In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science ...................... 3

Job Listings

Administration ................................................. 4
American Government and Politics .................. 11
Comparative Politics ........................................ 68
International Relations .................................. 116
Methodology .................................................... 165
Non-Academic ................................................ 178
Open .............................................................. 181
Other .............................................................. 207
Political Theory ............................................... 233
Public Administration ..................................... 247
Public Law ....................................................... 265
Public Policy .................................................... 277
About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA’s over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science ........................................ 3

Job Listings

Administration .................................................. 4 (11 listings)
American Government and Politics ........ 11 (96 listings)
Comparative Politics ................................. 68 (86 listings)
International Relations ......................... 116 (92 listings)
Methodology .................................................... 165 (22 listings)
Non-Academic .............................................. 178 (4 listings)
Open .......................................................... 181 (47 listings)
Other ............................................................. 207 (45 listings)
Political Theory ............................................. 233 (22 listings)
Public Administration ............................... 247 (27 listings)
Public Law ................................................... 265 (16 listings)
Public Policy .................................................. 277 (82 listings)
Total listings this issue ....................................... 550
Resources and Guidance on Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

EJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

---

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary
- 1. What is the salary structure?
- 2. How is salary normally negotiated?
- 3. How are annual increases handled?
- 4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities
- 1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
  - departmental and institutional committee work,
  - professional or disciplinary activities, and
  - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support
- 1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
  - access to research materials and equipment,
  - the employment of research assistants,
  - research expenses on/off campus, and
  - travel expenses for conferences?

Teaching Support
- 1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
  - the development of teaching expertise,
  - innovations in teaching, and
  - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review
- 1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
- 2. What are the department’s expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
- 3. What are the department’s expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives
- 1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
- 2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
  - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
  - family needs of faculty and staff, and
  - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance
- 1. What are the plans offered?
- 2. How are benefits disbursed?
- 3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
- 4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
- 5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement
- 1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
- 2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
- 3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

---

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.
Political Science Jobs for November

ADMINISTRATION

Middle Tennessee State University
Rank: Department Chair
Subfield(s): Administration, Open, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations invites applicants for the position of department chair (#128005). Applicants must be eligible to meet the criteria for the rank of either associate professor or professor. Expedited tenure upon appointment possible. The start date for the position is August 1, 2022.

The successful candidate will lead a department that offers undergraduate degrees and concentrations in Political Science, Pre-Law, Public Policy, and Management, and International Relations and an M.A. in International Affairs. The department seeks candidates who are committed to DEI and emphasize collaborative leadership and the ability to manage quotidian operations while focusing on long-range plans to foster growth and sustain quality programs.

The successful candidate will prioritize excellence in teaching, have a distinguished record of scholarship, and a commitment to equitable student success. In addition, the successful candidate will have demonstrated leadership abilities, strong interpersonal and problem-solving skills, and provide advocacy for diverse student and faculty concerns. A terminal degree in Political Science or a closely related field is required. While the research and teaching specialization are open, those specializing in public policy, public management, or pre-law may receive special consideration. In addition, candidates with prior administrative experience—including management of budgets, experience with assessment for learning improvement, and interest in recruitment and fundraising may also receive special consideration.

To apply or for more detailed information visit https://careers.mtsu.edu. MTSU is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that values diversity in all its forms. Women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9625

Harvard University
Rank: Cluster Search in Climate, Environment, and Resources

The Harvard Kennedy School invites applications for multiple faculty appointments of leading scholars or highly accomplished practitioners as part of a cluster search in the area of Climate, Environment, and Resources. The scope of the search is broad and includes scholars with expertise in 1) public policy related to climate change and climate policy, energy policy, environmental policy, and the energy transition; and/or 2) the role of global, national, and sub-national institutions in the governance of climate, environment, and resources, with institutions viewed broadly as the structural dimensions of governance.

The search is open to scholars and practitioners at all levels of appointment, including tenured and tenure-track faculty as well as professors of practice. We welcome applicants from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds, including political science, economics, other social sciences, law, operations research, systems analysis, and engineering. Candidates should send a cover letter, CV, list of references, and at least two published research papers to: http://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/10727. Applications will be reviewed beginning November 1st, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 9563

Colorado State University
Rank: CSU STEPs Program Manager
Subfield(s): Administration, Methodology, Non-Academic
Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Quantitative Methods, Gender Politics & Policy

DESCRIPTION OF WORK UNIT:

This position is based out of the Office of the Provost and Executive Vice President and will work collaboratively with the Office of the Vice President for Inclusive Excellence, the Office of Equal Opportunity, and the CSU STEM Center. The position is crucial university-wide and will help launch a new program in faculty equity.

The Provost’s Office oversees – among other things – faculty affairs on campus, including assisting with faculty and staff diversity and inclusion initiatives, new faculty appointments, the promotion and tenure process, and faculty evaluations including annual reviews and post-tenure reviews. These structural pieces are all key to equity.

POSITION SUMMARY:

We seek a Program Manager in the area of gender equity in academia to help lead an NSF-funded ADVANCE grant, called CSU STEPs for Gender Equity. The successful candidate will play a pivotal role in developing this exciting new initiative. The position is intended to continue after the grant-funded work is complete. Applicants must have at least a bachelor’s degree in a relevant field, 3 years of relevant professional experience, and in-depth knowledge of organizational equity.

This position reports to the Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs and coordinates with the Principal Investigator (PI) of the ADVANCE grant.

Specific duties include: defining the processes, procedures, and reporting to manage the program; monitoring progress to make sure milestones are met across the various projects and overall program; managing the program budget; coordinating communications (teleconferences, face-to-face, written, etc.); organizing, leading and participating in regular group meetings; researching and external and internal reviews; coordinating program reports including assisting with document preparation and submission. CSU STEPs is a new initiative and this is a new position. The successful candidate should have the ability to figure things out as they go.

CSU STEPs will implement specific activities and programming including creating a forum of department heads and chairs to deepen their understanding of DEI; further imbue faculty searches with principles of equity and inclusion; provide training and support for chairs of promotion and tenure committees; increasing retention.
MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS
Bachelor’s degree in a relevant field (e.g., Project Management; Educational Leadership; Organizational Development; Diversity, Equity, Inclusion; or a STEM discipline)
3 years of relevant professional experience requiring a high level of competency and responsibility. Examples of relevant professional experience would be work in the areas of diversity, equity and inclusion; project or program management; higher education; faculty matters.

in-depth knowledge of organizational equity

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:
in-depth knowledge of U.S. higher education
Demonstrated project management experience, including scope and time management, budgeting and procurement components; using project management software experience communicating complex issues, building relationships, and working through conflict to consensus or resolution within and across varied groups direct experience working with faculty
Masters or PhD in a relevant field experience managing federally funded projects demonstrated knowledge of intersectionality in diversity, equity, inclusion and social justice topics ability to generate enthusiasm and excitement in others

SALARY
$60,000 to $80,000 Salary is commensurate on experience and qualifications.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be received by 11:59 p.m. Mountain Standard Time on 11/07/2021.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS
Interested applicants must submit a cover letter (2 pages maximum) which addresses your interest in the position along with how your professional experiences align with identified required and preferred qualifications of the position, a current resume, and the names, e-mail addresses, and telephone numbers of three professional references. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates.

For full consideration, apply not later than 11/07/2021, 11:59 pm (MT) at https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/93165 - Applications must be submitted via this link – no other method of submission will be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/7/2021
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9560

Columbia University
Rank: Professor of Professional Practice in Global Policy
Subfield(s): Other, Public Administration, Administration

Professor of Professional Practice in Global Policy
Founding Director of MPA in Global Leadership Program
Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train graduate students for careers in global public policy.

SIPA now invites applications for a full-time appointment as Professor of Professional Practice to launch and run a new graduate degree for senior leaders in global policy and management. The position is expected to begin July 1, 2022, or as soon as possible.

Candidates must have at least 10 years’ experience in senior positions and be widely recognized for their distinction in a global policy field related to SIPA’s areas of excellence. Candidates also must be willing and able to continue to make significant contributions in their field of practice and knowledge. Preferred candidates will hold a graduate degree (PhD or equivalent preferred) and possess university-level teaching experience or show strong promise to succeed as an instructor in a demanding academic environment. Preferred candidates should also show strong promise to succeed as the founding Director of an important new degree program.

The Professor of Professional Practice will serve as founding Director of the Master’s in Public Administration in Global Leadership, an intensive 10-month degree designed to prepare senior leaders from around the world to make an even greater impact in their fields. The Director will serve as the academic leader of the program, recruiting instructors and guest lecturers for courses, seminars and workshops and overseeing academic advising of students. The Director will be expected to teach three courses per year in the program (organizing and overseeing the Summer session counts as one course). Working with a full-time Program Manager/Assistant Director and other SIPA professional staff, the Director will oversee student recruitment and admissions, build strategic partnerships, and build and nurture a strong alumni community. The new degree, which has been approved by Columbia University and the New York State Education Department, will enroll its first students in August 2023.

The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA’s academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

To submit your application, please visit our online application site here:
http://apply.interfolio.com/95921

Screening of applicants will begin on November 10.

For further information, please contact Hazel May, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at sipa_academicaffairs@sipa.columbia.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/6/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9522

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Director of Undergraduate Advising

Special Instructions to Applicants

Please submit your application online and include a cover letter, resume, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter, please include a diversity statement that is a paragraph or two in length that discusses your commitment to equity, inclusion, and diversity. Position will remain open until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

Job Summary

Leads a team of academic advisors and provides complex comprehensive advising for students in College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS) majors, double majors, dual degrees, minors, as well as University exploratory track students. Ensures high quality advising and academic services for all students, with particular emphasis on programmatic needs for first-year, transfer, and at-risk students. Leads the development and delivery of programs and services that will enhance student success, retention, and the student experience. Analyzes and uses student data to inform and improve programmatic and individual student advising performance. Collaborates with the department’s Undergraduate Studies Committee to inform program changes and improve undergraduate programs and students’ experiences. Uses computer-based registration and academic records technology, such as Spire and Navigate. Responsive to the widely varied needs of diverse student populations and works in a high volume and fast-paced work environment.

Essential Functions

Leads a small team of academic advisors providing services for SBS students. Trains, mentors, and supervises employees to ensure high-quality and highly-responsive academic advising services. Provides comprehensive, individualized and small group advising to a diverse population of students during the academic year, including new student and transfer orientation/registration periods, and current student registration periods. Responds to common issues such as registration-related matters including fulfilling University general education requirements, interpreting major and college requirements, and providing guidance for dual degrees, double majors, and minors. Assists students with complex matters that involve goal setting, self-assessment and time management skills, planning and decision-making such as establishing an academic plan, choosing a major within and outside of SBS, selecting courses, and evaluating courses for study-abroad experiences. Conducts one-on-one advising sessions for both declared and exploratory track students. Identifies at-risk students experiencing academic and often critical personal difficulties. Addresses relevant issues and makes appropriate referrals to University agencies. Advises a diverse incoming (first-year and transfer) population in a fast-paced, high-volume advising format during New Student Orientation before the start of each semester. Responds to and manages high-stress and sensitive inquiries from parents or caregivers in accordance with FERPA and in a highly-professional and respectful manner and tone.

Alerts Assistant Dean when unanticipated issues arise and assists in finding solutions. Manages higher-risk students and students with specialized needs with the support of Assistant Dean. Represents SBS and departmental advising programs on college and university-level committees as needed and work collaboratively with relevant faculty, staff, students, student groups and other campus groups as necessary. Participates in evening and weekend activities including Destination Days (Open House), Senior Celebration, Undergraduate Commencement, and other activities and events that may be developed. Manages complex graduation clearance processing, being familiar with all changes in degree programs, and oversees departmental colleagues to determine any curricular exceptions. Collaborates in training new professional, graduate student, and peer advisors by providing them with and helping them understand the most current information about requirements in SBS majors and other majors of prospective SBS students. Executes special projects as needed to support SBS Assistant Deans and the mission of the SBS Pathways Center, departments, and the College. Develops strategies using department, SBS, and University-wide data to inform advising services, recruitment, and retention; to identify and describe key strengths, weaknesses, and patterns in the program; and to transform that information into student service and programmatic improvements. Assesses, improves, and maintains undergraduate/advising communication and outreach strategies to strengthen the College or department’s overall communications strategy. Develops and maintains relevant templates, scripts and other tools for use in recruitment, retention, guidance and other key dimensions of advising.

Other Functions

Performs related duties as assigned or required to meet Department, Executive Area/Division, and University goals and objectives. Demonstrates capacity, skill and willingness to engage students and contribute to student success. Works collaboratively with SBS colleagues and other campus stakeholders to fulfill the mission of Student Affairs and Campus Life, and Student Success. Establishes and continually updates knowledge of faculty teaching, research, and interest areas as well as campus resources to appropriately refer majors for additional consultation, advising, and coursework.

Minimum Qualifications (Knowledge, Skills, Abilities, Education, Experience, Certifications, Licensure)

Master’s degree in the Social Sciences, Higher Education, or a closely-related field plus four years professional experience in advising or promoting student success. Experience in serving a large, culturally-diverse population. Demonstrated capacity for supervision of professional staff. Able to recognize at-risk individuals and provide appropriate support and direction. Demonstrated ability to manage a high volume of complex and varied client needs. Oral, written, and interpersonal communication skills. Strong organizational and problem-solving skills and the ability to work collaboratively with department, College, and University colleagues. Intermediate level computer proficiency; the ability to use data analytics and associated tools to proactively identify patterns across student outcomes and profiles and to organize and evaluate the success of programming, workshops, campaigns and communication channels. Skilled in small group presentations and able to take initiative and work independently or collaboratively with various university personnel. Highly knowledgeable with respect to FERPA, Title IX, and all University academic rules and regulations.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

Physical Demands/Working Conditions

Typical office environment.

Work Schedule

Monday – Friday, 37.5 hours/week.
Required to work some nights and weekends.

Salary Information

Level 27

PSU Salary Ranges

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/30/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9514

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant/Associate Teaching Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a non-tenure track position as a teaching and advising faculty member. The position is open as to field of Political Science and will involve teaching a mix of larger and smaller undergraduate classes, advising the department’s large number of undergraduate majors, and assisting in the administration of the department’s undergraduate program.

We expect the appointment to be at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor, but may consider hiring at the rank of Associate Teaching Professor for exceptional candidates with significant experience as college or university instructors. The position also offers the potential of reappointment and promotion to Associate Teaching Professor (for candidates hired at the Assistant Teaching Professor level) and Full Teaching Professor. Decisions on reappointment and promotion of teaching faculty members are based on demonstrated excellence in teaching, advising, and service.

Successful candidates will have demonstrated excellence in undergraduate teaching and a commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students.

Preference for this position will be given to candidates who already have the PhD. However, we will consider candidates who are very near completion of the PhD and provide clear evidence of likely completion by the end of the current academic year.

Applications are due by December 15, 2021, with interviews of a short list of candidates to be conducted early in the Spring 2022 semester. All applicants should include a CV, letter of interest, a teaching statement, teaching evaluations, a proposed syllabus for a lecture course, a proposed syllabus for a small seminar course, and three letters of recommendation.

Apply via Interfolio here: https://apply.interfolio.com/96087

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9494

New York University

Rank: Research Operations Director

Social media has transformed politics around the world and the way we receive and engage with information. NYU’s Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) hosts a global community of scholars to study the impact of this transformation. Our rigorous, policy-relevant research harnesses social media data to study politics in new ways and explores how social media affects public opinion and political behavior. Through innovative research, teaching, and outreach, CSMaP aims to advance scientific knowledge and inform public policy and discourse in the digital age.

We are looking for a Research Operations Director (Researcher) to help direct the Center’s research portfolio, which currently includes 50+ projects across diverse substantive and methodological areas. This position is responsible for working with our research community of faculty, postdocs, engineers, students, and staff to manage the center’s research operations. You will balance strategic insight with operational execution; you will not only identify and strategize new research processes and systems, but will also support each research project towards completion.

Responsibilities will include project planning and coordination for complex research; research implementation (e.g., fielding surveys, developing research plans, and scoping and executing social media data purchases); managing and recommending research priorities for the leadership team; ensuring cross-center communication; overseeing on- and off-peer-router and support; and supporting a positive and inclusive culture. You will also be responsible for directly overseeing a team of two research coordinators — a full-time project manager and part-time project associate — with possible team growth in the coming year(s).

To apply, please visit: https://apply.interfolio.com/96962

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9441

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Faculty Program Coordinator/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer - Data Analytics and Policy

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Administration

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Location:
Washington, DC, 20036

Institution Description:
The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation’s oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master’s degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master’s degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:
The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks a Faculty Program Coordinator to teach in and provide administrative support to the Data Analytics and Policy program. The Master of Science in Data Analytics and Policy and Certificate in Data Analytics and Policy prepare students to be data-driven leaders and decision makers. Of particular interest are candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds.

The Faculty Program Coordinator is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer. The Faculty Program Coordinator will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, Director of the Data Analytics and Policy Program, and the Program Coordinator for the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies. The position will report to the Associate Dean for AAP and the Program Director for Data Analytics and Policy. This position is expected to begin January 2022. The Program Coordinator will have the following faculty and administrative responsibilities:

Faculty Responsibilities:
- Teaching 6 graduate courses per year, including the preparation for and time spent in the classroom (online or onsite), using best practices for online teaching, engaging and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, responding to student questions;
- Advising students;
- Providing input on the curriculum and new course developments to ensure the delivery of quality programs;
- Other academic duties normally performed by full-time or regular part-time faculty, such as participating on committees and in other academic service.

Administrative Responsibilities:
- Assist with management of the MS in Data Analytics and Policy and Certificate in Data Analytics and Policy programs;
- Participate in adjunct faculty hiring and development;
- Assist the Program Director with administrative work to support the programs;
- Other administrative duties as assigned.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:
- Master’s degree in Political Science, Public Policy, Statistics, Data Science, Public Finance;
- 1-3 years of teaching experience at the graduate and/or undergraduate level;
- 1-3 years of work experience, including but not limited to outside consulting or collaborative work within the fields of public policy, public finance, program evaluation, risk analysis and/or data science;
- The ability to teach a variety of courses in areas of applied statistics, data visualization, programming and public policy.

Preferred Qualifications:
- Experience using and teaching the R programming language.
- Terminal Degree in Political Science, Public Policy, Statistics, Data Science, Public Finance;
- 4 or more years of teaching experience at the graduate level, including online teaching experience;
- 4 or more years of work experience in a relevant field including but not limited to outside consulting or collaborative work within the fields of public policy, program evaluation, risk analysis and/or data science;
- Strong organizational skills;
- Ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines;
- Excellent oral and written communication skills;
- Experience performing administrative work in an academic setting;
- Experience with or interest in learning Tableau and Python;
- Interest in revising and/or developing courses in one or more advanced areas of analytics, such as text analysis, machine learning and predictive analytics.

Application Instructions:
The position will remain open until filled.

Candidates must submit the following:
- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- 3 references and their contact information
- Teaching evaluations for the most recent two semesters.

Candidates can apply here: https://apply.interfolio.com/94475

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9380

Texas A&M University
Rank: Tenured: Professor & Department Head

The International Affairs Department at the Bush School of Government and Public Service, Texas A&M University, invites applications for a full-time Department Head and Tenured Professor position. The Department Head supervises a well-resourced department that houses the accredited master’s degree programs in International Affairs and International Policy as well as graduate certificate programs in international development and economic policy, geospatial intelligence, national security affairs, and cybersecurity policy.

The Department Head oversees the department management and budget, curriculum, staffing, University engagement, and long-run planning for an interdisciplinary department of 29 full-time in residence faculty members. The Department Head also participates in the management of the Bush School’s newly established teaching site in Washington D.C., in conjunction with the Bush School Dean and the Washington D.C. site Executive Director.

The Bush School of Government and Public Service is a full member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs (APSIA). Programs in the department develop principled leaders providing students with the tools and knowledge they need to perform public service effectively and ethically. The master’s programs and related certificate offerings seek to provide students with a superior professional education for careers in international affairs within government, international organizations, or non-governmental organizations.

The successful candidate will meet qualifications required of a tenured full professor, including Ph.D. in political science, history, economics or related social science discipline relevant to international affairs, a substantial record of scholarly publication, demonstrated success in teaching, and management skills demonstrated through leadership roles in universities, government, organizations or associations. In addition, the successful candidate will have a record of professional university service, excellent communication skills with a commitment to working effectively with individuals of diverse backgrounds. The successful candidate will assume an 11-month academic administrative appointment as full professor of international affairs on August 1, 2022, with the possibility of holding an endowed chair.

Review of complete applications will begin in early November 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Additional information about the Bush School and Department is available at https://bush.tamu.edu/inta/.

Texas A&M University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability employer committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment. Applications from veterans, individuals with disabilities, women, minorities, and other members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged.

Applications are only accepted online at http://apply.interfolio.com/91789

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9320

U.S. Naval War College
Rank: Provost

The U.S. Naval War College invites applications and nominations of qualified candidates for the position of Provost to commence the appointment no later than 1 August 2022.

The Institutional Setting: The College is first and foremost a federally-funded graduate level Professional Military Education and research institution serving the U.S. Navy, the Department of Defense, and the Nation. Since its founding in 1884 by Rear Admiral Stephen B. Luce, the Naval War College has been “...a place of original research on all questions relating to war and to statesmanship connected with war, or the prevention of war.” Annually the College conducts six resident professional military education programs to over 500 students. The student body consists of members of all the military services, civilians from governmental agencies, and officers from many partner nations. The College is accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education to award a Master of Arts Degree in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies, and by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to award Joint Professional Military Education (JPME) Phase I and Phase II credit. The College of Distance Education conducts seven nonresident programs currently reaching 350,000 students, providing JPME I, Introductory, Basic, and Primary PME to sailors stationed around the globe. The College’s Center for Naval Warfare Studies (CNWS) serves as the research arm of the College, providing maritime-focused war gaming and strategic research with the goal of assisting the Navy’s leadership in defining the future Navy. Since 1956 the College has maintained a vigorous international program through the Naval Command and Naval Staff Colleges. With over 55 countries represented each year, a majority of our international graduates go on to achieve the rank of admiral or general in their Service and many become chiefs of their Navy. The College of Maritime Operational Warfare (CMOW) provides intermediate- and senior-level leadership development and combat readiness programs. Its curriculum centers on the ever-evolving ethical, operational, and tactical challenges facing today’s naval officers. CMOW assists the Navy in maintaining Fleet operational readiness. The College of Leadership and Ethics (CLE) is responsible for leader development and associated strategies for U.S. Navy flag officers delivering courses and tailored activities. CLE also supports 17 Navy communities in the development and execution of their respective leader development strategies through the Navy’s Leader Development Continuum. As part of the core curriculum, resident students will take the Leadership in the Profession of Arms (LPA) course. The primary objective of the LPA course is to provide a developmental experience through a self-learning journey that combines education rigor and professional relevance. We are actively seeking candidates with diverse academic, demographic, and professional backgrounds. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

The Position: The Provost serves as the Chief Operating Officer of the College, and, except for those tasks that must be executed by an active duty officer as a matter of law and/or policy, assumes the responsibilities of the President in their absence. Key responsibilities include:

• Exercising effective oversight and coordination of the accomplishment of the College’s functions of professional military education; research, analysis, and gaming; leadership; maritime operational level education, international programs; and mission support.
• Providing effective oversight of the development, deployment and maintenance of the College’s Strategic Planning Framework to accomplish its mission, functions, and tasks. This shall include but is not limited to the College’s Missions, Functions, and Tasks Statement, the College’s Strategic Plan, its Physical Resource Strategy, its Technology Investment Strategy, its Financial Resources Strategy, the College’s Human Resources Strategy, and the College’s Strategic Communication Plan.
• Serving as Dean of Faculty and principal advisor to the President on matters pertaining to the recruiting, development, evaluation, promotion, and discipline of civilian faculty members.
• Overseeing business operations, financial management, internal controls, development of a human capital strategy that embodies the Department of the Navy’s vision for workforce development and talent management and exceeds DoD EEO and Diversity and Inclusion standards. Coordinating the preparation of the College’s annual budget and the College’s participation in the Navy’s Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution process.
• As the Senior Civilian at the College, the Provost serves as the approving authority for all civilian personnel actions, which includes, but is not limited to, new hires, renewals, promotions, reassignments, details, classification of positions, pay matters, suspensions, reductions in grade, adjudicating administrative grievances, and EEO resolution.

• The following positions report to the Provost: all Deans, Associate Provost, Deputy to the Provost, and Library Director.

Required Qualifications and Competencies: The College seeks candidates who are successful, proven leaders in the academic world. Candidates must be qualified to hold the appointment of Professor at the College. Graduate degree required; an earned terminal degree (e.g., Ph.D., Ed.D.) is desired, but candidates with comparable executive-level experience successfully leading large organizations will be considered. The ideal candidate will have a strong background in teaching, experience with academic institutions, the ability to lead and manage a diverse group of faculty and staff, financial and managerial competence, and an understanding of the unique niche the College occupies for the Navy and the Department of Defense. The ideal candidate will enable a collaborative executive leadership team that supports a vibrant and diverse community in their pursuit of excellence in education, research, and outreach. Candidates must be U.S. citizens and capable of obtaining a Department of Defense Top Secret/Sensitive Compartmented Information (SCI) security clearance. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and to random drug testing thereafter.

Appointment and Compensation: This appointment is governed by provisions of 10 USC § 8748 as delegated by the Secretary of the Navy, and the regulations that apply to “Excepted Service” appointments under Schedule A. For the successful candidate, the initial term of appointment is expected to be four years in length with provisions for renewal dependent on level of performance. The entire term of the Provost cannot exceed eight years. Salary is competitive and accompanied by a generous federal benefit package that includes health insurance and retirement saving plans, paid vacation, paid sick leave, and other benefits. Salary is commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule. Expected start date is no later than the 1 August 2022 at the College’s campus in Newport, RI.

Address applications to: The application should include a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, and the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three professional references. Candidates desiring to apply for this important position should send their application package by email to: nwc-21-10@usnwc.edu and must reference VAE#NWC-21-10. Applications will be accepted until 11:59 pm (EST) 29 November 2021.

NOTICE OF VETERANS PREFERENCE: There is no formal rating system for applying veterans’ preference to the excepted service; however, the Department of Defense considers veterans’ preference eligibility a positive factor for hiring. Applicants eligible for veterans’ preference must include that information in their cover letter or resume and attach supporting documentation (e.g., DD Form 214, Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty) to their submissions. Although the point-preference system is not used, applicants eligible to claim 10-Point preference must submit a Standard Form (SF) 15, Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference, and supporting documents required for specific type of preference claimed. (SF 15, which lists the types of 10-Point Preference and the required supporting documents, is available from the Office of Personnel Management Website at www.opm.gov.)

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement dated to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 11/29/2021
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9263

University of Akron
Rank: Director, Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics at The University of Akron
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Other
Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The University of Akron’s Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics, in cooperation with the Department of Political Science, is seeking applicants for the position of Director. This 12-month position, starting as early as January 2022 but no later than July 1, 2022, includes an appointment as a tenured Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science.

The successful candidate will oversee the activities of the Bliss Institute, including managing its budget, supervising its full-time and part-time staff, coordinating research projects (including polling activities), administering its extensive internship program, and hosting conferences. The Director will be a faculty member of the Department of Political Science with teaching responsibilities and will be responsible for administering the Institute’s academic programs, including the Master of Applied Politics [MAP] degree program and the Undergraduate and Graduate Certificate in Applied Politics. Further responsibilities include liaising with university, local, state, and national officials, engaging with the media, and promoting the overall mission of the Institute.

The successful candidate must be a highly experienced scholar with a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, with a record of publications in peer-reviewed journals and/or academic presses; have a record of teaching at the university level; and have a strong record of administrative experience. It is desirable for the candidate to have a competency in research methods with a demonstrable interest in applied politics at the state and/or national levels; experience in public policy, especially at the state and local levels; and previous experience in hosting conferences in an academic and/or governmental setting.

To apply for this position (University of Akron Job ID# 12850), you must complete the on-line application (available at: https://www.uakron.edu/hr/jobs.dot) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a list of three (3) professional references to your profile. Please include contact information, including email addresses, for your professional references. After submission of your application, return to the My Activities link and upload the required documents under the “My Cover Letters and Attachments” section.

Applicants should fully describe their qualifications and experience with reference to the minimum and preferred qualifications. This is the information on which the initial review of materials will be based. A resume will not be accepted in place of any information requested on the application. Inquiries about the position can be sent to Dr.
James T. McHugh at: mchugh@uakron.edu. For assistance with your application or attachments please call Hannah Kemp-Severence in Human Resources at 330-972-8399. Open until filled, however, initial review of applications will begin on September 1, 2021.

The University of Akron is committed to providing a safe environment for all students and employees. The University endeavors to protect the health, welfare and safety of all students, employees and visitors on our campus. As such, the University will require a pre-employment background check for all applicants selected for employment.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 4/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8821

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Grand Valley State University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Summary: The Department of Political Science seeks an assistant professor, full time, 9-month, tenure-track, specializing in race and ethnicity, and/or media.

Required Qualifications and Education:
• PhD in Political Science or related field
• ABD candidate will be considered for a two-year contract with provision that the PhD must be completed by December 2023
• Evidence of critical, reflective thinking about the successful teaching and learning of political science
• Demonstrated potential for producing peer-reviewed scholarship in political science
• Strong communication and interpersonal skills, such as the ability to interact with others with respect, empathy, and cultural humility
• Creativity and flexibility
• Demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion and access. This could include experience with inclusive pedagogies; research relating to marginalized populations or social inequality; engagement with community-based social justice work; and other forms of DEI-infused teaching, scholarship and service.

Preferred Qualifications and Education:
• Expertise in race and ethnicity, and/or media; expertise at the intersection of those topics with inequality and/or social movements is a plus
• We are primarily interested in someone whose research and teaching expertise is on race and ethnicity and/or media in American politics, but we also invite applications from scholars who examine these topics from a comparative perspective that encompasses a focus on the U.S.

Responsibilities: The successful hire will be expected to teach introductory courses in American politics and courses in the area(s) of the faculty member’s specialization such as race, ethnicity and politics; media and politics; or others. Teaching responsibilities would allow the opportunity to develop a new course (or courses) within the faculty member’s area of specialization. Regular faculty responsibilities each semester include teaching 9 credit hours, scholarship, and service. Department faculty are expected to maintain a productive program of scholarship and to participate actively in service. Employment begins August 6, 2022.

Salary/Benefits
The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. The university offers an excellent comprehensive package that includes health/vision/dental plans, life insurance, retirement, sick/leave disability, tuition waiver, adoption resources, wellness coaching, and free access to campus fitness facilities. Family and child care options on and off-campus are also available. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit Benefits and Wellness - Grand Valley State University (gvsu.edu).

Department/College:
The Political Science Department at Grand Valley State University is the home to a major (BA/BS) in political science, a major (BA) in international relations, and minors in both political science and IR. The department has 17 full-time faculty members, 223 political science majors and 68 international relations majors. The department is also a significant contributor to an interdisciplinary minor in human rights. Department offices are located on the Allendale campus, where nearly all of the department’s courses are taught.

The department values:
• Excellence in education facilitated through
  • Active student-teacher engagement and academic achievement in a rigorous and challenging course of study that emphasizes the development of critical and analytical thinking and writing.
  • Student exposure to a variety of theoretical and political perspectives for the purpose of enhancing critical and analytical thinking and writing skills.
  • A comprehensive coverage of the discipline and access to a wide variety of upper-level courses.
  • Emphasis on internships, co-curricular and civic education opportunities in our local, state, national and global communities.
• Excellence in faculty scholarship.
• Service to the discipline, unit, college, university and community.
• Student development as well-informed, global citizens in a democratic society.

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS) is the largest college at Grand Valley, offering over 50 bachelor’s degrees and a growing number of advanced degrees in the natural and mathematical sciences, the fine arts and humanities, and the social sciences. CLAS is a student-centered and diverse learning community that engages in critical inquiry, extending knowledge to enrich and enliven individual and public life. Our faculty are active teacher-scholars committed to equitable, inclusive, career-connected, and community-engaged liberal arts and sciences education. There are many opportunities for collaboration within CLAS and across a broad group of partners on and off campus. We are interested in attracting a cohort of new faculty committed to these core values as we seek to foster a community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together.

Campus/University: Grand Valley University (GVSU) is a public comprehensive institution located in West Michigan with campuses in Allendale, downtown Grand Rapids, and Holland, plus centers in Detroit, Muskegon and Traverse City. The University attracts more than 23,000 undergraduate and graduate students with high quality programs and state-of-the-art facilities, and has been nationally recognized for innovativeness and its contribution to students’ social mobility. The greater Grand Rapids metropolitan area has a population of around one million people, is affordable, and offers rich cultural amenities. Grand Valley is located within easy driving distance of Chicago, Detroit, Lake Michigan beaches, and many other superb summer and winter recreational venues. Information can be found at Community Resources - Human Resources - Grand Valley State University (gvsu.edu). Grand Valley is highly rated for safety, sustainability, and veteran and LGBTQ friendliness, and is committed to supporting employees and their families in work-life balance. The university seeks to create an inclusive and diverse environment for faculty and students while promoting enrichment of society through excellent teaching, active scholarship, and service. More information can be found at Grand Valley State University (gvsu.edu).

How to Apply: A complete application must include:
1. A cover letter addressing qualifications and motivation to work at GVSU
2. A curriculum vitae
3. A teaching statement that addresses the applicant’s teaching experience, philosophy and approach, and how the applicant meets the teaching-related qualifications of the position
4. A research statement that addresses the applicant’s research and plans for a productive agenda of scholarship
5. A diversity statement that describes past, ongoing and anticipated activities to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion in teaching, research/creative activity, and service, with particular attention to experiences engaging and supporting a diverse student body
6. Contact information (name, title, email address and phone number) of three professional references
7. Graduate transcripts (unofficial issued to students are acceptable to apply).

Apply online at Open Positions - GVSU Jobs - Grand Valley State University and select “Apply now”. The online application will allow applicants to attach these documents electronically. Applicants selected for interviews will be required to submit official transcripts prior to the interview. If you need assistance, call Human Resources at 616-331-2215. Email questions about the position to: Dr. Mark Richards, Political Science Search Committee Chair (richardm@gvsu.edu).

Application Deadline: The review process will begin on December 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The posting may be closed at any time at the discretion of the University.

Allendale, Michigan 49401 - (616) 331-5000
For more information about Grand Valley, see our website at www.gvsu.edu

Grand Valley State University is an EOE which includes protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. See http://www.gvsu.edu/affirmative/. TDD Callers: Call Michigan Relay Center at 711 (in State) or 1-800-833-7833 (out of State)

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 10/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9630

Howard University
Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for an open-rank tenure-track position with research interests in the area of Black Politics and American Politics. The successful candidate will be a scholar whose research and teaching engages Black politics in the United States. Scholars’ research should focus on people of African descent and fall into one of the following areas: healthcare or health policy, American political institutions, American political development, and/or American political behavior. Substantive areas of teaching should include, but not limited to, American government and politics, Black politics, healthcare or health policy, public policy, electoral politics, and/or Black social movements. We welcome applications from candidates with a range of theoretical and methodological frameworks and approaches.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. Successful candidates will demonstrate a commitment to vigorously pursuing extramurally funded research programs in their areas of expertise, actively participate in the Department’s teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented minority students is highly desired. Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black private university, provides an educational experience of exceptional quality at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels to students of high academic standing and potential, with particular emphasis upon educational opportunities for Black students. Howard University is classified as Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is a residential campus of approximately 10,000 students located in the heart of the nation’s capital, Washington, DC.

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 15 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science. Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S. Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Community Development, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor. Required Qualifications: • Ph.D. in political science or related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc) from an accredited institution; • Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor; • Effective communication and organizational skills; and • Evidence of successful grant writing experience.

Completed applications should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee, Dr. Richard Seltzer, and submitted electronically via AmericanBlackPoliticsSearch@howard.edu. Screening will begin on September 20, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The desired starting date is August 15, 2022. Additional details and information can be found at http://coas.howard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 10/27/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9628

Howard University
Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for an open-rank tenure-track position with research interests in the area of Black Politics and American Politics. The successful candidate will be a scholar whose research and teaching engages Black politics in the United States. Scholars’ research should focus on people of African descent and fall into one of the following areas: healthcare or health policy, American political institutions, American political development, and/or American political behavior. Substantive areas of teaching should include, but not limited to, American government and politics, Black politics, healthcare or health policy, public policy, electoral politics, and/or Black social movements. We welcome applications from candidates with a range of theoretical and methodological frameworks and approaches.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. Successful candidates will demonstrate a commitment to vigorously pursuing extramurally funded research programs in their areas of expertise, actively participate in the Department’s teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented minority students is highly desired. Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black private university, provides an educational experience of exceptional quality at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels to students of high academic standing and potential, with particular emphasis upon educational opportunities for Black students. Howard University is classified as Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is a residential campus of approximately 10,000 students located in the heart of the nation’s capital, Washington, DC.

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 15 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science. Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S. Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Community Development, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor. Required Qualifications: • Ph.D. in political science or related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc) from an accredited institution; • Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor; • Effective communication and organizational skills; and • Evidence of successful grant writing experience.

Completed applications should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee, Dr. Richard Seltzer, and submitted electronically via AmericanBlackPoliticsSearch@howard.edu. Screening will begin on September 20, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The desired starting date is August 15, 2022. Additional details and information can be found at http://coas.howard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 10/27/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9628
University of California, Merced
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications: In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related field by the position start date.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2022.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by November 29, 2021. Applications will be submitted via https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu.

Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applicants for the Assistant Professor level should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system).

Statement on your contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion. Please review the UC Merced Diversity Statement Guidelines and UC’s Commitment to Diversity

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and UC academic salary scales.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

For additional information, please contact Courtenay Conrad at cconrad2@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit our UC Merced job posting at: https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01210

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individual with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy (https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction).

UC Merced is a smoke & tobacco free campus (https://smokefree.ucmerced.edu/).

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy: https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/5000695/SARS-CoV-2_Covid-19. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. For new University of California employees, the applicable deadline is eight weeks after their first date of employment. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.)

The University of California, Merced, is the newest of the University of California system’s 10 campuses. With 8,500 undergraduate and graduate students (https://www.ucmerced.edu/fast-facts), UC Merced provides outstanding educational opportunities to highly qualified students from the heart of California, the nation, and abroad. The campus has special connections to nearby Yosemite National Park; is on the cutting edge of sustainability in construction and design; and supports the economic development of Central California. The Merced 2020 Project doubled the physical capacity of the campus, and enhanced academic distinction, student success, and research excellence (https://merced2020.ucmerced.edu/).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/29/2021
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9627

Ithaca College
Rank: Diversity Scholar Pre/Post Doc

Politics Department Diversity Scholar Pre and Post-Doctoral Fellowship

The School of Humanities and Sciences at Ithaca College announces its Diversity Scholars Fellowship Program search for 2022-2023. Applications for Politics Department Diversity Scholar Fellowship are welcome.

Please read the following descriptions and include reference to specific criteria in your cover letter.

We are especially interested in candidates from underrepresented groups, and who work in the areas of U.S. Politics and Public Policy.

Special consideration will be given to candidates whose work is in primarily in U.S.-focused Ethnic, Race, Social and/or Gender Justice/Studies, Constitutionalism, Transnational and/or Internationalist Politics (or the intersections of U.S. and International Politics) and one or more of the following policy fields: Immigration, Environmental, Public Health, Housing, Indigenous, and Labor Policy.

More information on the Politics Department, and contact information here: https://www.ithaca.edu/academics/school-humanities-and-sciences/politics

Interested applicants must apply online and include (1): unofficial transcripts from an accredited PhD granting institution; (2) a cover letter outlining your teaching philosophy, teaching experience if any, dissertation research and timeline to completion (if applicable) and...
The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where applicants whose research and teaching in political psychology and/or public opinion. We will give priority to scholars of American politics whose research specialization is in Fall 2022 in the field of American politics. We seek applications invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start required teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division courses in American politics, Introduction to American politics, and common curriculum requirements.

Required Qualifications
- ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g. Psychology or American studies). A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the title of Instructor until completion of Ph.D.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political psychology and/or public opinion focusing on the US context that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Experience serving as a graduate teaching assistant in undergraduate courses in political (or related social) science.
- Evidence of a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to engage students from a wide range of backgrounds effectively.

Preferred Qualifications
- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship in political psychology and/or public opinion on the US case and evidence of future promise as a scholar.
- Experience as an instructor teaching Introduction to American politics and upper-division undergraduate courses in political psychology and/or public opinion.
- Scholarly expertise to develop upper-division undergraduate courses in race and ethnic politics in the US context.
- Experience interacting with diverse communities in an inclusive approach to engage students from a wide range of backgrounds effectively.
- Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar).

Application Deadline
For best consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) on September 20, 2021.

Special Instructions
Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary Grade Number:
The salary grade for the position is UC.

Salary Range:
The salary range for this position is $75,000-$80,000.

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors

University of Denver
Rank: Tenure-track assistant professor of American politics
Specializations: Political Psychology, Public Opinion, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start in Fall 2022 in the field of American politics. We seek applications from scholars of American politics whose research specialization is political psychology and/or public opinion. We will give priority to applicants whose research and teaching in political psychology and/or public opinion has a substantive focus on race and ethnic politics in the US.

The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where faculty balance their commitment to rigorous scholarship with undergraduate education. The Department of Political Science consists of eleven tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Our faculty are dedicated to the robust pursuit of research, publication, and public engagement. We also value inclusive excellence: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect.

Our undergraduate program of study serves approximately 200 majors and students across campus in the common curriculum. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division courses in American politics, Introduction to American politics, and common curriculum requirements.

Questions about online application should be directed to the Office of Human Resources at (607) 274-8000. Questions about the Diversity Scholars Program should be directed to Belisa González at bgonzalez@ithaca.edu or 607-274-3921.

Visa sponsorship is not provided for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/15/2022
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 9615

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate’s sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:
The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. The University of Denver is a private institution that empowers students who want to make a difference. Learn more about the University of Denver.

Please include the following documents with your application. Please note that all documents must be uploaded as pdf files, titled as “LASTNAME_Statements.pdf”, etc.:

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, comprehensive exam fields, publications and/or working papers, and courses you have taught before as an instructor or graduate teaching assistant.

2. Cover letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position, followed by three distinct statements that articulate your (a) research agenda, (b) teaching philosophy and methods to engage students, and (c) strategies to foster inclusive excellence, all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying each component.

3. Sample of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book, or one article).

4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as syllabi, detailed descriptions of course assignments, grading rubrics for writing assignments, and other artifacts of teaching excellence, all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying discrete components.

5. Graduate transcripts.

6. DU’s online employment application requests contacts for professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation (at least three).

Candidates using Inter-folio may arrange to send all (at least three) letters of recommendation in one pdf file via email to Darlene.Squires@du.edu. No other materials beyond a complete set of letters of recommendation in one document should be sent via Inter-folio.

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff. We are an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment regardless of age, race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, military/ veteran status or any other status protected by law.

All offers of employment are based upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9622

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Rank: Assistant Professor

American Politics: The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, with appointment beginning July 1, 2022. We seek a scholar doing innovative research in any area of American politics or public policy. We welcome applications from scholars whose work crosses traditional subfield or disciplinary boundaries, who show promise of research excellence and a desire to train and work with a diverse body of students.

The Political Science Department at UNC is committed to a vision of the University where all members of the community feel welcome, valued, and can thrive. The ideal candidate will share in this commitment. Accordingly, applicants should describe in their cover letters the specific ways in which their scholarship, mentoring, and service goals can support this vision.

Review of applications will begin November 8, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link: https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/213799. Please include a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, evidence of teaching excellence, and diversity statement. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recruiters identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.”

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9619

Florida Atlantic University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Florida Atlantic University invites applications for two tenure-track positions in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor for the 2022-2023 academic year. Candidates should expect to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in American politics and quantitative research methods. Applications reflecting expertise in new techniques and technologies will receive

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The Department is deeply committed to a community of excellence, equity, and diversity and welcomes applications from women, underrepresented minorities, persons with disabilities, sexual minority groups, and other candidates who will contribute to the diversification and enrichment of ideas and perspectives. Preferred candidates have a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, experience working directly with people from diverse racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic backgrounds, and can demonstrate skill in the understanding of cultural differences.

Hires will have a teaching load of 3/2 and should be able to provide instruction in a variety of modalities, including online, hybrid and in-person. Ability and willingness to lead occasional faculty seminars on new methods are preferred. Candidates should also demonstrate an active research agenda in either methodology or American Politics, which includes potential for outside support through public or private grants. Undergraduate and graduate advising, mentoring, and thesis supervision related to the political science and data science majors are important components of this position.

The new hire will contribute substantially to FAU’s Comparative Studies Ph. D. program and to the M.S. in Data Science and Analytics degree. Depending on their area of study, the new hire may also contribute to interdisciplinary programs and have the opportunity to participate in college or department programs such as the Leon Charney Diplomacy Program and the Advanced Campaigning Program and/or contribute to the Study of the Americas Initiative in the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters.

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D in Political Science from an accredited institution with a focus in American Politics and quantitative methodology. The successful candidate must have the Ph.D. completed by the start of the Fall 2022 semester.

Salary: Commensurate with Experience

Location: Boca Raton

Application Deadline: 2022-01-21-08:00

Special Instructions to Applicant:

This position is open until filled and may close without prior notice. This position is subject to funding.

Required Documents:

FAU’s Career Page permits the attachment of required/requested documentation.

https://fau.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/FAU/job/Boca-Raton/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_REQ11672/apply

IMPORTANT: There are two positions. Each of the positions is listed separately on the FAU website. For full consideration, you should apply to both of the following listings:

REQ11672

PLEASE NOTE: A maximum of five (5) documents may be attached to your application. If more than five (5) documents are required for submission, please combine additional documents into one attachment to not exceed the maximum permitted.

When completing the online application, please upload all required documentation noted here: (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae. Along with the cover letter and CV, please make sure the following is also included:

1. A sample syllabus for a class you have taught or would like to teach
2. A one-page research statement describing your work and future agenda,
3. A statement detailing your approach to engaging with diverse communities and articulating how your teaching, scholarship and/or service would contribute toward fostering an inclusive learning environment on campus,
4. The names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited for candidates placed on the long list).

Transcripts:

The selected candidate for this position is required to submit an official transcript sent directly from the institution is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment. Similarly, for degrees from outside the United States, the evaluation by an organization belonging to the National Association of Credential Evaluation (NACES), with an indication of the documents the evaluation was prepared from (official transcripts, diplomas, dissertation abstracts) is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment.

Background Screening:

Successful completion of a pre-employment background check is required for the candidate selected for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/22/2021

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9607

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science

Rank: Junior Faculty Position in Native American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Social Movements, Native American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

Junior Faculty Position in Native American Studies

Department of Social and Cultural Analysis

New York University

Faculty of Arts and Science

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis at New York University invites applications for a junior ranked search in the field of Native American Studies.

We especially welcome applications from scholars whose research relates to urban indigeneity, Critical Indigenous Theory, settler colonialism, literature, Indigenous resurgence and governance, Queer...
Studies, Indigenous pedagogies, environmental studies, and/or language revitalization. We encourage applications from scholars who work in collaboration with First Nations or Native American nations and whose research engages with Indigenous communities. This search is part of a cluster hire in Native American and Indigenous Studies that includes the following departments and Schools: The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis, The Gallatin School, English, Cinema Studies (Tisch), Spanish and Portuguese, and History. More information about this cluster, and NYU’s broader Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative, can be found here, and here.

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis is comprised of programs including American Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Metropolitan Studies, Africana Studies, Latino Studies, and Asian/Pacific/American Studies. Applicants who speak to one or more of these fields and have an interest in building Indigenous Studies curriculum/programming at NYU are encouraged to apply. Visit the SCA website: http://as.nyu.edu/sca.

The appointment will begin on September 1, 2022, subject to budgetary and administrative approval. Applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a research statement. Entry-level applicants should provide names and contact information of three recommenders. Ph.D. in hand by 9/1/2022 required. Because diversity and inclusion are an important part of the NYU mission, we request that you include a paragraph in your cover letter telling us how diversity and inclusion figure into your past, present, and future teaching, research, and community engagement. Information about diversity and inclusion statements may be found at http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html.

The search committee will begin their review of applications on November 1, 2021. Please apply online through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/94342

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9566

Amherst College
Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Law
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, International Law & Organizations, Religion & Politics

Amherst College’s Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a full-time one-year visiting appointment for the 2022–2023 academic year (beginning July 1, 2022).

The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the humanities, social sciences, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is in one or more of the following areas: global legality; post-colonial legality; law and science; law and critical race theory; law and religion; legal theory; legal history; and law and culture. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D.

Applications should submit electronically to Interfolio http://apply.interfolio.com/96654 a cover letter addressed to Professor Martha M. Umphrey, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on January 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is in one or more of the following areas: global legality; post-colonial legality; law and science; law and critical race theory; law and religion; legal theory; legal history; and law and culture. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 1/1/2022
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9566

University of Louisville
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory
Specializations: Political Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is accepting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin Fall 2022. The position is in political theory with a research emphasis on race, ethnicity and/or post-colonial identity in politics. The department welcomes candidates who address these topics from various traditions within political theory in conversation with American or comparative politics. The ideal candidate will contribute to the University of Louisville’s stated commitment to become &quot;a premier anti-racist metropolitan research university.&quot;

Applications will be considered until the position is filled. The successful candidate will be able to teach a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses related to the position’s focus, as well as one introductory-level course in another subfield of political science. Teaching experience is a plus, and candidates should have demonstrated research potential. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, but College policy requires completion of the PhD by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time professors and is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body. We have over 500 students enrolled in BA and MA programs. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university. The salary and benefits package are competitive.

Position is subject to final budgetary approval.

Interested candidates must apply online and attach a curriculum vitae. In addition, applicants should submit a cover letter, sample of written work, graduate transcripts, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of reference. We ask that in the cover letter, the candidate describe how their research, teaching, or service experiences support inclusive learning and diversity.

Materials should be sent to Dr. Tricia Gray, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292 or via email to polisci@louisville.edu. Priority application deadline is November 8, 2021; application review will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science encourages candidates to apply who have demonstrated capacity to create inclusive work environments, will work effectively on increasingly diverse teams, and will serve the increasingly diverse students we admit and want to attract.

https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=177659559&Title=Assistant%20Professor%20of%20Political%20Science%20%28Job%20Id%3A%2042136%29&aID=7137

To apply for this position, follow the "Submit" button. Detailed instructions are available at louisville.edu/jobs in the "My Career Tools" section. If the posting description requested that you follow up and mail or email other documents, your application will not be considered complete until those have been received by the department.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9571

---

Albion College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science- American Politics

Specializations: Congress, Political Behavior, Political Development

The Department of Political Science at Albion College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position to teach American government and politics, commencing August 29, 2022. We are especially interested in candidates who will contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, diversity, and belonging. We are looking for a candidate with teaching expertise and scholarly interests in one or more of the following areas: American political institutions (especially the presidency and/or Congress, but not limited to these areas), social movements and political behavior, and American political development. In addition, we are seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute courses on race, gender, class, and ethnicity in the American context. The ability to also teach in another subfield (for example, political theory, international relations, or comparative law) is also desirable. The successful applicant will be expected to teach introductory and advanced-level courses.

Albion College is an anti-racist institution. This position will actively promote diversity, belonging and equity through critical and compassionate communication and strategic outreach efforts to various students, faculty, and staff (e.g., historically under-represented, first-generation, undocumented and DACA students, and LGBTQ students).

Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in political science by the beginning of the Fall 2022 semester. Some experience in undergraduate teaching as the instructor of record is strongly preferred. The successful candidate should provide evidence of an interest in helping to create, advance and teach a racially and ethnically diverse student body. The candidate should also provide evidence of how they will include students in faculty research programs. The College and the Department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the Department’s curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to this goal are encouraged to submit a letter of interest and their strengths and experiences in this area when they apply.

Successful applicants will have demonstrated excellence teaching, a commitment to undergraduate research and student mentoring, and an active research agenda. The successful candidate will have a 3/3 teaching load, will be expected to participate in co-curricular departmental activities, and contribute to interdisciplinary programs in the college community like the First Year Experience and/or the Honors program.

Qualifications:
- PhD in Political Science by August 29, 2022
- Specialization in American Politics (Institutions)
- Demonstrated teaching effectiveness

Application Instructions:
Applicants should apply online via Interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/96909

- Cover Letter
- CV
- DEI Statement (the DEI statement should explain how you foster diversity, equity, and inclusion in your classroom and on campus through your teaching, research and/or service)

- Teaching Statement and Evaluations
- Research Statement
- Sample Syllabi for American Politics and related courses
- Writing Sample (publications or dissertation chapters)
- Graduate School Transcripts
- Three Letters of Recommendation

Review of applications will begin October 22, and continue until the position is filled. Please contact Dr. William Rose (wrose@albion.edu), Department of Political Science, for questions about the position or search process.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor, Politics

The Department of Politics at Drexel University invites applications for a non-tenure-track, teaching faculty position in Political Science. We are seeking a teacher-scholar in the field of American politics, especially one who can offer classes on constitutional law and national institutions, broadly construed.

The successful applicant’s contract will begin in January 2022. The initial contract is for the 2021-2022 academic year, with the possibility of renewal thereafter. The workload is 36 credits of undergraduate courses over 3-4 quarters, primarily including face-to-face teaching but potentially including online or hybrid courses.

About Drexel University

Drexel is one of Philadelphia’s top 10 private employers, a comprehensive global research university and a major engine for economic development in the region. With over 24,000 students, Drexel is one of America’s 15 largest private universities. Drexel has committed to being the nation’s most civically engaged university, with community partnerships integrated into every aspect of service and academics and has recently recommitted to antiracism in its policies and practices via the implementation of recommendations from a university-wide Antiracism Task Force.

About the Department of Politics

The Department of Politics is one of thirteen departments in Drexel’s College of Arts and Sciences (CoAS), and Political Science is the College’s third-largest major. Faculty members teach and research across both traditional subfields and interdisciplinary programs including Africana Studies; Women’s and Gender Studies; Jewish Studies; Science, Technology, and Society; Public Policy; and War and Society. We pride ourselves on our small classes, rigorous methods training, and collegial atmosphere.

Qualifications

- Successful candidate will be required to teach courses in constitutional law with secondary teaching responsibilities open as to field;
- Will contribute to a diverse, inclusive campus culture, inside and outside the classroom;
- Preferably have Ph.D. in hand by January 2022 but will consider ABDs close to their defense date.

To Apply

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; and 3) the names and email addresses of at least three references. Please do NOT submit reference letters at this time as such letters will be requested at a later date for short-listed applicants.

Only applications submitted via Drexel Careers at: https://careers.drexel.edu/en-us/job/496971/assistant-teaching-professor-politics will be considered.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until filled. Please address all queries to Prof. Richardson Dilworth at rd43@drexel.edu.

Drexel University offers an attractive benefits package including tuition remission, a retirement package, and an opportunity to join a talented team of professionals directly helping the University achieve its record growth and quality reputation.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, welcomes individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, and believes that an inclusive and respectful environment enriches the University community and the educational and employment experience of its members. The University prohibits discrimination against individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, status as a veteran or special disabled veteran, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions and any other prohibited characteristic. Please visit our website to view all University Policies and Workplace Postings.

Seattle University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Political Science Department at Seattle University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin in September 2022. The primary subfield is US Politics, with a specific preference for the study of social movements.

Responsibilities will include teaching, maintaining an active scholarly program, and service. Applicants should be able to teach an introductory course in US Politics as well as upper division offerings in the area of US political behavior. The department has curricular needs in public law and varying types of research methods. Preference will be given to candidates with a research focus and demonstrated teaching experience in one or more of the following areas: the politics of underrepresented groups, economic inequality, gender and sex, immigration, political psychology, political sociology, civil rights & liberties, and additional topics which can contribute to the department’s and university’s emphasis on social justice. Applicants may also be expected to teach subjects of their expertise in the university core curriculum.

Requirements: Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field are preferred, but advanced ABDs will be considered. Evidence of scholarship and teaching excellence is required.

Founded in 1891, Seattle University is a Jesuit Catholic university located on a beautiful campus of more than 50 acres in the dynamic heart of Seattle. Our diverse and driven population is made up of more than 7,200 students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate programs within eight schools and colleges. Seattle University is an equal opportunity employer.

In support of its pursuit of academic and scholarly excellence, Seattle University is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty and staff that is dedicated to the fundamental principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment regardless of age, color, disability, gender identity, national origin, political ideology, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status. The university encourages applications from, and nominations of, individuals who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community.

Applicants should submit applications online at https://www.seattleu.edu/careers, including (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a brief statement of teaching, scholarship, and service (maximum of 2 pages), (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of successful teaching, and (6) names and email addresses of three references (letters will be solicited directly from references). Review of applications will begin November 15, 2021. Open until filled. For additional information, contact Yitan Li, Chair, Political Science Department, at liy@seattleu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9565

Washington & Lee University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics
Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Government that focuses on race and the politics of the South. In addition to teaching the Department’s introductory course in American Government, the successful candidate will be expected to teach upper-level courses as part of the Theodore DeLaney Center for the Study of Southern Race Relations, Culture, and Politics. We encourage applicants with a research agenda devoted to African American politics, with specialties in the following areas: race, intersectionality, civil rights, and public policy involving education, healthcare, immigration, or policing; southern voting, elections, and political behavior; or religion and politics in the American South. Opportunities will be available to teach in other subfields in the Department (global politics and political philosophy), as well as interdisciplinary programs at the University, including Africana Studies, Poverty and Human Capability Studies, and Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies.

This position requires a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment and welcomes interdisciplinary contributions to the curriculum. Faculty are also expected to have an active research program. To support faculty research agendas, the university has a summer research grant program, a generous five-year sabbatical cycle, as well as a pre-tenure research leave program.

Washington and Lee is a top-ranked, highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,860 undergraduates and 380 law students.

Washington and Lee affirms that diverse perspectives and backgrounds enhance our community. We are committed to the recruitment, enrichment, and retention of students, faculty, and staff who embody many experiences, cultures, points of view, interests, and identities. In keeping with the University Strategic Plan, we encourage applications from underrepresented minority candidates.

The university requires employees to become fully vaccinated for COVID-19 and new employees must provide proof of at least their first shot prior to the first day of employment. Individuals may seek a medical or a religious exemption to the vaccination requirement.

Qualifications
A completed Ph.D. is required by the time of appointment, which begins July 1, 2022.

Applicants should provide:
a letter of application;
current CV;
three letters of recommendation; and evidence of teaching effectiveness, including but not limited to peer or supervisor observation letters and student course evaluations, if available.
Address letters of application to “Politics Search Committee Head.”
Application review will begin immediately, but full consideration will be given to applications that are complete by October 29. Applicants should submit application and required documents through Interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/96505.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/29/2021
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9567

University of Houston
Rank: Open Rank Faculty
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) seeks to hire up to three tenured or tenure-track faculty members to begin in the Fall of 2022. We are interested in applicants who will help chart the future of the school with fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset. Our faculty include experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy. We seek to complement that collective expertise with the three hires.

Competitive candidates are likely to have expertise in one or more of the following areas or in another foundational area of public policy or policymaking:

- A core area of public policy and policymaking, including, but not limited to, defense, education, energy, the environment, health, housing, immigration, justice and law enforcement, national and foreign economic policy, political institutions, political economy, public finance, public management, social mobility, transportation, urban and community development, and voting and representation.

