participatory scholarship within the Latinx community. This search is part of the first stage of a three to five year-long university-wide cluster hiring initiative in Latinx Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to participate in that initiative, intended to create a critical mass of scholars with expertise in Latinx studies at the University. More detailed information about the Provost’s Latinx cluster hiring initiative can be found here: https://www.provost.pitt.edu/latinx-cluster-hire-initiative.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2021. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department’s mission. Required qualifications: applicants have or expect to have a Ph.D. in hand before the appointment begins, research interests related to Latinx politics, and demonstrated ability or potential to publish high-quality scholarship. Preferred qualifications: research interests related to migration, representation, voter attitudes, political behavior, and identity; demonstrated commitment or potential to contribute to equity and inclusion.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters.

Please apply online at: https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjk3.

In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by November 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/6/2020
Date Posted: 10/8/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8156

Stanford University
Rank: HAI Junior Fellow/Assistant Faculty (Research)

The Institute for Human-Centered Artificial Intelligence (HAI) at Stanford University invites applications for a fixed-term Assistant Professor (Research) faculty position. The appointment is for a non-renewable term of five years, beginning in September 2021. The selected candidate will be appointed in an appropriate disciplinary department (e.g., Communications, Computer Science, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology), and will be a Junior Fellow of the Stanford Institute for Human-Centered Artificial Intelligence. We are seeking applicants from all areas of research related to artificial intelligence, spanning theoretical foundations, systems, software, applications, and human or societal impact. We are particularly interested in researchers working at the frontiers of artificial intelligence and other disciplines, including but not limited to the humanities, business, education, law, medicine, and physical and social sciences. Applicants must have received a PhD prior to the start of the appointment, must show outstanding promise in research, and must have a strong commitment to teaching. A successful candidate will be expected to teach one course per year at the graduate and/or undergraduate levels and will be provided generous research support.
Further information about the HAI Institute can be found at https://hai.stanford.edu.
Application Requirements:
? All applications should include a curriculum vita, a list of publications, and brief (3 page total) statements of research and teaching interests.
? Applicants should submit the names and contact information of at least four references.
Please apply online Academic Jobs Online. You will need to create an AJO account if you do not already have one. Questions should be directed to the Search Committee Chair via electronic mail to HAI-Search@stanford.edu.
Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.
Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8151

University of California, Irvine
Rank: Assistant Professor (Indigenous Studies)
The Department of Global and International Studies at the University of California, Irvine (UCI) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position. We are looking for outstanding scholars involved in critical, interdisciplinary and innovative approaches to global Indigenous issues. Applicants should address explicitly how global perspectives are deployed and/or local-global dimensions feature in their research. The successful candidate will hold a PhD in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service.

The candidate will be participating in an innovative, transdisciplinary and diverse intellectual environment and developing curriculum around global theory, non-western epistemologies, and pressing regional and transnational issues manifesting in the lives and experiences of people. See department website at: www.globalstudies.uci.edu

Completed applications must include: a cover letter highlighting qualifications, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching, statement of research, up to three publications, and three letters of reference by the deadline. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials.

Interested candidates should apply online at: https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF05186

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2020, but the position will remain open until filled. If you have questions, please feel free to contact Department Chair, Eve Darian-Smith via email to edarian@uci.edu

Preference may be given to those candidates who demonstrate a sustained commitment to advance equitable access to higher education, and who have performed public and university service that addresses the needs of underrepresented minority populations.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8153

University of California, Irvine
Rank: Assistant Professor (Racial Studies)
The Department of Global and International Studies at the University of California, Irvine (UCI) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position. We are looking for outstanding scholars involved in critical, interdisciplinary and innovative approaches to structural racism as a pressing global issue. We are especially interested in candidates engaging in critical approaches to racial capitalism. Black Internationalism and Black geographies. Applicants should address explicitly how global perspectives are deployed and/or local-global dimensions feature in their research. The successful candidate will hold a PhD in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service.

The candidate will be participating in an innovative, transdisciplinary and diverse intellectual environment and developing curriculum around global theory, non-western epistemologies, and pressing regional and transnational issues manifesting in the lives and experiences of people. See department website at: www.globalstudies.uci.edu

Completed applications must include: a cover letter highlighting qualifications, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching, statement of research, up to three publications, and three letters of reference by the deadline. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials.

Interested candidates should apply online at: https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF06367

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2020, but the position will remain open until filled. If you have questions, please feel free to contact Department Chair, Eve Darian-Smith via email to edarian@uci.edu

Preference may be given to those candidates who demonstrate a sustained commitment to advance equitable access to higher education, and who have performed public and university service that addresses the needs of underrepresented minority populations.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8153

University of Oslo
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow on the Extreme Right, Hate Crime and Political Violence
Job description
Center for Research on Extremism (C-REX) seeks to recruit two excellent candidates in the Social Sciences, Humanities or Law doing high quality research on far right politics and right-wing violence. The successful applicants will work full time as a Postdoctoral Fellow.
Applications must hold a degree equivalent to a Norwegian doctoral degree (PhD) in Social Sciences, Humanities, Law or related disciplines before taking up the post. For applicants who have yet to receive their PhD degree, the Doctoral dissertation must have been submitted for evaluation before the application deadline (December 1, 2020). Such applicants should note the date of submission of their PhD in the cover letter. Appointment is dependent on the public defense of the doctoral thesis being approved.

Candidates with a record of high-quality publication, especially in leading peer-reviewed international journal and/or leading publisher, will be prioritized. However, the length of the applicant’s research career (discounted for parental leave, etc.) will be taken into account when considering the number of such publications: The intention is to recruit the person that has the best prospects for contributing to the project’s research outputs by publishing research of the highest quality over the coming 3-year period.

The candidate should, in the cover letter (maximum 2 pages), briefly explain how his/her research profile and agenda will contribute to the overall goals of C-REX. Applicants are free to formulate a project within the field of far-right politics and/or right-wing violence, but they must relate their project to one or several of the center’s research profile presented above (see also the center’s website for more information). Applicants must formulate a project description that lays out a promising research project that can be fulfilled in the course of three years.

Candidates with prior research experience on one or more of the topics covered by C-REX will have an advantage.

Other desired qualifications and experiences include experiences with previous systematic data collection efforts, extensive academic and non-academic networks, strong administrative and organizational skills, very good command of English, and dissemination skills. Finally, personal suitability for the position will be taken into consideration.

See also the regulations regarding the terms of employment for Postdoctoral Fellow positions and Guidelines concerning appointment to postdoctoral and research posts at the University of Oslo.

We offer

- Salary according to “SKO 1352 postdoktor”, pay grade 59-67, NOK 523 200-605 500 per year (approx. 52 000 – 61 000 Euro)
- Budget for travel and research assistance (currently NOK 45 000 per year)
- An academically stimulating and international working environment
- A good and inclusive workplace
- A good pension scheme through the Norwegian Public Service Pension Fund
- A good work-life balance and access to Norway’s excellent public services and welfare schemes, including generous parental leave provisions and affordable and accessible childcare
- Postdocs with teaching obligations at the Department of Political Science are expected to acquire formal pedagogical competency during the first half of the four years period

Female postdocs can take part in the UiO Mentorprogram for female postdocs

Applications

Applications should be submitted electronically with the following:

- Letter of application
- CV
- A complete list of publications
- Research proposal. The proposal should clarify the research theme, main research questions, how the research contributes to the existing literature, theoretical approach, methodology, and a publication plan (maximum 3,000 words (!) everything included).

Note! Publications should not be submitted with the application; the most promising candidates will be invited to submit their publications, as well as their educational certificates and diplomas, later in the process.

Short-listed candidates for the job will be invited to an interview and may be asked to do a trial lecture.

(Questions regarding the electronic application form should be sent to personnel officer Sylvi Anita Varsi Øien, saoien@sv.uio.no, telephone +47 22856907)

Please note

Applicants, who at the time of appointment cannot provide documentary evidence of basic formal teaching competence, must acquire such William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal (https://jobs.wm.edu). For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal.

Applicants will be expected to relocate to the Williamsburg area in the Fall 2021. These positions are based in Williamsburg, Virginia. As such, applicants will be expected to relocate to the Williamsburg area in 2021.

Application Instructions

For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal (https://jobs.wm.edu/postings/39689). There, click Apply for this Job to apply with your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter, and a peer-reviewed publication that highlights your ability to design and execute policy-relevant, empirical research with rigorous methods. This position closes at 11:59pm on October 15th, 2020.

The Research Scientist will provide intellectual leadership for AidData’s Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and work closely with the Director of Policy Analysis to provide technical and management oversight of the grants and contracts that support this program. The Research Scientist will assume the management, fiscal, and research integrity responsibilities of a Co-Principal Investigator on relevant, externally-sponsored research projects. The individual will also contribute to the conceptual development and preparation of grant and contract proposals in line with the mandate of the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and Policy Analysis Unit, represent the program and unit externally in presenting research results to academic and policy audiences, and broker financial and partnership arrangements to advance the program and unit’s research agenda.

The Senior Research Scientist will provide intellectual leadership for AidData’s Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and provide technical and management oversight of the grants and contracts that support this program. This is a senior leadership position within AidData. The Senior Research Scientist will assume the management, fiscal, and research integrity responsibilities of a lead Principal Investigator on relevant, externally-sponsored research projects. The individual will lead the conceptual development and preparation of grant and contract proposals in line with the mandate of the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and represent the program externally to academic and policy audiences. The individual will also be responsible for brokering financial and partnership arrangements to advance the program’s research agenda, while ensuring the long-term health and sustainability of the program area.

Either position may include oversight of staff conducting data collection and analysis related to the nature, scope, distribution, and effects of Chinese, Russian, and Middle Eastern financing. Either role will be responsible for the successful delivery of analysis, datasets and tools related to sponsored research projects, including:

- Financial oversight (managing budgets for active grants and contracts, developing proposals for new grants);
- External client management (ensuring on-time, high-quality deliverables for external funders);
- Personnel oversight (supervision of staff/research assistants);
- Project/portfolio management (responsible for direct implementation of projects to produce data and derivative products); and quality assurance.

This position is located at the College of William & Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia. This is a full-time position, and salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications in the U13-U15 range (see Salary Structure for University Employees).

Required Qualifications

Research Scientist:
A Master’s degree in a relevant discipline such as economics, political science, public policy, public affairs, international relations, international development, or development finance, or comparable education and experience;

Several years of relevant professional experience;
Demonstrated experience leading the design and implementation of externally sponsored research projects;
Experience writing compelling grant proposals and securing external funds for policy research projects;
Track record of submitting high-quality deliverables and progress reports in a timely manner to external research sponsors;
Track record of leading research collaborations;
Established subject matter expert in at least one domain relevant to the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program (e.g., China, Russia, Gulf Cooperation Council, development finance, foreign direct investment, blended finance, South-South cooperation, etc.);
Track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods;
Experience leading technical teams and projects and training/mentoring team members;
Experience working with large, complex datasets using one or more of the following: Stata, R, Python, SAS, SPSS;
Strong and effective communication skills;
Ability to work both independently and collaboratively in a demanding and complex work environment; to carry out assignments in a timely manner, and to adapt to changing situations and priorities;
Experience managing small to mid-size project teams and delivery schedules

Senior Research Scientist:
A terminal degree in a relevant discipline with several years’ experience as a principal investigator or co-principal investigator;
Demonstrated academic rigor to lead the design and implementation of externally sponsored research projects as a Principal Investigator;
Established track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods;
Experience writing compelling grant proposals and securing external funds for policy research projects;
Track record of submitting high-quality deliverables and progress to external research sponsors;
Track record of publishing research in peer-reviewed journals or policy research that meets equivalent standards of scrutiny;
Experience with personnel management and fiscal responsibilities associated with externally-sponsored research projects;
Established track record of leading research collaborations (with and without external collaborators) that result in high-quality and high-profile research outputs;
Established subject matter expert in at least two domains relevant to the program (e.g., China, Russia, Gulf Cooperation Council, development finance, foreign direct investment, blended finance, South-South cooperation, etc.);
Track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods;
Extensive professional network and presence in relevant professional communities, including researchers across multiple domains;
Substantial experience leading large, interdisciplinary teams and technically demanding projects;
Demonstrated experience working with large, complex datasets using one or more of the following: Stata, R, Python, SAS, SPSS;
Strong and effective communication and presentation skills

Preferred Qualifications

Research Scientist:
A Master’s degree or Doctorate in a relevant discipline;
Extensive relevant professional experience;

Experience designing and/or managing large-scale data collection and/or research projects in developing country contexts;
Knowledge/experience with qualitative data collection and research methods (FGDs, interviews, Nvivo);
Advanced experience with data science methods (machine learning, web scraping, and text mining);
Demonstrated ability to implement rigorous analysis using experimental methods or quasi-experimental methods, including regression discontinuity, matching, difference-in-differences, instrumental variables estimation, social network analysis, and spatial analysis;
Experience preparing statistical code for reproduction of results by a third party;
Extensive knowledge and experience working with development finance or foreign direct investment data;
Detailed knowledge of aid classification schemes and experience in collecting, standardizing, and publishing data from multiple actors;
Experience delivering datasets and actionable research for policy and academic audiences;
Knowledge of the standards, best practices, and systems related to public service and/or international aid program delivery in developing countries

Senior Research Scientist:
Doctorate in a relevant discipline such as economics, political science, public policy, public affairs, international relations, international development, or development finance or comparable advanced level experience;
Track record of obtaining research funding from a variety of funders;
Experience designing and/or managing large-scale data collection and/or research in developing country contexts;
Advanced proficiency/experience with data science methods (machine learning, web scraping, and text mining);
Demonstrated ability to implement rigorous analysis using experimental methods or quasi-experimental methods, including regression discontinuity, matching, difference-in-differences, instrumental variables estimation, social network analysis, and spatial analysis;
Demonstrated experience preparing statistical code for reproduction of results by a third party;
Extensive knowledge and experience working with development finance or foreign direct investment data;
Experience delivering datasets and actionable research for policy and academic audiences;
Extensive knowledge of traditional and non-traditional donor classification schemes (with a particular emphasis on Non-DAC donors like China, Russia and the Gulf Cooperation Council countries)

Application Instructions
For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal. There, click Apply for this Job to apply with your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter, and a peer-reviewed publication that highlights your ability to design and execute policy-relevant, empirical research with rigorous methods. This position closes at 11:59pm on June 12th, 2020.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8136

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
New York University
Rank: Postdoctoral Associate - NYU Center for Social Media and Politics

The NYU Center for Social Media and Politics studies the influence of social media on politics, and develops new and innovative ways to measure such influence. Postdocs work on projects that could include: analyzing the behavior of bots in elections, working with survey data merged with respondents’ social media behavior, analyzing Facebook data made available through the Social Science One program, identifying which users are most influential in online networks, examining the impact of YouTube and other sites on news consumption of individuals, the spread of disinformation through social media platforms, and studying how and what individuals learn from social media during the 2020 U.S. election campaign.

We are looking for a postdoc with a strong research background and advanced technical skills. Experience with research in one or more of the following areas is desirable: active learning, deep learning, or machine learning. A Ph.D. degree in Computer Science, Data Science, Statistics, or a social science field with a background in machine learning and data science is required.

The directors of the Center for Social Media and Politics are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, faculty collaborators, and staff, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to apply. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range, health, and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

This is initially a one year position, with the potential for renewal up to three years.

CSMaP consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the impact of YouTube and other sites on news consumption of individuals, the spread of disinformation through social media platforms, and studying how and what individuals learn from social media during the 2020 U.S. election campaign.

The Postdocs will work with the faculty directors and others to conduct cutting edge research: analyzing data using tools of modern machine learning, designing data collection schemes, developing and testing new algorithms, and producing code and writing up results. Postdocs are expected to participate in co-authoring multiple lab papers.

Feel free to contact any of the faculty directors for more information: Rich Bonneau (rb133[at]nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler[at]nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker[at]nyu.edu).

Application URL: http://apply.interfolio.com/78575

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/30/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 8127

Yale University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2021-22

Yale University’s Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for twelve months, starting in July 2021. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/79312.

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 8116

University of Oxford
Rank: Research, Research Fellow, and Senior Research Fellow positions

FHI is a multidisciplinary research institute at the University of Oxford. Academics at FHI bring the tools of mathematics, philosophy, and the social and natural sciences to bear on big-picture questions about humanity and its prospects.

We currently have open research positions at several levels of seniority, and will make up to 9 appointments. Relevant areas include: Foundational Deep Future Topics / Global Priorities Research, Centre for the Governance of AI, Technical AI Safety, and Biosecurity.

Specifically relevant to applicants with an international relations or political science background, we are interested in applicants with an interest in great power peace and conflict, transparency and surveilance, cooperative principles and institutions, AI ethics and AI gov-erance, to help shed light on crucial considerations that might reshape our understanding of the future or of how to evaluate different possible outcomes, especially in the context of technology strategy.

Application deadline: October 19th. More information here: https:// www.fhi.ox.ac.uk/researcher-hiring-2020/

Start Date: Winter 2020
Application Deadline: 10/19/2020
Date Posted: 9/28/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8107

Pepperdine University
Rank: Assistant Professor of International Studies

The International Studies and Languages Division of Pepperdine University’s Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences seeks applications for a tenure track appointment as an Assistant Professor of International Studies (with a specialization in African Studies) beginning August 1, 2021. The ability to teach courses in at least two of the following areas is preferred: African politics, African culture and society, ethnicity in Africa, comparative politics, or comparative political economy. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Anthropology, or Sociology is required. Candidates should demonstrate exceptional interest and effectiveness in teaching and mentoring undergraduate students. Candidates should also have the ability to establish a productive research program. The ability to engage students in their scholarly work would be a plus.

Pepperdine University is a private Christian university overlooking the Pacific Ocean in Malibu, California. Faculty, staff and students partner to support Pepperdine’s Christian Mission. Pepperdine is committed to valuing diversity and inclusion among our students and faculty. Applicants of color are particularly encouraged to apply.

Please submit all application materials at apply.interfolio.com/78908.
Review of candidates’ application materials will begin on November 9th, 2020, and will continue until the search is closed.

Contact:
Dr. George Carlsen (george.carlsen@pepperdine.edu)
Divisional Dean of International Studies and Languages
Pepperdine University
24255 Pacific Coast Highway
Malibu, CA 90263

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/25/2020
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 8105

APSA
Rank: Program Assistant, Academic & Professional Development (Part-Time)

The American Political Science Association (APSA) seeks a candidate to fill a part-time position within its Academic & Professional Development department. The Program Assistant will provide administrative and organizational support to the Director of Teaching & Learning in three primary program areas: teaching and learning, professional development, and departmental services. A central goal of these progress is to increase engagement with and support for a diverse collection of members from a variety of backgrounds, areas of specialty and institution types, and to create an overall environment of inclusivity.
Thus, strong candidates will have experience working with diverse populations, and will provide evidence of being committed to furthering a climate of inclusivity and collaboration. In addition, the Assistant will gain valuable project management experience in several emerging programmatic areas, communicate with leading political scientists in the field, and provide a key support role in furthering APSA’s mission to “support excellence in scholarship and teaching and informed discourse about politics, policy, and civic parcipation.” APSA is seeking a high-energy team player with initiative, a strong work ethic, and the ability to easily collaborate with several association departments and political scientists from a wide array of education and professional institutions. The position is based in Washington, DC, but currently remote.

STATUS
Part-time, non-exempt

REPORTING RELATIONSHIP
Reports to the Director of Teaching and Learning

SUPERVISION EXERCISED
N/A

FLSA STATUS
This position is considered non-exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS
• Provide administrative and organizational support to Teaching and Learning, Professional Development, and Departmental Services • Communicate with members regarding questions about academic and professional development
• Programming
• Assist with planning and logistics for meetings, workshops, and conferences
• Work with marketing and communications team to ensure regular communications regarding program areas and relevant deadlines
• Maintain databases of event applicants
• Update webpages as needed

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: EXPERIENCE, KNOW-LEDGE, SKILL, AND ABILITY
• Experience working with diverse populations;
• Excellent organizational skills with high attention to detail and adherence to deadlines;
• Experience with administrative responsibilities, including processing reimbursements;
• Familiarity with virtual learning and professional development envirions and strategies;
• Adaptability and ability to work in a fast-paced team environment;
• Superb interpersonal skills that will contribute to a friendly but highly professional environment;
• Sound judgment and initiative related to independent action and problem-solving;
• Ability to write clearly and concisely;
• Ability to maintain confidentiality while working on sensitive tasks;
• Knowledge of organizational databases;
The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 13, 2021. The successful candidate will become one of the faculty members in the Department of Political Science with primary teaching responsibilities in the Security Studies program. He/she will be expected to teach at both the graduate and undergraduate levels in the classroom and online. The assigned teaching load will be a 3:2. Service to the university, community and profession is expected.

A PhD in Political Science and Government, Homeland Security, International Relations and National Security Studies, International/Global Studies, or Peace Studies and Conflict Resolution. The position is open in terms of regional or issue-area specialization within the broader security-related context. ABD candidates must provide documented evidence of dissertation defense and completion of study prior to hire. It is expected that ABD applicants will have the degree conferred by August 13, 2021. Candidates with Ph.D. conferred at the time of initial appointment will hold the rank of Assistant Professor upon initial appointment. ABD candidates will also be initially appointed with the probationary term rank of Assistant Professor and must have the terminal degree conferred prior to their first reappointment. Qualifying degrees must be conferred from appropriately accredited institutions.

Given the department’s current needs, preference will be given to candidates who have experience (educational, teaching, and/or research) in international security and national security policy. Teaching experience at the graduate and undergraduate levels, as well as distance education is strongly preferred.

To apply, complete a candidate profile and submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, statements of research interests and teaching experience/philosophy, unofficial transcripts and a writing sample online at https://ecu.peopleadmin.com/. Candidates will add the names of 3 recommenders in the PeopleAdmin interface. Candidates should be aware that recommenders will be contacted through PeopleAdmin and asked to upload their letters through that interface. Letters of reference submitted via the PeopleAdmin applicant tracking system will be verified and considered towards meeting this requirement. Official transcripts are required upon employment. Review of applications will begin on October 23, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions should be directed to: Dr. Marie Olson Lounsbury, Chair, Security Studies Search Committee, Department of Political Science, (olsonlounsbury@ecu.edu).

In order to be considered for this position, applicants must complete a candidate profile online via the PeopleAdmin system and submit any requested documents. Additionally, applicants that possess the preferred education and experience must also possess the minimum education/experience, if applicable.

Apply here at: http://ecu.peopleadmin.com/postings/37859

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/23/2020
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8092

U.S. Air War College, Dept. of International Security Studies
Rank: Professor of International Security
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Air War College Department of International Security Studies invites candidates to apply for a faculty position in the field of national security studies, with an emphasis on space, new domains, and technology. The primary purpose of the position is to teach and develop curriculum on U.S. national and international security for the AWC West Space Seminar. Specialties in the political science subfields of international relations and/or comparative politics are desired, though candidates with space-related focus in other fields and sub-fields (e.g. American politics, Strategic Studies, and History) will be given strong consideration. The possible starting dates are between January and July 2021. Applications are due October 13, 2020.

Academic rank is open but the focus is for appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. This position requires university-equivalent teaching experience (graduate-level preferred) and a suitable academic publication record. Responsibilities include: teaching and developing curriculum for the West Space Seminar; teaching electives in the applicant’s area(s) of specialization; advising student research; and service to the institution. Teaching duties approximate a 2/2 teaching load per academic year.

The Air War College provides a dynamic and academic environment for teaching and research. The in-residence program offers master’s degrees and senior-level professional military education to U.S. military officers, civilian government officials, and to military officers from more than 40 nations. The West Space Seminar offers the opportunity to shape and develop curriculum for future senior leaders of the new U.S. Space Force.

The Air War College contains a diverse faculty of security studies experts engaged in rigorous academic research on critical issues in contemporary security debates. It is a leading contributor of national security thought for leaders across the U.S. Government, and highly encourages policy-relevant scholarship by its faculty. It is located at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, AL.

The position is an Administratively Determined (AD) civil service position, which means that faculty rank comparable to that in civilian universities is assigned to civilian faculty members. The selected candidate will be offered a three year appointment with a probationary first year. This appointment is not renewable. Applicants must hold U.S. citizenship and possess or be able to obtain a Top Secret-SCI security clearance.

Air University is committed to building a culturally diverse and inclusive educational environment. We are dedicated to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty committed to inclusive teaching and scholarship. Prospective candidates must engender a climate that values and uses diversity in all its forms to enrich debate and make the institution more inclusive. Applicants should address how they will further these goals in a diversity statement attached to their cover letter. This statement should include teaching, life experience and/or research interests that contribute to a climate that values and promotes diversity in all its forms.

While open positions are advertised in various publications, including the American Political Science EJobs, applicants must submit their application through USAJobs either online or via mail. The link to the advertisement and application can be found here: https://www.usajobs.gov/Search/Results?k=578661100

Candidates should submit a cover letter, diversity statement, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references.

If candidates prefer to not use the online feature, they can send their resume, or Optional Form 612, along with other required documents to 42 FSS/FSMC, 50 Lemay Plaza South, Building 804, Attn: Air War College faculty position, Maxwell AFB AL 36112-6334. The OF-612 can be accessed through the Office of personnel Management’s web site at www.usajobs.opm.gov.

For more information, contact Colonel Douglas Drake, U.S. Space Force, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427; douglas.drake@us.af.mil. Or contact Dr. Chris Hemmer, Dean, Air War College, 325 Chennault Circle, Maxwell AFB, AL, 36112-6427. Phone 334-953-7099, email christopher.hemmer@us.af.mil.

Start Date: Summer 2021

Application Deadline: 10/13/2020

Date Posted: 9/24/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8097

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor-Tenure System

Assistant Professor-Tenure System

The Education Policy program within the Department of Educational Administration seeks one 9-month, tenure-track assistant professor who specializes in policy implementation. We are looking for a new colleague who shares our program’s commitment to contributing rigorous empirical research to local, state, national, and international policy conversations. In particular, we seek a colleague who will diversify our current faculty’s strengths and areas of research.

We seek applicants who utilize qualitative or mixed methodological approaches to address policy implementation questions. Applicants must have a strong record of scholarship and teaching that focuses on the policy process, policy implementation, and educational equity and who specialize in K-12 or higher education policy. Priority will be placed on applicants whose scholarship (1) address issues of equity and adequacy in implementation, (2) engages a range of policy stakeholders including policy makers, district/school/institutional leaders, and local, state, and national organizations focused on improving education, and (3) examines policies and practices that are critical to current and ongoing policy conversations.

This position will support our program’s goal to increase our focus on implementation. Beginning in the 2021-2022 school year we will be offering a new concentration in education science with a key component rooted in policy implementation. The new faculty member will participate in the development of a new IES-funded interdisciplinary doctoral training program in education policy implementation and efficacy and will mentor students from across the university who participate in the program.

The department is particularly interested in candidates who have experience working with diversity, equity, and inclusion in education and demonstrated commitment to improving educational outcomes for all students.

Our nationally ranked program is home to 7 faculty members and approximately 30 doctoral students pursuing a wide range of questions related to education policy. The Education Policy faculty includes a number of prominent national and international leaders who are excited to support an early career colleague to be a highly successful policy scholar and teacher. The Education Policy program is housed in MSU’s acclaimed Department of Educational Administration.
alongside programs in in K-12 Educational Administration and Higher, Adult, and Lifelong Education. Situated in an institution committed to access and outreach, Education Policy faculty and students are deeply committed to addressing local, state, national, and international educational policy. Building on our collective strengths, we seek to add a new and unique voice to our program.

Required Degree: Doctorate

Minimum Requirements:
• Earned doctoral degree prior to start date and a record of accomplishments consistent with appointment as an assistant professor at a research-intensive institution.
• Doctorate in education policy, public policy, public administration, political science, sociology, implementation sciences, or other related field.
• Record of or potential for an outstanding scholarly publication record.
• Ability to mentor doctoral students in the area of implementation research, specifically in collaboration with external stakeholders.
• Strong methodological training in and ability to teach graduate level qualitative methods including at least one or more of: case studies, interviewing, or process tracing.
• Ability to teach graduate level courses in education policy, policy implementation, and policy evaluation.
• A research agenda that promotes equitable educational opportunities for all students, especially those historically marginalized by institutions of education and by policy.
• Collaboration skills and willingness to work on a new IES grant-funded doctoral training program in education science.

Desired Qualifications
• Experience working with a range of education stakeholders on policy related issues.
• Strong methodological training in and ability to teach mixed methods including, but not limited to, survey development and analysis and mediation analyses.
• Record of or potential for grant supported research.
• Experience working with research-policy or research-practice partnerships.

Required Application Materials:
Online application via careers.msu.edu is required, see posting #673144. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, an empirical writing sample that is relevant to the position as outlined in the call, and names and contact information of three references.

Special Instructions:
We invite inquiries from potentially interested candidates to any of the search committee members:
Rebecca Jacobsen, Co-chair (Associate Professor of Education Policy), rjacobs@msu.edu
Katharine Strunk, Co-chair (Clifford E. Erickson Distinguished Professor of Education Policy and, by courtesy, Economics), kstrunk@msu.edu
Terah Venzant Chambers (Professor of Educational Administration and Associate Dean for Equity and Inclusion), terah@msu.edu
Scott Imberman (Professor of Economics and Education Policy), imberman@msu.edu Sarah Reckhow (Associate Professor of Political Science), reckhow@msu.edu

Kris Renn (Professor of Higher, Adult, and Lifelong Learning and Associate Dean of Undergraduate Studies for Student Success Research), renn@msu.edu
Sandy Frost Waldron (PhD Student in Education Policy), waldro41@msu.edu John Yun (Associate Professor of Educational Administration), jyun@msu.edu

Michigan State University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Michigan State University is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8088

Harvard University
Rank: Fellow-in-Residence

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2021-22 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” The COVID-19 pandemic has delivered a shock to the nations of the world. Variations in national responses and experiments with economic and health policies have implicitly revealed different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other). In the United States, the experience of the pandemic has been defined by failures of governance, leadership, and technocratic expertise. These failures have led to the stark exposure of underlying health inequities, along with the broad social vulnerability for individuals, and the polity generally, that flows from inequality. The centrality of care provision to our economy and social well-being has also been brought to the fore, made visible by the sudden disappearance of structures like schools that have come to provide so much of the care and services of the social safety net in the United States. Restrictions on international travel, the fracturing of global supply chains, rationing of medical supplies, and attempts to develop a vaccine all call into question the social compact at a global level. While much innovation in political philosophy, political economy, and public policy has been in development for the last decade, since the global financial crisis, the pandemic presents an occasion for harvesting the fruits of that work with the goal of articulating the foundations of a new social compact. We invite applications connected to any dimension of this thematic description.

All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners. Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic has resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. If the public health crisis continues, we will consider a waiver for the 2021-22 academic year, but our hope is to return to in-person, residential programming by September 2021.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following Centers; we continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:

- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and our partnering Center.

ELIGIBILITY
Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND
Faculty: We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Docs: The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2021-22. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioners: Practitioner stipends will be determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS
To apply, you will need to complete an online application form, found at ethics.harvard.edu/fellows-in-residence, which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program (suggested length 1-2 pages or 850 words)
- CV
- Research proposal (suggested length 3-5 pages or 2,500 words)
- Recent writing sample (suggested length under 30 pages or 7,000 words)
- Names and contact information of three professional references (letters are not accepted until a candidate reaches a later stage of the process)

The deadline for submitting this application is November 16, 2020. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Should you have any questions regarding this application process, please send an email to EJSafaFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/16/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8081

Harvard University

Rank: Fellow-in-Residence

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2021-22 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” The COVID-19 pandemic has delivered a shock to the nations of the world. Variations in national responses and experiments with economic and health policies have implicitly revealed different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other). In the United States, the experience of the pandemic has been defined by failures of governance, leadership, and technocratic expertise. These failures have led to the stark exposure of underlying health inequities, along with the broad social vulnerability for individuals, and the polity generally, that flows from inequality. The centrality of care provision to our economy and social well-being has also been brought to the fore, made visible by the sudden disappearance of structures like schools that have come to provide so much of the care and services of the social safety net in the United States. Restrictions on international travel, the fracturing of global supply chains, rationing of medical supplies, and attempts to develop a vaccine all call into question the social compact at a global level. While much innovation in political philosophy, political economy, and public policy has been in development for the last decade, since the global financial crisis, the pandemic presents an occasion for harvesting the fruits of that work with the goal of articulating the foundations of a new social compact. We invite applications connected to any dimension of this thematic description.

All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners.
Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic has resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. If the public health crisis continues, we will consider a waiver for the 2021-22 academic year, but our hope is to return to in-person, residential programming by September 2021.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following Centers; we continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:
- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and our partnering Center.

ELIGIBILITY
Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND
Faculty: We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.
Post-Docs: The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2021-22. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.
Practitioners: Practitioner stipends will be determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS
To apply, you will need to complete an online application form, found at ethics.harvard.edu/fellows-in-residence, which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:
- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program (suggested length 1-2 pages or 850 words)
- CV
- Research proposal (suggested length 3-5 pages or 2,500 words)
- Recent writing sample (suggested length under 30 pages or 7,000 words)
- Names and contact information of three professional references (letters are not accepted until a candidate reaches a later stage of the process)

The deadline for submitting this application is November 16, 2020. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Should you have any questions regarding this application process, please send an email to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8082

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse - UT1
Rank: Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Faculty position in POLITICAL SCIENCE (Political Economy, Comparative Politics & Quantitative Methods)
The Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse (IAST) and the University of Toulouse Capitole, France, invite applications from political scientists for Faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenured/tenure track), in the fields of political economy, comparative politics, and quantitative methods.

We seek candidates with a strong research background in analytical and quantitative political science, and good teaching skills. Candidates should be able to lead research programs drawing on the IAST’s substantial interdisciplinary resources, including particularly though not only the proximity of a strong group in economics at the Toulouse School of Economics.

Research interests close to those already developed at the IAST/ Toulouse School of Economics would be highly appreciated, including: public opinion and public policies, comparative studies of democratic institutions, political economy of development, experimental political science, to cite a few.

RANK: Open rank. SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: For assistant professor position: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field. Knowledge of French is NOT required.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1st, 2021, with academic year beginning September 2021.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The Trilateral Commission

Rank: Research Project Director: Trilateral Commission Initiative on Rethinking Capitalism and the Future of Market-Based Economies

The Trilateral Commission is searching for a director for a new initiative on the future of capitalism and market-based economies.

The initiative will examine whether and in what ways market-based economies and capitalist systems should change to better promote inclusive, prosperous, democratic societies. The project will be comprised of several components, including an international task force on the future of market-based/capitalist societies that will launch in fall 2020. The task force will be led by three prominent co-chairs, one each from North America, Europe, and Asia, and will include experts from government, business, and other intellectual centers across the three geographies. The members will consider an array of topics, generate issue-specific papers, and produce a final, landmark report with specific recommendations. The final report will draw on the experiences of countries from around the world that vary in their balance among government, business, and society.

Working closely with the co-chairs and the Commission leadership, the project director will have primary responsibility for shaping and helping to execute the task force’s intellectual agenda. This will involve commissioning and potentially drafting portions of the various issue-specific papers, conducting background research, disseminating information to members, organizing working group meetings, ensuring that key milestones are met in a timely fashion, and handling expenses associated with the project. The director will draft the landmark report, based on task force deliberations and member input, and ensure a final product that is both reflective of the group’s thinking and includes a clear set of recommendations.

The director will be welcomed at, expected to attend, and potentially participate in the Commission’s regular meetings. Each group (North America, Europe, and Asia) holds an annual regional meeting and the Commission as a whole convenes annually for a meeting that rotates among the three geographies.

TO APPLY: Applications should be sent to info.researchpositions@iast.fr with the message heading "Application for Faculty Position in Political Science" and must include, in pdf format: letter of application, curriculum vitae, 2-4 samples of written work, research statement, and teaching evaluations if available. Applicants for an assistant professor position should ask 3 referees to submit confidential letters of reference by the deadline to the same address. Inquiries can also be sent to that address.

IAST is committed to equal opportunities in recruitment and scientific practice.

More information on the Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse, the University of Toulouse Capitole and the Toulouse School of Economics:

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/30/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8072

The Trilateral Commission

Relevant qualifications include a post-graduate degree, either a masters degree or a recent PhD, and some track record working on or publishing about the future of capitalism. The director must be comfortable working with people from a wide variety of backgrounds, be a superb project manager, have a collaborative work style, and be at ease working both on intellectual substance and logistical elements. In the latter, the director will have a close working relationship with the North American coordinator of the Trilateral Commission.

For the foreseeable future, the bulk of the work of the director and the task force will take place virtually, and there are no set residency requirements. Conditions permitting, it is likely that the director will travel in order to consult with co-chairs and members and to facilitate some in-person meetings.

The position is initially for one calendar year and is envisioned to be part-time. There is a strong possibility of renewal after one year, as the remit of the project grows. The salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Candidates should submit a resume, including contact information; a cover letter; an analytical writing sample of 20 pages or less; and names, titles, and contact information for three references. This material should be emailed to Cassandra Favart, Coordinator for the North America Trilateral Commission, at cfavart@trilateral.org. The Commission will be accepting applications until October 15, 2020, with interviews for the position commencing shortly afterward with an aim to fill the position by early November.

About the Trilateral Commission

The Commission is a global membership organization that for decades has brought together senior policymakers, business leaders, and representatives of media and academe to discuss and propose solutions to some of the world’s toughest problems. Founded in 1973, the Commission has for decades served as an important venue to incubate ideas and build relationships across sectors and the geographies of North America, Europe, and Asia. The countries represented in the Commission and its individual members share common values and a commitment to the rule of law, open economies and societies, and democratic principles. Traditionally focused on geopolitical trends and challenges, the Commission recently widened its aperture to also examine issues that affect the ability of individual countries to play traditional leadership roles in the international system.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8075

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for the position of Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy. We seek a highly visible individual who is deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thinking and policymaking, or both. Thus, applications will be welcome from the academic, policy, military, and media communities, among others. The term of the appointment is variable, with a minimum of two to a maximum of four semesters. The position begins in August 2021.

The University of Colorado Boulder is committed to building a culturally diverse community of faculty, staff, and students dedicated to contributing to an inclusive campus environment. We are an Equal Opportunity employer, including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

The Visiting Scholar will continue an open and vigorous dialogue on campus featuring the principles of conservatism in historical and contemporary contexts. The successful candidate will receive a senior professorial appointment, without tenure, in the College of Arts and Sciences. Specific duties include teaching undergraduate courses, delivering public lectures, and organizing visiting speakers and events.

What We Require
-Candidates are expected to have a PhD at the time of appointment.

What You Will Need
-Candidates are expected to be highly visible scholars who are deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thinking and policymaking or both.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled Date Posted: 9/17/2020 Salary: Negotiable eJobs ID: 8064

University of Notre Dame
Rank: Faculty Position in Human Rights

The University of Notre Dame’s Keough School of Global Affairs is searching for an outstanding scholar of human rights. The Keough School is a multidisciplinary, policy-oriented school of global affairs whose efforts in research, teaching, and service are dedicated to the advancement of integral human development. https://keough.nd.edu. As the Keough School expands its curricular programs, teaching and scholarship grounded in research that addresses normative approaches to human rights as well as policies for their protection is paramount. The successful applicant will have an interest and strong record in teaching undergraduate students.

Depending on the qualifications of the applicant, the position may be tenure track, rank open, or non-tenure track regular faculty, rank open. Applicants may come from a variety of professional backgrounds and disciplines, including the social sciences (e.g., sociology, political science, anthropology) or humanities (e.g., history, theology). Applicants whose work is truly global in scope, considering both the United States and the international sphere, are particularly encouraged to apply. Applicants should have an interest in interdisciplinary collaboration as well as policy-related fieldwork or experience. A Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree is required at the time of appointment. The successful candidate will be part of the Keough School of Global Affairs and closely affiliated with its Klaau Center for Civil and Human Rights https://klaau.nd.edu/the-center/. Joint or concurrent appointments in the appropriate University departments are possible.

Candidates for this position are asked to submit a letter of interest and a CV. Junior candidates (ABD, postdoc, assistant professors) should also submit a teaching statement, which includes available teaching evaluations. Application materials should be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: http://apply.interfolio.com/78788.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:
Prof. Jennifer Mason McAward
Chair, Human Rights Search Committee
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
mason.1@nd.edu

Start Date: Fall 2021 Application Deadline: 11/15/2020 Date Posted: 9/17/2020 Salary: Competitive eJobs ID: 8060

University of Oslo
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow/Assistant Professor on Autocratic Politics

Job description

The Department of Political Science wants to recruit 2 excellent social scientists with a background from Political Science or closely related fields such as Economics or Sociology. The successful applicants will work full time as a Postdoctoral Fellow (Assistant Professor). One successful applicant will work on the ERC Consolidator Grant project ‘The Emergence, Life, and Demise of Autocratic Regimes’ (ELDAR). The other successful applicant will work on the Research Council Norway FRIPRO project ‘Policies of Dictatorships’ (PoD). Both appointments are for a fixed, non-tenured term of 4 years with a 25% requirement for teaching. This means that 75% of the working time over four years is devoted to research.

ELDAR will investigate three aspects of autocratic politics: 1) the emergence of autocratic regimes; 2) policy-making (“life”) in autocracies in the areas of education, infrastructure and industrial policy, social policies, and media regulation; 3) autocratic regime breakdown. In doing so, ELDAR will address the preferences and capacities of vital actors in autocratic politics — the leader, regime support groups, and mobilized opposition groups. Team members will also study the specific, and diverse, institutions that underpin autocracies.

PoD will investigate specific contents of policies pursued in dictatorships, and consider the origins and effects of such policies on regime stability and change. Specifically, it covers three areas: 1. policies and strategies for repressing domestic actors; 2. security policies and decisions on interstate war and peace; and 3. cooptation policies in the areas of construction, higher education, and labor market regulation and social policies.

The projects are led by Professor Carl Henrik Knutsen. ELDAR runs from 2020-2025 and PoD from 2020-2024. Both projects will be part of the Department’s internationally leading research group on Comparative Institutions and Regimes (CIR). We encourage applicants to read about the projects and project teams in the two project proposals: ELDAR proposal; PoD proposal.

The main purpose of the fellowship is to qualify researchers for work in higher academic positions within their disciplines.

Qualification requirements

Political Science Jobs
A comprehensive assessment of the applicant’s scientific qualifications forms the basis of appointment. Applicants must hold a degree equivalent to a Norwegian doctoral degree (Ph.D) in Political Science or a closely related discipline before taking up the post. For applicants who have yet to receive their PhD degree, the Doctoral dissertation must have been submitted for evaluation before the application deadline (October 15, 2020). Such applicants should note the date of submission of their PhD in the cover letter. Appointment is dependent on the public defense of the doctoral thesis being approved.

Candidates with a record of a high-quality publication, especially in a leading peer-reviewed international journal, will be prioritized. However, the length of the applicant’s research career (discounted for parental leave, etc.) will be taken into account when considering the number of such publications: The intention is to recruit the person that has the best prospects for contributing to the project’s research outputs by publishing research of the highest quality over the coming 4-year period.

The candidate should, in the cover letter (maximum 2 pages), briefly explain how his/her research profile and agenda will contribute to the overall goals of one or both of the projects, including one or more of the suggested datasets or papers outlined in the research proposals (links above). The applicant should further detail additional suggested contributions in the form of one or two research ideas in an accompanying research proposal (maximum 2 pages). Applicants should note in the cover letter which project (ELDAR or PoD) they are primarily interested in being hired on, but all applicants will be considered for both positions.

While not necessary, candidates with prior research experience on one or more of the topics covered in ELDAR or PoD will be at an advantage. Applicants with formal modelling or methods skills relevant for the projects (see project proposals) will have an advantage.

Other desired qualifications and experiences include experiences with previous systematic data collection efforts, either in individual or collective projects, strong administrative and organizational skills, very good command of English, and programming and statistical software skills. Finally, the applicants’ teaching experiences and qualifications and personal suitability for the position will be taken into consideration.

Postdoctoral fellows who are appointed for a period of four years are expected to acquire “basic pedagogical competency” in the course of their fellowship period within the teaching duty component of 25 %.

We offer

Salary according to "SKO 1352 postdoktor", pay grade 59-67, NOK 523 200-605 500 per year (approx. 52 000 – 61 000 Euro) budget for travel and research assistance (currently NOK 45 000 per year). Staff can apply for additional research support from the department and faculty, an academically stimulating and international working environment a friendly and inclusive workplace a good pension scheme through the Norwegian Public Service Pension Fund

A good work-life balance and access to Norway’s excellent public services and welfare schemes, including generous parental leave provisions and affordable and accessible childcare

Postdocs can acquire pedagogical competency https://www.uio.no/link/english/academic-development/index.html
Female postdocs can take part in the UiO Mentorprogram for female postdocs https://www.uio.no/english/for-employees/competence/gender-equality/mentoring-programme/

How to apply

The application must include the following items:

A cover letter (max 2 pages, incl. statement of motivation, summarizing research interests, and how the applicant will contribute to ELDAR and/or PoD)
A project description (max 2 pages; if cover letter and project description are merged, the maximum is 4 pages)
A CV summarizing education, positions, pedagogical experience, administrative experience, and other qualifying activities
A complete list of publications
Copies of educational certificates (academic transcripts only)
Up to 3 academic works that the applicant wishes to be considered due to their quality or relevance for the projects. The 3 works should include at least one single-authored piece and at least one published journal article.
List of reference persons: 2 or 3 references (name, relation to candidate, e-mail, and phone number)
The application with attachments must be delivered via our electronic recruiting system. Foreign applicants are advised to attach an explanation of their University’s grading system. Please note that all documents should be in English.

The application deadline is 15 October 2020. The screening and evaluation of the candidates will begin immediately and a short-list will be ready in late November. Interviews will be held in December. The positions will be awarded from January 2021.

We aim to increase the diversity of backgrounds in our staff. We especially encourage female researchers to apply.

Formal regulations

Please see the guidelines and regulations for appointments to Postdoctoral fellowships at the University of Oslo.

No one can be appointed for more than one Postdoctoral fellowship period at the University of Oslo.

According to the Norwegian Freedom of Information Act (Offentleg-lova) information about the applicant may be included in the public applicant list, also in cases where the applicant has requested non-disclosure.

The University of Oslo has an agreement for all employees, aiming to secure rights to research results etc.

The University of Oslo aims to achieve a balanced gender composition in the workforce and to recruit people with ethnic minority backgrounds.

Contact information

PI of ELDAR and PoD and Research Group Leader CIR, Prof. Carl Henrik Knutsen, phone nr: +47 228 54244, e-mail: c.h.knutsen@stv.uio.no

Please also feel free to contact any of the other project members if you have questions pertaining to specific sections of the project, as outlined in the project proposal.
The U.S. Army War College is located in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, a small, historic town 20 miles west of Harrisburg. It is within an easy drive of a wide range of recreational, artistic, and shopping opportunities. Local public schools are considered very good.

Qualifications. Required qualifications for this position include: (1) master’s degree in geography, demography, or in national security studies, international relations, government, political science, history, regional studies with work relating to political (human) geography; (2) record of scholarly research and publication-or evidence of great potential for same-in areas relevant to political geography or demography; (3) Refined oral and written communication skills, including the ability to serve as a project team lead for collective research projects or as a student advisor for written research projects; (4) established record of teaching demography or political geography at the undergraduate level and (5) possession of, or eligibility for, a Top Secret security clearance. Security clearances shall be authorized only to U.S. citizens. Only candidates who demonstrate all of the required qualifications will be considered.

Desired qualifications include: (1) PhD or equivalent evidence of extensive original scholarly research and writing is strongly preferred; (2) experience in the military, government service, or some other strategy-related profession; (3) Subject teaching experience at the graduate or Senior Service College level is preferred.

This appointment may be made at the assistant, associate, or full professor level. Salary is competitive. Research professors are excepted service government employees with renewable contracts averaging three years. The first year of service is probationary.

This job announcement will be released in September 2020 through USAJobs. Applications must be submitted in accordance with the instructions outlined on the USAJobs website: https://www.usajobs.gov/

For additional information or questions, applicants may contact the Director, SSI Research Department, U.S. Army War College, Carlisle, PA:

Colonel George Shatzer
george.r.shatzer.mil@mail.mil
(717) 245-4125

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8041

The U.S. Army War College’s Strategic Studies Institute (SSI) seeks an expert on political geography and demography to join one of the most dynamic think tanks in the national security research field and help inform and shape U.S. national and defense policy.

The successful candidate for this position will serve as a resident research professor of national security affairs. The responsibilities will be to research, analyze, and publish studies, organize collaborative research groups, conferences, and seminars, and serve as a subject matter expert for the U.S. Army War College and the Department of the Army on political demography and geography as related to U.S. national security. SSI research professors also publish widely through external professional and academic outlets and provide presentations to a wide range of military and civilian audiences.

Research professors design their research and publication agenda in consultation with SSI leadership and, at times, respond to specific strategic research requests. While research, analysis, publication, and collaboration are the primary responsibilities, the successful candidate will also have the opportunity to contribute to the War College’s education mission by developing courseware, teaching classes and seminars, and advising student research projects. Research professors have extensive resources available. In addition to the excellent Army War College library and online sources, research professors draw on the assets of Washington, DC, and undertake regular trips to their region.

The U.S. Army War College is located in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, a small, historic town 20 miles west of Harrisburg. It is within an easy drive of a wide range of recreational, artistic, and shopping opportunities. Local public schools are considered very good.

Qualifications. Required qualifications for this position include: (1) master’s degree in geography, demography, or in national security studies, international relations, government, political science, history, regional studies with work relating to political (human) geography; (2) record of scholarly research and publication—or evidence of great potential for same—in areas relevant to political geography or demography; (3) Refined oral and written communication skills, including the ability to serve as a project team lead for collective research projects or as a student advisor for written research projects; (4) established record of teaching demography or political geography at the undergraduate level and (5) possession of, or eligibility for, a Top Secret security clearance. Security clearances shall be authorized only to U.S. citizens. Only candidates who demonstrate all of the required qualifications will be considered.

Desired qualifications include: (1) PhD or equivalent evidence of extensive original scholarly research and writing is strongly preferred; (2) experience in the military, government service, or some other strategy-related profession; (3) Subject teaching experience at the graduate or Senior Service College level is preferred.

This appointment may be made at the assistant, associate, or full professor level. Salary is competitive. Research professors are excepted service government employees with renewable contracts averaging three years. The first year of service is probationary.

This job announcement will be released in September 2020 through USAJobs. Applications must be submitted in accordance with the instructions outlined on the USAJobs website: https://www.usajobs.gov/

For additional information or questions, applicants may contact the Director, SSI Research Department, U.S. Army War College, Carlisle, PA:

Colonel George Shatzer
george.r.shatzer.mil@mail.mil
(717) 245-4125

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8041

The U.S. Army War College’s Strategic Studies Institute (SSI) seeks an expert on political geography and demography to join one of the most dynamic think tanks in the national security research field and help inform and shape U.S. national and defense policy.

The successful candidate for this position will serve as a resident research professor of national security affairs. The responsibilities will be to research, analyze, and publish studies, organize collaborative research groups, conferences, and seminars, and serve as a subject matter expert for the U.S. Army War College and the Department of the Army on technology as related to U.S. national security. SSI research professors also publish widely through external professional and academic outlets and provide presentations to a wide range of military and civilian audiences.
Research professors design their research and publication agenda in consultation with SSI leadership and, at times, respond to specific strategic research requests. While research, analysis, publication, and collaboration are the primary responsibilities, the successful candidate will also have the opportunity to contribute to the War College’s education mission by developing courseware, teaching classes and seminars, and advising student research projects. Research professors have extensive resources available. In addition to the excellent Army War College library and online sources, research professors draw on the assets of Washington, DC, and undertake regular trips to their region.
The U.S. Army War College is located in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, a small, historic town 20 miles west of Harrisburg. It is within an easy drive of a wide range of recreational, artistic, and shopping opportunities. Local public schools are considered very good.
Qualifications. Required qualifications for this position include: (1)
Ph.D. or equivalent in computer science, information technology, technology and public policy, engineering, political science, or another field strongly related to the intersection of technology and national security; (2) record of scholarly research and publication—or evidence of great potential for the same—in one or more of the areas mentioned previously; (3) Refined oral and written communication skills, and the ability to explain concepts, theories, and recommendations to non-specialists; (4) Ability to form, lead, and participate in cross-fuctional research and analysis project teams; (5) possession of, or eligibility for, a Top Secret security clearance. Security clearances shall be authorized only to U.S. citizens. Only candidates who demonstrate all of the required qualifications will be considered.
Desired qualifications include: (1) Masters or equivalent evidence of extensive original scholarly research and writing is strongly preferred;
(2) expertise in one or more of the following: Artificial Intelligence, cybersecurity, autonomous systems, cyber operations, robotics, human-machine teaming, nanotechnology, biotechnology, electronic warfare, and/or the technology industry; (3) experience in the military, government service, or some other strategy-related profession.
This appointment may be made at the associate, or full professor level. Salary is competitive. Research professors are excepted service government employees with renewable contracts averaging three years. The first year of service is probationary.
This job announcement will be released in September 2020 through USAJobs. Applications must be submitted in accordance with the instructions outlined on the USAJobs website: https://www.usajobs.
gov/
For additional information or questions, applicants may contact the Director, SSI Research Department, U.S. Army War College, Carlisle, PA.: Colonel George Shatzer george.r.shatzer.mil@mail.mil
(717) 245-4125
Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8043

Brown University
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Philosophy
The Philosophy Department invites applications for one position, tenured or tenure track, effective July 2021. AOS: Political philosophy, philosophy of social science, philosophy of economics, philosophical political economy, philosophy of rational choice theory, or related areas. AOC: Open. Graduate and undergraduate teaching, with the usual advising and administrative responsibilities. The successful candidate will also be a member of Brown’s Political Theory Project, which is committed to diverse approaches to conceptual problems, including both normative and empirical interests, concerning policies and practices, ideas and institutions that make societies free, prosperous, and fair. Interests in political economy and interdisciplinary research are therefore desiderata for this position. We seek candidates who contribute to diversity and/or have demonstrated support for diversity and inclusion through their teaching and research. Candidates are asked to include in their teaching dossier a statement of how their teaching is designed with an eye to contributing to an inclusive educational environment. A similar contribution from one’s research can also be cited if relevant. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2020.
Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8039

Brown University
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Philosophy
The Philosophy Department invites applications for one position, tenured or tenure track, effective July 2021. AOS: Political philosophy, philosophy of social science, philosophy of economics, philosophical political economy, philosophy of rational choice theory, or related areas. AOC: Open. Graduate and undergraduate teaching, with the usual advising and administrative responsibilities. The successful candidate will also be a member of Brown’s Political Theory Project, which is committed to diverse approaches to conceptual problems,
including both normative and empirical interests, concerning policies and practices, ideas and institutions that make societies free, prosperous, and fair. Interests in political economy and interdisciplinary research are therefore desiderata for this position. We seek candidates who contribute to diversity and/or have demonstrated support for diversity and inclusion through their teaching and research. Candidates are asked to include in their teaching dossier a statement of how their teaching is designed with an eye to contributing to an inclusive educational environment. A similar contribution from one’s research can also be cited if relevant. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2020.
Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8040

Stanford University
Rank: Faculty Position (scholars who study race in American society)
Specializations: African American Politics, American Politics,
Race & Ethnic Politics
The Department of Political Science at Stanford invites applications for an open rank, tenure line, position for scholars who study race in American society. This search is part of a university-wide initiative in which Stanford seeks to hire as many as 10 strong researchers and scholars who study the significance of race in American society, including the nature and persistence of racial inequality and its consequences. Stanford seeks to support, deepen, and enhance the important research and teaching in these areas long underway on our campus. Appointments may be made in the following schools and departments: Stanford Law School, Stanford Graduate School of Business, Stanford Graduate School of Education, and the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Economics, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, Philosophy, History, and Religious Studies. Rank is open, although a majority of the appointments are expected to be made at the assistant professor level. At the senior level, we are particularly interested in candidates with an active program of research in progress and for established scholars to have outstanding records of achievement in developing or using innovative approaches in the broad areas of their discipline. A strong commitment to excellent teaching is essential.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 but the department may consider applications after this date. Candidates are invited to apply online via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16835 with a cover letter describing academic background and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, samples of recent scholarship and a research statement of no more than three pages. Applicants for a non-tenured position should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted directly online by October 15, 2020.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 9/9/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8038

Stanford University
Rank: Professor of Political Science & MLK Institute Director
Specializations: African American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics

FACULTY POSITION AVAILABLE

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University seeks an outstanding senior scholar for a tenured professorship (associate or full) with expertise in race and racial justice in the U.S., civil rights, social movements, and/or African American politics. This scholar will also serve as the Faculty Director of The Martin Luther King, Jr. Research and Education Institute for a renewable five-year term.