Policy data formulation and analysis, including but not limited to, data visualization, decision algorithms, GIS, laboratory and field experiments, natural language processing, network analysis, probabilistic forecasts, project evaluation and randomized control trials, small area models, and survey methods.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Houston is recognized as one of the most racially and ethnically diverse research institutions in the nation. As such, we welcome candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence.

Houston itself is a laboratory for the future. The city reflects what is happening in the United States and around the world in terms of demographic, cultural, political, and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (1) a growing economy, including a vibrant energy sector, robust manufacturing, a bustling port that serves as a hub for international trade, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center—the world’s largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award-winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) a relatively low cost of living among large cities.

The University of Houston is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Qualifications:
A PhD in the discipline and a scholarly record consistent with the rank is required.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check. Incomplete applications may not be considered.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/ Letter of Application, Research Statement, Publications, Evidence of Effective Teaching

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 9559

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.
Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022.

The application deadline is Wednesday, December 1, 2021. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92232

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
• CV;
• Research Statement;
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
• Two scholarly writing samples;
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
• Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9547

Yale University
Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Political Behavior, Research Methods, Quantitative Methods

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2022. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample. Applications should be submitted on Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/96142.

The review process will begin on February 1, 2022. Please submit your application by that date to receive full consideration, although we will continue to accept applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9538

Indiana University Kokomo
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy at Indiana University Kokomo invites applications for a full-time, 10-month, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 1, 2022. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field. An appropriate level of university, professional, and community service is required, such as committee work, assessment of the major, and engagement in campus initiatives to increase retention and enrollment.

The course load will be three classes per semester, with an active research agenda. The candidates’ primary field should be American Politics and they should be a generalist able to teach Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory at the introductory level. Preference will be given to those who can teach upper-level classes in one or more of the following fields: public policy; campaigns and elections; political institutions; education policy; environmental policy; law and courts; health policy; gender and politics; or race, ethnicity, and politics. Willingness to teach some classes online and experience doing so are also desirable. The deadline for full consideration is November 8, 2021, but applications will be taken until the position is filled.

One of eight campuses of Indiana University, Indiana University Kokomo is a comprehensive, non-residential campus located 50 miles north of Indianapolis in Kokomo, Indiana, a city of a population of about 50,000. Committed to student success, the campus serves approximately 3,100. IU Kokomo has approximately 260 full-time faculty and staff. Baccalaureate and master’s degrees are offered. Additional information about Indiana University Kokomo can be accessed at http://www.iuk.edu. Persons with disabilities who need assistance to participate in this application process should contact the Office of Affirmative Action at 765-455-9316.

Indiana University Kokomo seeks faculty skilled at working with members of diverse cultures and committed to preparing students to be engaged members of an increasingly diverse society.

Interested candidates should review the application requirement and submit their application at https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/11622. The application must include a letter of application, current CV, evidence of teaching ability, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a statement on diversity. Three professional reference letters should be sent directly to Donna Bevington at dobeving@iuk.edu. Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to Andrew McFarland, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History, Chair, Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, ammcfar@iuk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
New York University
Rank: Research Data Scientist
Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Open

We are seeking a Research Data Scientist to provide leadership and project management on our new, multilingual research infrastructure to monitor how the spread of disinformation across social media platforms will impact the upcoming U.S. elections. Through innovative data collection techniques that pair comprehensive, multi-platform digital trace data with national surveys in both English and Spanish, the project will provide a systemic view into the information Americans consume — both offline and on — and how their beliefs and behaviors change over time.

With this information, CSMaP scholars will produce peer-reviewed research and quantitative descriptive reports examining several key questions, including which U.S. communities are targeted most by disinformation and on what platforms, how these dynamics are shifting as the online ecosystem changes, and what impact disinformation has on voters’ beliefs and behaviors. Beyond disinformation and elections, our flexible research design will also enable us to measure the impact of media diets on a variety of issue and policy areas, from Covid-19 to social justice.

Under the direction of the CSMaP Faculty Directors, this role is responsible for:
- Working closely with data engineers on social media data collection methodologies and procedures
- Managing multiple incoming streams of social media data and designing and implementing efficient methods for merging aggregates with survey data
- Overseeing an ongoing panel survey and developing and implementing procedures for sampling and quality control
- Working with the faculty directors and other scholars, assist or lead in designing successive waves of a panel survey, with the potential to embed encouragement experiments and innovate in other ways
- Managing a full-time project associate and research assistants
- Overseeing and/or contributing to the production of academic papers, and rigorous topical data reports for a non-academic audience describing both the political content across social media platforms, and the impact it is having on individuals
- Planning and executing the project management plans, such as project budgets, schedules

CSMaP consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as postdoctoral fellows, research engineers, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously.

Qualifications
Required education: Master’s degree or PhD in data science, political science, or related field.

Required skills and experience:
- At least 3 years research experience in social sciences, public policy, or a related field (time in MA or PhD program counts)
- Experience with data analysis and data management, handling large volumes of JSON format data and merging data of multiple types, experience managing a data-science workflow
- Excellent project management skills
- Experience working with R and/or Python
- Ability to work with survey data and identify potential issues and sources of error
- Experience in quantitative analysis
- Ability to work both as part of a team and independently
- Ability to organize and oversee complex projects with multiple moving parts
- Strong interpersonal, collaborative, and communication skills
- Preferred knowledge and experience:
  - Experience working with social media and/or digital trace data
  - Experience working on a large High Performance Computing Cluster and/or with a cloud computing service
  - Experience working with survey applications (e.g. Qualtrics)
  - Background and/or familiarity with quantitative research methodologies a plus
  - Experience in survey design, and ability to to evaluate an existing survey questionnaire in accord with the basic principles of questionnaire design a plus

Application Instructions: To apply, please visit https://apply.interfolio.com/96184

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
肩负 "EJobs ID: 9533"

Purdue University
Rank: Tenured Full Professor in Political Communication

Professor of Political Communication

https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=16375&companyId=purdueuniv

Job Summary:
The Brian Lamb School of Communication and the Department of Political Science are jointly searching for a scholar in Political Communication to be appointed at the rank of full professor. The person who fills this position will work, collaboratively, with faculty and students in both units within the College of Liberal Arts. Applicants at the associate level who have a scholarly record that merits appointment at the level of full are eligible to apply.

Principal Duties:
The person holding this position is expected to maintain an active and nationally recognized research program that aligns well with extramural funding sources. The individual who fills this position will play a key role in the Center for C-SPAN Scholarship & Engagement (CCSE) and will help shape the future of the Center. A high level of commitment to PhD student mentoring and a culture of diversity and inclusion is expected. In addition, the person holding this position will create and disseminate relevant knowledge through student instruction.

Qualifications:
The candidate must have a PhD in communication, political science, public policy, or related field with a record of scholarship, extramural funding, student mentorship, and teaching that merits appointment to the rank of full professor. This position requires strong communication skills and the ability to publish high-quality peer-reviewed research and apply for grant opportunities. Preference will be given to candidates who can offer a collaborative vision for the future direction of the CCSE and contribute expertise to the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMP). The candidate may focus on a specific area of research expertise, such as national security, political communication, or political data science.

The College and University:
Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Faculty members in the Brian Lamb School of Communication and the Department of Political Science are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers on campus, including the CCSE, AMP cluster, Integrated Data Science Initiative, and the many Research Centers at Discovery Park.

The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University is embarking upon 40 faculty searches for positions to begin in Fall 2022. These positions will advance within and across disciplines, and intersect with technology, data science, and engineering in relevant and important ways. These positions may include teaching in our innovative, nationally-recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts Program that educates students across the university.

Purdue University, the College of Liberal Arts, the Department of Political Science and the Brian Lamb School of Communication are committed to free and open inquiry in all matters. Candidates are encouraged to address in their cover letter how they are prepared to contribute to a climate that values free inquiry.

Application Procedure:
To apply, please visit careers.purdue.edu requisition number 16375. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Curriculum Vitae, 2) Recent research paper or other writing sample, 3) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant’s research and teaching fit the principal duties of the position, 4) Names of at least four references, and 5) a Diversity and Inclusion statement described below.

Purdue University’s Brian Lamb School of Communication and the Department of Political Science are committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Screening of applicants will begin November 1 and continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact search committee co-chairs Dr. Jennifer Hoewe (jhoewe@purdue.edu) or Dr. Eric Waltenburg (ewaltenb@purdue.edu).

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9516

University of Colorado, Colorado Springs
Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Colorado Springs invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in American Politics beginning August 2022. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: The Presidency, Political Parties, American Political Thought, and African American Political Thought. The successful candidate will be required to teach our introductory course in American Politics. The teaching load is 3-2 or five courses a year. The successful candidate will be expected to have an active research profile and agenda. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required at the time of appointment. The successful candidate will teach both in person and online courses. Candidates from underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/31/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
jobs ID: 9524

University of Illinois, Springfield
Rank: Visiting Assistant Research Director

The Institute for Legal, Legislative, and Policy Studies is looking for a Visiting Assistant Research Director. In this newly created role, the Visiting Assistant Research Director will work closely with the ILLAPS Research Director and outside partners to develop and distribute social science research products capturing key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from internally and externally funded projects and disseminating them to a wide audience. Over the next three years, ILLAPS aims to increase production of academic publications, policy briefs, white papers, and case studies while also expanding our ongoing projects with external partners and grants with this position playing a key role.

Primary Function:
The Institute for Legal, Legislative, and Policy Studies is looking for a Visiting Assistant Research Director. In this newly created role, the Visiting Assistant Research Director will work closely with the ILLAPS Research Director and outside partners to develop and distribute social science research products capturing key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from internally and externally funded projects and disseminating them to a wide audience. Over the next three years, ILLAPS aims to increase production of academic publications, policy briefs, white papers, and case studies while also expanding our ongoing projects with external partners and grants with this position playing a key role.

The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead and manage the process of research related content creation—working independently and collaborating with ILLAPS staff on producing and editing written materials including academic articles, policy briefs, case studies, guides, website content, blog posts, and social media. This position will also oversee distribution of the content, including publications and presentations. Further, this position will play a large role independently conducting and overseeing the research process of ILLAPS.

Primary Function:

The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead and manage the process of research related content creation—working independently and collaborating with ILLAPS staff on producing and editing written materials including academic articles, policy briefs, case studies, guides, website content, blog posts, and social media. This position will also oversee distribution of the content, including publications and presentations. Further, this position will play a large role independently conducting and overseeing the research process of ILLAPS.

All applicants must apply through this URL: https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=142508&job=visiting-assistant-research-director
The Visiting Assistant Research Director will also work closely with external partners on ILLAPS projects they fund to complete required deliverables, including overseeing and managing data collection, expenditures, and dissemination of findings. This is a two-year appointment, with the potential for continued employment depending on performance and funding.

Duties:

1. Developing and managing research projects for ILLAPS – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently lead ILLAPS staff and faculty in producing content that captures key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from ILLAPS research projects, both those sponsored by ILLAPS and outside partners. They will have lead authority in this area for their research projects. This research related content will include academic articles, policy briefs, white papers, written reports, syntheses of insights across projects, blog posts, and guides to existing resources. The Visiting Assistant Research Director may directly craft the content or may manage a collaborative production process involving other ILLAPS team members. This position will be responsible for all aspects of the research process, from data collection to analysis. Included in this as well will be developing externally funded research projects for partners. This position will be responsible for assuring that this work is completed in a timely and effective manner, including direct involvement with producing the final products and research.

2. Distributing research related content to target audiences – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead ILLAPS staff and faculty in developing and distributing research content to target audiences and improving the visibility of the ILLAPS to policy makers, practitioners, and academic audiences. These responsibilities may include regularly updating the ILLAPS website, contributing to the Center for State Policy and Leadership and College of Public Affairs and Administration blog, creating research related content for ILLAPS or The Center’s newsletters, academic publications, reports written for external partners, conference presentations, and other potential distribution means. Having lead authority in ensuring all research related distribution objectives are the project are met.

3. Conduct independent research - Conduct research activities related to the researchers interests. This includes designing surveys or other data collection tools, developing data analysis plans, collecting and organizing data for purposes of analysis, conducting interviews and other forms of qualitative data collection, conducting complex statistical analyses and systematic analyses of qualitative data. This independent research will be published in academic articles, institute white papers, or through similar distribution channels outlined in other areas of this posting.

4. Manage and control data collection for research purposes – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently oversee ILLAPS staff and faculty in collecting data on internally and externally funded research projects. This process may include direct responsibility for collecting data through interviews, focus groups, data linkage, or other methodologies. These efforts may include data collection across a variety of qualitative and quantitative research methods, completing and managing all required internal paperwork, ensuring best practices are implemented and followed, facilitating meetings to update colleagues or partners on project progress, and direct involvement in the data collection process. This position will be responsible for successfully managing all aspects of this area for their projects.

5. Developing and managing research project expenditures – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently develop and manage research project budgets. Included in this will be developing and controlling project budgets and expenditures, manage project budgets and budget revisions, draft budgets and budget revisions, review fiscal reconciliation project reports, and submit invoices for payment.

6. Supervising research staff – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will supervise any staff, including but not limited to visiting scholars, research assistants, student workers, or contractors, who are working on research projects the Visiting Assistant Research Director is overseeing. Included in this will be the responsibility for training staff for research related tasks, reviewing any work products, scheduling, and other related duties as needed. Serve on search committees as a member or chair for university academic searches.

Qualifications:

ABD status in a PhD program with a master’s degree in a social science, public administration, public health, public policy, or related field. A completed PhD by the start date of the position is strongly preferred.

Familiarity with state and local government, non-profits, or public policy.

Work experience with external partners or clients, preferably government entities, grantees, or non-profits.

Research interests in American politics or public policy, broadly defined.

Strong research and research translation skills. Ability to identify core concepts and insights and synthesize into clear, plain language descriptions. Included in this is previous experience publishing academic articles, policy briefs, white papers, or books.

Excellent writing and editing skills, including the ability to consistently and independently produce compelling, well-written, and error-free work products with only light-touch guidance.

Strong project management capabilities, with a demonstrated ability to independently manage projects to completion, establish priorities among multiple simultaneous deadlines, develop and manage budgets, and sustain timely responses to deadlines and requests.

Team player with the proven ability to build strong relationships and develop trust with colleagues and partners.

Functional experience with research methods, including survey research, and statistical programs such as R, Stata, ArcGIS, or additional analysis programs. The ideal candidate will fill gaps in the skill set of current ILLAPS staff and faculty.

Organization: University of Illinois Springfield Center for State Policy and Leadership

Position Title: Visiting Assistant Research Director

Position Supervisor:
Research Director, Institute for Legal, Legislative and Policy Studies Executive Director, Center for State Policy and Leadership

Salary Range: $60,000 to $65,000

Position Time Period: This position is a visiting, two-year, full-time (12-month) academic-professional appointment, with the possibility of continued employment based on performance and finances.
Application Process:
Please select the "Apply For Position" tab below, create or update your profile and upload a cover letter of application addressing qualifications related to the position, a resume, and the names and contact information (phone and email address) for three professional references. Transcripts may be requested at a later date. Incomplete applications will not be evaluated. To maintain the integrity and confidentiality of the search process, applicants are asked to upload their own materials. Send letter of application, resume and a list of three professional references. Application deadline is July 30, 2021.

The University of Illinois may conduct background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer of employment. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

UIS is an affirmative action/equal employment opportunity employer; veterans, persons with disabilities, women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

The University of Illinois System requires candidates selected for hire to disclose any documented finding of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment and to authorize inquiries to current and former employers regarding findings of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment. For more information, visit https://www.hr.uiuc.edu/cms/One.aspx?portalId=4292&pageId=1411899

As a qualifying federal contractor, the University of Illinois System uses E-Verify to verify employment eligibility.

UIS employment in this role is not covered by Social Security, and instead, is covered by the State Universities Retirement System. You don’t pay Social Security taxes and your earnings won’t be on your Social Security record. (Your record will, however, show your Medicare wages.)

Your pension from the State Universities Retirement System may affect the amount of your Social Security benefit and Social Security benefit as a spouse.

All applicants must apply through this URL: https://jobs.uic.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=142508&job=visiting-assistant-research-director

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 10/24/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9529

California State University, East Bay
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Pre-Law/Judicial Politics)
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Open
Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

FACULTY EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, EAST BAY

FULL-TIME TENURE-TRACK

THE UNIVERSITY: California State University, East Bay (CSUEB) is a comprehensive university serving the San Francisco Bay Area/Silicon Valley. It is known for award winning programs, expert instruction, its diverse student body, and a choice of more than 100 career-focused fields of study. With an enrollment of approximately 15,000 students and 900 faculty, CSUEB is organized into four colleges. The University offers bachelor’s degrees in 49 fields, minors in 52 fields, master’s degrees in 34 fields, 16 credentials programs, 18 certificate options, and 1 doctoral degree program. http://www20.csueastbay.edu/

California State University East Bay has a mission to support a diverse student body through academically rich and culturally relevant learning experiences. The successful candidate will bring with them expertise or an openness to creating a welcoming and supportive environment for all students. Cal State East Bay, one of the most diverse campuses in the CSU system, welcomes and prepares students to apply their education to meaningful lifework, and to be socially responsible contributors to society.

THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science prepares graduates to enter careers in government, public service, public administration, public policy analysis, legislative advocacy, business, international relations, and teaching. The department offers a B.A. degree that provides both a strong background in social science and excellent professional preparation for students. The major currently offers three distinct paths to completion, the traditional major and options in pre-law and public affairs and administration. Roughly half of our approximately 180 majors are pre-law. The department currently has five tenured or tenure-track faculty.

DUTIES OF THE POSITION: The Department of Political Science at California State University, East Bay seeks an Assistant Professor (tenure track) in Pre-Law, Legal Studies, or Judicial Politics. The successful applicant will also be expected to serve as a Pre-Law advisor and to attend the Pacific Association of Pre-Law Advisors meeting and similar events. In addition to teaching, all faculty have advising responsibilities, assist the department with administrative and/or committee work, and are expected to assume campus-wide committee responsibilities. Please note that teaching assignments at California State University, East Bay may include courses at the Hayward, Concord and Online campuses.

RANK AND SALARY: Assistant Professor. Salary is dependent upon educational preparation and experience. Subject to budgetary authorization.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT: Fall Semester, 2022.

QUALIFICATIONS: The successful candidate must hold a PhD in political science or a closely related social science discipline by the effective date of their appointment. We expect the successful candidate to have demonstrated teaching ability and the potential to have a successful research agenda. The department has a preference for applicants with prior teaching experience. The department also has a preference for an applicant dedicated to helping underrepresented communities find a path toward careers in the legal profession including law school and who shares our investment in social justice, equity, and inclusivity.

Candidates should demonstrate experience in teaching, mentoring, research, or community service that has prepared them to contribute to
Political Science Jobs

our commitment to diversity and excellence. Additionally, applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly activity. This University is fully committed to the rights of students, staff and faculty with disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. For more information about the University’s program supporting the rights of our students with disabilities see: http://www20.csueastbay.edu/af/departments/as/

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications must be received on or before October 24, 2021 to ensure full consideration. Review will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must submit: 1) A Cover letter that addresses the requirements of the position, 2) A CV, 3) At least one sample of published research or a dissertation chapter, 4) A teaching statement, 5) Course Syllabi (esp. those that demonstrate successful teaching to a diverse student population), 6) A summary of teaching evaluations, 7) A diversity statement of approximately one page (Applicants’ statements should detail how their teaching, research, and/or service has supported the success of students from underrepresented communities in their academic field; applicants who have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further CSUEB’s commitment to social justice, equity and inclusivity), and 8) Name and contact for three confidential letters of recommendation.

Please submit a letter of application, which addresses the qualifications noted in the position announcement; a complete and current vita, and all other materials listed above via PageUp (https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/eb/en-us/job/504626/assistant-professor-of-political-science, see “Apply Now”). Applicants are required to also submit a one-page diversity statement that addresses how you engage a diverse student population in your teaching, research, mentoring, and advising.

Note: California State University, East Bay hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. All offers of employment are contingent upon presentation of documents demonstrating the appointee’s identity and eligibility to work in accordance with provisions of the Immigration Reform and Control Act. A background check (including a criminal records check and prior employment verification) must be completed and cleared prior to the start of employment.

As an Equal Opportunity Employer, CSUEB does not discriminate on the basis of any protected categories: age, ancestry, citizenship, color, disability, gender, immigration status, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran’s status. The University is committed to the principles of diversity in employment and to creating a stimulating learning environment for its diverse student body.

Any questions about the university, position, or application process can be directed to the search committee at ps.search.2122@gmail.com.

Applications close: Open Until Filled

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9508

---

University of Denver

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Environmental Sustainability

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking candidates for the following Associate or Full Tenure-Line faculty position:

Environmental Sustainability – Associate or Full Tenure-Line Professor

We seek a scholar, trained in any relevant discipline or interdisciplinary program, with a prominent research profile in environmental sustainability, broadly understood. The appointment will be at the Associate or Full Professor rank, with tenure. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching in our undergraduate, certificate and MA programs in sustainability and have the opportunity to play a leading role in developing our emerging “Sustainability Initiative,” including fundraising, enhancing our research programming, and engaging with communities outside the university.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9498

---

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Politics of Race and Ethnicity

Subfield(s): Open, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Dartmouth College invites applications for a Guarini Dean’s Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Department of Government. This fellowship supports scholars whose research addresses the politics of race and ethnicity in any subfield. In addition, the fellowship promotes student and faculty diversity at Dartmouth, and throughout higher education, by supporting research by underrepresented scholars, and others, with a demonstrated ability to advance educational diversity and inclusivity. Applicants will be selected on the basis of their academic achievement, promise in both research and teaching, and their demonstrated commitment to addressing underrepresentation in higher education.

This is a two-year residential fellowship, with one course taught in the second year. Throughout, fellows are expected to pursue research activities while participating fully in the intellectual life of the department and the college. Fellows receive an annual stipend of approximately $55,200 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses (exact funding levels will be set at the time of offer).
Guarini Dean’s Postdoctoral Fellows are part of the Provost’s Fellowship Program, a multidisciplinary cohort of approximately ten predoctoral and postdoctoral scholars who share a commitment to increasing diversity and inclusivity in their disciplines. Fellows participate together in mentoring and professional development programming, including guidance in preparing for faculty careers.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Qualifications
Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment.

Application Instructions:
1) Cover letter, including an overview of research areas and teaching interests; please also describe your prior contributions to advancing diversity and inclusivity in higher education and your motivations to join this multidisciplinary fellowship program;
2) CV;
3) Dissertation description (maximum two pages single-spaced);
4) Three confidential letters of recommendation, one of which should be from the dissertation advisor.

Applications must be submitted electronically at: https://apply.interfolio.com/95110. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Prof. Yusaku Horiuchi (Yusaku.Horiuchi@dartmouth.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9486

Georgia State University
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2022. We seek a scholar whose research focuses on the politics of identity broadly defined (including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, class, sexual orientation, and religion). We welcome scholars in any subfield of political science (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Law, or Political Theory) or closely related discipline. The successful candidate will join a faculty with existing strengths in race and ethnicity, gender and politics, partisan and identity political polarization, civil conflict, and immigration politics. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to teach courses on the politics of identity at the undergraduate, M.A., and PhD levels as well as other courses in their area of expertise.

Georgia State University, an enterprising R-1 university located in Atlanta, is a national leader in using innovation to drive student success and research growth. Enrolling and graduating one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, Georgia State provides its world-class faculty and more than 50,000 students unsurpassed research, teaching, and learning opportunities in one of the 21st century’s great global cities. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative research by building a diverse faculty. The College of Arts & Sciences supports professional success for all faculty through mentoring programs and representation of faculty from all ranks in college-level program development. GSU is an institutional member of the National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity. Among the core values of the department are diversity, equity, accessibility and inclusion. We invite people of all backgrounds and identities, including, but not limited to races, ages, ethnicities, nationalities, religious beliefs, genders, sexual orientations, and abilities, as well as first-generation candidates, to apply for this position. The department’s full vision, mission and values statement is available at https://bit.ly/3DZ6Y0n.

Essential Qualifications:
- A research agenda that indicates a clear theoretical and/or empirical engagement with the politics of identity.
- Ability to teach courses on identity politics and related topics at the undergraduate and graduate level.
- Interest in teaching and mentoring students of diverse backgrounds.
- A Ph.D. in hand or evidence that a PhD will be awarded by August 2022.

Preferred Qualifications:
- Demonstrated evidence of research productivity such as publications, articles under review, conference papers, or grant-seeking activity.
- Demonstrated potential of teaching effectiveness, such as syllabi of past or future courses, teaching statement, or teaching evaluations.

Applicants should send a letter of interest that details how the essential and preferred qualifications are met, a curriculum vitae, a brief statement outlining their ability to work with a diverse student body, a statement of their research agenda, examples of scholarly work, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to polssearch@gsu.edu, indicating Tenure-track Identity Politics position in the subject line. Please list three references (with name, title, email and phone number) who will provide letters of recommendation upon request.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials submitted by this date will be given full consideration.

Further information about the department can be found at politicalscecnce.gsu.edu. Georgia State University is an equal opportunity employer. It continues to be the policy of the University to implement affirmative action and equal opportunity for all employees, students, contractors, consultants and applicants for employment or admission without regard to race, color, religion, creed, national origin, sex, age, gender, transgender status, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or disability. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9488
Georgia State University

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a full-time Lecturer position in Public Law to begin Fall 2022. Lecturers at GSU are full-time faculty who are eligible for promotion to Senior Lecturer after five years and Principal Senior Lecturer after ten.

Lecturers at GSU have both teaching and service requirements and are full members of the department’s intellectual community and leadership team. In addition to helping the university achieve excellence in undergraduate teaching and serving on MA thesis committees, Lecturers meet a broad array of vital service needs, such as coordinating our core courses, directing undergraduate programs, leading study abroad trips, coaching academic teams, and developing innovative experiential learning courses. GSU is an institutional member of the National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity, and the College of Arts & Sciences supports professional success for all faculty through mentoring programs and representation of faculty from all ranks (including Lecturers) in college-level program development.

Designated as a minority-serving institution, GSU has one of the most diverse study bodies in the country and is nationally recognized for its record in student success regardless of race, ethnicity, and income level. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative teaching and research by building a diverse faculty. Among the core values of the department are diversity, equity and inclusion. We invite people of all backgrounds and identities, including, but not limited to races, ages, ethnicities, nationalities, religious beliefs, genders, sexual orientations, and abilities, to apply for this position. (The department’s full vision, mission and values statement is here: https://bit.ly/3DZ6Y0n).

Required Qualifications:
- Ability to teach courses related to public law such as: Judicial Politics and Process, Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Constitutional Law, Introduction to American Law and/or other courses of particular interest to the candidate, both online and in-person.
- Ability to deliver effective online instruction and a commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates.
- Interest in teaching and mentoring students of diverse backgrounds to promote excellence in undergraduate learning.
- A Ph.D. in hand or evidence that a PhD will be awarded by Summer 2022.

Preferred Qualifications
- Ability to teach more specialized courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics
- Academic interest in pursuing the scholarship of teaching and learning.

Applicants should send a letter of application that details how the essential and preferred qualifications are met, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and any additional evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate detailed statement addressing how they will facilitate a diverse and inclusive learning environment both in and outside of the classroom. Finally, applicants should provide a list of at least three professional references (name, title, email address, and telephone number) who are willing to provide letters of reference in the future. Please submit all materials electronically to polssearch@gsu.edu, indicating NTT Public Law Position in the subject line. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials submitted by this date will be given full consideration.

GSU is a highly diverse urban research university located in downtown Atlanta. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University is an equal opportunity employer. It continues to be the policy of the University to implement affirmative action and equal opportunity for all employees, students, contractors, consultants and applicants for employment or admission without regard to race, color, religion, creed, national origin, sex, age, gender, transgender status, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or disability. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9482

Georgia State University

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a full-time Lecturer position to begin Fall 2022. Lecturers at GSU are full-time faculty who are eligible for promotion to Senior Lecturer after five years and Principal Senior Lecturer after ten.

Lecturers at GSU have both teaching and service requirements and are full members of the department’s intellectual community and leadership team. In addition to helping the university achieve excellence in undergraduate teaching and serving on MA thesis committees, Lecturers meet a broad array of vital service needs, such as coordinating our core courses, directing undergraduate programs, leading study abroad trips, coaching academic teams, and developing innovative experiential learning courses. GSU is an institutional member of the National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity, and the College of Arts & Sciences supports professional success for all faculty through mentoring programs and representation of faculty from all ranks (including Lecturers) in college-level program development.

Designated as a minority-serving institution, GSU has one of the most diverse study bodies in the country and is nationally recognized for its record in student success regardless of race, ethnicity, and income level. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative teaching and research by building a diverse faculty. Among the core values of the department are diversity, equity and inclusion. We invite people of all backgrounds and identities, including, but not limited to races, ages, ethnicities, nationalities, religious beliefs, genders, sexual orientations, and abilities, to apply for this position. (The department’s full vision, mission and values statement is here: https://bit.ly/3DZ6Y0n).

Essential Qualifications:
- Ability to effectively teach Introduction to American Government, as well as other political science courses in the major, both online and in-person.
- Ability to deliver effective online instruction.
- A commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates.
- Dedication to teaching and mentoring students of diverse backgrounds to achieve excellence in undergraduate learning.
• A PhD in Political Science or related field, in hand or with evidence that a PhD will be awarded by Summer 2022.

Preferred Qualifications:
• An interest in online educational innovation.
• Ability to teach courses related to the politics of identity, which may include Women & Politics; Race, Ethnicity & Politics; Latinx Politics; Asian American Politics; Indigenous Politics; Religion & Politics; Immigration and/or Urban Politics.

Applicants should send a letter of application that details how the essential and (if applicable) preferred qualifications are met, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and any additional evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate statement addressing how they will facilitate a diverse and inclusive learning environment both in and outside of the classroom. Finally, applicants should provide a list of at least three professional references (name, title, email address, and telephone number) who are willing to provide letters of reference. Please submit all materials electronically to polssearch@gwu.edu, indicating NTT 1101 Position in the subject line. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials submitted by this date will be given full consideration.

GSU is a highly diverse urban research university located in downtown Atlanta. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University is an equal opportunity employer. It continues to be the policy of the University to implement affirmative action and equal opportunity for all employees, students, contractors, consultants and applicants for employment or admission without regard to race, color, religion, creed, national origin, sex, age, gender, transgender status, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or disability. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9483

George Mason University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Environmental Policy & Politics (Tenure-Track)
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

*Apply for this position at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51696

George Mason University’s Department of Environmental Science and Policy (ESP) in the College of Science is seeking an enthusiastic and energetic individual for a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy & Politics beginning in August 2022.

George Mason University, a Carnegie Research I institution, is the largest, most diverse, and innovative public university in Virginia with more than 38,000 students from all 50 states and over 135 countries. Located in Fairfax, Virginia, Mason is part of the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area, offering easy access to the scientific and political resources of the nation’s capital. Mason has a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff, and it strongly encourages candidates to apply who will enrich Mason’s academic and culturally inclusive environment.

Responsibilities:

This position will strengthen departmental expertise on domestic U.S. environmental policy and politics in relationship to one or more of the following focal areas: water and watersheds, planetary health, conservation, climate change and energy, and environmental justice. Candidates with strong research and teaching capacity in quantitative methodologies, such as data analytics, agent-based modeling, and social network analysis, are especially encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will be expected to establish a strong extramurally funded research program and provide mentorship to students in the department’s undergraduate, master’s, and doctoral programs. This position aligns with ESP’s focus on boundary-spanning and co-production of knowledge across science, policy, and society. As such, the candidate is expected to contribute to George Mason University’s commitment to transdisciplinary research. We especially encourage submissions from researchers who have experience engaging local, state, or federal policy systems to support and bring about changes that improve environmental or sustainability outcomes. The expected teaching responsibility for this position is two courses per semester. Service activities within ESP and the College of Science are expected.

Preference will be given to candidates who express an interest in expanding collaborative efforts such as the growing partnership between ESP and the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation, partnering with the Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE), furthering the department’s own initiatives in conservation and sustainability, and building new partnerships to develop transdisciplinary projects.

Required Qualifications:
• Successful completion of a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, public administration, or a related field prior to the first day of the appointment;
• Demonstrated expertise in quantitative social science methods;
• The ability to share the department’s commitment to transdisciplinary education and research;
• An established record of scholarly activity demonstrated by publication record in peer-reviewed journals;
• Demonstrated potential to establish an independent extramurally funded research program;
• Commitment and interest in teaching lecture courses at undergraduate and graduate levels;
• Strong commitment to mentoring and supervising undergraduate and graduate students;
• Effective interpersonal communication skills;
• The ability to collaborate with other natural scientists and social scientists in research, teaching and outreach.

Preferred Qualifications:
• Demonstrated experience in developing successful externally-funded research collaborations;
• A record of seeking and securing extramural research support evidenced by proposal submission and/or recipient of funding awards;
• Demonstrated successful teamwork in a collaborative environment.

About us:

ESP is well known for its truly transdisciplinary faculty focused on environmental natural and social sciences. ESP also includes additional graduate program faculty from across the university and numerous affiliated institutions. The following degrees are awarded: B.S. in Environmental Science, B.A. in Environmental and Sustainability Studies, M.S. in Environmental Science and Policy, and a Ph.D. in Environmental Science and Public Policy. The Department also partners with the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation in Front Royal, VA, to offer graduate-level courses in biodiversity and conservation. Mason’s Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE) provides a unique opportunity for the selected candidate to work in a collaborative manner across disciplines at Mason and with external partners nationally and internationally.

Special Instructions to Applicants
For full consideration, applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51696; complete and submit the online application, and include:

(1) cover letter
(2) CV
(3) research statement – please address diversity, equity, and inclusion in your statement
(4) teaching philosophy – please address diversity, equity, and inclusion in your statement, and
(5) names and email addresses of professional references (minimum 3, from academic institutions)

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9466

Georgetown University
Rank: Provost’s Distinguished Fellow and Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Race, Ethnicity and Identity Politics. This search is open to all four fields in the Government Department (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations and Political Theory) and all subfields within political science. Importantly, we seek applicants whose research expands the boundaries of political science and also those whose research invigorates existing and enduring questions in political science with scholarly insights and perspectives drawn from the politics of race, ethnicity and identity.

Successful candidates will contribute to an intellectual and academic agenda at Georgetown that seeks to establish the University as a premier center for research and teaching in race, ethnicity and identity politics. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to work with multiple units across the University which study race, ethnicity, and the politics of identity, including, among others, the newly established Racial Justice Institute, the African American Studies Department, the McCourt School of Public Policy, and the Georgetown Law Center.

For the first year of this position, the successful candidate will also hold the title of Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow, and will have no teaching and service responsibilities to allow a focus on research while receiving mentorship and support from two senior faculty members. More on the Distinguished Faculty Fellow Program can be found at https://blog.provost.georgetown.edu/increasing-geortowns-effectiveness-in-recruiting-faculty/).

Candidates should submit a cover letter, cv, three letters of reference, an academic writing sample, and a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion. In this DEI statement, applicants are asked to address any DEI activities they have been involved with (including research, teaching, community service, volunteer work, or presentations), and to highlight how aspects of their own identity (including, among others, ethnic, sociocultural, racial, religious, gender, and sexual identity) have shaped their experiences and world view, including any experiences of discrimination or barriers to advancement. Additionally, candidates are asked to address how diversity, equity and inclusion can advance the academic enterprise, to offer ideas on how to promote equity and inclusion in higher education and in the discipline of political science, more generally. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to academic excellence and diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) through experience teaching and research on matters related to DEI or through service that has fostered DEI in a university community. Please submit these materials to http://apply.interfolio.com/95204 by October 15, 2021 to ensure full consideration, but review of applications will be on-going. The position remains open until filled. Please direct any questions regarding the search to Prof. Douglas S. Reed at reedd@georgetown.edu. Administrative questions regarding search logistics may be directed to Ileana Aguilar at ima2@georgetown.edu.

About Georgetown University and the Government Department
The Government Department at Georgetown is a leading department of Political Science. We are an open, dynamic, and publicly engaged community of scholars, students, and professional staff. We believe in the ideal of scholarship for its own sake but are also deeply committed to the role of cutting-edge research in informing politics and public life. We see our setting in Washington, DC as a rich opportunity for the study of politics, particularly within the field of race, ethnicity and identity politics and we particularly welcome applications from scholars whose research strives to connect the local and particular with broader forces and constructs within political life.

Georgetown University is one of the world’s leading academic and research institutions, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of global citizens to lead and make a difference in the world. We are a vibrant community of exceptional students, faculty, alumni and professionals dedicated to real-world applications of our research, scholarship, faith and service.

Established in 1789, Georgetown is the nation’s oldest Catholic and Jesuit university. Drawing upon the 450-year-old legacy of Jesuit education, we provide students with a world-class learning experience focused on educating the whole person through exposure to different faiths, cultures and beliefs.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, please click here for more information, or contact the Office of Institutional Diversity, Equity & Affirmative Action (IDEAA) at (202) 687-4798. We encourage applications from individuals who will contribute to diversity in higher education and who show the potential to advance the department’s goal of a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive scholarly environment.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9470

Midwestern State University
Rank: Lecturer
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Open

Lecturer – Political Science
For academic year 2021-2022
Nine Month Contract in Political Science, starting Spring 2022.
Requirement: MA, ABD, or PhD in Political Science.
Field: American Government.

The Department of Political Science seeks a lecturer to teach Introductory American and Texas Government courses. This position is a nine month non-tenure track contract and is renewable given budgetary approval. Teaching load is 12 hours per semester (4 course sections), and candidates should have significant experience teaching introductory Texas and American government. Experience teaching in both in-person and online settings is a plus. Salary is $40,000 per year.

The Department is interested in candidates with an MA or PhD in Political Science, and who will contribute to the mission of the department and university. The Department of Political Science houses majors and minors in Political Science and Global Studies, as well as the minor in Women’s and Gender Studies and the Model United Nations program.

Midwestern State University is a diverse, public liberal arts university with an enrollment of approximately 6,000 students and a member of the Texas Tech System. MSU Texas is located in Wichita Falls, a city of 102,000 about 2 hours northwest of Dallas/Fort Worth (www.msuwtexas.edu). As a Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) member institution, Midwestern State University is particularly committed to excellence in teaching and seeks applicants that will contribute to this mission. This position is designated as security sensitive and requires the finalist to complete a criminal background check. EEO/ADAAA compliance employer.

Please send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and statement of teaching philosophy to:

Dr. Linda Veazey, Chair
Department of Political Science
Midwestern State University
3410 Taft Boulevard
Wichita Falls, TX 76308
linda.veazey@msutexas.edu

The position will remain open until filled, but priority will be given to applications received before November 1, 2021.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 9457

Harvard University
Rank: PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

2022-23 PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship

Established in 1996, under the direction of Paul E. Peterson (Henry Lee Shattuck Professor of Government), the Program on Education Policy and Governance has rapidly distinguished itself as a significant player within the educational reform movement.

PEPG's fellowship program was initiated to attract top postdoctoral researchers to quantitative-based investigations of issues in education reform at Harvard. The program has been a resounding success since its inception in 2002. These fellows have collaborated on some of PEPG's most important research papers and in organizing program conferences. Past fellows currently hold tenured and tenure-track positions at major colleges, universities and research centers in the United States and abroad.

The deadline to apply for the 2022-23 PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship is December 17, 2021.

PEPG is offering a one-year resident research fellowship at the postdoctoral level starting in the summer of 2022. The fellow will work at Harvard University and engage in independent projects that are related to the program’s focus. Additionally, s/he will be expected to collaborate with PEPG’s ongoing research and programs. This may include conference planning and administration, as well as working on PEPG publications. Applicants who have not yet received their Doctoral degree may apply. However, they must receive it by September 1, 2022, in order to participate. Fellows must begin their residency no later than the week of August 29, 2022.

Candidates must have received PhD (or equivalent degree) within five years of the applied-for academic year.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $75,000. It provides modest health insurance coverage but no housing. However, assistance in obtaining affordable housing will be provided.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
- Letter of intent with current contact information including email address.
- Current curriculum vitae (please include any past awards, scholarships and publications).
- A 2,000-word proposal describing one or more research projects that will be conducted and completed while at PEPG. The proposal should include relevant background information, discrete objectives, importance and feasibility, as well as the methodology that will be used.
- Two samples of writing, if not published, then of publishable quality. These should be pertinent to the proposed research.
- The names of and letters of recommendation from three or four people qualified and willing to evaluate the applicant’s project and scholarly qualifications. Recommenders should mail their letters directly to PEPG, or they can be emailed to the address below. Applicants should email their materials to pepg_administrator@hks.harvard.edu (in PDF format). Incomplete applications may not be reviewed/considered.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
All materials should be addressed to:
PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship Program
C/O Antonio Wendland
Harvard Kennedy School
79 JFK Street, Taubman 304
Cambridge, MA 02138

For further information, please email: pepg_administrator@hks.harvard.edu.

Link to job description: https://www.hks.harvard.edu/centers/taubman/programs-research/pepg/fellowships#postdoctoral-fellowship

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9449

SUNY, Cortland
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Congress, Political Parties & Organizations, Presidency

The State University of New York at Cortland (SUNY Cortland) seeks candidates for a tenure track position in American Politics with a focus on American Political Institutions. Specialty may include, but need not be limited to, elections, social movements, legislatures, systemic racism, political parties or the presidency. The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum (e.g., Introduction to American Politics, The American Presidency, Congress, Political Parties, Elections). They may also teach a basic methods course. The typical load is three classes per semester.

SUNY Cortland has a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and offers courses addressing inclusion studies and global diversity, as well as interdisciplinary programs in Africana Studies, Latinx and Latin American Studies, Women’s Gender and Sexuality Studies and Native American Studies.

The Political Science department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, and is one of the most active and visible in the University. The department has about 100 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, and several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in Political Science, a concentration in Law and Justice, and a B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Candidates for this position should demonstrate: a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of experiential activities (e.g., internships, civic engagement, student clubs); engagement in service to the department, school, university, local community and profession; a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion and social justice and support for an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

Required qualifications: PhD in Political Science by appointment date or ABD with a scheduled completion date; Teaching and research focus on American Politics and higher education teaching experience. Interested candidates should electronically submit 1) a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests, 2) a curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for at least three references, 4) a statement of teaching philosophy to include evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi, if available, 5) a copy of transcript for their highest or most recent degree and 6) a published work or writing sample. https://jobs.cortland.edu/postings/5109

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: Open until Filled
eJobs ID: 9449

University of Illinois, Springfield
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Immigration Policy, Social Welfare

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. The department seeks candidates with expertise in the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality (broadly construed) as well as teaching interests in research methods. We seek applicants whose teaching and research focus on the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality in the context of American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The successful candidate is expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses both online and on-ground in their area of specialization as well as in their broader subfields, contribute to the department’s research methods curriculum, and chair MA theses and comprehensive exams. The candidate is also expected to pursue an active research agenda and engage in service activities.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science by August 16, 2022. Candidates must demonstrate potential for excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. Prior teaching experience at the college or university level is required. The regular teaching load for tenure-track appointments is 3-3. The successful candidate will have opportunities to receive course relief for curriculum development or scholarship.

This is a full-time on-campus position tenure-track academic appointment. UIS tenure-system faculty are expected to be available and engaged in the campus community, with assigned professional responsibilities for teaching, scholarship, and service.

The UIS Department of Political Science offers excellent academic preparation and opportunities to become engaged in real world politics for both undergraduate and graduate students. We offer undergraduate and graduate degrees in political science, and majors in public policy and global studies. Students also have the opportunity to receive a minor in political science and global studies. Several of these programs are fully online or on campus. The department has recently undergone a rigorous and exciting academic reorganization into a School of Politics and International Affairs, whose administrative structure will finalize in 2022.

One of the largest departments in the College of Public Affairs and Administration, the UIS Department of Political Science offers an opportunity for our students to live politics in the classroom, on the campus and in the community. Engaged political science makes the connections between the classroom and the world explicit as we challenge our students to both grasp the course material and explore how it has an impact outside of the classroom. The UIS Department of Political Science bridges the worlds of the “academic” and “practical” by providing concrete opportunities for the practice of theory and the theory of practice. Our school champions a culture of inclusion and diversity; we encourage applications from women and members of historically underrepresented groups.

Application deadline: October 29, 2021

About UIS: Located in the state capital, the University of Illinois Springfield is one of three members of the University of Illinois system. The University serves approximately 4,000 students in 21 graduate and 31 undergraduate programs. The academic curriculum offers students a strong liberal arts core, a wide range of professional programs, and close faculty interaction. Making the most of its location in the state capital, UIS is broadly engaged in public policy and service. Its diverse student body includes traditional, non-traditional, and international students. Twenty-five percent of majors are in 17 undergraduate and graduate online degree programs and the campus has received several national awards for its implementation of online learning. UIS faculty are committed teachers, active scholars, and professionals in service to society. The University emphasizes excellence in teaching, and faculty are also expected to provide a balance of scholarship and service activities to meet requirements for tenure and promotion. You are encouraged to visit the university web page at http://www.uis.edu and the department web page at https://www.uis.edu/politicalscience/

Responsibilities:

- Teach a 3/3 load (online and on-campus) in the Department of Political Science;
- Offer courses on the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality (broadly construed) as well as research methods. The candidate will be able to teach additional courses in at least one of the following subfields: American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The candidate will be able to chair MA theses and comprehensive exams in the subfield of American Politics and also in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations;
- Assist with department, college, and university-level service activities;
- Engage in scholarship activities that result in a significant publication record;
- Contribute to our undergraduate and graduate curricula, both on-campus and online.

Qualifications:

Earned doctorate (expected by August 2022) in political science; Desire and potential for excellence in teaching; Experience and/or willingness to teach in an online degree program; Potential/evidence of strong scholarly productivity and an active research agenda; Potential/evidence of strong record of excellence in professional service; Teaching experience at the college or university level; Willingness to grow a culture of inclusion and diversity

To Apply:

Go to https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=153958&job=assistant-professor-department-of-political-science-school-of-politics-international-affairs-153958 to create or update your profile and complete the online application. Additionally, please upload (1) cover letter addressing the responsibilities of the position, (2) current curriculum vita, (3) a teaching portfolio that includes your teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and sample syllabi, (4) sample of scholarship, and (5) names and contact information (email address and phone number) for three professional references. Only those applicants who complete the online application and upload all required materials by the October 29, 2021 application deadline will be considered; incomplete applications will not be evaluated. To maintain the integrity and confidentiality of the search process, applicants are asked to upload their own materials. Formal review of applications will begin after October 29, 2021, and continue until the position is filled or the search terminated. For questions regarding the position, contact Dr. Sibel Oktay, Associate Professor and Search Committee Chair at sibelo@uis.edu

More About UIS & Our Springfield Community:

The University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) is a premier public university that provides students with a high-quality liberal arts education, exceptional public affairs opportunities, and outstanding professional preparation programs. UIS is one of three universities of the world-class University of Illinois system and has been ranked by US News & World Report as one of the top 10 regional public universities in the Midwest.

UIS celebrates its diversity with a campus comprised of students and faculty of various ages, backgrounds, and ethnicities. Faculty members are accomplished teacher-scholars, and UIS has a national reputation for innovation in teaching and excellence in online education. Located in the state capital, UIS has established a reputation for Leadership lived, based upon four core strengths: the educational richness of its teaching-focused academic experience; the abundant opportunities it provides for students to collaborate with faculty and gain practical experience through institutional partners; the right-sized supportive community it offers; and its tradition of educating public servants and leaders in private and public sectors. UIS is a community-engaged campus whose students contribute over 66,000 hours of community service each year.

The surrounding Springfield community offers a wonderful quality of life. A lively entertainment scene includes jazz, blues, community theatre, municipal opera, comedy, and live music, including downtown music festivals. Additional cultural and sporting attractions are conveniently located a few hours away in St. Louis, Chicago, and Indianapolis. With a population of about 117,000, Springfield offers great restaurants, shopping, and other city amenities while retaining the friendliness and affordability of small-town living (and without the heavy traffic). The area also has a wide variety of recreational opportunities, including biking and hiking trails, ice rinks, sports complexes, and several first-class golf courses. Lake Springfield offers fishing, boating, and other recreational water activities. Springfield is also home to a wildlife sanctuary, zoo, lakeside memorial gardens, botanical gardens, and one of the world’s largest carillons.

Springfield was home to Abraham Lincoln, our nation’s sixteenth president and one of its most famous political figures. A historical downtown area features the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library & Museum, the Old State Capitol, the Lincoln historical district, historic reenactments and events, the Illinois State Museum, and a variety of specialty shops and restaurants which make Springfield the most prominent tourist destination in central Illinois.

Springfield is also home to the second Illinois Medical District (the first being in Chicago) and includes two major medical centers, Memorial Health Systems and HSHS St. John’s Health Systems, as well as the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine. The medical community and state government are the two largest employers in Springfield.

Springfield offers daily Amtrak service to St. Louis and Chicago as well as to points beyond. A regional airport offers daily service to major hubs in Chicago and Dallas. City bus service is provided from the UIS campus to various locations around the city.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9448

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Communication, Political Parties & Organizations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics beginning August 16, 2022. The successful candidate should have a strong research agenda which will lead to a body of high-quality peer-reviewed published work. The position is open to applicants in all areas of American politics, behavior and/or institutions, but we especially welcome candidates whose research and teaching interests lie in one or more of the following substantive areas: race/identity and politics, political communication, media and politics, political parties and interest groups, the presidency, and Congress.

The successful candidate will teach courses in our B.A. and M.A./Ph.D. programs. In addition to their specific substantive concerns, we are particularly interested in candidates who are prepared to teach graduate courses in quantitative research methods. A completed Ph.D. in political science is required for appointment at the level of Assistant Professor. The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, is a Carnegie-classified R1 Doctoral University and the flagship campus of the University of Alabama system. UA has approximately 38,000 students and is a leader among public universities nationwide for enrollment of National Merit Scholars. The Department of Political Science offers the B.A., M.A., M.P.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The Department also administers the International Studies major, the Economics major in Arts & Sciences, and the Public Policy minor.

To apply, go to https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/49325 and complete the online application. Include a cover letter that details research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, one writing sample, and sample syllabi and/or teaching evaluations if available. Graduate transcripts and three letters of reference should be emailed directly to the department, at pscsearchchair@ua.edu or mailed to American Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, University of Alabama, Box 870213, Tuscaloosa, AL 35487-0213. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. For more information, contact pscsearchchair@ua.edu.

The University of Alabama is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and actively seeks diversity among its employees. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. For additional information about UA’s strategic diversity plan, see https://provost.ua.edu/diversity. In addition, the College of Arts & Sciences has developed a college-level strategic diversity plan, which can be viewed here: https://diversity.as.ua.edu/.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The MIT Election Data and Science Lab is searching for a postdoctoral fellow who will participate in the research in the lab. The preferred starting date is June 1, 2022, although earlier starting dates can be negotiated. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding. The application deadline is December 1.

This postdoctoral fellow will participate in research at the lab, but is particularly expected to participate in projects related to understanding access to voting among underserved and minority communities. The postdoc will contribute to the lab’s ongoing research projects, which touch broadly on issues of election science, election reform, and election administration. The fellow will participate in ongoing lab research in addition to pursuing a plan of research of his or her own design. Applicants should be qualified to help oversee research that utilizes quantitative methods appropriate for modeling and analyzing election results. Applicants should hold a PhD, or be nearly finished, in Political Science or a related discipline.

Please submit a letter of application that includes (1) proposed research plan for the fellowship, (2) a statement about progress toward completion of the dissertation, (3) curriculum vitae, (4) writing sample, and (4) three letters of recommendation by December 1, 2021. https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19756

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9422

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Judicial Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics
Department of Politics

Mount Holyoke College Department of Politics invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Public Law. The position will be filled at the assistant professor level beginning in Fall 2022. Ph.D. in political science or related discipline is required. Teaching load is 2/2. Salary is competitive.

Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law. The ability to offer an undergraduate course in research methods is a plus.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9429

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Political Science Jobs

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory American Politics course and a course in the subfield of public law, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of strong teaching at the undergraduate level and experience mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is November 15, 2021. Please include contact information for three references as part of your application. Reference letters will be requested at a later date in the search process.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is a women’s college that is gender diverse. The College is committed to providing equal access and opportunity in employment and education to all employees and students. In compliance with state and federal law, Mount Holyoke College does not discriminate on the basis of race, ethnicity, color, genetic information, sex, national or ethnic origin, religion, age, physical or mental disability, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity or expression, ancestry, veteran or military status, or any other legally protected status under federal, state or local law. The College does not discriminate on the basis of gender in the recruitment and admission of students to its graduate program.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9419

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/2022-2023 CSDP Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Postdoctoral Research Associate/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) 2022-2023

Princeton University’s Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on September 1, 2022. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required. https://csdp.princeton.edu/apply

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2022-2023 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/22462 . The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Wednesday, December 1, 2021 at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day on Friday, December 3, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University’s dedication to excellence.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9417

Princeton University
Rank: Visiting Research Scholar/2022-2023 CSDP Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Visiting Research Scholar/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP)

Princeton University’s Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for the 2022-2023 academic year. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their position.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events. Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar’s salary is based on the financial

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The University of Nebraska at Omaha seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Science. The anticipated start date is August 2022. A completed PhD is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered. Candidates seeking to fill the position should have interests in and a demonstrated capacity to teach under-graduate and graduate courses in American political institutions. We welcome applications from candidates with a specialization in race and ethnicity. A willingness to teach online courses is also required. The position offers a teaching load of three courses per semester and a nine-month contract with the possibility to teach in the summer, contingent upon resources. Our new colleague will be expected to build a record of excellence in teaching, research, and service as required for tenure and promotion. We will begin reviewing applications after October 21. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive and will be accepted until the position is filled.

UNO is a vibrant, metropolitan university in the state's largest city with an enrollment of approximately 15,000 students. In recent decades the campus developed as a more traditional residential university supported by several new and beautifully appointed residence halls. UNO is classified as a doctoral research university in the latest Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education and the Athletic program competes in NCAA division I. UNO also has the distinction of being one of the nation's leaders in engagement and outreach with a 2015 Community Engagement Classification from the Carnegie Foundation. The campus is located in the heart of Omaha, a cosmopolitan city of more than 600,000 (1.2 million including the large Omaha metro area), which is known for its excellent public school system and strong economic base. The city is home to a number of racially, ethnically, and culturally diverse groups, and is characterized by myriad places to eat, live, and shop. For more information about how UNO lives its metropolitan mission, visit https://www.unomaha.edu/academic-affairs/faculty-support/che-ad-for-uno---may-202011.pdf.

The University and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among the faculty and staff. The University of Nebraska does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, marital status, and/or political affiliation in its programs, activities, or employment. UNO is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an E-Verify employer.

Inquiries may be directed to Dr. Carson Holloway, Chair, Department of Political Science: cholloway@unomaha.edu. Applications must be submitted directly through the UNO website to be considered for this position. Any applications submitted via email or this website will not be reviewed or considered.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9420
• Applicants at the assistant professor level should submit a letter of interest describing their research agenda, a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, evidence of teaching excellence, and three letters of recommendation.
• All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19703.
• Address correspondence to: Chair, Institutions Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Box 90204, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0204.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9401

Oakland University
Rank: Associate Professor of Political Science - Public Administration and MPA Director
Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Oakland University invites applications for an Associate Professor of Political Science-Public Administration, to begin August 15, 2022. The successful candidate will also be appointed to an initial 3-year term as MPA Director. This position is eligible for renewal during the 3rd year of each 3-year appointment.

We seek a scholar in public and/or nonprofit administration, able to teach broadly across the discipline at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Human Resource Management and Program Evaluation are immediate instructional needs in our NASPAA-accredited program.

The MPA Director supervises a full-time program coordinator and two graduate assistants, and responsibilities include overseeing curriculum development, student recruitment, and managing part-time faculty in the MPA program. The MPA Director position carries with it a two-course administrative release and stipend each regular academic year. Candidates must demonstrate experience with or a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications:

A PhD with a specialization in Public Administration or related field, with the ability to teach at least two MPA core courses. A record of scholarly achievement commensurate with rank of appointment according to department and Oakland University standards.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9395

University of Pennsylvania
Rank: Post-Doc Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CITIZENS AND POLITICS POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP
The Institute for the Study of Citizens and Politics at the University of Pennsylvania (http://iscap.upenn.edu/) invites applications to fill

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
a postdoctoral fellowship position for the 2022-2023 academic year. Applications are welcomed from scholars in any social science field who have received their Ph.D. in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 30, 2022. The term of appointment is July 1, 2022-June 30, 2023, with the possibility of renewal. The Institute for the Study of Citizens and Politics (ISCAP) is a non-partisan research institute jointly supported by the University of Pennsylvania’s School of Arts and Sciences and the Annenberg School for Communication. The ISCAP postdoctoral fellow will work within and help manage a research group led by Professor Diana Mutz, Director of ISCAP. The postdoctoral fellow is expected to pursue his or her own research agenda while also actively working on team projects. The fellow will also coordinate effort among team members, including Ph.D. students and undergraduate research assistants. Founded in 2003, ISCAP promotes research on public opinion, political psychology, and political communication. Its purpose is to enable research on the many ways in which citizens interact with the political world, broadly construed. The current research emphases at ISCAP include studies of public opinion, political psychology, elections and voting behavior, attitudes toward globalization, and the impact of media. Scholars with interests in these areas are particularly encouraged to apply. In addition to interest in these topics, any previous methodological training or experience designing experiments and/or analyzing panel data are especially valued. Qualifications, Requirements, and Application Information Postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $60,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also comes with $7,000 in funds for research support and professional travel. The ISCAP Postdoctoral Fellow will pursue his or her own research and also participate in the activities of the Center. Because the fellow is expected to be fully integrated with the intellectual life of the University, they must plan to physically reside in the vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania. To apply, please send a C.V., a research statement, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to iscap.upenn@gmail.com. The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. We will accept applications beginning immediately, and may conduct virtual interviews. Applicants will be notified of the outcome just as soon as a decision is made. Start Date: Summer 2022 Application Deadline: Open until Filled Date Posted: 9/22/2021 Salary: $60,000 - $69,999 eJobs ID: 9406

George Washington University
Rank: Assistant Professor
American Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track professor (Assistant Professor) in American Politics. The Department’s teaching and research interests include race and ethnic politics, inequality, and representation. The position will start in Fall 2022 and is pending final budgetary approval. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate courses and maintain an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda. Basic Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department expects applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/86028 and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching/research interest (including a summary of teaching evaluations, if available), and samples of written work. In addition, please send at least three letters of recommendation to pscjobs_AP@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on 10/20/2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2022 Application Deadline: 10/20/2021 Date Posted: 9/20/2021 Salary: Competitive eJobs ID: 9382

Loyola University, Chicago
Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Department of Political Science: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Job Title: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Background: Loyola University Chicago (LUC), College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Political Science seeks qualified candidates for an appointment as Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2022. The Department has more than 20 full-time faculty members, over 650 majors and 100 minors, and five graduate programs (BA/MA, MA/JD, MA, and PhD in Political Science and MA in International Affairs). For more information about the department, please visit its web site at https://www.luc.edu/politicalscience/.

Located on Chicago’s vibrantly multicultural North Side, LUC is committed to creating an inclusive, responsive community of faculty, students, and staff. As an urban-based Department of Political Science dedicated to mentoring a diverse student body, many of whom come from under-represented and under-served populations, we especially encourage applications from candidates from under-represented groups. We also encourage applications from scholars committed to interdisciplinarity (i.e., working with colleagues across different subfields and disciplines) and the successful pursuit of external grants.

Duties and Responsibilities: Successful candidates will be expected to teach an introductory course in American Politics, and, according to their expertise, upper division undergraduate and graduate American politics courses. They may also develop special topics courses in conversation with the Department Chair and according to departmental needs. Additionally, they will be expected to support the department’s student-related programming and academic advising according to the practices of the department and to serve on departmental and university committees as designated by the Department Chair. The successful candidate is expected to pursue a strong research program, including the pursuit of external grants.

Minimum Qualifications: The candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment. Candidates for the position must clearly demonstrate the potential for excellence in research and teaching and have a record of (or clear potential for) distinguished scholarship, grant-funded research, and student mentorship. The candidate also should be willing to support the mission of LUC and the goals of a Jesuit Catholic Education.

Special Instructions to Applicants: Candidates should submit to www.careers.luc.edu (1) a brief letter of interest; (2) a current Curriculum Vitae; (3) a statement outlining the applicant’s research agenda; (4) a statement on teaching experience; (5) a writing sample, and (6) a statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to mentoring a diverse student body through research, teaching and other channels and engaging a diverse community through scholarship and service. Applicants should also arrange for three recommendations from individuals prepared to speak to their professional qualifications for this position, especially in terms of scholarship, teaching and mentorship, to be submitted electronically (letter writers will receive an electronic prompt from LUC). Please direct questions to:

David Doherty, Ph.D.
Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
Loyola University Chicago
1032 W. Sheridan Road
Chicago, Illinois 60660-5761
Email: ddoherty@luc.edu

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by October 18, 2021, will receive full consideration.

Loyola University Chicago is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer with a strong commitment to hiring for our mission and diversifying our faculty. The University seeks to increase the diversity of its professoriate, workforce and undergraduate and graduate student populations because broad diversity - including a wide range of individuals who contribute to a robust academic environment - is critical to achieving the University’s mission of excellence in education, research, educational access and services in an increasingly diverse society. Therefore, in holistically accessing the many qualifications of each applicant, we would factor favorably an individual’s record of conduct that includes experience with an array of diverse perspectives, as well as a wide variety of different educational, research or other work activities. Among other qualifications, we would also factor favorably experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic career or degrees.

As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our strategic plan to deliver a Transformative Education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about LUC’s mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission/. For information about the university’s focus on transformative education, they should consult our website at www.luc.edu/transformativedeead.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled Date Posted: 9/17/2021 Salary: Competitive eJobs ID: 9374

California State University, San Bernardino
Rank: Assistant Professor

California State University, San Bernardino (CSUSB) is located in San Bernardino in the Inland Empire, 60 miles east of Los Angeles and operates a satellite campus in Palm Desert located in Coachella Valley. CSUSB serves approximately 20,000 students, of which 81% are first-generation college students and graduates about 5,000 students annually. As a designated Hispanic Serving Institution, CSUSB reflects the dynamic diversity of the region and has one of the most diverse student populations of any university in the Inland Empire, and the second highest Hispanic enrollment of all public universities in California. CSUSB employs 467 full-time faculty and offers 48 undergraduate, 35 graduate, and one doctoral degree programs and 14 academic programs with national accreditation.

At CSUSB, diversity, equity and inclusion are values central to our mission. We recognize that diversity and inclusion in all its forms are necessary for our institutional success. By fully leveraging our diverse experiences, backgrounds and insights, we inspire innovation, challenge the status quo and create better outcomes for our students and community. As part of CSUSB’s commitment to hire, develop and retain a diverse faculty, we offer a variety of networking, mentoring and development programs for our junior faculty. We are committed to building and sustaining a CSUSB community that is supportive and inclusive of all individuals. Qualified applicants with experience in ethnically diverse settings and/or who demonstrate a commitment to serving diverse student populations are strongly encouraged to apply. CSUSB has received the Carnegie Community Engagement Classification, which recognizes CSUSB’s ongoing commitment to service-learning, a high-impact practice that combines classroom instruction with meaningful volunteer service and correlates strongly to student success.

JOB SUMMARY
The Department of Political Science seeks applicants for a tenure-track position with primary expertise in the fields of Constitutional Law, including civil liberties and civil rights, and American Politics, including political institutions and public policy, to begin in the Fall Semester of 2022. A Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. We expect successful candidates for this tenure-track position to teach courses in Constitutional Law and American Politics. The successful candidate will teach a variety of upper-division courses in these and related areas of specialization in American Government courses. In addition, the candidate may be asked to teach graduate courses. The successful candidate will produce scholarly research and provide service to the university and community.

TYPICAL ACTIVITIES
Preferred candidates will be expected to meet the traditional requirements of excellence in teaching, active scholarly and professional work, mentoring a diverse student population, and service to the university and community.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS
Candidates must hold Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of employment and demonstrate evidence of teaching and research promise.

SPECIAL CONDITIONS
The person holding this position is considered a ‘mandated reporter’ under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Following a conditional offer of employment, a background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate may start work with CSUSB. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may result in the withdrawal of the offer of employment. Note: CSUSB cannot deny an applicant a position solely or in part due to a criminal conviction history until it has performed an individualized assessment and linked the relevant conviction history with specific job duties in the position being sought. Please note: Current employees who are offered positions on campus will be required to undergo a background check for any position where a background check is required by law or that CSUSB has designated as sensitive. Sensitive positions are those requiring heightened scrutiny of individuals holding the position based on potential for harm to children, concerns for the safety and security of people, animals, or property, or heightened risk of financial loss to CSUSB or individuals in the university community.

For health and well-being, CSUSB is a smoke & tobacco-free campus. The university is committed to promoting a healthy environment for all members of our community.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT
To find out more about the Department of Political Science:
http://csbs.csusb.edu/political-science.

For more information regarding the position, please contact:

Recruitment Chair
Dr. Meredith Conroy
(909) 537-5414
mconroy@csusb.edu

Department Chair
Dr. Scot Zentner
(909) 537-5480
zentner@csusb.edu

HOW TO APPLY

Please submit
1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Cover Letter that includes:
   a. A statement of your teaching interest/philosophy
   b. A statement of your research experience/plans
3. If available, evidence of teaching effectiveness such as teaching portfolios, reports on teaching observations, and/or student evaluations of teaching.
4. Unofficial copies of all postsecondary degree transcripts (official transcripts will be required prior to appointment).
5. Reference List - names, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three (3) referees whom we may contact to obtain letters of recommendation. Confidential letters of recommendation will be solicited from those listed as references on the application if the applicant is moved forward in the recruitment process. Non-confidential letters of recommendation can be uploaded by the applicant during the application process.
6. Diversity Statement, which may include your interpretation of diversity, equity and inclusion, and must include specific examples of how your background and your educational and/or professional experiences have prepared you for this role at California State University, San Bernardino (maximum 1,000 words).

Formal review of applications will begin November 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

If you are interested in this opportunity, we invite you to apply by using this CSU Recruitment hyperlink at:

Salary is commensurate with experience.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a “mandated reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

California State University, San Bernardino is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status. This position adheres to CSU policies against Sex Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Violence, including Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, and Stalking. This requires completion of Sexual Violence Prevention Training within 6 months of assuming employment and on a two-year basis thereafter. (Executive Order 1096)

This position may be “Designated” under California State University’s Conflict of Interest Code. This would require the filing of a Statement of Economic Interest on an annual basis and the completion of training within 6 months of assuming office and every 2 years thereafter. Visit the Human Resources Conflict of Interest webpage link for additional information:
https://www.csusb.edu/human-resources/current-employees/employee-relations/conflict-interest

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Harvard University

Rank: Inequality in America Initiative Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Inequality in America Initiative seeks applications from recent doctoral degree recipients interested in joining a multidisciplinary network of Harvard researchers working to address the manifold challenges of inequality. This program is intended to seed new research directions, facilitate collaboration across disciplines, and develop new leaders in the study of inequality who can publish at the highest level, reach the widest audience, and impact policy.

The fellowship is a two-year postdoctoral training program. The award includes $71,000/year plus fringe; office space; up to $17,500 for research expenses across 2 years; up to $3,000 (incl. taxes) for relocation from out of state; and up to $3,000 for a manuscript workshop in year two.

The program director will pair each fellow with two Harvard faculty mentors (one from outside the fellow’s primary discipline), participating in one or more of five research clusters:

- Mobility and Migration
- Science, Technology, Education, and Health
- Work, Family, and Opportunity
- Governance, Citizenship, and Social Justice
- America Inequality, Globally

Applicants to the fall 2022 program must have received a doctorate or equivalent terminal degree in April 2019 or later; applicants without a terminal degree must demonstrate that they will receive one by August 2022.

See more at https://inequalityinamerica.fas.harvard.edu/postdoctoral-program

Contact: Jennifer Shephard, iai@fas.harvard.edu, 1.617.495.7906

Start Date: Application Deadline: 11/12/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9367

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Assistant Professor – Public Administration and/or American Politics

The Department of Political Science will be hosting a virtual Open House on Friday, October 1st, and Friday, October 8th, from 1-5pm. Please feel free to drop in with any questions you may have about the position, department, college, or university! The zoom link is: https://cpp.zoom.us/j/89856837598

Assistant Professor – Public Administration and/or American Politics

Deadline: October 15th, 2021

The Political Science Department in the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona (Cal Poly Pomona) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor for appointment beginning in the 2022-2023 academic year specializing in Public Administration and/or American Politics.

The Position:

The faculty member will be part of a collegial Political Science Department that grants a B.A. degree, and that also has a Master’s in Public Administration (MPA). The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to inclusive excellence and diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply. Cal Poly Pomona is a Hispanic-serving institution and the faculty member will be an advisor to many under-represented minorities and first-generation college students.

The faculty member will teach in both the Bachelor’s in Political Science program as well as the Masters in Public Administration program. While the faculty member need not have a Ph.D. in Public Administration, they must contribute towards the MPA program. A faculty member specializing in Public Administration, Public Policy, and/or American Politics will have the ability to teach two courses in the MPA program (one elective or core class and quantitative methods), and courses in American politics/quantitative methods (race and ethnicity is a plus) annually. In the MPA program they will be expected to teach new or existing core and elective courses within their area of specialization—topics may include but are not limited to theories of public administration, state and local government, or a substantive public policy issue (economic policy, immigration, environmental justice, social welfare, and/or education).

Minimum Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, or a related field from an accredited university at the time of appointment
- University teaching experience as instructor of record and/or teaching assistant
- Evidence of scholarly potential (conference presentations, publications, grant development, etc.)
- Evidence of demonstrated ability to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching, and/or service and work
- Experience fostering an inclusive environment
- A Student Success Statement that demonstrates your commitment and record of contributions through applicant’s teaching, scholarship, and / or service, by addressing at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed in the full job ad (see the link under “Application Procedure”).

Preferred/Desired Qualifications

Research interests related to social or racial justice, gender inequities, and/or inequality would be a plus. Additionally, preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to mentor and advise under-served populations including, but not limited to, African-American, Latinx, and Native American students.

Application Procedure

The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications submitted by October 15th, 2021. Early submission is encouraged. Electronic submissions of all application materials must be submitted online via Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/94496.

A completed application will consist of:

- A cover letter that describes the candidate’s teaching performance, research experience and interests, and that addresses the duties and qualifications articulated in the position description;
- A curriculum vitae comprising at least those elements specified on the application form and including the names, titles, addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers of at least five individuals who can speak to the candidate’s potential for succession this position;
- A ‘Student Success Statement’ about your teaching, or other experiences, successes, and challenges working with a diverse student population addressing at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed in the full job ad (see the link under “Application Procedure”) (approximately one page, single-spaced);
- Three recent letters of reference (on letterhead, signed and dated within the past two years), uploaded by recommenders through Interfolio;
- A completed application form available on the application website;
- An unofficial transcript showing the highest degree earned from an accredited education institution. Finalists will be required to submit an official transcript; and
- Recent teaching evaluation summaries and sample syllabi (Optional, if available).

• Please submit all electronic documents in PDF format. For further information or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Neil Chaturvedi, Search Committee Chair
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Email: nschaturvedi@cpp.edu

Jessica Castillo, Administrative Support Coordinator
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Email: jmcastillo@cpp.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9345

Lehigh University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, American Government and Politics

The faculty members in the Department of Political Science at Lehigh University are seeking applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in August 2022. The successful candidate will possess a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field and contribute to research and teaching in public policy and research methods. Preference will be given to applicants with a strong background in American politics. The teaching load for this position is two four-credit courses per semester. Completion of the doctorate is required by the date of hire.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, and teaching statement via Academic Jobs Online. Applicants are required to describe how they will contribute to a diverse and equitable community in their letters of interest. Applicants should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted.

Serving approximately 90 undergraduate majors and 20 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a B.A. and M.A. degree as well as a Master of Public Policy. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Political Science Department website: https://polisci.caas.lehigh.edu/

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation’s highly ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University has some 5,000 undergraduates, 2,000 graduate students, and about 550 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Lehigh University ranks in the top 50 among national universities in U.S. News & World Report ratings and is in the most competitive category in both Peterson’s Guide and Barron’s Profiles of American Colleges. The university is located on a scenic, 1,600-acre campus in historic Bethlehem in a region of eastern Pennsylvania (USA) known as the Lehigh Valley. About 90 minutes from New York and Philadelphia, the Lehigh Valley is an attractive place to live and work with reasonable cost of living, easy commuting, good schools, and abundant cultural activities.

Lehigh University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, genetic information, marital status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status. We are committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Lehigh University is committed to a culturally and intellectually diverse academic community and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching and/or service, to this mission. Lehigh University is the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation award for promoting the careers of women in academic sciences and engineering http://www.lehigh.edu/luadvance/ and is among institutions of higher education recognized for excellence in diversity with the INSIGHT into Diversity HEED Award. Additional information about Lehigh’s commitment to diversity and inclusion is available at https://diversityandinclusion.lehigh.edu/. Lehigh University provides competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits, including domestic partner benefits. More information about Work/Life Balance for Faculty can be found at: https://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/faculty/worklifebalance.html Lehigh University supports dual career efforts for following spouses/partners of newly hired faculty. Learn more about Dual Career Assistance at: https://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/faculty/dualcareer.html.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. As a condition of employment, background checks are required in conformance with Pennsylvania law. Questions about this position should be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Brian Fife, at bgh218@lehigh.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9343

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Other

Announcement of Anticipated Part-Time Faculty Openings

Department: Political Science
Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year Spring 2022

CSUN’s Commitment to You:
CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. As both an AANAPISI & HSI (Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution & Hispanic Serving Institution), CSUN welcomes candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusive excellence. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: http://www.csun.edu

About the College:
For information about the College, visit our website at: https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences

About the Department:
For information about the department, visit our website at: https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:
Instructors for in-person Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below.

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current Salary Range:
Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($4229 - $5047)
Paid in 6 monthly installments

Courses or Specialization:
Upper division courses in:
1. POLS 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Qualifications:
Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field.

University teaching experience is strongly preferred.
A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Process:
Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:
For Spring 2022: November 8, 2021

(Checklist)PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- POLS 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
- POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
- POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
- POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Inquiries and applications should be addressed to:

Dr. Tom Hogen-Esch, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
Department of Political Science
California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8254
tom.hogen-esch@csun.edu

General Information:
In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a ‘mandated reporter’ under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in CSU Executive Order 1096. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting the Political Science Department at (818) 677-3488.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Harvard University
Rank: Fellow-in-Residence
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from abroad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2022-23 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will continue its focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” Variations in national responses to the pandemic; disparate experiments with technology, economic, and health policies; and conflicts over foundational political institutions have thrown into stark relief different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other) around the world. Myriad challenges - including challenges relating to education, climate and the natural environment, migration, new technologies, public health, elections, racial justice, and economic well-being - call us to revisit and evaluate existing conceptions of the social compact at both national and global levels. We ask, is it time for a new social compact?

We invite applications connected to any dimension of this broad field of inquiry. We see the nature of the questions raised and the challenges to be addressed as so multifaceted as to make this theme not very restrictive; however, in our usual fashion, we will also consider applications that fall outside the parameters of this thematic description. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. 2021-22 will be a transitional year, and our hope is to resume in-person, fully residential programming for the 2022-23 academic year.

In addition, the Center offers the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following centers; potential affiliations are arranged on a case-by-case basis:
- Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University
- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.

ELIGIBILITY
Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND
Faculty:
- We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Doc:
The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2022-23. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioner:
- Practitioner stipends are determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience, up to a maximum of $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS
To apply, complete an online application form which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:
- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics
- CV
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample

Please note: Name and contact information for three professional references will be requested, but no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline to submit an application is November 15, 2021, with decisions likely in February 2022. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Please direct questions regarding this application process to ESafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date:
- Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
- Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Pepperdine University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Social Science Division of the Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences at Pepperdine University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science to begin Fall 2022. We are open to various areas of expertise within the field of U.S. politics, but prefer candidates who are able to teach an introductory course and other classes in U.S. politics that include the politics of racialized minorities, broadly construed. We are open to a wide range of methodologies, including historical, ethnographic, interpretive, and quantitative approaches. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, an active scholarly agenda, and a commitment to excellent teaching in a Christian liberal arts environment.

Applicants must have an active commitment to the Christian values of the University and the mission of Seaver College and provide a thoughtful reflection on their willingness to support the mission in their application materials. We encourage applications from candidates who will enrich the diversity of our faculty and who are committed to supporting an inclusive educational environment.

Applicants should apply by clicking on https://apply.interfolio.com/94571. Review of applicants will begin November 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. A background check will be required as a condition of employment.

Applications should include the documents listed below:

--A cover letter.
--A curriculum vitae, indicating educational record, employment record, achievements, awards, publications, and other relevant information. Please also describe any civic, religious, or charitable interests and activities, and list all current organizational memberships.
--Three confidential letters of reference (an email address for each referral will be requested in the application).
--Official transcripts of all graduate work (unofficial copies are acceptable for the application; however, official transcripts will be required for selected applicants).
--Teaching philosophy statement, which may focus on your motivation to teach at the university level and your thoughts about what constitutes effective pedagogy.
--A statement detailing the candidate’s scholarly agenda, which may focus on your current area of emphasis and plans for professional development.
--A thoughtful reflection on the University’s Christian mission. The University mission states that Pepperdine University is a Christian university committed to the highest standards of academic excellence and Christian values, where students are strengthened for lives of purpose, service, and leadership. In your statement, please comment on your willingness to support the mission of Seaver College and Christian values of the University including your involvement in a local community of faith and how your faith relates to your teaching, professional, and/or intellectual life.
--Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness (if available). Candidates selected for interviews will be asked to supply evidence of teaching effectiveness (such as student evaluations of teaching) where possible.

University of Texas at El Paso
Rank: American Politics/American Political Behavior

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor or associate professor in American Politics focused on Political Behavior beginning fall of 2022. As a Carnegie R1 university, we seek scholars with a strong research agenda, and a successful candidate will help to continue UTEP’s strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in American Politics. The ability to teach courses in research methods (graduate and undergraduate) is desirable. Our needs in American politics are broad and can include a focus in: political behavior (broadly defined), race & ethnic politics, gender politics, public opinion, media and politics, Congress, and public policy. A strong record of peer-reviewed publications will ultimately be required for tenure.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science. ABD applicants near completion will be considered. The degree must be completed by the time of appointment. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching to be considered; evidence of excellence in research and teaching is preferred.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants applying at the assistant professor level must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality (sample syllabi/statement of teaching philosophy), article/chapter length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Applicants applying at the associate level must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, evidence of teaching quality (sample syllabi/statement of teaching philosophy), article/chapter length writing sample, and the names and contact information of at least three recommenders.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/13/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9325

St. Lawrence University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Health Care, Education Policy, Immigration Policy

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American and comparative public
The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

The start date for the position is August 1, 2022. Candidate must have degree in hand by the start date. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021.

Please apply online at: https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/30415

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9313

Rutgers University, New Brunswick
Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Africana Studies and Political Science

The Departments of Africana Studies and Political Science at Rutgers University-New Brunswick seek to hire a nationally recognized scholar in the field of the politics of race at the Associate or Full Professor level, to begin September 1, 2022. We welcome candidates with an outstanding and sustained record of research, teaching, and mentorship. Research and teaching interests should include African American engagements with political institutions such as Congress, the presidency, state and local government, urban politics, and political parties; political rhetoric; social movements; and African American politics. We particularly welcome candidates specializing in the diverse factors shaping the landscape for African American politics in recent decades. We encourage candidates who engage in public discourse of their research beyond formal academic circles, though this is not required. The successful candidate's tenure home will be in Africana Studies, with a partial appointment in Political Science, and with teaching and service responsibilities divided between the two Departments. The candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate level courses in the general field of the politics of race. PhD degree in Africana Studies, Political Science or related field required by position start date of September 1, 2022.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Africana Studies and Political Science Departments are strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a list of three references to: http://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/140961

Review of applications will begin on October 30, 2021 and will continue until the job is filled. All job offers are contingent upon successful pre-employment background screening prior to commencement of employment.
Questions about the position can be directed to search committee members, Professor Kira Sanbonmatsu (sanbon@rutgers.edu), Professor Stacey Greene (sag310@polisci.rutgers.edu), or to Political Science Department Chair Professor R. Daniel Kelemen (dkelemen@polisci.rutgers.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9286

SUNY, Stony Brook University
Rank: IDEA Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Communication

Stony Brook University invites applications for the College of Arts and Sciences’ Inclusion, Diversity, Equity & Access (IDEA) Fellows Program (2022/2023), a full-time, 12 month, non tenure-track faculty position at the lecturer level at the annual salary of $70,000 including full benefits, to commence Fall 2022. The fellow will be a part of a mentored research environment and, with a successful and demonstrated contribution to inclusion, diversity, and equity, will be invited to join the tenure-track faculty at Stony Brook University after two years [24 months of fellow support].

The successful candidate’s primary appointment will be in one of the following departments: Africana Studies, Anthropology, Studio Art (digital), Asian and Asian American Studies (Korean American), Economics, Geosciences, Psychology (clinical), Political Science, Music, Sociology or Chemistry. Candidates must have demonstrated plans to contribute to inclusion, diversity and equity, excellence in innovative research and potential to participate in the teaching mission of the Department they join. The successful candidate will be expected to be an effective interdisciplinary teacher and mentor at the undergraduate and graduate levels to guide research and professional development, and be an active participant in community outreach activities.

Stony Brook prides itself on attracting an incredibly diverse student body, including many first generation immigrants and first generation college students. Recent studies have shown that Stony Brook is one of the top universities in the U.S. for supporting the upward mobility of its students.

We are interested in scholars with the potential to offer a critical perspective based on experience in or understanding of groups historically underrepresented in higher education in these particular areas of interest: critical race theory, globalization, health disparities, sustainability/ climate justice, aging, racial justice. Multiple fellows will be hired so this list reflects a broad swath of interest for a pool of fellows.

Required: PhD or relevant terminal degree from an accredited institution prior to a start date between 6/1/2022 and 9/1/2022 with specialization in one of the possible appointing departments or related field. A record of research related to one of the possible appointing departments or related field.

Preferred: Evidence of or potential for excellence in research and service; undergraduate and graduate teaching; interdisciplinary collaboration; and community outreach.

Application instructions:
A complete application will consist of six items, including the required Application form. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at the posting here: https://apply.interfolio.com/92220

1. A cover letter that indicates the department applying for and addresses the criteria for the position
2. CV
3. Sample of representative scholarly work (no more than three publications)
4. Diversity Equity and Inclusion (DEI) statement
5. Research statement
6. Teaching statement

In addition, three letters of reference should be requested and submitted through the Interfolio portal.

Review of applicants will begin on September 30, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to the College of Arts and Sciences, Office of the Dean mailto: CAS_Dean@stonybrook.eduCAS_Dean@stonybrook.edu and/or Professors Stacey Greene (sag310@polisci.rutgers.edu) or to Political Science Chair Professor R. Daniel Kelemen (dkelemen@polisci.rutgers.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/3/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9281

Northwestern University
Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics (41719)

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern University seeks applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Politics to begin on September 1, 2022. We seek scholars studying problems relating to inequality, power, and/or democracy, within those broad themes, we are open with respect to particular substantive topic and scholarly lens. We especially welcome scholars who study political institutions, the intersection of institutions and behavior, American political economy, American political development, and/or public law. This search is part of a thematic, multi-line search in the areas of inequality, power, and democracy; at least one new colleague should have excellent quantitative skills. The successful applicant will teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses. A Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree is expected by the start date. Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, research statement, teaching statement, evidence of teaching effectiveness, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021, and all applications received by October 15, 2021 will be guaranteed full consideration.

We are committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy. Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities.
Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States, but the University will consider applicants who require sponsorship for employment visa status. Applications and supporting documents will be accepted only by online submission at https://polisci.northwestern.edu/about/faculty-searches.html. For inquiries, please contact Stephen Monteiro (stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9272

Northwestern University
Rank: Associate Professor of American Politics (41725)

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern University seeks applications for a full-time, tenured Associate Professor position in American Politics to begin on September 1, 2022. We seek scholars studying problems relating to inequality, power, and/or democracy. Within those broad themes, we are open with respect to particular substantive topic and scholarly lens. We especially welcome scholars who study political institutions, the intersection of institutions and behavior, American political economy, American political development, and/or public law. This search is part of a thematic, multi-line search in the areas of inequality, power, and democracy; at least one new colleague should have excellent quantitative skills. The successful applicant will teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses. Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, research statement, teaching statement, evidence of teaching effectiveness, diversity statement, and the names of three references. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021, and all applications received by October 15, 2021 will be guaranteed full consideration.

We are committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy. Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States, but the University will consider applicants who require sponsorship for employment visa status. Applications and supporting documents will be accepted only by online submission at https://polisci.northwestern.edu/about/faculty-searches.html. For inquiries, please contact Stephen Monteiro (stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9273

University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth
Rank: Full Time Lecturer
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The University of Massachusetts Dartmouth seeks a full-time lecturer with a strong record in undergraduate teaching and expertise at the intersection of public health, public policy, non-profit/public administration, and health disparities (gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, class, or other areas). Cross-listed courses will support interdisciplinary undergraduate programs in Women and Gender Studies, Health and Society, and Political Science. Initial appointment is for a 2-year contract, with strong possibility for ongoing contract renewal upon successful performance review of teaching, advising, and service.

Applicants must be authorized for employment in the U.S. on a full time basis. Employment-based visa sponsorship not available.

Starting date is September 1, 2022. The teaching load is 4 preparations per semester for courses across all levels of the curriculum. On-line teaching experience preferred.

Requirements: PhD in Political Science, or in a related social science field. The successful applicant will have a focus on the intersections between public health, public health related policy, non-profit/public administration, and health disparities (gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation/identity, class) and have demonstrated significant experience in undergraduate teaching. Ph.D. required by start date of Sept. 1, 2022; preferred that applicants have Ph.D. in hand by date of application.

To apply: Please send a letter of interest detailing teaching interests and qualifications, a curriculum vitae with contact information for three references, sample course syllabi, and course evaluations (if possible, evaluations should be pre-COVID). Please submit application materials via this link: http://careers.umassd.edu/dartmouth/en-us/job/507850/fulltime-lecturer-in-public-health/public-policy-gender-health

Completion of the search is contingent upon the availability of funding.

Formal review of applications begins October 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9270

University of Southern California
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: African American Politics, African American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

Assistant Professor in Black Politics and/or Indigenous Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Black politics and/or Indigenous politics that is anticipated to begin in the fall of 2022. We seek a scholar specializing in Black politics
Assistant Professor in Political Institutions

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in political institutions that is anticipated to begin in the fall of 2022. We seek a scholar specializing in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and/or research methods. Subfield specialization could be in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and/or research methods.

A strong commitment to research is expected. The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

To be considered, applicants must submit an electronic application by following this link: https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-in-black-politics-and-or-indigenous-politics/1209/13611949936 . Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9277

Emory University

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Emory University seeks to hire a scholar in American Politics whose work advances our understanding of issues related to identity, inequality, and governance. We welcome a broad range of perspectives and methods that are covered by these themes. The position is for a tenure-track or tenured faculty member (advanced assistant and/or associate/full professors), to begin in the fall semester 2022.

The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in research and a commitment to teaching and mentoring a diverse student body. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. or be very close to completing the Ph.D. by September 2022. The teaching load is four courses per year and benefits are competitive.

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, list of references, and a statement addressing past activities and future plans to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion in the profession. Untenured candidates should also supply a research statement, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Candidates are strongly encouraged to apply by October 1, 2021. All applications received by November 1, 2021 will be given full consideration. To apply for this position, please submit your materials using the following link: http://apply.interfolio.com/93459.

Emory University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Disability/Veteran employer. Women, minorities, people with disabilities and veterans are strongly encouraged to apply.

Please contact Michelle Brown, Program Coordinator, at michelle.brown@emory.edu, with any questions about the application process.

Location: Atlanta, GA

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9259

United States Air Force Academy

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling a Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) position beginning June 27, 2022. The intent of this position is to attract an innovative scholar and teacher already placed at an institution (university, think-tank, or government service) and then return them to their home institution—thus, existing employment any level is a certain requirement. The appointment will be for either the entire academic year, ending in May of 2023, or one semester. The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire men and women to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to the nation. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field, preferably with an emphasis on American Government, International Relations, or Comparative Politics. The candidate must also be strongly committed to teaching undergraduates and be a full-time “career employee” at a US institution of higher education, an academically-oriented think-tank or an educationally-focused organization. The qualified candidate must agree to return to his/her institution in a full-time status following a VP year at the Air Force Academy. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Air Force Academy will reimburse the VP’s home academic institution for the visiting professor’s salary and benefits during their time at the Academy, and moving expenses will be provided. To apply, send a letter of application and a curriculum vitae to: HQ USAFA/DFPS (Attn: Dr. David Sacko), 2354 Fairchild Drive, Room 5L-27, US Air Force Academy CO 80840-6258. Application packages may also be emailed to David.Sacko@academy.af.mil. Applications received by October 15, 2021 will receive primary consideration but will be accepted until the position is filled. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. U.S. citizenship required.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/31/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9249

---

Texas A&M University
Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Grand Strategy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of grand strategy. By grand strategy, we mean the use of statecraft by great powers to achieve foreign policy goals, broadly defined. We seek candidates whose work applies the very best scholarship to the most pressing issues facing the United States in the 21st Century and does so in a way that broadens the intellectual and practical discussion of grand strategy. In addition to having first-rate scholarly credentials, the ideal candidate will also have an interest in applying their scholarly work to some aspect of the formulation and implementation of grand strategy.

Bush School faculty teach master’s degree students in international affairs, with a standard 2-2 load. The successful candidate will be expected to teach at least one section of the department’s required course in international politics. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu.

---

University of Pittsburgh
Rank: Assistant Professor - Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences
Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor – Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for an assistant professor (pending budgetary approval) in any subfield of political science or related discipline whose work addresses structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, conceived domestically, comparatively, or globally. We encourage applications from scholars working on problems of racial oppression and racialized inequalities and hierarchies – in race and ethnic politics, in political behavior, in political economy, in international and transnational politics, in global or domestic institutions (of the US or other countries), as well as any other topic related to our theme (including inequalities in cities, health, education, and technology).

The Department intends to make three hires in the coming years (pending budgetary approval), in coordination with a cluster in Race, Representation, and Anti-Black and Systemic Racism within the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences. The related University Race and Social Determinants of Equity and Well-being Cluster Hire and Retention Initiative is also aimed at creating and sustaining a cohort of scholars whose research, service, and community engagement are aimed at strengthening knowledge and addressing racial disparities in the social determinants of equity and wellbeing. We thus welcome applicants whose interests complement current and new cluster faculty pertaining to race and inequality and their impact on Black communities in the United States; desirable research and teaching interests include, but are not limited to: race and ethnic politics, identity, democratic behavior, activism and collective action, representation, urban or local governance, health and healthcare policy, technology policy or algorithmic bias, environmental justice, ethnic or international conflict, migration, post-colonialism/post-imperialism; scholars whose interests include Africa or the African Diaspora are also encouraged to apply.

---

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2022. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department’s mission. Required qualifications: applicants have or expect to have a Ph.D. in hand before the appointment begins, research interests related to structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, and demonstrated ability or potential to deliver high-quality instruction, to publish high-quality scholarship, and to contribute to an inclusive climate and attract and retain a diverse student body.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a diversity statement (brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion), and a minimum of three letters of reference; references should send their letters directly to psjobs@pitt.edu. Please apply online at: https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careerscction/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.html?job=21006250&crtz=GMT-04%3A00&tnname=America%2FNew_York. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by October 8, 2021, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/27/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9237

University of Central Florida
Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Regulatory Policy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established nine interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy, from a policy or social science perspective, and plan to hire one tenure-earning assistant professor for this cluster. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2022.

The Cybersecurity and Privacy Cluster is an interdisciplinary initiative, bringing together researchers from across the campus and working on addressing the pressing questions of our national security from engineering, science, and social perspectives. The cluster currently has eight members, collectively advising more than 35 doctoral students, and embracing a strong culture of collaboration and teamwork. The cluster runs various well-funded programs, has developed and implemented a new interdisciplinary M.S. in Cybersecurity and Privacy, and was recently selected by the National Science Foundation to be a host institution for the prestigious Scholarship for Service Program. This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. See http://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/ for a complete list of all the units involved. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. In particular, we are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy, and someone who will work at the intersection of several areas, addressing the policy, regulatory or social science aspects with a focus on one or more of the following topics: a) privacy laws and regulation; b) social media; c) cybercrimes; d) cyberwarfare; e) cyber security and intelligence. With this in mind, we anticipate the selected candidate will be tenure-earning in one of, but not limited to, the following units: Criminal Justice; Legal Studies; Modeling, Simulation, and Training; Politics, Security, and International Affairs; or Sociology.

UCF is one of the nation’s largest universities with a diverse student body of more than 70,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region’s future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation.

UCF’s Orlando main campus location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to the UCF main campus is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies, UCF’s Institute for Simulation and Training and UCF’s new School of Modeling, Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the state of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school which was established in 2006 and is a neighbor to large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world’s best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about one of UCF’s newest endeavors, the exciting Faculty Cluster Initiative, at https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/faculty-research-clusters.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.
In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

1) A Diversity Statement:

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague, as well as future plans to advance these contributions. Such indicators of commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion may be demonstrated through scholarship, teaching, mentoring, service and engagement.

2) A Cover Letter:

In the cover letter candidates must address their background in research and scholarship in the area in cyber security and privacy as related to policy and regulatory aspects and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home, as well as any joint appointments they would desire.

3) Curriculum Vitae,

4) Teaching Statement,

5) Research Statement, and

6) Contact information for three professional references (include email address and telephone number).

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To ensure consideration before the position is closed, the application should be submitted promptly.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to the cluster lead and search committee chair, Dr. David Mohaisen, at mohaisen@ucf.edu. Questions regarding this search can be directed to the cluster lead and search committee chair, Dr. David Mohaisen, at mohaisen@ucf.edu. Questions regarding this search can be directed to the cluster lead and search committee chair, Dr. David Mohaisen, at mohaisen@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9222

Bowdoin College

Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, Latino Politics

As part of a larger multi-year cohort initiative, the Bowdoin College Department of Government and Legal Studies seeks applicants for a full-time tenured-track position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, pending final approval. The position would begin July 1, 2022. We expect to hire at the rank of assistant professor but will consider applications from candidates at all levels. A PhD in political science or a related field is required by the start of this appointment. Research and teaching on U.S. politics is preferred, but a focus on other areas of the Americas will be considered. Teaching load is two courses per semester, across all levels of the curriculum.

Bowdoin requires its faculty to have a promise of long-term successful scholarly or artistic engagement and a strong commitment to inclusive excellence in their teaching. (For a description of inclusive excellence, please consult the following resource: https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive.) Bowdoin College offers opportunities for professional development, a fully-funded, year-long junior sabbatical leave (after three years of teaching and successful reappointment), and regular, generously funded, post-tenure sabbaticals.

Bowdoin is a community that warmly welcomes people of all backgrounds. We encourage applications from candidates committed to the support of an inclusive campus community and those who will enrich and contribute to the College’s multifaceted diversity. We especially encourage people from historically excluded groups to apply. We recognize that recruiting and retaining faculty may involve considerations of spouses and domestic partners. To that end, where possible, the College will attempt to accommodate and respond creatively to the needs of partners and spouses of members of the faculty.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please visit https://careers.bowdoin.edu to submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a description of your research plans; 4) a statement that describes your teaching philosophy and how your teaching, scholarship, and mentorship supports our commitment to equity and inclusion (https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive); and 5) the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021 and continue until the search is concluded.

Founded in 1794 on the Maine coast, Bowdoin is one of the oldest and most selective coeducational, residential liberal arts colleges in the country. Located in Brunswick, a 30-minute drive north of Portland and 2+ hours north of Boston -- connected to Boston and beyond by public transportation -- the College is in an area rich with natural beauty and year-round outdoor activities. Bowdoin’s reputation rests on the excellence of its faculty and students, intimate size, strong sense of community, and commitment to diversity (35% students of color, 7% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students). Bowdoin College complies with applicable provisions of federal and state laws that prohibit unlawful discrimination in employment, admission, or access to its educational or extracurricular programs, activities, or facilities based on race, color, ethnicity, ancestry and national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, age, marital status, place of birth, genetic predisposition, veteran status, or against qualified individuals with physical or mental disabilities on the basis of disability, or any other legally protected statuses. For further information about the College and our department, please visit our website: http://www.bowdoin.edu. For additional information about the Department of Government and Legal Studies, see https://www.bowdoin.edu/government/ or contact department chair Andrew Rudalevige (arudalev@bowdoin.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9201

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

Politicall Science Jobs November 2021
Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American/comparative politics or public policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

JOB SUMMARY: The Department of Political Science at Middle Georgia State University (https://www.mga.edu/political-science) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in political science, with a specialization in American politics, comparative politics, or public policy, at the rank of assistant professor, to be primarily based on the Cochran campus. This is a 10-month position with a teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester (4-4) of undergraduate courses in political science, typically including multiple sections of the introductory American Government course, as well as more advanced undergraduate courses in political science in the candidate’s area of specialization.

MAJOR DUTIES: Teaching responsibilities may include day and/or evening courses, partially and fully online courses, and courses taught via video conferencing; faculty are also expected to travel to teach and attend meetings at other campus locations when needed. Tenure-track faculty are expected to have an active scholarly agenda, including publication in peer-reviewed outlets; student advising and service to the department, school, university, and community are also expected for promotion and tenure. Summer teaching opportunities may also be available, contingent on student demand.

QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates should have earned a doctorate in political science, or a doctorate in related field including at least 18 semester hours of graduate coursework in political science, from a regionally-accredited institution; ABD candidates will only be considered if they will earn their doctorate by January 1, 2022. Experience as an instructor of record, demonstrated expertise in American politics or comparative politics, and/or the ability to contribute to one or more of the minors offered by the department are desirable. Candidates must have a record of teaching and potential for scholarship that warrants appointment at the rank of assistant professor.

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications accepted until the position is filled; we expect to begin reviewing complete applications the week of September 13, 2021.

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Informal inquires about the position may be made to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, Chair of the Department of Political Science at Christopher.lawrence@mga.edu.

TO APPLY: Application materials should be emailed as one PDF attachment to recruitment@mga.edu with the subject line “10018053 Assistant Professor of Political Science 8.24.2021”. Application materials must include (1) an MGA faculty application, (2) a letter of interest, (3) a curriculum vitae, (4) a statement of teaching philosophy, (5) names and contact information of three references, and (6) unofficial transcripts. Paper application materials will not be accepted. Background checks will be conducted on all final candidates.

Start Date: Winter 2022
Application Deadline: 9/13/2021
Date Posted: 8/24/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9208

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Law at Lafayette College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2022. The Department seeks candidates with research and teaching expertise in race and ethnic politics in the U.S. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science (or closely-related field) or demonstrate the Ph.D. is near completion. A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the rank of Instructor. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to U.S. Politics, as well as intermediate and advanced courses in race, ethnicity, and minority politics. The successful candidate will also be expected to make a contribution to the College’s interdisciplinary programs and maintain an active research agenda. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette’s commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load is four courses in the first year and five courses a year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent that contains a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. In the letter of intent, applicants should address the ways in which their teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will support Lafayette College’s commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in the college’s diversity statement (https://diversity.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/).

Please upload application material electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/92750. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Helena Silverstein, Department Head, at silversh@lafayette.edu.

Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of each and all of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from women and minorities. Located within 70 miles of New York and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open untilFilled
Date Posted: 8/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9198

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Parties & Organizations, Political Development, Race & Ethnic Politics

Assistant Professor, Political Science

Category: Faculty RSS feed of all Jobs
Department: Political Science - 02511
Locations: ALBANY, NY
Posted: Aug 16, 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
About University at Albany:
Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany’s broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research, and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,900 students in nine schools and colleges across three campuses.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State’s capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City, and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:
Rockefeller College of Public Affairs seeks an Assistant Professor in the field of American Politics. This is a tenure-track appointment in the Department of Political Science. The course load is four courses a year. The department’s priority is a scholar of electoral politics/campaigns and/or the American presidency/executive politics. The ability to teach other subjects in American Politics, such as Racial and Ethnic Politics, Political Parties, and/or American Political Development will be considered a plus. The department also expects that the successful applicant will teach the introductory course in American Politics. Although not a requirement of the position, the search committee will look favorably at candidates who are willing to pursue external funding for their research. Contributing to the diversity of the Department will also be considered a plus. Candidates should also be willing to teach courses in online formats when specific needs arise.

Located in a major governmental center, the Department has 21 full-time members and offers degrees at the bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral levels. The University at Albany (www.albany.edu) is one of four designated University Centers in the SUNY system.

Requirements:
Minimum Qualifications:
Ph.D. from a college or University accredited by a U.S. Department of Education or an internationally recognized accrediting organization. Applicants should have their Ph.D. in hand by May 2022.
Ability to teach other subjects in American Politics, such as Racial and Ethnic Politics, Political Parties, and/or American Political Development will be considered a plus.
Applicants must address in their applications their ability to work with a culturally diverse population.
Preferred Qualification: Willingness to pursue external funding for their research.

Additional Information:
Professional Rank and Salary Range: Assistant Professor, Competitive.
Starting date is August 22, 2022.

The review of applications will begin on September 15, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University’s crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University’s current campus security policies. The University at Albany’s Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor’s Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=135261

Application Instructions:
Applicants MUST submit the following documents:
Curriculum Vitae
A Statement of Interest
A writing sample or publication
Available evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, student evaluations, and/or teaching statement)
A graduate transcript
At least three references with contact information

Note: After submitting your CV, the subsequent pages give you instructions for uploading additional documents (i.e. cover letter etc.).

See the FAQ for using our online system. Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website.

Returning Applicants - Login to your UAlbany Careers Account to check your completed application.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9199

University of St. Thomas
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Quantitative Methods

The Political Science Department at the University of St. Thomas invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 1, 2022. We are seeking a political scientist with specializations in American Political Institutions (Executive Politics and/or Legislative Politics) and Quantitative Methods.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses such as Congress and the Presidency, Seminar in American Politics, Research Methods, Citizen Participation and Public Policy, and our introductory course, Government and Politics. This position allows for development of upper-level quantitative courses that would support both the political science major and the American Politics domain within the Data Analytics program.
The University of St. Thomas is a dynamic, urban university with 10,000 students and 450 full-time faculty. Located in a residential neighborhood with easy access to both of the Twin Cities, we are a liberal arts institution that values excellence in teaching and research and actively promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion as an expression of our mission. The department of political science actively works to attract, retain, and develop faculty from all backgrounds to enhance the diversity of the learning community and to offer our students richly varied perspectives.

The University of St. Thomas embraces diversity, inclusion, and equal opportunity for all. Our convictions of dignity, diversity, and personal attention call us to embody and champion a diverse, equitable, and inclusive environment. We welcome applicants of diverse races, ethnicities, geographic origins, gender identities, ages, socioeconomic backgrounds, sexual orientations, religions, work experience, physical and intellectual abilities, and financial means. We are committed to building a team that represents a variety of backgrounds, perspectives, and skills. This commitment is consistent with our mission: Inspired by Catholic intellectual tradition, the University of St. Thomas educates students to be morally responsible leaders who think critically, act wisely, and work skillfully to advance the common good.

Qualifications: A PhD in political science (U.S. or Foreign Equivalent), or alternatively ABD will also be considered. ABD candidates will be eligible for an initial rank of instructor. All applicants must have demonstrable skills necessary for excellence in teaching.

All application materials must be submitted online at http://www.sthomas.edu/jobs/. In addition to creating an applicant profile, please upload the following materials as additional documents:

1) Curriculum vitae
2) Copy of academic transcript
3) Statement of teaching philosophy and experience, including evidence of teaching effectiveness
4) Description of research agenda
5) Two letters of recommendation (emailed to Professor Angela High-Pippert: ahighpippet@stthomas.edu)

To ensure full consideration, all application materials must be received by Friday, October 15, 2021. The position will remain open until filled. Questions about the position should be directed to the department chair (Angela High-Pippert: ahighpippet@stthomas.edu). If you encounter issues with the application process, please email Human Resources (employment@stthomas.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9202

Bentley University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Global Studies Department at Bentley University invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative race and ethnicity. We seek applications from scholar-teachers who focus on race and ethnicity in comparative, transnational or global perspective, with at least one area of specialization in the United States.

Our department is multidisciplinary, built around a core of faculty from cultural studies, geography, and political science. We welcome candidates from any discipline, including but not limited to anthropology, geography, and political science, to complement and deepen existing strengths. While the position is open with respect to further thematic specializations, we are particularly interested in candidates whose work contributes to understanding the intersectionality of race and ethnicity with sustainability, health, development, immigration/migration, or public policy, preferably through comparativist lenses.

As guided by our Academic Affairs Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion Strategic Plan, Bentley University seeks to enhance our faculty capacity in the scholarship, pedagogy, and engagement related to diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice. To achieve that, we are hiring a cohort of new faculty in multiple academic departments and disciplines with expertise in DEI. This position is intended to be part of our DEI faculty cohort, which will enrich our DEI expertise across Business and the Liberal Arts & Sciences. Learn more about Bentley University’s DEI strategic plan here: https://issuu.com/bentleyuniversity/docs/de_i_strategic_plan_presentation_1_.pptx

We seek a candidate whose teaching and scholarship will contribute to one or both of our undergraduate departmental majors in international affairs and public policy, and someone who can amplify our department’s commitment to anti-racism. Black, indigenous, and Latinx faculty, as well as faculty from other underrepresented groups, are strongly encouraged to apply.

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a continuing research agenda focused on publication and a strong dedication to excellence in teaching, with preference for candidates with classroom teaching experience. We especially welcome candidates who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to the classroom. Incoming tenure-track faculty typically have a 2-2 teaching load.

The position will be filled at the Assistant Professor rank for a Fall 2022 start.

Minimum Qualifications:
PhD required. Requirements for the doctoral degree must be completed prior to the start of the Fall 2022 semester.

Instructions to Applicants:
Applicants submit all materials through Bentley’s on-line employment site at: https://bentley.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty/job/Bentley-Campus/Tenure-Track-Assistant-Professor--Global-Studies_R0002083.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
1. A cover letter that summarizes overall strengths, including the nature of the candidate’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
3. A teaching statement of no more than two pages.
4. A research statement of no more than two pages detailing the candidate’s research strengths and plans for future research directions.
5. The names and contact information for three professional references. Bentley will contact these confidential references for those candidates moving forward in the process.

Questions about the position can be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Joni Seager at jseager@bentley.edu

Position will remain open until filled. However, priority consideration will be given to applications received by September 27, 2021.
University of Chicago

Rank: Provost’s Postdoctoral Fellowship in Latinx Politics / Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago invites applications for a Provost’s Postdoctoral Fellowship in Latinx politics. While we are primarily interested in someone who studies Latinx politics within the United States, we welcome applications from scholars who also investigate these issues from a comparative or transnational perspective that includes a focus on the U.S. This fellowship provides up to two years of funding for junior scholars whose accomplishments make them exceptionally competitive for faculty positions and whose background or membership in historically underrepresented groups would contribute to the diversity of our faculty. Fellows will teach one course per year. At the end of the fellowship period and following an academic review, the Fellow may be directly promoted to a tenure-track assistant professorship.

Qualifications
Candidates must have completed all requirements for the PhD degree prior to the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions
Applicants must apply at the University of Chicago’s Interfolio website at http://apply.interfolio.com/92395. Applications must include: 1) a cover letter that, among other things, describes the applicant’s prior and potential contributions to diversity in the context of academic research, teaching, and service; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a research statement addressing current research and future plans for research; 4) a teaching statement addressing teaching experience and philosophy; 5) two samples of scholarly writing, and 6) three letters of reference.

To be considered, those interested must apply through The University of Chicago’s Academic Recruitment job board, which uses Interfolio to accept applications.

Consideration of applications will begin on September 16, 2021. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 9/27/2021
Date Posted: 8/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9196

Syracuse University

Rank: African American Studies Department Chair
Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: African American Politics, Africa, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of African American Studies (https://thecollege.syr.edu/african-american-studies/) in Syracuse University’s College of Arts & Sciences seeks a dynamic scholar to serve as Department Chair beginning Fall 2022. The successful candidate will possess a strong record of scholarship; teaching excellence; experience overseeing departmental administrative procedures and governance; demonstrated skill in collaborating with faculty on curricula and programming for undergraduate majors and minors and graduate students; and a commitment to community engagement.

Since gaining department status in 1979, African American Studies at SU has offered multi-disciplinary approaches to global studies of people of African descent. Unique departmental resources, such as the Martin Luther King, Jr. Library (https://thecollege.syr.edu/diversity-and-inclusion/mlk-library/) and the Community Folk Art Center (https://communityfolkartcenter.org/), have been integral to academic initiatives. Recent and pending faculty retirements have led to a critical juncture. The new chair will thus play a pivotal role in leading the department as it formulates strategic plans to engage changing social, political, cultural, technological, and pedagogical landscapes.

The position requires a Ph.D. with a principal research and teaching focus on aspects of Black life in the Americas, the Caribbean, Africa, or Europe. Scholars in any field of the humanities or social sciences are welcome to apply. Candidates who have met the standards for the rank of professor with tenure are preferred. However, full consideration will also be given to applications from advanced tenured associate professors. The teaching requirement during the three-year term as Department Chair will be one course per semester. At the end of the chair term, two courses per semester will be required.

Applications must include a current curriculum vitae; letter of interest; sample publication; diversity, equity, and inclusion statement; and three confidential recommendation letters. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The salary will be commensurate with qualifications.

To apply, visit Syracuse University Job Board, Department Chair/Professor - African American Studies: https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/88268

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9187

Dartmouth College

Rank: Tenure-Track or Tenured Faculty appointment at any rank in American Politics or Political Theory

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured faculty appointment at any rank. We seek qualified candidates whose research examines African American political thought, the political experiences of African Americans, and/or issues of race and racial injustice related to African Americans. The position includes the option of an affiliation with the Program in African and African American Studies (AAAS).

Applicants should have a strong commitment to teaching, scholarly work, engaging undergraduate students in research, and building a diverse and inclusive educational environment. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should discuss in their cover letter how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications:
Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Philosophy, or a related discipline, or have the Ph.D. conferred before the start date of their appointment.

Application Instructions:
1) Cover letter, including overview of research areas and teaching interests. Applicants should also state in their cover letter, or in a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
2) C.V.
3) Dissertation abstract or research statement (maximum two pages single-spaced)
4) Three confidential letters of recommendation, one of which should be from the dissertation advisor (for ABD applicants)
5) Writing sample of 20-40 pages

Applications must be submitted electronically at: https://apply.interfolio.com/92314. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be sent to Michelle.T.Clarke@dartmouth.edu or Jennifer.L.Jerit@dartmouth.edu.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9168

Moravian University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The political science department of Moravian University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics at the assistant professor level for a position starting Fall 2022.

Candidates must have completed a PhD or be ABD near completion in political science with a specialization in American politics by August 2022. Previous teaching experience is required. The successful applicant will be responsible for teaching introductory courses in US politics along with intermediate and advanced courses such as Congress and the presidency, constitutional law, civil rights, policy, and political culture. The political science department at Moravian University emphasizes engaged teaching and mentoring to prepare students for informed engagement in political and public affairs through a purposeful consideration of the theoretical nature of politics, the ends towards which politics can be directed, and the means employed to achieve those ends. Our citizenship in theory and practice track focuses on normative purposes and argumentation, political language and consciousness, historical texts, institutionalized political processes, modes of political participation, and the particulars of contemporary policy issues. The successful candidate may also contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Africana Studies, Peace and Justice.

Moravian University is a member of the New American Colleges and Universities with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching in a residential learning community and should demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate student research and co-curricular student activities. A clear plan for future scholarship is essential. The department also seeks a candidate who will contribute to the intellectual life of the department and the university community at large. The political science department highly values the diversity of candidates from underrepresented groups. Moravian University is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

3:3 teaching load, with reassigned time as appropriate for administrative work and two preparations in the fall semester (two sections of introductory course)
Advising students
Occasionally teach in the First-Year Writing Seminar Program (FYWS)
Sustain an active program of scholarly research in the area(s) of your expertise
Produce peer-reviewed publications
Participate in professional organizations and societies
Complement existing faculty expertise in the four main subfields of political science
Contribute to interdisciplinary research and teaching collaborations between the School of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences and the School of Natural and Health Sciences
Teach introductory, intermediate, and advanced political science courses
Contribute to the University’s commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic community and participate in faculty self-governance with a high level of collegiality
Our department welcomes applications from women, candidates of color, and other underrepresented groups. The University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer.

The deadline for applications is December 15, 2021. All positions are subject to budget availability.

QUALIFICATIONS: A Ph.D. in political science with a specialization in American politics should be completed or near completion by August 2022.

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach the following to their online application by clicking &quot;Apply Now&quot;: (1) a cover letter that includes a statement of research interest; (2) a teaching
Concerns regarding the application of Title IX:
mayr@moravian.edu
(610) 625-7791
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
1200 Main St.
Moravian University
148 Johnston Hall
Rebecca May
Concerns regarding gender and equity in athletics:
TitleIX@moravian.edu
(610) 861-1529
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
1200 Main St.
Moravian University
210 Colonial Hall
Leah M. Naso
Concerns regarding all forms of discrimination, including sexual harassment and/or sex discrimination in employment:
LEAH M. NASO
Title IX Coordinator/Compliance Officer
210 Colonial Hall
Moravian University
1200 Main St.
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
(610) 861-1529
TitleIX@moravian.edu
Concerns regarding gender and equity in athletics:
Rebecca May
Assistant Athletic Director
148 Johnston Hall
Moravian University
1200 Main St.
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
(610) 625-7791
mayr@moravian.edu
Concerns regarding the application of Title IX:
U.S. Department of Education
Office of Civil Rights
100 Penn Square East, Suite 515
Philadelphia, PA 19107-3323
(215) 656-8541
ocr.philadelphia@ed.gov
Report sexual harassment/sex discrimination online anytime (can be anonymous) at www.moravian.edu/titleix. Grievance procedures can be found in the institutional Equal Opportunity, Harassment, and Non-Discrimination Policy at www.moravian.edu/policy.
Please visit moravian.edu/benefits to review benefits offered at Moravian University.*

WORK ENVIRONMENT:
The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job.
The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.
Pursuant to the ADA, Moravian University will provide reasonable services and accommodation(s) to employees with qualified disabilities in order to perform the essential functions of their employment, except when doing so would be unduly disruptive and/or result in undue hardship to the University. Accommodations are determined on a case-by-case basis through documentation review and an interactive interview process that includes the employee’s supervisor. Requests for accommodation or questions about this process should be directed to Human Resources at hr@moravian.edu or 610.861.1527. View the standard physical demands for positions at Moravian University. If this position requires additional or different demands, a Human Resources team member will notify you.
The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

*Please visit this link to review the benefit eligibility status associated with this position.

ABOUT THE ORGANIZATION Moravian University offers students a private education they will not find anywhere else: personal attention and preparation for life with a record of success longer than our nation’s history. Located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs, Moravian University has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change since 1742. Moravian University is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian University focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9171

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Ohio State University

Rank: Race and Ethnicity in American Politics

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in Race and Ethnicity in American Politics. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, innovative methodologies or methods, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments, and they should show promise of making theoretical and methodological contributions. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

The successful candidate will join a collaborative faculty and college and have opportunities to build connections with strong departments, centers and institutes across the university, including the Kirwan Institute for the Study of Race and Ethnicity and the Institute for Population Research.

Qualifications: The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August of 2022.

Appointment is contingent on the university’s verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus: The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest’s fastest-growing city and the nation’s 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at https://visit.osu.edu/experience.

Application Instructions: Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19160. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate’s past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

Review of applications will begin on September 15th and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to Janet Box-Steffensmeier at Box-Steffensmeier.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members reach their full potential. Over the next few years, The Ohio State University is committed to welcoming 350 new faculty hires, many of which will contribute to growing our role as a premier re-search university equipped to respond to societal challenges that deter equality and inclusion. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:
Cover Letter
Curriculum Vitae
Research Statement
Teaching Statement
Diversity Statement
Publication List
Job Market Paper
Other papers or chapters
Unofficial Graduate Transcript
Three Reference Letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site)

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 9/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/5/2021
Salary: Competitive

Syracuse University

Rank: Politics of InEquality

The Department of Political Science at Syracuse University’s Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant or tenured Associate Professor whose scholarship focuses on the intersection of inequality and politics. We seek a candidate with expertise in the connection between social or economic inequality and political outcomes, defined broadly. This position starts in Fall 2022 and is part of a broader Syracuse University Cluster Hires Initiative.

The Citizenship and Democratic Institutions (CDI) Cluster draws together a diverse group of scholars who address critical issues related to the contested meanings of citizenship, civic engagement, public management, and the impacts of democratic institutions on social and economic well-being. The successful candidate will help shape future, multi-disciplinary hiring in the CDI Cluster, and lead and contribute to externally funded projects and interdisciplinary research initiatives within the Maxwell School and across the University.

We welcome applicants who study inequality across different domains – economic, social, health, gender, race, and/or ethnicity. We also are open to multiple methods, and issues in domestic, international, and comparative contexts. This position is open with respect to subfield and geographic focus, but we are especially interested in candidates who focus on American politics and comparative politics.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Campbell Institute or one of Maxwell’s other interdisciplinary centers (http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/). The successful candidate will teach...
Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2021. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9189

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022.

The application deadline is Monday, November 1, 2021. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92232.

Materials to be submitted:
- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach);
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 11/1/2021

Date Posted: 8/12/2021

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 9152

Columbia University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Criminal Justice, Political Economy

Columbia University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics with a focus in the area of race and inequality.

We are especially interested in candidates whose work examines aspects of criminal justice from a variety of methodological approaches, including formal theory. The position is at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin July 1, 2022.

Ph.D. required at the time of appointment. Candidates will be expected to sustain an active research and publication agenda and teaching in undergraduate and graduate programs.