The successful applicant will be expected to play a meaningful role in a department committed to dynamic teaching and to maintain a vibrant and productive scholarly research agenda. This scholar will provide intellectual, strategic and visionary leadership for the Institute. We welcome applications from scholars who are pursuing a wide range of projects that represent the broad diversity of the field of modern African American politics and racial justice. The position will be entirely located in the Political Science Department. The scholar will split time between teaching and research (50%) and directing the Institute (50%). If the directorship is not renewed after five years, the scholar’s teaching and research obligations will be to the Political Science Department at 100%.

The university views filling this position as an important opportunity to raise the profile of studies relating to race and racial justice on Stanford's campus. The successful candidate should bring a dynamic vision and leadership ability to Stanford.

Recognizing the crucial benefits that diversity contributes to our intellectual vitality, the university has embarked on significant initiatives to diversify its faculty, student body, and curriculum. We encourage applications from dedicated scholars eager to contribute to this mission.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16829.

Please submit a statement of interest that includes a description of academic background and teaching experience, curriculum vitae, and research statement of no more than three pages.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/8/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8036

Hamilton College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Government or Philosophy

The Government and Philosophy Departments at Hamilton College invite applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Instructor or Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2021. We seek candidates in philosophy or political theory with particular expertise in the normative, ontological, social, and/or political implications of digital technology. Priority will be given to candidates who can demonstrate successful collaboration and interdisciplinary thinking. We are open to candidates who can engage in any of the following areas of research: the ethical and ontological implications of artificial intelligence; the implications of artificial intelligence and Big Data for justice, privacy, and issues of inclusion, bias, and marginalization; the impact of digital technology on democratic values and discourses; transhumanism as a technological, normative, and political perspective; what digital technology and human-computer interactions mean for human identity and for individual rights and liberty; how digital technology centralizes or disperses political power; or how digital technology impacts our relationship with the natural world and our conception of environmental responsibility. Candidates are also expected to add pedagogically-appropriate digital technologies and applications in the classroom.

We seek candidates committed to fostering an inclusive, diverse community. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, although candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred. The teaching load for this position is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter.
Candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching portfolio, and writing sample via Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/78354. Applications should include evidence of commitment to or experience in teaching and working with diverse student populations, either in a cover letter or in a separate statement. We will solicit letters of reference from candidates who are selected to move on to the second stage of the search.

Questions regarding the search may be directed to Prof. Sharon Rivera (Government) or Prof. Russell Marcus (Philosophy), Search Committee Co-Chairs, at srivera@hamilton.edu or rmarcus1@hamilton.edu. Our review of applications will begin on November 1, 2020.

Hamilton (www.hamilton.edu) is a residential liberal arts college located in upstate New York. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings, as well as additional information, at https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). The position comes with a competitive salary and research and travel support.

Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and is committed to diversity in all areas of the campus community. Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits. Candidates from under-represented groups in higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8022

Leiden University
Rank: Assistant Professor in Global Transformations and Governance Challenges
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Other

Project description
Leiden University is investing over 1.4 million Euros in a new program on Global Transformations and the Citizen. The overall aim of this interdisciplinary research cluster is to combine research on global transformations (such as shifting multipolar world order, climate change, pandemics, and new information technologies) with research on governance responses to these challenges. The focus area of Leiden University on Global Transformations and Governance Challenges aims to deepen understanding of these complex processes, including their impacts on citizens and democracy.

In the context of this research cluster, Leiden’s Institute of Security and Global Affairs and Institute of Political Science seek to jointly recruit an Assistant Professor, who will work alongside the newly appointed Chair of Global Transformations and Governance Challenges (Professor Dr. Jan Aart Scholte) and an interdisciplinary research team in order to develop a set of innovative approaches to these problems.

Key responsibilities
Conducting research in the interdisciplinary area of Global Transformations and in close collaboration with the Chair of Global Transformation and Governance Challenges and the relevant Head of Research Groups at the Institute of Security and Global Affairs and the Institute of Political Science
Developing theory-driven empirical research addressing the main questions from the broad area of Global Transformations, Governance Challenges and the Citizen:
- How are global issues and cross-border movements changing citizen attitudes toward national sovereignty, democratic accountability, and the legitimacy of liberal democracy?
- How are changing public expectations affecting national governments’ attitudes toward international cooperation, global governance, and openness to cross-border movements?
- What concrete innovations are necessary to make global governance mechanisms more effective in addressing today’s cross-border issues while ensuring their democratic legitimacy at a time of declining trust in public institutions?
- How are familiar and emerging cross-border dynamics, as well as the rise of new world powers, challenging existing governance institutions at national and global levels?
Teaching two courses per year relevant to global transformations themes;
Co-organizing and contributing to activities of the Focus Area “Global Transformations” and the Leiden University Centre for International Relations (LUCIR).

Selection criteria
- PhD degree in Political Science, International Relations or a related academic area;
- Demonstrated affinity with the themes of the Global Transformations focus area;
- High quality international peer-reviewed publications appropriate to candidate’s career stage;
- Teaching experience and teaching skills appropriate to the candidate’s level of experience;
- Interest and ability to work in an interdisciplinary context;
- Ability to connect academic research to policy-oriented impact;
- Competence with quantitative methods is seen as a plus;
- Applicants must be able to teach in English.

Our organisation
Leiden University is one of Europe’s foremost research universities. It is the oldest university in the Netherlands, founded in February 1575, and currently ranks in the top 100 of most international rankings. The University has approximately 23,000 students and 4,000 staff members.

The Faculty of Governance and Global Affairs, located in The Hague– the International City of Peace and Justice– offers a range of other programs focused on international relations, security, international law and international organization. It also hosts the Leiden University College (LUC), an international honors college of Leiden University situated The Hague. Firmly rooted in the academic tradition, the Faculty of Governance and Global Affairs provides an inspiring and challenging education and research environment, with a strong interdisciplinary character and international orientation; it is a meeting place for students, scholars and professionals, a platform for innovation and entrepreneurship.

The Faculty of Social and Behavioural Sciences is located in Leiden and The Hague and comprises four institutes: Education and Child Studies, Political Science, Psychology and Cultural Anthropology & Development Sociology. The Faculty also includes the Centre for Science and Technology Studies. The Faculty is home to 5,000 students and 600 members of staff. Our teaching and research programmes cover diverse topics varying from adoption to political behaviour.
Terms and conditions
The position starts as soon as possible, preferably by January 2021. We offer a temporary contract of 3 years. Review for a permanent appointment may be possible during or after the term of the initial contract, depending on funding and performance. Salary range from 3,746.- to 5,127.- gross per month, depending on experience (pay scale 11, in accordance with the Collective Labour Agreement for Dutch Universities).

Leiden University offers an attractive benefits package with additional holiday (8%) and end-of-year bonuses (8,3%), training and career development and sabbatical leave. Our individual choices model gives you some freedom to assemble your own set of terms and conditions. For international spouses we have set up a dual career programme. Candidates from outside the Netherlands may be eligible for a substantial tax break. For more information see the website.

The working language is English, but the appointed candidate is required to learn Dutch. Staff who do not speak Dutch upon appointment are required to progress steadily toward at least a B1 level (CEFR) through training financed by both institutes.

UTQ
Leiden University requires teaching staff to obtain the University Teaching Qualification (UTQ). If the successful applicant does not already possess this qualification or its equivalent, he/ she must be willing to obtain this Qualification within two years.

Diversity
Leiden University is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from members of underrepresented groups.

Information
If you have any additional questions about the position, please contact the chair of the search committee Jan Aart Scholte, e-mail j.a.scholte@fsw.leidenuniv.nl.

For further questions about the research programme or Institutes, please Antoaneta Dimitrova, email a.l.dimitrova@fgga.leidenuniv.nl or Daniel Thomas, email d.c.thomas@fsw.leidenuniv.nl.

Applications
Please submit online your application no later than 1 October 2020 via the blue button in our application system. Please ensure that you upload the following additional documents in PDF format, quoting the vacancy number:

- A motivation letter explaining how the candidate will address themes and tasks within the research cluster;
- A research statement covering the candidate’s current and future research agenda;
- A statement of teaching interests and experience and sample syllabi and teaching evaluations;
- Curriculum vitae including a list of publications;
- Two sample publications in English;
- Name and contact information of three referees.

Interviews with shortlisted candidates will be conducted on the 29th and 30th of October 2020. Invited candidates will be asked to present a short research presentation during the interview. You are kindly requested to be available for a potential interview on these dates.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020

New York University - Abu Dhabi
Rank: Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science - Division of Social Science

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint a Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science starting September 2021. Later start dates are also possible. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

Here is the link to apply:
http://apply.interfolio.com/77968

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7989

Congressional Research Service
Rank: Assistant Director and Senior Specialist (American Law Division)
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Other

Open: 08/12/2020 to 10/07/2020
Salary: $131,239 to $197,300 per year

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) seeks a senior manager to lead its American Law Division (ALD), one of CRS’s five research divisions. CRS provides objective, nonpartisan, and authoritative legislative research, analysis, and consultative support exclusively to the U.S. Congress.

This position serves as head of the American Law Division, a major CRS research division. In this capacity, and reporting directly to the Director of CRS, the Assistant Director manages, within the interdisciplinary environment of CRS, a professional legal staff in its production of written products and consulting services in support of the U.S. Congress.

Working directly with congressional committees and Members of the House and Senate, attorneys within CRS’s American Law Division contribute to an informed national legislature as it considers legal and policy issues of importance to the American people. Areas of research, analysis, and consultative support include all facets of law in the United States, including administrative, business, civil rights, constitutional, energy, environmental, health, immigration, intellectual property, international, labor, military, national security, procurement, tax and trade law.

The Assistant Director ensures that written and consulting work is of the highest quality and consistently meets the Service’s standards.
1. Carrying out an active research program focusing on LGBT policies and populations, including solo publications and joint papers with Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab faculty.

2. Co-developing and co-teaching a course on LGBT policies and advocacy to be co-taught with a Vanderbilt faculty member over the course of the fellowship.

3. Attending a monthly colloquium series on LGBT policies and populations.

4. Attending and helping to coordinate and facilitate an academic conference on LGBT policies and populations to be held at Vanderbilt in Spring 2022

5. Serving as a liaison to campus and community leaders on LGBT policy topics.

With generous funding from a Vanderbilt Trans-Institutional Programs Reinvestment Award (http://vanderbilt.edu/strategicplan/trans-institutional-programs/tipshome.php), the Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab brings together Vanderbilt experts from multiple units including: economics; education; divinity; health policy; law; medicine; MHS; political science; religious studies; gender and sexuality studies; and sociology. Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab Faculty have secured over $3 million in external funding to support research on LGBT policies and populations. Our faculty’s research has been published in journals such as the Harvard Law Review, Industrial and Labor Relations Review, and The New England Journal of Medicine; covered by NBC, the New York Post, and the Washington Post; and cited in Supreme Court decisions on marriage equality and LGBT employment nondiscrimination. Our goal is to compete for NIH LGBT-focused population center funding in 5-7 years.

All postdoctoral scholars will be supervised by Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab Director Kitt Carpenter and one or more faculty mentors depending on discipline. For example, while candidates with economics PhDs will work closely with PI Kitt Carpenter, candidates with education PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigators Luis Leyva or Matthew Shaw; candidates with sociology PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigators Tara McKay or Rachel Donnelly; and candidates with public health or health policy PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigator Gilbert Gonzales.

The one-year fellowships will begin 7/1/2021 (or possibly earlier if mutually agreeable), with an initial end date of 6/30/2022, and carry the possibility of a one-year renewal. [Our strong preference is for candidates to be able to spend both AY 21-22 and 22-23 at Vanderbilt.] Each position carries a twelve-month salary of $65,000, office space, health insurance, and eligibility for other benefits (https://gradschool.vanderbilt.edu/postdoctoral/postdoctoral-scholars/benefits.php). These in-residence positions require a physical presence in Nashville for the term of the fellowship.

Applicants should provide a cover letter describing interesting in the position and future research plans, CV, a research paper, and three references at: https://apply.interfolio.com/77119. Applications will be reviewed immediately and until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
EJobs ID: 7956

University of Notre Dame
Rank: Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

The University of Notre Dame’s Kroc School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in climate change, environment and peace studies, based at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies. Rank is open though preference would be given to junior and mid-career candidates. The disciplinary and... regional specialization for the position is open. While the primary appointment is at the Kroc School, the successful candidate could also have an affiliation with another School or College at the University of Notre Dame.

We welcome candidates working on one or more of the following themes:

- conflict resolution as it relates to the environment, natural resources and climate change
- environmental justice and social transformation
- violence induced by climate change and environmental degradation

The successful applicant is expected to play a leading role in the Kroc Institute’s plans for developing a research and teaching focus on climate change and environment as they relate to conflict and peace. They would be part of a growing community of scholars within the Kroc School working on environmental policy in a global context. We encourage applications from scholars who can engage in interdisciplinary research and teaching, thereby contributing to the integrative mission of the Kroc School. We particularly welcome scholars whose research has direct relevance to the peacebuilding practice and policy.

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest and a CV. Junior candidates should also arrange for the submission of three letters of reference, a statement of research, and a teaching statement, which includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Asher Kaufman
Chair, Environment, Climate Change and Peace Search Committee
Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
kaufman.15@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. The position will close to new applications on October 15, 2020.

Apply at: https://apply.interfolio.com/77628

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 7/31/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7953

Texas A&M University
Rank: Instructional Assistant Professor (non-tenure track)

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a non-tenure track, instructional assistant professor in the area of international political economy, to work in the School’s teaching site in Washington, D.C. The position will be for a period of two-years, with the possibility of renewal. The start date for this position will be January 1, 2021. The successful candidate will teach five courses per academic year in a professional master’s degree program in international policy – two sections of the required course on the global economy and three other elective courses to be determined in consultation with the department head. A reasonable amount of department and professional service will also be expected.

The Department of International Affairs is one of two departments in the Bush School of Government and Public Service. Additional information about the Bush School and departments is available at http://bush.tamu.edu.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, politics or government with a specialization in the sub-field of international political economy to be considered.

Applicants with additional expertise in the intersection of international political economy and international security issues, and/or expertise in the politics and political economy of a particular world region, are particularly encouraged to apply.

Applicants must submit: 1) Letter of Interest, 2) CV, and 3) three letters of recommendation. The application materials must be submitted online at http://apply.interfolio.com/76363.

Point of Contact: Ms. Peg Hosea phosea@tamu.edu

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7900

University of California, San Diego
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

Postdoctoral positions are available with Dr. Erik Gartzke in the Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) in the Political Science Department at the University of California, San Diego.

cPASS conducts rigorous, data-driven research on international affairs and U.S. foreign policy. Its mission is to apply cutting-edge social science to improve our collective understanding of how humans can best cooperate in an increasingly globalized and connected world with rapidly advancing technologies. cPASS is committed to promoting research excellence and diversity within cPASS and our academic field.

The postdoctoral fellows will assist in a Hewlett Foundation funded project on “CyberEscalation in Power Projection.” This project focuses on understanding how humans and their institutions interact with technology to better assess how the introduction of a new kind of connectedness through cyberspace shapes decisions concerning power projection. This project hopes to overcome the challenges for young scholars interested in cyber escalation by investing in building expertise and creating quality data to test theories.

As part of their duties, the postdoctoral fellows will collaborate with the Machine-learning for Social Science Lab (https://cpass.ucsd.edu/mssl) to create a foundational dataset of cyber events focused on basic... scientific standards that is transparent, replicable, and reproducible. The postdoctoral fellows will also work with cPASS staff to develop the Cyber Escalation Lab and build a community dedicated to cyber escalation topics. Additional duties may arise in line with the goals of the “Cyber-Escalation in Power Projection” project. Authorship/co-authorship of scholarly research will be strongly encouraged.

A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Social Science, Computer Science, Information Science or a related field is required at the time of appointment. Applicants with appropriate skills are encouraged from a wide range of disciplines related to international relations and computer science. The appointment may be delayed for applicants expected to complete their PhD within the next six months.

Candidates must have extensive knowledge and experience in the cyber domain and a strong working knowledge of international relations theory.

Ideal candidates will also have experience with data science and machine learning. Candidates with demonstrated leadership or commitment to support diversity, equity, and inclusion in an academic setting are preferred.

Applicants must apply for this position at this link: https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02537

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, or status as a protected veteran.

This position will be 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible. Some flexibility exists as to the starting date of the position with fall 2020 as the earliest. Candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego by the start of the postdoc.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7823

Florida International University
Rank: Judicial Politics Instructor

Florida International University is Miami’s public research university, focused on student success. According to U.S. News and World Report, FIU has 42 top-50 rankings in the nation among public universities. FIU is a top U.S. research university (R1), with more than $200 million in annual expenditures. FIU ranks 15th in the nation among public universities for patent production, which drives innovation, and is one of the institutions that helps make Florida the top state for higher education. The Next Horizon fundraising campaign is furthering FIU’s commitment to providing students Worlds Ahead opportunities. Today, FIU has two campuses and multiple centers, and supports artistic and cultural engagement through its three museums: Patricia & Phillip Frost Art Museum, the Wolfsonian-FIU, and the Jewish Museum of Florida-FIU. FIU is a member of Conference USA, with more than 400 student-athletes participating in 18 sports. The university has awarded more than 330,000 degrees to many leaders in South Florida and beyond. For more information about FIU, visit www.fiu.edu.

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Florida International University in Miami, Florida invites applications to fill a full-time Instructor position in Judicial Politics. The teaching assignment is eight courses per academic year, and the successful candidate will be expected to regularly teach Constitutional Law, Judicial Process, and the Supreme Court, in addition to other courses in judicial politics. The anticipated starting date is August 12, 2021. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science and/or a J.D. with relevant teaching experience.

Qualified candidates are encouraged to apply to Job Opening ID 521003 at facultycareers.fiu.edu and include the following as part of their application: (1) curriculum vitae, (2) cover letter, (3) statement of teaching philosophy and teaching interests, including a description of your experiences in sustaining a commitment to diversity and inclusion, (4) two sample syllabi, (5) teaching evaluations, and (6) the names, titles, and email addresses of three persons sending letters of recommendation. Candidates should upload all application materials as a single pdf file. To receive full consideration, applications and required materials should be received by December 1, 2020. Review will continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Department of Politics and International Relations at pir@fiu.edu.

The Department is home to more than 1,600 undergraduate majors, almost 100 graduate students, and 38 faculty (see pir.fiu.edu). Situated in the School of International and Public Affairs (see sipa.fiu.edu), faculty enjoy opportunities to work with colleagues in seven other departments (Criminal Justice, Economics, Global & Sociocultural Studies, History, Modern Languages, Public Administration and Religious Studies) as well as SIPA’s centers and institutes (i.e., the African and African Diaspora Studies program, the Center for the Administration of Justice, the Cuban Research Institute, the Jack D. Gordon Institute for Public Policy and Citizenship Studies, the Global Energy Security Forum, the Jewish Studies Program, the Latin American and Caribbean Center, Miami-Florida Jean Monnet European Studies Program, and Middle East Studies).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 3/6/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7794

POLITICAL THEORY
Stanford University, Graduate School of Business
Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy - Impact of Race in America
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Stanford seeks to hire as many as 10 strong researchers and scholars--campus-wide--who study the impact of race in American society, including the nature and persistence of racial inequality and its consequences. We seek to support, deepen, and enhance the important research and teaching in these areas long underway on our campus.

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for faculty positions in our seven academic areas: Accounting; Economics; Finance; Marketing; Operations, Information & Technology; Organizational Behavior; and Political Economy under the Impact of Race in America topic. We welcome applications from scholars with all disciplinary backgrounds that bear on race in America and racial justice to apply... to the seven areas. Rank is open, although there is the expectation that a majority of the appointments will be made at the assistant professor level. Although all areas of research will be considered, we are particularly interested in candidates with outstanding records of achievement in developing or using innovative approaches in the broad areas of their discipline. The successful candidates should possess a strong research background within their discipline and the ability to teach effectively in both the MBA and PhD programs in the school. The successful candidates should have or must expect to have their PhD degree by the start date of their faculty appointment at Stanford University.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2020 and will continue until all of the positions are filled. Candidates are invited to apply online via https://www.gsb.stanford.edu/jobs/faculty-recruiting, with the following materials: a statement describing the candidate’s academic background and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a research statement of no more than three pages, and the names of three recommenders. Please direct questions to faculty_recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8155

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business
Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Earth, Energy & Environmental Sciences, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine). Selection criteria includes the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2021.

To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must be within three years of the date of their terminal degree at the time of appointment. Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA, EdD, DSW, etc.) prior to the start of the fellowship.

Specifically, a cover letter detailing the candidate’s interest in the position; a statement of teaching and research interests and how these interests would be advanced by a fellowship, including needs for laboratory access or special equipment; three letters of recommendation; a curriculum vitae; and samples of written work.

Applications should be submitted electronically at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16562. The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is November 1, 2020. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

Additional details about the fellowship program can be found at https://facultydevelopment.stanford.edu/ideal-provostial-fellows.

More information about Stanford’s IDEAL initiative is available at https://ourvision.stanford.edu/microsites/ideal-homepage.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8126

Virginia Tech
Rank: Assistant Professor in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE)

Assistant Professor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE)

The Department of Political Science and the Kellogg Center for Philosophy, Politics, and Economics at Virginia Tech invite applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. The successful candidate for this position will be a regular faculty member in the Department of Political Science and a PPE Core Faculty in the Center, as well as an active member in the PPE community.

We seek applications from outstanding political scientists and philosophers in the analytic tradition who are familiar with formal methods, in particular game theory, public choice theory, and social choice theory, and specialize in political theory, political philosophy, U.S. political institutions, or political economy. In addition, the successful candidate must have a promising interdisciplinary research agenda in PPE (demonstrated through dissertation work, publications in leading outlets, and/or work in progress) that allows research collaborations with PPE Core Faculty and faculty members in the Center’s core departments.

This position includes research, teaching, and service responsibilities. Teaching responsibilities include regular courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels in the Department of Political Science (including a large introductory course and/or methods course) and core courses for the PPE degree programs that the Center oversees (including PPE intro, gateway, and capstone courses). The standard teaching load is four courses per academic year.

The starting date for this position is August 10, 2021. A Ph.D. in Political Science or PPE-related field is required by the time of appointment. Occasional travel to national conferences is required. The successful candidate will be required to have a criminal conviction check.

Required Qualifications:
Ph.D. in Political Science or PPE-related field
Familiarity with formal methods, in particular game theory, public choice theory, and social choice theory
Research specialization in political theory, political philosophy, U.S. political institutions, or political economy
Evidence of research excellence and interdisciplinary research agenda in PPE
Ability to teach PPE core courses (in particular PPE intro, gateway, and capstone courses)
Evidence of teaching effectiveness to meet the teaching needs at the B.A. and M.A. levels of the Department of Political Science
University of Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Communication

The University of Washington, Department of Communication seeks a tenure-track assistant professor of political communication. This position will utilize a strong grounding in theories of public opinion to establish and maintain a dynamic research agenda that illuminates the media’s role in attitude formation and opinion management in democratic societies and how these processes play out across lines of social and political difference.

This full-time position has an anticipated start date of September 16, 2021 and will have a nine-month service period. Tenure-track faculty in the department are expected to produce a significant line of research, teach undergraduate and graduate classes, work with graduate students at the master’s and doctoral levels, and engage in departmental, university, and disciplinary service.

Qualifications

Candidates must have a Ph.D., or foreign equivalent, in Communication or a related field by the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit the following: (1) a two-page letter of interest outlining the candidate’s research trajectory in political communication and explaining how that research meets the job criteria and complements/extends existing strengths in the department; (2) a separate two-page teaching statement that includes the candidate’s pedagogical philosophy and identifies existing and new courses the candidate is qualified to teach; (3) a two-page diversity statement on difference and equity can be found at http://www.com.washington.edu/wpcontent/uploads/2019/09/Difference-and-Equity-Statement.pdf; (4) a curriculum vitae; (5) two article-length academic writing samples; and (6) the names and contact information of three referees. Application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio: apply.interfolio.com/78140

Priority will be given to applications received before October 18, 2020. Inquiries can be directed to the search committee chairs Patricia Moy (pmoy@uw.edu) and Matthew Powers (mpowers@uw.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8096

---

Political Science Jobs

Preferred Qualifications:
Potential for research collaborations with PPE Core faculty and other faculty members in the Center’s core departments.

Appointment Type: Regular

Salary Information: Competitive

Review Date: October 28, 2020

Additional Information:
Interested persons must apply at www.jobs.vt.edu, Job No. 514240, where they will submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, writing sample, transcript, and teaching dossier. As part of the online application process, applicants will be asked to provide the contact information for at least three confidential letters of recommendation. All interviews will be held via Zoom. Applications received by October 28, 2020, can expect full consideration. All inquiries should be sent to the co-chairs of this search: Timothy W. Luke (twluke@vt.edu) and Michael Moehler (moehler@vt.edu). The successful Candidate will be required to have a criminal conviction check.

About Virginia Tech:

Dedicated to its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), Virginia Tech pushes the boundaries of knowledge by taking a hands-on, transdisciplinary approach to preparing scholars to be leaders and problem-solvers. A comprehensive land-grant institution that enhances the quality of life in Virginia and throughout the world, Virginia Tech is an inclusive community dedicated to knowledge, discovery, and creativity. The university offers more than 280 majors to a diverse enrollment of more than 36,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students in eight undergraduate colleges, a school of medicine, a veterinary medicine college, Graduate School, and Honors College. The university has a significant presence across Virginia, including the Innovation Campus in Northern Virginia; the Health Sciences and Technology Campus in Roanoke; sites in Newport News and Richmond; and numerous Extension offices and research centers. A leading global research institution, Virginia Tech conducts more than $500 million in research annually.

We encourage a diverse pool of applicants. Virginia Tech does not discriminate against employees, students, or applicants on the basis of age, color, disability, sex (including pregnancy), gender, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status, or otherwise discriminate against employees or applicants who inquire about, discuss, or disclose their compensation or the compensation of other employees or applicants, or on any other basis protected by law.

If you are an individual with a disability and desire an accommodation, please contact Holly Belcher at hollymb2@vt.edu during regular business hours at least 10 business days prior to the event.

Advertised: September 24, 2020

Applications close: Open until filled

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/28/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8113

---

University of Oslo

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Science (4 years)

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Communication, Political Theory

About the position

The Department of Political Science hereby announces 2 vacant positions as Postdoctoral Fellow. We invite applications from excellent candidates in all sub-fields of political science, including public policy and administration, comparative politics, political theory, international relations and research methods. The appointment is for a fixed, non-tenured term of 4 years. The position has a 25% teaching component. Successful applicants must therefore be prepared to teach BA and MA courses, as well as tutor Master’s students. The Department organizes teaching into five sections: public policy and administration, comparative politics, political theory, international relations, and research methods.

Applicants must formulate a research proposal that lays out a promising research agenda and publication plan that can be fulfilled in the course of four years.

Qualifications

A comprehensive assessment of the applicant’s scientific qualifications forms the basis of appointment. Successful applicants must document that they have handed in their PhD thesis for final and formal evaluation before the application deadline, and must have achieved a PhD degree in political science or a closely related discipline before taking up the post. In assessing the applications, special emphasis will be placed on the candidate’s publication record and quality of the research proposal. Emphasis will be given to the applicants’ documented teaching skills and formal qualifications, teamwork skills and personal suitability for the position.

Postdoctoral fellows who are appointed for a period of four years are expected to acquire basic pedagogical competency in the course of their fellowship period within the duty component of 25%.

The main purpose of the fellowship is to qualify researchers for work in higher academic positions within their disciplines.

Applications

Applications should be written in English and submitted electronically with the following:

Cover letter
CV including a complete list of publications
A research proposal. The proposal should clarify the research theme, main research questions, how the research contributes to the existing literature, theoretical approach, methodology, and a publication plan (maximum 3,000 words (!) everything included).
Upload a copy of (what you consider to be) your best publication to date (one publication only!), preferably a single-authored article published in an international political science journal. If a co-authored work is uploaded instead, the applicant’s individual contribution must be clarified and confirmed by co-authors.
Other publications should not be submitted with the initial application. The 10-15 most promising candidates will be invited to submit more publications along with educational certificates and diplomas and any letters of reference about four weeks after the initial application date.

Three to six short-listed candidates will be invited for an interview and may be asked to do a trial lecture.

We expect the whole evaluation process, from the application date to an offer is made, to take 12-16 weeks, depending on the number of applications.

Please note

Applicants, who at the time of appointment cannot provide documentary evidence of basic formal teaching competence, must acquire such competence within two years by completing a mandatory pedagogical course provided by UiO.

The University of Oslo has an Acquisition of Rights Agreement for all employees for the purpose of securing intellectual property rights to research results, etc.

Pursuant to section 25, of the Freedom of Information Act, information concerning the applicant may be disclosed to the public, even if the applicant has requested not to appear on the list of applicants.

We aim for a balanced age and gender composition of our staff and to recruit persons with an ethnic minority background.

We offer

Salary according to "SKO 1352 postdoktor", pay grade 59-67, NOK 523 200-605 500 per year (approx. 52 000 – 61 000 Euro) budget for travel and research assistance (currently NOK 45 000 per year). Staff can apply for additional research support from the department and faculty.
an academically stimulating and international working environment
a friendly and inclusive workplace
a good pension scheme through the Norwegian Public Service Pension Fund
A good work-life balance and access to Norway’s excellent public services and welfare schemes, including generous parental leave provisions and affordable and accessible childcare
Postdocs can acquire pedagogical competency https://www.uio.no/link/english/academic-development/index.html
Female postdocs can take part in the UiO Mentor program for female postdocs https://www.uio.no/english/for-employees/competence/gender-equality/mentoring-programme/

Formal regulations

Please see the guidelines and regulations for appointments to Postdoctoral fellowships at the University of Oslo. No one can be appointed for more than one specified period at the same institution.

According to the Norwegian Freedom and Information Act (Offentlighetslova) information about the applicant may be included in the public applicant list, also in cases where the applicant has requested non-disclosure.

The University of Oslo has an agreement for all employees, aiming to secure rights to research results etc.

The University of Oslo aims to achieve a balanced gender composition in the workforce and to recruit people with ethnic minority backgrounds.

Contact information

Head of Department Bjørn Erik Rasch
Ass. Head of Department Elin Lerum Boasson
University of Oslo

The University of Oslo is Norway’s oldest and highest ranked educational and research institution, with 28 000 students and 7000 employees in a broad range of academic disciplines. UiO has shaped society for over 200 years. As a leading European university, it promotes independent, pioneering and long-term research and offers outstanding education.

The Department of Political Science is a part of the Faculty of Social Sciences. The department currently has 34 permanent academic staff members, 10 research fellows conducting PhDs, 11 postdoctoral fellows and 10 administrative employees. About 1500 students are currently enrolled at the BA, MA and PhD levels. In addition to political science, the department has interdisciplinary study programs in International Studies and Public Administration and Leadership. In addition, Peace and Conflict Studies is a separate, English language master’s program. The department hosts the interdisciplinary Center for Research on Extremism (C-REX) and has research groups in several sub-fields of political science (e.g. comparative institutions and regimes; policy, bureaucracy, and organization; politics of energy and climate; nuclear weapons).

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2020

Date Posted: 9/17/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 8058

University of Oslo

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow/Assistant Professor on Autocratic Politics

Job description

The Department of Political Science wants to recruit 2 excellent social scientists with a background from Political Science or closely related fields such as Economics or Sociology. The successful applicants will work full time as a Postdoctoral Fellow (Assistant Professor). One successful applicant will work on the ERC Consolidator Grant project ‘The Emergence, Life, and Demise of Autocratic Regimes’ (ELDAR). The other successful applicant will work on the Research Council Norway FRIPRO project ‘Policies of Dictatorships’ (PoD).

Both positions are for a fixed, non-tenured term of 4 years with a 25% requirement for teaching. This means that 75% of the working time over four years is devoted to research.

ELDAR will investigate three aspects of autocratic politics: 1) the emergence of autocratic regimes; 2) policy-making (“life”) in autocracies in the areas of education, infrastructure and industrial policy, social policies, and media regulation; 3) autocratic regime breakdown. In doing so, ELDAR will address the preferences and capacities of vital actors in autocratic politics – the leader, regime support groups, and mobilized opposition groups. Team members will also study the specific, and diverse, institutions that underpin autocracies.

PoD will investigate specific contents of policies pursued in dictatorships, and consider the origins and effects of such policies on regime stability and change. Specifically, it covers three areas: 1. policies and strategies for repressing domestic actors; 2. security policies and decisions on interstate war and peace; 3. cooperation policies in the areas of construction, higher education, and labor market regulation and social policies.

The projects are led by Professor Carl Henrik Knutsen. ELDAR runs from 2020-2025 and PoD from 2020-2024. Both projects will be part of the Department’s internationally leading research group on Comparative Institutions and Regimes (CIR). We encourage applicants to read about the projects and project teams in the two project proposals: ELDAR proposal; PoD proposal.

Qualification requirements

A comprehensive assessment of the applicant’s scientific qualifications forms the basis of appointment.

Applicants must hold a degree equivalent to a Norwegian doctoral degree (Ph.D) in Political Science or a closely related discipline before taking up the post. For applicants who have yet to receive their PhD degree, the Doctoral dissertation must have been submitted for evaluation before the application deadline (October 15, 2020). Such applicants should note the date of submission of their PhD in the cover letter. Appointment is dependent on the public defense of the doctoral thesis being approved.

Candidates with a record of a high-quality publication, especially in a leading peer-reviewed international journal, will be prioritized. However, the length of the applicant’s research career (discounted for parental leave, etc.) will be taken into account when considering the number of such publications. The intention is to recruit the person that has the best prospects for contributing to the project’s research outputs by publishing research of the highest quality over the coming 4-year period.

The candidate should, in the cover letter (maximum 2 pages), briefly explain how his/her research profile and agenda will contribute to the overall goals of one or both of the projects, including one or more of the suggested datasets or papers outlined in the research proposals (links above). The applicant should further detail additional suggested contributions in the form of one or two research ideas in an accompanying research proposal (maximum 2 pages). Applicants should note in the cover letter which project (ELDAR or PoD) they are primarily interested in being hired on, but all applicants will be considered for both positions.

While not necessary, candidates with prior research experience on one or more of the topics covered in ELDAR or PoD will be at an advantage. Applicants with formal modelling or methods skills relevant for the projects (see project proposals) will have an advantage.

Other desired qualifications and experiences include experiences with previous systematic data collection efforts, either in individual or collective projects, strong administrative and organizational skills, very good command of English, and programming and statistical software skills. Finally, the applicants’ teaching experiences and qualifications and personal suitability for the position will be taken into consideration.

Postdoctoral fellows who are appointed for a period of four years are expected to acquire “basic pedagogical competency” in the course of their fellowship period within the teaching duty component of 25%.

We offer

Salary according to SKO 1352 postdoktor, pay grade 59-67, NOK 523 200-605 500 per year (approx. 52 000 – 61 000 Euro) budget for travel and research assistance (currently NOK 45 000 per year). Staff can apply for additional research support from the department and faculty.
The University of Oslo aims to achieve a balanced gender composition.

The University of Oslo has an agreement for all employees, aiming to increase the diversity of backgrounds in our staff. We especially encourage female researchers to apply.

We aim to increase the diversity of backgrounds in our staff. We especially encourage female researchers to apply.

Formal regulations

Please see the guidelines and regulations for appointments to Postdoctoral fellowships at the University of Oslo.

No one can be appointed for more than one Postdoctoral Fellow period at the University of Oslo.

According to the Norwegian Freedom of Information Act (Offentleglova) information about the applicant may be included in the public applicant list, also in cases where the applicant has requested non-disclosure.

The University of Oslo has an agreement for all employees, aiming to secure rights to research results etc.

The University of Oslo aims to achieve a balanced gender composition in the workforce and to recruit people with ethnic minority backgrounds.

how to apply

The application must include the following items:

A cover letter (max 2 pages, incl. statement of motivation, summarizing research interests, and how the applicant will contribute to ELDAR and/or PoD).

A project description (max 2 pages; if cover letter and project description are merged, the maximum is 4 pages).

A CV summarizing education, positions, pedagogical experience, administrative experience, and other qualifying activities.

A complete list of publications.

Copies of educational certificates (academic transcripts only).

Up to 3 academic works that the applicant wishes to be considered due to their quality or relevance for the projects. The 3 works should include at least one single-authored piece and at least one published journal article.

List of reference persons: 2 or 3 references (name, relation to candidate, e-mail, and phone number).

The application with attachments must be delivered via our electronic recruiting system. Foreign applicants are advised to attach an explanation of their University’s grading system. Please note that all documents should be in English.

The application deadline is 15 October 2020. The screening and evaluation of the candidates will begin immediately and a short-list will be ready in late November. Interviews will be held in December. The positions will be awarded from January 2021.

We aim to increase the diversity of backgrounds in our staff. We especially encourage female researchers to apply.

Contact information

PI of ELDAR and PoD and Research Group Leader CIR, Prof. Carl Henrik Knutsen, phone nr: +47 228 54244, e-mail: c.h.knutsen@stv.uio.no

Please also feel free to contact any of the other project members if you have questions pertaining to specific sections of the project, as outlined in the project proposal.

Questions regarding the electronic application form should be sent to personnel officer Helle Fritzsche; helle.fritzsche@sv.uio.no.

About the University of Oslo

The University of Oslo is Norway’s oldest and highest ranked educational and research institution, with 28,000 students and 7000 employees. With its broad range of academic disciplines and internationally recognised research communities, UiO is an important contributor to society.

The Department of Political Science is a part of the Faculty of Social Sciences and conducts research, teaching and dissemination. The Department currently has 33 permanent academic staff members, 13 research fellows conducting PhDs, six postdoctoral fellows and ten administrative employees. About 1100 students are currently enrolled in Bachelor’s, Master’s and PhD study programmes in political science, as well as the interdisciplinary Bachelor’s degree programmes in International Studies and Public Administration and Leadership, and the Master’s degree programme in Peace and Conflict Studies. The department is the host of C-REX Center for Research on Extremism.

Start Date: Winter 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/17/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8057

Brown University
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Philosophy

The Philosophy Department invites applications for one position, tenured or tenure track, effective July 2021. AOS: Political philosophy, philosophy of social science, philosophy of economics, philosophical political economy, philosophy of rational choice theory, or related areas. AOC: Open. Graduate and undergraduate teaching, with the usual advising and administrative responsibilities. The successful candidate will also be a member of Brown’s Political Theory Project, which is committed to diverse approaches to conceptual problems, including both normative and empirical interests, concerning policies and practices, ideas and institutions that make societies free, prosperous, and fair. Interests in political economy and interdisciplinary research are therefore desiderata for this position. We seek candidates who contribute to diversity and/or have demonstrated support for diversity and inclusion through their teaching and research. Candidates are asked to include in their teaching dossier a statement of how their teaching is designed with an eye to contributing to an inclusive educational environment. A similar contribution from one’s research can also be cited if relevant. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2020.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2020

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8039

Brown University
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Philosophy

The Philosophy Department invites applications for one position, tenured or tenure-track, effective July 2021. AOS: Political philosophy, philosophy of social science, philosophy of economics, philosophical political economy, philosophy of rational choice theory, or related areas. AOC: Open. Graduate and undergraduate teaching, with the usual advising and administrative responsibilities. The successful candidate will also be a member of Brown’s Political Theory Project, which is committed to diverse approaches to conceptual problems, including both normative and empirical interests, concerning policies and practices, ideas and institutions that make societies free, prosperous, and fair. Interests in political economy and interdisciplinary research are therefore desirable for this position. We seek candidates who contribute to diversity and/or have demonstrated support for diversity and inclusion through their teaching and research. Candidates are asked to include in their teaching dossier a statement of how their teaching is designed with an eye to contributing to an inclusive educational environment. A similar contribution from one’s research can also be cited if relevant. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2020. http://apply.interfolio.com/76709

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8040

Hamilton College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Government or Philosophy

The Government and Philosophy Departments at Hamilton College invite applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Instructor or Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2021. We seek candidates in philosophy or political theory with particular expertise in the normative, ontological, social, and/or political implications of digital technology. Priority will be given to candidates who can demonstrate successful collaboration and interdisciplinary thinking. We are open to candidates who can engage in any of the following areas of research: the ethical and ontological implications of artificial intelligence; the implications of artificial intelligence and Big Data for justice, privacy, and issues of inclusion, bias, and marginalization; the impact of digital technology on democratic values and discourses; transhumanism as a technological, normative, and political perspective; what digital technology centralizes or disperses political power; or how digital technology impacts our relationship with the natural world and our conception of environmental responsibility. Candidates are also expected to add pedagogically-appropriate digital technologies and applications in the classroom.

We seek candidates committed to fostering an inclusive, diverse community. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, although candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred. The teaching load for this position is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching portfolio, and writing sample via Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/78354. Applications should include evidence of commitment to or experience in teaching and working with diverse student populations, either in a cover letter or in a separate statement. We will solicit letters of reference from candidates who are selected to move on to the second stage of the search.

Questions regarding the search may be directed to Prof. Sharon Rivera (Government) or Prof. Russell Marcus (Philosophy), Search Committee Co-Chairs, at srivera@hamilton.edu or rmarcus1@hamilton.edu. Our review of applications will begin on November 1, 2020.

Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and is committed to diversity in all areas of the campus community. Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits. Candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8022

Princeton University
Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics
Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2021 to September 1, 2022, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on funding and outstanding performance. Appointments will be through the department of Politics. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant’s past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17241 (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:
* a curriculum vitae;
* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
* contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2020; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2021 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:
Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)
Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 8018

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Specializations: American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory, Constitutional Law & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2021 to June 1, 2022. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows’ home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17282 (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:
* a curriculum vitae;
* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
* contact information for two references.

Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2020 - July 1, 2021) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2020 for appointments beginning in September 2021. Awards will be announced in March 2021 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:
Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8019

Yale-NUS College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Social Sciences (PPE)

Yale-NUS College is a highly selective liberal arts college in Singapore. Co-founded by Yale University and the National University of Singapore, the College is committed to excellence in research and teaching in a full residential programme that integrates living and learning. Its curriculum educates students in Asian and Western intellectual traditions as well as current scientific thought. A student body of 1000 undergraduates from over 60 countries engages with 100 outstanding faculty from around the world through small classes and hands-on research. Students and faculty also have access to the wider resources of two world-leading research universities.

---

122  Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

The College invites applications for one tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank to contribute to teaching and research in the major in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE). Applicants who work at the intersection of philosophy or politics with economics would be particularly welcomed. We also welcome applicants whose research is empirically oriented.

Applicants should have a relevant PhD and demonstrate an outstanding track record for their career stage.

A clear ability and passion for undergraduate education is essential. The incoming faculty member would join a committed team dedicated to the development and teaching of the Philosophy, Politics and Economics major (see https://ppe.yale-nus.edu.sg/) and Yale-NUS’s flagship Common Curriculum (see http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum).

The appointee will be expected to begin duties in time for the start of the 2021-22 academic year.

Faculty receive internationally competitive salaries and start-up grants as well as a yearly travel and research allowance and are able to access additional funding from Yale-NUS, the National University of Singapore and Singapore’s Ministry of Education. Most faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million at the heart of a vibrant region.

Applications should consist of the following:
- a cover letter explaining why the position at Yale-NUS is of interest;
- a full curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications;
- statements on research interests, teaching experience, and teaching philosophy, including how these might fit with the College’s particular mission and curriculum; three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS ) and other relevant documents.

Applications should be submitted via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS.

Review of applications begins on Monday 21st September 2020 and continues until the position is filled. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified. For general enquiries, please email: Enquiry_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity, and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to these values. For more information about the College, please visit https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorise the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 8/26/2020

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8000

Dartmouth College
Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowship in Political Economy

The Political Economy Project (PEP) at Dartmouth College seeks applications for a one-year renewable postdoctoral fellowship from those working on social/political philosophy, ethics, and/or history of political thought, all broadly construed. PEP is an interdisciplinary initiative focused on normative questions at the intersection of politics, economics, and philosophy. The majority of the fellow’s time will be devoted to independent research. The fellow will teach two courses per year in either the Government or Philosophy Departments, at least one of which will be an introductory-level course related to political economy. The fellow is expected to attend and actively assist in planning PEP events and otherwise participate in PEP’s intellectual life and the Government Department or Philosophy Department during the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. The selected candidate will hold an appointment as a Lecturer in either the Government Department or Philosophy Department and as a Postdoctoral Fellow in PEP. The initial appointment will be for one academic year, with the expectation of renewal for one further year assuming good performance. The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative and Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences. The salary is competitive and includes benefits.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in diverse applicants who can work effectively with an inclusive and diverse student body, faculty, and staff. Dartmouth is made up of individuals who identify as Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC), women, individuals who identify as LGBTQIA+, individuals with disabilities, veterans, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and first-generation college students and graduates.

Applicants should state in their cover letter, or a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications
Candidates should have a Ph.D. prior to September 15, 2021.

Application Instructions
Candidates should submit via Interfolio a cover letter, current CV, writing sample (approximately 20-25 pages), statement of research (no more than 3 pages), three confidential letters of recommendation, and teaching portfolio. A successful candidate will show evidence of outstanding scholarship, effective teaching, and the ability to contribute to the interdisciplinary initiative of the Political Economy Project.

Application Process
Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To ensure the fullest consideration, applications should be complete and received by November 15, 2020.

This institution is using Interfolio’s Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.
Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Philosophy and/or Government

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, African American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Departments of Government and Philosophy at Dartmouth College invite applications for the position of Assistant Professor in Government and/or Philosophy. Primary appointment will be in the Government Department, or the Philosophy Department, or it will be a joint appointment in both Departments, depending on fit and the applicant’s preferences. Area of Study: Social and Political Philosophy. We are especially interested in candidates whose research concerns philosophical issues related to race and ethnicity and/or African American Political Thought. We seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching, scholarly work, engaging students in research, and building a diverse and inclusive educational environment. Successful qualified candidates will have the option of being appointed initially as a Faculty Fellow, a two-year residential postdoctoral appointment. After this two-year period, the position will convert to a regular tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. Faculty Fellows are part of a cohort of faculty committed to increasing diversity in their disciplines. Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and/or first-generation college students and graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter, or a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Philosophy, Political Science, or a related discipline, or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment as a Faculty Fellow or Assistant Professor. Preference will be given to applicants who have held a Ph.D. for less than 3 years.

Application instructions

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, dissertation abstract or research statement, at least three confidential letters of recommendation, and writing sample. The review of applications will begin on November 5, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be sent to Sonu.S.Bedi@dartmouth.edu or Timothy.-P.Rosenkoetter@dartmouth.edu. Applications must be submitted electronically at http://apply.interfolio.com/77981

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7981

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

Description:

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one full-time tenure stream appointment in the field of Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2021, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field by the time of appointment or shortly thereafter, and have a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. This search is open to scholars working in any intellectual tradition in political theory. We especially welcome candidates whose research includes Black political thought, critical race theory, decolonial theory, disability studies, feminist political thought, Indigenous political thought, queer theory, or trans theory. The successful candidate will be able to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in political theory at the undergraduate level, as well as advanced courses in their area of research at the graduate level.

Candidates must provide strong evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive caliber, as evidenced by a record of publications in leading outlets in the field or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, the submitted research statement, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, independent, and externally funded research program and to pursue outstanding research at the highest international level.

Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a teaching dossier that includes a teaching statement, teaching accomplishments, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations, as well as strong endorsements from referees.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Graduate Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see https://politics.utoronto.ca/

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7981

For administrative questions about the application, please email Political.Economy.Project@Dartmouth.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2021

Application Deadline: 11/15/2020

Date Posted: 8/18/2020

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7981

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

Description:

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one full-time tenure stream appointment in the field of Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2021, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field by the time of appointment or shortly thereafter, and have a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. This search is open to scholars working in any intellectual tradition in political theory. We especially welcome candidates whose research includes Black political thought, critical race theory, decolonial theory, disability studies, feminist political thought, Indigenous political thought, queer theory, or trans theory. The successful candidate will be able to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in political theory at the undergraduate level, as well as advanced courses in their area of research at the graduate level.

Candidates must provide strong evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive caliber, as evidenced by a record of publications in leading outlets in the field or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, the submitted research statement, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, independent, and externally funded research program and to pursue outstanding research at the highest international level.

Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a teaching dossier that includes a teaching statement, teaching accomplishments, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations, as well as strong endorsements from referees.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see https://politics.utoronto.ca/

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7981

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
a diversity statement.

Equity and diversity are among UTM’s core values and are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each once an application is submitted. Applicants, however, remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply
We recommend combining attaching documents into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have questions about this position, please contact the Search Committee Chair at chair.pol.utm@utoronto.ca

All application materials, including reference letters must be received by October 14, 2020.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement
The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committee or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see http://uoft.me/UP.

Accessibility Statement
The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: 10/14/2020
Date Posted: 8/14/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7982

---

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant professor

The Department of Political Science consists of ten tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Our undergraduate program of study serves approximately 200 majors and students across campus in the common curriculum. Our faculty value inclusive excellence: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curriculum endeavors to develop students’ ability to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning. For information about the department, please click here: https://www.du.edu/ahss/polisci/

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start in Fall 2021 in the field of political theory. The ideal candidate has broad enough training in major areas of political theory to serve as the primary theorist in a robust undergraduate department. Specialization and teaching experience in the areas of modern democratic theory, feminist theory, conservative theory, or American political thought is preferred. Priority will be given to candidates who can teach in an additional sub-field of political science beyond political theory. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division courses in political theory, introductory courses, and common curriculum requirements. The University of Denver embraces a scholar-teacher model where faculty balance their commitment to rigorous scholarship with undergraduate education. We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum, such as community-engaged scholarship. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University and departmental service.

Our curriculum is normally delivered via conventional “face-to-face” classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, however, all courses in the Spring quarter of 2020 were delivered as online-only courses. Given the unknown course of the pandemic, faculty must be capable of teaching in conventional, hybrid, and online-only formats while the pandemic runs its course.

Required Qualifications

1. ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g. political philosophy or history of ideas). A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the title of Instructor until completion of Ph.D.
2. Experience teaching undergraduate courses in political (or related social) science.
3. Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar) as part of a conventional in-person class.
4. Experience interacting with diverse communities or evidence of a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to effectively engage students from a wide range of backgrounds and experiences.
5. Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.

Preferred Qualifications

- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
1. Ph.D. in Political Science.
2. Experience as an instructor teaching Introduction to Political Thought (theory) and upper-division undergraduate courses in political theory
3. Scholarly expertise to develop an upper-division undergraduate course in an additional sub-field of political science.
4. Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar) to teach an online-only class.
5. Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship in political theory and evidence of future promise as a scholar.

Application deadline
For best consideration, please submit your application materials by September 14, 2020.

Special Instructions
Candidates must apply online through www.du.edu/jobs to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary range
Salary will be determined by the qualifications of the selected candidate balanced with departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information.

Please include the following documents with your application (Please note that all documents must be uploaded as PDF files):
1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, comprehensive exam fields, and courses you have taught before.
2. One statement of interest that articulates your scholarly agenda, teaching philosophy and methods to engage students in both conventional and online class settings, and strategies to foster inclusive excellence (in the classroom).
3. Transcripts
4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as syllabi, detailed descriptions of particular course assignments, grading rubrics for writing assignments, and other artifacts of teaching excellence, preferably combined into one pdf file with headers identifying discrete components.
5. Samples of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book, and/or two articles).
6. DU’s online employment application requests contacts for professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation (at least three preferred). Candidates using Inter-folio may arrange to send at least three letters of recommendation via email to conant@du.edu

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff. We are an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment regardless of age, race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, military/veteran status or any other status protected by law.

All offers of employment are based upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Advertised: August 13, 2020
Applications close: Open until filled

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 9/14/2020
Date Posted: 8/13/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7979

---

Salisbury University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Salisbury University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. This is a full time, 10-month position.

Primary Job Duties: The Department seeks candidates whose expertise is in one or more of the following fields: racial and ethnic politics, political theory, and law and judicial politics. The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper level courses in political theory and/or American politics (political institutions and behavior and courses in the Law, Justice and Advocacy minor). The candidate will also be able to teach a research methods course. Academic advising and student mentoring are also expected as well as ongoing scholarly activities. The teaching load is 3-3 of 4 credit hour courses.

Minimum Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science. If ABD, applicant would be hired at the rank of Instructor and must complete doctoral degree by: May 2022. Demonstrated evidence of a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching.

Preferred Qualifications: Evidence of a commitment to political engagement, an active research agenda, curriculum development, and undergraduate research mentorship.