All applications must be made through Columbia University’s online recruiting platform: http://apply.interfolio.com/91561

Applicants should upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, contact information for three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and a statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion through teaching, professional activity, and/or service. The search committee will begin reviewing applications on September 7, 2021, and will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9155

University of Washington
Rank: Assistant Professor: Law, Societies & Justice
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

Position Description
The Department of Law, Societies & Justice (LSJ) at the University of Washington in Seattle invites applications for a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor who specializes in the social scientific study of race/ethnicity as it relates to law, rights, and justice. This position holds a 9-month service term and is expected to start in September 2022. LSJ offers undergraduate students a dynamic and engaged interdisciplinary liberal arts education focused on law, rights, and justice. LSJ also offers a graduate certificate in socio-legal studies for PhD students from a variety of disciplines. The successful candidate will teach a large introductory course that focuses on law, rights, and justice. LSJ also offers a graduate certificate in socio-legal studies for PhD students from a variety of disciplines. The successful candidate will teach a large introductory course that focuses on law, rights, and justice as well as other courses that reflect their areas of expertise. University of Washington faculty engage in teaching, research and service.

Qualifications
LSJ seeks to hire a scholar whose research and teaching focus on race, ethnicity, law, and rights, and whose scholarship includes topics not currently covered by the department such as environmental justice or health. Other considerations will include: evidence of research excellence and productivity; excellence in, and passion for, undergraduate teaching; interdisciplinarity and fit with the LSJ mission; service, leadership and collegiality; and clear evidence of a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. A PhD or foreign equivalent in a social science field is required by the start of the appointment.

Instructions
Applications should include a current CV, a cover letter describing research and teaching interests and fit with LSJ, up to two samples of publications or other scholarly work, a teaching statement and evidence of teaching effectiveness, a diversity, equity and inclusion statement, and three letters of recommendation. Candidate materials should be electronically submitted via Interfolio here: https://apply.interfolio.com/90932. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2021. Questions about the application process should be directed to: Professor Steve Herbert, Search Committee Chair; skherb@uw.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/10/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9150

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Teaching Post-Doctoral Fellow in Political Science and Public Policy
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Education Policy, Economic Policy

The Heinz College of Information Systems and Public Policy at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position. The teaching post-doctoral fellowship is designed for those who are interested in a teaching career. They will be mentored by outstanding teaching faculty at CMU and will benefit from the rich inter-disciplinary environment at CMU.

We seek candidates that have expertise and could offer courses to graduate students in American politics and/or in selected policy areas including, but not limited to environment and energy, local and/or national economic development, education, and social justice. We are seeking an individual committed to effectively training our graduate students to be leaders that affect meaningful change by inculcating evidence-based practices to policy evaluation and decision-making, as well as the ability to synthesize and communicate recommendations.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach and/or co-teach up to two semester equivalent courses per semester. Fellows can pursue research related to their interests and are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of the College and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2021.

The application deadline is Monday, February 14, 2022.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/90675

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program.
• CV.
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach) and a discussion any relevant experience in teaching a globally and culturally diverse group of intellectually curious students.
• Research Statement (Brief statement of research interests and a discussion of how it supports excellence in the classroom)
• Two writing samples of scholarly work.
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
• Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 2/14/2022
Date Posted: 8/9/2021
The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College is seeking applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning August 2022. The successful candidate must possess a background in American political thought and be able to teach Public Policy, Interest Groups, and Parties and Elections, as well as Introductory American Government. The ability to teach courses in other areas of American government, as well as the College’s Western Culture course, is desirable; expertise in research methods is a plus. Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

We will be available for informal interviews on Friday and Saturday, October 1st and 2nd. If you would like to discuss the position with us, please request a time using the email for the point of contact below.

All applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference. Please submit all application materials to GVFA Search Committee c/o Professor Celia Carroll, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/91794. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9121

Wheaton College
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Other
Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics
The Department of Political Science at Wheaton College in Norton, Massachusetts invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics to begin Fall 2022. The ideal candidate will possess the ability to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, judicial politics and other courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization. Teaching responsibilities include introductory sections of U.S. government & politics, and research methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality.

Classroom experience is highly desirable. The promise of excellence in teaching and scholarship is required. We are committed to providing our students with excellent educational and co-curricular opportunities, and our faculty has significant mentoring experience with new teachers in postdoctoral and junior faculty appointments. For example, we offer regular programming in professional development and all tenure-track faculty are entitled to a fully paid pre-tenure sabbatical and research funds to support scholarship. A Ph.D. in Political Science (with an emphasis in judicial politics) is preferred. ABDs will be considered. If the candidate does not have the Ph.D. in hand, they will be hired as an instructor until the degree is obtained. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Gerry Huiskamp, Chair and Professor, Political Science, huiskamp_gerard@wheatoncollege.edu.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to careers@wheatoncollege.edu.
To apply please visit our website https://jobs.wheatoncollege.edu/postings/3166. Instructions to applicants will be listed on our website, with the following materials required: letter of application describing your areas of specialty and a statement about your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; a graduate transcript; and at least one scholarly writing sample; materials on your teaching history, including sample syllabi, course evaluations, and any other materials you wish to provide. Wheaton College is committed to diversity and inclusion. Applications will be reviewed beginning September 24, 2021 and will be accepted until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, complete applications must be received by September 24, 2021.

Wheaton is a private coeducational liberal arts college within easy commuting distance of Boston and Providence. We have nearly 1,800 undergraduates from 38 U.S. States and 58 countries. Nearly 24% of our undergraduates are U.S. students of color and 8% are international citizens. Wheaton College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group on the basis of gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, race, color, religion, national origin, veteran status, genetic information, or disability. In a continuing effort to maintain and enrich an intellectually diverse learning environment, the Department and the College actively encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups. For more information about the college, visit our website at www.wheatoncollege.edu.

Rice University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2022. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in American political behavior. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods and the ability and willingness to contribute to graduate and undergraduate training in that area. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2022.

The application deadline is September 15, 2021. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at apply.interfolio.com/91456.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 9/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/2/2021
Salary: Negotiable
Ejobs ID: 9113

University of Portland
Rank: Assistant Professor American Politics (Tenure Track)
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Development, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science and Global Affairs (POL) at the University of Portland invites candidates in the field of American (US) Politics to apply for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position with a start date of August 2022. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in hand by the start date, and will have expertise in American Political Development and Political Institutions or equivalent. A commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, ideally supported by past evidence of effective teaching. The typical teaching load is 3-3, with a single course release in the first year.

In addition to teaching sections of our introductory core course, Introduction to US Politics, the successful candidate will also offer upper-division undergraduate courses on American political institutions and other courses within the candidate's academic specialty. Candidates that have expertise in Race and Politics, Public Policy, or Political Economy are of particular interest to our department. Demonstration of scholarship and a scholarly agenda are also expected and should be included in the cover letter. This position is part of a cluster hire and the successful candidate may also have the opportunity to be involved with the emerging ethnic studies program.

The College of Arts and Science (CAS) is committed to diversifying our curriculum and our faculty. The successful candidate will have demonstrated knowledge, skills, and/or lived experience in diversity, equity, and inclusion work within or transferable to higher education. Examples of such commitment include, but are not limited to, a record of working with underrepresented and underserved populations, life experience that reflects the growing diversity of UP students, and/or experience, education, and training that can empower and support historically marginalized community members. Commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion should be described in the teaching statement. Information about the University of Portland’s DEI mission can be found here.

Founded in 1901, the University of Portland is a private, comprehensive, Catholic university with a mission of teaching and learning, faith and formation, service and leadership. In the POL department, we see our work developing the whole person and preparing people who respond to the needs of the world and its human family as aligning with the University’s mission. Candidates will articulate their understanding of the university mission in their cover letter and highlight how it is compatible with their approach to teaching, scholarship, and service.

A complete application will include a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a teaching statement, and a list of three references (references will only be contacted for the finalists).

A background investigation is required before final hiring procedures can be completed for all faculty and staff positions. All supporting materials should be submitted through this HireTouchLink (https://up.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobid=70388) by our priority deadline of October 8, 2021, though applications arriving later will also be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/2/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
Ejobs ID: 9108

New York University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Position Description:
The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks candidates for three faculty positions for scholars conducting outstanding research on the subjects of race, identity, and inequality in domestic, comparative, or international contexts. The primary focus of our search is at the tenure-track assistant professor level; however, we may consider more senior candidates under exceptional circumstances. The positions are to begin September 1, 2022, pending administrative approval.

This search is part of a broader cluster of recruitment efforts in Race, Identity, and Inequality that spans the Departments of Politics and Sociology in the Faculty of Arts and Science, and the Wagner School of Public Service. A primary aim of the cluster is to create a network of scholars working in these areas to collaborate across NYU. More information about this cluster and the broader cluster initiative can be found at https://www.nyu.edu/faculty/teaching-and-learning-resources/faculty-advancement/faculty-recruitment/nyu-faculty-cluster-hiring-initiative.html#race2 and at https://drive.google.com/file/d/1n88i-7v5yZGYxYvK54VJ9AhQgRNHRDKG/view.

Qualifications:
Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 2022, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level. NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, experience, and service an ability to contribute to this goal, and a commitment to fostering inclusivity in a university setting.

Application Instructions:
Please apply online at: http://apply.interfolio.com/91446. While we will continue to review applications into October, candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 10, 2021. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Politics Department at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about concrete steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Required Applicant Documents:
- Cover letter
- CV or Resume
- Statement of Research and Goals
- Statement of Teaching
- Writing Sample
- Three Letters of Reference

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 9/10/2021
Date Posted: 7/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9101

Troy University
Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank, tenure track position in Political Science (with a concentration in American Politics). This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate political science courses in American Politics; teaching master’s degree courses in our public administration (MPA) program, which will be delivered in person as well as online; and advising pre-law students. The position may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

The start date for the position is August 1, 2022. Candidate must have degree in hand by the start date. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021.

Please apply online at: https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/30415

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/28/2021

Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9091

University of California, Irvine
Rank: Political Science Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Political Science is seeking applicants for temporary part-time lecturer positions to teach in the field of American Politics with a specific focus on Race and Ethnicity and/or American Political Institutions contingent on departmental need. These positions will replace faculty on leave during the 2021-22 academic year.

Requirements - We are seeking candidates with strong teaching credentials who might contribute to our undergraduate program in American Politics. Candidates should have a Ph.D.

These part-time positions are based on an annual salary range beginning at $56,381 and the number of courses could vary.

Service Period Dates for 2021-2022 Academic Year:
Fall Quarter: 9/20/21 – 12/10/21
Winter Quarter: 1/3/22 - 3/18/22
Spring Quarter: 3/23/22 – 6/10/22

Application Procedure - Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, vita, three letters of reference, evidence of teaching performance, and a Statement of Contributions to Diversity via our online recruit system:
https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF06660

Priority for positions will be given to applications completed by August 15th, 2021. Please note this is a continuous recruitment to fill classes on an as-needed basis. The department will refer to the pool of applications on file to fill assignments as necessary throughout the year.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/20/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
ejobs ID: 9045

Connecticut College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Government and International Relations

Constitutional Law and Public Policy
The Department of Government and International Relations at Connecticut College invites applicants for a tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor in the U.S. politics subfield, whose focus is on constitutional law and public policy, and who can teach a range of courses in both fields. In addition to an introductory U.S. politics course, the successful candidate must be able to teach a two-course sequence in constitutional law, including both an institutions course (e.g. separation of powers, check and balances) and a course on civil rights and civil liberties. The successful candidate’s research and teaching focus will also include public-policy making. The new hire should be able to teach an introductory public policy course, along with upper-division courses in the particular policy area in which the candidate specializes. These policy courses could, for example, focus on health, immigration, anti-poverty initiatives, education, or criminal-justice reform.

Required: ABD in Political Science. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but is required to complete the Ph.D. within one year of hire.

Salary is competitive. In addition to providing ongoing support for teaching and research, the College offers the following resources for pre-tenured faculty: a 2-2 teaching load in the first year, a research fund in the first two years, and a semester’s sabbatical (at full salary) after a successful third-year review.

The College’s Board of Trustees, President, administration, faculty and staff share a commitment to diversity. To this end, the College, located in New London, CT is continuing what has been a very successful initiative to diversify its faculty, staff, and student body. We encourage applications from candidates who share this understanding and will contribute to the diversity of our college community, including members of historically underrepresented groups. The College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Please visit our website, http://www.conncoll.edu http://www.conncoll.edu &lt;/a&gt; for more information about the College and our faculty search.

Offering two popular majors (a government major and an interdisciplinary international relations major), Government and International Relations is a collegial department with 11 full-time faculty members. There are also opportunities for collaboration with interdisciplinary programs on campus. Moreover, the College’s general education program, Connections, provides ample opportunity for collaborative and interdisciplinary teaching. For an overview of this innovative curriculum, please visit http://www.conncoll.edu/connections/ &lt;/a&gt;.

Applicants should upload a letter of application, a C.V., teaching evaluations, a writing sample, graduate transcripts, and at least three letters of recommendation to http://apply.interfolio.com/89957 http://apply.interfolio.com/89957&lt;/a&gt;. Email inquiries should be sent to Tristan Anne Borer, Chair of the Department of Government and International Relations, at tabor@conncoll.edu. Applications received by October 8th will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9027

Providence College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in American National Politics
Specializations: Presidency, Congress, American Politics

The Political Science Department at Providence College invites applications for a one-year position as visiting assistant professor in American Politics. The Department welcomes applicants who are experts in any subfield related to the national politics of the United States. The teaching load is four courses per semester (two or three preparations); class size varies from about 12 to 25 students. The successful applicant will teach two sections of American government and politics, the presidency, and American political theory in the Fall 2021 semester. Spring 2022 semester classes include two sections of American government and politics, a course on the U.S. Congress, and a second upper-division course related to the expertise of the person who accepts the position.

The position includes competitive salary and benefits, and full research support provided to all faculty members. The Political Science Department has thirteen faculty dedicated to effective teaching and scholarship. The City of Providence is a vibrant city with a long history of welcoming immigrant populations and is proud of its commitment since its founding in 1636 to being a creative, diverse, place that welcomes all people.

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science or be close to completion, and demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence, strong research skills, and potential for research productivity.

Applicants should apply online at https://careers.providence.edu and submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, and contact information for three professional references. For additional information, please contact Dr. Joe Cammarano, Chair of the Political Science Department, at jpcammar@providence.edu.

Review of applications will commence immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Providence College is a Roman Catholic four-year liberal arts institution conducted under the auspices of the Dominican Friars and seeks candidates who can affirm and contribute to its Mission. We strive to foster an academic culture and campus community that attracts and supports the development of a stellar and diverse faculty reflecting the global environment in which we live and work. As such, a pillar of Providence College’s Strategic Plan for Diversity involves “intentionally recruiting and retaining faculty and staff who are drawn to, and supportive of, the mission of the College, and who have demonstrated a commitment to the human flourishing of each member of the campus community.” To review the strategic plan, please visit https://strategic-plan.providence.edu/pc200-full/.

An Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity employer, the College especially encourages the applications of women and persons of color.

Butler University

Rank: Instructor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Butler University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor for a one-year appointment with possibility of renewal for a second year. Applicants should have expertise in politics and/or public policy in the United States and a strong commitment to excellent, inclusive undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will teach an introductory American politics survey course, research and analysis methods (basic research design/methods), US Parties and Politics, and other courses aligned with their expertise, and will help build an inclusive learning environment for our increasingly diverse student population. We are particularly interested in candidates who could teach an introductory international politics survey course. This lecturer will teach four courses per semester, with no more than six distinct course preparations per year anticipated.
Review of applications is ongoing and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following to psearch@butler.edu: a cover letter that highlights the applicant’s qualifications for this position and commitment to inclusive, excellent teaching and a curriculum vitae. Additional evidence of evidence of inclusive teaching excellence is welcome but not required at this stage. Applicants should have advanced to candidate or earned a doctorate in political science or a related field at the time of appointment. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts and to consent to a background check prior to a final offer of employment and will start August 2021.

The Butler Political Science Program, distinctively grounded in a firm commitment to social justice, democracy, and human rights, engages students in the study and practice of politics to promote the collective good at the local, national, and global level. The program defines politics broadly as the formal and informal ways societies govern themselves. The program offers an innovative curriculum that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to pursue positive social change. Political science alumni have pursued careers in electoral politics, teaching, law, government, journalism, business, and non-profit organizations, and have earned graduate and professional degrees in several fields.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/9/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8927

Bloomsburg University

Rank: Political Science Temporary Pool-Intro to and U.S. Government

Position Description
The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach POLISCI 101: Elements of Political Science and POLISCI 120: U.S. Government. A description of these courses can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University/https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog-.html.

Qualifying Education/Experience
Applicants must possess a Master’s Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of American Politics. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information
A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of sex discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University’s compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University’s compliance with the VAWA-related Clery reporting requirements. Add tionally, inquiries
A resume will not be accepted in place of any information requested on the application. Inquiries about the position can be sent to Dr. James T. McHugh at: mchugh@uakron.edu. For assistance with your application or attachments please call Hannah Kemp-Severence in Human Resources at 330-972-8399. Open until filled, however, initial review of applications will begin on September 1, 2021.

The University of Akron is committed to providing a safe environment for all students and employees. The University endeavors to protect the health, welfare and safety of all students, employees and visitors on our campus. As such, the University will require a pre-employment background check for all applicants selected for employment.

| Start Date: | Spring 2021 |
| Application Deadline: | 4/30/2024 |
| Date Posted: | 4/30/2021 |
| Salary: | Competitive |
| eJobs ID: | 8844 |

University of Akron

Rank: Director, Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics at The University of Akron
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Other
Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The University of Akron’s Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics, in cooperation with the Department of Political Science, is seeking applicants for the position of Director. This 12-month position, starting as early as January 2022 but no later than July 1, 2022, includes an appointment as a tenured Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science.

The successful candidate will oversee the activities of the Bliss Institute, including managing its budget, supervising its full-time and part-time staff, coordinating research projects (including polling activities), administering its extensive internship program, and hosting conferences. The Director will be a faculty member of the Department of Political Science with teaching responsibilities and will be responsible for administering the Institute's academic programs, including the Master of Applied Politics [MAP] degree program and the Undergraduate and Graduate Certificate in Applied Politics. Further responsibilities include liaising with university, local, state, and national officials, engaging with the media, and promoting the overall mission of the Institute.

The successful candidate must be a highly experienced scholar with a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, with a record of publications in peer-reviewed journals and/or academic presses; have a record of teaching at the university level; and have a strong record of administrative experience. It is desirable for the candidate to have a competency in research methods with a demonstrable interest in applied politics at the state and/or national levels; experience in public policy, especially at the state and local levels; and previous experience in hosting conferences in an academic and/or governmental setting.

To apply for this position (University of Akron Job ID# 12850), you must complete the on-line application (available at: https://www.uakron.edu/hr/jobs.dot) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a list of three (3) professional references to your profile. Please include contact information, including email addresses, for your professional references. After submission of your application, return to the “My Activities” link and upload the required documents under the “My Cover Letters and Attachments” section.

Applicants should fully describe their qualifications and experience with reference to the minimum and preferred qualifications. This is the information on which the initial review of materials will be based.

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Grand Valley State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Summary: The Department of Political Science seeks an assistant professor, full time, 9-month, tenure-track, specializing in race and ethnicity, and/or media.

Required Qualifications and Education:
- Ph.D in Political Science or related field
- ABD candidate will be considered for a two-year contract with provision that the PhD must be completed by December 2023
- Evidence of critical, reflective thinking about the successful teaching and learning of political science
- Demonstrated potential for producing peer-reviewed scholarship in political science
- Strong communication and interpersonal skills, such as the ability to interact with others with respect, empathy, and cultural humility
- Creativity and flexibility
- Demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion and access. This could include experience with inclusive pedagogies; research relating to marginalized populations or social inequality; engagement with community-based social justice work; and other forms of DEI-infused teaching, scholarship and service.

Preferred Qualifications and Education:
- Expertise in race and ethnicity, and/or media; expertise at the intersection of those topics with inequality and/or social movements is a plus
- We are primarily interested in someone whose research and teaching expertise is on race and ethnicity and/or media in American politics, but we also invite applications from scholars who examine these topics from a comparative perspective that encompasses a focus on the U.S.

Responsibilities: The successful hire will be expected to teach introductory courses in American politics and courses in the area(s) of the faculty member’s specialization such as race, ethnicity and politics; media and politics; or others. Teaching responsibilities would allow the opportunity to develop a new course (or courses) within the faculty member’s area of specialization. Regular faculty responsibilities each semester include teaching 9 credit hours, scholarship, and service.

Department faculty are expected to maintain a productive program... of scholarship and to participate actively in service. Employment begins August 6, 2022.

Salary/Benefits
The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. The university offers an excellent comprehensive package that includes health/vision/dental plans, life insurance, retirement, sick/leave disability, tuition waiver, adoption resources, wellness coaching, and free access to campus fitness facilities. Family and child care options on and off-campus are also available. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit Benefits and Wellness - Grand Valley State University (gvsu.edu).

Department/College:
The Political Science Department at Grand Valley State University is the home to a major (BA/BS) in political science, a major (BA) in international relations, and minors in both political science and IR. The department has 17 full-time faculty members, 223 political science majors and 68 international relations majors. The department is also a significant contributor to an interdisciplinary minor in human rights. Department offices are located on the Allendale campus, where nearly all of the department’s courses are taught. The department values:
- Excellence in education facilitated through
  - Active student-teacher engagement and academic achievement in a rigorous and challenging course of study that emphasizes the development of critical and analytical thinking and writing.
  - Student exposure to a variety of theoretical and political perspectives for the purpose of enhancing critical and analytical thinking and writing skills.
  - A comprehensive coverage of the discipline and access to a wide variety of upper-level courses.
  - Emphasis on internships, co-curricular and civic education opportunities in our local, state, national and global communities.
- Excellence in faculty scholarship.
- Service to the discipline, unit, college, university and community.
- Student development as well-informed, global citizens in a democratic society.

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS) is the largest college at Grand Valley, offering over 50 bachelor’s degrees and a growing number of advanced degrees in the natural and mathematical sciences, the fine arts and humanities, and the social sciences. CLAS is a student-centered and diverse learning community that engages in critical inquiry, extending knowledge to enrich and enliven individual and public life. Our faculty are active teacher-scholars committed to equitable, inclusive, career-connected, and community-engaged liberal arts and sciences education. There are many opportunities for collaboration within CLAS and across a broad group of partners on and off campus. We are interested in attracting a cohort of new faculty committed to these core values as we seek to foster a community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Campus/University: Grand Valley University (GVSU) is a public comprehensive institution located in West Michigan with campuses in Allendale, downtown Grand Rapids, and Holland, plus centers in Detroit, Muskegon and Traverse City. The University attracts more than 23,000 undergraduate and graduate students with high quality programs and state-of-the-art facilities, and has been nationally recognized for innovativeness and its contribution to students’ social mobility. The greater Grand Rapids metropolitan area has a population of around one million people, is affordable, and offers rich cultural amenities. Grand Valley is located within easy driving distance of Chicago, Detroit, Lake Michigan beaches, and many other superb summer and winter recreational venues. Information can be found at Community Resources - Human Resources - Grand Valley State University (gvsu.edu). Grand Valley is highly rated for safety, sustainability, and veteran and LGBTQ friendliness, and is committed to supporting employees and their families in work-life balance. The university seeks to create an inclusive and diverse environment for faculty and students while promoting enrichment of society through excellent teaching, active scholarship, and service. More information can be found at Grand Valley State University (gvsu.edu).

How to Apply: A complete application must include:
1. a cover letter addressing qualifications and motivation to work at GVSU
2. a curriculum vitae
3. a teaching statement that addresses the applicant’s teaching experience, philosophy and approach, and how the applicant meets the teaching-related qualifications of the position
4. a research statement that addresses the applicant’s research and plans for a productive agenda of scholarship
5. a diversity statement that describes past, ongoing and anticipated activities to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion in teaching, research/creative activity, and service, with particular attention to experiences engaging and supporting a diverse student body
6. contact information (name, title, email address and phone number) of three professional references
7. graduate transcripts (unofficial issued to students are acceptable to apply).

Apply online at Open Positions - GVSU Jobs - Grand Valley State University and select “Apply now”. The online application will allow applicants to attach these documents electronically. Applicants selected for interviews will be required to submit official transcripts prior to the interview. If you need assistance, call Human Resources at 616-331-2215. Email questions about the position to: Dr. Mark Richards, Political Science Search Committee Chair (richardm@gvsu.edu). Application Deadline: The review process will begin on December 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The posting may be closed at any time at the discretion of the University.

Allendale, Michigan 49401 - (616) 331-5000
For more information about Grand Valley, see our website at www.gvsu.edu
Grand Valley State University is an EOE which includes protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. See http://www.gvsu.edu/affirmative/. TDD Callers: Call Michigan Relay Center at 711 (in State) or 1-800-833-7833 (out of State)

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9630

Howard University
Rank: Assistant Professor Tenure-Track
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, Africa

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Comparative Politics. The successful candidate will be prepared to conduct externally-funded research in the areas of comparative politics with a focus on politics in the...
Questions should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee, email below directly from the recommenders.

Three letters of recommendation sent under separate cover to the accomplishments, interests, and future plans; 4) One-page statement of Current curriculum vita; 3) Two-page statement of research accom-required for the position; • Evidence of writing successful teacher and student relationship; • Evidence of teaching excellence; involvement with students; • Evidence of successful grant propos-neural networks, machine learning, natural language processing, and computer vision. These positions may be complete at Howard

Black Diaspora. Regional specialization is open to all areas. Qualified applicants should have evidence of research productivity and teaching experience in at least one of the areas covered by the emerging field of data science and computational social science. These may include, but are not limited to: working with “big data,” relational data, social network analysis, computational text analysis, machine-learning, agent-based modeling, or geospatial analysis techniques, among others.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. We envision this position as expansive and methodologically diverse, with a focus on how on-gothing global changes intersect with historical patterns of power and dominance, and how these factors affect current and future global discourses. The successful candidate is expected to develop a vigorous, extramurally funded research program in their areas of expertise and have a strong record of and ability to teach in-person and use online tools to design and teach distance learning courses at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The successful candidate is expected to actively participate in the Department’s teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented minority students is highly desired.
The candidate will also contribute to the International Affairs undergraduate major, and also work closely with the Center for Women, Gender, and Global Leadership. Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black pri-

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 17 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science.
Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S.
Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Women, Gender, and Sexualities, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor.

Required Qualifications: • Ph.D. in political science or closely related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc.) from an accredited institution; • Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor; • Effective communication and organizational skills; and • Evidence of writing successful grant proposals.

Complete applications must be submitted as a single PDF file containing: 1) Cover letter addressing the qualifications listed above; 2) Current curriculum vita; 3) Two-page statement of research accomplishments, interests, and future plans; 4) One-page statement of teaching philosophy and experience; and 5) A writing sample. 6) Three letters of recommendation sent under separate cover to the email below directly from the recommenders.

Questions should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee,
Dr. David Dixon at ComparativePoliticsSearch@Howard.edu.

Completed applications submitted electronically via Academic Jobs Online. Screening will begin on September 20, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The desired starting date is August 16, 2022. Additional details and information can be found at http://coas.
howard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Negotiable
ejobs ID: 9629

Mercyhurst University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Middle East, Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Political Science Department invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure-track) position beginning fall 2022. The successful applicant will possess a strong commitment to excellence in undergradutate teaching at a liberal arts university. The department is seeking a comparative politics/international relations generalist. Preference will be given to a candidate who can teach Middle East politics in addition to other comparative or international relations courses. IR background in the areas of IPE, human rights, international organizations, or environmental politics are a department priority. Energy, collegiality, and a commitment to liberal arts education are highly prized attributes in our department. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed the Ph.D. or will complete it before the fall 2022 semester. Screening of applications will begin immediately and the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current vita, transcripts (initial submissions may be unofficial copies), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching excellence, and a one-page statement summarizing their philosophy of teaching to Jennifer Verga, administrative assistant:
jverga@mercyhurst.edu. Mercyhurst is a mid-sized, Catholic, liberal arts, primarily residential university, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students. Class sizes are small and the normal teaching load is 8 courses per year. For information about the political science program see the departmental website:

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9626

University of California, Merced
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure-track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
Minimum Qualifications: In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related field by the position start date.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2022.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by November 29, 2021. Applications will be submitted via https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu.

Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applicants for the Assistant Professor level should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system).

Statement on your contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion. Please review the UC Merced Diversity Statement Guidelines and UC’s Commitment to Diversity

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and UC academic salary scales.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

For additional information, please contact Courtenay Conrad at conrad2@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit our UC Merced job posting at: https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01210

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy (https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction).

UC Merced is a smoke & tobacco free campus (https://smokefree.ucmerced.edu/).

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/5000695/SARS-CoV-2_Covid-19. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. For new University of California employees, the applicable deadline is eight weeks after their first date of employment. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.)

The University of California, Merced, is the newest of the University of California system’s 10 campuses. With 8,500 undergraduate and graduate students (https://www.ucmerced.edu/fast-facts), UC Merced provides outstanding educational opportunities to highly qualified students from the heart of California, the nation, and abroad. The campus has special connections to nearby Yosemite National Park; is on the cutting edge of sustainability in construction and design; and supports the economic development of Central California. The Merced 2020 Project doubled the physical capacity of the campus, and enhanced academic distinction, student success, and research excellence (https://merced2020.ucmerced.edu/).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/29/2021
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9627

Eastern Connecticut State University

Rank: Part time European Politics

The political science program at Eastern Connecticut State University is looking for a part time faculty member to teach one section of PSC 310: European Politics Tuesdays and Thursdays 4:00-5:15 p.m. for the Spring 2022 semester. The course will be taught on ground.

At this point in time, we cannot change the time, days of the week or the modality. Preference will be given to candidates with a PhD in political science or a related field, ABD candidates with teaching experience will be considered. Please send a vita and letter of application to the attention of Dr. Martín Mendoza-Botelho, Chair, Department of Political Science, Philosophy and Geography through the Department Secretary Ms. Brenda Schiavetti schiavettib@easternct.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Below $20,000
ejobs ID: 9618

Lyon College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Lyon College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science position starting in the fall of 2022. This one-year position may be renewed for a second year with the additional possibility of conversion to tenure-track. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science, but the area of specialization is open. The ability to teach the Political Science major’s required course sequence in International and Comparative Politics is expected, along with a section per semester of the American Experience, a part of the College’s Core Curriculum. The appointment features a three/four teaching load.

Experience at a small, residential liberal arts college as a student or as a faculty member is desirable. Absent that experience, an understanding of the difference between a small college and a university and the desire to be on the faculty of a small college are important. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Lyon College is a private, selective liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). It is located in Batesville, Arkansas, a safe and historic town of 10,000 that serves as commercial, medical, social, and governmental hub for an eight-county area. The College currently enrolls almost 600 undergraduate students from 25 states and 11 foreign countries. Entering freshmen have an average high school GPA of 3.5 and an average ACT composite of 24.

Interested candidates should send a letter of application; CV; evidence of teaching and scholarly excellence; and three letters of recommendation to Human Resources, P.O. Box 2317, Batesville, AR 72503-2317 or electronically to jobs@lyon.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9597

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Rank: Federico Gil Visiting Research Professor

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is seeking to appoint for the fall or spring semester of the academic year 2022-23 a visiting research professor who studies Latin America politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates who are based in Latin America or Spain or have had extensive prior experience in Latin America. Responsibilities of the successful candidate during the semester in residence will include working on their own research and contributing to departmental activities related to their research and teaching on Latin America (but not teaching a course). The quality of currently completed research and of the proposed research project will be important selection criteria. Qualifications are a Ph.D. and a minimum of 5 years of research and teaching experience. Compensation consists of a travel and research allowance, health insurance, and a total of $40,000 in salary over the duration of the appointment. The successful candidate will be expected to be in residence for a minimum of 4 ½ months. Applications from women and minorities are particularly welcome. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes applications from women and minorities. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes applications from women and minorities.

Lingnan University

Rank: Professor / Associate Professor / Assistant Professor
Specializations: East Asia, Political Behavior, Environmental Policy

Lingnan University, a distinctive liberal arts institution in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, is committed to the provision of quality whole-person education by combining the best of Chinese and Western liberal arts traditions. It strives to pursue excellence in teaching, learning, scholarship and community engagement. With three academic Faculties, it offers a wide range of undergraduate degree programmes in arts, business and social sciences. Lingnan’s liberal arts education is characterised by a broad-based interdisciplinary curriculum with specialised disciplinary studies; close student-staff relationship; a vibrant residential campus; ample global learning opportunities; active community engagement and multifarious workplace experience. The School of Graduate Studies also offers postgraduate programmes up to doctoral level in various disciplines and provides professional education for the wider society. Applications are now invited for the following post, which will be tenable from mid-August 2022 or by mutual agreement.

Professor / Associate Professor / Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science
(Post Ref.: 21/263/APSA)

The Department of Political Science (https://www.LN.edu.hk/polisci/) is committed to preparing students for a competitive and globalized working environment. The Department combines teaching and research in the governance and public policy of Hong Kong and China, international politics, Asian international relations, and comparative politics. It contributes with the Department of Applied Psychology, the Department of Economics and the Department of Sociology and Social Policy to the integrated Social Sciences Programme in the University, having embarked on a 4-year curriculum with a disciplinary major in political science. Applicants are recommended to visit the Departmental website and Programme website (https://www.LN.edu.hk/sosc/bsocsc) for more information.

The Department is seeking to appoint a full-time Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professor who specializes in the field of Comparative Politics with a focus on East Asia (China, Taiwan, Japan and/or Korea). Applicants whose research intersects with big data approach on IPE or environmental politics or political behaviour are strongly encouraged to apply. Applicants should provide evidence of their scholarship (or substantial promise for research and publications for the Assistant Professor level) and a statement of their current and future research as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness. The Department offers undergraduate and postgraduate degrees; undergraduate degrees with majors and also offers a taught self-financed MA degree in International Affairs. The appointee will be expected to teach introductory courses in Political Science through advanced undergraduate and graduate-level courses in their fields.

General Requirements

Applicants should have a PhD degree in the relevant discipline, with relevant teaching experience and a good research record. For appointment as Full Professor, applicants should be international well-known and have an outstanding track record in research and scholarly activities. For appointment as Associate Professor, applicants should have at least five years of relevant experience and a sound track record in research and scholarly activities. For appointment as Assistant Professor, applicants should have relevant teaching experience and a good research record.
Applicants should have excellent communication and presentation skills. Administrative experience will be an advantage. The appointee is expected to have a strong commitment to teaching excellence and services to the Department and the University community, and to engage actively in quality research and publication.

Appointment
The conditions of appointment will be competitive. The rank and remuneration will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits include annual leave, medical and dental benefits, mandatory provident fund, gratuity and incoming passage and baggage allowance for the eligible appointee.

Appointments will normally be made on an initial contract of three years, which, subject to review and mutual agreement, may lead to longer-term appointments with possibility of consideration for substantiation.

Application Procedure (online application only)
Applicants are invited to submit their applications and resumes at our online system https://lingnan.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/2847?c=lingnan. Applicants shall provide names and contact information of at least three referees to whom applicants' consent has been given for their providing references. Personal data collected will be used for recruitment purposes only.

We are an equal opportunities employer. Review of applications will start from 31 January 2022 and continue until the post is filled. Qualified candidates are advised to submit their applications early for consideration.

The University reserves the right not to make an appointment for the post advertised, or to fill the post by invitation or by search. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9614

Temple University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Instructional) in Global Studies

The Global Studies Program in the College of Liberal Arts at Temple University invites applications for a full-time, renewable, non-tenure track position (Assistant Professor (Instructional)) beginning in Fall 2022. Global Studies is a multidisciplinary program offering undergraduate degrees focused on culture, economy, and security, with 200 majors and 50 minors. We seek candidates who can teach courses such as Research Skills (exposing students to methods from multiple disciplines), Introduction to Global Studies, the Global Studies senior capstone course, and writing intensive courses. The teaching load for this position is 4 courses per semester. The successful candidate will have a strong teaching record, a commitment to interdisciplinarity, and interest in the global south. Temple University offers full-time faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, retirement, and other benefits. Candidates are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by the beginning of their appointment in Sociology, Political Science/International Relations, Geography, Anthropology, or a related/interdisciplinary field (such as Development Studies).

Temple University is a state-related Carnegie Research University (very high research activity) located in Philadelphia. The College of Liberal Arts is home to 32 undergraduate majors, 32 minors, 23 certificate programs and 15 graduate degree programs. With its vibrant and diverse array of educational programs, the College of Liberal Arts plays a tremendous role in Temple University’s academic success and its mission mirrors both the historical importance of the liberal arts in society and the principles on which the university was founded: providing access to an excellent, affordable higher education that prepares students for careers, further learning and active citizenship; creating a collaborative community of outstanding faculty and staff who foster inclusion and encourage the aspirations of Temple students; promoting service and engagement throughout Philadelphia, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the nation and the world.

COVID-19 vaccinations are required for employment at Temple University, unless granted a religious or medical exemption (see www.temple.edu/coronavirus).

Temple University is an Affirmative Action equal opportunity employer and particularly encourages applications from women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

To apply, submit all materials via Interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/97331. Direct any questions about the position to Danielle K. Scherer, Assistant Director of Global Studies (danielle.scherer@temple.edu). For full consideration, applications must be received by January 3, 2022, and include the following materials:

Letter of interest
CV
Evidence of teaching effectiveness
Teaching philosophy
3 Letters of recommendation

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/3/2022
Date Posted: 10/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9613

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Social Research and Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: Political Thought: Historical, Gender Politics & Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

Social Research and Public Policy

NYU Abu Dhabi

We are inviting applications from sociologists and those in related disciplines for a tenured faculty member to join the program in Social Research and Public Policy, for appointment on September 1, 2023, subject to final budget approval. We will consider applicants with an active research agenda in all areas of theoretically-informed social research, but are especially keen on strengthening our faculty in any of the following areas: social theory, political sociology, comparative-historical research, qualitative methods, migration, gender, and race/ethnicity.

NYU Abu Dhabi’s unique location in the Middle East makes it an ideal headquarters for social scientists working to better understand global societies, both past and present.
About NYU Abu Dhabi
Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi, NYU Abu Dhabi (NYUAD) has assembled over the past decade a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others who have contributed to the growth of the UAE’s capital as a global hub of knowledge and culture while establishing a new model of higher education for today’s complex world.

NYUAD is animated by inspiring, diverse faculty, students, and staff working together in an exciting and dynamic city. As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students and providing an intellectually rich environment.

Students are drawn from among the world’s best. They are bright, intellectually passionate, and committed to building a campus environment anchored in mutual respect, understanding, and care. The NYUAD undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other global honors. Graduate education is an area of growth for the university and the current graduate student population of over 100 students is expected to expand in the next decade.

NYUAD is committed to building and strengthening a university-wide culture of inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity (IDBE). For more information on NYUAD’s commitment to IDBE and how these values create fundamental to our mission please visit https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/inclusion-diversity-belonging-and-equity.html

Working for NYUAD
A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it’s your home. In order for faculty to thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, plus more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority.

Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications
This position requires a Ph.D. in Sociology or a related discipline.

We seek individuals who have a strong record of scholarship, teaching, and mentoring, and have the ability to develop and lead high-quality research.

Application Instructions
To apply for this position, please submit the following items to: https://apply.interfolio.com/94902

.CV
.Cover Letter
.Statement of Teaching Interests
.Recent Teaching Evaluations (if available)
.Statement of Research Interests
.
..Three (3) Representative Writing Samples
.List of three references that may be contacted at a later date.

We will begin looking at applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in the academic year 2023-2024.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socsci@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now.

Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9608

Georgetown University
Rank: Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and Assistant Professor of Climate Change, Colonialism, Displacement
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Immigration Policy, Developing Nations

Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and Assistant Professor, Climate Change, Colonialism, and Displacement
Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University

Georgetown University’s School of Foreign Service invites applications for a Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and tenure-line Assistant Professor position. We seek an interdisciplinary scholar who is working at the intersection of climate change, colonialism, and displacement. We seek scholars who broadly approach climate change in relation to colonial extraction and expropriation in the context of the Global South, and who use innovative methods to engage in scholarship on displacement and migration with attention to racialization and border regimes. Applicants are welcomed from a wide variety of disciplines and fields including, but not limited to, anthropology, geography, history, political science, sociology, science and technology studies, and environmental humanities.

The Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellowship program is in its inaugural year at Georgetown University. The program is designed to bring in a cohort of new faculty from a wide range of backgrounds who demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Provost’s Distinguished Fellows are on the tenure track and will be exempt from teaching and service duties in the first year of their appointments, devoting their full-time efforts to building their research program. Fellows will be assigned senior faculty mentors. After the first year, the Fellow will then begin as a tenure-line Assistant Professor, with a 2-2 teaching load.

The new hire may be affiliated with at least one program housed in the School of Foreign Service based on their areas of research expertise, such as the Culture and Politics Program; Science, Technology, and International Affairs; Institute for the Study of International Migration; and SFS graduate programs. We encourage candidates to
Political Science Jobs

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science

Rank: Junior Faculty Position in Native American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Social Movements, Native American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

Junior Faculty Position in Native American Studies
Department of Social and Cultural Analysis
New York University
Faculty of Arts and Science

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis at New York University invites applications for a junior ranked search in the field of Native American Studies.

We especially welcome applications from scholars whose research relates to urban indigeneity, Critical Indigenous Theory, settler colonialism, literature, Indigenous resurgence and governance, Queer Studies, Indigenous pedagogies, environmental studies, and/or language revitalization. We encourage applications from scholars who work in collaboration with First Nations or Native American nations and whose research engages with Indigenous communities. This search is part of a cluster hire in Native American and Indigenous Studies that includes the following departments and Schools: The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis, The Gallatin School, English, Cinema Studies (Tisch), Spanish and Portuguese, and History. More information about this cluster, and NYU’s broader Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative, can be found here, and here.

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis is comprised of programs including American Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Metropolitan Studies, Africana Studies, Latino Studies, and Asian/Pacific/American Studies. Applicants who speak to one or more of these fields and have an interest in building Indigenous Studies curriculum/programming at NYU are encouraged to apply. Visit the SCA website: http://as.nyu.edu/sca.

The appointment will begin on September 1, 2022, subject to budgetary and administrative approval. Applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a research statement. Entry-level applicants should provide names and contact information of three recommenders. Ph.D. in hand by 9/1/2022 required. Because diversity and inclusion are an important part of the NYU mission, we request that you include a paragraph in your cover letter telling us how diversity and inclusion figure into your past, present, and future teaching, research, and community engagement. Information about diversity and inclusion statements may be found at http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html.

The search committee will begin their review of applications on November 1, 2021. Please apply online through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/94342

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9596

Academia Sinica

Rank: Assistant Research Fellow (equivalent to Assistant Professor)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Position Announcement
Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

1. The Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica (IPSAS), Taipei, Taiwan, seeks to appoint full-time faculty members at the

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

November 2021
rank of assistant research fellow (which is equivalent to assistant professor). Application for higher rank will also be considered.

2. The applicant should specialize at least one of the following fields: (1) Taiwan politics and comparative democracy; (2) China and comparative politico-economic transition; (3) cross-Straits relations and international relations theory; (4) political changes in Asia and global democratic development; and, (5) political methodology.

3. The applicant must have a doctoral degree in political science or related disciplines, or is able to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 31, 2022.

4. Applicants for positions of assistant research fellow should submit the following documents:
   (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
   (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate or certification for completion of course work and successful defense of dissertation (for applicants who have not yet passed the oral examination, proof for completion of courses and a letter certifying imminent holding of oral examination are required);
   (3) two copies of the doctoral dissertation (or draft) and other publications;
   (4) an abstract (in both English and Chinese) of the doctoral dissertation;
   (5) transcripts from undergraduate and graduate schools;
   (6) a statement of research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
   (7) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio; those applying for the position of assistant research fellow should have one letter from the dissertation advisor).

5. Applicants for positions of associate research fellow or above should submit the following documents:
   (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
   (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate;
   (3) three representative publications (and two copies each);
   (4) proofs for appointments in Taiwanese or international academic institutes;
   (5) a statement of research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
   (6) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio).

6. The application should be sent to Dr. Chung-li Wu, Director, Institute of Political Science, Academia Sinica, 128 Academia Rd., Sec. 2, Taipei 115201, Taiwan, R.O.C.

7. Questions can be forwarded to Ms. Ren-Yuan Lo at 886-2-2652-5303, faxed to 886-2-2783-2610, or e-mailed to ipsas@gate.sinica.edu.tw.

8. The application should be received by November 30, 2022.

Start Date: Spring 2022

Application Deadline: 11/30/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9592

---

European University Institute

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow

Specializations: Advanced Industrial Societies, Political Behavior, Political Parties & Organizations

The European University Institute seeks to hire a two-year postdoctoral fellow in the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies in the ERC-funded project led by Liesbet Hooghe and Gary Marks. TRANSNATIONAL seeks to explain the intensity of political polarization in Western societies. More detail on the project’s website:

http://europeangovernanceandpolitics.eui.eu/transnational/

The Postdoctoral Fellow will conduct independent research on the causes/consequences of the contemporary political divide in Western societies. The applicant should submit a 2-page statement summarizing their research plans. The directors will provide a supportive context for first-rate research. The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have minimal administrative responsibilities related to the ERC grant (5%). The appointment is for 24 months, 100%, starting 1 September 2022.

Essential:
- PhD in Political Science or related field
- Strong intellectual track record
- Experience with quantitative methods
- Strong communication and organizational skills

Advantageous:
- Track record of collaboration
- Strong interest in contributing to a lively international research group.

For more information, please contact: Joanna.wielgo@eui.eu

How to apply: Online application form (https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts#ResearchFellowVacancies) to upload: CV, motivation letter, two names of referees, and 2-page research statement.

Start Date: Fall 2021

Application Deadline: 11/15/2021

Date Posted: 10/19/2021

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 9581

---

Kiel Institute for the World Economy

Rank: Postdoc International Economics and Geopolitics

The Kiel Institute for the World Economy (IfW) seeks applications for a position as in the Research Center “International Finance and Macroeconomics”. We are a young, dynamic and international research group focusing on international finance and macro as well as on international political economy. We will considerably expand our research agenda on geopolitics and international economics, e.g. on how geopolitics shapes international finance and trade. Much of our research is empirical and often takes a long-run perspective, drawing on decades or even centuries of data.

Postdoctoral Researcher in International Economics and Geopolitics

The position is strongly research oriented. There is no teaching obligation and there is only a very light administrative burden. Most importantly, you will be expected to work on relevant, high-quality research and to publish in leading economics journals. You will also be expected to contribute to the policy activities of the Kiel institute, although ideally the policy work should be based on your research output.

We are looking for a candidate who meets the following criteria:
- PhD in economics, quantitative political science or a related field (completed or close to completion).
- Excellent academic record and outstanding research potential.
- Experience and interest in international economics and/or international political economy, in particular on topics related to geopolitics and geo-economics.
- Experience in large-scale data management and/or historical data collection is an asset but not a requirement.
- Experience of working on China and/or with Chinese data is an asset but not a requirement.
- The working language is English; excellent English skills are therefore required. Some knowledge of German would be useful, but is not essential.
- First publications are an asset but not a requirement.

The planned contract period is three years (starting in the summer/fall of 2022), but a shorter contract is possible. Also an extension of up to six years is possible. The salary will be based on the German public sector pay scale at grade EG 14 TV L. The position is full-time, but part-time employment is possible.

The Kiel Institute is an equal opportunity employer with a certified family-friendly policy. We promote the professional opportunities of women and strongly encourage them to apply. Women with equivalent qualifications, competence, and expertise will be given preference. We are committed to employing persons with recognized disabilities and will therefore give them preference over persons without disabilities if they are equally qualified.

Please submit your application online, using the Econ Job market portal for economists: https://econjobmarket.org/positions. The review process starts in November or early December. Please include a letter of interest, your CV, transcripts of your academic record and your job market paper and make sure letters of reference are linked to your application. For additional information, please contact Prof. Christoph Trebesch (christoph.trebesch@ifw-kiel.de).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
EJobs ID: 9582

East Carolina University
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 16, 2022. The successful candidate will become one of the faculty members in the Department of Political Science with primary teaching responsibilities in Comparative Politics, with either a regional or topical focus that can contribute to our Security Studies curriculum. They will be expected to teach at both the graduate and undergraduate levels, in the classroom and online. The assigned teaching load will be a 3:2. Scholarly productivity and service to the university, community, and profession are expected.

A PhD in Political Science & Government, International Relations & National Security Studies, International/Global Studies or Peace Studies & Conflict Resolution is required, however, ABD candidates may be considered. Candidates with Ph.D. conferred at the time of initial appointment will hold the probationary rank of Assistant Professor. ABD candidates will also be initially appointed with the probationary term rank of Assistant Professor and must have the terminal degree conferred prior to first reappointment. Qualifying degrees must be received from appropriately accredited institutions.

Given the department’s current needs, preference will be given to candidates who have experience (educational, teaching, and/or research) in comparative politics and security. Teaching experience at the graduate and undergraduate levels, as well as in distance education, is strongly preferred.

To apply, complete a candidate profile and submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, statements of research interests and teaching experience/philosophy, unofficial transcripts, and a writing sample online at https://ecu.peopleadmin.com/. Candidates will add the names of 3 recommenders in the PeopleAdmin interface. Candidates should be aware that recommenders will be contacted through PeopleAdmin and asked to upload their letters through that interface. Letters of reference submitted via the PeopleAdmin applicant tracking system will be verified and considered towards meeting this requirement. Official transcripts are required upon employment.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021, and continue until the position is filled.

Questions should be directed to: Dr. Jonathan Morris, Chair, Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, (morrisj@ecu.edu).

This position is contingent upon available funding.

The Department of Political Science is one of sixteen departments in the Thomas Harriot College of Arts and Sciences at East Carolina University, Greenville, NC. The Department is composed of 15 full-time faculty. It offers BS and BA degrees in political science and minors in public administration, comparative politics/international relations, leadership studies, and security studies at the undergraduate level. It is also home to the multidisciplinary studies majors in security studies and international studies. At the graduate level, it offers a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration degree, a Master of Science in Security Studies and certificates in public management and security studies. It emphasizes excellent teaching, impactful research, and a tradition of service to the community, the university, and the discipline. More information about the department can be found at its home page: http://politicalscience.ecu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9576

Princeton University
Rank: Comparative Politics Postdoctoral Researchers at the Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice

The Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice at Princeton University, under the auspices of the Department of Politics and in collaboration with the School of Public and International Affairs, invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research positions for the 2022–23 year. Renewal is contingent on satisfactory performance. The aim of the program is to promote a group of promising scholars in the broad area of comparative politics, with a special but not exclusive focus on empirical democratic theory and comparative institutions. This position is overseen by Professor Carles Boix, Robert Garrett Professor of Politics and Public Affairs.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have or expect to have a Ph.D. in the fields of political science, history, political sociology, and economics. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (anticipated to be September 1, 2022 through August 31, 2023).

For full consideration, apply by January 16, 2022, 11:59 p.m. EST.

Interested applicants must apply online at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-position/position/23081 and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members.

Successful applicants will be provided a competitive salary, standard benefits, and an annual allowance to support conference and career development travel.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in March 2022.

For more information about the Comparative Politics Postdoctoral Program at the Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, please contact Naseem L. Brady, Bobst Center Manager at nlbrady@Princeton.EDU.

These positions are subject to the University’s background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/16/2022
Date Posted: 10/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9568

University of Louisville

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory
Specializations: Political Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is accepting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin Fall 2022. The position is in political theory with a research emphasis on race, ethnicity and/or post-colonial identity in politics. The department welcomes candidates who address these topics from various traditions within political theory in conversation with American or comparative politics. The ideal candidate will contribute to the University of Louisville’s stated commitment to become a premier anti-racist metropolitan research university.

The successful candidate will be able to teach a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses related to the position’s focus, as well as one introductory-level course in another subfield of political science. Teaching experience is a plus, and candidates should have demonstrated research potential. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, but College policy requires completion of the PhD by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time professors and is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body. We have over 500 students enrolled in BA and MA programs. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university. The salary and benefits package are competitive.

Position is subject to final budgetary approval.

Interested candidates must apply online and attach a curriculum vitae. In addition, applicants should submit a cover letter, sample of written work, graduate transcripts, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of reference. We ask that in the cover letter, the candidate describe how their research, teaching, or service experiences support inclusive learning and diversity.

Materials should be sent to Dr. Tricia Gray, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292 or via email to polisci@louisville.edu. Priority application deadline is November 8, 2021; application review will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science encourages candidates to apply who have demonstrated capacity to create inclusive work environments, will work effectively on increasingly diverse teams, and will serve the increasingly diverse students we admit and want to attract.

https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=177659559&Title=Assistant%20Professor%20of%20Political%20Science%20%28Job%20Id%3A%2042136%29&caId=7137

To apply for this position, follow the &quot;Apply on Institution’s Website&quot; at the link above and then click on the &quot;Apply Now&quot;. You must answer all required fields and submit your application by clicking the &quot;Submit&quot; button. Detailed instructions are available at louisville.edu/jobs in the &quot;My Career Tools&quot; section. If the posting description requested that you follow up and mail or email other documents, your application will not be considered complete until those have been received by the department.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9568

University of Houston

Rank: Open Rank Faculty
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) seeks to hire up to three tenure or tenure-track faculty members to begin in the Fall of 2022. We are interested in applicants who will help chart the future of the school with fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset. Our faculty include experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy. We seek to complement that collective expertise with the three hires.

Competitive candidates are likely to have expertise in one or more of the following areas or in another foundational area of public policy or policymaking:

- A core area of public policy and policymaking, including, but not limited to, defense, education, energy, environment, health, housing, immigration, justice, and law enforcement, national and foreign economic policy, political institutions, political economy, public finance, public management, social mobility, transportation, urban and community development, and voting and representation.

Policy data formulation and analysis, including but not limited to, data visualization, decision algorithms, GIS, laboratory and field experiments, natural language processing, network analysis, probabilistic forecasts, project evaluation and randomized control trials, small area models, and survey methods.

Philosophy or ethics: (1) applied to an area of public policy or (2) focusing on a theoretical perspective (e.g., race, gender, governance, and markets) that cuts across and informs policy areas.

In the selection process, the search committee will prioritize collaborative scholars who: (1) engage in nationally-recognized, interdisciplinary work on significant public policy issues, (2) work with diverse populations, communities, and organizations, (3) demonstrate an eagerness to contribute to undergraduate and graduate education and student success, and (4) pursue grants, awards, and other sources of funding to support research, academic programming, student success, community engagement, and impact.

Interested individuals should apply at https://www.uh.edu/human-resources/careers/ and provide: (1) a letter of interest, (2) evidence of teaching effectiveness and commitment to mentoring students, (3) a statement of research specialization and interests, (4) three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation, (5) a curriculum vita, and (6) up to three representative papers. References may be contacted to submit letters. We will inform applicants prior to asking for letters. Review of applications will begin on November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the search committee co-chairs—Pablo M. Pinto (pmpinto@central.uh.edu) or Alan Witt (witt@uh.edu).

We are committed to the active recruitment and retention of a diverse faculty and students. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committee anticipates holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and will favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at https://uhsystem.edu/compliance-ethics/docs/sam/01/1d51.pdf. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

The Hobby School of Public Affairs was created in 2016 by the University of Houston System. Incoming faculty will have the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology, leadership development, and ethical analysis in its teaching, training, and research. It is the home of UH’s Center for Public Policy, Survey Research Institute, and Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center for Ethics and Leadership.

The Hobby School offers: (1) a Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree, (2) a dual degree program combining public policy with degrees in other fields—multidisciplinary studies (UH’s Honors College), business, economics, law, psychology, and social work, (3) certificate programs in data analytics, energy policy, health care policy, public policy, and public administration, and (4) BS and BA degrees in public policy starting in January 2022. We are in the planning process for launching a PhD program. The Hobby School also runs the Institute on the Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) and offers workshops in social science methods under the Inter-University Consortium of Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Institute.

The University of Houston is a Carnegie-designated Tier One research institution and is the flagship campus of a state-assisted higher education system that enrolls over 70,000 students. The University of Houston is recognized as one of the most racially and ethnically diverse research institutions in the nation. As such, we welcome candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence.

Houston itself is a laboratory for the future. The city reflects what is happening in the United States and around the world in terms of demographic, cultural, political, and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (1) a growing economy, including a vibrant energy sector, robust manufacturing, a bustling port that serves as a hub for international trade, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center—the world’s largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award-winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) a relatively low cost of living among large cities.

The University of Houston is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Qualifications:
A PhD in the discipline and a scholarly record consistent with the rank is required.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check. Incomplete applications may not be considered.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/Letter of Application, Research Statement, Publications, Evidence of Effective Teaching

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 9559

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Wittenberg University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Wittenberg University seeks to hire a full-time, tenure track assistant professor beginning August 1, 2022. Wittenberg is committed to attracting and retaining highly qualified individuals who collectively reflect the diversity of our student body and society at-large. We seek candidates with teaching and research interests in international relations or comparative politics, with a focus outside of advanced democracies and political economy. A successful candidate will also be expected to offer a course in American national institutions (i.e., Congress & the Presidency). Applicants must be committed to teaching in a liberal arts environment as well as to professional activity.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. (or ABD) in Political Science and interest in teaching in the liberal arts and sciences context. For further information about the position, please contact the chair of the Political Science Department at jallan@wittenberg.edu.

The successful candidate will demonstrate support for diversity, equity and inclusiveness as well as participate in maintaining a respectful, positive work environment. Please see our notice of nondiscrimination housed on our website.

Wittenberg University is committed to preventing and addressing sexual misconduct in our campus community. Our Title IX policies can be viewed on our university website.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Interested applicants must apply online by visiting: http://wittenberg. interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=137949. Applications will not be accepted by email or postal mail. As part of the application process, please upload:

A cover letter;
A curriculum vitae;
Evidence of successful teaching;
Statement of teaching philosophy;
A statement that addresses your interest in teaching at a liberal arts college and how your experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service might contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values;
Unofficial graduate transcripts.

In addition, please ask your referees (three) to send their recommendation letters via email directly to Elizabeth Howe, Executive Assistant to the Provost (ehowe@wittenberg.edu).

If you are a person with a disability and require assistance with the application process, please contact Wittenberg’s Human Resources Department at 937-327-7517.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open untilFilled
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9558

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022.

The application deadline is Wednesday, December 1, 2021. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92232

Materials to be submitted:
- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9547

Eastern Illinois University
Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University invites applicants for a non-tenure track instructor beginning August 16, 2022. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses primarily in Comparative Politics and Public Policy.

Successful candidates must have a doctorate or Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or ABD status with evidence of substantial progress toward degree completion. Candidates must demonstrate commitment to teaching excellence, along with dedication to mentoring, applied learning, diversity, and promoting inclusive excellence.

Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate courses in Introduction to Politics and non-western comparative politics, graduate courses in Public Policy Analysis and Public Administration Ethics, and additional courses depending on fields of expertise. The teaching load is typically 7 classes per year. Online teaching is required for the graduate
This is a one-year, residential postdoctoral fellowship. Candidates
law) are welcome to apply.
nary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e social sciences, the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdiscipliy aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2022-23. We welcome research on
The Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, Other
The Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law
(CDDRL) at Stanford University invites applications for the Gerhard Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2022-23. We welcome research on any aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, and the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdiscipliary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e social sciences,
law) are welcome to apply.
This is a one-year, residential postdoctoral fellowship. Candidates must have earned their PhD or JD within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their dissertations by July 2022. The Gerhard Casper Fellow will be part of CDDRL’s larger cohort of pre- and postdoctoral fellows; for more information, see: https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships
Please apply through the CDDRL fellowship application process, and indicate in your cover letter that you would like to be considered for the Gerhard Casper Rule of Law Postdoctoral Fellowship. Application materials include a CV, cover letter (of no more than 3 pages), a statement of proposed research (5-10 pages), a complete set of transcripts, and 3 letters of recommendation.