Applications received by October 15, 2020 will receive full consideration. The position will remain open until filled. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Appointment will be contingent upon verification of eligibility to work in the U.S. and is expected to begin August 2021. Please visit our website http://www.salisbury.edu/HR/careers/ to apply online. See the FAQs of the Online Employment Application System for more information and instructions.

To be considered an applicant, you must apply online and submit the following: 1) A letter of interest; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statements of research and teaching interests; 4) unofficial transcripts; 5) the names and contact information of at least three professional references. All documents must be submitted with your application in the online employment application system. Questions about the position should be directed to the search chair, Dr. Sarah Surak at smsurak@salisbury.edu.

This position is based in Salisbury, MD, an area with a culturally diverse population with rich cultural experiences. Salisbury University, a member of the University System of Maryland is a regionally accredited four-year comprehensive institution offering 60 distinct graduate and undergraduate programs. Founded in 1925, Salisbury University features a beautiful campus close to ocean beaches and the Chesapeake Bay and 2-3 hours from the metropolitan areas of Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Norfolk. SU is consistently ranked among the nation’s top colleges and ‘best values’ by U.S. News and World Report, The Princeton Review and other publications. SU has 440 full-time faculty members serving a student population of approximately 8700.

Diversity and inclusion are core values of Salisbury University. We strive to create a truly diverse and inclusive environment where the richness of ideas, backgrounds, and perspectives of our community is harnessed to create value for our University community to include students, faculty, and staff, today and in the future. To this end, the University recruits exceptional and diverse faculty, staff, and students from across Maryland, the United States, and around the world, supporting all members of the University community as they work together to achieve institutional goals and vision. To learn more about the University’s commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive campus, please visit http://www.salisbury.edu/equity/.

Applications will be accepted via Salisbury University’s online employment application system.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7950

University of British Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at The University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Theory. The area of specialization is open.

The successful candidate will have a completed Ph.D. in Political Science (or related field), or be able to adequately demonstrate all Ph.D. requirements are sufficiently close to completion. The successful candidate is expected to have a Ph.D. for the start of the appointment. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2021.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop and maintain an active program of research leading to peer-reviewed publications and the securing of external research funding, and to contribute to the education and training of undergraduate as well as graduate students.

This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Applicants must be prepared to conduct interviews remotely if circumstances require, and understand that a successful applicant may be asked to consider an offer with a deadline without having been able to make an in-person visit to campus should travel or other restrictions apply. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To apply, applicants must upload online the following to: https://politics.ubc.ca/assistant-professor-in-political-theory/

- Job ID: 37879,
- an application letter,
- a curriculum vitae,
- a statement of teaching philosophy, interests and accomplishments (maximum 2 pages),
- a description of current and future research interests (maximum 2 pages),
- evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., summaries of teaching evaluations [official preferred], peer reviews of teaching, sample course materials); and
- a 1 page statement about the applicant’s experience working with a diverse student body and contributions or potential contributions to creating/advancing a culture of equity and inclusion,
- one electronic sample of research or publication.

In addition, applicants should arrange for three confidential signed letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the Department of Political Science care of Jeff Yupitun, Assistant to the Department Head, at poli.recruitment@ubc.ca. Review of applications begins on October 1, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled.

UBC-Vancouver’s Point Grey Campus is located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territories of the Musqueam people, with whom UBC shares a framework Memorandum of Affiliation. For information relating to Aboriginal initiatives that are available at UBC, visit the UBC Vancouver Aboriginal portal at: http://aboriginal.ubc.ca/.

The Department of Political Science at UBC is committed to increasing Indigenous engagement within its curriculum. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged.

We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however Canadians and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/21/2020
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 7939

Princeton University

Rank: Lecturer - Ethics and Public Policy

The Department of Politics and the University Center for Human Values at Princeton University seeks qualified candidates to teach precepts (discussion sections) for a lecture course on Ethics and Public Policy, beginning in late August. Teaching will be performed via remote technology. Precepting responsibilities include attending lectures, preparing materials, grading, and working closely with course instructors to provide pedagogical support.

An advanced degree, and some advanced coursework, or ideally a specialization, in ethics or political theory/political philosophy, and/or normative aspects of public policy, required.

Interested applicants must submit a CV, and a letter detailing their qualifications, their teaching experience, and the names and contact information of two or three professors who can testify to their teaching qualifications. Letters of recommendation will be requested for any shortlisted candidates.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until any available positions are filled.

These positions are subject to the University’s background check policy.

Applications must be submitted online at https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire//application.xhtml?listingId=16482.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/23/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7903

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

October 2020
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant or associate (non-tenured) professor. The employment starts in Fall semester of 2021. The openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political theory. Candidates who have a research focus on issues of public policy are strongly encouraged to apply for the positions. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field. Although the working environment in SUFE is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

The position is a full-time appointment for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years of employment. The tenure-track faculty are expected to publish research on highly reputable international journals, offer high-quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at SUFE. The rules of evaluation and promotion are standardized at the university and similar to those for tenure positions in a regular American university.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 380,000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (240K RMB housing subsidy, medical insurance, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):
1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list;
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

The deadline for accepting applications is September 31, 2020, for this round of recruitment. We will arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews such as Skype and WeChat during November and December 2020.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/14/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7872

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

University of North Carolina, Charlotte

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Management or Urban Policy (#007144)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Open

Assistant Professor in Public Management or Urban Policy (#007144)

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte Department of Political Science and Public Administration invites applications for a tenure track faculty position at the Assistant Professor level specializing in public management or urban management and policy to teach in the NASPAA-accredited and nationally ranked Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program. The standard teaching load for an assistant professor is two courses each Fall and Spring semester. We seek an exceptional colleague and scholar with a research focus on diversity, equity, and social justice in government, nonprofits, or in urban communities, like Charlotte. We welcome scholars employing a variety of methodological approaches including but not limited to the analysis of experiments, large N data analyses, interpretive and critical research methods, and surveys. This nine-month position begins Fall 2021.

Qualified candidates must have a PhD in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field at the time of appointment; an active research agenda and demonstrated excellence in research that will contribute to and enhance the department’s and program’s national reputation; and a commitment to teaching in a diverse environment.

The Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program ranks in the top 20% nationwide by US News and World Report and 2nd best MPA Value in the US. The MPA program offers concentrations in: Urban Management and Policy, Nonprofit Management, Arts Administration, Emergency Management, and Public Budgeting and Finance (Ranked #23). The MPA Program operates in an urban environment where it has strong ties to local government and nonprofit organizations, alumni, and the local chapters of the American Society for Public Administration, the North Carolina City and County Management Association, and the National Forum for Black Public Administrators. The program offers courses both on the main campus and at UNCC’s Center City Building in downtown Charlotte. Additional information may be found at: http://www.mpa.unc.edu.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration has award-winning faculty, houses the Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program, operates an experimental lab offering research opportunities to faculty and graduate students (POLS-Lab), and is a core department in the interdisciplinary Public Policy PhD Program.
As the largest and most diverse college at UNC Charlotte, the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences houses 21 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, natural sciences and mathematics, and military sciences, as well as 28 applied research centers and interdisciplinary programs. With its 35 graduate degrees and 78 undergraduate degree options, the College is connected to the world and its concerns, and is particularly supportive of the greater Charlotte region.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive urban university, located on an expanding modern campus. The second largest of the 16 UNC System campuses, UNC Charlotte offers more than 30,000 culturally and ethnically diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The University is a Carnegie Foundation Community Engagement campus and an APLU Innovation and Economic Prosperity University. It supports faculty with excellent family and medical leave policies, junior faculty development awards, internal faculty research grant opportunities, and other research opportunities. Charlotte offers a dynamic space to live, work and connect for faculty, students, alumni, and staff, with its outstanding cultural, recreational, and business amenities. As the 15th largest U.S. city, Charlotte is consistently ranked one of the best cities to live (#20 by U.S. News & World Report).

Applicants must apply electronically at https://jobs.uncc.edu (position number #007144) and attach the following:
- Cover letter describing your research accomplishments and agenda, teaching experience and philosophy, and a commitment to diversity (e.g., how have multicultural issues influenced and/or been a part of your teaching, research, and outreach/service)
- Curriculum vitae
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available)
- One writing sample (single or lead author preferred)
- Contact information for three professional references

Review of applications begins November 2, 2020 and continues until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Jaclyn Piatak, chair of the search committee, at jpiatak@uncc.edu with any questions about the position.

As an affirmative action, equal opportunity and an ADVANCE Institution, UNC Charlotte is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

The candidate chosen for this position will be required to provide an official transcript of their highest earned degree and submit to a criminal background check.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8150

University of Oslo
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Science (public administration)

Job description

The Department of Political Science is recruiting a Postdoctoral Fellow (Assistant Professor) (SKO 1352) with a specialization in public administration. The successful applicant will be part of the project ‘Public leadership, organizational performance, and trust in government’ (PART) funded by the Norwegian Research Council. The appointment is for a fixed period of 4 years, with a 25% teaching requirement.

The PART project assesses the impact of administrative leadership on organizational performance and on citizens’ trust in government. PART studies how the professional background of administrative leaders affects (1) organizational performance; (2) employee motivation and task prioritization; and (3) citizens’ trust in bureaucracy. The focus will be on the heads of agencies (regulatory, executive) and state-owned enterprises, comparing leadership backgrounds in politics and business to public sector backgrounds. PART will collect and analyse multiple types of data, including biographical data, survey data, and survey experiments with bureaucrats and citizens. The project primarily focuses on Norway, but also includes cross-country analyses. The Postdoctoral Fellow is expected to actively contribute to the research agenda and the research environment of the PART project.

The project is headed by Professor Tobias Bach and funded under the ‘Young Researcher Talents’ scheme of the Norwegian Research Council. PART runs for four years from 2020-2024. The project will be part of the department’s research group on Policy, Bureaucracy, and Organization (PBO). We encourage all applicants to read about PART on the project website: https://www.sv.uio.no/isv/english/research/projects/part/index.html

The main purpose of the fellowship is to qualify researchers for work in higher academic positions. Successful applicants must therefore be prepared to teach Bachelor’s and Master’s level courses within the Department’s course portfolio as well as tutor Master’s students.

Qualification requirements

A comprehensive assessment of the applicant’s scientific qualifications forms the basis of appointment. Applicants must hold a degree equivalent to a Norwegian doctoral degree in Political Science or a closely related discipline before taking up the post. The Doctoral dissertation must be submitted for evaluation by the application date. Appointment is dependent on the public defense of the doctoral thesis being approved.

In assessing the applications, special emphasis will be placed on the candidates’ scientific qualifications, including their publication record in high-quality outlets; their familiarity with one or more of the topics covered by PART; the quality and relevance of the research proposal to the project; teamwork and organizational skills; and personal suitability for the position. For this position, experience with the design and/or analysis of survey experiments or related methods is an advantage. The applicants’ teaching experiences and qualifications will also be taken into consideration.

For this position, applicants must have a very good command of English (written and orally). A good command of Norwegian or another Scandinavian language is an advantage.
Postdoctoral fellows who are appointed for a period of four years are expected to acquire “basic pedagogical competency” in the course of their fellowship period within the duty component of 25%.

We offer

Salary according to &quot;SKO 1352 postdoktor&quot;, pay grade 59-67, NOK 523 200-605 500 per year (approx. 52 000 – 61 000 Euro)
Budget for travel and research assistance (currently NOK 45 000 per year). Staff can apply for additional research support from the department and faculty.
an academically stimulating and international working environment
a good work-life balance and access to Norway's excellent public services and welfare schemes, including generous parental leave provisions and affordable and accessible childcare
We expect that postdocs acquire formal pedagogical competency during the first half of the four years period
Female postdocs can take part in the UiO Mentor program for female postdocs

How to apply

The application must include all of the following items:
A cover letter (statement of motivation, summarizing scientific work and research interests) (max. 2 pages)
A research proposal related to the project’s research agenda, including progress plan (max. 3000 words)
CV (summarising education, positions, pedagogical experience, administrative experience, and other qualifying activities)
Copies of educational certificates (academic transcripts only)
A complete list of publications
A copy of (what you consider to be) your best publication to date (one publication only), preferably a single-authored article published in an international peer-reviewed journal. If a co-authored work is uploaded instead, the applicant’s individual contribution must be clarified and confirmed by co-authors.
List of reference persons: 2 or 3 references (name, relation to candidate, e-mail, and phone number)

The application deadline is 1 November 2020. The screening and evaluation of the candidates will begin immediately, and the aim is to fill the position as soon as possible.

The application with attachments must be delivered in our electronic recruiting system. Foreign applicants are advised to attach an explanation of their University’s grading system. Please note that all documents should be in English (or a Scandinavian language).

The best qualified candidates will be interviewed.

The expected start of the project is late 2020. It is expected that the successful candidate will be able to complete his/her postdoctoral project in the course of the period of employment.

We aim to increase the diversity of backgrounds in our staff in terms of gender and ethnicity. We especially encourage female researchers to apply.

Formal regulations

Please see the guidelines and regulations for appointments to Postdoctoral fellowships at the University of Oslo.
No one can be appointed for more than one Postdoctoral Fellow period at the University of Oslo.

According to the Norwegian Freedom of Information Act (Offentleglova) information about the applicant may be included in the public applicant list, also in cases where the applicant has requested non-disclosure.

The University of Oslo has an agreement for all employees, aiming to secure rights to research results etc.

The University of Oslo aims to achieve a balanced gender composition in the workforce and to recruit people with ethnic minority backgrounds.

Contact information
Principal Investigator of PART Professor Tobias Bach: tobia.bach@stv.uio.no Tel. +47 22 85 47 62
Head of Department Bjørn Erik Rasch: b.e.rasch@stv.uio.no Tel. +47 22 85 51 83

Questions regarding the electronic application should be directed to HR Officer Helle Fritzsønn; helle.fritzsønn@sv.uio.no

About the University of Oslo

The University of Oslo is Norway’s oldest and highest ranked educational and research institution, with 28 000 students and 7000 employees. With its broad range of academic disciplines and internationally recognised research communities, UiO is an important contributor to society.

The Department of Political Science is a part of the Faculty of Social Sciences and conducts research, teaching and dissemination. The Department currently has 33 permanent academic staff members, 13 research fellows conducting PhDs, six postdoctoral fellows and ten administrative employees. About 1100 students are currently enrolled in Bachelor’s, Master’s and PhD study programmes in political science, as well as the interdisciplinary Bachelor’s degree programmes in International Studies and Public Administration and Leadership, and the Master’s degree programme in Peace and Conflict Studies. The department is the host of C-REX Center for Research on Extremism.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8148

Francis Marion University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration
Specializations: Criminal Justice, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science and Geography at Francis Marion University invites applications for a tenure track appointment, at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science, who can teach courses in public law, judicial politics, and criminal justice (the latter a program shared with the Department of Sociology.) Ph.D. in political science is preferred, ABD considered. The successful applicant will teach courses related to the candidate’s area of expertise, Intro to U.S. Government, and Intro to Criminal Justice. The teaching load is 3-4. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and university service.

Generous professional development and summer research stipends are available on a competitive basis for tenure and tenure track faculty.

Francis Marion University is a state-supported regional university with a strong emphasis on the liberal arts. Located in Florence, SC, a growing city with a vibrant arts culture, FMU is within easy driving distance of the state capital, Columbia, the resorts of Myrtle Beach, and other areas of interest, including Charleston, Savannah, and Charlotte.

Required Materials:
1) Cover letter (referring to position number 21-03) describing teaching and research interests and experience;
2) Curriculum vitae;
3) Copies of transcripts for all degrees. (Successful candidate will need official transcripts);
4) Three recent letters of recommendation;
5) An article-length research sample;
6) Copies of course evaluations for which the applicant was the instructor of record, and one course syllabus relevant to this position; and
7) Completed FMU faculty application, which is located at https://www.fmarion.edu/wp-content/uploads/2016/07/FacandOtherSpecApplication_22_2014ef.pdf

Send Application Packet to: Dr. David R. White, Chair, Department of Political Science and Geography, Francis Marion University, at dwhite@fmarion.edu or P.O. Box 100547, Florence, South Carolina 29502-0547.

Review of complete applications will begin October 28, 2020, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8140

Eastern Illinois University
Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University invites applicants for a non-tenure track instructor with a 3-year contract beginning August 2021. The successful candidate will teach online graduate and face-to-face undergraduate courses in Comparative Politics, Public Policy, and Public Administration.

Successful candidates must have a doctorate or Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or ABD status with evidence of substantial progress toward degree completion. Candidates must demonstrate commitment to teaching excellence, along with dedication to mentoring, applied learning, diversity, and promoting inclusive excellence.

The teaching load will be 3-4 classes per semester, including 2 face-to-face undergraduate courses in non-western Comparative Politics (with the potential for curriculum development), an online graduate course in Public Policy Analysis (taught each semester), an online graduate course in Public Administration Ethics, and two additional courses. The position may include student research mentoring.

Applicants should upload the following to Interfolio, http://apply.interfolio.com/79049:
• Letter of application
• Curriculum vitae
• Contact information for three references
• Graduate school transcripts

Application review begins October 14 and continues until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University offers three undergraduate majors: Political Science, an International Studies option, and a Civic and Nonprofit Leadership option. The department offers an M.A. in Political Science and an online M.A. in Political Science with a Public Administration and Public Policy option. Questions about the search may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Kevin Anderson (kranderson@eiu.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

California State University, Fresno
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor with an emphasis in Public Policy, Public Administration, and/or State and Local Politics. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research and teaching responsibilities will be in state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration.

Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level introductory courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g., Public Policy Making, Intro to American Government, State and Local Politics) as well as upper-level electives and graduate courses in our MPA program (e.g., Public Policy, State and Local Government). The successful candidate would also likely provide new offerings in a specific area of public policy or public administration. Secondary research and teaching interests may include urban politics; municipal government; environmental politics; public management; budgeting; economic development; representative bureaucracy; ethics; diversity, equity, and inclusion in public and non-profit management; anti-essentialism; or other research areas consistent with the needs of the department. Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, 9-month, non-tenure track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor of Political Science with a Public Administration and Public Policy option. Questions about the search may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Kevin Anderson (kranderson@eiu.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

California State University, Fresno
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor with an emphasis in Public Policy, Public Administration, and/or State and Local Politics. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research and teaching responsibilities will be in state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration.

Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level introductory courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g., Public Policy Making, Intro to American Government, State and Local Politics) as well as upper-level electives and graduate courses in our MPA program (e.g., Public Policy, State and Local Government). The successful candidate would also likely provide new offerings in a specific area of public policy or public administration. Secondary research and teaching interests may include urban politics; municipal government; environmental politics; public management; budgeting; economic development; representative bureaucracy; ethics; diversity, equity, and inclusion in public and non-profit management; anti-essentialism; or other research areas consistent with the needs of the department. Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

Our Students: California State University, Fresno is committed to serving our students with a focus on inclusion. Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Qualifications:

Required Education: An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in political science, public administration, public policy, or related discipline from an accredited institution is required. Applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered; for continued employment in the tenure-track position, however, the doctorate must be completed by August 1, 2021. Evidence of completion will be required. Failure to complete the terminal degree prior to this date will invalidate the appointment.

Required Experience: Applicants must demonstrate:
- a specialization in (American) state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration
- teaching experience at the undergraduate level
- experience giving presentations at professional conferences
- evidence of graduate-level coursework in American public policy and/or public administration on their transcripts
- a commitment to work effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds

Preferred Experience: Applicants must demonstrate evidence of:
- peer-reviewed publication(s)
- a strong research agenda
- teaching experience at the graduate level
- ability to teach Introduction to American Government and Institutions

Application Procedures: Preference will be given to those received by October 20, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. This position automatically closes May 1, 2021.

Apply online at: http://jobs.csufresno.edu and attach the following:
- a cover letter specifically addressing required experience, teaching philosophy, and research agenda,
- diversity statement,
- curriculum vitae,
- unofficial transcripts, and
- a list of three professional references

All finalists will receive a request to send official transcripts from all relevant educational programs. In addition, your three professional references will be asked to submit current letters of recommendation.

For questions about this search, please contact the search chair:
Dr. Lisa Bryant
Department of Political Science
College of Social Sciences
Email: lbryant@csufresno.edu

About Fresno State:
California State University, Fresno is an engaged University. We focus on broadening students’ intellectual horizons, fostering lifelong learning skills, developing the leaders of tomorrow, promoting community involvement, and instilling an appreciation of world cultures. We nurture cultural competence by celebrating the rich diversity of the campus community and welcoming the participation of all. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. For information on the University’s commitment and dedication to creating a university known for its integrity, civility, equity, respect and ethical behavior, please visit: http://www.fresnostate.edu/academics/diversity. The campus is ranked 24th in the nation by Washington Monthly; ranked 3rd by U.S. News & World Report in graduation rate performance for public institutions; and, ranked 41st in the nation in MONEY Magazines 50 Best Public Colleges.

About the Department:
The Department of Political Science at Fresno State is one of the strongest in the California State University system. We are a dynamic and diverse department, actively engaged in research and in our surrounding community. Our department serves approximately 230 majors in the undergraduate program and 40 graduate students seeking master’s degrees in the NASPAA accredited public administration program. All of the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within the department and the faculty is well-known for its balanced commitment to teaching, research, and public service. For more information, see: https://www.fresnostate.edu/socialsciences/polisci/

Tenure-Track Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University’s Probationary Plan Process. For additional information, please visit: www.fresnostate.edu/academics/facultyaffairs/procedures/facultytmp/. We value our commitment to the success of our faculty by providing services from the Center for Faculty Excellence to Research and Sponsored Programs.

Other Campus Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees online at www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position is considered a "limited reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following website: http://www.calstate.edu/eco/EO-1083.html.

California State University, Fresno is a smoke-free campus. For more information, please click http://fresnostate.edu/adminserv/smokefree/index.html

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8068
California State University, Fresno

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor with an emphasis in Public Policy, Public Administration, and/or State and Local Politics. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research and teaching responsibilities will be in state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration.

Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level introductory courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g., Public Policy Making, Intro to American Government, State and Local Politics) as well as upper-level electives and graduate courses in our MPA program (e.g., Public Policy, State and Local Government). The successful candidate would also likely provide new offerings in a specific area of public policy or public administration. Secondary research and teaching interests may include urban politics; municipal government; environmental politics; public management; budgeting; economic development; representative bureaucracy; ethics; diversity, equity, and inclusion in public and non-profit management; anti-essentialism; or other research areas consistent with the needs of the department. Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

Our Students: California State University, Fresno is committed to serving our students with a focus on inclusion. Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Qualifications:

Required Education: An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in political science, public administration, public policy, or related discipline from an accredited institution is required. Applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered; for continued employment in the tenure-track position, however, the doctorate must be completed by August 1, 2021. Evidence of completion will be required. Failure to complete the terminal degree prior to this date will invalidate the appointment.

Required Experience: Applicants must demonstrate:
- a specialization in (American) state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration
- teaching experience at the undergraduate level
- experience giving presentations at professional conferences
- evidence of graduate-level coursework in American public policy and/or public administration on their transcripts
- a commitment to work effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds

Preferred Experience: Applicants must demonstrate evidence of:
- peer-reviewed publication(s)
- a strong research agenda
- teaching experience at the graduate level
- ability to teach Introduction to American Government and Institutions

Application Procedures: Preference will be given to those received by October 20, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. This position automatically closes May 1, 2021.

Apply online at: http://jobs.csufresno.edu and attach the following:
- a cover letter specifically addressing required experience, teaching philosophy, and research agenda, diversity statement,
- curriculum vitae,
- unofficial transcripts, and
- a list of three professional references

All finalists will receive a request to send official transcripts from all relevant educational programs. In addition, your three professional references will be asked to submit current letters of recommendation.

For questions about this search, please contact the search chair:
Dr. Lisa Bryant
Department of Political Science
College of Social Sciences
Email: lbryant@csufresno.edu

About Fresno State:
California State University, Fresno is an engaged University. We focus on broadening students' intellectual horizons, fostering lifelong learning skills, developing the leaders of tomorrow, promoting community involvement, and instilling an appreciation of world cultures. We nurture cultural competence by celebrating the rich diversity of the campus community and welcoming the participation of all. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. For information on the University’s commitment and dedication to creating a university known for its integrity, civility, equity, respect and ethical behavior, please visit: http://www.fresnostate.edu/academics/diversity. The campus is ranked 24th in the nation by Washington Monthly; ranked 3rd by U.S. News & World Report in graduation rate performance for public institutions; and, ranked 41st in the nation in MONEY Magazines 50 Best Public Colleges.

About the Department:
The Department of Political Science at Fresno State is one of the strongest in the California State University system. We are a dynamic and diverse department, actively engaged in research and in our surrounding community. Our department serves approximately 230 majors in the undergraduate program and 40 graduate students seeking master’s degrees in the NASPAA accredited public administration program. All of the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within the department and the faculty is well-known for its balanced commitment to teaching, research, and public service. For more information, see: https://www.fresnostate.edu/socialsciences/polisci/

Tenure-Track Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University’s Probationary Plan Process. For additional information, please visit: www.fresnostate.edu/academics/facultyaffairs/procedures/facrlytrp/

We value our commitment to the success of our faculty by providing services from the Center for Faculty Excellence to Research and Sponsored Programs.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees online at: www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position is considered a “limited reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following website: http://www.calstate.edu/eo/EO-1083.html.

California State University, Fresno is a smoke-free campus. For more information, please click: http://fresnostate.edu/adminerv/smokefree/index.html

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 5/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8069

Leiden University
Rank: Assistant Professor in Global Transformations and Governance Challenges
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Other

Project description
Leiden University is investing over 1.4 million Euros in a new program on Global Transformations and the Citizen. The overall aim of this interdisciplinary research cluster is to combine research on global transformations (such as shifting multipolar world order, climate change, pandemics, and new information technologies) with research on governance responses to these challenges. The focus area of Leiden University on Global Transformations and Governance Challenges aims to deepen understanding of these complex processes, including their impacts on citizens and democracy.

In the context of this research cluster, Leiden’s Institute of Security and Global Affairs and Institute of Political Science seek to jointly recruit an Assistant Professor, who will work alongside the newly appointed Chair of Global Transformations and Governance Challenges (Professor Dr. Jan Aart Scholte) and an interdisciplinary research team in order to develop a set of innovative approaches to these problems.

Key responsibilities

Conducting research in the interdisciplinary area of Global Transformations and in close collaboration with the Chair of Global Transformation and Governance Challenges and the relevant Head of Research Groups at the Institute of Security and Global Affairs and the Institute of Political Science.

Developing theory-driven empirical research addressing the main questions from the broad area of Global Transformations, Governance Challenges and the Citizen:
- How are global issues and cross-border movements changing citizen attitudes toward national sovereignty, democratic accountability, and the legitimacy of liberal democracy?
- How are changing public expectations affecting national governments’ attitudes toward international cooperation, global governance, and openness to cross-border movements?
- What concrete innovations are necessary to make global governance mechanisms more effective in addressing today’s cross-border issues while ensuring their democratic legitimacy at a time of declining trust in public institutions?
- How are familiar and emerging cross-border dynamics, as well as the rise of new world powers, challenging existing governance institutions at national and global levels?
- Teaching two courses per year relevant to global transformations themes;
- Co-organizing and contributing to activities of the Focus Area “Global Transformations” and the Leiden University Centre for International Relations (LUCIR).

Selection criteria

PhD degree in Political Science, International Relations or a related academic area;
- Demonstrated affinity with the themes of the Global Transformations focus area;
- High quality international peer-reviewed publications appropriate to candidate’s career stage;
- Teaching experience and teaching skills appropriate to the candidate’s level of experience;
- Interest and ability to work in an interdisciplinary context;
- Ability to connect academic research to policy-oriented impact;
- Competence with quantitative methods is seen as a plus;
- Applicants must be able to teach in English.