The online application is available here: https://webportalapp.com/sp/login/stanford_cddrl_fellowship
For additional questions, please contact fellowship coordinator Kristin Chandler (kdchandler@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9551

California State University, Los Angeles
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Latin American, Middle East, Africa
Minimum Qualifications:
1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science or a closely-related discipline from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (August 18, 2022).
2) Evidence of or demonstrated interest in teaching the following courses in the following areas: Power, Politics and Engagement in US Government (i.e., Introduction to American Government); Foundations of Comparative Politics; Foundations of Global Politics; and upper-division and graduate courses in one of the following two areas:
(a) Latin American politics or (b) Middle East/ African politics.
3) Demonstrated research interest in Latin American or Middle East/
African politics.

Preferred Qualifications:
1) Demonstrated interest in or evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels.
2) Demonstrated research interest on and/or teaching experience in one or more of the following topics: social movements, human rights, and race and ethnicity.
3) Evidence of independent publications in scholarly journals (for co-author publications, applicant should describe contribution).

Duties:
The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.
The successful candidate will teach courses at both the lower- and upper-division undergraduate level, as well as graduate courses, and

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law
Rank: Gerhard Casper Postdoctoral Fellow in Rule of Law
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, Other

The University & Community
Eastern Illinois University takes pride in creating a warm, welcome environment for all faculty, staff, and students. Established in 1895, EIU boasts a rich, 125-year tradition of preparing students for their personal and professional goals. A traditional regional residential institution, EIU offers a superior education at a relatively low cost while consistently earning high rankings and distinctions for its affordability, academic program quality, career placement rates, campus safety, online degree options, student support, and sustainability initiatives.

EIU focuses on individualized attention and superior student relations-ships, and has earned recognition as the highest-ranking independent public regional university in Illinois and a place among the Midwest’s top public regional universities according to U.S. News and World Report. EIU hosts more than 175 student organizations on campus, and offers a variety of cultural events, NCAA Division I athletics, and active research opportunities for its students to enjoy and to thrive. EIU has become recognized for providing the resources of a large institution while creating the kinds of individual relationships that support student and alumni success.

Eastern Illinois University is located in Charleston, Illinois—a comfortable and safe east central town within a two-to three-hour drive of three major metropolitan areas–Chicago, Indianapolis, and St. Louis.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9555

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law
Rank: Gerhard Casper Postdoctoral Fellow in Rule of Law
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, Other

The successful candidate will teach courses at both the lower- and upper-division undergraduate level, as well as graduate courses, and

Political Science Jobs
November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
81
Political Science Jobs

will participate in the curriculum development process. Commitment to excellence in all aspects of undergraduate teaching and mentorship is essential, as is a passion for working with students, both in and beyond the classroom. The successful candidate is also expected to maintain an active research program; scholarly activity and peer-reviewed publications and/or grant activity are required for tenure/promotion.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University’s shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary: Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:
California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County’s dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department:
The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA consists of 13 tenured/tenure-track faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and international relations (i.e., global politics). Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, who participate in University governance and serve in numerous student advisory capacities. The department serves approximately 370 undergraduate majors and 100 graduate students through its MA and MPA programs.

Required Documentation:
Please submit the following to the Global Politics Search Committee at the email address below:
1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
2) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of students who are among the first-generation of their family to attend a college or university.
3) A curriculum vitae.
4) A list of three professional references.
5) A University Application for Employment Form (https://www.calstatela.edu/sites/default/files/groups/Human%20Resources%20Management/forms/empl_application_academic_2017_11_28.pdf)
6) A teaching statement, including teaching philosophy and strategies.
7) A research statement describing current and potential future projects.

Finalists will be required to submit:
Official transcripts and two letters of recommendation.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:
Review of applications will begin November 15, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials as attachments in PDF format (we strongly recommend that you combine all elements of the application into a single PDF file). Send to Veronica Lee, Department Program Coordinator: vlee51@calstatela.edu. Please type “Department of Political Science, Tenure-Track Application for Global Politics” in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Dr. Timothy Lim, at: tclim@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a mandated reporter under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. CSU requires faculty, staff, and students who are accessing campus facilities to be immunized against COVID-19 or declare a medical or religious exemption from doing so. Any candidates advanced in a currently open search process should be prepared to comply with this requirement. The systemwide policy can be found at https://calstatel.policystat.com/policy/9779821/latest/ and questions may be sent to OfficeHRM@calstatela.edu.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9546

Symphony Talent
Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in Political Science
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Social Movements, Research Methods
Post-Doctoral Associate in Political Science
Division of Social Sciences

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint a Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science starting September 2022. Later start dates are also possible. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a pioneer of higher education in a global world, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, while advancing cooperation and progress on humanity’s shared challenges. Part of the NYU global network, NYU Abu Dhabi offers an outstanding liberal arts and science education to students from the United Arab Emirates, United States, and around the world, focusing on intercultural understanding and leadership. It supports innovative research that pushes the frontiers of knowledge forward and responds in powerful and interdisciplinary ways to vital global and local questions. NYU Abu Dhabi advances NYU as a model university for the 21st century and contributes in multiple ways to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based economy in Abu Dhabi.

As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students, and providing an intellectually rich environment.

About the Social Science Division: More information can be found here: https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/divisions/social-science/faculty.html?_charset_=UTF-8&program=political-science-major&affiliation=&keywords=

Whitman College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Indigenous Politics in a Global Context

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Indigenous Politics in a Global Context

Whitman College

Located in the historic community of http://www.wallawalla.org/, Whitman’s beautiful tree-lined campus is home to an intellectually diverse, dynamic, and supportive community of some 500 staff and faculty serving roughly 1,500 students from the local region and across the globe. With exceptional students, accomplished faculty and staff, along with a fiercely loyal and growing number of engaged alumni, Whitman College continues to build on its national reputation for academic excellence as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country.

The Department of Politics seeks applicants for a Tenure-track position beginning August 2022, with expertise in Indigenous politics in a global context, at the rank of assistant professor. Applicants must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

We welcome candidates with a wide range of methodological approaches and disciplinary backgrounds. The successful candidate will have broad latitude to design undergraduate courses at the lower- and upper-levels that build on their scholarly interests. Course topics could include, but are not limited to, Indigenous politics; racial politics in a global context; international politics; political theory; settler-colonialism and decolonization; land and territory; international law; and/or geographically-focused classes. The candidate selected for this position will have the opportunity to contribute to the college’s Center for Global Studies, as well as interdisciplinary programs such as Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, and Race and Ethnic Studies, as appropriate. Whitman College has a formal, ongoing collaborative relationship with the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Reservation. The candidate selected for this position would have the opportunity to participate in that collaboration, if desired.

The annual teaching load at Whitman is five course equivalents, which includes thesis mentoring. The College provides a generous pre-tenure sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching.

Whitman College is committed to cultivating an inclusive learning community. Applicants should be able to demonstrate their commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion and articulate how their classroom and scholarly practices work to advance antiracism in the learning environment. This statement can be included in the cover letter or the teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should address their interest in working at a liberal arts college with undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction.

To apply, go to https://apptrkr.com/2542666. BambooHR will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a letter of application; separate statements addressing the candidate’s teaching interests and scholarly/performative agenda; curriculum vitae; contact information for three references; graduate transcripts; and evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction.

Review of applications will begin November 4, 2021.

http://whitman.edu/ is cultivating a community built on inclusion and belonging. We recognize the value of those who can offer historically underrepresented perspectives and encourage applications from those whose background, knowledge, and insights from lived experience can add to the college’s working and learning environment. Whitman College is an EEO employer.

No applicant shall be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, gender, religion, age, marital status, national origin, disability, veteran’s status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other basis prohibited by applicable federal, state, or local law.

For additional information about Whitman College and the Walla Walla area, see http://www.whitman.edu/ and http://www.wallawalla.org/.

For full application instructions and position description, visit https://apptrkr.com/2542666

Copyright ©2021 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

https://www.jobelephant.com/

jeid-470b8965fe028342b912b5e4a3e61b9a

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2021

Salary: Competitive

ejobs ID: 9517

Tecnologico de Monterrey

Rank: Assistant and Adjunct Faculty Positions

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Health Care

School of Social Sciences and Government, Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico, Department of Political Science and International Relations Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues.

Subfields of political science of interest include international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and health and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2022.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is an equal opportunity employer, committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community, and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities. The university is committed to attracting and retaining outstanding and diverse faculty.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format:

• Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.

• Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).

• A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.

• Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.

The university is committed to attracting and retaining outstanding and diverse faculty.

and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues.

Subfields of political science of interest include international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and health and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2022.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is an equal opportunity employer, committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community, and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities. The university is committed to attracting and retaining outstanding and diverse faculty.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format:

• Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.

• Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).

• A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.

• Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.

The university is committed to attracting and retaining outstanding and diverse faculty.
• Three letters of recommendation. Ph.D. candidates should include a letter from their chair indicating defense date.
  For sending materials please contact Talent Academic Acquisition Specialist Martha Junia Navarro mcanoy@tec.mx

For informal inquiries please contact the following committee members:
  Prof. Mariana Rangel: mariana.rangel@tec.mx
  Prof. Gabriel Aguilera: gabe.aguilera@tec.mx

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:
For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/ The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey and other locations. For more information, visit https://tec.mx/es/noticias/ciencias-sociales-y-gobierno

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9502

University of Montreal
Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics -- Professeur.e adjoint.e en politique comparée

Description of the position
The Department of political science seeks candidates for a full-time, tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in comparative politics.

Responsibilities
The appointed candidate will be expected to teach at all three levels of the curriculum, supervise graduate students, engage in ongoing research and publication, and contribute to the academic life and reputation of the University.

Requirements
Ph. D. in political science or related discipline (Ph.D. candidates who are near completion will also be considered); Strong research and publication record in the field of comparative politics; Demonstrated ability to provide high quality university teaching; An adequate knowledge of the French written and spoken language or a strong commitment to mastering the proficiency level required, in accordance to Université de Montréal’s Language Policy. An institutional support program is offered to all professors wishing to learn French or improve their communication skills.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
ejobs ID: 9493

University of Denver
Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Environmental Sustainability
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking candidates for the following Associate or Full Tenure-Line faculty position:

Environmental Sustainability – Associate or Full Tenure-Line Professor
We seek a scholar, trained in any relevant discipline or interdisciplinary program, with a prominent research profile in environmental sustainability, broadly understood. The appointment will be at the Associate or Full Professor rank, with tenure. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching in our undergraduate, certificate and MA programs in sustainability and have the opportunity to play a leading role in developing our emerging “Sustainability Initiative,” including fundraising, enhancing our research programming, and engaging with communities outside the university.

A complete job description, including required and preferred qualifications and salary range can be found through the University of Denver’s online application system. Please follow the link https://www.du.edu/jobs/ to access complete information for each position and apply. Questions can be directed to the Committee Chair, Professor Jack Donnelly (Jack.Donnelly@du.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9498

University of Kentucky
Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in Comparative Politics beginning in fall 2022. The department is interested in candidates with strong quantitative/methodological skills who demonstrate clear potential to conduct high-quality research and to attract extramural funds. We are interested in candidates whose research contributes to our understanding of a range of political phenomena including, but not limited to, the representation/exclusion of politically marginalized individuals, groups, or communities. Applicants should also show strong potential to provide effective graduate and undergraduate teaching. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science by August 2022.

Interested applicants should apply online at: https://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/351711. Applications should include the following: 1) a letter stating the candidate’s research and teaching interests, 2) curriculum vita, 3) two-three publications or writing samples (upload as Writing Sample), 4) research statement (upload as Specific Request 1), 5) if possible, evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (upload as Specific Request 2), and 6) statement on inclusivity (upload as Specific Request 3). As a department and university, we are strongly committed to creating an inclusive and effective teaching, learning, research, and working environment for all. In one to two pages, applicants should reflect on their commitments, approaches, and insights related to inclusion, diversity, and equity. Also provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be utilized to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

Consideration of applicants will begin on October 22, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be sent to Dr. Emily Bacchus, CP Search Co-chair at cebile2@uky.edu.

The University of Kentucky is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from veterans, individuals with disabilities, women, African Americans, and all minorities.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9490

---

University of Virginia
Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Democracy and International Relations or Comparative Politics, Department of Politics

In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia’s Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a multiyear faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability and representation, either to advance the work of the core lab on the history and principles of democracy or to contribute to one of the Initiative’s other projects.

This year, with the support of the Nau Foundation, the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position for a scholar who studies democracy in a comparative or international context. Candidates should have an active research agenda and a strong commitment to excellent teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. We are especially interested in scholars who study international institutions, challenges to democratic consolidation, civil conflicts, and/or identity politics or the politics of development in countries or regions outside of North America and Europe. We are also especially interested in candidates with strong backgrounds in quantitative research methods.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences. To that end, the Initiative supports a variety of labs built on models of collaborative work. The Democracy Labs consist of a series of three-year, rotating labs on various topics, connected by the work of the John Nau III History and Principles of Democracy Lab (the Nau Core Lab), an interdisciplinary hub of research, teaching, and outreach. Current labs are focused on corruption and the rule of law, democracy and new media, democratic statecraft, the links between environmental and racial inequality, and race, religion, and democracy. The Democracy Initiative also supports two projects focused on community engagement and research, the Memory Project and The Equity Center. In addition to holding appointments in their home departments, each new faculty member hired under this initiative will also be a member either of the Nau Core lab or one of the Initiative’s other research labs or projects.

Application review will begin November 1, 2021 and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2022. Applicants must have received their PhD by time of appointment.

TO APPLY:

Apply online at https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs search for posting #R0029153 complete the application, and attach the following:

 Please note all required documents must be uploaded in the “Resume” box and can be combined into one PDF file.

1. Cover letter of application describing (1) areas of research and teaching interest (2) potential research collaborations; (3) your demonstrated past experience working on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or working with diverse populations (not to exceed three single spaced pages).

2. Current curriculum vitae

3. A statement outlining what kinds of intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed two single-spaced pages).

4. A research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages).

5. A teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page).

The following MUST be Submitted directly to: pol-ircp-search2021@virginia.edu.

1. One article-length writing sample

2. Three letters of recommendation

Applications that do not contain all the required documents will not receive full consideration.

Questions about this position should be directed to Jennifer Lawless at jll9jx@virginia.edu. Questions regarding the application process should be directed to: Nicole Robinson, Faculty Search Advisor at nr7f@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit https://dualcareer.virginia.edu. For more information about UVA and the Charlottesville community please see http://www.virginia.edu/life/charlottesville and https://embarkcva.com/.
The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

COVID Vaccination Requirement

The University of Virginia expects all current and new employees (UVA Health System and Academic), to be vaccinated against COVID-19.

If hired to work within the University Health System, you will be required to provide proof of vaccination or be willing to receive the vaccination. Employees may request a medical or religious exemption from vaccination.

If hired to work on the Academic side of the University, excluding the School of Medicine, School of Nursing, UPG, and the Health Systems Library, you will be required to provide proof of vaccination or be willing to submit to mandatory, weekly prevalence testing. Employees that are working 100% remotely will not be subject to weekly prevalence testing; however, if the employee works on UVA Grounds (including the Medical Center) even intermittently, then they are required to be tested for COVID-19 once per week on an indefinite basis and follow masking mandates.

NOTE: Some medical and safety-sensitive positions require vaccination and are not eligible for an exemption. For more information on how the vaccination and testing requirements will apply to you at your work location, see the UVA New Hire Vaccination Requirements webpage.

The University of Virginia, including the UVA Health System which represents the UVA Medical Center, Schools of Medicine and Nursing, UVA Physician’s Group and the Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, are fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is excellence expressing itself through every person’s perspectives and lived experiences. We are equal opportunity and affirmative action employers. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9496

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Politics of Race and Ethnicity
Subfield(s): Open, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Dartmouth College invites applications for a Guarini Dean’s Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Department of Government. This fellowship supports scholars whose research addresses the politics of race and ethnicity in any subfield. In addition, the fellowship promotes student and faculty diversity at Dartmouth, and throughout higher education, by supporting research by underrepresented scholars, and others, with a demonstrated ability to advance educational diversity and inclusivity. Applicants will be selected on the basis of their academic achievement, promise in both research and teaching, and their demonstrated commitment to addressing underrepresentation in higher education.

This is a two-year residential fellowship, with one course taught in the second year. Throughout, fellows are expected to pursue research activities while participating fully in the intellectual life of the department and the college. Fellows receive an annual stipend of approximately $55,200 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses (exact funding levels will be set at the time of offer).

Guarini Dean’s Postdoctoral Fellows are part of the Provost’s Fellowship Program, a multidisciplinary cohort of approximately ten predoctoral and postdoctoral scholars who share a commitment to increasing diversity and inclusivity in their disciplines. Fellows participate together in mentoring and professional development programming, including guidance in preparing for faculty careers.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Qualifications
Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment.

Application Instructions:
1) Cover letter, including an overview of research areas and teaching interests; please also describe your prior contributions to advancing diversity and inclusivity in higher education and your motivations to join this multidisciplinary fellowship program;
2) CV;
3) Dissertation description (maximum two pages single-spaced);
4) Three confidential letters of recommendation, one of which should be from the dissertation advisor.

Applications must be submitted electronically at: https://apply.interfolio.com/95110 . Review of applications will begin November 1, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Prof. Yusaku Horiuchi (Yusaku.Horiuchi@dartmouth.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9486

Georgia State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2022. We seek a scholar whose research focuses on the politics of identity broadly defined (including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, class, sexual orientation, and religion). We welcome scholars in any subfield of political science (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Law, or...
Political Science Jobs

November 2021

Political Theory) or closely related discipline. The successful candidate will join a faculty with existing strengths in race and ethnicity, gender and politics, partisan and identity political polarization, civil conflict, and immigration politics. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to teach courses on the politics of identity at the undergraduate, M.A., and PhD levels as well as other courses in their area of expertise.

Georgia State University, an enterprising R-1 university located in Atlanta, is a national leader in using innovation to drive student success and research growth. Enrolling and graduating one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, Georgia State provides its world-class faculty and more than 50,000 students unsurpassed research, teaching, and learning opportunities in one of the 21st century’s great global cities. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative research by building a diverse faculty. The College of Arts & Sciences supports professional success for all faculty through mentoring programs and representation of faculty from all ranks in college-level program development. GSU is an institutional member of the National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity. Among the core values of the department are diversity, equity, accessibility and inclusion. We invite people of all backgrounds and identities, including, but not limited to races, ages, ethnicities, nationalities, religious beliefs, genders, sexual orientations, and abilities, as well as first-generation candidates, to apply for this position. The department’s full vision, mission and values statement is available at https://bit.ly/3DZ6Y0n.

Essential Qualifications:
o A research agenda that indicates a clear theoretical and/or empirical engagement with the politics of identity.
o Ability to teach courses on identity politics and related topics at the undergraduate and graduate level.
o Interest in teaching and mentoring students of diverse backgrounds.
o A Ph.D. in hand or evidence that a Ph.D will be awarded by August 2022.

Preferred Qualifications:
o Demonstrated evidence of research productivity such as publications, articles under review, conference papers, or grant-seeking activity.
o Demonstrated potential of teaching effectiveness, such as syllabi of past or future courses, teaching statement, or teaching evaluations.

Applicants should send a letter of interest that details how the essential and preferred qualifications are met, a curriculum vitae, a brief statement outlining their ability to work with a diverse student body, a statement of their research agenda, examples of scholarly work, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to politsearch@gsu.edu, indicating Tenure-track Identity Politics position in the subject line. Please list three references (with name, title, email and phone number) who will provide letters of recommendation upon request.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials submitted by this date will be given full consideration.

Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University is an equal opportunity employer. It continues to be the policy of the University to implement affirmative action and equal opportunity for all employees, students, contractors, consultants and applicants for employment or admission without regard to race, color, religion, creed, national origin, sex, age, gender, transgender status, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or disability. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9488

College of Charleston
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative and International Politics)

The Department of Political Science at the College of Charleston invites applications from candidates working in the subfields of comparative politics or international relations for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor, beginning August 2022. The Department is particularly interested in applicants with a thematically oriented research agenda focusing on one or more of the following: Race, ethnicity, & politics, migration & citizenship, or democracy & autocracy. The Department will consider candidates that take critical approaches to international politics, engaging with questions surrounding power relationships, structural inequities, racial, ethnic and caste divisions, and colonial legacies. We are seeking candidates with a primary regional expertise in Latin America or the Middle East & North Africa. In addition to upper-level classes that align with the person’s research interests, teaching requirements include some combination of Introduction to World Politics, International Relations Theory, and Introduction to Comparative Politics. An interest in teaching the department’s undergraduate research methods course (approach can be quantitative, qualitative, or mixed methods) is a plus. The Department is also interested in candidates who have experience in mentoring and advising students from diverse backgrounds and a demonstrated commitment to improving access to higher education for students who represent historically oppressed and marginalized identities. A PhD in Political Science, Geography, or a related discipline is required.

The Political Science Department has 20 full-time faculty, over 360 undergraduate majors (http://polisci.cofc.edu/), and a Geography Minor (http://geography-minor.cofc.edu/). The department also supports a NASPAA Accredited Master of Public Administration (http://puba.cofc.edu/) and Master of Science in Environmental and Sustainability Studies (http://mes.cofc.edu/) program. The Department of Political Science is committed to the rigorous study of politics, power, and place, expanding opportunities for learning and service, career preparation and civic participation locally and globally.

The College of Charleston is located in historic downtown Charleston in a coastal metropolitan area of 800,000. The College is a public, liberal arts and sciences institution with a student body of approximately 10,000 undergraduate students and 900 graduate students, 20% of whom identify as minority, and 140 international students from 34 different countries. Additional information about the institution, the student body, and the surrounding area is available at https://www.cofc.edu/.

Applicants should apply online at https://jobs.cofc.edu/ and submit a cover letter, a curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, sample publication/example of scholarly research, a teaching portfolio (with a teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness including, but not limited to course syllabi and course evaluations) and contact information for three references.

Questions about the search can be directed to the chair of the political science department Dr. Hollis France francheh@cofc.edu. Review of applications will begin November 15th, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The College seeks to create a work environment and organizational culture that reflects the society and community in which it is located, and a climate for the success of every employee and student by appreciating the uniqueness that each one brings to the learning environment. To that end, we actively encourage applications from all groups underrepresented in higher education.

Georgetown University

Rank: Provost's Distinguished Fellow and Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Race, Ethnicity and Identity Politics. This search is open to all four fields in the Government Department (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations and Political Theory) and all subfields within political science. Importantly, we seek applicants whose research expands the boundaries of political science and also those whose research invigorates existing and enduring questions in political science with scholarly insights and perspectives drawn from the politics of race, ethnicity and identity.

Successful candidates will contribute to an intellectual and academic agenda at Georgetown that seeks to establish the University as a premier center for research and teaching in race, ethnicity and identity politics. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to work with multiple units across the University which study race, ethnicity, and the politics of identity, including, among others, the newly established Racial Justice Institute, the African American Studies Department, the McCourt School of Public Policy, and the Georgetown Law Center.

For the first year of this position, the successful candidate will also hold the title of Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow, and will have no teaching and service responsibilities to allow a focus on research while receiving mentorship and support from two senior faculty members. More on the Distinguished Faculty Fellow Program can be found at https://blog.provost.georgetown.edu/increasing-georgetown-s-effectiveness-in-recruiting-faculty/.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, cv, three letters of reference, an academic writing sample, and a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion. In this DEI statement, applicants are asked to address any DEI activities they have been involved with (including research, teaching, community service, volunteer work, or presentations), and to highlight how aspects of their own identity (including, among others, ethnic, sociocultural, racial, religious, gender, and sexual identity) have shaped their experiences and world view, including any experiences of discrimination or barriers to advancement. Additionally, candidates are asked to address how diversity, equity and inclusion can advance the academic enterprise, to offer ideas on how to promote equity and inclusion in higher education and in the discipline of political science, more generally. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to academic excellence and diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) through experience teaching and research on matters related to DEI or through service that has fostered DEI in a university community. Please submit these materials to http://apply.interfolio.com/95204 by October 15, 2021 to ensure full consideration, but review of applications will be on-going. The position remains open until filled. Please direct any questions regarding the search to Prof. Douglas S. Reed at reedd@georgetown.edu. Administrative questions regarding search logistics may be directed to Ileana Aguilar at ima2@georgetown.edu.

About Georgetown University and the Government Department

The Government Department at Georgetown is a leading department of Political Science. We are an open, dynamic, and publicly engaged community of scholars, students, and professional staff. We believe in the ideal of scholarship for its own sake but are also deeply committed to the role of cutting-edge research in informing politics and public life. We see our setting in Washington, DC as a rich opportunity for the study of politics, particularly within the field of race, ethnicity and identity politics and we particularly welcome applications from scholars whose research strives to connect the local and particular with broader forces and constructs within political life.

Georgetown University is one of the world’s leading academic and research institutions, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of global citizens to lead and make a difference in the world. We are a vibrant community of exceptional students, faculty, alumni and professionals dedicated to real-world applications of our research, scholarship, faith and service.

Established in 1789, Georgetown is the nation’s oldest Catholic and Jesuit university. Drawing upon the 450-year-old legacy of Jesuit education, we provide students with a world-class learning experience focused on educating the whole person through exposure to different faiths, cultures and beliefs.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, please click here for more information, or contact the Office of Institutional Diversity, Equity & Affirmative Action (IDEA) at (202) 687-4798. We encourage applications from individuals who will contribute to diversity in higher education and who show the potential to advance the department’s goal of a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive scholarly environment.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 10/15/2021

Date Posted: 9/29/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9470
Questions about the application process and document submission may be addressed to Jacquelin Yavornitzky, Administrative Specialist, jyavorn@bw.edu.

Baldwin Wallace University is an EEO/AA employer and educator. At BW, we support and encourage diversity in a variety of forms. We value and appreciate inclusive excellence in the classroom, within extracurricular activities, and as we engage our community partners. Learn more at Diversity Affairs - https://www.bw.edu/about/diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9434

SUNY, Cortland
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Central Asia, East Asia, Latin American

The SUNY Cortland Political Science department is seeking a tenure track faculty member at the rank of Assistant Professor with a focus on comparative politics and a regional specialization in Asia or Latin America. We have particular interest in scholars who specialize in terrorism, revolutions, international politics, international economic relations or international conflict. Expertise in international relations also highly desirable.

The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum (e.g., Introduction to World Politics, American Foreign Policy, Comparative Politics Asia Comparative Politics Latin America). They may also teach a basic methods course. The typical load is three classes per semester.

SUNY Cortland has a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and offers courses addressing inclusion studies and global diversity, as well as interdisciplinary programs in Africana Studies, Latinx and Latin American Studies, Women’s Gender and Sexuality Studies and Native American Studies.

The Political Science department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, and is one of the most active and visible in the University. The department has about 100 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, and several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in Political Science, a concentration in Law and Justice, and a B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Candidates for this position should demonstrate: a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of experiential activities (e.g., Model UN, Study Abroad); engagement in service to the department, school, university, local community and profession; a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion and social justice and support for an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

Required qualifications: PhD in Political Science by appointment date or ABD with a scheduled completion date; Teaching and research focus on Comparative Politics or International Relations and higher education teaching experience.

Interested candidates should electronically submit 1) a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests, 2) a curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for at least three references, 4) a statement of teaching philosophy to include evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi, if available, 5) a copy of transcript for their highest or most recent degree and a published work or writing sample. https://jobs.cortland.edu/postings/5108

Baldwin-Wallace University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science
Specializations: East Asia, International Security, Middle East

The Department of Politics and Global Citizenship at Baldwin Wallace (BW) University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in Political Science effective August 2022. Applicants must be committed to undergraduate education and demonstrate the potential for excellence in all facets of a faculty appointment, especially teaching.

The Department welcomes applications from candidates who will build on existing programs and areas of strength in the Department and help us continue supporting interdisciplinary programs on regional studies at BW. The position is intended to meet and expand curricular needs within the Department; to broaden the Department’s experiential learning opportunities; and to contribute to initiatives in the College of Arts and Sciences and to Baldwin Wallace University’s mission of &quot;assisting students in their preparation to become contributing, compassionate citizens of an increasingly global society and encourages their pursuit of personal and professional excellence.&quot;

Broadly trained specialists with expertise in comparative politics or related fields are encouraged to apply. Candidates should demonstrate experience and expertise in teaching, advising, and a willingness to contribute to the Department’s experiential learning opportunities we offer to our student body. The successful hire will assist in the curricular development of the Department’s growing undergraduate programs in International Studies, Legal Studies, National Security, and Political Science.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related area by the time of appointment, interdisciplinary expertise, teaching experience in related areas, and willingness to mentor undergraduate students are required. Relevant teaching and/or professional experience in non-traditional security areas (e.g., disruptive technologies, resource scarcity, climate change, infectious diseases, human security, etc.) and regional expertise, preferably in East Asia or the Middle East, would be desirable. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the introductory courses in American Government and Comparative Politics, and the entry-level course on research design and political methodology. Other courses to teach would relate to the new hire’s specialization areas.

Baldwin Wallace University is a selective liberal arts university on the outskirts of Cleveland, Ohio. Its Political Science, International Studies, National Security, and Legal Studies programs currently serve approximately one-hundred majors and minors while playing an active role in campus internationalization. BW emphasizes teaching, advising, and service and also encourages and supports scholarship.

Interested candidates should submit a letter summarizing their interest and qualifications, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations, other evidence of effective teaching, and three letters of reference in one (1) Word or one (1) PDF document and submit via the To Apply link on BW’s Employment and Careers’ web page at https://www.bw.edu/about/hr/employment/. Review of applications will begin on October 25, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the faculty position or Department should be directed to Javier Morales-Ortiz, Chair and Associate Professor, jmoraless@bw.edu. Questions about the application process and document submission
The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. The department seeks candidates with expertise in the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality (broadly construed) as well as teaching interests in research methods. We seek applicants whose teaching and research focus on the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality in the context of American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The successful candidate is expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses both online and on-ground in their area of specialization as well as in their broader subfields, contribute to the department’s research methods curriculum, and chair MA theses and comprehensive exams. The candidate is also expected to pursue an active research agenda and engage in service activities.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science by August 16, 2022. Candidates must demonstrate potential for excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. Prior teaching experience at the college or university level is required. The regular teaching load for tenure-track appointments is 3-3. The successful candidate will have opportunities to receive course relief for curriculum development or scholarship.

This is a full-time on-campus position tenure-track academic appointment. UIS tenure-system faculty are expected to be available and engaged in the campus community, with assigned professional responsibilities for teaching, scholarship, and service.

The UIS Department of Political Science offers excellent academic preparation and opportunities to become engaged in real world politics for both undergraduate and graduate students. We offer undergraduate and graduate degrees in political science, and majors in public policy and global studies. Students also have the opportunity to receive a minor in political science and global studies. Several of these programs are fully online or on campus. The department has recently undergone a rigorous and exciting academic reorganization into a School of Politics and International Affairs, whose administrative structure will finalize in 2022.

One of the largest departments in the College of Public Affairs and Administration, the UIS Department of Political Science offers an opportunity for our students to live politics in the classroom, on the campus and in the community. Engaged political science makes the connections between the classroom and the world explicit as we challenge our students to both grasp the course material and explore how it has an impact outside of the classroom. The UIS Department of Political Science bridges the worlds of the &quot;academic&quot; and &quot;practical&quot; by providing concrete opportunities for the practice of theory and the theory of practice. Our school champions the practice of theory and the theory of practice. Our school champions a culture of inclusion and diversity; we encourage applications from women and members of historically underrepresented groups.

Application deadline: October 29, 2021

About UIS: Located in the state capital, the University of Illinois Springfield is one of three members of the University of Illinois system. The University serves approximately 4,000 students in 21 graduate and 31 undergraduate programs. The academic curriculum offers students a strong liberal arts core, a wide range of professional programs, and close faculty interaction. Making the most of its location in the state capital, UIS is broadly engaged in public policy and service. Its diverse student body includes traditional, non-traditional, and international students. Twenty-five percent of majors are in 17 undergraduate and graduate online degree programs and the campus has received several national awards for its implementation of online learning. UIS faculty are committed teachers, active scholars, and professionals in service to society. The University emphasizes excellence in teaching, and faculty are also expected to provide a balance of scholarship and service activities to meet requirements for tenure and promotion. You are encouraged to visit the university web page at http://www.uis.edu and the department web page at https://www.uis.edu/politicalscience/

Responsibilities:
- Teach a 3/3 load (online and on-campus) in the Department of Political Science;
- Offer courses on the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality (broadly construed) as well as research methods. The candidate will be able to teach additional courses in at least one of the following subfields: American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The candidate will be able to chair MA theses and comprehensive exams in the subfield of American Politics and also in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations;
- Assist with department, college, and university-level service activities;
- Engage in scholarship activities that result in a significant publication record;
- Contribute to our undergraduate and graduate curricula, both on-campus and online.

Qualifications:
Earned doctorate (expected by August 2022) in political science;
Desire and potential for excellence in teaching;
Experience and/or willingness to teach in an online degree program;
Potential/evidence of strong scholarly productivity and an active research agenda;
Potential/evidence of strong record of excellence in professional service;
Teaching experience at the college or university level;
Willingness to grow a culture of inclusion and diversity

To Apply:
Go to https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=153958&job=assistant-professor-department-of-political-science-school-of-politics-international-affairs-153958 to create or update your profile and complete the online application. Additionally, please upload (1) cover letter addressing the responsibilities of the position, (2) current curriculum vita, (3) a teaching portfolio that includes your teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and sample syllabi, (4) sample of scholarship, and (5) names and contact information (email address and phone number) for three professional references. Only those... community and state government are the two largest employers in the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine. The medical rial Health Systems and HSHS St. John’s Health Systems, as well as first being in Chicago) and includes two major medical centers, Memo-Springfield is also home to the second Illinois Medical District (the Museum, the Old State Capitol, the Lincoln historical district, historic downtown area features the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library & president and one of its most famous political figures. A historical Springfield was home to Abraham Lincoln, our nation’s sixteenth also home to a wildlife sanctuary, zoo, lakeside memorial gardens, opportunities, including biking and hiking trails, ice rinks, sports
the area also has a wide variety of recreational opportunities, including biking and hiking trails, ice rinks, sports complexes, and several first-class golf courses. Lake Springfield offers opportunities, including biking and hiking trails, ice rinks, sports friends and affordability of small-town living (and without great restaurants, shopping, and other city amenities while retaining Indianapolis. With a population of about 117,000, Springfield offers conveniently located a few hours away in St. Louis, Chicago, and as well as to points beyond. A regional airport offers daily service to major hubs in Chicago and Dallas. City bus service is provided from the UIS campus to various locations around the city.
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9448

Augustana University
Rank: Nef Family Chair of Political Economy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: International Political Economy, Political Economy, Economic Policy
The Nef Family Chair of Political Economy
Augustana University
Augustana University (Sioux Falls, SD) invites applications for an endowed chair in political economy. The Rudy & Marilyn Nef Family Chair of Political Economy will advance the study of market economies and representative democracies, both within the campus community and in the region. This tenure-track faculty position will be housed in the Government and International Affairs Department, but will draw on a breadth of research and extensive teaching experience to provide recognized scholarship and enthusiastic, effective instruction to the University’s offerings in economics, political science, public policy, and business. The Nef Family Chair will also provide collaborative and creative leadership in partnership with the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies.

We seek an outstanding teacher/scholar who reflects the foundational relevance of economic analysis in the design and administration of public policies, and who speaks authoritatively to the positive role of free markets, localized decision making and competition in a free society. The unique nature of this endowed chair position grants wide latitude to the instructor in terms of the courses offered, save a required course on capitalistic economic systems. Candidates capable of teaching upper-level Comparative Politics, Comparative/International Political Economy, Policy Analysis or Microeconomics are strongly couraged to apply.

Additional responsibilities will include student advising, student research mentorship, and planning and facilitating public symposia relevant to the scholar’s teaching and research. Interacting with students, faculty and leadership with different backgrounds and points of view and a deep appreciation of and respect for academic values and culture must be a top value of the candidate. A doctorate is required. Compensation, rank and length of tenure track will be commensurate with experience. The starting date for this 12-month appointment is August, 2022. Screening will begin November 7th date is July 30, 2022. Finalists will be expected to present an engaging topic as part of the interview process.

Located in the growing and vibrant city of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Augustana University has, for more than 160 years, provided a strong student-centric education based on its five core values: Christian faith, liberal arts, excellence, community, and service. The institution continues to expand its pre-professional and graduate offerings, while remaining true to its liberal arts tradition. Guided by the Viking Bold:
Journey to 2030 strategic plan, Augustana seeks to grow its enrollment from just over 1,900 students to more than 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

Application Procedure:
Please send a letter of interest; curriculum vitae; Augustana University employment application; statement of commitment to diversity; statement of teaching philosophy; addresses, phone numbers and email addresses of three current references; and unofficial transcripts electronically to Human Resources at humanresources@augie.edu. Official website: www.augie.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9443

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/2022-2023 CSDP Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Postdoctoral Research Associate/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) 2022-2023

Princeton University’s Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on September 1, 2022. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required. https://csdp.princeton.edu/apply

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2022-2023 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/22462. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Wednesday, December 1, 2021 at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day on Friday, December 3, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University’s dedication to excellence.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9417

Princeton University
Rank: Visiting Research Scholar/2022-2023 CSDP Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Visiting Research Scholar/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP)

Princeton University’s Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for the 2022-2023 academic year. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their position.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events. Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar’s salary is based on the financial support provided by their home institution. Selected candidates will be asked to indicate, or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm, what percentage of financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide during their visit, if any, and to submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary. Successful candidates will also receive applicable benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Verification of employment will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, a brief statement of anticipated (estimated) salary support from the home institution for the 2021-2022 academic year, and statement of the home institution’s leave policy. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2022-2023 should apply to https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/22461. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Wednesday, December 1, 2021 at 11:59 p.m. EST.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University’s dedication to excellence.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9418

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Assistant Professor - Conflict Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania is conducting a search for a tenure-track assistant professor in the area of conflict studies, broadly defined. We seek an outstanding scholar and teacher who takes a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of conflict and peacebuilding including, but not limited to, the study of inter-state and intra-state war; any form of political or inter-group violence and restorative justice (ethnic, religious, racial, or concerning gender/sexuality); economic development and state reconstruction; international law, norms and human rights; and decolonial studies. The search is open with regard to methodological orientation and field concentration.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2022. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Interested candidates should apply online at http://apply.interfolio.com/95010. Submit a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, and teaching statement.

Review of applications begins September 30, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn’s Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9413

Duke University

Rank: Open Rank

The Department of Political Science at Duke University invites applications for multiple, open-rank positions in the field of political institutions to begin July 1, 2022. The positions are open with respect to regional and institutional focus. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work provides opportunities for productive synergies with our existing strengths in American and comparative politics. We value work that combines clear theoretical foundations with rigorous empirical evaluation. An ability to contribute to our graduate methods sequence is also desirable. Candidates should have potential for excellence in teaching and research at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Successful candidates will be expected to have completed the Ph.D. no later than July 1, 2022.

For interested applicants, the procedure is as follows:

- Applicants at the associate or full level should submit a letter of interest describing their research agenda and a curriculum vitae.
- Applicants at the assistant professor level should submit a letter of interest describing their research agenda, a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, evidence of teaching excellence, and three letters of recommendation.
- All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19703.
- Address correspondence to: Chair, Institutions Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Box 90204, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0204.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doc Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CITIZENS AND POLITICS POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP

The Institute for the Study of Citizens and Politics at the University of Pennsylvania (http://iscap.upenn.edu/) invites applications to fill a postdoctoral fellowship position for the 2022-2023 academic year. Applications are welcomed from scholars in any social science field who have received their Ph.D. in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 30, 2022. The term of appointment is July 1, 2022-June 30, 2023, with the possibility of renewal. The Institute for the Study of Citizens and Politics (ISCAP) is a non-partisan research institute jointly supported by the University of Pennsylvania’s School of Arts and Sciences and the Annenberg School for Communication. The ISCAP postdoctoral fellow will work within and help manage a research group led by Professor Diana Mutz, Director of ISCAP. The postdoctoral fellow is expected to pursue his or her own research agenda while also actively working on team projects. The fellow will also coordinate effort among team members, including Ph.D. students and undergraduate research assistants.

Found in 2003, ISCAP promotes research on public opinion, political psychology, and political communication. Its purpose is to enable research on the many ways in which citizens interact with the political world, broadly construed. The current research emphases at ISCAP... include studies of public opinion, political psychology, elections and voting behavior, attitudes toward globalization, and the impact of media. Scholars with interests in these areas are particularly encouraged to apply. In addition to interest in these topics, any previous methodological training or experience designing experiments and/or analyzing panel data are especially valued.

Qualifications, Requirements, and Application Information
Postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $60,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also comes with $7,000 in funds for research support and professional travel. The ISCAP Postdoctoral Fellow will pursue their own research and also participate in the activities of the Center. Because the Fellow is expected to be fully integrated with the intellectual life of the University, they must plan to physically reside in the vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania. To apply, please send a C.V., a research statement, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to iscappenn@gmail.com.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. We will accept applications beginning immediately, and may conduct virtual interviews. Applicants will be notified of the outcome just as soon as a decision is made.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9406

Fairfield University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

The Politics Department at Fairfield University invites applications for an assistant professor position in Comparative Politics – with a teaching and research focus on Asia. We are particularly interested in individuals whose teaching and research interests involve China or India. The instructor will offer an introductory course in comparative politics, courses in Asian politics, and courses in their areas of specialization. An interest in teaching International Political Economy and/or the ability to teach an introductory course in another subfield would be an asset. The normal teaching load is three undergraduate courses each semester. The salary and benefits for this position are highly competitive.

Applicants are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by September 2022. Applicants must have a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Teaching experience is preferred.

Fairfield University is a comprehensive, co-educational, Jesuit university with a 200-acre campus located in the scenic shoreline community of Fairfield, CT, one hour from New York City. Consistently ranked as a top comprehensive university in New England, Fairfield enrolls approximately 4,500 undergraduate and 1,200 graduate students pursuing degrees within the College of Arts and Sciences and four schools: The Charles F. Dolan School of Business, The Marion Peckham Egan School of Nursing and Health Studies, The School of Engineering, and The School of Education and Human Development. As an expression of our Jesuit identity, Fairfield embraces a liberal humanistic approach to education, encouraging critical thinking, cultivating free and open inquiry, and fostering ethical values.

The Politics department consists of nine faculty members representing a range of specialties in Political Science and related programs at Fairfield University that reflect the rich diversity of our academic community, including International Studies, Environmental Studies, Humanitarian Action, Asian Studies, American Studies, Black Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Women, Gender, and Sexual- ity Studies, Islamic World Studies, and the graduate program in Public Administration (MPA). The Department has a vibrant culture of undergraduate student-faculty research collaboration, annual events, guest lectures, and student participation in area and interdisciplinary studies. Fairfield University, through Global Fairfield, the Center for Social Impact, and Campus Ministry, offers many opportunities for community engagement and immersive learning experiences locally, nationally, and internationally. The Dolan School of Business offers an MBA program for professionals in Shanghai, China.

Fairfield University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, committed to excellence through diversity, and, in this spirit, particularly welcomes applications from persons of color, women, veterans, and members of historically underrepresented groups. The University will provide reasonable accommodations to all qualified individuals with disabilities.

Application Instructions:
The search committee will begin reviewing materials on October 24 and continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, please click “https://ffd.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/ EmploymentOpportunities/job/Fairfield-CT/Assistant-Professor-- Comparative-Politics_JR0001085” and upload the following materials by October 25, 2021:
• a letter of application
• a curriculum vitae
• a statement of teaching philosophy inclusive of how diversity and inclusive excellence inform the applicant’s pedagogical approach
• examples of syllabi and teaching evaluations if applicable
• unofficial graduate transcript
• three letters of reference

Please ask your references to send letters of recommendation to the following email address: Politicssearch@fairfield.edu.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 9386

Purdue University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science, Comparative Politics
https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId= 16111&company=purdueuniv

Job Summary
Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is seeking a scholar of Comparative Politics for appointment at the rank of tenure-track assistant professor.

Principal Duties
The person holding this position is expected to develop and maintain a research record of excellence in research areas that connect, in some

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs 95
The College and University
This position is one of seven hires this year in the Department of Political Science. The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University is embarking upon 40 faculty searches for positions to begin in Fall 2022. These positions will advance research within and across disciplines, and intersect with technology, data science, and engineering in relevant and important ways. These positions include teaching in our innovative, nationally-recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts Program that educates students across the university.

Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Candidates may be interested in several interdisciplinary programs and centers on campus, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Integrated Data Science Initiative, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, and the many interdisciplinary centers at Discovery Park and in the college. In addition to the major and PhD, the Department is home to graduate and undergraduate certificates and minors in environmental politics and policy, public policy, and human rights.

Purdue University, the College of Liberal Arts and the Department of Political Science are committed to free and open inquiry in all matters. Candidates are encouraged to address in their cover letter how they are prepared to contribute to a climate that values free inquiry.

Application Procedures
To apply, please visit careers.purdue.edu. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Curriculum Vitae, 2) Recent research paper or other writing sample, 3) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant’s research and teaching fit the principal duties of the position, 4) Research and teaching statements, 5) A Diversity and Inclusion statement described below, and 6) confidential letters of recommendation from three academic references must be sent to PoliticalScienceComparative@purdue.edu

Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Screening of applicants will begin October 25th and continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact search administrator Karan Hustedt-Warren at PoliticalScienceComparative@purdue.edu

Purdue University is an EO/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open untilFilled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9384

University of South Carolina
Rank: Associate or Full Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for either an Associate or Full Professor in Comparative Politics to begin August 16, 2022. The position is open with regards to substantive specialization, however, those individuals with expertise in grants and/or grant agencies and with research/teaching interests in Latin America and/or comparative judicial politics are especially encouraged to apply. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in leading outlets. Successful candidates are expected to teach substantive courses in Comparative Politics and contribute to the department’s graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology, especially Bayesian methods. The position requires a Ph.D. in political science, plus years of academic experience consistent with academic policy for faculty rank, by the start date of appointment.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2021. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/106102.

Please contact the search committee chair, John Hsieh (JFHSIEH0@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department’s website: http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state’s flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 &quot;Best Colleges&quot; according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state’s educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities on the basis of race, sex, gender, gender... identifying, transgender status, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, genetics, protected veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9393

---

Stanford University

Rank: 2022-2023 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Asia
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2022–2023 Postdoctoral Fellowships on Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2022-2023 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows on Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferred and approval by June 30, 2022) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2022-2023 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 20, 2021, until January 3, 2022.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship

---

Loyola University, Chicago

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics
Department: Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Job Title: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics)

Background: The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Loyola University Chicago (LUC) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, for academic year 2022-23.

As part of a University-wide, multiyear hiring initiative designed to diversify the faculty, the department seeks applicants with expertise in Comparative Politics. We seek a Comparativist who specializes in politics in Latin America. As an urban-based Department of Political Science dedicated to mentoring a diverse student body, many of whom come from under-represented and under-served populations, we especially encourage applications from candidates from under-represented groups. We also encourage applications from scholars committed to interdisciplinarity (i.e., working with colleagues across different subfields and disciplines) and the successful pursuit of external grants.

Duties and Responsibilities: Successful candidates will be expected to teach an introductory course in Comparative Politics, and, according to their expertise, upper division undergraduate and graduate comparative politics courses, as well as one of the department’s regional politics courses. They may also develop special topics courses in conversation with the Department Chair and according to departmental needs. Additionally, they will be expected to support the department’s student-related programming and academic advising according to the practices of the department and to serve on departmental and university committees as designated by the Department Chair. The successful candidate is expected to pursue a strong research program, including the pursuit of external grants.

Minimum Qualifications: The candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment. Candidates for the position must clearly demonstrate the potential for excellence in research and teaching and have a record of (or clear potential for) distinguished scholarship, grant-funded research, and student mentorship. Experience working or conducting research in the specialty area of Comparative Politics is desirable. The candidate should be willing to support the mission of LUC and the goals of a Jesuit Catholic Education.

Special Instructions to Applicants: Candidates should submit to www.careers.luc.edu (1) a brief letter of interest; (2) a current Curriculum Vitae; (3) a statement outlining the applicant’s research agenda; (4) a statement on teaching experience; (5) a statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to mentoring a diverse student body through research, teaching and other channels and engaging a diverse community through scholarship and service; and (6) additional relevant materials, including teaching assessments where available and relevant.
representative writing samples. Applicants should also arrange for three recommendations from individuals prepared to speak to their professional qualifications for this position, especially in terms of scholarship, teaching and mentorship, to be submitted electronically to the above website (letter writers will receive an electronic prompt from LUC). Candidates may address additional questions about the search in correspondence with:

Patrick Boyle, Ph.D., Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
Loyola University Chicago
1032 W. Sheridan Road
Chicago, Illinois 60660
pboyle@luc.edu

Review of applications will begin on October 18, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

LUC is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer with a strong commitment to hiring for our mission and diversifying our faculty. The University seeks to increase the diversity of its professoriate, workforce and undergraduate and graduate student populations because broad diversity – including a wide range of individuals who contribute to a robust academic environment – is critical to achieving the University’s mission of excellence in education, research, educational access and services in an increasingly diverse society. Therefore, in holistically accessing the many qualifications of each applicant, we would factor favorably an individual’s record of conduct that includes experience with an array of diverse perspectives, as well as a wide variety of different educational, research or other work activities. Among other qualifications, we would also factor favorably experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic career or degrees.

As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our strategic plan to deliver a transformative education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about LUC’s mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission. For information about the university’s focus on transformative education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about LUC’s mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission.

Loyola University Chicago
1032 W. Sheridan Road
Chicago, Illinois 60660

Patrick Boyle, Ph.D., Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
Loyola University Chicago
1032 W. Sheridan Road
Chicago, Illinois 60660
pboyle@luc.edu

As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our strategic plan to deliver a transformative education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about LUC’s mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission. For information about the university’s focus on transformative education, they should consult our website at www.luc.edu/transformativedeed.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9373

McGill University

Rank: Full-time tenured position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Tenure-Track Faculty Position

Full or Associate Professor, Diamond-Brown Chair in Democratic Studies

Max Bell School of Public Policy and Department of Political Science
McGill University

The Max Bell School of Public Policy and the Department of Political Science at McGill University invite applications for the newly created Diamond-Brown Chair in Democratic Studies. The Chairholder will be jointly appointed, teaching in both units and strengthening the ties between them.

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2021

We seek an internationally renowned scholar who conducts leading-edge empirical research on contemporary democratic governance and politics. The search is open with respect to regional specialization and methodology. We invite applications from scholars of political behaviour and/or political institutions, from scholars of ongoing politics in consolidated democracies, and from scholars of democratization or democratic fragility in different regions of the world.

This position will provide a highly visible forum for a scholar studying recent worldwide challenges to democratic institutions and movements, and allow the Chairholder to enhance the policy orientation of fundamental research and to improve the public’s engagement with these issues. The Chairholder should have considerable experience participating in policy processes broadly understood, through a combination of public service, work with policy-oriented organizations, and advising policymakers. Demonstrated expertise in enhancing the public impact of policy-related research is an important asset. The Chairholder will be encouraged to build connections with McGill’s various research centres which focus on democracy, including (but not limited to) the Centre for the Study of Democratic Citizenship.

An applicant’s record must provide evidence of outstanding research, active engagement in the policy process, and success in teaching and graduate-student supervision. Appointment is expected to be at the rank of Full or Associate Professor with tenure. Candidates should have completed a PhD in political science or a closely-related discipline. The language of instruction at McGill is English, but proficiency in spoken and written French is an advantage.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, material pertinent to teaching skills, and the names and contact information of three referees. The position start date is August 1, 2022.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Please apply online at: https://myworkdayjobs.com/McGill_Careers/job/Sherbrooke-680/Associate-Professor-or-Professor_JR0000003606?https://myworkdayjobs.com/McGill_Careers/job/Sherbrooke-680/Associate-Professor-or-Professor_JR0000003606@&lt;/a&gt;https://myworkdayjobs.com/McGill_Careers/job/Sherbrooke-680/Associate-Professor-or-Professor_JR0000003606@&lt;/a&gt;.

The Max Bell School of Public Policy (which began in 2017) is committed to the research, teaching, outreach, and advocacy of sound public policy. The Department of Political Science engages in world-class research and teaching across diverse theoretical, thematic, and methodological approaches to the study of politics. For more information about the Max Bell School and the Department of Political Science, please visit our websites at: https://www.mcgill.ca/maxbellschool and https://www.mcgill.ca/politicalscience.

Inquiries may be sent to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Christopher Ragan, at mailto:Christopher.ragan@mcgill.ca

Please use a personal email address when creating an account in Workday to submit your application. Do not use @mail.mcgill.ca or @mcgill.ca email accounts to apply.
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9360

Nanyang Technological University
Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, International Political Economy (Tenure-Track/Tenured)
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), a Graduate School of Nanyang Technological University (NTU), is a leading professional school of international affairs and policy-oriented think tank. The School invites suitably qualified individuals for the position of:

Assistant or Associate Professor, International Political Economy (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

The search is open with respect to the substantive subfields of International Political Economy. A relevant PhD and a good publication record commensurate with the level of appointment are essential requirements. Experience in policy-relevant research and publication is not necessary but would be useful. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an active research and publication agenda and strong promise for teaching in graduate programs.

The successful candidate will join the school’s Centre for Multilateralism Studies and International Political Economy Programme. He/ she is expected to contribute to and play an active role in teaching, research, and think-tank workstream. The teaching load is up to three courses per academic year.

The initial appointment will be for four (4) years, with further contracts to be considered by the relevant School Reappointment Committee. RSIS offers a competitive salary commensurate with the candidate’s qualifications and experience. Funding support for research and conference travels is also available.

To apply for this position, candidates are required to submit their application via Nanyang Technological University’s online career portal (https://ntu.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/NTU-Main-Campus-Singapore/Assistant-or-Associate-Professor--International-Political-Economy--Tenure-Track-TenuredRSIS-_R00007562).

All applicants should submit the following:
• A cover letter specifying how your qualifications match the job description;
• A detailed curriculum vitae (including records of competitive grants, fellowships, and graduate supervision, if applicable);
• Statements of research and teaching interests and teaching evaluation;
• Three (3) published articles or writing samples;
• Google Scholar citation report if available;
• Applicants applying for the Assistant Professor position, please include the name and details of THREE referees of the rank of Associate Professor/Professor; and applicants applying for the Associate Professor position, please include the name and details of FOUR referees of the rank of Professor.

If you have any questions about this position, please write in (or email) to:

The Search Committee
S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Nanyang Technological University
50 Nanyang Avenue
Block S4, Level B4,
Singapore 639798
Email: rsisrecruitment@ntu.edu.sg

Applications will be accepted until 15 December 2021
We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

For further information about RSIS, please visit our website: www.rsis.edu.sg.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9354

University of Toronto
Rank: Assistant Professor - European Politics

Assistant Professor – European Politics
Date Posted: 09/15/2021
Closing Date: 10/25/2021

Description:

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of European Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of the appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The area of specialization within European Politics is open. We seek candidates with deep contextual knowledge and appropriate linguistic skills. Knowledge of the European Union is an asset. Theoretical and methodological approaches are open.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto’s downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science https://politics.utoronto.ca) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, and awards and accolades.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.
Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 25, 2021.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement
The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committee members or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see http://uoft.me/UP.

Accessibility Statement
The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/25/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9352

Ashoka University
Rank: Professor / Associate Professor / Tenure-track Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Open

The Department of Political Science at Ashoka University invites applications for faculty positions with an expected start date of January 15th, 2022 (though this is negotiable to August 15th 2022). The position is open rank, as to either the level of tenure track Assistant Professor, or tenured Associate or Full Professor.

Ashoka is a research university based near New Delhi, India. We strongly encourage applications by women and members of other groups underrepresented in academia.

Applicants for the position of tenure track Assistant Professor should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) two samples of academic writings; 4) teaching evaluations (if available); 5) names of three references.

Applicants for the position of tenured Associate or Full Professor should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) two samples of academic writings; 4) name of three references.

Statements of teaching and research philosophy are optional but will be considered if submitted.

All materials should be submitted through interfolio at this link: https://apply.interfolio.com/94397 . The deadline for submitting a complete application is: November 30th, 2021.

For any queries or further information, please contact: polscience.recruitment@ashoka.edu.in

We are open to outstanding candidates in any subfield, with a preference for political theory, comparative politics and political economy along with related methodological approaches. Those with expertise involving regions outside South Asia are particularly encouraged to apply. A Ph.D is required by the time of appointment.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9337

St. Lawrence University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Health Care, Education Policy, Immigration Policy

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American and comparative public policy. The successful candidate will be prepared teach foundational courses in public policy/policy analysis from a comparative perspective, other upper-level courses in their areas of expertise (such as advanced policy courses, parties and elections, state and local politics, Congress, etc), as well as the introductory course in American politics and, on occasion, the introductory course in comparative politics. Candidates who specialize in health or education policy are particularly invited to apply, though all policy areas will be considered. The position begins August 2022 and the teaching load is three courses per semester. The successful candidate will join a department of 11 full-time faculty members who are passionate about supporting our liberal arts curriculum through diverse and inclusive pedagogies and scholarly agendas. Our supportive department colleagues regularly provide feedback and mentoring to new faculty to foster pedagogical and professional development. We encourage applications from candidates who identify with groups that are historically underrepresented in the academy.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants should have their Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy by August 15, 2022, but ABD candidates may be considered.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter indicating teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, graduate school transcript, writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate document with a statement indicating how they can contribute in tangible ways to St. Lawrence University’s commitment to cultivating a diverse and inclusive community and classrooms. These documents can be uploaded in the “Applicant Documents” section of your online application.

Additionally, three confidential references are required [the required information input in the reference contact information section of your application will be utilized to send a system-derived email requesting a recommendation letter from each reference].

Please access the online application here: https://employment.stlawu.edu/postings/2485

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021. Applications submitted after this date will be reviewed as needed. Questions about the position may be sent to Dr. Kristin McKie (kmckie@stlawu.edu), Search Chair.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9307

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for tenure-track positions at all ranks beginning September 1, 2022. The positions are for scholars of exceptional caliber who will strengthen the political economy group’s research and teaching and make a distinctive programmatic contribution to the Graduate School of Business. The political economy group at the GSB is a collaboration of economists and political scientists. We welcome applications from across political economy broadly construed, both theoretical and empirical, and focusing on developed as well as developing countries. Outstanding research and teaching skills are essential. Applicants at all ranks will be considered and must have a PhD or expect to complete one before September 1, 2022.

Applicants should submit their applications electronically by visiting the web site http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/recruiting and uploading their curriculum vitae, research papers and publications, and teaching evaluations, if applicable, on that site. For an application to be considered complete, all applicants must submit a CV, and a job market paper. Applicants for non-tenured positions should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted by November 30, 2021. Please note that we will be reviewing and considering applications as they come in. For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to Faculty_Recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from candidates who identify with groups that are historically underrepresented in the academy.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9296

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: IDEA Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Communication

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9307

Stony Brook University invites applications for the College of Arts and Sciences’ Inclusion, Diversity, Equity & Access (IDEA) Fellows Program (2022/2023), a full-time, 12 month, non tenure-track faculty position at the lecturer level at the annual salary of $70,000 including full benefits, to commence Fall 2022. The fellow will be a part of a mentored research environment and, with a successful and demonstrated contribution to inclusion, diversity, and equity, will be invited to join the tenure-track faculty at Stony Brook University after two years [24 months of fellow support].

The successful candidate’s primary appointment will be in one of the following departments: Africana Studies, Anthropology, Studio Art (digital), Asian and Asian American Studies (Korean American), Economics, Geosciences, Psychology (clinical), Political Science, Music, Sociology or Chemistry. Candidates must have demonstrated plans to contribute to inclusion, diversity and equity, excellence in innovative research and potential to participate in the teaching mission of the Department they join. The successful candidate will be expected to be an effective interdisciplinary teacher and mentor at the undergraduate and graduate levels to guide research and professional development, and be an active participant in community outreach activities.

Stony Brook prides itself on attracting an incredibly diverse student body, including many first generation immigrants and first generation college students. Recent studies have shown that Stony Brook is one of the top universities in the U.S. for supporting the upward mobility of its students.

We are interested in scholars with the potential to offer a critical perspective based on experience in or understanding of groups historically underrepresented in higher education in these particular areas of interest: critical race theory, globalization, health disparities, sustainability/ climate justice, aging, racial justice. Multiple fellows will be hired so this list reflects a broad swath of interest for a pool of fellows.

Qualifications

Required: PhD or relevant terminal degree from an accredited institution prior to a start date between 6/1/2022 and 9/1/2022 with specialization in one of the possible appointing departments or related field. A record of research related to one of the possible appointing departments or related field.

Preferred: Evidence of or potential for excellence in research and service; undergraduate and graduate teaching; interdisciplinary collaboration; and community outreach.

Application instructions:

A complete application will consist of six items, including the required Application form. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at the posting here: https://apply.interfolio.com/92220

1. A cover letter that indicates the department applying for and addresses the criteria for the position
2. CV
3. Sample of representative scholarly work (no more than three publications)
4. Diversity Equity and Inclusion (DEI) statement
5. Research statement
6. Teaching statement

In addition, three letters of reference should be requested and submitted through the Interfolio portal.

Review of applicant files will begin on September 30, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to the College of Arts and Sciences, Office of the Dean mailto: CAS_Dean@stonybrook.edu/CAS_Dean@stonybrook.edu

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in political institutions that is anticipated to begin in the fall of 2022. We seek a scholar specializing in political institutions. Subfield specialization could be in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and/or research methods.

A strong commitment to research is expected. The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.
To be considered, applicants must submit an electronic application by following this link: https://uscareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-in-political-institutions/1209/13635024640. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9278

Marymount University
Rank: Assistant Professor

This listing was created by accident when I mistakenly hit the & quot;submit" button twice. Sorry!

The correct listing is here:
https://www.apsanet.org/CAREERS/eJobs/eJobs-Online/JBctl/ViewJob/JobID/9261

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9260

Marymount University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Marymount’s Politics program, located on Marymount University’s main campus in Arlington, Virginia, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics, broadly defined, at the Assistant Professor level. We will begin reviewing applications on November 12 for a job beginning in August 2022.

Faculty are expected to teach high-quality student-centric undergraduate courses in face-to-face settings. The politics program is part of the social sciences in Marymount’s Liberal Arts Core curriculum, and serves a large number of politics majors drawn by Marymount’s commitment to inquiry-based learning, its commitment to a low faculty-student ratio, and its location in the Washington DC area.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Politics or assurance they will complete the degree by August 15, 2022. The successful candidate will teach core and elective courses in political science, and contribute to a growing specialty program in International Relations. The hiring committee is looking for candidates with demonstrated teaching experience and research interests in comparative politics, broadly defined. Preference will be given to candidates with an ability to teach courses on a variety of topics, and for candidates with respect for the Catholic intellectual tradition and an interest in inquiry-based teaching. Faculty are expected to produce high-quality peer-reviewed scholarship that is broadly disseminated and that engages with their discipline, which may include peer-reviewed journal articles, books at academic presses, and externally-funded research grants.

The teaching load is 3-3. (Three courses per semester, fall and spring.) Applications should include a cover letter, c.v., evidence of excellence in teaching and research, a statement on diversity, and at least three letters of recommendation. The committee will begin reviewing applications on November 12, and accept applications until the position is filled.

All application materials should be uploaded to Marymount’s HR job application site - https://marymount.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Careers/job/Main-Campus/Assistant-Professor--Politics--Tenure-Track--R887 - except for confidential letters of recommendation, which should be sent to: poljob@marymount.edu

Please direct any questions to Chad Rector crector@marymount.edu and Margaret Tseng mtseng@marymount.edu

Information about the program is here:

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9261

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Middle East, Africa, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellows’ program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

November 2021

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21442

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:
• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 9, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2022-2023 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 20, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21443

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:
• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Wednesday, December 1, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9104

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2022-2023 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21442

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:
• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 9, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9104

Political Science Jobs

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Middle East, Latin American, Africa

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellows’ program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 – July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/academic-positions/position/21444

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 9, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2021 - July 1, 2022) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/1/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9105

Stanford King Center on Global Development

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford University King Center on Global Development’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high-quality, policy-relevant research on critical issues related to global development.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2022 for a one- or two-year appointment. The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program is intended for promising new PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy-relevant research on topics related to international development and poverty alleviation. The King Center’s postdoctoral fellows should expect to be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University.

The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program particularly encourages applications from women and minority PhD recipients, and from scholars from low- and middle-income countries, as well as from others whose backgrounds and experience would contribute to the diversity (broadly defined) of the program.

The King Center provides a competitive fellowship stipend, plus support for travel and research expenses.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 12/1/2021

Date Posted: 9/1/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9265

Wake Forest University

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN COMPARATIVE POLITICS (TENURE TRACK POSITION IN SOUTHEAST ASIAN POLITICS)

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY’s Department of Politics and International Affairs is seeking applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the field of Southeast Asian politics to start July 1, 2022. As a department, we believe that a diverse community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included is a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship. We therefore seek candidates whose areas of specialty will complement those already represented among Asian politics scholars in the department. More information about the department is available at http://politics.wfu.edu/
We invite applications from Southeast Asian politics scholars with expertise in any of the following, listed in no particular order: political economy, party and regime studies, electoral analysis, social movements, ethnonationalism, populism, conflict studies, migration, and public policy. The region of Southeast Asia refers primarily to those existing member states of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and its prospective members. Candidates should have an earned Ph.D. degree or advanced ABD status in Political Science and a record of study and scholarship related to the region. Demonstrated experience of field research in the region is also highly desirable.

Faculty in the Politics and International Affairs Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary academic programs, including Middle East and South Asia Studies; East Asian Studies; African Studies; Latin American and Latino Studies; Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies; American Ethnic Studies; International Studies; and Environmental and Sustainability Studies.

We seek candidates pursuing an active research agenda and committed to excellence in teaching who are prepared to teach introductory courses in comparative politics and upper level comparative politics courses that connect with their research agendas. Compelling applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community.

The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto “pro-Humanitate.” The Office of Civic and Community Engagement works to realize that ideal by serving as a hub for connecting students, staff, and faculty with community partners to create meaningful social change. To learn more about the University, please visit https://about.wfu.edu/

Interested applicants should apply via the University’s career website at: https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- Research statement describing candidate’s current research and future trajectory;
- Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- Sample undergraduate course syllabi;
- Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement;
- Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation emailed directly to wfurol@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 4, 2021. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by the end of the business day on October 1, 2021.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Michaelle Browers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, browerm@wfu.edu. In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9262

United States Air Force Academy
Rank: Visiting Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling a Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) position beginning June 27, 2022. The intent of this position is to attract an innovative scholar and teacher already placed at an institution (university, think-tank, or government service) and then return them to their home institution—thus, existing employment any level is a certain requirement. The appointment will be for either the entire academic year, ending in May of 2023, or one semester. The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire men and women to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to the nation. Candidates must have a PhD. in political science or a closely related field, preferably with an emphasis on American Government, International Relations, or Comparative Politics. The candidate must also be strongly committed to teaching undergraduates and be a full-time “career employee” at a US institution of higher education, an academically-oriented think-tank or an educationally-focused organization. The qualified candidate must agree to return to his/her institution in a full-time status following a VP year at the Air Force Academy. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Air Force Academy will reimburse the VP’s home academic institution for the visiting professor’s salary and benefits during their time at the Academy, and moving expenses will be provided. To apply, send a letter of application and a curriculum vitae to: HQ USAFA/DFPS (Attn: Dr. David Sacko), 2354 Fairchild Drive, Room 5L-27, US Air Force Academy CO 80840-6258. Application packages may also be emailed to David.Sacko@afacademy.af.edu. Applications received by October 15, 2021 will receive primary consideration but will be accepted until the position is filled. In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, the Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits... of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. U.S. citizenship required.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/31/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9249

---

University of Pittsburgh
Rank: Assistant Professor - Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences
Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Assistant Professor – Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for an assistant professor (pending budgetary approval) in any subfield of political science or related discipline whose work addresses structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, conceived domestically, comparatively, or globally. We encourage applications from scholars working on problems of racial oppression and racialized inequalities and hierarchies – in race and ethnic politics, in political behavior, in political economy, in international and transnational politics, in global or domestic institutions (of the US or other countries), as well as any other topic related to our theme (including inequalities in cities, health, education, and technology).

The Department intends to make three hires in the coming years (pending budgetary approval), in coordination with a cluster in Race, Representation, and Anti-Black and Systemic Racism within the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences. The related University Race and Social Determinants of Equity and Well-being Cluster Hire and Retention Initiative is also aimed at creating and sustaining a cohort of scholars whose research, service, and community engagement are aimed at strengthening knowledge and addressing racial disparities in the social determinants of equity and wellbeing. We thus welcome applicants whose interests complement current and new cluster faculty pertaining to race and inequality and their impact on Black communities in the United States; desirable research and teaching interests include, but are not limited to: race and ethnic politics, identity, democratic behavior, activism and collective action, representation, urban or local governance, health and healthcare policy, technology policy or algorithmic bias, environmental justice, ethnic or international conflict, migration, post-colonialism/post-imperialism; scholars whose interests include Africa or the African Diaspora are also encouraged to apply.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2022. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department’s mission. Required qualifications: applicants have or expect to have a Ph.D. in hand before the appointment begins, research interests related to structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, and demonstrated ability or potential to deliver high-quality instruction, to publish high-quality scholarship, and to contribute to an inclusive climate and attract and retain a diverse student body.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a diversity statement (brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion), and a minimum of three letters of reference; references should send their letters directly to psjobs@pitt.edu. Please apply online at: https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=21006250&ctz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNyquist. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by October 8, 2021, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/27/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9237

---

University of Central Florida
Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Regulatory Policy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established nine interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy, from a policy or social science perspective, and plan to hire one tenure-earning assistant professor for this cluster. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2022.

The Cybersecurity and Privacy Cluster is an interdisciplinary initiative, bringing together researchers from across the campus and working on addressing the pressing questions of our national security from engineering, science, and social perspectives. The cluster currently has eight members, collectively advising more than 35 doctoral students, and embracing a strong culture of collaboration and teamwork. The cluster runs various well-funded programs, has developed and implemented a new interdisciplinary M.S. in Cybersecurity and Privacy, and was recently selected by the National Science Foundation to be a host institution for the prestigious Scholarship for Service Program.

This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. See http://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/ for a complete list of all the units involved. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. In particular, we are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy, and someone who will work at the intersection of several areas, addressing the policy, regulatory or social science aspects with a focus on one or more of the following topics: a) privacy laws and regulation; b) social media; c) cybercrimes; d) cyberwarfare; e) cyber security and intelligence. With this in mind, we anticipate the selected candidate will be tenure-earning in one of, but not limited to, the following units: Criminal Justice; Legal Studies; Modeling, Simulation, and Training; Politics, Security, and International Affairs; or Sociology.

UCF is one of the nation’s largest universities with a diverse student body of more than 70,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region’s future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation.

UCF’s Orlando main campus location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to the UCF main campus is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies, UCF’s Institute for Simulation and Training and UCF’s new School of Modeling, Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the state of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school which was established in 2006 and is a neighbor to large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world’s best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about one of UCF’s newest endeavors, the exciting Faculty Cluster Initiative, at https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/faculty-research-clusters.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

1) A Diversity Statement:

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague, as well as future plans to advance these contributions. Such indicators of commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion may be demonstrated through scholarship, teaching, mentoring, service and engagement.

2) A Cover Letter:

In the cover letter candidates must address their background in research and scholarship in the area in cyber security and privacy as related to policy and regulatory aspects and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home, as well as any joint appointments they would desire.

3) Curriculum Vitae,

4) Teaching Statement,

5) Research Statement, and

6) Contact information for three professional references (include email address and telephone number).

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To ensure consideration before the position is closed, the application should be submitted promptly.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to the cluster lead and search committee chair, Dr. David Mohaisen, at mohaisen@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9222

Bowdoin College

Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, Latino Politics

As part of a larger multi-year cohort initiative, the Bowdoin College Department of Government and Legal Studies seeks applicants for a full-time tenure-track position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, pending final approval. The position would begin July 1, 2022. We expect to hire at the rank of assistant professor but will consider applications from candidates at all levels. A PhD in political science or a related field is required by the start of this appointment. Research and teaching on U.S. politics is preferred, but a focus on other areas of the Americas will be considered. Teaching load is two courses per semester, across all levels of the curriculum.

Bowdoin requires its faculty to have a promise of long-term successful scholarly or artistic engagement and a strong commitment to inclusive excellence in their teaching. (For a description of inclusive excellence, please consult the following resource https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive.) Bowdoin College offers opportunities for professional development, a fully-funded, year-long junior sabbatical leave (after three years of teaching and successful reappointment), and regular, generously funded, post-tenure sabbaticals.

Bowdoin is a community that warmly welcomes people of all backgrounds. We encourage applications from candidates committed to the support of an inclusive campus community and those who will enrich and contribute to the College’s multifaceted diversity. We especially encourage people from historically excluded groups to apply. We recognize that recruiting and retaining faculty may involve considerations of spouses and domestic partners. To that end, where possible, the College will attempt to accommodate and respond creatively to the needs of partners and spouses of members of the faculty.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please visit https://careers.bowdoin.edu to submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a description of your research plans; 4) a statement that describes your teaching philosophy and how your teaching, scholarship, and mentorship supports our commitment to equity and inclusion (https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive); and 5) the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021 and continue until the search is concluded.

Founded in 1794 on the Maine coast, Bowdoin is one of the oldest and most selective coeducational, residential liberal arts colleges in the country. Located in Brunswick, a 30-minute drive north of Portland and 2+ hours north of Boston -- connected to Boston and beyond by public transportation -- the College is in an area rich with natural beauty and year-round outdoor activities. Bowdoin’s reputation rests on the excellence of its faculty and students, intimate size, strong sense of community, and commitment to diversity (35% students of color, 7% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students). Bowdoin College complies with applicable provisions of federal and state laws that prohibit unlawful discrimination in employment, admission, or access to its educational or extracurricular programs, activities, or facilities based on race, color, ethnicity, ancestry and national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, age, marital status, place of birth, genetic predisposition, veteran status, or against qualified individuals with physical or mental disabilities on the basis of disability, or any other legally protected statuses. For further information about the College and our department, please visit our website: http://www.bowdoin.edu. For additional information about the Department of Government and Legal Studies, see https://www.bowdoin.edu/government/ or contact department chair Andrew Rudalevige (rudalev@bowdoin.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9201

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American/comparative politics or public policy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

JOB SUMMARY: The Department of Political Science at Middle Georgia State University (https://www.mga.edu/political-science) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in political science, with a specialization in American politics, comparative politics, or public policy, at the rank of assistant professor, to be primarily based on the Cochran campus. This is a 10-month position with a teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester (4-4) of undergraduate courses in political science, typically including multiple sections of the introductory American Government course, as well as more advanced undergraduate courses in political science in the candidate’s area of specialization.

MAJOR DUTIES: Teaching responsibilities may include day and/or evening courses, partially and fully online courses, and courses taught via video conferencing; faculty are also expected to travel to teach and attend meetings at other campus locations when needed. Tenure-track faculty are expected to have an active scholarly agenda, including publication in peer-reviewed outlets; student advising and service to the department, school, university, and community are also expected for promotion and tenure. Summer teaching opportunities may also be available, contingent on student demand.

QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates should have earned a doctorate in political science, or a doctorate in related field including at least 18 semester hours of graduate coursework in political science, from a regionally-accredited institution; ABD candidates will only be considered if they will earn their doctorate by January 1, 2022. Experience as an instructor of record, demonstrated expertise in American politics or comparative politics, and/or the ability to contribute to one or more of the minors offered by the department are desirable. Candidates must have a record of teaching and potential for scholarship that warrants appointment at the rank of assistant professor.

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications accepted until the position is filled; we expect to begin reviewing complete applications the week of September 13, 2021.

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Informal inquiries about the position may be made to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, Chair of the Department of Political Science at Christopher.lawrence@mga.edu.

TO APPLY: Application materials should be emailed as one PDF attachment to recruitment@mga.edu with the subject line "10018053 Assistant Professor of Political Science 8.24.2021". Application materials must include (1) an MGA faculty application, (2) a letter of interest, (3) a curriculum vitae, (4) a statement of teaching philosophy, (5) names and contact information of three references, and (6) unoffical transcripts. Paper application materials will not be accepted.

Background checks will be conducted on all final candidates.

Start Date: Winter 2022
Application Deadline: 9/13/2021
Date Posted: 8/24/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9208

Bentley University

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Global Studies Department at Bentley University invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative race and ethnicity. We seek applications from scholar-teachers who focus on race and ethnicity in comparative, transnational or global perspective, with at least one area of specialization in the United States.

Our department is multidisciplinary, built around a core of faculty from cultural studies, geography, and political science. We welcome candidates from any discipline, including but not limited to anthropology, geography, and political science, to complement and deepen existing strengths. While the position is open with respect to further...
thematic specializations, we are particularly interested in candidates whose work contributes to understanding the intersectionality of race and ethnicity with sustainability, health, development, immigration/migration, or public policy, preferably through comparativist lenses.

As guided by our Academic Affairs Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion Strategic Plan, Bentley University seeks to enhance our faculty capacity in the scholarship, pedagogy, and engagement related to diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice. To achieve that, we are hiring a cohort of new faculty in multiple academic departments and disciplines with expertise in DEI. This position is intended to be part of our DEI faculty cohort, which will enrich our DEI expertise across Business and the Liberal Arts & Sciences. Learn more about Bentley University’s DEI strategic plan here: https://issuu.com/bentleyuniversity/docs/de-i_strategic_plan_presentation_1_.pprx

We seek a candidate whose teaching and scholarship will contribute to one or both of our undergraduate departmental majors in international affairs and public policy, and someone who can amplify our department’s commitment to anti-racism. Black, indigenous, and Latinx faculty, as well as faculty from other underrepresented groups, are strongly encouraged to apply.

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a continuing research agenda focused on publication and a strong dedication to excellence in teaching, with preference for candidates with classroom teaching experience. We especially welcome candidates who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to the classroom. Incoming tenure-track faculty typically have a 2-2 teaching load.

The position will be filled at the Assistant Professor rank for a Fall 2022 start.

Minimum Qualifications:
PhD required. Requirements for the doctoral degree must be completed prior to the start of the Fall 2022 semester.

Instructions to Applicants:
Applicants submit all materials through Bentley’s on-line employment site at: https://bentley.wdl.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty/job/Bentley-Campus/Tenure-Track-Assistant-Professor--Global-Studies_R0002083.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
1. A cover letter that summarizes overall strengths, including the nature of the candidate’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
3. A teaching statement of no more than two pages.
4. A research statement of no more than two pages detailing the candidate’s research strengths and plans for future research directions.
5. The names and contact information for three professional references. Bentley will contact these confidential references for those candidates moving forward in the process.

Questions about the position can be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Joni Seager at jsseager@bentley.edu

Position will remain open until filled. However, priority consideration will be given to applications received by September 27, 2021.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 9/27/2021
Date Posted: 8/20/2021

Political Science Jobs November 2021

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9196

Syracuse University
Rank: African American Studies Department Chair
Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: African American Politics, Africa, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of African American Studies (https://thecollege.syr.edu/african-american-studies/) in Syracuse University’s College of Arts & Sciences seeks a dynamic scholar to serve as Department Chair beginning Fall 2022. The successful candidate will possess a strong record of scholarship; teaching excellence; experience overseeing departmental administrative procedures and governance; demonstrated skill in collaborating with faculty on curricula and programming for undergraduate majors and minors and graduate students; and a commitment to community engagement.

Since gaining department status in 1979, African American Studies at SU has offered multi-disciplinary approaches to global studies of people of African descent. Unique departmental resources, such as the Martin Luther King, Jr. Library (https://thecollege.syr.edu/diversity-and-inclusion/mlk-library/) and the Community Folk Art Center (https://communityfolkartcenter.org/), have been integral to academic initiatives. Recent and pending faculty retirements have led to a critical juncture. The new chair will thus play a pivotal role in leading the department as it formulates strategic plans to engage changing social, political, cultural, technological, and pedagogical landscapes.

The position requires a Ph.D. with a principal research and teaching focus on aspects of Black life in the Americas, the Caribbean, Africa, or Europe. Scholars in any field of the humanities or social sciences are welcome to apply. Candidates who have met the standards for the rank of professor with tenure are preferred. However, full consideration will also be given to applications from advanced tenured associate professors. The teaching requirement during the three-year term as Department Chair will be one course per semester. At the end of the chair term, two courses per semester will be required.

Applications must include a current curriculum vitae; letter of interest; sample publication; diversity, equity, and inclusion statement; and three confidential recommendation letters. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The salary will be commensurate with qualifications.

To apply, visit Syracuse University Job Board, Department Chair/Professor - African American Studies: https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/88268

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9187

Syracuse University
Rank: Politics of InEquality

Syracuse University
Politics of Inequality

The Department of Political Science at Syracuse University’s Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant or tenured Associate Professor whose scholarship focuses on the intersection of inequality and politics. We seek a candidate with expertise in the connection between social or economic inequality and political outcomes, defined broadly. This position starts in Fall 2022 and is part of a broader Syracuse University Cluster Hires Initiative.

The Citizenship and Democratic Institutions (CDI) Cluster draws together a diverse group of scholars who address critical issues related to the contested meanings of citizenship, civic engagement, public management, and the impacts of democratic institutions on social and economic well-being. The successful candidate will help shape future, multi-disciplinary hiring in the CDI Cluster, and lead and contribute to externally funded projects and interdisciplinary research initiatives within the Maxwell School and across the University.

We welcome applicants who study inequality across different domains – economic, social, health, gender, race, and/or ethnicity. We also are open to multiple methods, and issues in domestic, international, and comparative contexts. This position is open with respect to subfield and geographic focus, but we are especially interested in applicants who focus on American politics and comparative politics.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Campbell Institute or one of Maxwell’s other interdisciplinary centers (http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/). The successful candidate will teach at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The typical course load is 2 classes a semester.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field or a credible expectation of completing all requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2022. The Maxwell School is interested in candidates who can contribute to the inclusiveness and diversity of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:
For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/87786) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a research statement, a sample of professional writing, a statement about diversity, equity and inclusion, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 4, 2021. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9164

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022.

The application deadline is Monday, November 1, 2021. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92232

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
• CV;
• Research Statement;
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
• Two scholarly writing samples;
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
• Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9152

Princeton University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Economy of Development

Assistant Professor, Political Economy of Development. The Department of Politics and the Princeton School for Public and International Affairs seek applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in the political economy of development. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Political Economy

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 3-3 load), advising, and completing the mission of teaching the history and culture of Black people.

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor, Associate or Full Professor, Middle Eastern Politics. The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in Middle Eastern politics. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Middle Eastern Politics Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

Junior candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Middle Eastern Politics Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on September 13, 2021.

The Department of Political Science at Mount St. Mary’s University in Emmitsburg, MD is conducting a search for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. The ideal candidate will possess a specialization in Comparative Politics with a focus on Asian Politics. Candidates with a doctorate in International Studies will be considered if they specialize in Asian culture and politics. We desire someone who can diversify and complement the existing strengths and course offerings in the Department of Political Science, in the International Studies major, and, more broadly, in the College of Liberal Arts. Teaching responsibilities will also include courses that contribute to our common liberal arts curriculum. Candidates with a specific scholarly record on Chinese politics are encouraged to apply. We are also seeking applicants with lived experience as part of a traditionally underrepresented group. The successful candidate will have Ph.D. in hand by August 2022, a scholarly record in Asian studies/politics, and will have demonstrated a student-centered philosophy consistent with teaching at a liberal arts college.

Please send required documents for first round of applicants (teaching evaluations, letters of reference, or other materials may be requested later): Cover letter that summarizes your qualifications and interest in the position; Curriculum vitae; Three professional references; One scholarly writing sample

Please email required materials to resume@msmary.edu

All questions should be addressed to polisci@msmary.edu

Applications received by October 15, 2021 will be given full consideration.

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for an open rank, tenure line position in international/comparative political economy.

Candidates for an untenured position at the rank of assistant professor should demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a Commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Untenured applicants should send a cover letter, CV, research statement (not to exceed 3 pages), teaching evaluations, and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

Candidates for a tenured position at the rank of associate or full professor should demonstrate substantial evidence of a creative research career, impact on his or her field of study, and a commitment to excellence in teaching and advising students at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Tenured applicants should send a letter of interest, CV, research statement (not to exceed 3 pages), and teaching evaluations.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2021 but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19078

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/31/2021
Date Posted: 8/2/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9112

New York University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Position Description:
The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks candidates for two faculty positions for scholars conducting outstanding research on the subjects of race, identity, and inequality in domestic, comparative, or international contexts. The primary focus of our search is at the tenure track assistant professor level; however, we may consider more senior candidates under exceptional circumstances. The positions are to begin September 1, 2022, pending administrative approval.

This search is part of a broader cluster of recruitment efforts in Race, Identity, and Inequality that spans the Departments of Politics and Sociology in the Faculty of Arts and Science, and the Wagner School of Public Service. A primary aim of the cluster is to create a network of scholars working in these areas to collaborate across NYU. More information about this cluster and the broader cluster initiative can be found at https://www.nyu.edu/faculty/teaching-and-learning-resources/faculty-advancement/faculty-recruitment/nyu-faculty-cluster-hiring-initiative.html#race2 and at https://drive.google.com/file/d/1n88i-7v5jZGYxYvK54Vj9AhQgRNNHRDKG/view.

Qualifications:
Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 2022, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level. NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, experience, and service an ability to contribute to this goal, and a commitment to fostering inclusivity in a university setting.

Application Instructions:
Please apply online at: http://apply.interfolio.com/91446. While we will continue to review applications into October, candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 10, 2021. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Politics Department at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about concrete steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Required Applicant Documents:
- Cover letter
- CV or Resume
- Statement of Research and Goals
- Statement of Teaching
- Writing Sample
- Three Letters of Reference

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 9/10/2021
Date Posted: 7/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9101

University of California, Irvine
Rank: Political Science Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Political Science is seeking applicants for temporary part-time lecturer positions to teach in the field of Comparative Politics contingent on departmental need. These positions will replace faculty on leave during the 2021-22 academic year.

Requirements - We are seeking candidates with strong teaching credentials who might contribute to our undergraduate program in Comparative Politics. Candidates should have a Ph.D.

These part-time positions are based on an annual salary range beginning at $56,381 and the number of courses could vary.

Service Period Dates for 2021-2022 Academic Year:
Fall Quarter: 9/20/21 – 12/10/21
Winter Quarter: 1/3/22 - 3/18/22
Spring Quarter: 3/23/22 - 6/10/22

Application Procedure - Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, vita, three letters of reference, evidence of teaching...
University of Rhode Island
Rank: Assistant Professor in Middle Eastern Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rhode Island anticipates an opening for a faculty position in Comparative Politics or International Relations with a specialization in Middle Eastern politics. This is a tenure-track, academic year appointment at the rank of assistant professor to commence in the Fall of 2022.

We are seeking to attract a diverse pool of job applicants for this position. A key pillar of URI’s mission is to “inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance.” Our department seeks candidates whose principles align with that mission.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES
Applicants will be expected to teach undergraduate political science courses in the areas of comparative and international politics that serve as requirements for both the Political Science and the International Studies & Diplomacy undergraduate programs as well as teach courses in the International Relations Masters program.

Expected to publish original research in their respective field of study and advise undergraduate and graduate students.

Provide service to the department, the university and the profession.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS
1) Ph.D., or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2022, in Political Science, International Relations, or related field.
2) Primary or secondary specialization in Middle Eastern politics.
3) Evidence of college level teaching commensurate with level of academic experience
4) Demonstrated ability to excel in teaching broad-based introductory political science courses in the area of comparative politics and/or international relations, upper division and graduate courses on Middle Eastern politics.
5) Evidence of research in the field of comparative politics and/or international relations with scholarly work commensurate with level of academic experience.
6) Demonstrated experience working with diverse populations or in diverse environments.

All requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate individuals with disabilities.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS
1) Research expertise in at least one of the following or related areas: international development, foreign policy, diplomacy, conflict, governance, ethnic or religious politics, or security studies.
2) Ability to teach undergraduate research methods
3) Ability to teach large introductory-level classes
4) Ability to teach from a cultural or regional studies perspective
5) Familiarity with experiential and applied learning strategies

Priority for positions will be given to applications completed by August 15th, 2021. Please note this is a continuous recruitment to fill classes on an as-needed basis. The department will refer to the pool of applications on file to fill assignments as necessary throughout the year.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/20/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9046

Bucknell University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (IR/Comparative)

Bucknell University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in international and comparative politics beginning in the fall semester of 2022. We seek a scholar whose research and teaching centers on the Middle East/North Africa region and the politics of the Islamic world. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in international politics, courses on politics in the Middle East/North Africa, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department’s commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important.

The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in political science with a sub-field specialization in international and/or comparative politics.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.-bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at rdh013@bucknell.edu. Applications received by September 27, 2021 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9016

Texas A&M University

Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Latin American Politics/Political Economy and quantitative methods
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of Latin American politics/political economy and quantitative methods. Expertise in Mexico preferred, but we are open to other areas as well. The successful candidate will teach courses on Latin American politics/political economy as part of the Department’s developing curricular concentration on the region and courses on quantitative methods that are part of the Department’s required curriculum.

Bush School faculty teach master’s degree students in international affairs, with a standard 2-2 load. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Political Economy by September 2022. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2022.

Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, three letters of recommendation, and other information demonstrating success in teaching at the Texas A&M Interfolio site apply.interfolio.com/88572 in DOC or PDF format.

The review of applications will begin September 7, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8935

Appalachian State University

Rank: Visiting Comparative Politics Instructor

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a one-year visiting position in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: comparative politics, human rights, ethnic conflict, globalization, or the politics of developing nations. The teaching load is 3 courses per semester for faculty with an active research agenda. At least one course each semester will be Intro to Comparative Politics.

Applications must be submitted via AppState PeopleAdmin https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/postings/28206 Applicants must submit the following documents: an application consisting of a letter outlining relevant research and teaching goals and experience, a current vitae, and a sample syllabus.

Review of applications will begin on May 28, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University’s receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Director & ADA/504 Coordinator, at 828- 262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/7/2021
Mercyhurst University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Middle East, Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Political Science Department invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning spring 2022. This position may be renewable or converted to tenure-track contingent on performance, departmental staffing and programmatic needs, and continued administrative approval. The successful applicant will possess a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching at a liberal arts university. The department is seeking a comparative politics/international relations generalist. Preference will be given to a candidate who can teach Middle East politics in addition to other comparative or international relations courses. IR background in the areas of IPE, human rights, international organizations, or environmental politics are a department priority. Energy, collegiality, and a commitment to liberal arts education are highly prized attributes in our department. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed the Ph.D. or will complete it before the spring 2022 semester. Screening of applications will begin immediately and the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current vitae, transcripts (initial submissions may be unofficial copies), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching excellence, and a one-page statement summarizing their philosophy of teaching to Jennifer Verga, administrative assistant: jverga@mercyhurst.edu. Mercyhurst is a mid-sized, Catholic, liberal arts, primarily residential university, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students. Class sizes are small and the normal teaching load is 8 courses per year. For information about the political science program see the departmental website: http://polisci.mercyhurst.edu.

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
Ejobs ID: 8870

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
New York University Abu Dhabi
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Tenure-Track)

Assistant Professor of Political Science (Tenure-Track)
Division of Social Science
New York University Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science with a focus on International Relations, though highly qualified candidates from other fields are welcome to apply. We expect successful candidates to commence their appointment September 1, 2022, subject to final budget approval.

You may visit the Political Science programs website for a description of its innovative curriculum: https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/undergraduate/majors-and-minors/political-science-major.html

NYUAD values diversity, inclusion, belonging, and equity; such principles are fundamental to the university’s commitment to excellence. Accordingly, we particularly welcome applications from female scholars as well as members of traditionally underrepresented groups.

Our faculty are the engines that sustain our inclusive environment; NYUAD students come from more than 115 countries, with no single one nationality exceeding more than 15 percent of the total student population. Likewise, our faculty are highly diverse and community-minded: our modern campus is home to over 320 faculty who represent more than 45 different nationalities, all of whom bring a global perspective to their classrooms and research projects. Research is advanced by over 400 highly qualified research staff, who are likewise drawn from all over the world.

About NYU Abu Dhabi
Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi, NYU Abu Dhabi (NYUAD) has assembled over the past decade a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others who have contributed to the growth of the UAE’s capital as a global hub of knowledge and culture while establishing a new model of higher education for today’s complex world.

NYUAD is animated by inspiring, diverse faculty, students, and staff working together in an exciting and dynamic city. As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students and providing an intellectually rich environment.

Students are drawn from among the world’s best. They are bright, intellectually passionate, and committed to building a campus environment anchored in mutual respect, understanding, and care. The NYUAD undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other global honors. Graduate education is an area of growth for the university and the current graduate student population of over 100 students is expected to expand in the next decade.

NYUAD is committed to building and strengthening a university-wide culture of inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity (IDBE). For more information on NYUAD’s commitment to IDBE and how these values create fundamental to our mission please visit https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/inclusion-diversity-belonging-and-equity.html

Working for NYUAD
At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it’s your home. In order for faculty to thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing, and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, plus more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority.

Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications
This position requires a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline.
We seek individuals who have a strong record of scholarship, teaching, and mentoring, and have the ability to develop and lead high-quality research.

This position is not located in the United States. You must be willing to relocate to Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.

Application Instructions
To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit the following items to: http://apply.interfolio.com/97578

- Curriculum Vitae
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research Plans
- Statement of Teaching Interests
- Three representative writing samples
- Name and email address of three references (Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter via Interfolio)

The review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021 and will continue on a rolling basis until the positions are filled.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

NYUAD is committed to equality and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage applications from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural and ethnic diversity of our University.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.societalscience@nyu.edu.

Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

EEO Statement
For people in the EU, click here for information on your privacy rights under GDPR: www.nyu.edu/it/gdpr

NYU is an equal opportunity employer committed to equity, diversity, and social inclusion.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9635

Howard University
Rank: Assistant Professor Tenure-Track
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, Africa

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Comparative Politics. The successful candidate will be prepared to conduct externally-funded research in the areas of comparative politics with a focus on politics in the Black Diaspora. Regional specialization is open to all areas. Qualified applicants should have evidence of research productivity and teaching experience in at least one of the areas covered by the emerging field of data science and computational social science. These may include, but are not limited to: working with “big data,” relational data, social network analysis, computational text analysis, machine-learning, agent-based modeling, or geospatial analysis techniques, among others.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. We envision this position as expansive and methodologically diverse, with a focus on how ongoing global changes intersect with historical patterns of power and dominance, and how these factors affect current and future global discourses. The successful candidate is expected to develop a vigorous, extramurally funded research program in their areas of expertise and have a strong record of and ability to teach in-person and use online tools to design and teach distance learning courses at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The successful candidate is expected to actively participate in the Department’s teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented minority students is highly desired. The candidate will also contribute to the International Affairs undergraduate major, and also work closely with the Center for Women, Gender, and Global Leadership. Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black private university, provides an educational experience of exceptional quality at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels to students of high academic standing and potential, with particular emphasis upon educational opportunities for Black students. Howard University is classified as a Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity research by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is a residential campus of approximately 10,000 students located in the heart of the nation’s capital, Washington, D.C.

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 17 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science. Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S. Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor.

Required Qualifications: • Ph.D. in political science or closely related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc.) from an accredited institution; • Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor; • Effective communication and organizational skills; and • Evidence of writing successful grant proposals.

Complete applications must be submitted as a single PDF file containing: 1) Cover letter addressing the qualifications listed above; 2) Current curriculum vita; 3) Two-page statement of research accomplishments, interests, and future plans; 4) One-page statement of teaching philosophy and experience; and 5) A writing sample. 6) Three letters of recommendation sent under separate cover to the email below directly from the recommending.

Questions should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee, Dr. David Dixon at ComparativePoliticsSearch@Howard.edu.

Completed applications submitted electronically via Academic Jobs Online. Screening will begin on September 20, 2021 and continue
Mercyhurst University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Middle East, Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Political Science Department invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure-track) position beginning fall 2022. The successful applicant will possess a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching at a liberal arts university. The department is seeking a comparative politics/international relations generalist. Preference will be given to a candidate who can teach Middle East politics in addition to other comparative or international relations courses. IR background in the areas of IPE, human rights, international organizations, or environmental politics are a department priority. Energy, collegiality, and a commitment to liberal arts education are highly prized attributes in our department. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed the Ph.D. or will complete it before the fall 2022 semester. Screening of applications will begin immediately and the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current vita, transcripts (initial submissions may be unofficial copies), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching excellence, and a one-page statement summarizing their philosophy of teaching to Jennifer Verga, administrative assistant: jverga@mercyhurst.edu. Mercyhurst is a mid-sized, Catholic, liberal arts, primarily residential university, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students. Class sizes are small and the normal teaching load is 8 courses per year. For information about the political science program see the departmental website: http://polisci.mercyhurst.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9626

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications: In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related field by the position start date.

The University of California, Merced, is the newest of the University of California system’s 10 campuses. With 8,500 undergraduate and graduate students, UC Merced provides outstanding educational opportunities for highly qualified students from the heart of California, the nation, and abroad. The campus has special connections to nearby Yosemite National Park; is on the cutting edge of sustainability in construction and design; and supports the economic development of Central California. The Merced 2020 Project doubled the physical capacity of the campus, and enhanced academic distinction, student success, and research excellence (https://merced2020.ucmerced.edu/).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/29/2021
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9627

Lyon College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Lyon College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science position starting in the fall of 2022. This one-year position may be renewed for a second year with the additional possibility of conversion to tenure-track. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science, but the area of specialization is open. The ability to teach the Political Science major’s required course sequence in International and Comparative Politics is expected, along with a section per semester of the American Experience, a part of the College’s Core Curriculum. The appointment features a three/four teaching load.

Experience at a small, residential liberal arts college as a student or as a faculty member is desirable. Absent that experience, an understanding of the difference between a small college and a university and the desire to be on the faculty of a small college are important. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Lyon College is a private, selective liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). It is located in Batesville, Arkansas, a safe and historic town of 10,000 that serves as commercial, medical, social, and governmental hub for an eight-county area. The College currently enrolls almost 600 undergraduate students from 25 states and 11 foreign countries. Entering freshmen have an average high school GPA of 3.5 and an average ACT composite of 24.

Interested candidates should send a letter of application; CV; evidence of teaching and scholarly excellence; and three letters of recommendation to Human Resources, P.O. Box 2317, Batesville, AR 72503-2317 or electronically to jobs@lyon.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9597

Temple University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Instructional) in Global Studies

The Global Studies Program in the College of Liberal Arts at Temple University invites applications for a full-time, renewable, non-tenure track position (Assistant Professor (Instructional) beginning in Fall 2022. Global Studies is a multidisciplinary program offering undergraduate degrees focused on culture, economy, and security, with 200 majors and 50 minors. We seek candidates who can teach courses such as Research Skills (exposing students to methods from multiple disciplines), Introduction to Global Studies, the Global Studies senior research capstone, and, as well as general education courses with a global orientation. We are particularly interested in instructors who have experience teaching diverse research methods courses, interdisciplinary courses, and writing intensive courses. The teaching load for this position is 4 courses per semester. The successful candidate will have a strong teaching record, a commitment to interdisciplinary, and interest in the global south. Temple University offers full-time faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, retirement, and other benefits. Candidates are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by the beginning of their appointment in Sociology, Political Science/International Relations, Geography, Anthropology, or a related/interdisciplinary field (such as Development Studies).

Temple University is a state-related Carnegie Research University (very high research activity) located in Philadelphia. The College of Liberal Arts is home to 32 undergraduate majors, 32 minors, 23 certificate programs and 15 graduate degree programs. With its vibrant and diverse array of educational programs, the College of Liberal Arts plays a tremendous role in Temple University’s academic success and its mission mirrors both the historical importance of the liberal arts in society and the principles on which the university was founded: providing access to an excellent, affordable higher education that prepares students for careers, further learning and active citizenship; creating a collaborative community of outstanding faculty and staff who foster inclusion and encourage the aspirations of Temple students; promoting service and engagement throughout Philadelphia, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the nation and the world.

COVID-19 vaccinations are required for employment at Temple University, unless granted a religious or medical exemption (see www.temple.edu/coronavirus).

Temple University is an Affirmative Action equal opportunity employer and particularly encourages applications from women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

To apply, submit all materials via Interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/97331. Direct any questions about the position to Danielle K. Scherer, Assistant Director of Global Studies (danielle.scherer@temple.edu). For full consideration, applications must be received by January 3, 2022, and include the following materials:

- Letter of interest
- CV
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness
- Teaching philosophy
- 3 Letters of recommendation

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/3/2022
Date Posted: 10/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9613

Brooklyn College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Social Scientist of the Caribbean and its Diaspora (Africana Studies)

Job Title: Assistant Professor - Social Scientist of the Caribbean and its Diaspora (Africana Studies)
Job ID: 22825
Location: Brooklyn College
Full/Part Time: Full-Time

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The Africana Studies Department is committed to in depth treatments of Africa and its diasporas in the United States, the Caribbean and Latin America. As one of the oldest Africana departments in the country, it is also one of the first to move from the African American Studies model to a more global diasporic curriculum that is now the standard among such departments. We are currently the only department in the Social Sciences that offers a substantial number of courses in Caribbean societies and politics.

We are seeking a candidate who is committed to enhancing a global perspective and invested in maximizing the academic utility of our location, establishing greater rootedness in "quote:place, &quot; and builds upon the experiences of our students. The borough of Brooklyn hosts the largest Caribbean population outside of the Caribbean basin, and a large portion of Brooklyn College’s students are of Caribbean origin or descent. We would hope that the instructor would take into account the academic utility of the rich social, political, and cultural context of our location in Brooklyn, while building on the interests of our students, the largest number of whom (both double majors and students taking our courses as electives) have majors in the Social Sciences, Education, and Business respectively.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS), sitting at the heart of a great urban college, educates students to be leaders of character, wisdom, and influence in an interdependent, global society through high quality humanities and social science programs. The School of Humanities and Social Sciences is the intellectual hub of Brooklyn College. HSS empowers interdisciplinary team-based problem solving, rooted in rigorous disciplinary training. We foster collaborative engagement among faculty, students, and communities, in the co-creation of knowledge. Our students build skills in critical thinking, creative expression, data analysis, and the capacity to articulate evidence-based decisions. HSS prepares students to be adaptive and resilient in a rapidly changing global economy, and to be effective publicly engaged citizens in a rapidly changing society.

Brooklyn College serves students from over 150 countries who speak over 100 languages and dialects and thus constitutes a vibrant microcosm of the rich diversity and energy that characterizes the borough of Brooklyn and the greater New York City area itself. Its mission features "a special commitment to educate immigrant and first-generation college students from the diverse communities that make up our city and state." The college ethos is invested in the educational and eventual career success of all of its students. We are committed to fostering a spirit of camaraderie and shared ideals across the entire spectrum of our varied constituency. By accessing a first-class and affordable college education in an inclusive and nurturing intellectual milieu, our students acquire the skills, confidence, and global mindedness that allow them to thrive in a rapidly changing, unpredictable marketplace of ideas that is increasingly mindless of borders and spans the gamut of cultures and vernaculars.

Our search is one in a college-wide cluster hire of faculty with a research focus on race, ethnicity and racial justice. Brooklyn College seeks a faculty who are eager to engage with the diversity of our student body and have a demonstrated commitment to inclusion and heterogeneity through research, teaching and/or service. We seek to recruit and retain faculty from historically underrepresented groups who reflect the mosaic of our student population. Successful candidates will bring their unique creativity, sensitivity, insights and perspectives to a community that welcomes innovation in scholarship and teaching. Together we will model the finest that a public urban liberal arts, sciences, and professional studies college can be for the present and future.

Responsibilities include:

• Teach existing undergraduate courses cross-listed courses in Caribbean Studies, Political Science and general education courses.
• Offer advanced upper level courses with a quantitative focus.
• Develop and revitalize the Caribbean Studies Program to reflect new directions in the field.

QUALIFICATIONS

• Ph.D. in a Social Sciences discipline with at least a specialization in Politics including but not limited to Africana Studies/African American Studies, American Studies, Caribbean Studies and Political Science by June 1, 2022.
• Demonstrated potential for effective teaching at the undergraduate level.
• Demonstrated potential for scholarly research and peer-reviewed publications.

COMPENSATION

Salary commensurate with experience and credentials. All appointments are subject to financial availability.

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

STEP ONE – Click “Apply Now”;

From our job posting system, select “Apply Now”, create or log in to a user account, and provide the requested information. If you are viewing this posting from outside our system, please visit https://cuny.jobs/brooklyn-college/new-jobs/

Applicants should upload the following in .doc or .pdf, or .rtf format:

• An application letter indicating the desired position, and should detail how their teaching, service and/or scholarship has supported the success of students from racial, ethnic, and gender backgrounds that are underrepresented in their academic fields; applicants who... have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further CUNY’s commitment to diversity.

• Current and detailed curriculum vitae
• A one-page document describing the candidate’s three-year research agenda
• Copies of publications and/or working papers

STEP TWO - Go to https://websq1.brooklyn.cuny.edu/hrref/

All applicants are required to have three confidential letters of recommendation submitted electronically by their recommenders by visiting the link above and entering the contact information for three (3) recommenders.

The online system will automatically email your recommenders a request to submit a letter via the system. Full instructions will be provided.

Emailed or hard copy applications will not be considered.

CLOSING DATE
Review of applications to begin immediately and will continue until December 12, 2021.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY
CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 12/12/2021
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9603

Brown University
Rank: Watson Climate Solutions Postdoctoral Associate 2022-2024
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Political Economy, International Political Economy

Brown University invites applications for a two-year Postdoctoral Research Associate in Climate Solutions at the Watson Institute for International & Public Affairs. We seek a scholar to help us address one or both of two major topics: climate and trade, and the geopolitics of the global energy transition. The postdoc will help research on questions like how climate should fit into the United States’ China strategy, how US policymakers can work with the EU on issues such as carbon tariffs and border adjustment measures, or how states and market actors can work together to finance decarbonization. Ability to conduct and write policy-oriented research, as well as academic research, is essential. There are no teaching responsibilities. The selected candidate will devote 50 percent time to projects at the Climate Solutions Lab, under the supervision of Professor Jeff Colgan, and 50 percent time to his or her own (climate-related) research projects. The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $65,000 for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus.

Eligibility and terms
Scholars of all nationalities with a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, sociology, economics, or closely related disciplines will be considered.

Dissertation must be complete by June 30, 2022. Candidates must be untenured and within 5 years of Ph.D. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $65,000 for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus.

For more information, please visit: http://watson.brown.edu/climatesolutionslab

Application requirements
Candidates should submit a cover letter of application, a CV, three letters of reference and a short writing sample (15-20 pages) through Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/95524.

Applications received by December 1, 2021 will receive full consideration.

Final notifications are expected to go out in Winter 2022. This two-year Postdoctoral Research Associate appointment will be effective July 1, 2022, and is not renewable.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9594

Georgetown University
Rank: Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and Assistant Professor of Climate Change, Colonialism, Displacement
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Immigration Policy, Developing Nations

Georgetown University’s School of Foreign Service invites applications for a Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and tenure-line Assistant Professor position. We seek an interdisciplinary scholar who is working at the intersection of climate change, colonialism, and displacement. We seek scholars who broadly approach climate change in relation to colonial extraction and expropriation in the context of the Global South, and who use innovative methods to engage in scholarship on displacement and migration with attention to racialization and border regimes. Applicants are welcomed from a wide variety of disciplines and fields including, but not limited to, anthropology, geography, history, political science, sociology, science and technology studies, and environmental humanities.
The Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellowship program is in its inaugural year at Georgetown University. The program is designed to bring in a cohort of new faculty from a wide range of backgrounds who demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Provost’s Distinguished Fellows are on the tenure track and will be exempt from teaching and service duties in the first year of their appointments, devoting their full-time efforts to building their research program. Fellows will be assigned senior faculty mentors. After the first year, the Fellow will then begin as a tenure-line Assistant Professor, with a 2-2 teaching load.

The new hire may be affiliated with at least one program housed in the School of Foreign Service based on their areas of research expertise, such as the Culture and Politics Program; Science, Technology, and International Affairs; Institute for the Study of International Migration; and SFS graduate programs. We encourage candidates to acquaint themselves with the SFS and our programs upon application.

Applications for this position must be made via Georgetown’s online application management system at http://apply.interfolio.com/96446. Questions about the search should be directed to Carol A. Benedict, SFS Faculty Chair (beneficcc@georgetown.edu)

Qualifications include:
1. Candidates must have received their PhD by August 1, 2022, before the 2022-23 academic year begins.
2. Candidates must be committed to academic excellence and diversity, equity, and inclusion in their teaching/mentoring, research, and service. This commitment can be demonstrated in many ways, including those whose scholarship/teaching focuses on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or those who have demonstrated a commitment to fostering diversity, equity, and inclusion through their service activities.
3. Candidates must upload the following documents by November 19, 2021: a. Letter of application; b. Curriculum vitae; c. Statement (no more than 1 page) describing your past/present contributions to equity, diversity and inclusion; d. One writing sample; e. Statement (no more than 1 page) describing your approach to teaching (and if possible evidence of teaching effectiveness).

Candidates should also have three letters of recommendation uploaded to their application on Interfolio.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

TO APPLY: Candidates should submit: a letter of application describing their suitability for the fellowship; a curriculum vitae with a list of publications; a sample of their written work; a teaching portfolio, containing a statement on teaching experience and syllabi; and three letters of recommendation.

TO SUBMIT: https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/10499William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship&lt;/a&gt;

DEADLINE: December 3, 2021

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law. For more information about the WCFIA Canada Program, please visit: http://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada_programhttps://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada_program&amp;lt;/a&amp;gt;

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/3/2021
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9557

Academia Sinica
Rank: Assistant Research Fellow (equivalent to Assistant Professor)
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology
Position Announcement
Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

1. The Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica (IPSAS), Taipei, Taiwan, seeks to appoint full-time faculty members at the rank of assistant research fellow (which is equivalent to assistant professor). Application for higher rank will also be considered.

2. The applicant should specialize at least one of the following fields: (1) Taiwan politics and comparative democracy; (2) China and comparative politico-economic transition; (3) cross-Strait relations and international relations theory; (4) political changes in Asia and global democratic development; and, (5) political methodology.

3. The applicant must have a doctoral degree in political science or related disciplines, or is able to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 31, 2022.

4. Applicants for positions of assistant research fellow should submit the following documents:
(1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
(2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate or certification for completion of course work and successful defense of dissertation (for applicants who have not yet passed the oral examination, proof for completion of courses and a letter certifying imminent holding of oral examination are required);
(3) two copies of the doctoral dissertation (or draft) and other publications;
(4) an abstract (in both English and Chinese) of the doctoral dissertation;
(5) transcripts from undergraduate and graduate schools;
(6) a statement of research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
(7) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio; those applying for the position of assistant research fellow should have one letter from the dissertation advisor).

5. Applicants for positions of associate research fellow or above should submit the following documents:
(1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
(2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate;
(3) three representative publications (and two copies each);
(4) proofs for appointments in Taiwanese or international academic institutes;
(5) a statement of research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
(6) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio).

6. The application should be sent to Dr. Chung-li Wu, Director, Institute of Political Science, Academia Sinica, 128 Academia Rd., Sec. 2, Taipei 115201, Taiwan, R.O.C..

7. Questions can be forwarded to Ms. Ren-Yuan Lo at 886-2-2652-5303, faxed to 886-2-2783-2610, or e-mailed to ipsas@gate.sinica.edu.tw.

8. The application should be received by November 30, 2021.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9592

Dartmouth College
Rank: Distinguished Visiting Scholars

As part of a new program within the Dickey Center for International Understanding, Dartmouth’s Initiative for Global Security (DIGS) invites applications for its distinguished visiting scholars program. Each year, DIGS selects a number of distinguished academics who will spend 3-12 months at Dartmouth working on their own research projects and collaborating with Dartmouth faculty, postdoctoral fellows, and students. DIGS advances Dartmouth’s contributions to international security through research designed to improve policymaking and by promoting direct engagement with foreign policymakers. It welcomes scholars from any discipline whose research bears on international security (broadly conceived) and has implications for real-world policy choices.

About the Program

Visiting Scholars are selected competitively on the basis of applicants’ qualifications and the relevance of their research to DIGS’s mission and objectives. The Initiative offers stipends to visiting scholars meant to supplement leave/sabbatical support. The amount of the stipend depends on length of stay. Visiting scholars are given offices at the Dickey Center and are afforded full access to Dartmouth libraries and facilities.

We are especially interested in scholars who can stay for one or more full terms during the regular academic year. Visiting scholars who wish to join us for the summer term (June 20-August 30) are asked to spend at least one additional term in residence. Visiting Scholars are expected to be in residence.

Dartmouth is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity. In that spirit, we are particularly interested in receiving applications from a broad spectrum of people, including women, persons of color, persons with disabilities, veterans or any other legally protected group.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates.

To apply, please visit: https://dickey.dartmouth.edu/programs/security/distinguished-visiting-scholars. There, please fill in the form and upload your letter of interest outlining objectives of the visit and research plans, as well as a current CV. The DIGS faculty committee will review applications for the 2022-23 Academic Year in January. Any questions, or inquiries, please email global.security@dartmouth.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9584

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Kiel Institute for the World Economy
Rank: Postdoc International Economics and Geopolitics

The Kiel Institute for the World Economy (IfW) seeks applications for a position as Postdoctoral Researcher in International Economics and Geopolitics in the Research Center “International Finance and Macroeconomics”. We are a young, dynamic and international research group focusing on international finance and macro as well as on international political economy. We will considerably expand our research agenda on geopolitics and international economics, e.g. on how geopolitics shapes international finance and trade. Much of our research is empirical and often takes a long-run perspective, drawing on decades or even centuries of data.

The position is strongly research oriented. There is no teaching obligation and there is only a very light administrative burden. Most importantly, you will be expected to work on relevant, high-quality research and to publish in leading economics journals. You will also be expected to contribute to the policy activities of the Kiel institute, although ideally the policy work should be based on your research output.

We are looking for a candidate who meets the following criteria:

- PhD in economics, quantitative political science or a related field (completed or close to completion).
- Excellent academic record and outstanding research potential.
- Experience and interest in international economics and/or international political economy, in particular on topics related to geopolitics and geo-economics.
- Experience in large-scale data management and/or historical data collection is an asset but not a requirement.
- Experience of working on China and/or with Chinese data is an asset but not a requirement.
- The working language is English; excellent English skills are therefore required. Some knowledge of German would be useful, but is not essential.
- First publications are an asset but not a requirement.

The planned contract period is three years (starting in the summer/fall of 2022), but a shorter contract is possible. Also an extension of up to six years is possible. The salary will be based on the German public sector pay scale at grade EG 14 TV L. The position is full-time, but part-time employment is possible.

The Kiel Institute is an equal opportunity employer with a certified family-friendly policy. We promote the professional opportunities of women and strongly encourage them to apply. Women with equivalent qualifications, competence, and expertise will be given preference. We are committed to employing persons with recognized disabilities and will therefore give them preference over persons without disabilities if they are equally qualified.

Please submit your application online, using the Econ Job market portal for economists: https://econjobmarket.org/positions. The review process starts in November or early December. Please include a letter of interest, your CV, transcripts of your academic record and your job market paper and make sure letters of reference are linked to your application. For additional information, please contact Prof. Christoph Trebesch (christoph.trebesch@ifw-kiel.de).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9582

---

University of Texas at Dallas
Rank: Assistant Professor - Cybersecurity
Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Public Policy

The Public Policy and Political Economy program in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences (EPPS) at The University of Texas at Dallas is seeking applications for a tenure-system Assistant Professor in Cybersecurity and Policy.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science or public policy-related field. The candidate’s research agenda should focus on issues of cybersecurity with an international/cross-national dimension. Research topics of special interest include ethical and legal aspects of cybersecurity, regulation across countries, the economics of information security, the interaction of security and privacy considerations, and the politics of developing and administrating cybersecurity policies and programs. While experience in the private sector, government agency, NGO or public policy organization will be an advantage, all exceptional candidates will be considered. Ideal candidates will demonstrate their ability to contribute to existing program strengths in quantitative methods.

Applicants should upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statements of teaching and research philosophy; teaching evaluations; and the full contact information for at least three academic or professional references.

The University of Texas at Dallas is committed to providing an educational, living and working environment that is welcoming, respectful and inclusive of all members of the university community. The University prohibits unlawful discrimination against a person because of their race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status.

apply online: https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/16876
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9587

---

University of Texas at Dallas
Rank: Open Rank Professor of International Relations

apply online at: https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/16878

The School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences (EPPS) at The University of Texas at Dallas is seeking applications for an open rank, tenure-system position in international relations.

The successful candidate for the position will have a PhD in political science or public policy. The area of specialization within international relations is open, but candidates with expertise in international conflict are especially encouraged to apply. Ideal candidates will demonstrate their ability to contribute to existing program strengths in quantitative methods and to publish in the top peer-reviewed journals and presses in the field.

The successful candidate will demonstrate a record of or potential for teaching excellence and will be expected to teach both undergraduate and graduate courses, with most faculty teaching two courses per semester. The school’s faculty includes multiple winners of internal and external teaching awards, and the university’s Center for Teaching and Learning helps faculty to incorporate best practices as identified by the scholarship on teaching and learning.

The University of Texas at Dallas was recently ranked 39th among the 100 best universities in the world under 50 years old by Times Higher Education magazine. UT Dallas is one of the youngest universities to achieve the Carnegie Commission’s highest research classification of “Doctoral Universities – Very High Research Activity.”

Applicants should upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching and research philosophy; teaching evaluations (if available); a sample of recent written work; and the full contact information for at least three academic or professional references.

The University of Texas at Dallas is committed to providing an educational, living, and working environment that is welcoming, respectful, and inclusive of all members of the university community. The University prohibits unlawful discrimination against a person because of their race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9588

Amherst College
Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Law
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, International Law & Organizations, Religion & Politics

Amherst College’s Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a full-time one-year visiting appointment for the 2022-2023 academic year (beginning July 1, 2022). The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, religion, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the humanities, social sciences, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is in one or more of the following areas: global legality; post-colonial legality; law and science; law and critical race theory; law and religion; legal theory; legal history; and law and culture. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D.