Our organisation
Leiden University is one of Europe’s foremost research universities. It is the oldest university in the Netherlands, founded in February 1575, and currently ranks in the top 100 of most international rankings. The University has approximately 23,000 students and 4,000 staff members.

The Faculty of Governance and Global Affairs, located in The Hague—the International City of Peace and Justice—offers a range of other programs focused on international relations, security, international law and international organization. It also hosts the Leiden University College (LUC), an international honors college of Leiden University situated The Hague. Firmly rooted in the academic tradition, the Faculty of Governance and Global Affairs provides an inspiring and challenging education and research environment, with a strong interdisciplinary character and international orientation; it is a meeting place for students, scholars and professionals, a platform for innovation and entrepreneurship.

The Faculty of Social and Behavioural Sciences is located in Leiden and The Hague and comprises four institutes: Education and Child Studies, Political Science, Psychology and Cultural Anthropology & Development Sociology. The Faculty also includes the Centre for Science and Technology Studies. The Faculty is home to 5,000 students and 600 members of staff. Our teaching and research programmes cover diverse topics varying from adoption to political behaviour.
Leiden University offers an attractive benefits package with additional holiday (8%) and end-of-year bonuses (8.3%), training and career development and sabbatical leave. Our individual choices model gives you some freedom to assemble your own set of terms and conditions. For international spouses we have set up a dual career programme. Candidates from outside the Netherlands may be eligible for a substantial tax break. For more information see the website.

The working language is English, but the appointed candidate is required to learn Dutch. Staff who do not speak Dutch upon appointment are required to progress steadily toward at least a B1 level (CEFR) through training financed by both institutes.

UTQ
Leiden University requires teaching staff to obtain the University Teaching Qualification (UTQ). If the successful applicant does not already possess this qualification or its equivalent, he/she must be willing to obtain this Qualification within two years.

Diversity
Leiden University is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from members of underrepresented groups.

Information
If you have any additional questions about the position, please contact the chair of the search committee Jan Aart Scholte, e-mail j.a.scholte@fsw.leidenuniv.nl.

For further questions about the research programme or Institutes, please Antoaneta Dimitrova, email a.l.dimitrova@fgga.leidenuniv.nl or Daniel Thomas, email d.c.thomas@fsw.leidenuniv.nl.

Applications
Please submit online your application no later than 1 October 2020 via the blue button in our application system. Please ensure that you upload the following additional documents in PDF format, quoting the vacancy number:

A motivation letter explaining how the candidate will address themes and tasks within the research cluster;
A research statement covering the candidate’s current and future research agenda;
A statement of teaching interests and experience and sample syllabi and teaching evaluations;
Curriculum vitae including a list of publications;
Two sample publications in English;
Name and contact information of three referees.
Interviews with shortlisted candidates will be conducted on the 29th and 30th of October 2020. Invited candidates will be asked to present a short research presentation during the interview. You are kindly requested to be available for a potential interview on these dates.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020

PUBLIC LAW
Claremont Graduate University
Rank: Tenured-Track Position in American Politics, focusing on State and Local Politics, American Institutions, and/or Law and Politics

Claremont Graduate University’s School of Social Science, Policy and Evaluation invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in American Politics, focusing on State and Local Politics, American Institutions, and/or Law and Politics, beginning July 1, 2021. The position rank is open. CGU’s Department of Politics and Government offers only graduate-level degrees: the PhD in Political Science; and several MA degrees including the MA in Politics, the MA in Religion and Politics, and the MA in Public Policy.

As a graduate-only research university, CGU values scholarly production, teaching, and mentoring. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in hand and maintain an active research agenda in their field of expertise, with a demonstrably strong record of publications commensurate with rank. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester, and the successful candidate should be prepared to teach graduate-level core American courses such as the US Congress; The Presidency and the Constitution; Political Parties in the United States; State and Local Politics; American Political Development, etc. We expect that the successful candidate will be expert in the use of appropriate research methods such as applied econometrics, survey research, legal research, experimental research, etc. CGU is a small university with a focus on transdisciplinarity, and therefore applicants with interests beyond one field are appreciated.

CGU is a member of The Claremont Colleges, which is composed of five undergraduate liberal arts colleges, and two graduate institutions. Joint research opportunities and teaching with the Claremont colleges may be possible.

Applicants should submit a letter discussing their interest in the position and how they could contribute to Political Science at CGU, a CV, a diversity statement (see below), and references to dpec-search@cgu.edu.

Claremont Graduate University is committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to highlight their strengths and experiences in this area via their diversity statement. Applicants who have a demonstrated commitment to issues of diversity and inclusion are particularly encouraged to apply, as are individuals who have membership in one or more of the following groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding: Alaska Natives/Native American Indians, African Americans/Blacks, Mexican Americans/Hispanics/Latinx, Native Pacific Islanders (Hawaiian/Polynesian/Micronesian), and Puerto Ricans.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Date Posted: 8/27/2020
Salary: $90,000 - $99,999
ejobs ID: 8007
Francis Marion University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration
Specializations: Criminal Justice, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science and Geography at Francis Marion University invites applications for a tenure track appointment, at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science, who can teach courses in public law, judicial politics, and criminal justice (the latter a program shared with the Department of Sociology.) Ph.D. in political science is preferred, ABD considered. The successful applicant will teach courses related to the candidate’s area of expertise, Intro to U.S. Government, and Intro to Criminal Justice. The teaching load is 3-4. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and university service.

Generous professional development and summer research stipends are available on a competitive basis for tenure and tenure track faculty.

Francis Marion University is a state-supported regional university with a strong emphasis on the liberal arts. Located in Florence, SC, a growing city with a vibrant arts culture, FMU is within easy driving distance of the state capital, Columbia, the resorts of Myrtle Beach, and other areas of interest, including Charleston, Savannah, and Charlotte.

Required Materials:
1) Cover letter (referencing position number 21-03) describing teaching and research interests and experience;
2) Curriculum vitae;
3) Copies of transcripts for all degrees. (Successful candidate will need official transcripts);
4) Three recent letters of recommendation;
5) An article-length research sample;
6) Copies of course evaluations for which the applicant was the instructor of record, and one course syllabus relevant to this position; and

Send Application Packet to: Dr. David R. White, Chair, Department of Political Science and Geography, Francis Marion University, at dwhite@fmarion.edu or P.O. Box 100547, Florence, South Carolina 29502-0547.

Review of complete applications will begin October 28, 2020, and continue until the position is filled.
Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8140

Weber State University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

Requisition Number: F00146P: Criminal Justice

Job Description:

Position, Salary and Benefits: The Department of Criminal Justice at Weber State University (WSU) invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2021. Salary and benefits are competitive (retirement program is entirely contributed by WSU at the rate of 14.2% of your annual gross earnings).

About the Department: As part of the WSU College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, the Criminal Justice Department offers degree programs in criminal justice and forensic science. Courses may be taught on the Ogden campus or satellite campuses during daytime and evening hours. Faculty in the department teach a 4-4 load in a variety of modalities (face-to-face, hybrid, virtual and online), across the breadth of our programs, including certificates, Associates, Bachelors and a fully online Master of Criminal Justice. We value professional experience as well as proficiency developing and teaching online courses. We are seeking a dynamic faculty member who is able to teach courses in our evolving curriculum. Our student population is diverse in nature and reflects the Hispanic population of the Ogden area. The ability to engage in lively discussion and analysis of contemporary criminal justice issues is especially important to our students. For additional information about the department, please visit our website at: https://www.weber.edu/cj/

About the University: Founded in 1889, WSU is a diverse learning community with seven colleges that serve more than 29,000 students in more than 225 academic programs. The university has a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion, and regularly engages in analyses of race/ethnicity, class, gender, sexuality, ability and the intersections of these identities. The main campus of Weber State University is beautifully situated at the base of the Wasatch Mountains in Ogden, Utah, just 35 miles north of Salt Lake City. Both the university and the city it is housed in provide a vast array of cultural arts program, events, and services for Northern Utah. Ogden is within reasonable driving distance of nine major ski resorts and a half dozen national parks.

Job Duties:

Required Qualifications:
- PhD in a criminal justice-related field, or JD from an accredited U.S. law school
- Professional experience in U.S. state or federal criminal trial courts (open to broad interpretation)
- Demonstrated ability to teach undergraduate criminal law and court-focused courses
- Record of excellence in teaching at the university level
- Promising research agenda and a commitment to academic scholarship

Preferred Qualifications:
- JD accompanied by PhD, or advanced ABD, in a field related to criminal law
- Professional experience in the juvenile court system (open to broad interpretation)
- Demonstrated ability to teach or develop juvenile justice, juvenile law and other criminal justice courses for our curriculum

Background Check? Yes

Benefits Summary:
WSU offers a generous benefits package that includes medical, dental, long-term disability, life insurance, retirement, a wellness program
Political Science Jobs

with release time and paid incentives, tuition benefits, free tickets to athletic and performing arts events, and paid holidays.

Full/Part Time: Full Time

Open Date: 09/21/2020
Close Date: 11/13/2020
Open Until Filled: No

Notes to Applicants:

For more information and to apply, please complete the online application and attach a letter of application, curriculum vitae, contact information for three professional references, unofficial undergraduate and graduate transcripts, teaching portfolio (including statement of teaching philosophy, comprehensive list of courses taught with institution and format, and samples of course syllabi, student learning assessments, and teaching evaluations), and proposed research agenda. Official transcripts will be required at the time of interview.

Screening of applications will begin October 30, 2020. Criminal background check required as a condition of employment.

Weber State University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. For further information, please contact Dr. Brent Horn at: brenthorn@weber.edu.

Physical Activity of this position: Expressing or exchanging ideas. Those activities in which they must convey detailed or important instructions to other workers accurately or quickly, Ability to receive detailed information with or without assistance.

Physical Requirements of this position: Sedentary work. Exerting up to 10 pounds of force occasionally and/or negligible amount of force frequently or consistently to move objects, including the human body. Sitting most of the time. Walking and standing only occasionally if ever.

Visual Acuity Requirements including color, depth perception and field of vision: Required to have close visual acuity to perform activities such as preparing and analyzing data and figures; transcribing; viewing a computer terminal; extensive reading; visual inspection involving small defects, small parts at distances close to the eye

The conditions the worker will be subject to in this position: None. The worker is not substantially exposed to adverse environmental conditions (such as in typical office or administrative work).

To apply, visit https://apptrkr.com/2006812

EEO

Copyright ©2017 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

https://www.jobelephant.com/
jeid-c4780ca5b123d94da7135037e1e49b74

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/13/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 8079

Hampden-Sydney College
Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College is seeking applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning August 2021. The successful candidate must be able to teach Constitutional Law, Rights and Powers, as well as Introductory American Government. The ability to teach courses in other areas of the law, American government, and Western Culture is desirable; expertise in research methods is a plus. Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, including advising of pre-law students, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

All applicants must submit via Interfolio (https://apply.interfolio.com/78898) a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference. Application materials may be addressed to GVFA Search Committee, c/o Dr. Celia Carroll. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it has been in continuous operation for 243 years, making it the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Our beautiful 1300-acre campus includes hiking/biking trails, a Frisbee golf course and an adventure high ropes and zip line course. The campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, which includes a historic walkable downtown with a local brewery, art and craft galleries, restaurants, and a rails-to-trail state park that extends over 15 miles in each direction from town. Five additional state parks are located within 30 miles and offer camping, fishing, hiking, boating, swimming, and horseback riding. Farmville is also home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the US Civil Rights Trail. Farmville is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant opportunities for cultural and artistic resources, field trips, and employment opportunities for partners.

Hampden-Sydney is one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/16/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 8055
Princeton University
Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law
Specializations: American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory, Constitutional Law & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2021 to June 1, 2022. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows’ home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/17282 (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:
* a curriculum vitae;
* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
* contact information for two references

Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2020 - July 1, 2021) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2020 for appointments beginning in September 2021. Awards will be announced in March 2021 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:
Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director

San Diego State University
Rank: Part Time Lecturer in Public Law

San Diego State University’s Political Science Department is searching for a part time lecturer to teach classes in Public Law in Spring 2021, specifically: “Law and the Political System” (Pol S 346), “Supreme Court and Contemporary Issues” (Pol S 348), and possibly “Constitutional Law: Rights and Liberties” (Pol S 347 B). Because of the ongoing pandemic, the mode of instruction will be virtual with the expectation of a significant synchronous component.

Schedule details are available in the Pol S Spring 2021 schedule: https://sunspot.sdsu.edu/schedule/search?mode=search&period=20212&admin_unit=R&abbrev=POL+S&number=&suffix=&courseTitle=&scheduleNumber=&units=&instructor=&facility=&space=&meetingType=&startHours=&startMins=&endHours=&endMins=&remaining_seats_at_least=.

Qualifications for this position are: a PhD in Political Science with a concentration in public law, or ABD status in a Political Science PhD program, with a concentration in public law; and two years teaching experience at a four-year university.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, current CV, complete quantitative and qualitative teaching evaluations from three sections in the last two years, two letters of recommendation, and an unofficial transcript to: Farid Abdel-Nour, Political Science Department Chair at abdelnou@sdsu.edu by September 30, 2020. Salary is commensurate with credentials and experience, according to University policy.

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/31/2020
Salary: Any
Ejobs ID: 8019

University of Arizona
Rank: Assistant Professor- Law and Policy

The School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) at the University of Arizona invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in law and policy/politics, beginning in fall 2020. The position is open to all law-related fields, but we are especially interested in empirically oriented scholars whose research and teaching address questions about law and race, gender, health, or environmental sustainability. The School of Government and Public Policy is a growing and vibrant academic community housing scholars of Political Science, Public Policy, and Administration and Management, and offers in person and online Bachelor's and Master's degrees, as well as an in-residence PhD. SGPP is also home to the first BA in Law degree offered in the United States. Additional information on the SGPP is available at http://sgpp.arizona.edu/.

SGPP is situated within the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more. Accepting a new position is a big life step. We want potential candidates and their families to be able to make informed decisions. Candidates who are considering relocation to the Tucson or Phoenix area, and have been offered an on-site interview, are encouraged to use the free services offered by Above & Beyond Relocation Services (ABRS). Ask your department contact to be introduced to ABRS prior to your visit. The University of Arizona has been recognized on Forbes 2015 list of America’s Best Employers in the United States and has been awarded the 2015 Work-Life Seal of Distinction by the Alliance for Work-Life Progress. For more information about working at the University of Arizona, please click here.

A PhD in political science, public policy, or a related social science field, is required by the time of appointment. The candidate will be expected to have a demonstrated ability to conduct and publish significant empirical research. The successful candidate will be expected to teach two courses per semester at the undergraduate and/or graduate level, and to participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service. Our faculty also help to develop innovative approaches to enhancing student engagement, increasing diversity, and expanding collaborations with community and business partners.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, statement of research and teaching interests, current curriculum Vitae, and a writing sample via this job requisition. Additionally, applicants will need to provide three letters of reference. Please submit these letters of reference via email to ahackett@arizona.edu. General questions can be directed the School of Government & Public Policy Administration Manager, Angela Hackett at ahackett@arizona.edu.

Direct link to UArizona Talent Application portal: https://arizona.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/538?c=arizona

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/17/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7984

Yale-NUS College
Rank: Tenure-Track faculty position in Law & Liberal Arts

Yale-NUS College is a highly selective liberal arts college in Singapore. Co-founded by Yale University and the National University of Singapore, the College is committed to excellence in research and teaching in a full residential programme that integrates living and learning. Its curriculum educates students in Asian and Western intellectual traditions as well as current scientific thought. A student body of 1000 undergraduates from over 60 countries engages with 100 outstanding faculty from around the world through small classes and hands-on research. Students and faculty also have access to the wider resources of two world-leading research universities.

The College invites outstanding applications for at least one tenure-track position in the social sciences. Candidates would teach in the Double-degree Programme in Law and Liberal Arts.

Applicants should have a PhD in a relevant field, such as law and society, sociology, anthropology, politics, or history (a law degree is... not expected) and demonstrate an outstanding track record for their career stage in the interdisciplinary study of law, such as (but not limited to) law and society, sociology of law, anthropology of law, law and courts, or legal history. In particular, we welcome applicants who can teach qualitative methods for interdisciplinary research on law and modules in Yale-NUS’s flagship common curriculum (http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum), such as Comparative Social Inquiry and Modern Social Thought.

The appointee will be expected to begin duties in August 2021 in time for the start of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Faculty receive internationally competitive salaries and start-up grants as well as a yearly travel and research allowance, and are able to access additional funding from Yale-NUS, the National University of Singapore and Singapore’s Ministry of Education. Most faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million at the heart of a vibrant region.

Applications should consist of the following: a cover letter explaining why the position at Yale-NUS is of interest; a full curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications; statements on research interests, teaching experience and teaching philosophy, including how these might fit with the College’s particular mission and curriculum; and three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS).

Applications should be submitted via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS.

Review of applications begins 1 October 2020 and continue until the positions are filled.

General enquiries should be made to the Social Sciences Divisional Manager at Enquiry_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg.

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to these values. For more information about the College, please visit https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorise the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 8/14/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7980

Lycoming College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Law at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2021. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in Public Law. Candidates with a secondary specialization in Comparative Politics are encouraged to apply.

Lycoming’s small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College’s interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution.

Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae along with submitting a teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript using the link below. https://lycomingcollege.applytojob.com/apply/CqDmzXdUU/Assistant-Professor-Of-Political-Science-Public-Law

Letters of recommendations can be mailed to:

Attention: Missy Cashner, HR Generalist
Lycoming College
One College Place, Campus Box 861
Williamsport, PA 17701

To guarantee full consideration applications should be submitted by October 1, 2020. A pre-employment drug screening will be conducted.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020
Date Posted: 8/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7954

University of Southern California
Rank: Assistant Professor (Teaching)

Full-Time, Teaching-Track Faculty Position in Political Science and International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California seeks to hire a full-time teaching-track faculty position (Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, Master Lecturer, Assistant Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor (Teaching), Professor (Teaching), Assistant Professor of the Practice, Associate Professor of the Practice, and Professor of the Practice) to teach classes in one or more of the following areas: Gender and International Relations, Diplomacy and Security, Human Rights, and Public Law. A Ph.D., and strong teaching record are required. The rank of the position will be commensurate with experience.

Applicants should provide a CV, letter with a statement of teaching experience and interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and a list of 3 references. In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/full-time-teaching-track-faculty-position-in-political-science-and-international-relations/1209/15573524.
For more information, please contact
POIR Instructor (Teaching) Search Committee
USC Department of Political Science and International Relations
3518 Trousdale Parkway, VKC 330
Los Angeles, CA 90089-0043

Review of applications will begin immediately, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open Until Filled
Date Posted: 3/19/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7821

PUBLIC POLICY
Boston University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Development, Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in American politics. The position is wide open with respect to substantive focus within American Politics — including, for example, American Political Development, race and racism, elections, inequality, environment, social movements, Congress, and education policy. Applicants who engage public policy or policy analysis in their research and teaching may be particularly welcome. The anticipated start date is 1 July 2021. The successful candidate will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment. The holder of this position will teach undergraduates and graduate students. Please submit a letter of interest to https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/17094. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a writing sample, a statement about your capacity to promote diversity, and three references. Completed applications are due on 10 November 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/10/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8162

Demos
Rank: Senior Policy Analyst: Economic Democracy

Demos is a policy and advocacy organization working for an America where all have an equal say in our democracy and an equal chance in our economy. Founded in 2000, the organization is headquartered in New York City and has an office in Washington, D.C.. Demos moves ideas powerful enough to improve the lives of everyday Americans through the full cycle of change. We champion over-the-horizon policy solutions, shift the narrative to clear the way for their acceptance, and advocate until they take effect. We use the right strategy for the right moment, whether it’s research, communications, supporting organizers, or litigation. This commitment to the full cycle of change has resulted in real victories, from landmark credit card reforms to over 3 million new voter registration applications from low-income citizens. Throughout all of our work, Demos is advocating not just for people, but for the very idea of the people—of one nation, united by a shared fate.

The Senior Policy Analyst will help to develop an emerging body of work at Demos focused on economic democracy.

Today, our economy and democracy are failing Black and brown people. While these failures are not new, they have been exposed and exacerbated by the colliding damage caused by COVID-19, state violence and killing of Black people and the economic recession. The frame of economic democracy says that in order to address these failures we need to think beyond immediate economic relief and market-based solutions. We need to go beyond simply changing economic policies, to fundamentally shift how Black and brown people, workers and jobless people relate to the corporations and to the government institutions that govern economic policy.

In coordination with grassroots and movement building organizations, the Senior Policy Analyst will provide research and policy analysis of the economy that is centered on building power and increasing democratic participation of Black and brown communities. This work is based on the premise that those most impacted by injustice and inequality should have a voice in the solution. This work is evolving and could include (but is not limited to) strategies to: dismantle concentrations of corporate power; build the power of essential workers and jobless people; democratize and make public the provision of essential goods and public services and increase participation of those most impacted by the economic crisis within government institutions and policymaking bodies.

The position is housed within the Policy and Research team at Demos and will report to the Director of Policy and Research.

Responsibilities include but are not limited to:
• Develop, maintain and build research and policy collaborations with grassroots and movement organizations that are building economic power of Black and brown communities and other important stakeholders on economic policy;
• Develop narrative-changing research on a range of issues related to economic democracy;
• Write long and short-form publications based on the research including research reports, issue briefs, fact sheets and opinion articles;
• Work in collaboration across Demos teams such as legal, movement building and communications to develop research and policy that advances Demos’ strategic priorities;
• Conduct presentations and represent Demos externally on relevant research and policy issues.

The successful candidate must demonstrate the following skills and experience:
• Developed Racial Equity Analysis & Practice. You have a well-developed racial equity analysis and consistently integrate this analysis by a shared fate.
into your work projects and personal interactions by addressing structural implications and disproportionate impacts of policies, activities, and decisions on race, class and other group identities within the context of your job responsibilities and projects.

• Excellent Writing and Analytical Skills. You have experience executing research and writing projects, from initial concept stage to final drafting of research reports, issue briefs, fact sheets and other materials.

• Strategic and Creative Thinking. You understand that ideas matter and view research and policy as a critical component for creating the public and political will for change. You are curious by nature, and eager to uncover new analyses that can advance the public debate.

• Experience working on progressive policy issues. You have a proven track record working to advance progressive policies. You have experience translating ideas into concrete policy proposals.

The most competitive candidates will also demonstrate several of the following skills and experience:

• External Outreach and Collaboration. You are skilled at identifying and cultivating productive relationships with key individuals in movement building, academia, government, and policy and advocacy organizations.

• Research Design and Narrative. You have experience designing and conducting primary research including surveys, interviews, focus groups and other research methods. You know how to incorporate the voices and center the lived-experience of those most impacted by injustice and inequality into research and policy design and analysis.

• Data proficiency. You have familiarity working with data and you are interested in using data strategically to advance policy change.

• Legislation and Rulemaking. You have familiarity with legislative drafting and the statutory and regulatory aspects of policy making.

Candidates need to bring a strong commitment to excellence and an ability to work in a fast-paced environment. The position is full-time and based in New York City or Washington, D.C. Strong candidates outside the New York City or Washington, D.C. area will be considered.

Salary and Benefits:

The salary range for this position is $75,000 - $95,000 and commensurate with experience. We have a generous benefits package which includes health insurance, dental and vision insurance, 10 paid holidays, 18 vacation days per year, 5 floating holidays per year, paid time off Dec. 25- Jan. 1, 12 sick days per year, and the opportunity to contribute to a 403b plan.

How to Apply:
Upload a thoughtful cover letter, résumé and two writing samples, one that shows your research and policy skills for a policy audience and one for a broader audience, such as a blog or op-ed through the following link: http://demos.hiringthing.com.

We are looking for an immediate hire so applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. No phone calls or emails please.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled

University of Copenhagen
Rank: Researcher(s) to the Centre for Military Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Methodology
Specializations: Defense, Foreign Policy, International Security

Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen (UCPH) seeks excellent candidates for one or more positions as Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies.

The position(s) is available from 1st May 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Appointment as Researcher is a three-year position. Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who have experience with research and teaching within the field of defence, security, strategic and military studies. We define national security and strategy in broad terms and welcome applications from Researchers with backgrounds in political science and other relevant disciplines. Applicants with experience in applied research in foreign, security, or defence policy are especially welcome. The successful candidate(s) will have a strong commitment to both excellence and relevance.

Introduction

Based in the Department of Political Science, the Centre for Military Studies is a university research centre focusing on research in defence, security, and strategic studies. In order to provide new knowledge and to identify relevant strategic options for Denmark in particular, we conduct both curiosity-driven and problem-driven independent research. The Centre works closely with the Danish Ministry of Defence, the Danish Armed Forces and other national and international stakeholders when investigating issues and developing ideas and options. As a fully integrated part of the Department of Political Science, the Centre takes part in teaching and research activities at the Department. For more information, please consult our webpage: https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/

Duties and Responsibilities

Duties and responsibilities of the post include contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the University by conducting world-class research and teaching. A Researcher also has administrative responsibilities.

As Researcher at the Centre for Military Studies the general duties are:

• Research within the field of defence, security, and strategic studies
• Applied research and commissioned analytical tasks for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement
• Knowledge sharing with society, including media appearances and public lectures
• Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and postgraduate students at the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen
The weighting of the different duties may vary periodically, but the successful candidate can expect to spend most of his/her time doing research and specific studies including applied research for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement. A limited amount of teaching is also to be expected even if this is not primarily a teaching position.

Read more about this position and apply here: https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=152556&DepartmentId=18992&MediaId=4636

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8164

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Senior Researcher(s) to the Centre for Military Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Methodology
Specializations: Defense, Foreign Policy, International Security

Senior Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen (UCPH) seeks excellent candidates for one or more positions as Senior Researcher in defence, security, and strategic studies at the Centre for Military Studies.

The position(s) is a permanent, full-time position and is available from 1st May 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who have experience with research and teaching within the field of defence, security, strategic and military studies. We define national security and strategy in broad terms and welcome applications from researchers with backgrounds in political science and other relevant disciplines. Applicants with experience in applied research in foreign, security, or defence policy are especially welcome. The successful candidate(s) will have a strong commitment to both excellence and relevance.

Introduction

Based in the Department of Political Science, the Centre for Military Studies is a university research centre focusing on research in defence, security, and strategic studies. In order to provide new knowledge and to identify relevant strategic options for Denmark in particular, we conduct both curiosity-driven and problem-driven independent research. The Centre works closely with the Danish Ministry of Defence, the Danish Armed Forces and other national and international stakeholders when investigating issues and developing ideas and options. As a fully integrated part of the Department of Political Science, the Centre takes part in teaching and research activities at the Department. For more information, please consult our webpage: https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/

Duties and Responsibilities

Duties and responsibilities of the post include contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the University by conducting world-class research and teaching. A Senior Researcher also has administrative responsibilities and is expected to develop the field in synergy with other fields as well as to exercise academic leadership.

As Senior Researcher at the Centre for Military Studies the general duties are:

- Research within the field of defence, security, and strategic studies
- Applied research and commissioned analytical tasks for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement
- Knowledge sharing with society, including media appearances and public lectures
- Research management, including administrative tasks related to the position
- Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and postgraduate students at the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The weighting of the different duties may vary periodically, but the successful candidate can expect to spend most of his/her time doing research and specific studies including applied research for the Danish Ministry of Defence and the political parties to the Defence Agreement. A certain amount of teaching is also to be expected, even if this is not primarily a teaching position.