Applicants should submit electronically to Interfolio http://apply.interfolio.com/96654 a cover letter addressed to Professor Martha M. Umphrey, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on January 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9566

Wittenberg University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Wittenberg University seeks to hire a full-time, tenure track- assistant professor beginning August 1, 2022. Wittenberg is committed to attracting and retaining highly qualified individuals who collectively reflect the diversity of our student body and society at-large. We seek candidates with teaching and research interests in international relations or comparative politics, with a focus outside of advanced democracies and political economy. A successful candidate will also be expected to offer a course in American national institutions (i.e., Congress & the Presidency). Applicants must be committed to teaching in a liberal arts environment as well as to professional activity.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. (or ABD) in Political Science and interest in teaching in the liberal arts and sciences context. For further information about the position, please contact the chair of the Political Science Department at jallan@wittenberg.edu.

The successful candidate will demonstrate support for diversity, equity and inclusiveness as well as participate in maintaining a respectful, positive work environment. Please see our notice of nondiscrimination housed on our website.

Wittenberg University is committed to preventing and addressing sexual misconduct in our campus community. Our Title IX policies can be viewed on our university website.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Interested applicants must apply online by visiting: http://wittenberg.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JobID=137949. Applications will not be accepted by email or postal mail. As part of the application process, please upload:

- A cover letter
- A curriculum vitae
- Evidence of successful teaching
Statement of teaching philosophy:
A statement that addresses your interest in teaching at a liberal arts college and how your experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service might contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values; Unofficial graduate transcripts.

In addition, please ask your referees (three) to send their recommendation letters via email directly to Elizabeth Howe, Executive Assistant to the Provost (ehowe@wittenberg.edu).

If you are a person with a disability and require assistance with the application process, please contact Wittenberg’s Human Resources Department at 937-327-7517.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9558

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022. The application deadline is Wednesday, December 1, 2021.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92233

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
• CV;
• Research Statement;
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
• Two scholarly writing samples;
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
• Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9548

Council on Foreign Relations
Rank: 2022-23 Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship

Council on Foreign Relations Seeking 2022-2023 Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship Applicants

The Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship offers younger scholars studying nuclear security issues the opportunity to spend a period of twelve months at CFR’s offices in New York or Washington, DC, conducting policy-relevant research. While in residence full time at CFR, selected fellows will lead a project of their own design, conduct original research, and write at least one policy-relevant document.

Fellowship Award
The duration of the fellowship is twelve months, beginning in September. The program awards a stipend of $110,000 for junior faculty and $80,000 for postdoctoral fellows. Fellows are considered independent
CUNY-Queens College

Rank: Assistant Professor Position in International Political Economy

Specializations: International Political Economy, Western Europe, Africa

The Department of Political Science at Queens College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor appointment in International Relations, to begin in the Fall 2022 semester. We are seeking candidates who can teach courses in International Political Economy, and in European or African Politics. The successful applicant is also expected to maintain an active research agenda and to participate in the department’s advisement and service responsibilities. The position requires a PhD by the date of appointment.

Applicants should email a cover letter and curriculum vitae, a writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a graduate school transcript, and curriculum vitae to the search committee at psciqc@gmail.com, and have at least two, but preferably three, letters of recommendation emailed to that address. Applications must be received by November 20, 2021 (extended from Nov 6). In addition, in order for their application to be considered complete, applicants must also upload (in a combined document) their cover letter, a CV, and the names of three references to CUNYfirst here: https://cuny.jobs/queens-ny/assistant-professor-political-science/778D8426042142F2AFB8F4370B901E75/job/ or go to www.cuny.edu, select “Employment” from the “About” menu, click “Search all postings,” enter “22882” into the Search box and click “Search, click on “Assistant Professor – Political Science – Queens College”); click on “Apply Now” and follow the instructions.

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans, and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian-Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEOO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/20/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9549

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Sanford School of Public Policy seeks to hire a tenure-track political scientist with a focus on international policy at the rank of assistant professor. The preferred candidate will have at least two years of experience since receiving their Ph.D. and will have expertise that aligns with one or more of the following areas: energy, environment, health, international development, international security, media and democracy, social policy, or technology. We value applications from faculty with a strong interest in policy engagement.

Candidates should be able to teach courses in their area of specialization and core courses in the Sanford curriculum on topics such as globalization, international governance, policy analysis, and/or statistics.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. and a record of (or demonstrated capacity for) scholarly publication and excellence in teaching.

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, four Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. Current faculty members have degrees in a variety of disciplines including demography, economics, history, law, medicine, philosophy, political science, psychology/social psychology, public policy, public health/health policy, and sociology. The Sanford School houses several interdisciplinary research centers and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at https://www.sanford.duke.edu.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that describes their research and teaching interests and experiences, CV, writing sample, and names and contact information for three references. These materials should be submitted via the following website: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19958.

Applications submitted by November 12, 2021 will be guaranteed full consideration. For further information, contact Sarah Bermeo, search committee chair, at sarah.bermeo@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/12/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9530

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: Fellow/Senior Fellow for Climate Change Policy

Overview

The David Rockefeller Studies Program at the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking to hire a fellow or senior fellow for climate change. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct original research and writing on what should be done to prevent and mitigate the consequences of climate change and to navigate the global green transition underway. This is an extraordinary opportunity for an individual looking to shape the national conversation on what the federal government, state and local businesses, companies, and individuals should do to minimize and possibly reverse the damage being done by a changing climate. The position will be filled at either the fellow or senior fellow level, depending on the selected applicant’s credentials and accomplishments. The position can be based in either New York or Washington, DC.

The major responsibilities of this position will include (but are not limited to):
Writing books, articles, and op-eds.
Organizing and leading roundtables, study groups, and workshops at CFR on climate change, its economic, political, and social consequences, and possible U.S. and multilateral policy responses.
Interacting with CFR’s distinguished membership and participating in CFR programs and activities.
Meeting with administration officials, members of Congress, their staffs, and other relevant groups to brief them on research findings and recommendations.
Educating a broader public audience through media interviews and public speaking.
Developing fundraising proposals for the program in collaboration with senior staff.

Qualifications
PhD in a relevant field, or equivalent experience in government, journalism, or business.
Demonstrated expertise on climate-change issues.
An established publication record on climate-change issues.
Strong research, writing, and speaking skills.
Experience mentoring junior staff preferred.

About CFR
Founded in 1921, the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is a leading nonprofit membership organization, research center, and publisher, with headquarters in New York, an office in Washington, DC, and programs nationwide. It is dedicated to increasing America’s understanding of the world and contributing ideas to U.S. foreign policy. CFR’s 5,000+ members are leaders in international affairs and foreign policy. CFR also publishes Foreign Affairs, the preeminent magazine on global issues, and provides up-to-date information about the world and U.S. foreign policy on its award-winning website, CFR.org.

The Council on Foreign Relations offers a benefits package that is among the best offered by nonprofit institutions today, including an award-winning health and wellness program, an on-site fitness center, and generous leave policies and health insurance programs.

The Council on Foreign Relations is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks candidates from a diverse background.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9521

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

Council on Foreign Relations
Rank: Fellow/Senior Fellow for Trade and International Political Economy

Overview
The David Rockefeller Studies Program at the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking to hire a fellow or senior fellow for trade and international political economy. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct original research and writing on issues related to trade, international finance, and globalization. This is an extraordinary opportunity for an individual conducting cutting-edge work on the future of trade policy, international investment, and the global economy. The position will be filled at either the fellow or senior fellow level, depending on the selected applicant’s credentials and accomplishments. The position can be based in either New York or Washington, DC.

The major responsibilities of this position will include (but are not limited to):
Writing books, articles, and op-eds.
Organizing and leading roundtables, study groups, and workshops at CFR on trade, international finance, and globalization, and identifying the consequences for the United States and possible U.S. policy responses.
Interacting with the Council’s distinguished membership and participating in CFR programs and activities.
Meeting with administration officials, members of Congress, their staffs, and other relevant groups to brief them on research findings and recommendations.
Educating a broader public audience through media interviews and public speaking.
Developing fundraising proposals for the program in collaboration with senior staff.

Qualifications
PhD in a relevant field, or equivalent experience in government, journalism, or business.
Demonstrated expertise on trade, international finance, and related issues.
An established publication record on trade and international economic issues.
Strong research, writing, and speaking skills.
Experience mentoring junior staff preferred.

About CFR
Founded in 1921, the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is a leading nonprofit membership organization, research center, and publisher, with headquarters in New York, an office in Washington, DC, and programs nationwide. It is dedicated to increasing America’s understanding of the world and contributing ideas to U.S. foreign policy. CFR’s 5,000+ members are leaders in international affairs and foreign policy. CFR also publishes Foreign Affairs, the preeminent magazine on global issues, and provides up-to-date information about the world and U.S. foreign policy on its award-winning website, CFR.org.

The Council on Foreign Relations offers a benefits package that is among the best offered by nonprofit institutions today, including an award-winning health and wellness program, an on-site fitness center, and generous leave policies and health insurance programs.

The Council on Foreign Relations is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks candidates from a diverse background.

Symphony Talent

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in Political Science
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Social Movements, Research Methods

Post-Doctoral Associate in Political Science
Division of Social Sciences
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint a Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science starting September 2022. Later start dates are also possible. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

About NYU Abu Dhabi
NYU Abu Dhabi is a pioneer of higher education in a global world, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, while advancing cooperation and progress on humanity’s shared challenges. Part of the NYU global network, NYU Abu Dhabi offers an outstanding liberal arts and science education to students from the United Arab Emirates, United States, and around the world, focusing on intercultural understanding and leadership. It supports innovative research that pushes the frontiers of knowledge forward and responds in powerful and interdisciplinary ways to vital global and local questions. NYU Abu Dhabi advances NYU as a model university for the 21st century and contributes in multiple ways to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based economy in Abu Dhabi.

As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students, and providing an intellectually rich environment.

About the Social Science Division: More information can be found here: https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/divisions/social-science/faculty.html?_charset_=UTF-8&program=political-science-major&affiliation=&keywords=

Working for NYU Abu Dhabi
A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it’s your home and in order for you to research, teach, and thrive, we’re offering a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. Start with generous relocation allowances to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by competitive salaries, housing and transportation allowances, and educational assistance for your dependents. Health and wellness services round out our offerings, plus more. Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications
Applicants have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in political science, with a particular interest for interdisciplinary interactions with the other fields in the Division, in particular in Economics, Sociology and Public Policy.

Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

Application Instructions
To apply for this position, please submit the following items to: https://apply.interfolio.com/93481

- CV
- Statement of Teaching Interests
- Research Sample/Job Market Paper
- Names and contact information for three (3) references. (References will be contacted and asked to submit their confidential letter through the online application system, Interfolio.)

We will begin reviewing applications on October 1st and will continue on a rolling basis. Shortlisted candidates are expected to interview in the Fall. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in academic year 2022-2023.

Note: We will continue to consider applicants until all positions are filled.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now.
Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9515

Whitman College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Indigenous Politics in a Global Context
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory
Assistant Professor of Indigenous Politics in a Global Context
Whitman College

Located in the historic community of http://www.wallawalla.org/, Whitman’s beautiful tree-lined campus is home to an intellectually diverse, dynamic, and supportive community of some 500 staff and faculty serving roughly 1,500 students from the local region and across the globe. With exceptional students, accomplished faculty and staff, along with a fiercely loyal and growing number of engaged alumni,
Whitman College continues to build on its national reputation for academic excellence as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country.

The Department of Politics seeks applicants for a Tenure-track position beginning August 2022, with expertise in Indigenous politics in a global context, at the rank of assistant professor. Applicants must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

We welcome candidates with a wide range of methodological approaches and disciplinary backgrounds. The successful candidate will have broad latitude to design undergraduate courses at the lower- and upper-levels that build on their scholarly interests. Course topics could include, but are not limited to, Indigenous politics; racial politics in a global context; international politics; political theory; settler-colonialism and decolonization; land and territory; international law; and/or geographically-focused classes. The candidate selected for this position will have the opportunity to contribute to the college’s Center for Global Studies, as well as interdisciplinary programs such as Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, and Race and Ethnic Studies, as appropriate. Whitman College has a formal, ongoing collaborative relationship with the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Reservation. The candidate selected for this position would have the opportunity to participate in that collaboration, if desired.

The annual teaching load at Whitman is five course equivalents, which includes thesis mentoring. The College provides a generous pre-tenure sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching.

Whitman College is committed to cultivating an inclusive learning community. Applicants should be able to demonstrate their commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion and articulate how their classroom and scholarly practices work to advance antiracism in the learning environment. This statement can be included in the cover letter or the teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should address their interest in working at a liberal arts college with undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction.

To apply, go to https://apptrkr.com/2542666. BambooHR will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a letter of application; separate statements addressing the candidate’s teaching interests and scholarly/performance agenda; curriculum vitae; contact information for three references; graduate transcripts; and evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction.

Review of applications will begin November 4, 2021.

For full application instructions and position description, visit https://apptrkr.com/2542666

Copyright ©2021 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

George Mason University

Rank: Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, International Relations

Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor

The Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University invites applications for three tenure-line hires. Rank and field are open. We encourage applications from talented scholars with diverse backgrounds who are committed to being part of and contributing to a nationally and internationally recognized school of policy and government. We seek candidates with very strong research records — which include publications in top journals — and trajectories for continued high research productivity. We also prefer applicants with an established track record of securing external funding that will support transformative research and doctoral students. The discipline for these hires is open, including but not limited to economics, management, political science, public policy, regional science, and sociology.

The Schar School is known among policy schools for its multidisciplinary breadth in scholarship, and for its successful educational programs at all levels, including a substantial PhD program. The School’s distinguished faculty currently includes 62 tenure-line members in a variety of disciplines, all with expertise linked to policy-relevant analysis and practice. The location of our graduate campus in Arlington, Virginia (10 minutes by metro or car from downtown Washington, D.C.) provides faculty with unparalleled access to policymakers, international media, and governmental and nongovernmental organizations.

Applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51429, complete and submit the online application, and upload a cover letter and CV. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should also provide with their application a list of three professional references with contact information; senior candidates will be asked for references if they are short-listed.

The positions will remain open until filled, but for best consideration applications should be completed by November 15, 2021.

For additional information about Whitman College and the Walla Walla area, see http://www.whitman.edu/ and http://www.wallawalla.org/.

Applicants should apply at https://apptrkr.com/2542666, complete and submit the online application, and upload a cover letter and CV. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should also provide with their application a list of three professional references with contact information; senior candidates will be asked for references if they are short-listed.

The positions will remain open until filled, but for best consideration applications should be completed by November 15, 2021.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
jID: 9504

For full application instructions and position description, visit https://apptrkr.com/2542666

Copyright ©2021 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Stanton Fellowship in Nuclear Security

The Security Studies Program at MIT invites applications for fellows in the field of nuclear security. Fellowships are available for pre-doctoral and post-doctoral scholars and for junior faculty. Fellows are expected to produce policy-relevant research, including book manuscripts, draft articles, dissertations, chapters in edited volumes, or reports. Nuclear security as a subject of study is an umbrella term that includes nuclear war, nuclear terrorism, nuclear proliferation, nuclear weapons, nuclear force posture, and, as it relates to nuclear security, nuclear energy. The deadline for applications is 1 December 2021. Application forms (and further information about eligibility requirements) are available at https://ssp.mit.edu/about/fellowships/nuclear-security-fellows-program. Applications, along with any further questions, should be submitted by email to: ssp-fellowships@mit.edu. MIT is an AA/EO employer and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9506

Michigan State University

Rank: Research Associate - Fixed Term

Specializations: Trade, Asian American Politics, Economic Policy

An interdisciplinary team of researchers at Michigan State University, Arizona State University and the University of Florida is seeking applicants for a full-time Post-Doctoral Research Associate annual year position to collaborate on a Department of Defense Minerva grant. The grant is focused on Chinese economic growth, trade interdependence (particularly in energy trade), and subsequent effects on the United States and global order. Initial work will focus on reviewing the rise of China as a global economic power and US policy concerns about its investments in Africa and other places of strategic interest. The Research Associate’s duties may include project-related research, project coordination, managing undergraduate research projects and related curricular and co-curricular programs, and working with team members across the three institutions. Position will be based in East Lansing, Michigan with an initial 12-month annual appointment. Renewal up to two additional years may be possible subject to performance and funding availability.

Required Degree

Doctorate -International Relations/International Political Economy

Minimum Requirements

To receive serious consideration for the position, applicants must meet the following criteria:

- A PhD in Political Science or cognate social science discipline, with preference given to applicants with research agendas focused on the geopolitics and economics associated with China’s rise in world affairs.

- Demonstrated knowledge of China’s economic and political relations, rising powers more generally, and international relations theory regarding international order

- Strong writing skills, including the demonstrated ability, or the promise thereof, to publish in academic journals.

- Applicants must be currently authorized to work in the US on a full time basis

Desired Qualifications

- Qualitative and/or quantitative analytical skills, including network analysis

- Strong interpersonal and communication skills

- Experience guiding undergraduate research projects

Required Application Materials

Applications should be submitted electronically through the Michigan State University’s Human Resources application system. The application should include a one-page statement of interest, a CV, and the names, titles, and contact information for three references.

Together-we-will Statement

The university is requiring all MSU students, faculty and staff to be vaccinated against COVID-19 with limited exceptions. Learn more at: https://msu.edu/together-we-will/

Special Instructions

Applications should be submitted electronically through the Michigan State University Human Resources application system: careers.msu.edu

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 10/22/2021
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9505

Montana State University, Bozeman

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Montana State University – Bozeman invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in the subfield of international relations. The committee is open to candidates with a background in any substantive area in international relations. The position includes responsibilities related to teaching, scholarship, and service. The baseline teaching expectation is two courses per semester. As increasing diversity in the political science profession is one of our strategic priorities, women and underrepresented minorities in political science are particularly encouraged to apply. The Department of Political Science values different perspectives and is committed to continually supporting, promoting, and building an inclusive and culturally diverse campus environment. The start date of the position is August 2022.

Screening of applications will begin November 1, 2021; however, applications will continue to be accepted until an adequate applicant pool has been established.

Montana State University values diverse perspectives and is committed to continually supporting, promoting and building an inclusive and culturally diverse campus environment. The College of Letters & Science (CLS) at Montana State University encourages individuals interested in advancing the University’s Strategic Plan diversity, equity, and inclusion goals to apply. Links to the University Strategic Plan; Office of Diversity and Inclusion; Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) Plan; CLS Commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion; and CLS newsletter, Diversity Matters are all embedded here for reference. CLS is committed to developing a diverse faculty, staff, and student body and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of differences in ways that promote excellence in research, teaching, and service/outreach engagement, and institutional success. In keeping with this commitment, the College encourages applications from candidates with diverse backgrounds. We recruit, employ, train, and promote regardless of race, gender, sex, religion, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, color, national origin, disability, age, veterans status, and other underrepresented groups. MSU also recognizes the importance of work-life integration and strives to be responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

Duties and Responsibilities
Ongoing peer-reviewed publication of original research and public presentation of research

Teaching two large sections of Introduction to International Relations annually;

Teaching research methods at the undergraduate level, with a focus on quantitative research;

Teaching upper-level undergraduate courses that fit with the individual’s background and interests; and Perform service activities to the department and profession.

Required Qualifications
Ph.D. or ABD in political science or closely related discipline with a specialization in international relations, with Ph.D. earned prior to the start of the appointment in August 2022;

Demonstrated potential for effectiveness in teaching at the undergraduate level in higher education, including the potential to advise undergraduate students; and Demonstrated potential for effectiveness in conducting and disseminating international relations research.

Preferred Qualifications
Ph.D. in political science or closely related discipline with a specialization in international relations at the time of application;

Demonstrated effectiveness in teaching at the undergraduate level in higher education;

Demonstrated effectiveness in conducting and disseminating international relations research; and

Evidence of commitment to working with issues of diversity and/or engaging with diverse students and colleagues.

To apply, please navigate to our job posting at Montana State University’s website located at: https://jobs.montana.edu/postings/26032 . Once there, please submit a cover letter addressing the candidate’s required and preferred qualifications in detail, including discussion of commitment to diversity (max 3 pages); a current CV; graduate transcripts; a list of at least three academic references, with contact information; a statement of teaching interests, including evidence of teaching effectiveness or potential effectiveness (max 2 pages); and a statement of research interests (max 2 pages).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9510

Tecnologico de Monterrey
Rank: Assistant and Adjunct Faculty Positions
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Health Care

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues. Subfields of political science of interest include international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and health and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:
Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2022.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents. The Tecnológico de Monterrey is an equal opportunity employer, committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community, and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities.
The university is committed to attracting and retaining outstanding and diverse faculty.

Documents Required:
Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format:
- Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
- Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.
- Three letters of recommendation. Ph.D. candidates should include a letter from their chair indicating defense date.
For sending materials please contact Talent Academic Acquisition Specialist Martha Junia Navarro mcyon@tec.mx

For informal inquiries please contact the following committee members:
Prof. Mariana Rangel: mariana.rangel@tec.mx
Prof. Gabriel Aguillera: gabe.aguillera@tec.mx

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:
For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/ The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey and other locations. For more information, visit https://tec.mx/es/noticias/ciencias-sociales-y-gobierno

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9502

Texas A&M University
Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship in International Affairs or Public Administration
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Other

Texas A&M University’s Accountability, Climate, Equity, and Scholarship (ACES) Faculty Fellows Program is a faculty pipeline initiative that connects those advancing outstanding scholarship with relevant disciplinary units on campus. ACES Faculty Fellows are hired as Visiting Assistant Professors with the expectation of transitioning to tenure track at the end of the two-year fellowship period. ACES Faculty Fellows will teach one course per academic year, thereby benefiting from dedicated research time.

In recognition of Texas A&M University’s Diversity Plan (https://diversity.tamu.edu/Diversity/media/diversity/PDF/Diversity-Plan-2010.pdf), the ACES Faculty Fellows Program promotes the research, teaching, and scholarship of early career scholars who embrace the belief that diversity is an indispensable component of academic excellence. From this experience at Texas A&M, fellows should develop an understanding of the value of diversity and inclusion and the power that it holds for students, faculty, and staff to enrich their lives. ACES Faculty Fellows will benefit from: prescriptive mentoring, access to instructional best practices, a vast array of world-class research and productivity resources, and a robust network of renowned Texas A&M scholars from across disciplines.

Qualifications
Applications are welcome from scholars with a strength in, and evidence of, a respect for diversity and inclusion. We invite applications from scholars whose work aligns with a field or department(s) in the The Bush School of Government and Public Service (https://bush.tamu.edu/), particularly in the area(s) of:
- Department of International Affairs (https://bush.tamu.edu/inta/)
- Department of Public Service and Administration (https://bush.tamu.edu/psaa/)

Applicants’ should have earned their doctoral degrees (PhD) between January 1, 2018 and July 1, 2022.

Application Instructions
Prior to beginning the online application, individuals are encouraged to review the instructions and the requested materials. Applications are due by 11:59 pm Eastern on November 1, 2021. The application for the Texas A&M University’s ACES Faculty Fellows Program requires submission of the following online at http://apply.interfolio.com/92053:
- Your contact information (Name, email, phone number, address, and name of your doctoral-granting institution)
- Cover letter (1-3 pages)
- CV
- Proposal of scholarly project(s) (3-5 pages) that will be conducted during the fellowship years
- Statement (1-3 pages) explaining how your scholarship, teaching, and/or other experiences have demonstrated a commitment to diversity and how that commitment may benefit Texas A&M University
- One writing sample (e.g., book chapter, chapter from your dissertation, journal article, work under review, or work in progress)
- Contact information for three references including name, title, and contact information -- Please do not include your letters of reference with your application materials. The Office for Diversity will ask you for your letters if your application advances through the review process.

Please note: While there is a single application for The Bush School of Government and Public Service, applicants will select the department(s) that best align(s) with their research and scholarship.

Please email ACES@tamu.edu if you have any questions related to eligibility, technical issues with the application, or program details.

The website for The Bush School of Government and Public Service is below:
https://bush.tamu.edu/

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9512
United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Visiting Scientist
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other
Specializations: Defense, International Security, Science & Technology

The Eisenhower Center for Space and Defense Studies within the Department of Political Science supports production and dissemination of knowledge relevant to cadets’ National Security learning outcome at the United States Air Force Academy (USAFA). In conjunction with USAFA’s Nuclear Enterprise Research Center, Department of Physics, the Eisenhower Center invites applications for a one-year visiting scientist (with potential to extend to two years) to research implications of integrated deterrence, which combines conventional and nuclear strategies across multiple domains, for nuclear posture and infrastructure. The visitor will teach one section of approximately twenty-five cadets per semester and participate with Physics and Political Science research centers on a project exploring “Deterrence and Nuclear Modernization.” Financial support of $100K plus a travel budget for the twelve-month term (July 2022–June 2023, one year renewable) will be provided by the Stanton Foundation (Cambridge, MA) through the Air Force Academy Foundation. Expectations for research and teaching will be communicated formally through a separate Volunteer Service Agreement with the Superintendent of the Academy. Ideal candidates will have received their Ph.D. in Political Science or related field and demonstrated technical expertise through a master’s degree and/or policy experience in a STEM field related to nuclear war, nuclear terrorism, nuclear proliferation, nuclear weapons, nuclear force posture, or, as it relates to nuclear security, nuclear energy. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. USAFA’s Department of Political Science homepage can be found at: https://www.usafa.edu/academic/political-science/. Applicants should e-mail cover letter expressing their interest, CV, and two-letters of recommendation to Col Kris Bauman (kris.bauman@afacademy.af.edu), Eisenhower Center, Department of Political Science, USAFA. Application deadline: December 15, 2021.
Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: $100,000 - $109,999
eJobs ID: 9511

University of Denver

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Environmental Sustainability
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking candidates for the following Associate or Full Tenure-Line faculty position:

Environmental Sustainability – Associate or Full Tenure-Line Professor
We seek a scholar, trained in any relevant discipline or interdisciplinary program, with a prominent research profile in environmental sustainability, broadly understood. The appointment will be at the Associate or Full Professor rank, with tenure. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching in our undergraduate, certificate and MA programs in sustainability and have the opportunity to play a leading role in developing our emerging “Sustainability Initiative,” including fundraising, enhancing our research programming, and engaging with communities outside the university. https://jobs.du.edu/cw/en-us/job/493999/associate-or-full-professor-environmental-sustainability-josef-korbel-school-of-international-studies

University of Virginia

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Democracy and International Relations or Comparative Politics, Department of Politics

In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia’s Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a multiyear faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability and representation, either to advance the work of the core lab on the history and principles of democracy or to contribute to one of the Initiative’s other projects.

This year, with the support of the Nau Foundation, the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position for a scholar who studies democracy in a comparative or international context. Candidates should have an active research agenda and a strong commitment to excellent teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. We are especially interested in scholars who study international institutions, challenges to democratic consolidation, civil conflicts, and/or identity politics or the politics of development in countries or regions outside of North America and Europe. We are also especially interested in candidates with strong backgrounds in quantitative research methods.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences. To that end, the Initiative supports a variety of labs built on models of collaborative work. The Democracy Labs consist of a series of three-year, rotating labs on various topics, connected by the work of the John Nau III History and Principles of Democracy Lab (the Nau Core Lab), an interdisciplinary hub of research, teaching, and outreach. Current labs are focused on corruption and the rule of law, democracy and new media, democratic statecraft, the links between environmental and racial inequality, and race, religion, and democracy. The Democracy Initiative also supports two projects focused on community engagement and research, the Memory Project and The Equity Center. In addition to holding appointments in their home departments, each new faculty member hired under this initiative will also be a member either of the Nau Core lab or one of the Initiative’s other research labs or projects.

Application review will begin November 1, 2021 and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2021. Applicants must have received their PhD by time of appointment.

TO APPLY:

Apply online at https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs: search for posting #R0029153 complete the application, and attach the following:

 Please note all required documents must be uploaded in the 'Resume' box and can be combined into one PDF file.

1. Cover letter of application describing (1) areas of research and teaching interest (2) potential research collaborations; (3) your demonstrated past experience working on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or working with diverse populations (not to exceed three single spaced pages).
2. Current curriculum vitae
3. A statement outlining what kinds of intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed two single-spaced pages).
4. A research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages).
5. A teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page).

The following MUST be Submitted directly to: pol-ircp-search2021@virginia.edu.

1. One article-length writing sample
2. Three letters of recommendation

Applications that do not contain all the required documents will not receive full consideration.

Questions about this position should be directed to Jennifer Lawless at jll9jx@virginia.edu. Questions regarding the application process should be directed to: Nicole Robinson, Faculty Search Advisor at nr7f@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit https://dualcareer.virginia.edu. For more information about UVA and the Charlottesville community please see http://www.virginia.edu/life/charlottesville and https://embarkcva.com/

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

COVID Vaccination Requirement

The University of Virginia expects all current and new employees (UVA Health System and Academic), to be vaccinated against COVID-19.

If hired to work within the University Health System, you will be required to provide proof of vaccination or be willing to receive the vaccination. Employees that are working 100% remotely will not be subject to weekly prevalence testing; however, if the employee works on UVA Grounds (including the Medical Center) even intermittently, then they are required to be tested for COVID-19 once per week on an indefinite basis and follow masking mandates.

NOTE: Some medical and safety-sensitive positions require vaccination and are not eligible for an exemption. For more information on how the vaccination and testing requirements will apply to you at your work location, see the UVA New Hire Vaccination Requirements webpage.

The University of Virginia, including the UVA Health System which represents the UVA Medical Center, Schools of Medicine and Nursing, UVA Physician’s Group and the Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, are fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is excellence expressing itself through every person’s perspectives and lived experiences. We are equal opportunity and affirmative action employers. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9496

Georgetown University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow in Russian Politics and International Affairs

Georgetown University invites applications for a Post-Doctoral Fellow in Russian Politics and International Affairs. The position will be based at the Center for Eurasian, Russian, and East European Studies (CERES) of the Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service and supported by a Carnegie Corporation grant, “For Enhancing Academic and Public Policy Understanding of Russia.” The successful applicant will conduct research and teach one course per semester in support of one of the top interdisciplinary MA programs in this field. Preference will be given to scholars whose work focuses on Russian foreign policy, including U.S-Russian relations, ties with neighboring and surrounding states (including in the EU and China), and conduct in the international arena. Applicants must have completed the PhD by the start of the position and have received the degree within the past 5 years.

The position starts January 1, 2022 and will last for 12-18 months, with possibility of extension.

Applicants should submit a cover letter outlining scholarly and teaching qualifications, a c.v., three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching preparation or teaching portfolio, and one writing sample such as a dissertation chapter or published work. SFS is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. Applicants should also submit a one-page diversity statement that discusses how they would contribute to inclusive excellence in the areas of research, teaching, and service in the SFS and reflects on their teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds. Applications should be submitted at: https://apply.interfolio.com/95739. The deadline for applications is November 1. Review of applications will begin immediately after the deadline and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/20206
Date Posted: 10/1/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9484

Georgetown University

Rank: Wallenberg Chair in International Business and Finance: Professor, Associate Professor, or Assistant Professor Specializations: International Political Economy, Trade, Foreign Policy

The Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University invites applications from outstanding candidates for the Marcus Wallenberg Chair in International Business and Finance beginning August 1, 2022. The position is housed in the School’s Landegger Program in International Business Diplomacy. The ideal candidate would be an associate or full professor with a strong publication record, however junior candidates with a particularly promising research trajectory may also be considered. Candidates should conduct research related to the role of business in global affairs, broadly defined, including international trade, international political economy, investment, and finance.

The committee will begin reviewing applications as soon as they are received and continue until the position is filled. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, job market paper and a list of references. Applicants should also submit a one-page diversity statement that discusses how they would contribute to inclusive excellence in the areas of research, teaching, and service in the SFS and reflects on their teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds. The committee may ask for letters of recommendation upon request. All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link: http://apply.interfolio.com/95678. Emailed or mailed applications will not be accepted.

Questions about the online application should be directed to Sarah Krauss, Director of Faculty Affairs at srk5@georgetown.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Professor Rodney Ludema at ludemar@georgetown.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2021

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9489

Mercer University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Position Title: Assistant Professor, Political Science
Department: Political Science
Division: College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
Vacancy: Number F23-007
Work Location: Macon, GA
Job Type: Full-time
Job Category: Faculty

Responsibilities The Department of Political Science at Mercer University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science, with specialization in International Relations and Comparative Politics. The start date is August 1, 2022. Duties will consist of teaching seven undergraduate courses per year. Courses within the program may include introduction to international relations, research methods, and comparative regional or country specific courses. The successful candidate will be expected to help inspire and develop new experiential learning opportunities, promote study abroad, support the Mercer on Mission Program, develop international service-learning experiences, encourage and mentor undergraduate research, and to actively support college wide core programs such as the Integrative Studies series and/or Great Books.

Qualifications A Ph.D. degree in Political Science, International Relations, or related field from an accredited college/university is required. ABD candidates will be considered at the Instructor rank but are expected to complete their degree requirements within one year of starting at Mercer. We are searching for a colleague who is broadly trained in international relations and comparative studies and can contribute regularly to the International Affairs track offered by the department. Strong preference will be given to candidates who show a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching, evidence of interdisciplinary training, and whose scholarship focuses on aspects of political, economic, social and/or environmental development in the Asia region. Fluency in a second language, a background in liberal arts education, and membership in Phi Beta Kappa are considered added advantages. Candidates with backgrounds in human rights, international organizations, or environmental politics are highly desirable.

Background Check Selection of the final candidate is contingent upon successful completion of a criminal background check.

Additional Information Mercer University is a private university distinguished by its commitment to teaching, empowering and inspiring its students to create, discover, and serve. The university offers rigorous programs to more than 8,700 students enrolled in schools of liberal arts and sciences, engineering, music, business, law, pharmacy, medicine, nursing, health professions, education, theology, and professional advancement. The highly selective, residential, undergraduate-only College of Liberal Arts and Sciences enrolls over 1900 students. Among the freshmen in 2021, 27% are 1st generation college students, 36% are Pell-eligible, and 51% are Black/African American, Asian, or Hispanic/Latinx. The College, which hosts a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, is dedicated to cultivating intellectual curiosity, respectful dialog, and responsible citizenry. It is located in the historic city of Macon, Georgia, which is the educational, medical, cultural and commercial hub of Middle Georgia, an hour and a half south of Atlanta.
For additional information about Mercer and the Political Science Department, please email Dr. Eimad Houry at houry_e@mercer.edu, or consult the program website: https://liberalarts.mercer.edu/academic-departments/political-science/

Pay Rate: Commensurate with experience

Required Documents: CV, Cover Letter, Statement of Teaching Philosophy, Statement of Research Interests, References

Special Instructions to Applicants: Candidates should access http://jobs.mercer.edu to complete a brief online application and attach a letter of interest, current CV, statement of teaching philosophy including your approach to teaching a diverse student population, a statement on scholarship and scholarly interests (include in Research Interests section), and the names and email addresses of three references. Upon request, candidates should also request that their referees email their letters to houry_e@mercer.edu, or mail their letters directly to: Dr. Eimad Houry, Department of Political Science, Mercer University, 1501 Mercer University Dr., Macon GA 31207. For additional inquiries Dr. Houry can be also be reached at 478-301-2793.

Review of applications will begin immediately. For full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit all materials before December 1, but review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

EEO Statement: AA/EEO/Veteran/Disability

Mercer University recognizes the power of a diverse community and encourages applications from individuals with varied experiences, perspectives, and backgrounds.

Apply Here: https://www.click2apply.net/ljEVZmUGYJ66tNQf4dDq

PI148358921

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2021

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 9471

College of Charleston

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative and International Politics)

The Department of Political Science at the College of Charleston invites applications from candidates working in the subfields of comparative politics or international relations for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor, beginning August 2022. The Department is particularly interested in applicants with a thematically oriented research agenda focusing on one or more of the following: Race, ethnicity, & politics, migration & citizenship, or democracy & autocracy. The Department will consider candidates that take critical approaches to international politics, engaging with questions surrounding power relationships, structural inequities, racial, ethnic and caste divisions, and colonial legacies. We are seeking candidates with a primary regional expertise in Latin America or the Middle East & North Africa. In addition to upper-level classes that align with the person’s research interests, teaching requirements include some combination of Introduction to World Politics, International Relations Theory, and Introduction to Comparative Politics. An interest in teaching the department’s undergraduate research methods course (approach can be quantitative, qualitative, or mixed methods) is a plus. The Department is also interested in candidates who have experience in mentoring and advising students from diverse backgrounds and a demonstrated commitment to improving access to higher education for students who represent historically oppressed and marginalized identities. A PhD in Political Science, Geography, or a related discipline is required.

The Political Science Department has 20 full-time faculty, over 360 undergraduate majors (http://polisci.cofc.edu/), and a Geography Minor (http://geography-minor.cofc.edu/). The department also supports a NASPAA Accredited Master of Public Administration (http://puba.cofc.edu/) and Master of Science in Environmental and Sustainability Studies (http://mes.cofc.edu/) program. The Department of Political Science is committed to the rigorous study of politics, power, and place, expanding opportunities for learning and service, career preparation and civic participation locally and globally.

The College of Charleston is located in historic downtown Charleston in a coastal metropolitan area of 800,000. The College is a public, liberal arts and sciences institution with a student body of approximately 10,000 undergraduate students and 900 graduate students, 20% of whom identify as minority, and 140 international students from 34 different countries. Additional information about the institution, the student body, and the surrounding area is available at https://www.cofc.edu/.

Applicants should apply online at https://jobs.cofc.edu/ and submit a cover letter, a curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, sample publication/example of scholarly research, a teaching portfolio (with a teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness including, but not limited to course syllabi and course evaluations) and contact information for three references.

Questions about the search can be directed to the chair of the political science department Dr. Hollis France franceh@cofc.edu. Review of applications will begin November 15th, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The College seeks to create a work environment and organizational culture that reflects the society and community in which it is located, and a climate for the success of every employee and student by appreciating the uniqueness that each one brings to the learning environment. To that end, we actively encourage applications from all groups underrepresented in higher education.

Georgetown University

Rank: Provost’s Distinguished Fellow and Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Race, Ethnicity and Identity Politics. This search is open to all four fields in the Government Department (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations and Political Theory) and all subfields within political science. Importantly, we seek applicants whose research expands the boundaries of political science and also those... whose research invigorates existing and enduring questions in political science with scholarly insights and perspectives drawn from the politics of race, ethnicity and identity.

Successful candidates will contribute to an intellectual and academic agenda at Georgetown that seeks to establish the University as a premier center for research and teaching in race, ethnicity and identity politics. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to work with multiple units across the University which study race, ethnicity, and the politics of identity, including, among others, the newly established Racial Justice Institute, the African American Studies Department, the McCourt School of Public Policy, and the Georgetown Law Center.

For the first year of this position, the successful candidate will also hold the title of Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow, and will have no teaching and service responsibilities to allow a focus on research while receiving mentorship and support from two senior faculty members. More on the Distinguished Faculty Fellow Program can be found at https://blog.provost.georgetown.edu/increasing-georgetowns-effectiveness-in-recruiting-faculty/).

Candidates should submit a cover letter, cv, three letters of reference, an academic writing sample, and a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion. In this DEI statement, applicants are asked to address any DEI activities they have been involved with (including research, teaching, community service, volunteer work, or presentations), and to highlight how aspects of their own identity (including, among others, ethnic, sociocultural, racial, religious, gender, and sexual identity) have shaped their experiences and world view, including any experiences of discrimination or barriers to advancement. Additionally, candidates are asked to address how diversity, equity and inclusion can advance the academic enterprise, to offer ideas on how to promote equity and inclusion in higher education and in the discipline of political science, more generally. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to academic excellence and diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) through experience teaching and research on matters related to DEI or through service that has fostered DEI in a university community. Please submit these materials to http://apply.interfolio.com/95204 by October 15, 2021 to ensure full consideration, but review of applications will be on-going. The position remains open until filled. Please direct any questions regarding the search to Prof. Douglas S. Reed at reedde@georgetown.edu. Administrative questions regarding search logistics may be directed to Ileana Aguilar at ima2@georgetown.edu.

About Georgetown University and the Government Department

The Government Department at Georgetown is a leading department of Political Science. We are an open, dynamic, and publicly engaged community of scholars, students, and professional staff. We believe in the ideal of scholarship for its own sake but are also deeply committed to the role of cutting-edge research in informing politics and public life. We see our setting in Washington, DC as a rich opportunity for the study of politics, particularly within the field of race, ethnicity and identity politics and we particularly welcome applications from scholars whose research strives to connect the local and particular with broader forces and constructs within political life.

Georgetown University is one of the world’s leading academic and research institutions, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of global citizens to lead and make a difference in the world. We are a vibrant community of exceptional students, faculty, alumni and professionals dedicated to real-world applications of our research, scholarship, faith and service.

Established in 1789, Georgetown is the nation’s oldest Catholic and Jesuit university. Drawing upon the 450-year-old legacy of Jesuit education, we provide students with a world-class learning experience focused on educating the whole person through exposure to different faiths, cultures and beliefs.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, please click here for more information, or contact the Office of Institutional Diversity, Equity & Affirmative Action (IDEA) at (202) 687-4798. We encourage applications from individuals who will contribute to diversity in higher education and who show the potential to advance the department’s goal of a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive scholarly environment.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9470

United States Military Academy

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor of International Affairs
Specializations: International Political Economy, China, East Asia

The Department of Social Sciences of the United States Military Academy at West Point invites candidates for a full-time, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of International Affairs with expertise in international political economy and the politics of China & East Asia, to begin in late June 2022.

JOB DESCRIPTION / DUTIES:
Candidates must have the ability to develop and teach undergraduate courses, advise student research, offer academic counseling and mentorship, and engage in outreach activities. Candidates must also be able to conduct independent and cooperative scholarly research. Candidates may expect to teach courses on international political economy, the politics of China & East Asia, introductory international relations, and other courses aligned with the candidate’s area of expertise.

QUALIFICATIONS:
The candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment. Candidates for the position must clearly demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research and have a record of (or clear potential for) distinguished scholarship and student mentorship. Experience teaching or conducting research in the areas of international political economy and politics of China & East Asia are desirable. The candidate must be willing to support the mission of the United States Military Academy “to educate, train, and inspire” cadets to serve as commissioned officers and leaders of character in the United States Army.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES:
To apply, please submit your full application packet digitally to Ms. Marianne Daniello at marianne.daniello@westpoint.edu. Applicants must include: (1) a cover letter; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) a statement of research and teaching interests; (4) a scholarly writing sample; (5) unofficial copies of graduate school transcripts; (6) three letters of recommendation. If you are claiming veterans’ preference in your application, please indicate this in your cover letter and include a DD214 form in your submission. The deadline for applications is Sunday, October 31, 2021 at 11:59 PM. For assistance or questions with submission, please contact Ms. Daniello at the address above.

ABOUT THE UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY AT WEST POINT:
Nestled in the beautiful Hudson River Valley 50 miles north of New York City, the United States Military Academy was established in 1802. It is the only college specifically charged with preparing young men and women for service as commissioned officers in the United States Army, and remains the nation’s primer leadership development institution. As such, it has a singular educational focus on graduating enlightened military leaders of strong moral and intellectual courage who are creative, critical, and resourceful thinkers. Consistently ranked as one of the United States’ top liberal arts colleges, West Point boasts a 7:1 student to faculty ratio and the most accessible faculty in the nation.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/31/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9469

Baldwin-Wallace University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science
Specializations: East Asia, International Security, Middle East

The Department of Politics and Global Citizenship at Baldwin Wallace (BW) University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in Political Science effective August 2022. Applicants must be committed to undergraduate education and demonstrate the potential for excellence in all facets of a faculty appointment, especially teaching.

The Department welcomes applications from candidates who will build on existing programs and areas of strength in the Department and help us continue supporting interdisciplinary programs on regional studies at BW. The position is intended to meet and expand curricular needs within the Department; to broaden the Department’s experiential learning opportunities; and to contribute to initiatives in the College of Arts and Sciences and to Baldwin Wallace University’s mission of assisting students in their preparation to become contributing, compassionate citizens of an increasingly global society and encourages their pursuit of personal and professional excellence.

Broadly trained specialists with expertise in comparative politics or related fields are encouraged to apply. Candidates should demonstrate experience and expertise in teaching, advising, and a willingness to contribute to the Department’s experiential learning opportunities we offer to our student body. The successful hire will assist in the curricular development of the Department’s growing undergraduate programs in International Studies, Legal Studies, National Security, and Political Science.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related area by the time of appointment, interdisciplinary expertise, teaching experience in related areas, and willingness to mentor undergraduate students are required. Relevant teaching and/or professional experience in non-traditional security areas (e.g., disruptive technologies, resource scarcity, climate change, infectious diseases, human security, etc.) and regional expertise, preferably in East Asia or the Middle East, would be desirable. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the introductory courses in American Government and Comparative Politics, and the entry-level course on research design and political methodology. Other courses to teach would relate to the new hire’s specialization areas.

Baldwin Wallace University is a selective liberal arts university on the outskirts of Cleveland, Ohio. Its Political Science, International Studies, National Security, and Legal Studies programs currently serve approximately one-hundred majors and minors while playing an active role in campus internationalization. BW emphasizes teaching, advising, and service and also encourages and supports scholarship.

Interested candidates should submit a letter summarizing their interest and qualifications, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, other evidence of effective teaching, and three letters of reference in one (1) Word or one (1) PDF document and submit via the To Apply link on BW’s Employment and Careers’ web page at https://www.bw.edu/about/hr/employment/. Review of applications will begin on October 25, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the faculty position or Department should be directed to Javier Morales-Ortiz, Chair and Associate Professor, jmorales@bw.edu. Questions about the application process and document submission may be addressed to Jacquelin Yavornitzky, Administrative Specialist, JaYavorn@bw.edu.

Baldwin Wallace University is an EEOAA employer and educator. At BW, we support and encourage diversity in a variety of forms. We value and appreciate inclusive excellence in the classroom, within extracurricular activities, and as we engage our community partners. Learn more at Diversity Affairs - https://www.bw.edu/about/diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9434

SUNY, Cortland
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Central Asia, East Asia, Latin American

The SUNY Cortland Political Science department is seeking a tenure track faculty member at the rank of Assistant Professor with a focus on comparative politics and a regional specialization in Asia or Latin America. We have particular interest in scholars who specialize in terrorism, revolutions, international politics, international economic relations or international conflict. Expertise in international relations also highly desirable.

The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum (e.g., Introduction to World Politics, American Foreign Policy, Comparative Politics Asia Comparative Politics Latin America). They may also teach a basic methods course. The typical load is three classes per semester.
SUNY Cortland has a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and offers courses addressing inclusion studies and global diversity, as well as interdisciplinary programs in Africana Studies, Latinx and Latin American Studies, Women’s Gender and Sexuality Studies and Native American Studies. The Political Science department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, and is one of the most active and visible in the University. The department has about 100 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, and several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in Political Science, a concentration in Law and Justice, and a B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Candidates for this position should demonstrate: a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of experiential activities (e.g., Model UN, Study Abroad); engagement in service to the department, school, university, local community and profession; a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion and social justice and support for an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

Required qualifications: PhD in Political Science by appointment date or ABD with a scheduled completion date; Teaching and research focus on Comparative Politics or International Relations and higher education teaching experience.

Interested candidates should electronically submit 1) a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests, 2) a curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for at least three references, 4) a statement of teaching philosophy to include evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi, if available, 5) a copy of transcript for their highest or most recent degree and 6) a published work or writing sample. https://jobs.cortland.edu/postings/5108

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9442

University of Illinois, Springfield
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Immigration Policy, Social Welfare

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. The department seeks candidates with expertise in the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality (broadly construed) as well as teaching interests in research methods. We seek applicants whose teaching and research focus on the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality in the context of American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The successful candidate is expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses both online and on-ground in their area of specialization as well as in their broader subfields, contribute to the department’s research methods curriculum, and chair MA theses and comprehensive exams. The candidate is also expected to pursue an active research agenda and engage in service activities.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science by August 16, 2022. Candidates must demonstrate potential for excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. Prior teaching experience at the college or university level is required. The regular teaching load for tenure-track appointments is 3-3. The successful candidate will have opportunities to receive course relief for curriculum development or scholarship.

This is a full-time on-campus position tenure-track academic appointment. UIS tenure-system faculty are expected to be available and engaged in the campus community, with assigned professional responsibilities for teaching, scholarship, and service.

The UIS Department of Political Science offers excellent academic preparation and opportunities to become engaged in real world politics for both undergraduate and graduate students. We offer undergraduate and graduate degrees in political science, and majors in public policy and global studies. Students also have the opportunity to receive a minor in political science and global studies. Several of these programs are fully online or on campus. The department has recently undergone a rigorous and exciting academic reorganization into a School of Politics and International Affairs, whose administrative structure will finalize in 2022.

One of the largest departments in the College of Public Affairs and Administration, the UIS Department of Political Science offers an opportunity for our students to live politics in the classroom, on the campus and in the community. Engaged political science makes the connections between the classroom and the world explicit as we challenge our students to both grasp the course material and explore how it has an impact outside of the classroom. The UIS Department of Political Science bridges the worlds of the "academic" and "practical" by providing concrete opportunities for the practice of theory and the theory of practice. Our school champions a culture of inclusion and diversity; we encourage applications from women and members of historically underrepresented groups.

Application deadline: October 29, 2021

About UIS: Located in the state capital, the University of Illinois Springfield is one of three members of the University of Illinois system. The University serves approximately 4,000 students in 21 graduate and 31 undergraduate programs. The academic curriculum offers students a strong liberal arts core, a wide range of professional programs, and close faculty interaction. Making the most of its location in the state capital, UIS is broadly engaged in public policy and service. Its diverse student body includes traditional, non-traditional, and international students. Twenty-five percent of majors are in 17 undergraduate and graduate online degree programs and the campus has received several national awards for its implementation of online learning. UIS faculty are committed teachers, active scholars, and professionals in service to society. The University emphasizes excellence in teaching, and faculty are also expected to provide a balance of scholarship and service activities to meet requirements for tenure and promotion. You are encouraged to visit the university web page at http://www.uis.edu and the department web page at https://www.uis.edu/politicalscience/

Responsibilities:
- Teach a 3/3 load (online and on-campus) in the Department of Political Science;
- Offer courses on the politics of race, ethnicity, identity and/or inequality (broadly construed) as well as research methods. The candidate will be able to teach additional courses in at least one of the following subfields: American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The candidate will be able to chair MA theses.
and comprehensive exams in the subfield of American Politics and also in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations;
- Assist with department, college, and university-level service activities;
- Engage in scholarship activities that result in a significant publication record;
- Contribute to our undergraduate and graduate curricula, both on-campus and online.

Qualifications:

- Earned doctorate (expected by August 2022) in political science;
- Desire and potential for excellence in teaching;
- Experience and/or willingness to teach in an online degree program;
- Potential/evidence of strong scholarly productivity and an active research agenda;
- Potential/evidence of strong record of excellence in professional service;
- Teaching experience at the college or university level;
- Willingness to grow a culture of inclusion and diversity

To Apply:

Go to https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=153958&job=assistant-professor-department-of-political-science-school-of-politics-international-affairs-153958 to create or update your profile and complete the online application. Additionally, please upload (1) cover letter addressing the responsibilities of the position, (2) current curriculum vita, (3) a teaching portfolio that includes your teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and sample syllabi, (4) sample of scholarship, and (5) names and contact information (email address and phone number) for three professional references. Only those applicants who complete the online application and upload all required materials by the October 29, 2021 application deadline will be considered; incomplete applications will not be evaluated. To maintain the integrity and confidentiality of the search process, applicants are asked to upload their own materials. Formal review of applications will begin after October 29, 2021, and continue until the position is filled or the search terminated. For questions regarding the position, contact Dr. Sibel Oktay, Associate Professor and Search Committee Chair at sibelot@uis.edu.

More About UIS & Our Springfield Community:

The University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) is a premier public university that provides students with a high-quality liberal arts education, exceptional public affairs opportunities, and outstanding professional preparation programs. UIS is one of three universities of the world-class University of Illinois system and has been ranked by US News & World Report as one of the top 10 regional public universities in the Midwest.

UIS celebrates its diversity with a campus comprised of students and faculty of various ages, backgrounds, and ethnicities. Faculty members are accomplished teacher-scholars, and UIS has a national reputation for innovation in teaching and excellence in online education. Located in the state capital, UIS has established a reputation for Leadership lived, based upon four core strengths: the educational richness of its teaching-focused academic experience; the abundant opportunities it provides for students to collaborate with faculty and gain practical experience through institutional partners; the right-sized supportive community it offers; and its tradition of educating public servants and leaders in private and public sectors. UIS is a community-engaged campus whose students contribute over 66,000 hours of community service each year.

The surrounding Springfield community offers a wonderful quality of life. A lively entertainment scene includes jazz, blues, community theatre, municipal opera, comedy, and live music, including downtown music festivals. Additional cultural and sporting attractions are conveniently located a few hours away in St. Louis, Chicago, and Indianapolis. With a population of about 117,000, Springfield offers great restaurants, shopping, and other city amenities while retaining the friendliness and affordability of small-town living (and without the heavy traffic). The area also has a wide variety of recreational opportunities, including biking and hiking trails, ice rinks, sports complexes, and several first-class golf courses. Lake Springfield offers fishing, boating, and other recreational water activities. Springfield is also home to a wildlife sanctuary, zoo, lakeside memorial gardens, botanical gardens, and one of the world’s largest carillons.

Springfield was home to Abraham Lincoln, our nation’s sixteenth president and one of its most famous political figures. A historical downtown area features the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library & Museum, the Old State Capitol, the Lincoln historical district, historic reenactments and events, the Illinois State Museum, and a variety of specialty shops and restaurants which make Springfield the most prominent tourist destination in central Illinois.

Springfield is also home to the second Illinois Medical District (the first being in Chicago) and includes two major medical centers, Memorial Health Systems and HSHS St. John’s Health Systems, as well as the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine. The medical community and state government are the two largest employers in Springfield.

Springfield offers daily Amtrak service to St. Louis and Chicago as well as to points beyond. A regional airport offers daily service to major hubs in Chicago and Dallas. City bus service is provided from the UIS campus to various locations around the city.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9448

Augustana University

Rank: Nef Family Chair of Political Economy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: International Political Economy, Political Economy, Economic Policy

The Nef Family Chair of Political Economy Augustana University

Augustana University (Sioux Falls, SD) invites applications for an endowed chair in political economy. The Rudy & Marilyn Nef Family Chair of Political Economy will advance the study of market economies and representative democracies, both within the campus community and in the region. This tenure-track faculty position will be housed in the Government and International Affairs Department, but will draw on a breadth of research and extensive teaching experience to provide recognized scholarship and enthusiastic, effective instruction to the University’s offerings in economics, political science, public policy, and business. The Nef Family Chair will also provide collaborative and creative leadership in partnership with the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies.
We seek an outstanding teacher/scholar who reflects the foundational relevance of economic analysis in the design and administration of public policies, and who speaks authoritatively to the positive role of free markets, localized decision making and competition in a free society. The unique nature of this endowed chair position grants wide latitude to the instructor in terms of the courses offered, save a required course on capitalistic economic systems. Candidates capable of teaching upper-level Comparative Politics, Comparative/International Political Economy, Policy Analysis or Microeconomics are strongly encouraged to apply.

Additional responsibilities will include student advising, student research mentorship, and planning and facilitating public symposia relevant to the scholar’s teaching and research. Interacting with students, faculty and leadership with different backgrounds and points of view and a deep appreciation of and respect for academic values and culture must be a top value of the candidate. A doctorate is required. Compensation, rank and length of tenure track will be commensurate with experience. The starting date for this 12-month appointment is August, 2022. Screening will begin November 7th and continue until the position is filled. Finalists will be expected to present an engaging topic as part of the interview process.

Located in the growing and vibrant city of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Augustana University has, for more than 160 years, provided a strong student-centric education based on its five core values: Christian faith, liberal arts, excellence, community, and service. The institution continues to expand its pre-professional and graduate offerings, while remaining true to its liberal arts tradition. Guided by the Viking Bold: Journey to 2030 strategic plan, Augustana seeks to grow its enrollment from just over 1,900 students to more than 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

Application Procedure:
Please send a letter of interest; curriculum vitae; Augustana University employment application; statement of commitment to diversity; statement of teaching philosophy; addresses, phone numbers and email addresses of three current references; and unofficial transcripts electronically to Human Resources at humanresources@augie.edu. Official website: www.augie.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9443

Clemson University
Rank: Assistant Professor International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to be completed by August 2022. Specialization is open within international relations. We are especially interested in hiring colleagues who will complement the Department’s existing strengths, can work collaboratively with existing faculty members in the department and across campus, who prioritize excellence in research and both graduate and undergraduate teaching, and who firmly believe in the land grant university mission.

The Department offers a BA and BS in Political Science, a Masters in Public Administration, and a Ph.D. in Policy Studies. Responsibilities include a two-course teaching load per semester. The specific combination of courses will depend on the successful candidate’s academic profile. An ability to teach graduate courses and serve on graduate committees in the department’s Ph.D. program is highly desirable.

Consistent with Clemson University’s status as an R1 research institution, excellence in scholarship is required. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a promising research program and readiness to seek external funding and generate impactful publications in peer-reviewed journals.

Qualifications
Professional qualifications include:
- Earned doctorate at the time of start in Political Science or International Relations, to be completed by August 2022
- Evidence of a promising and innovative research agenda
- Readiness to apply for external research funding
- Evidence of ability to publish impactful work in peer-reviewed journals

Application Instructions
Review of applications will begin November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply, upload the following to Interfolio, https://apply.interfolio.com/95145: a letter of application addressing the specified qualification criteria and position responsibilities, current CV, copies of graduate transcripts, a one-page teaching philosophy statement, and the names and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9440

Clemson University
Rank: Assistant Professor International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in August 2022. Specialization is open within international relations. We are especially interested in hiring colleagues who will complement the Department’s existing strengths, can work collaboratively with existing faculty members in the department and across campus, who prioritize excellence in research and both graduate and undergraduate teaching, and who firmly believe in the land grant university mission.

The Department offers a BA and BS in Political Science, a Masters in Public Administration, and a Ph.D. in Policy Studies. Responsibilities include a two-course teaching load per semester. The specific combination of courses will depend on the successful candidate’s academic profile. An ability to teach graduate courses and serve on graduate committees in the department’s Ph.D. program is highly desirable.

Consistent with Clemson University’s status as an R1 research institution, excellence in scholarship is required. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a promising research program and readiness to seek external funding and generate impactful publications in peer-reviewed journals.

Qualifications
Ripon College
Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, International Relations

The faculty at Ripon College are a talented and dynamic group of teacher-scholars who work closely with a diverse student population on capstone and undergraduate research projects, and participate in interdisciplinary collaboration with one another on scholarship and creative activity. The faculty benefit from wide-ranging opportunities for support including curriculum development grants, travel grants, scholarly/artistic grants, and colleague teaching grants. Successful applicants for faculty positions at Ripon College will join a group of teacher-scholars who embrace the standards of social justice; value the principles of equity and inclusion; and seek to foster and facilitate student achievement at all levels.

The Department of Politics and Government at Ripon College is seeking qualified applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position as Assistant/Associate Professor in International Relations to begin August 2022. The department is open to all areas of specialization, but particularly welcomes expertise in international political economy, political psychology, international law, or global environmental politics.