Read more about this position and apply here: https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=152556&DepartmentId=18992&MediaId=4636

Start Date: Spring 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/9/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8163

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor
Job no: 493207
Work type: Faculty Full-Time
Location: Denver, CO
Categories: Faculty

The University of Denver is pleased to announce a search for a tenure-line Assistant Professor in the Douglas and Mary Scrivner Institute of Public Policy at the Josef Korbel School of International Studies. The position offers an extraordinary opportunity for a faculty member with training in one or more disciplines with a policy emphasis to contribute to a robust research program and help build the Institute’s engagement, impact, and visibility locally, nationally, and internationally.

The University of Denver is the oldest independent university in the Rocky Mountain region, with approximately 11,700 students in undergraduate and graduate programs. DU is classified as a Doctoral/Research University with high research activity.

The Scrivner Institute of Public Policy at the University of Denver was made possible by a generous gift from Douglas and Mary Scrivner in 2018. The Institute is housed within the existing Josef Korbel School of International Studies, a top-ranked international affairs program with a range of both graduate and undergraduate degrees and a dynamic research profile that prepares students for careers in the public, private, academic and nonprofit sectors. Its programs provide students with the knowledge, skills, and networks to design policies, implement programs, and realize outcomes that enhance human capabilities around the world. By relaunching the University’s public policy program that has existed since the mid-1980’s, the Scrivner Institute and the Korbel School together are creating an innovative, local-to-global public policy enterprise that trains students to meet 21st-century challenges in both domestic and international spheres. Supporting path-breaking, multidisciplinary research and local, national, and international policy engagement are critical components of the Institute’s vision.

The Scrivner Institute of Public Policy is strongly aligned with the University of Denver’s strategic plan, DU Impact 2025: http://impact.du.edu, and is committed to the student experience, experiential learning, and serving the public good. It offers an undergraduate major in public policy and a Master of Public Policy degree, both of which have great potential to grow in innovative programming and enrollment. The Scrivner Institutes multidisciplinary design attracts public policy research and teaching from faculty members across the University’s colleges and schools and beyond.

We seek candidates with broad competence in public policy, and teaching and research interests in economic and social inequality and stratification. The search is multidisciplinary and encourages applications from candidates examining the intersections between inequality and stratification with other important issues, including but not limited to urbanization and community development, public health, regulation, the future of work, environmental policy, artificial intelligence, and automation. We are particularly interested in candidates who examine the role of race, gender, and other dimensions of marginalization on public policy development, implementation, and outcomes, including those using critical and/or intersectional approaches. We welcome candidates trained in the fields of public policy, economics, law, history, political science, sociology, anthropology, urban studies, geography, and adjacent fields. Candidates with a record of peer-reviewed publishing and grant success are particularly encouraged to apply. We also welcome applications from those at the advanced assistant professor level. The Scrivner Institute is strongly committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment, which is in full accord with the value that DU places on its commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates must demonstrate the ability to integrate content and issues relating to, and to work effectively with, ethnically/rationally diverse populations. The position will begin on September 1, 2021.

On-campus interviews will begin January 15, 2021.

Special Instructions
Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary Range
Salary will be determined by the qualifications of the selected candidate balanced with departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information.

Please include the following documents with your application:
CV
Cover Letter
Writing Sample
Sample Course Syllabi
Teaching Evaluation(s)
One-page statement of how they can contribute to DU’s Inclusive Excellence and values and practices regarding diversity, equity, and inclusivity.
Names and contact information of three referees that can provide letters of recommendation.

All offers of employment are based upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/1/2020
Date Posted: 10/8/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8161

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business
Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy - Impact of Race in America
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Stanford seeks to hire as many as 10 strong researchers and scholars--campus-wide--who study the impact of race in American society, including the nature and persistence of racial inequality and its consequences. We seek to support, deepen, and enhance the important research and teaching in these areas long underway on our campus.

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for faculty positions in our seven academic areas: Accounting; Economics; Finance; Marketing; Operations, Information & Technology; Organizational Behavior; and Political Economy under the Impact of Race in America topic. We welcome applications from scholars with all disciplinary backgrounds that bear on race in America and racial justice to apply to the seven areas. Rank is open, although there is the expectation that a majority of the appointments will be made at the assistant professor level. Although all areas of research will be considered, we are particularly interested in candidates with outstanding records of achievement in developing or using innovative approaches in the broad areas of their discipline. The successful candidates should possess a strong research background within their discipline and the ability to teach effectively in both the MBA and PhD programs in the school. The successful candidates should have or must expect to have their PhD degree by the start date of their faculty appointment at Stanford University.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2020 and will continue until all of the positions are filled. Candidates are invited to...
Assistant Professor in Public Management or Urban Policy (#007144)

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte Department of Political Science and Public Administration invites applications for a tenure track faculty position at the Assistant Professor level specializing in public management or urban management and policy to teach in the NASPAA-accredited and nationally ranked Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program. The standard teaching load for an assistant professor is two courses each Fall and Spring semester. We seek an exceptional colleague and scholar with a research focus on diversity, equity, and social justice in government, nonprofits, or in urban communities, like Charlotte. We welcome scholars employing a variety of methodological approaches including but not limited to the analysis of experiments, large N data analyses, interpretive and critical research methods, and surveys. This nine-month position begins Fall 2021.

Qualified candidates must have a PhD in Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field at the time of appointment; an active research agenda and demonstrated excellence in research that will contribute to and enhance the department’s and program’s national reputation; and a commitment to teaching in a diverse environment.

The Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program ranks in the top 20% nationwide by US News and World Report and 2nd best MPA Value in the US. The MPA program offers concentrations in: Urban Management and Policy, Nonprofit Management, Arts Administration, Emergency Management, and Public Budgeting and Finance (Ranked #23). The MPA Program operates in an urban environment where it has strong ties to local government and nonprofit organizations, alumni, and the local chapters of the American Society for Public Administration, the North Carolina City and County Management Association, and the National Forum for Black Public Administrators. The program offers courses both on the main campus and at UNCC’s Center City Building in downtown Charlotte. Additional information may be found at: http://www.mpa.uncc.edu.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration has award-winning faculty, houses the Gerald G. Fox Master of Public Administration Program, operates an experimental lab offering research opportunities to faculty and graduate students (POLS-Lab), and is a core department in the interdisciplinary Public Policy PhD Program.

As the largest and most diverse college at UNC Charlotte, the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences houses 21 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, natural sciences and mathematics, and military sciences, as well as 28 applied research centers and interdisciplinary programs. With its 35 graduate degrees and 78 undergraduate degree options, the College is connected to the world and its concerns, and is particularly supportive of the greater Charlotte region.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive urban university, located on an expanding modern campus. The second largest of the 16 UNC System campuses, UNC Charlotte offers more than 30,000 culturally and ethnically diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The University is a Carnegie Foundation Community Engagement campus and an APLU Innovation and Economic Prosperity University. It supports faculty with excellent family and medical leave policies, junior faculty development awards, internal faculty research grant opportunities, and other research opportunities. Charlotte offers a dynamic space to live, work and connect for faculty, students, alumni, and staff, with its outstanding cultural, recreational, and business amenities. As the 15th largest U.S. city, Charlotte is consistently ranked one of the best cities to live (#20 by U.S. News & World Report).

Applicants must apply electronically at https://jobs.uncc.edu (position number #007144) and attach the following:

- Cover letter describing your research accomplishments and agenda, teaching experience and philosophy, and a commitment to diversity (e.g., how have multicultural issues influenced and/or been a part of your teaching, research, and outreach/service)
- Curriculum vitae
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available)
- One writing sample (single or lead author preferred)
- Contact information for three professional references

Review of applications begins November 2, 2020 and continues until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Jaclyn Piatak, chair of the search committee, at jpiatak@uncc.edu with any questions about the position.

As an affirmative action, equal opportunity and an ADVANCE Institution, UNC Charlotte is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

The candidate chosen for this position will be required to provide an official transcript of their highest earned degree and submit to a criminal background check.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8150
W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research

Rank: Senior Research Scientist

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Methodology

Specializations: Economic Policy, Labor Politics, United States

The W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research is seeking to diversify its senior research staff in terms of discipline and methodology. We invite Ph.D. researchers with at least 5 years of experience in sociology, public policy, social policy, political science or a related field to apply for a senior researcher position.

The Institute is searching for candidates who have demonstrated experience in using qualitative, mixed, and/or survey methods to research labor and employment issues. Candidates should have a solid publication record, excellent oral and written communication skills for both academic and lay audiences, and a strong interest in addressing policy-relevant issues. The Institute is seeking to hire a researcher on a full-time basis or on a part-time basis that, for example, might be combined with an academic appointment and is open to remote work arrangements.

About the Institute

The Upjohn Institute is an endowed, nonprofit research organization that conducts independent, nonpartisan research on employment-related issues. The Institute offers a thriving and collaborative research environment. Our staff includes eleven Ph.D.s, who share common research interests and are excellent colleagues. The Institute’s endowment allows researchers considerable freedom in developing their agenda within the Institute’s mission. Research staff also seek funding from foundations or government agencies as a way of augmenting their research or becoming more involved in finding practical solutions to employment problems. Researchers receive excellent support from in-house staff, including research assistants, technology specialists, information and database specialists, and administrative staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2020

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 8141

William & Mary

Rank: Research Scientist or Senior Research Scientist

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Developing Nations, Research Methods

AidData is currently recruiting for a Research Scientist (U13) OR Senior Research Scientist (U15), depending on the applicant’s qualifications. These positions are based in Williamsburg, VA. As such, applicants will be expected to relocate to the Williamsburg area in 2021.

Application Instructions

For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal (https://jobs.wm.edu/postings/39689). There, click Apply for this Job to apply with your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter, and a peer-reviewed publication that highlights your ability to design and execute policy-relevant, empirical research with rigorous methods. This position closes at 11:59pm on October 15th, 2020.

The Research Scientist will provide intellectual leadership for AidData’s Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and work closely with the Director of Policy Analysis to provide technical and management oversight of the grants and contracts that support this program. The Research Scientist will assume the management, fiscal, and research integrity responsibilities of a Co-Principal Investigator on relevant, externally-sponsored research projects. The individual will also contribute to the conceptual development and preparation of grant and contract proposals in line with the mandate of the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and Policy Analysis Unit, represent the program and unit externally in presenting research results to academic and policy audiences, and broker financial and partnership arrangements to advance the program and unit’s research agenda.

The Senior Research Scientist will provide intellectual leadership for AidData’s Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program and provide technical and management oversight of the grants and contracts that support this program. This is a senior leadership position within AidData. The Senior Research Scientist will assume the management, fiscal, and research integrity responsibilities of a lead Principal Investigator on relevant, externally-sponsored research projects. The individual will lead the conceptual development and preparation of grant and contract proposals in line with the mandate of the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program, and represent the program externally to academic and policy audiences. The individual will also be responsible for brokering financial and partnership arrangements to advance the program’s research agenda, while ensuring the long-term health and sustainability of the program area.

Either position may include oversight of staff conducting data collection and analysis related to the nature, scope, distribution, and effects of Chinese, Russian, and Middle Eastern financing. Either role will be responsible for the successful delivery of analysis, datasets and tools related to sponsored research projects, including:

- Financial oversight (managing budgets for active grants and contracts, developing proposals for new grants);
- External client management (ensuring on-time, high-quality deliverables for external funders);
- Personnel oversight (supervision of staff/research assistants);
- Project/portfolio management (responsible for direct implementation of projects to produce data and derivative products); and quality assurance.

This position is located at the College of William & Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia. This is a full-time position, and salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications in the U13-U15 range (see Salary Structure for University Employees).

Required Qualifications

Research Scientist:

A Master’s degree in a relevant discipline such as economics, political science, public policy, public affairs, international relations, international development, or development finance, or comparable education and experience;

Several years of relevant professional experience;

Demonstrated experience leading the design and implementation of externally sponsored research projects;

Experience writing compelling grant proposals and securing external funds for policy research projects;

Track record of submitting high-quality deliverables and progress reports in a timely manner to external research sponsors;

Track record of leading research collaborations;
Established subject matter expert in at least one domain relevant to the Tracking Underreported Financial Flows program (e.g., China, Russia, Gulf Cooperation Council, development finance, foreign direct investment, blended finance, South-South cooperation, etc.); Track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods; Experience leading technical teams and projects and training/mentoring team members; Experience working with large, complex datasets using one or more of the following: Stata, R, Python, SAS, SPSS; Strong and effective communication skills; Ability to work both independently and collaboratively in a demanding and complex work environment; to carry out assignments in a timely manner, and to adapt to changing situations and priorities; Experience managing small to mid-size project teams and delivery schedules.

Senior Research Scientist:
A terminal degree in a relevant discipline with several years’ experience as a principal investigator or co-principal investigator; Demonstrated academic rigor to lead the design and implementation of externally sponsored research projects as a Principal Investigator; Established track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods; Experience writing compelling grant proposals and securing external funds for policy research projects; Track record of submitting high-quality deliverables and progress to external research sponsors; Track record of publishing research in peer-reviewed journals or policy research that meets equivalent standards of scrutiny; Experience with personnel management and fiscal responsibilities associated with externally-sponsored research projects; Established track record of leading research collaborations (with and without external collaborators) that result in high-quality and high-profile research outputs; Established subject matter expert in at least two domains relevant to the program (e.g., China, Russia, Gulf Cooperation Council, development finance, foreign direct investment, blended finance, South-South cooperation, etc.); Track record of designing and implementing innovative research methods; Extensive professional network and presence in relevant professional communities, including researchers across multiple domains; Substantial experience leading large, interdisciplinary teams and technically demanding projects; Demonstrated experience working with large, complex datasets using one or more of the following: Stata, R, Python, SAS, SPSS; Strong and effective communication and presentation skills.

Preferred Qualifications

Research Scientist:
A Master’s degree or Doctorate in a relevant discipline; Extensive relevant professional experience; Experience designing and/or managing large-scale data collection and/or research projects in developing country contexts; Knowledge/experience with qualitative data collection and research methods (FGDs, interviews, Nvivo); Advanced experience with data science methods (machine learning, web scraping, and text mining); Demonstrated ability to implement rigorous analysis using experimental methods or quasi-experimental methods, including regression discontinuity, matching, difference-in-differences, instrumental variables estimation, social network analysis, and spatial analysis; Experience preparing statistical code for reproduction of results by a third party; Extensive knowledge and experience working with development finance or foreign direct investment data; Detailed knowledge of aid classification schemes and experience in collecting, standardizing, and publishing data from multiple actors; Experience delivering datasets and actionable research for policy and academic audiences; Knowledge of the standards, best practices, and systems related to public service and/or international aid program delivery in developing countries.

Senior Research Scientist:
Doctorate in a relevant discipline such as economics, political science, public policy, public affairs, international relations, international development, or development finance or comparable advanced level experience; Track record of obtaining research funding from a variety of funders; Experience designing and/or managing large-scale data collection and/or research in developing country contexts; Advanced proficiency/experience with data science methods (machine learning, web scraping, and text mining); Demonstrated ability to implement rigorous analysis using experimental methods or quasi-experimental methods, including regression discontinuity, matching, difference-in-differences, instrumental variables estimation, social network analysis, and spatial analysis; Demonstrated experience preparing statistical code for reproduction of results by a third party; Extensive knowledge and experience working with development finance or foreign direct investment data; Experience delivering datasets and actionable research for policy and academic audiences; Extensive knowledge of traditional and non-traditional donor classification schemes (with a particular emphasis on Non-DAC donors like China, Russia and the Gulf Cooperation Council countries)

Application Instructions
For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal. There, click Apply for this Job to apply with your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter, and a peer-reviewed publication that highlights your ability to design and execute policy-relevant, empirical research with rigorous methods. This position closes at 11:59 pm on June 12th, 2020.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/5/2020
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 8136

Brown University
Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2021-2023
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute’s three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, to be taken within a three-year period, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 23, 2020 to the application portal:

A cover letter stating the applicant’s academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute’s core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

An up-to-date curriculum vitae.

A copy of each graduate transcript.

A writing sample.

Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant’s research.

Review of applications will begin on October 24; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2021.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Post-Doctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website watson.brown.edu or contact:

Professor Rose McDermott, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. Rose_McDermott@brown.edu

For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Start Date: Summer 2021

Application Deadline: 10/23/2020

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 8128

---

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position - Preparing Future Faculty – Faculty Diversity (PFFFD) Postdoctoral Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Public Policy

The University of Missouri’s Preparing Future Faculty – Faculty Diversity (PFFFD) Postdoctoral Program is designed to develop scholars for tenure-track faculty positions at the University of Missouri and elsewhere. Applicants should demonstrate how they can contribute to faculty diversity, such as through membership in a group that is historically underrepresented in a particular discipline or through other experience. Postdoctoral positions are for two years and provide research, teaching, and professional development opportunities. The stipend is a minimum of $56,000 per year plus University benefits and professional development funds. In order to be eligible for this program, applicants must have completed their doctoral degree, or expect to complete their degree no later than July 1, 2021, at a regionally accredited university.

The University of Missouri (“Mizzou”), located in the culturally vibrant small city of Columbia, is approximately 125 miles from both St. Louis and Kansas City. The campus enrolls more than 30,000 students; it is Missouri’s largest public research university and the heart of the four-campus University of Missouri System. As a member of the Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is one of the nation’s top institutions of higher learning.

We are currently accepting applications in the following research areas:

Political Science/Public Affairs – Scholar with research and teaching interests in race/ethnicity/diversity in politics, public administration, or public policy. Scholars with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Affairs, or related field.

The deadline for applications is 11:59 PM (Central time), November 2, 2020. Finalists will be interviewed in January - February 2021.

To apply, please go here: https://applygrad.missouri.edu/apply/?sr=959b0871-cafd-44d0-b2e6-9ce11e2ac854

Please create an account in the Graduate School’s application system. After you create an account, select the 2021 Preparing Future Faculty postdoctoral application. A completed application includes:

- Cover letter expressing interest in the position
- CV
- Statement of goals for postdoctoral position
- Diversity statement
- One-page abstract of doctoral dissertation
- Writing sample
- 3 letters of reference

Click here to read more about the University of Missouri’s PFFFD program. Questions about the program and application process may be directed to Dr. Lissa Behm-Morawitz (Associate Dean of the Graduate School) at postdoc@missouri.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: 11/2/2020

Date Posted: 10/1/2020

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 8133

For more information about the University of Missouri’s PFFFD program, please visit the following websites:

- Political Science Jobs
- Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Georgia Institute of Technology
Rank: Chair of the School of Public Policy

The Georgia Institute of Technology is engaged in an international search for an equitable, inclusive, and visionary Chair of the School of Public Policy (SPP) within the Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts. SPP is a deliberately interdisciplinary and global leader in the areas of Energy, Climate and Environmental Policy; Ethics and Philosophy of Science and Technology; Information and Communications Technology Policy; and Science, Technology, and Innovation Policy. The Chair will be a distinguished colleague and proven leader whose demonstrated scholarly record warrants appointment at the rank of full professor. The ideal candidate must be an effective communicator and advocate for the School to inspire and articulate our vision for continued growth and development, enhancing our reputation nationally and internationally. The Chair should champion equally all academic programs and research areas, cultivate collegiality and collaboration, and model empathy, integrity, and transparency. To sustain and elevate SPP’s established stature, the Chair should bring to this position an ambition for directing fundraising and development activities and furthering sponsored research. For additional information about SPP as well as expected leadership and administrative management responsibilities for the position, please consult the detailed profile available at https://www.iac.gatech.edu/about/public-policy-chair-search.

Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. We are proud of our technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and global impact, and we believe that diversity, equity, and inclusion are foundational to creating the most exciting and successful academic communities. Therefore, we seek candidates whose demonstrated commitment to diversity as well as excellence in teaching, research, professional activities, and community service will make them vital contributors to our shared programmatic vision. We are especially interested in applicants who will work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from a variety of backgrounds, including: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first-generation college graduates.

Applicants should submit a letter of application addressing how their background and experience might intersect with, amplify, and advance SPP’s existing strengths. The letter of application should include the applicant’s leadership philosophy, research agenda, and commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in higher education. Please also include a curriculum vitae and the names and contact information for at least three references. Application materials should be submitted in a single .PDF file to sppchairssearch@gatech.edu. Nominations for the position may be directed to Dr. Richard Utz, Search Committee Chair (richard.utz@lmc.gatech.edu). Questions about the application process should be directed to William Jimerson, Director of Human Resources (w jimerson3@gatech.edu). Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 31, 2020, for optimal consideration; however, the search will continue until the position is filled.

A background check must be completed prior to employment. Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We strongly encourage applications from women, underrepresented minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance and is aware that attracting faculty may require meeting the needs of two careers.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Date Posted: 9/30/2020
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 8123

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business
Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Earth, Energy & Environmental Sciences, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine). Selection criteria includes the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2021.

To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must be within three years of the date of their terminal degree at the time of appointment. Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA, EdD, DSW, etc.) prior to the start of the fellowship.

Specifically, a cover letter detailing the candidate’s interest in the position; a statement of teaching and research interests and how these interests would be advanced by a fellowship, including needs for laboratory access or special equipment; three letters of recommendation; a curriculum vitae; and samples of written work.

Applications should be submitted electronically at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16562. The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is November 1, 2020. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

Purdue University
Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor, International and Environmental Politics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

Visiting Assistant Professor
Purdue Political Science Department seeks applicants for a one-semester visiting assistant professor or visiting instructor position to teach four classes on campus in West Lafayette in spring 2021 in the areas of International Relations and Environmental Politics. Applicants should be prepared to teach core courses in Global Green Politics and/or International Environmental Policy. We especially encourage applicants with teaching strengths in one or more of the additional areas: Intro to International Relations, International Organizations, and/or Model UN. The position has the option of continuing in the summer, teaching up to three additional courses paid on a per-course basis.

Qualifications

Must be a qualified doctoral candidate (ABD) in a PhD program, in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or Environmental Studies, or related field. A PhD is strongly preferred. This position requires postsecondary teaching experience in political science, environmental studies, or international policy.

Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is committed advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort including discover, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests, or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

The College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. The department offers graduate certificates to students across campus in Social Policy, Environmental Policy, and Human Rights.

Applications

Candidates should submit a cover letter, a CV that includes references, graduate transcripts, a statement on inclusiveness in the classroom, and a teaching portfolio. Application materials must be submitted electronically via https://careers.purdue.edu/

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range for spring semester is $22,500 – $24,000. Summer courses are compensated on a per-course basis and tied to size of enrollment. This position is contingent on course enrollments and final budget approval.

A background check is required for employment in this position.

Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Equal Opportunity

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Public Policy and the Black American Experience

Public Policy and the Black American Experience

University of California Los Angeles

Requisition Number: JPF05877

We welcome applicants for the position of Assistant Professor of Public Policy whose research is relevant to understanding Public Policy and the Black American experience. We seek a scholar whose work on the Black American experience touches on any area of public policy including governance, poverty and income, wealth and inequality, health, education, housing, the environment, criminal justice, data science, and the psychology of individual decision making, to name a few. Successful candidates will have doctorates in African American Studies, Black Studies, Economics, Ethnic Studies, Political Science, Political Economy, Public Policy, History, Sociology, Psychology, or a related field. A Ph.D. or equivalent is required by the time of appointment.

We are a collegial, interdisciplinary department within a school of public affairs at the top ranked public university in the nation. We offer a Master of Public Policy degree, and undergraduate major, and train doctoral students from varied departments across campus.

A cover letter, CV, three reference letters, and a research paper should be submitted at https://apprtrkr.com/2006965. In your cover letter please provide examples of public policy courses that you could teach. You must also submit a diversity statement with examples of your contribution to diversity-related research, teaching, and/or service. First review of applications is November 1, 2020. For full consideration, please submit applications before November 1.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Learn More: Please visit our website at http://www.luskin.ucla.edu/jobs to learn more about this position and other academic opportunities with the Luskin School of Public Affairs.

Requirements

- Curriculum Vitae: Please provide your most recent C.V.
- Cover Letter: Please additionally provide examples of public policy courses that you could teach
- Research Paper
- Diversity Statement: Please submit a statement with examples of contributions to diversity-related research, teaching, and/or service
The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University offers three undergraduate majors: Political Science, an International Studies option, and a Civic and Nonprofit Leadership option. The department offers an M.A. in Political Science and an online M.A. in Political Science with a Public Administration and Public Policy option. Questions about the search may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Kevin Anderson (kranderson@eiu.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

Harvard University

Rank: Fellow-in-Residence
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8094
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Date Posted: 9/23/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

Eastern Illinois University

Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8094
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8089

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy, https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction

jeid-b05d0fbbeced4e8acf900a556a626e

To apply, please visit: https://apprkr.com/2006965

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

jeid-b05d0fbbeced4e8acf900a556a626e

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 4/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8094

Eastern Illinois University

Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University invites applicants for a non-tenure track instructor with a 3-year contract beginning August 2021. The successful candidate will teach online graduate and face-to-face undergraduate courses in Comparative Politics, Public Policy, and Public Administration.

Successful candidates must have a doctorate or Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or ABD status with evidence of substantial progress toward degree completion. Candidates must demonstrate commitment to teaching excellence, along with dedication to mentoring, applied learning, diversity, and promoting inclusive excellence.

The teaching load will be 3-4 classes per semester, including 2 face-to-face undergraduate courses in non-western Comparative Politics (with the potential for curriculum development), an online graduate course in Public Policy Analysis (taught each semester), an online graduate course in Public Administration Ethics, and two additional courses. The position may include student research mentoring.

Applicants should upload the following to Interfolio, http://apply.interfolio.com/79049:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- Contact information for three references
- Graduate school transcripts

Application review begins October 14 and continues until the position is filled.

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2021-22 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” The COVID-19 pandemic has delivered a shock to the nations of the world. Variations in national responses and experiments with economic and health policies have implicitly revealed different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other). In the United States, the experience of the pandemic has been defined by failures of governance, leadership, and technocratic expertise. These failures have led to the stark exposure of underlying health inequities, along with the broad social vulnerability for individuals, and the polity generally, that flows from inequality. The centrality of care provision to our economy and social well-being has also been brought to the fore, made visible by the sudden disappearance of structures like schools that have come to provide so much of the care and services of the social safety net in the United States. Restrictions on international travel, the fracturing of global supply chains, rationing of medical supplies, and attempts to develop a vaccine all call into question the social compact at a global level. While much innovation in political philosophy, political economy, and public policy has been in development for the last decade, since the global financial crisis, the pandemic presents an occasion for harvesting the fruits of that work with the goal of articulating the foundations of a new social compact. We invite applications connected to any dimension of this thematic description. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners. Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence.
residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic has resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. If the public health crisis continues, we will consider a waiver for the 2021-22 academic year, but our hope is to return to in-person, residential programming by September 2021.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following Centers; we continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:

- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and our partnering Center.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND

Faculty: We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Docs: The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2021-22. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioners: Practitioner stipends will be determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

To apply, you will need to complete an online application form, found at ethics.harvard.edu/fellows-in-residence, which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program (suggested length 1-2 pages or 850 words)
- CV
- Research proposal (suggested length 3-5 pages or 2,500 words)
- Recent writing sample (suggested length under 30 pages or 7,000 words)
- Names and contact information of three professional references (letters are not accepted until a candidate reaches a later stage of the process)

The deadline for submitting this application is November 16, 2020. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Should you have any questions regarding this application process, please send an email to EJSafaFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/16/2020
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8081

Harvard University
Rank: Fellow-in-Residence

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2021-22 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” The COVID-19 pandemic has delivered a shock to the nations of the world. Variations in national responses and experiments with economic and health policies have implicitly revealed different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other). In the United States, the experience of the pandemic has been defined by failures of governance, leadership, and technocratic expertise. These failures have led to the stark exposure of underlying health inequities, along with the broad social vulnerability for individuals, and the polity generally, that flows from inequality. The centrality of care provision to our economy and social well-being has also been brought to the fore, made visible by the sudden disappearance of structures like schools that have come to provide so much of the care and services of the social safety net in the United States. Restrictions on international travel, the fracturing of global supply chains, rationing of medical supplies, and attempts to develop a vaccine all call into question the social compact at a global level. While much innovation in political philosophy, political economy, and public policy has been in development for the last decade, since the global financial crisis, the pandemic presents an occasion for harvesting the fruits of that work with the goal of articulating the foundations of a new social compact. We invite applications connected to any dimension of this broad field of inquiry. We see the nature of the failures to be addressed as multifaceted as to make this theme not very restrictive; however, in our usual fashion, we will also consider applications that fall outside the parameters of this thematic description.

All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners. Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.
This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic has resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. If the public health crisis continues, we will consider a waiver for the 2021-22 academic year, but our hope is to return to in-person, residential programming by September 2021.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following Centers; we continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:

- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and our partnering Center.

ELIGIBILITY
Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND
Faculty: We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Docs: The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2021-22. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioners: Practitioner stipends will be determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS
To apply, you will need to complete an online application form, found at ethics.harvard.edu/fellows-in-residence, which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program (suggested length 1-2 pages or 850 words)
- CV
- Research proposal (suggested length 3-5 pages or 2,500 words)
- Recent writing sample (suggested length under 30 pages or 7,000 words)
- Names and contact information of three professional references (letters are not accepted until a candidate reaches a later stage of the process)

The deadline for submitting this application is November 16, 2020. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Should you have any questions regarding this application process, please send an email to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8082

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Economy of Development

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the Assistant Professor level in the political economy of development. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by the beginning of the appointment and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago’s Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/79006. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, and 3) one writing sample. Review of applicants will begin on October 21, 2020. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2021.

Start Date: Date Posted: 9/22/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8083

Stanford University

Rank: 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Stanford University: 2021–2022 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Japan

The Japan Program at Stanford University’s Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2021-2022 Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing on Japan.

The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $66,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.
About the Center:

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 1/4/2021
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8062

California State University, Fresno
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor with an emphasis in Public Policy, Public Administration, and/or State and Local Politics. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research and teaching responsibilities will be in state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration.

Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level introductory courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g., Public Policy Making, Intro to American Government, State and Local Politics) as well as upper-level electives and graduate courses in our MPA program (e.g., Public Policy, State and Local Government). The successful candidate would also likely provide new offerings in a specific area of public policy or public administration. Secondary research and teaching interests may include urban politics; municipal government; environmental politics; public management; budgeting; economic development; representative bureaucracy; ethics; diversity, equity, and inclusion in public and non-profit management; anti-essentialism; or other research areas consistent with the needs of the department. Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

Our Students: California State University, Fresno is committed to serving our students with a focus on inclusion. Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Qualifications:

Required Education: An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in political science, public administration, public policy, or related discipline from an accredited institution is required. Applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered; for continued employment in the tenure-track position, however, the doctorate must be completed by August 1, 2021. Evidence of completion will be required. Failure to complete the terminal degree prior to this date will invalidate the appointment.

Required Experience: Applicants must demonstrate:

Stanford University
Rank: 2021-2022 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow in Contemporary Asia

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: East Asia, South Asia, Southeast Asia

Stanford University: 2021–2022 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2021-2022 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows in Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferred and approval by June 30, 2021) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $66,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 21, 2020, until January 4, 2021.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship

About the Japan Program:

The Japan Program at Stanford’s Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center cultivates multidisciplinary research and education on contemporary Japanese affairs. Through collaboration with experts from academia, government, business, and civil society, we engage in policy-relevant dialogue and scholarship to promote a comprehensive understanding of the internal and external political, economic, and social factors that influence the progress and development of Japan and its role within the Asia-Pacific region and on the world’s stage.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 1/4/2021
Date Posted: 9/21/2020
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 8067

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
-a specialization in (American) state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration
- teaching experience at the undergraduate level
- experience giving presentations at professional conferences
- evidence of graduate-level coursework in American public policy and/or public administration on their transcripts
- a commitment to work effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds

Preferred Experience: Applicants must demonstrate evidence of:
- peer-reviewed publication(s)
- a strong research agenda
- teaching experience at the graduate level
- ability to teach Introduction to American Government and Institutions

Application Procedures: Preference will be given to those received by October 20, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. This position automatically closes May 1, 2021.

Apply online at: http://jobs.csufresno.edu and attach the following:
- a cover letter specifically addressing required experience, teaching philosophy, and research agenda,
- diversity statement,
- curriculum vitae,
- unofficial transcripts, and
- a list of three professional references

All finalists will receive a request to send official transcripts from all relevant educational programs. In addition, your three professional references will be asked to submit current letters of recommendation.

For questions about this search, please contact the search chair:
Dr. Lisa Bryant
Department of Political Science
College of Social Sciences
Email: lbryant@csufresno.edu

About Fresno State:
California State University, Fresno is an engaged University. We focus on broadening students’ intellectual horizons, fostering lifelong learning skills, developing the leaders of tomorrow, promoting community involvement, and instilling an appreciation of world cultures. We nurture cultural competence by celebrating the rich diversity of the campus community and welcoming the participation of all. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. For information on the University’s commitment and dedication to creating a university known for its integrity, civility, equity, respect and ethical behavior, please visit: http://www.fresnostate.edu/academics/diversity. The campus is ranked 24th in the nation by Washington Monthly; ranked 3rd by U.S. News & World Report in graduation rate performance for public institutions; and, ranked 41st in the nation in MONEY Magazines 50 Best Public Colleges.

About the Department:
The Department of Political Science at Fresno State is one of the strongest in the California State University system. We are a dynamic and diverse department, actively engaged in research and in our surrounding community. Our department serves approximately 230 majors in the undergraduate program and 40 graduate students seeking master’s degrees in the NASPAA accredited public administration program. All of the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within the department and the faculty is well-known for its balanced commitment to teaching, research, and public service. For more information, see: https://www.fresnostate.edu/socialsciences/polisci/

Tenure-Track Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University’s Probationary Plan Process. For additional information, please visit: www.fresnostate.edu/academics/facultyaffairs/procedures/facultyrrtp/. We value our commitment to the success of our faculty by providing services from the Center for Faculty Excellence to Research and Sponsored Programs.

Other Campus Information:
In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees online at www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position is considered a "limited reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following website: http://www.calstate.edu/ eo/EO-1083.html.

California State University, Fresno is a smoke-free campus. For more information, please click http://fresnostate.edu/adminserv/smokefree/index.html

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 8068

California State University, Fresno
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor with an emphasis in Public Policy, Public Administration, and/or State and Local Politics. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research and teaching responsibilities will be in state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration.

Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level introductory courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g. Public Policy Making, Intro to American Government, State and Local Politics) as well as upper-level electives and graduate courses in our MPA program (e.g., Public Policy, State and Local Government). The successful candidate would also likely provide new offerings in a specific area of public policy or public administration. Secondary research and teaching interests may include urban politics; municipal government; environmental politics; public management; budgeting; economic development; representative bureaucracy; ethics; diversity, equity, and inclusion in public and non-profit management; anti-essentialism; or other research areas consistent with the needs of the department. Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

Our Students: California State University, Fresno is committed to serving our students with a focus on inclusion. Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Qualifications:

Required Education: An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in political science, public administration, public policy, or related discipline from an accredited institution is required. Applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered; for continued employment in the tenure-track position, however, the doctorate must be completed by August 1, 2021. Evidence of completion will be required. Failure to complete the terminal degree prior to this date will invalidate the appointment.

Required Experience: Applicants must demonstrate:
- a specialization in (American) state and local politics, public policy, and/or public administration
- teaching experience at the undergraduate level
- experience giving presentations at professional conferences
- evidence of graduate-level coursework in American public policy and/or public administration on their transcripts
- a commitment to work effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds

Preferred Experience: Applicants must demonstrate evidence of:
- peer-reviewed publication(s)
- a strong research agenda
- teaching experience at the graduate level
- ability to teach Introduction to American Government and Institutions

Application Procedures: Preference will be given to those received by October 20, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. This position automatically closes May 1, 2021.

Apply online at: http://jobs.csufresno.edu and attach the following:
- a cover letter specifically addressing required experience, teaching philosophy, and research agenda,
- diversity statement,
- curriculum vitae,
- unofficial transcripts, and
- a list of three professional references

All finalists will receive a request to send official transcripts from all relevant educational programs. In addition, your three professional references will be asked to submit current letters of recommendation.

For questions about this search, please contact the search chair:
Dr. Lisa Bryant
Department of Political Science
College of Social Sciences
Email: lbryant@csufresno.edu

About Fresno State:
California State University, Fresno is an engaged University. We focus on broadening students’ intellectual horizons, fostering lifelong learning skills, developing the leaders of tomorrow, promoting community involvement, and instilling an appreciation of world cultures. We nurture cultural competence by celebrating the rich diversity of the campus community and welcoming the participation of all. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. For information on the University’s commitment and dedication to creating a university known for its integrity, civility, equity, respect and ethical behavior, please visit: http://www.fresnostate.edu/academics/diversity. The campus is ranked 24th in the nation by Washington Monthly; ranked 3rd by U.S. News & World Report in graduation rate performance for public institutions; and, ranked 41st in the nation in MONEY Magazine’s 50 Best Public Colleges.

About the Department:
The Department of Political Science at Fresno State is one of the strongest in the California State University System. We are a dynamic and diverse department, actively engaged in research and in our surrounding community. Our department serves approximately 230 majors in the undergraduate program and 40 graduate students seeking master’s degrees in the NASPAA accredited public administration program. All of the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within the department and the faculty is well-known for its balanced commitment to teaching, research, and public service. For more information, see: https://www.fresnostate.edu/socialsciences/polisci/

Tenure-Track Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University’s Probationary Plan Process. For additional information, please visit: www.fresnostate.edu/academics/facultyaffairs/procedures/facultyrtp/

We value our commitment to the success of our faculty by providing services from the Center for Faculty Excellence to Research and Sponsored Programs.

Other Campus Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees online at: www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may... be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position is considered a "limited reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following website:

California State University, Fresno is a smoke-free campus. For more information, please click:
http://fresnostate.edu/adminserv/smokefree/index.html

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 5/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobsID: 8069

University of California, Berkeley
Rank: Assistant, Associate, Full - Political Participation, Public Policies, and Young People - Goldman School of Public Policy

Assistant, Associate, Full - Political Participation, Public Policies, and Young People - Goldman School of Public Policy

TENURE-TRACK or TENURED FACULTY POSITION

GOLDMAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY AT UC BERKELEY

The Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley, invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured appointment to the faculty, with an expected start date of July 1, 2021.

We seek applications from researchers and scholars who focus on issues, social changes, and public policies that affect young adults in the United States, and the ways in which public policy can support working and diverse populations who are young adults. We expect that the faculty member would be affiliated and do research with the Berkeley Institute for Young Americans at GSPP (the website can be viewed here: http://youngamericans.berkeley.edu/).

We seek candidates with a variety of specializations, including but not limited to: the political participation and policy engagement of young people, such as the modes with which individuals engage and how levels of engagement can affect a range of policy outcomes, and differentially by race and class; how public policies and the funding of public programs at all levels of government affect individuals over the life course and differently across age groups or cohorts. For example, how housing, public finance, education, criminal justice, and/or health policies distinctly affect young Americans and their opportunities for success; and the economic and technological shifts that have affected the experiences of young adults, including the changing nature of work, college access and affordability; and public policies that might help.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in political science, sociology, demography, psychology, public policy, public affairs, or another discipline relevant to the topical policy area under consideration. Preference will be given to scholars who have demonstrated the capacity to make significant research contributions and who have a clear interest in teaching in the core of the School's Masters in Public Policy professional program. Prior policy experience is desirable. The Goldman School is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their research, teaching, and service.

We are seeking a mid-career hire, likely at the advanced Assistant or Associate Professor level. A scholar with a record sufficient to be awarded tenure at UC Berkeley, at the time of hire or shortly thereafter, along with a strong commitment to teaching and diversity, equity, and inclusion. GSPP has a diverse faculty that is committed to all forms of diversity, and we encourage candidates from all backgrounds to apply.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Berkeley and at the Goldman School of Public Policy. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our faculty positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity and inclusion.

Minimum Basic Qualifications: Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree) or enrolled in a Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree) granting program and completion of all requirements except the dissertation at the time of application.

Preferred Qualifications: Receipt of the Ph.D. or equivalent international degree within one year of employment.

To apply please go to the following link:
https://apptrkr.com/2003791

Applications must be received by October 23, 2020. Applications that are not complete by the deadline will not be considered. Please direct all questions to Aaron Schiller at mailto:aaschiller@berkeley.edu.

Letters of Reference: letters of reference will be sought from finalists only, and we will seek your permission before doing so. All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (http://apo.berkeley.edu/evaltr.html) prior to submitting their letters.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: http://https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction

Copyright ©2017 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.
https://www.jobelephant.com/jeid-fbfb796e2d99747a100319659e8cf62

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/23/2020
Date Posted: 9/17/2020
Salary: Competitive
ejobsID: 8061
University of California, Berkeley
Rank: Dean of the Goldman School of Public Policy

The University of California, Berkeley seeks a visionary and courageous leader and accomplished scholar with a commitment to social and racial justice to serve as the next Dean of the Goldman School of Public Policy.

UC Berkeley is internationally renowned for excellence, for the opportunities it affords students of all backgrounds, and for pioneering achievements across all disciplines. The Berkeley campus is home to more than 31,000 undergraduates and more than 11,000 graduate students, and approximately 1,500 ladder-rank faculty across 14 schools and colleges.

Founded in 1969 and among the first graduate schools of its kind, the Goldman School of Public Policy (GSPP) is built on several distinctive qualities: a strong quantitative core, an analytic “tool kit,” committed faculty, a strong sense of community, and hands-on experience. Since then, GSPP has enjoyed preeminent standing on the strength of the distinction of its faculty, the excellence of its programs and the achievements of its alumni. Recognizing GSPP’s outstanding teaching and research, US News and World Report consistently ranks it as a top tier school, including number one in the nation among its peer institutions for policy analysis in 2020. With its combination of academic excellence and policy expertise, the Goldman School offers extensive knowledge and in-depth capability for advancing Berkeley’s signature initiatives aimed at tackling the challenges of the 21st century. GSPP leads the way in addressing the problem of inequality in America, improving democratic institutions and governance, dealing with climate change and ensuring environmental justice, thinking about the future of higher education, ensuring health and fair employment in the food sector, and using data science and big data to solve public policy problems.

GSPP equips students – recruited to UC Berkeley from across the globe – to apply cutting-edge data tools and evidence from interdisciplinary research to solve pressing public policy problems. They apply themselves to their studies with drive and commitment, working on policy analysis projects with real-world clients. After they graduate, government agencies, think tanks, financial institutions, consulting firms, foundations, and nonprofit organizations recruit the School’s MPPs, MPAs, and PhDs for positions of influence and leadership, at the forefront of policy innovation around the world.

To train these students, GSPP’s faculty members must be both first-rate academics—one-third are fellows of the prestigious American Academy of Arts and Sciences—and action-oriented policy innovators with wide experience working in government and the nonprofit sector. Interdisciplinary by design, GSPP draws faculty from economics, political science, social psychology, engineering, demography, statistics, and law. Committed to the scientific and non-ideological analysis of public policies, faculty draft legislation and offer public policy decision-makers expert consultation in a wide array of areas. In this way, GSPP exerts a powerful and trustworthy influence for the good of society while it benefits from the firsthand experience of real-world policy implementation.

The next Dean will bring the imagination and wherewithal to fully embrace the extraordinary moment in time we are experiencing nationally and globally and the courage, groundedness, and stamina to harness the internal and external power needed to propel us forward. The next Dean will possess the passion and desire to inspire and cultivate the public policy leaders of today and tomorrow, the political fortitude and focus to grow the school and bolster its financial security, and the vision and skill to realize the School’s great ambition to be a leading beacon of evidence, truth, and policy thought that transforms society for the better. They will provide strategic and intellectual leadership for the School, while fully realizing synergies within the School and across UC Berkeley. The Dean will provide adept operational oversight of the School in a complex institutional environment grounded in shared governance and a deep commitment to graduate education. They will actively promote an institutional culture rooted in diversity, equity and inclusion. The new Dean will strengthen the School through philanthropic support, strategic partnerships and innovative ways of diversifying revenue, and engage and inspire stakeholders within the school and across the campus to amplify the impact of UC Berkeley and enhance the distinction of the Goldman School.

The successful candidate will have a record of scholarly achievement that merits a tenured appointment at UC Berkeley at the rank of full Professor and will, through previous experience, including possibly as a public policy professional, demonstrate commitment to excellence in the study, teaching, and practice of public policy. The new Dean will demonstrate a record of responsible organizational leadership; success in advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion; evidence of, or potential for success in, fundraising; a record of creating consensus typified by a collaborative, open, and accessible approach; and provide a strong and influential voice for the need to transform our society.

Inquiries, nominations, and applications are invited. The leadership profile can be reviewed at www.wittkieffer.com. Applicants must submit a CV, preferably with a letter of interest, via WittKieffer’s candidate portal (https://candidateportal.wittkieffer.com/description?jobID=21385) or by email. Applicants must also apply directly to UC Berkeley at https://aprecruit.berkeley.edu/JPF02703. For fullest consideration, materials should be received by October 30, 2020. An earned terminal degree, or the international equivalent, by the time of application is required. Confidential nominations, inquiries, and applications can be directed to: Suzanne Teer, Veena Abraham, J.D., and Jessica Herrington at BerkeleyGoldman@wittkieffer.com.

Start Date: Date Posted: 9/15/2020
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 8052

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Migration and Development)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). In the face of the challenging social, political, economic, and ethical issues raised by the substantial increase in foreign-born populations, IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to examine the impact of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. Through collaborations with the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research generates solutions with the potential to improve... positions. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
We are looking for a postdoctoral fellow to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects broadly related to migration and development. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but January 2021 or earlier is preferred. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running and managing field experiments and/or household surveys in developing countries is preferred. Knowledge of immigration/refugee policy will also be valued, with the ability to operate professionally in French highly preferred.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16649 (ID16649). We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2020. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the executive director of the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc – Migration and Development).

Start Date: Winter 2021
Application Deadline: 9/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8026

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Migration and Development)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). In the face of the challenging social, political, economic, and ethical issues raised by the substantial increase in foreign-born populations, IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to examine the impact of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. Through collaborations with the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research generates solutions with the potential to improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
We are looking for a postdoctoral fellow to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects broadly related to migration and development. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on research design, survey design and implementation, data acquisition, data analysis, and interpretation of results for projects associated with IPL’s Migration and Development Initiative (generously supported by the Stanford King Center on Global Development).

IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but January 2021 or earlier is preferred. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications

---

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

---

October 2020
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis. Experience in running and managing field experiments and/or household surveys in developing countries is preferred. Knowledge of immigration/refugee policy will also be valued, with the ability to operate professionally in French highly preferred.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements:
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/16649 (ID16649). We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2020. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the executive director of the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawren@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc – Migration and Development).

Start Date: Winter 2021
Application Deadline: 9/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/3/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8027

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding, new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high-quality, policy-relevant research on critical issues related to global development.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2021 for a one- or two-year appointment. The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program is intended for promising new PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy-relevant research on topics related to international development and poverty alleviation. The King Center’s postdoctoral fellows should expect to be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University.

The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program particularly encourages applications from women and minority PhD recipients, and from scholars from low- and middle-income countries, as well as from others whose backgrounds and experience would contribute to the diversity (broadly defined) of the program.

The King Center provides a competitive fellowship stipend, plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2020 via the application form linked from the King Center’s website.

For more details and the application, please visit: https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoral-fellows-program

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7983

Drake University
Rank: Assistant Professor of American Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Drake University seeks to recruit an assistant professor (tenure-track) of American Public Policy, starting Fall 2021. Teaching responsibilities include a 3-3 teaching load and will include the introductory American Politics course and upper-level undergraduate courses covering domestic public policy (process and theory), policy analysis, and topics consistent with the individual’s research specialization. Faculty also have the opportunity to teach Honors courses and First Year Seminar courses.

Drake is a private, comprehensive, coeducational institution located in Des Moines, Iowa, the state capital and the fastest growing city in the Midwest. Drake is a hub of political activity during the Iowa caucuses and offers exceptional opportunities for experiential learning, student engagement, and scholarship on policy formulation and discourse in local, state, and national contexts. We are an equal-opportunity employer (EEO) dedicated to building a diverse and pluralistic community and strongly encourage applications from all qualified applicants. We are excited to welcome colleagues who will provide support for and work effectively with individuals and groups from diverse backgrounds. The Department consists of 7 full-time faculty members and offers majors in both politics and international relations. Information about the department can be found at: https://www.drake.edu/polsci/.

Salary is competitive with peer schools and dependent on qualifications and experience. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2020. To apply, go to https://drake.hiretouch.com/ and submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, the names of three references, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement on teaching philosophy), a writing sample and a diversity statement.

Questions may be directed to the search committee chair Matt Bruinekool at Matt.Bruinekool@drake.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2020
Date Posted: 8/27/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8009

University of Chicago
Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Science/Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applicants for tenure-track faculty positions in Political Science or Political Economy at the Assistant Professor level. The search is open with respect to subfield. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by July 31, 2021 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago’s Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/78291. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, and 4) no more than one-page abstract from their job market paper or dissertation. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a cover letter, research statement, additional writing sample, and/or a third letter of reference. Review of applicants will begin on September 26, 2020. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2021.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University’s Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7989

University of Arizona
Rank: Assistant Professor- Law and Policy

The School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) at the University of Arizona invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in law and policy/politics, beginning in fall 2020. The position is open to all law-related fields, but we are especially interested in empirically oriented scholars whose research and teaching address questions about law and race, gender, health, or environmental sustainability. The School of Government and Public Policy is a growing and vibrant academic community housing scholars of Political Science, Public Policy, and Administration and Management, and offers in person and online Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees, as well as an in-residence PhD. SGPP is also home to the first BA in Law degree offered in the United States. Additional information on the SGPP is available at http://sgpp.arizona.edu/.

SGPP is situated within the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more. Accepting a new position is a big life step. We want potential candidates and their families to be able to make informed decisions. Candidates who are considering relocation to the Tucson or Phoenix area, and have been offered an on-site interview, are encouraged to use the free services offered by Above & Beyond Relocation Services (ABRS). Ask your department contact to be introduced to ABRS prior to your visit. The University of Arizona has been recognized on Forbes 2015 list of America’s Best Employers in the United States and has been awarded the 2015 Work-Life Seal of Distinction by the Alliance for Work-Life Progress. For more information about working at the University of Arizona, please click here.

A PhD in political science, public policy, or a related social science field, is required by the time of appointment. The candidate will be expected to have a demonstrated ability to conduct and publish significant empirical research. The successful candidate will be expected to teach two courses per semester at the undergraduate and/or graduate level, and to participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service. Our faculty also help to develop innovative approaches to enhancing student engagement, increasing diversity, and expanding collaborations with community and business partners.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, statement of research and teaching interests, current curriculum Vitae, and a writing sample via this job requisition. Additionally, applicants will need to provide three letters of references. Please submit these letters of reference via email to ahackett@arizona.edu. General questions can be directed the School of Government & Public Policy Administration Manager, Angela Hackett at ahackett@arizona.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/17/2020

New York University - Abu Dhabi
Rank: Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science - Division of Social Science

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint a Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science starting September 2021. Later start dates are also possible. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

Here is the link to apply:

http://apply.interfolio.com/77968

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socsci@nyu.edu.
The Congressional Research Service (CRS) seeks a senior manager to lead its American Law Division (ALD), one of CRS’s five research divisions. CRS provides objective, nonpartisan, and authoritative legislative research, analysis, and consultative support exclusively to the U.S. Congress.

This position serves as head of the American Law Division, a major CRS research division. In this capacity, and reporting directly to the Director of CRS, the Assistant Director manages, within the interdisciplinary environment of CRS, a professional legal staff in its production of written products and consulting services in support of the U.S. Congress.

Working directly with congressional committees and Members of the House and Senate, attorneys within CRS’s American Law Division contribute to an informed national legislature as it considers legal and policy issues of importance to the American people. Areas of research, analysis, and consultative support include all facets of law in the United States, including administrative, business, civil rights, constitutional, energy, environmental, health, immigration, intellectual property, international, labor, military, national security, procurement, tax and trade law.

The Assistant Director ensures that written and consulting work is of the highest quality and consistently meets the Service’s standards of objectivity, nonpartisanship, timeliness, legislative relevance, authoritativeness, and accessibility. In addition, the Assistant Director actively collaborates with managers and staff in CRS’s other research divisions to ensure that a multifaceted approach to policy issues is taken to best inform Congressional decision-making.

The Assistant Director leads implementation of the Service’s agenda for legal issues within the division’s areas of responsibility, including approaches, frameworks, and methodologies for addressing policy and legislative issues. This includes demonstrating personal intellectual leadership in monitoring congressional needs in the various policy areas and assuring access to the intellectual capacity needed to meet current and changing needs of the United States Congress at a sustained level of excellence. This also includes exercising overall responsibility for the oversight and management of the division’s human, financial, material, and information research assets, including a staff of approximately 65 employees. In performing these activities, the Assistant Director is responsible for ensuring that the research, analytical, and consulting activities of the division are aligned with the legislative needs of Congress and with the priorities, goals, and policies of CRS for meeting those needs.

The Assistant Director also serves as one of the chief advisors to the Director, counseling the Director on all aspects of the research management and operations of CRS and recommending specific policies and procedures for improving the Service’s overall quality, efficiency, and effectiveness. The Assistant Director serves as a member of the Director’s senior management team and serves as a principal CRS representative to Members, committees, and officers of the United States Congress.

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online: https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/576048300.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/7/2020
Date Posted: 8/12/2020
Salary: $130,000 - $139,999
eJobs ID: 7976

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowships

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking fellowship applicants for the 2021–2022 academic year. The programs offer unique opportunities, domestic and overseas, for accomplished mid and senior career professionals. Selected fellows broaden their foreign policy experience by spending their fellowships in public service or research environments.

Applications are due by October 31, 2020.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It provides individuals the opportunity to spend one year in policymaking or research oriented environments. The program awards a stipend of $105,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Canada sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada, provides selected fellows the opportunity to spend six to twelve months at a Canadian institution working on U.S.-Canada relations. It awards a stipend of $95,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Japan brings a cadre of American professionals to Japan for three to twelve months to study and work on U.S.-Japan relations. The program is intended for those without substantial prior experience in Japan. The program awards a competitive stipend in yen.

The International Affairs Fellowship in India affords fellows with the opportunity to spend three to twelve months conducting research on India and U.S. relations. It is aimed at professionals who have had little prior experience in India. It awards a stipend of $90,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics offers economists hands-on experience in the U.S. government and the opportunity to apply a range of research tools to international economic policy issues. It lasts six and nine months with a stipend starting at $150,000.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/31/2020
Date Posted: 8/5/2020
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7961