Required Qualifications:
- Ph.D. in Political Science, by August 15, 2022
- Energy and enthusiasm for service within the Department of Politics and Government and as an active recruiter of prospective students
- Strong commitment to student-centered active learning and student engagement

Preferred Qualifications:
- The department is open to all areas of specialization, but particularly welcomes expertise in international political economy, political psychology, international law, or global environmental politics.
- Demonstrated experience working in multicultural environments and interest in developing curricula related to diverse populations
- Willingness to develop courses building on the established curricula
- Willingness to engage in collaborative work across disciplines
- Commitment to undergraduate education
- Evidence of teaching experience

Ripon College is committed to the principles of equal opportunity and adheres to non-discriminatory policies in employment and student enrollment. Ripon College is an equal-opportunity employer. http://www.ripon.edu.

Application Instructions
Review of applications will begin November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply, upload the following to Interfolio, https://apply.interfolio.com/95145: a letter of application addressing the specified qualification criteria and position responsibilities, current CV, copies of graduate transcripts, a one-page teaching philosophy statement, and the names and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9411

University of Pennsylvania
Rank: Assistant Professor - Conflict Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania is conducting a search for a tenure-track assistant professor in the area of conflict studies, broadly defined. We seek an outstanding scholar and teacher who takes a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of conflict and peacebuilding including, but not limited to, the study of inter-state and intra-state war; any form of political or inter-group violence and restorative justice (ethnic, religious, racial, or concerning gender/sexuality); economic development and state reconstruction; international law, norms and human rights; and decolonial studies. The search is open with regard to methodological orientation and field concentration.

Application Instructions
- Letter of interest
- Curriculum vitae
- Statements outlining
- Teaching philosophy
- Philosophy on diversity, inclusion, and access
- Research agenda
- Unofficial transcripts
- Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications:
- Ph.D. in Political Science, by August 15, 2022
- Energy and enthusiasm for service within the Department of Politics and Government and as an active recruiter of prospective students
- Strong commitment to student-centered active learning and student engagement

Preferred Qualifications:
- The department is open to all areas of specialization, but particularly welcomes expertise in international political economy, political psychology, international law, or global environmental politics.
- Demonstrated experience working in multicultural environments and interest in developing curricula related to diverse populations
- Willingness to develop courses building on the established curricula
- Willingness to engage in collaborative work across disciplines
- Commitment to undergraduate education
- Evidence of teaching experience

This position is open to all qualified applicants. Ripon College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including, for example, African Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, other Pacific Islanders, first generation college students, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, and leadership in the academy. Employment-based visa sponsorship (including H1B sponsorship) is available for this position.

Ripon College is committed to the principles of equal opportunity and adheres to non-discriminatory policies in employment and student enrollment. Ripon College is an equal-opportunity employer. http://www.ripon.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9415
The appointment will begin on July 1, 2022. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Interested candidates should apply online at http://apply.interfolio.com/95010. Submit a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, and teaching statement.

Review of applications begins September 30, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn’s Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9413

---

Salve Regina University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science and International Relations
Subfield(s): International Relations, International Relations, International Relations

About Salve Regina University:

Salve Regina University, ranked as one of the most transformative colleges in the United States by Money Magazine, is a comprehensive Catholic University located in the scenic coastal community of Newport, Rhode Island. The University’s commitment to academic success and personal discovery extends beyond its historic campus into a dynamic world where the application of higher thinking and skill are most valued. Salve Regina offers bachelor’s and master’s degree programs, graduate certificates, and doctoral programs in humanities, international relations and nursing. Enrollment includes more than 2,600 undergraduate and graduate students from across the U.S. and around the world.

Job Description:

BASIC FUNCTION:

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Salve Regina University invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor in international relations with primary regional expertise in Africa or Latin America to begin August 2022. The department administers a B.A. in political science and an online M.A. and Ph.D. in international relations. The successful candidate will contribute to all three degree programs in their area of geographic expertise and in other international relations subjects, such as international organizations and law, public policy, security, human rights, migration, or the environment. We welcome applicants who take a variety of approaches to these topics. The position also offers opportunities for teaching in the university’s undergraduate core curriculum and honors program.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

Contractual teaching load is 4-3. Duties include teaching undergraduate and graduate courses, advising undergraduate students, mentoring student research, dissertation advising, and committee service. The successful candidate is expected to engage in peer-reviewed scholarship and/or grant activity, university outreach, and collaboration with other academic departments in the teaching of cross-listed interdisciplinary undergraduate courses. Campus resources that are available for fostering the professional development of new faculty include a mentoring program, grand development support, and a Center for Teaching and Learning.

Requirements:

Candidates should have a record of teaching excellence and the promise of scholarly productivity. Candidates who have experience working in settings with students from diverse backgrounds and who are committed to improving access to higher education for students from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. A Ph.D. in political science or international relations must be completed by the time of appointment.

Additional Information:

Salve Regina University offers generous benefits to eligible employees including:

- health and dental coverage
- life insurance
- long-term disability
- 403B plan
- tuition benefits and more

Salve Regina University strives to provide equal opportunity in employment and education to all employees, students and applicants. No employee, student or applicant shall be discriminated against or harassed on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, religion, disability, age, marital or parental status, military or veteran status, genetic information or any other basis protected by applicable federal or state law, in the administration of Salve Regina’s employment policies, education policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic and other University administered programs. In accordance with Title IX, it does not discriminate on the basis of sex in any of its educational programs or activities. Salve Regina is also committed to making its programs and campus accessible to its visitors and compliant with all applicable non-discrimination laws.

Application Instructions:

Applicants must apply online by providing a cover letter, curriculum vitae, unofficial copy of graduate program transcript, teaching philosophy statement, statement of scholarly interests, and contact information for three references who can submit letters of recommendation after the initial screening of applications is completed. We ask that applicants discuss in the cover letter and teaching philosophy statement, statement of scholarly interests, and contact information for three references who can submit letters of recommendation after the initial screening of applications is completed. We ask that applicants discuss in the cover letter and teaching philosophy statement how their work fosters inclusive learning for diverse student populations. Pre-employment background checks and reference checks are required of successful candidates. Salve Regina University participates in E-verify.

The review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.
University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doc Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CITIZENS AND POLITICS

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP

The Institute for the Study of Citizens and Politics at the University of Pennsylvania (http://iscap.upenn.edu/) invites applications to fill a postdoctoral fellowship position for the 2022-2023 academic year. Applications are welcomed from scholars in any social science field who have received their Ph.D. in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 30, 2022. The term of appointment is July 1, 2022-June 30, 2023, with the possibility of renewal.

The Institute for the Study of Citizens and Politics (ISCAP) is a non-partisan research institute jointly supported by the University of Pennsylvania’s School of Arts and Sciences and the Annenberg School for Communication. The ISCAP postdoctoral fellow will work within and help manage a research group led by Professor Diana Mutz, Director of ISCAP. The postdoctoral fellow is expected to pursue his or her own research agenda while also working on team projects. The fellow will also coordinate effort among team members, including Ph.D. students and undergraduate research assistants.

Founded in 2003, ISCAP promotes research on public opinion, political psychology, and political communication. Its purpose is to enable research on the many ways in which citizens interact with the political world, broadly construed. The current research emphases at ISCAP include studies of public opinion, political psychology, elections and voting behavior, attitudes toward globalization, and the impact of media. Scholars with interests in these areas are particularly encouraged to apply. In addition to interest in these topics, any previous methodological training or experience designing experiments and/or analyzing panel data are especially valued.

Qualifications, Requirements, and Application Information

Postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $60,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also comes with $7,000 in funds for research support and professional travel.

The ISCAP Postdoctoral Fellow will pursue their own research and also participate in the activities of the Center. Because the fellow is expected to be fully integrated with the intellectual life of the University, they must plan to physically reside in the vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania. To apply, please send a C.V., a research statement, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to iscap.upenn@gmail.com.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. We will accept applications beginning immediately, and may conduct virtual interviews. Applicants will be notified of the outcome just as soon as a decision is made.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2021

Salary: $60,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9396

Purdue University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations (2 positions)

Assistant Professor of Political Science in International Relations

https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=16082&company=purdueuniv

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science at Purdue is searching for two assistant professor positions in International Relations.

Principal Duties

The person holding this position is expected to develop and maintain a research record of excellence in international relations with a focus on security, cooperation, global governance, or foreign policy, broadly defined, and that connects, in some way, to one or both of the following broad college themes: Science, Technology, and Policy Analysis, and/or Technology, Communication, and Cooperation. In addition, the person holding this position will create and disseminate relevant knowledge through student instruction, and to others internal and external to the university. Strong commitment to PhD student mentoring and to maintaining a culture of diversity and inclusion is expected.

Qualifications

The candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field with expertise in international relations. This position requires strong communication skills and the ability to publish high-quality peer-reviewed research. Preference will be given to candidates who can contribute expertise to the Advanced Methods at Purdue program through research that utilizes cutting-edge social science research methods.

The College and University

These positions are two of seven hires this year in the Department of Political Science. The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University is embarking upon 40 faculty searches for positions to begin in Fall 2022. These positions will advance research within and across disciplines, and intersect with technology, data science, and engineering in relevant and important ways. These positions include teaching in our innovative, nationally-recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts Program that educates students across the university.

Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with many interdisciplinary programs and centers on campus such as the Nuclear Security Education program, Ecological Sciences and Engineering program, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, and the Human Rights Program and many interdisciplinary centers at Purdue’s Discovery Park and the new Center for Tech Diplomacy. In addition to the major and the PhD, the Department is home to graduate and undergraduate certificates and minors in environmental politics and policy, public policy, and human rights.

The College of Liberal Arts and the Department of Political Science are committed to free and open inquiry in all matters. Candidates are encouraged to address in their cover letter how they are prepared to contribute to a climate that values free inquiry.

Application Procedures

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
To apply, please visit https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=16082&company=purdueuniv

Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Curriculum Vitae, 2) Recent research paper or other writing sample, 3) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant’s research and teaching fit the principal duties of the position, 4) A Diversity and Inclusion statement described below and 5) Three confidential letters of reference emailed separately to the following email address PoliticalScienceIR@purdue.edu.

Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Screening of applicants will begin November 1 and continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact search committee chair Keith Shimko at kshimko@purdue.edu.

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9385

University of Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in Feminist International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Florida, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, and tenure-track Assistant Professor in Feminist International Relations to begin August 16, 2022. The Department hopes to hire faculty broadly engaged in research that is field-bridging, adding to our Department’s tradition of intellectual diversity and pluralism, as well as to better reflect the interests of our diverse undergraduate and graduate students. We seek a junior scholar of exceptional promise whose work focuses on Feminist International Relations (IR) broadly defined. Scholars conducting research on non-Western IR and/or the Global South as well as on the intersectional aspects of identities and their role in international politics, and whose research promotes and emphasizes epistemological and methodological pluralism are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates should be able to offer courses in IR theory at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Successful applicants are expected to teach two courses per fall and two courses per spring semester, with a mix of introductory and advanced undergraduate courses and graduate seminars. The ability to develop experiential learning opportunities for undergraduates and excel in mentoring undergraduate research in the Department’s Honors and Junior Fellows programs is a plus. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience, and includes a full benefits package. More information about the Department of Political Science can be found at: http://www.polisci.ufl.edu.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted online at http://explorecareers.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing/ and must include:

a) Cover letter
b) Curriculum vitae
c) Statement of research interests/plans
d) Statement of teaching interests/philosophy
e) Statement on a commitment to diversity in research, teaching, and mentoring
f) A writing sample (a dissertation chapter or one article reprint or pre-print)
g) Three confidential letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. All candidates for employment are subject to a pre-employment screening which includes a review of criminal records, reference checks, and verification of education.

The selected candidate will be required to provide an official transcript to the hiring department upon hire. A transcript will not be considered “official” if a designation of “Issued to Student” is visible. Degrees earned from an educational institution outside of the United States require evaluation by a professional credentialing service provider approved by the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES), which can be found at http://www.naces.org/

As articulated in the goals of the university, the college values faculty who embrace diversity and inclusion in research, teaching, and service. The University of Florida is an Equal Opportunity Institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Minorities, women, and individuals from other under-represented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. The selection process will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Florida’s Government in the Sunshine and Public Records Laws. If an accommodation due to disability is needed to apply for this position, please call (352) 392-2477 or the Florida Relay System at (800) 955-8771 (TDD).

As articulated in the goals of the university, the college values faculty who embrace diversity and inclusion in research, teaching, and service. The University of Florida is an Equal Opportunity Institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Minorities, women, and individuals from other under-represented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. The selection process will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Florida’s Government in the Sunshine and Public Records Laws. If an accommodation due to disability is needed to apply for this position, please call (352) 392-2477 or the Florida Relay System at (800) 955-8771 (TDD).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9412

Stanford University

Rank: 2022-2023 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Asia

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2022–2023 Postdoctoral Fellowships on Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2022-2023 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows on Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferred and approval by June 30, 2022) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a
The impact of policy-related research is an important asset. The Chairholder should have considerable experience of fundamental research and to improve the public’s engagement with politics between them.

Chairholder will be encouraged to build connections with McGill’s various research centres which focus on democracy, including (but not limited to) the Centre for the Study of Democratic Citizenship. An applicant’s record must provide evidence of outstanding research, active engagement in the policy process, and success in teaching and graduate-student supervision. Appointment is expected to be at the rank of Full or Associate Professor with tenure. Candidates should have completed a PhD in political science or a closely-related discipline. The language of instruction at McGill is English, but proficiency in spoken and written French is an advantage.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, material pertinent to teaching skills, and the names and contact information of three referees. The position start date is August 1, 2022.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Please apply online at: https://myworkdayjobs.com/McGill_Careers/job/Sherbrooke-680/Associate-Professor-or-Professor_JR0000003606; and https://myworkdayjobs.com/McGill_Careers/job/Sherbrooke-680/Associate-Professor-or-Professor_JR0000003606.

Inquiries may be sent to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Christopher Ragan, at mailto:Christopher.ragan@mcgill.ca. Please use a personal email address when creating an account in Workday to submit your application. Do not use @mail.mcgill.ca or @mcgill.ca email accounts to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9360

Nanyang Technological University
Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, International Political Economy (Tenure-Track/Tenured)
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), a Graduate School of Nanyang Technological University (NTU), is a leading professional school of international affairs and policy-oriented think tank. The School invites suitably qualified individuals for the position of:

Assistant or Associate Professor, International Political Economy (Tenure-Track/Tenured)
The search is open with respect to the substantive subfields of International Political Economy. A relevant PhD and a good publication record commensurate with the level of appointment are essential requirements. Experience in policy-relevant research and publication is not necessary but would be useful. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an active research and publication agenda and strong promise for teaching in graduate programs.

The successful candidate will join the school’s Centre for Multilateralism Studies and International Political Economy Programme. He/she is expected to contribute to and play an active role in teaching, research, and think-tank workstream. The teaching load is up to three courses per academic year.

The initial appointment will be for four (4) years, with further contracts to be considered by the relevant School Reappointment Committee. RSIS offers a competitive salary commensurate with the candidate’s qualifications and experience. Funding support for research and conference travels is also available.

To apply for this position, candidates are required to submit their application via Nanyang Technological University’s online career portal (https://ntu.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/NTU-Main-Campus-Singapore/Assistant-or-Associate-Professor--International-Political-Economy--Tenure-Track-Tenured/RSIS__R00007562).

All applicants should submit the following:
• A cover letter specifying how your qualifications match the job description;
• A detailed curriculum vitae (including records of competitive grants, fellowships, and graduate supervision, if applicable);
• Statements of research and teaching interests and teaching evaluation;
• Three (3) published articles or writing samples;
• Google Scholar citation report if available;
• Applicants applying for the Assistant Professor position, please include the name and details of THREE referees of the rank of Associate Professor/Professor; and applicants applying for the Associate Professor position, please include the name and details of FOUR referees of the rank of Professor.

If you have any questions about this position, please write in (or email) to:

The Search Committee
S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies
Nanyang Technological University
50 Nanyang Avenue
Block S4, Level B4,
Singapore 639798
Email: rsisrecruitment@ntu.edu.sg

Applications will be accepted until 15 December 2021
We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

For further information about RSIS, please visit our website: www.rsis.edu.sg.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9354

---

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow
Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Germany

Faculty Fellow
The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies
Faculty of Arts and Science
New York University

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies in Arts and Science at New York University invites applicants for a Faculty Fellow position in the field of European Studies. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2022, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

CEMS/NYU seeks a scholar experienced in advising student research and specializing in one or more of the following fields: comparative European politics, anthropology, sociology, or contemporary European history. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focuses on the European Union; on political, economic and social developments in contemporary Europe; and/or on identity and minorities in Europe.

Responsibilities include teaching three courses per year, with a focus on undergraduate and graduate seminars. Student advising is a key component of this position, as the faculty fellow will have a significant role in directing theses for both MA students and undergraduate honors students. Service to the program will also involve representing the Center at university occasions and committee meetings. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching.

Qualifications: Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2017 and no later than August 1, 2022.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, a statement of research and interests, and a statement of diversity and inclusion. As diversity is an important part of the NYU mission, for the latter statement we ask you to provide a brief paragraph telling us how diversity figures into your past and present teaching, research, community engagement, and/or life experience, as well as how you would bring issues of diversity to bear on the teaching and programming of NYU CEMS. Information about diversity statements may be found at http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/programming/diversity-statements.html.

Applications should be submitted through http://apply.interfolio.com/92354

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here.
All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 21, 2021.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement
The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous /Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see http://uoft.me/UP.

Accessibility Statement
The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission. The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/21/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9350
Lehigh University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The International Relations Department at Lehigh University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position to teach courses in International Relations for the Spring 2022 semester (from late-January through mid-May), potentially renewable for the entire 2022-23 academic year. The position carries a competitive salary and benefits. A Ph.D. is required, college/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. The department is committed to intellectual excellence and diversity. To apply, please submit a dossier including: curriculum vitae, three letters of reference, and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience. Application materials should be submitted to the department through Academic Jobs Online (https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19496). The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9308

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position Search 2021-2022
Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Open

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2022. Preference will be given to applicants in the fields of Political Theory and International Relations. In addition, we will consider especially strong applicants working in other fields. We are especially eager to consider applicants who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve. UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching and diversity, and evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by October 15, 2021. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF06814

Help Contact: Evelyn Godinez, egodinez at polisci.ucla.edu

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for two tenure-track positions in International Relations at the rank of assistant professor. Each position will start in Fall 2022. The positions are pending final budgetary approval.

The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate courses and maintain an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda. Basic Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department expects applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/86004 and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching/research interest (including a summary of teaching evaluations, if available), and samples of written work. In addition, please send at least three letters of recommendation to psjobs_IR@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on 10/8/2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/8/2021
Date Posted: 9/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9295

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of International Affairs (DIA) at the University of Georgia invites applications for a tenure track position in ethnicity, race, and migration at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall of 2022. While we seek a scholar who is trained in the concepts, methods, and approaches used in the study of comparative politics and/or international relations, we are particularly interested in candidates who couple a specialty in ethnicity, race, and migration with teaching and research interests in political violence, underrepresented regions, international law, international and regional organizations, institutions, refugees, or development. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to produce high quality research, show promise of attracting external funding and teaching effectiveness, and be well trained in research methods, including qualitative and/or quantitative methods.

Prospective candidates must apply for the position through the UGA Faculty Job site at: https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/215509. To complete the application, candidates will need to submit a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 219, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applicants should have an earned Ph.D. degree in political science or a related discipline by August 2022. Applications received by October 15, 2021 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life, outdoor and cultural amenities, and affordability (https://www.exploregeorgia.org and https://www.georgia.org/competitive-advantages/life-georgia). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of International Affairs is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open untilFilled
Date Posted: 9/3/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9283

University of Southern California
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Assistant Professor in Political Institutions

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in political institutions that is anticipated to begin in the fall of 2022. We seek a scholar specializing in political institutions. Subfield specialization could be in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and/or research methods.

A strong commitment to research is expected. The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

To be considered, applicants must submit an electronic application by following this link: https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-in-political-institutions/1209/13635024640. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9278

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 for the 2022-2023 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or to demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 20, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/21441

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines.
To apply, please provide the following:
- Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Wednesday, December 1, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion — fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University’s dedication to excellence.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9102

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Middle East, Africa, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellows’ program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/academicpositions/position/21442

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:
- Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 9, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9104
Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2022-2023 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 20, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/21443

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Wednesday, December 1, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

• Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
• Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2021 - July 1, 2022) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9103

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Middle East, Latin American, Africa

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellows’ program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/21444

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of
The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabanci University (http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose substantive research interests include International Relations, particularly International Political Economy (IPE). We are primarily interested in scholars who can teach graduate- and undergraduate-level computational social science and quantitative methods courses for the Political Science and International Relations and Data Analytics programs. The candidate is expected to have a proven or developing record of published research and a promising research agenda.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise PhD and MA students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in one of Europe’s largest and oldest cities, Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing facilities on its modern campus.

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2022.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter (ii) a research statement (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant’s teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research samples, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php

For further questions, please contact:
Ayse Ötenoglu, Faculty Administrative Affairs Manager, ayse.otenoglu@sabanciuniv.edu

Stanford King Center on Global Development
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford University King Center on Global Development’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high-quality, policy-relevant research on critical issues related to global development.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2022 for a one- or two-year appointment. The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program is intended for promising new PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy-relevant research on topics related to international development and poverty alleviation. The King Center’s postdoctoral fellows should expect to be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University.

The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program particularly encourages applications from women and minority PhD recipients, and from scholars from low- and middle-income countries, as well as from others whose backgrounds and experience would contribute to the diversity (broadly defined) of the program.

The King Center provides a competitive fellowship stipend, plus support for travel and research expenses.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9265

United States Air Force Academy
Rank: Visiting Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling a Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) position beginning June 27, 2022. The intent of this position is to attract an innovative scholar and teacher already placed at an institution (university, think-tank, or government service) and then return them to their home institution—thus, existing employment any level is a certain requirement. The appointment will be for either the entire academic year, ending in May of 2023, or one semester. The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire men and women to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to the nation. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field, preferably with an emphasis on American Government, International Relations, or Comparative Politics. The candidate must also be strongly committed to teaching undergraduates and be a full-time “career employee” at a US institution of higher education, an academically-oriented think-tank or an educationally-focused organization. The qualified candidate must agree to return to his/her institution in a full-time status following a VP year at the Air Force Academy. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Air Force Academy will reimburse the VP’s home academic institution for the visiting professor’s salary and benefits during their time at the Academy, and moving expenses will be provided. To apply, send a letter of application and a curriculum vitae to: HQ USAFA/DFPS (Attn: Dr. David Sacko), 2354 Fairchild Drive, Room 5L-27, US Air Force Academy CO 80840-6258. Application packages may also be emailed to David.Sacko@afacademy.af. Applications received by October 15, 2021 will receive primary consideration but will be accepted until the position is filled. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. U.S. citizenship required.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/31/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9249

Texas A&M University
Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Grand Strategy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of grand strategy. By grand strategy, we mean the use of statecraft by great powers to achieve foreign policy goals, broadly defined. We seek candidates whose work applies the very best scholarship to the most pressing issues facing the United States in the 21st Century and does so in a way that broadens the intellectual and practical discussion of grand strategy. In addition to having first-rate scholarly credentials, the ideal candidate will also have an interest in applying their scholarly work to some aspect of the formulation and implementation of grand strategy.

Bush School faculty teach master’s degree students in international affairs, with a standard 2-2 load. The successful candidate will be expected to teach at least one section of the department’s required course in international politics. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science by September 2022. The individual selected will be a core faculty affiliate of the Center for Grand Strategy (CGS). Additional information about CGS is available at https://bush.tamu.edu/grand-strategy/. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2022.

Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, three letters of recommendation, and other information relevant to successful instruction in the international affairs graduate department, at the Texas A&M Interfolio site http://apply.interfolio.com/86435 in DOC or PDF format.

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values. Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9243

University of Central Florida
Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Regulatory Policy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established nine interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy, from a policy or social science perspective, and plan to hire one tenure-earning assistant professor for this cluster. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2022.

The Cybersecurity and Privacy Cluster is an interdisciplinary initiative, bringing together researchers from across the campus and working on addressing the pressing questions of our national security from engineering, science, and social perspectives. The cluster currently has eight members, collectively advising more than 35 doctoral students, and embracing a strong culture of collaboration and teamwork. The cluster runs various well-funded programs, has developed and implemented a new interdisciplinary M.S. in Cybersecurity and Privacy, and was recently selected by the National Science Foundation to be a host institution for the prestigious Scholarship for Service Program.

This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. See http://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/ for a complete list of all the units involved. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. In particular, we are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy, and someone who will work at the intersection of several areas, addressing the policy, regulatory or social science aspects with a focus on one or more of the following topics: a) privacy laws and regulation; b) social media; c) cybercrimes; d) cyberwarfare; e) cyber security and intelligence. With this in mind, we anticipate the selected candidate will be tenure-earning in one of, but not limited to, the following units: Criminal Justice; Legal Studies; Modeling, Simulation, and Training; Politics, Security, and International Affairs; or Sociology.

UCF is one of the nation’s largest universities with a diverse student body of more than 70,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region’s future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation.

UCF’s Orlando main campus location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to the UCF main campus is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies, UCF’s Institute for Simulation and Training and UCF’s new School of Modeling, Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the state of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school which was established in 2006 and is a neighbor to large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world’s best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about one of UCF’s newest endeavors, the exciting Faculty Cluster Initiative, at https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/faculty-research-clusters.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

1) A Diversity Statement:

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague, as well as future plans to advance these contributions. Such indicators of commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion may be demonstrated through scholarship, teaching, mentoring, service and engagement.

2) A Cover Letter:

In the cover letter candidates must address their background in research and scholarship in the area in cyber security and privacy as related to policy and regulatory aspects and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home, as well as any joint appointments they would desire.

3) Curriculum Vitae,

4) Teaching Statement,

5) Research Statement, and

6) Contact information for three professional references (include email address and telephone number).

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To ensure consideration before the position is closed, the application should be submitted promptly.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to the cluster lead and search committee chair, Dr. David Mohaisen, at mohaisen@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9222

University of Tennessee, Knoxville
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science–International Relations Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, Conflict Processes

International Relations
The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in International Relations. Applicants from any area of the IR field are welcome, but we are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in international law, international organizations, or transnational issues broadly defined with an emphasis on issues such as human rights, refugees/migration, environment, and conflict justice. We welcome all candidates doing excellent work in these areas, regardless of methodological specialty or approach.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state’s flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at polisci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, statements of research, teaching, service, and diversity if not included in the cover letter, and teaching evaluations (if available). Please submit application materials in digital format via Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/92425). All applicants should request letters from three references to be sent to the committee also via Interfolio. Review of applications begins October 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Krista Wiegand at k.wiegand@utk.edu.

All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. In accordance with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Tennessee affirmatively states that it does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, or disability in its education programs and activities, and this policy extends to employment by the university. Inquiries and charges of violation of Title VI (race, color, and national origin), Title IX (sex), Section 504 (disability), the ADA (disability), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (age), sexual orientation, or veteran status should be directed to the Office of Equity and Diversity, 1840 Melrose Avenue, Knoxville, TN 37996-3560, telephone 865-974-2498. Requests for accommodation of a disability should be directed to the ADA Coordinator at the Office of Equity and Diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9173

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in political science and international relations, with a specialization in the relationships among emerging technologies, national security, and international relations.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022.

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
• CV;
• Research Statement;
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach);
• Two scholarly writing samples;
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
• Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9152

Carnegie Mellon University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in International Political Economy.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022. The application deadline is Monday, November 1, 2021. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92232

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
• CV;
• Research Statement;
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach);
• Two scholarly writing samples;
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
• Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in political science and international relations, with a specialization in the relationships among emerging technologies, national security, and international relations.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022. The application deadline is Monday, November 1, 2021.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92233

Materials to be submitted:
- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach);
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9153

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, Middle Eastern Politics

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in Middle Eastern politics. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Junior candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to International Relations Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 7, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00001
Start Date: Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9159

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Assistant Professor, International Relations. The Department of Politics seeks applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in international relations. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to International Relations Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 7, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00001
Start Date: Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9154

Morehouse College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor. Candidates should be interested in world politics, broadly, and trained to teach introductory courses in international relations and comparative politics. We are especially interested in candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program and contribute to the College’s distinctive mission of teaching the history and culture of Black people.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 3-3 load), advising, and mentoring students; developing and maintaining a scholarly research
Duke University - Sanford School of Public Policy

Rank: Adjunct Professor of the Practice of National Security Policy

Specializations: United States, Defense, Leadership Studies

The Sanford School of Public Policy at Duke University invites seasoned national security policy professionals to apply for several teaching positions in an exciting new hybrid Executive Masters of National Security Policy for mid-career students seeking to advance in their leadership roles in the national security policy realm in the public and private sectors. Selected candidates will work with existing Duke faculty to build an ambitious new program and stand up the new degree curriculum. They also will have the opportunity to participate in the American Grand Strategy and Counterterrorism and Public Policy Fellows Programs, and collaborate with the Sanford School’s national security faculty on related policy and research projects and proposals.

Applicants may apply to teach one or more classes and may retain professional engagement elsewhere while teaching in the program. The full course list is here; courses of particular need are National Security Leadership, National Security Ethics, National Security Budgeting, National Security Institutions. As a hybrid program responsibilities include teaching synchronously online, building asynchronous online content, and occasional on-campus immersion sessions. Some classes will start in the summer of 2022, and some in the subsequent semesters of the academic year 2022/2023. The positions will allow for some preparation time in advance of class launches.

Applicants should have a Master’s degree or higher and substantial professional experience in such areas of national security policy and policymaking as defense, diplomacy, development, leadership, ethics, cyber, technology, terrorism, biological threats, and/or global environment. Experience creating and executing applied learning experiences such as simulations, war games, table-top exercises, and leading client-based research programs is a plus, as is online teaching experience. Policy research and writing are of interest, but not required.

Applicants may reside in NC or in any of the partner states with which Duke has employment agreements (California, Florida, Georgia, Maryland, New York, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Washington DC).

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, three other Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. Current faculty members have degrees in a variety of disciplines including demography, economics, history, law, medicine, philosophy, political science, psychology/social psychology, public policy, public health/health policy, and sociology. The Sanford School houses several interdisciplinary research centers, and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, India, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at www.sanford.duke.edu.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that traces their professional experience and makes it clear why they would be interested in joining the Sanford School of Public Policy and how their expertise would meet the needs of the curriculum. The letter, along with a CV and the names and contact information of three references (no letters at this stage), should be submitted at https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19142. Applications submitted by October 31, 2021, will be guaranteed consideration. For further information contact Professor Bruce Jentleson, Search Committee Chair, bwj7@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 10/31/2021
Date Posted: 8/10/2021
Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9139

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, LONG BEACH
College of Liberal Arts
Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Position Opening
Recruitment: 2650

Position: Assistant Professor of International Relations
Effective Date: August 17, 2022 (Fall Semester)
Salary Range: Commensurate with qualifications and experience

Required Qualifications:
• Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline, with specialization in International Relations. Degree at time of application or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2022.
• Record of, or demonstrated potential for, effective teaching
• Record of, or demonstrated potential for, successful research and publication
• Experience with, or demonstrated potential for, effective participation in faculty governance
• Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population

Preferred Qualifications:
• Evidence of academic training in one or more of the following specializations in International Relations: international law, international organizations, foreign policy, or international political economy
• Evidence of scholarly activities examining timely international relations issues such as climate change, global public health, gender and international relations, technology regulation, economic development,

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Applied for the position, CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socioeconomic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the people of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here:

https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/careers/benefits/Documents/employee-benefits-summary.pdf

How to Apply - Required Documentation:
• An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the people of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here:

https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/careers/benefits/Documents/employee-benefits-summary.pdf

How to Apply - Required Documentation:
• An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (maximum two pages, single-spaced). For further information and guidelines, please visit: http://www.csulb.edu/EquityDiversityStatement
• Letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications
• CV
• Three current academic letters of recommendation independently provided by references
• Writing sample
• Teaching evaluations, if applicable
• Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree
• Finalists will also be required to submit the following:
  1) A signed SC-1 form,
  2) An official transcript (e-transcript preferred, if available)

Applicants should apply and submit all required documentation electronically through:

https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18825

Upon request, finalists will be required to submit original, official documents, as noted in the required documentation section.

Requests for information should be addressed to:

Charles Mahoney, Associate Professor
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science
1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605 charles.mahoney@csulb.edu
562.985.8203

APPLICATION DEADLINE:
Review of applications to begin October 1, 2021
Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled)

EMPLOYMENT REQUIREMENTS:
A background check (including a criminal records check and telephone reference check with most recent employer) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a “mandated reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment.

CSULB is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can learn, live, and work in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual, without regard to race or ethnicity (including color or ancestry), nationality, religion or religious creed, gender (or sex), gender identity (including transgender), gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, disability (physical or mental), medical condition, genetic information, age, veteran or military status. CSULB is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9135

Mount Saint Mary's University
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Mount St. Mary's University in Emmitsburg, MD is conducting a search for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. The ideal candidate will possess a specialization in Comparative Politics with a focus on Asian Politics. Candidates with a doctorate in International Studies will be considered if they specialize in Asian culture and politics. We desire someone who can diversify and complement the existing strengths and course offerings in the Department of Political Science, in the International Relations special topics.
Stanford University
Rank: Assistant/Associate/Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for an open rank, tenure line position in international/comparative political economy.

Candidates for an untenured position at the rank of assistant professor should demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Untenured applicants should send a cover letter, CV, research statement (not to exceed 3 pages), teaching evaluations, and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

Candidates for a tenured position at the rank of associate or full professor should demonstrate substantial evidence of a creative research career, impact on his or her field of study, and a commitment to excellence in teaching and advising students at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Tenured applicants should send a letter of interest, CV, research statement (not to exceed 3 pages), and teaching evaluations.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2021 but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19078

Tufts University
Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations (Tenure-Track)

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites nominations and applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in the field of international relations to begin September 1, 2022. The position is open with respect to regional or functional concentration. The promise of excellence in scholarship and teaching is required. Teaching duties are two courses per semester and will include an introductory course in international relations.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be submitted by September 15, 2021. If you have questions please email PoliticalScience@tufts.edu with “IR Search” in the subject line.

Tufts University, founded in 1852, prioritizes quality teaching, highly competitive basic and applied research, and a commitment to active citizenship locally, regionally, and globally. Tufts University also prides itself on creating a diverse, equitable, and inclusive community. Current and prospective employees of the university are expected to have and continuously develop skill in, and disposition for, positively engaging with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and students.

New York University
Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Position Description:
The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks candidates for three faculty positions for scholars conducting outstanding research on the subjects of race, identity, and inequality in domestic, comparative, or international contexts. The primary focus of our search is at the tenure track assistant professor level; however, we may consider more senior candidates under exceptional circumstances. The positions are to begin September 1, 2022, pending administrative approval.

This search is part of a broader cluster of recruitment efforts in Race, Identity, and Inequality that spans the Departments of Politics and Sociology in the Faculty of Arts and Science, and the Wagner School of Public Service. A primary aim of the cluster is to create a network for scholars working in these areas to collaborate across NYU. More information about this cluster and the broader cluster initiative can be found at https://www.nyu.edu/faculty/teaching-and-learning-resources/faculty-advancement/faculty-recruitment/nyu-faculty-cluster-hiring-initiative.html#race2 and at https://drive.google.com/file/d/1n88i-7v5yZGYxYvK54VJ9AhQgRNHRDKG/view.

Qualifications:
Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 2022, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level. NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, experience, and service an ability to contribute to this goal, and a commitment to fostering inclusivity in a university setting.

Application Instructions:
Please apply online at: http://apply.interfolio.com/91446. While we will continue to review applications into October, candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 10, 2021. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Politics Department at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about concrete steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Required Applicant Documents:
- Cover letter
- CV or Resume
- Statement of Research and Goals
- Statement of Teaching
- Writing Sample
- Three Letters of Reference

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 9/10/2021
Date Posted: 7/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9101

University of Nevada, Las Vegas
Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations, Political Science
Specializations: International Political Economy, Conflict Processes, International Law & Organizations
Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/13/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9028

University of Rhode Island
Rank: Assistant Professor in Middle Eastern Politics
The Department of Political Science at the University of Rhode Island anticipates an opening for a faculty position in Comparative Politics or International Relations with a specialization in Middle Eastern politics. This is a tenure-track, academic year appointment at the rank of assistant professor to commence in the Fall of 2022.

We are seeking to attract a diverse pool of job applicants for this position. A key pillar of URI’s mission is to “inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance.” Our department seeks candidates whose principles align with that mission.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES
Applicants will be expected to teach undergraduate political science courses in the areas of comparative and international politics that serve as requirements for both the Political Science and the International Studies & Diplomacy undergraduate programs as well as teach courses in the International Relations Masters program.

Expected to publish original research in their respective field of study and advise undergraduate and graduate students.

Provide service to the department, the university and the profession.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS
1) Ph.D., or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2022, in Political Science, International Relations, or related field.
2) Primary or secondary specialization in Middle Eastern politics.
3) Evidence of college level teaching commensurate with level of academic experience.
4) Demonstrated ability to excel in teaching broad-based introductory political science courses in the area of comparative politics and/or international relations, upper division and graduate courses in Middle Eastern politics.
5) Evidence of research in the field of comparative politics and/or international relations with scholarly work commensurate with level of academic experience.
6) Demonstrated experience working with diverse populations or in diverse environments.

All requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate individuals with disabilities.
PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS
1) Research expertise in at least one of the following or related areas: international development, foreign policy, diplomacy, conflict, governance, ethnic or religious politics, or security studies.
2) Ability to teach undergraduate research methods
3) Ability to teach large introductory-level classes
4) Ability to teach from a cultural or regional studies perspective
5) Familiarity with experiential and applied learning strategies

The application deadline is September 15, 2021.

For the full job posting and to apply online, please visit: https://jobs.uri.edu/postings/8269

Please attach 5 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Profile Application:
1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position
2) A Curriculum Vitae which includes the names/contact information for three references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses, and, if available, course syllabi and teaching evaluations for any courses you have taught (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single CV document).
3) A brief research and teaching statement
4) A statement on diversity, equity, and inclusion reflecting on URI’s mission to “inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance.”
5) If applicable, submit an article-length sample of relevant scholarly work.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 9/15/2021
Date Posted: 7/13/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9029

Bucknell University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (IR/Comparative)

Bucknell University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in international and comparative politics beginning in the fall semester of 2022. We seek a scholar whose research and teaching centers on the Middle East/North Africa region and the politics of the Islamic world. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in international politics, courses on politics in the Middle East/North Africa, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department’s commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in political science with a sub-field specialization in international and/or comparative politics.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at rdh013@bucknell.edu. Applications received by September 27, 2021 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9016

Texas A&M University
Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Latin American Politics/Political Economy and quantitative methods
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of Latin American politics/political economy and quantitative methods. Expertise in Mexico preferred, but we are open to other areas as well. The successful candidate will teach courses on Latin American politics/political economy as part of the Department’s developing curricular concentration on the region and courses on quantitative methods that are part of the Department’s required curriculum.
Letters of recommendation should evaluate the candidate’s research addresses of three or more references; an email will be automatically teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range regarding teaching philosophy and demonstrated commitment to All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed of Latin American politics.
Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Political Economy by September 2022. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2022.

Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, three letters of recommendation, and other information demonstrating success in teaching at the Texas A&M Interfolio site apply.interfolio.com/88572 in DOC or PDF format.

The review of applications will begin September 7, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8928

Claremont McKenna College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Government, Latin American Politics

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position, at the assistant professor level, in the subfield of comparative politics with a Latin American politics focus, beginning July 1, 2022. A qualified candidate would have a PhD in political science in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, and the capacity to teach core courses in comparative politics, Mexican politics, and other courses within the subfield of Latin American politics.

The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

Given our commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinion, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, evidence of excellence in teaching, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy and demonstrated commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of backgrounds. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three or more references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their recommendation letter. Letters of recommendation should evaluate the candidate’s research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at the following link: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

The review of applications will begin October 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/1/2021
Date Posted: 6/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8928

Appalachian State University
Rank: Visiting Comparative Politics Instructor

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a one-year visiting position in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: comparative politics, human rights, ethnic conflict, globalization, or the politics of developing nations. The teaching load is 3 courses per semester for faculty with an active research agenda. At least one course each semester will be Intro to Comparative Politics.

Applications must be submitted via AppState PeopleAdmin https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/postings/28206 Applicants must submit the following documents: an application consisting of a letter outlining relevant research and teaching goals and experience, a current vitae, and a sample syllabus.

Review of applications will begin on May 28, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University’s receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Director & ADA/504 Coordinator, at 828- 262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/7/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8870

Political Science Jobs

Bush School faculty teach master’s degree students in international affairs, with a standard 2-2 load. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu.

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a one-year visiting position in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: comparative politics, human rights, ethnic conflict, globalization, or the politics of developing nations. The teaching load is 3 courses per semester for faculty with an active research agenda. At least one course each semester will be Intro to Comparative Politics.

Applications must be submitted via AppState PeopleAdmin https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/postings/28206 Applicants must submit the following documents: an application consisting of a letter outlining relevant research and teaching goals and experience, a current vitae, and a sample syllabus.

Review of applications will begin on May 28, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University’s receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Director & ADA/504 Coordinator, at 828- 262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/7/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8870

Appalachian State University
Rank: Visiting Comparative Politics Instructor

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a one-year visiting position in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2021. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: comparative politics, human rights, ethnic conflict, globalization, or the politics of developing nations. The teaching load is 3 courses per semester for faculty with an active research agenda. At least one course each semester will be Intro to Comparative Politics.

Applications must be submitted via AppState PeopleAdmin https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/postings/28206 Applicants must submit the following documents: an application consisting of a letter outlining relevant research and teaching goals and experience, a current vitae, and a sample syllabus.

Review of applications will begin on May 28, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University’s receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Director & ADA/504 Coordinator, at 828- 262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/7/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8870
Mercyhurst University

Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Middle East, Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Political Science Department invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning spring 2022. This position may be renewable or converted to tenure-track contingent on performance, departmental staffing and programmatic needs, and continued administrative approval. The successful applicant will possess a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching at a liberal arts university. The department is seeking a comparative politics/international relations generalist. Preference will be given to a candidate who can teach Middle East politics in addition to other comparative or international relations courses. IR background in the areas of IPE, human rights, international organizations, or environmental politics are a department priority. Energy, collegiality, and a commitment to liberal arts education are highly prized attributes in our department. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed the Ph.D. or will complete it before the spring 2022 semester. Screening of applications will begin immediately and the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current vitae, transcripts (initial submissions may be unofficial copies), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching excellence, and a one-page statement summarizing their philosophy of teaching to Jennifer Verga, administrative assistant: jverga@mercyhurst.edu. Mercyhurst is a mid-sized, Catholic, liberal arts, primarily residential university, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students. Class sizes are small and the normal teaching load is 8 courses per year. For information about the political science program see the department website: http://polisci.mercyhurst.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 4/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8823

METHODOLOGY

Florida Atlantic University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Florida Atlantic University invites applications for two tenure-track positions in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor for the 2022-2023 academic year. Candidates should expect to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in American politics and quantitative research methods. Applications reflecting expertise in new techniques and technologies will receive special consideration. Preference will be given to candidates who have a broad range of quantitative methodological expertise in, but not limited to: R, Generalized Linear Models, Multilevel Modeling, and Bayesian approaches.

The Department is deeply committed to a community of excellence, equity, and diversity and welcomes applications from women, underrepresented minorities, persons with disabilities, sexual minority groups, and other candidates who will contribute to the diversification and enrichment of ideas and perspectives. Preferred candidates have a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, experience working directly with people from diverse racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic backgrounds, and can demonstrate skill in the understanding of cultural differences.

Hires will have a teaching load of 3/2 and should be able to provide instruction in a variety of modalities, including online, hybrid and in-person. Ability and willingness to lead occasional faculty seminars on new methods are preferred. Candidates should also demonstrate an active research agenda in either methodology or American Politics, which includes potential for outside support through public or private grants. Undergraduate and graduate advising, mentoring, and thesis supervision related to the political science and data science majors are important components of this position.

The new hire will contribute substantially to FAU’s Comparative Studies Ph. D. program and to the M.S. in Data Science and Analytics degree. Depending on their area of study, the new hire may also contribute to interdisciplinary programs and have the opportunity to participate in college or department programs such as the Leon Charney Diplomacy Program and the Advanced Campaigning Program and/or contribute to the Study of the Americas Initiative in the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters.

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science from an accredited institution with a focus in American Politics and quantitative methodology. The successful candidate must have the Ph.D. completed by the start of the Fall 2022 semester.

Salary: Commensurate with Experience

Location: Boca Raton

Application Deadline: 2022-01-21-08:00

Special Instructions to Applicant:

This position is open until filled and may close without prior notice. This position is subject to funding.

Required Documents:

FAU’s Career Page permits the attachment of required/requested documentation.

https://fau.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/FAU/job/Boca-Raton/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_REQ11672/apply

IMPORTANT: There are two positions. Each of the positions is listed separately on the FAU website. For full consideration, you should apply to both of the following listings:

REQ11672
REQ11671

PLEASE NOTE: A maximum of five (5) documents may be attached to your application. If more than five (5) documents are required for submission, please combine additional documents into one attachment to not exceed the maximum permitted.

When completing the online application, please upload all required documentation noted here: (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae. Along with the cover letter and CV, please make sure the following is also included:

1. A sample syllabus for a class you have taught or would like to teach...
2. A one-page research statement describing your work and future agenda,
3. A statement detailing your approach to engaging with diverse communities and articulating how your teaching, scholarship and/or service would contribute toward fostering an inclusive learning environment on campus,
4. The names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited for candidates placed on the long list).

Transcripts:
The selected candidate for this position is required to submit an official transcript sent directly from the institution is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment. Similarly, for degrees from outside the United States, the evaluation by an organization belonging to the National Association of Credential Evaluation (NACES), with an indication of the documents the evaluation was prepared from (official transcripts, diplomas, dissertation abstracts) is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment.

Background Screening:
Successful completion of a pre-employment background check is required for the candidate selected for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9607

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Health)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow (Health) to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to quantify the impacts of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. By guiding the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research can generate solutions and ultimately improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
IPL is a highly collaborative environment. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies, as well as work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to develop related independent health research. Examples of previous studies produced by the lab include projects on the intergenerational impact of DACA on the mental health of children (Science), public health insurance and immigrant families’ location decisions (JAMA Pediatrics), and the impact of prenatal care for children of undocumented women (Obstetrics and Gynecology).

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but no later than July 2022. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for political science, economics, sociology, statistics, or computer science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of causal inference methods, data management, and data analysis. Knowledge of immigration and health policy will also be valued.

In addition, having experience working with medical claims data and executing and managing data analysis in a server-based environment is highly valued.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements and Recommendations
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe the candidate’s experience as a part of any of the diverse or underrepresented groups as outlined below, and any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

IPL encourages applicants from diverse and underrepresented groups to apply. In particular, IPL encourages individuals from historically underrepresented racial and ethnic groups (Black or African Americans, Hispanics or Latinos, American Indians or Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders, as described by the National Science Foundation), individuals with disabilities, and individuals from disadvantaged economic and educational backgrounds (low-income households and disadvantaged educational environments) to apply. IPL encourages that this information be shared in the “Contributions to Diversity Statement”.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19939 (ID19939). We will begin reviewing applications on November 1st, 2021. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact Elisa Cascardi at the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, directly (cascardi@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc (Health) 2021).

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9610

National Center for State Courts
Rank: Court Research Associate
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Research Methods, Science & Technology, Quantitative Methods

The National Center for State Courts is an independent, nonprofit court improvement organization located in Williamsburg, Virginia.
NCSC’s services – research, information services, education, consulting, association management, and technical assistance – are focused on helping courts implement improvements that promote efficiency and effectiveness, while ensuring access to justice, timeliness, and procedural satisfaction.

The Research Division of the NCSC is looking for a highly motivated Court Research Associate to work on projects, in multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to social science, public administration, legal studies, public health, criminology, racial and social justice, and data science, to further the administration of justice in our state courts. We are seeking applicants who thrive in a collaborative environment and want to make a difference in the field of court administration and improvement.

The position is responsible for planning, organizing, and conducting research for improving various aspects of state court administration and disseminating research results. Work includes identifying and developing research initiatives; assisting to obtain research grant funding; conducting research and disseminating research results through various mediums (e.g., written products, presentations, online curricula, and technical on-site assistance).

For more information about current Research Projects at the NCSC visit: National Center for State Courts.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:
The Court Research Associate will be responsible for performing the duties listed below:

• Conducting empirical and applied research and program evaluation:
  Designing qualitative and quantitative data collection instruments;
  Conducting site visits (interviewing, focus groups, observations) with constituents, and Performing statistical analysis;
  Designing products that effectively communicate research findings to diverse audiences (e.g., data visualization);
  Presenting research findings (e.g., conferences, facilitated workshops, publications); and Assisting in the development of funding proposals from federal, state, and private funding sources.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:
To be considered for this position, candidates must meet the following qualifications:

• A Ph.D. in the social sciences, public policy, or a related field; a J.D. combined with a Master’s degree in social sciences, public policy, or a J.D. and at least six years’ experience in conducting applied social science research;
• Experience using statistical/data management software such as Excel, SPSS, Stata, R, and Tableau;
• Knowledge of and demonstrated ability to competently perform quantitative and qualitative data collection and analysis;
• Ability to present research findings to diverse audiences (e.g., court-related leadership organizations, practitioners, and lay people);
• Excellent writing skills (e.g., client reports, policy memorandums, journal articles); and
• Availability to travel periodically.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:
NCSC IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/DISABILITY/VETERAN EMPLOYER

Candidates are required to submit a cover letter and resume in addition to the completed application form. The position will remain open until filled. For first consideration apply by November 19, 2021. To apply visit: https://www.ncsc.org/about-us/all-jobs.

Starting salary may vary with additional experience and qualifications. Position is remote work eligible or may receive relocation assistance if desire to work in Williamsburg Office.

Minorities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9598

Academia Sinica
Rank: Assistant Research Fellow (equivalent to Assistant Professor)
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Position Announcement
Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

1. The Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica (IPSAS), Taipei, Taiwan, seeks to appoint full-time faculty members at the rank of assistant research fellow (which is equivalent to assistant professor). Application for higher rank will also be considered.

2. The applicant should specialize at least one of the following fields: (1) Taiwan politics and comparative democracy; (2) China and comparative politico-economic transition; (3) cross-Strait relations and international relations theory; (4) political changes in Asia and global democratic development; and, (5) political methodology.

3. The applicant must have a doctoral degree in political science or related disciplines, or is able to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 31, 2022.

4. Applicants for positions of assistant research fellow should submit the following documents:
   (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
   (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate or certification for completion of course work and successful defense of dissertation (for applicants who have not yet passed the oral examination, proof for completion of courses and a letter certifying imminent holding of oral examination are required);
   (3) two copies of the doctoral dissertation (or draft) and other publications;
   (4) an abstract (in both English and Chinese) of the doctoral dissertation;
   (5) transcripts from undergraduate and graduate schools;
   (6) a statement of research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
   (7) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio; those applying for the position of assistant research fellow should have one letter from the dissertation advisor).

5. Applicants for positions of associate research fellow or above should submit the following documents:
   (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
   (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate;
   (3) three representative publications (and two copies each);
We are seeking fellows who apply a variety of disciplinary and methodological approaches, and have completed a Ph.D. in a social, behavioral, or computational science within the last five years.

We are seeking fellows who apply a variety of disciplinary and methodological approaches, and have completed a Ph.D. in a social, behavioral, or computational science within the last five years.

6. The application should be sent to Dr. Chung-li Wu, Director, Institute of Political Science, Academia Sinica, 128 Academia Rd., Sec. 2, Taipei 115201, Taiwan, R.O.C.

7. Questions can be forwarded to Ms. Ren-Yuan Lo at 886-2-2652-5303, faxed to 886-2-2783-2610, or e-mailed to ipsas@gate.sinica.edu.tw.

8. The application should be received by November 30, 2021.

Start Date: Spring 2022

Application Deadline: 11/30/2021

Date Posted: 10/19/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9592

---

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Public Opinion, Science & Technology, Research Methods

Postdoctoral fellowship program in Science of Science Communication at the Annenberg Public Policy Center of the University of Pennsylvania

As part of its Annenberg Center for the Advanced Study of Communication, the Annenberg Public Policy Center (APPC; http://www.anenbergpublicpolicycenter.org) of the University of Pennsylvania’s postdoctoral fellowship program in the Science of Science Communication (SSC) is accepting applications for the 2022-2023 academic year. Fellows in the program will work closely with other fellows and senior researchers of APPC on scholarship designed to understand basic problems (e.g., source credibility, communication processes, attitude change, belief formation, conspiracy theories, and misinformation debunking) as well as applied ones (e.g., climate change, vaccines, and COVID-19). The program is interdisciplinary and is currently led by social psychologist and communication scholar, Dolores Albarracin (https://www.asc.upenn.edu/research/centers/social-action-lab).

Applicants should submit a cover letter as well as a curriculum vitae, a letter of reference from their dissertation advisor, and a description of the applicant’s scholarly interests. Two more references will be requested later in the process. First-year fellows will receive a stipend of $65,000 and serve in a 12-month appointment, beginning July 1, 2022. An allowance of up to $1,500 will be provided to offset pre-approved, receipt-documented relocation expenses, and APPC will reimburse up to $2,000 in travel to high-level conferences to present APPC research (subject to any applicable university Covid-19 travel restrictions). Renewal for a second year is contingent upon performance and budgetary considerations.

We are seeking fellows who apply a variety of disciplinary and methodological approaches, and have completed a Ph.D. in a social, behavioral, or computational science within the last five years.

Please send the letter of interest, CV, and names of two references to appc-apply@appc.upenn.edu. The letter of reference should be sent to the same email address by the dissertation adviser. Questions about current lines of research or other academic aspects may be directed to Dr. Albarracin at dalba@upenn.edu.

The application deadline is February 15, 2022 for a July 1, 2022 start. However, decisions will be made on a rolling basis.

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/19/2021

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 9590

---

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor and Analyst

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE ACADEMY

Assistant Professor and Analyst Positions

The Office of Labor and Economic Analysis anticipates filling three Assistant Professor and Analyst positions beginning June 27, 2022

Major Duties of the Position: Conducting labor economic analysis to inform Air Force and Space Force personnel policy; teaching undergraduate courses consistent with area of academic expertise; advising and mentoring cadets; serving on departmental and Academy committees; and maintaining a record or research consistent with academic rank.

Required Position Qualifications: Applicants will be assessed based on education, evidence of teaching effectiveness, quality of scholarship, relevance of education and experience to labor economic analysis and human resource management, and service to applicants’ discipline and institution. Applicants should submit the following items: curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a written research sample, and three letters of recommendation. A Ph.D. in Economics, Public Policy, Business, or related field, or letter of completion by the start date and U.S. citizenship is required. Essential qualities expected of every faculty member include the personal attributes of integrity, industry, cooperation, initiative, and breadth of intellectual interests.

Desired Position Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants with demonstrated experience in causal analysis, program evaluation, labor economic theory, mechanism design, and other techniques pertinent to personnel policy analysis.

For detailed application requirements and to apply, go to www.usajobs.gov. Search for Keywords “Office of Labor and Economic Analysis.”

Find this position and follow prompts to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: 11/19/2021

Date Posted: 10/18/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9580
Colorado State University

Rank: CSU STEPs Program Manager
Subfield(s): Administration, Methodology, Non-Academic Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Quantitative Methods, Gender Politics & Policy

DESCRIPTION OF WORK UNIT:

This position is based out of the Office of the Provost and Executive Vice President and will work collaboratively with the Office of the Vice President for Inclusive Excellence, the Office of Equal Opportunity, and the CSU STEM Center. The position is crucial university-wide and will help launch a new program in faculty equity.

The Provost’s Office oversees – among other things – faculty affairs on campus, including assisting with faculty and staff diversity and inclusion initiatives, new faculty appointments, the promotion and tenure process, and faculty evaluations including annual reviews and post-tenure reviews. These structural pieces are all key to equity.

POSITION SUMMARY:

We seek a Program Manager in the area of gender equity in academia to help lead an NSF-funded ADVANCE grant, called CSU STEPs for Gender Equity. The successful candidate will play a pivotal role in developing this exciting new initiative. The position is intended to continue after the grant-funded work is complete. Applicants must have at least a bachelor’s degree in a relevant field, 3 years of relevant professional experience, and in-depth knowledge of organizational equity.

This position reports to the Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs and coordinates with the Principal Investigator (PI) of the ADVANCE grant.

Specific duties include: defining the processes, procedures, and reporting to manage the program; monitoring progress to make sure milestones are met across the various projects and overall program; managing the program budget; coordinating communications (teleconferences, face-to-face, written, etc.); organizing, leading and participating in regular group meetings; organizing internal and external reviews; coordinating progress reports including assisting with document preparation and submission. CSU STEPs is a new initiative and this is a new position. The successful candidate should have the ability to figure things out as they go.

CSU STEPs will implement specific activities and programming including creating a forum of department heads and chairs to deepen their understanding of DEI; further imbue faculty searches with principles of equity and inclusion; provide training and support for chairs of promotion and tenure committees; increasing retention.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Bachelor’s degree in a relevant field (e.g., Project Management; Educational Leadership; Organizational Development; Diversity, Equity, Inclusion; or a STEM discipline)

3 years of relevant professional experience requiring a high level of competency and responsibility. Examples of relevant professional experience would be work in the areas of diversity, equity and inclusion; project or program management; higher education; faculty matters.

in-depth knowledge of organizational equity

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

in-depth knowledge of U.S. higher education

Demonstrated project management experience, including scope and time management, budgeting and procurement components; using project management software

experience communicating complex issues, building relationships, and working through conflict to consensus or resolution within and across varied groups

direct experience working with faculty

Masters or PhD in a relevant field

experience managing federally funded projects

demonstrated knowledge of intersectionality in diversity, equity, inclusion and social justice topics

ability to generate enthusiasm and excitement in others

SALARY

$60,000 to $80,000 Salary is commensurate on experience and qualifications.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be received by 11:59 p.m. Mountain Standard Time on 11/07/2021.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS

Interested applicants must submit a cover letter (2 pages maximum) which addresses your interest in the position along with how your professional experiences align with identified required and preferred qualifications of the position, a current resume, and the names, e-mail addresses, and telephone numbers of three professional references. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates.

For full consideration, apply not later than 11/07/2021, 11:59 pm (MT) at https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/93165 - Applications must be submitted via this link – no other method of submission will be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/7/2021
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9560

University of Cologne

Rank: Associate Professorship in Political Science with a focus on qualitative and quantitative methods (W2) (f/m/d)

The University of Cologne, Germany, invites applications for a Professorship in Political Science with a focus on qualitative and quantitative methods (W2) (f/m/d)

The University of Cologne is one of the oldest and largest universities in Germany. With its six Faculties covering a broad spectrum of Political Science Jobs

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs disciplines and its internationally outstanding research profile areas, it enjoys an excellent reputation for its academic achievements and high standards of undergraduate and graduate education. The Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences is consistently ranked among the top schools in research and teaching and counts more than 100 professors and 250 researchers.

YOUR TASKS

Candidates should have an internationally recognized profile in political science methods. The successful candidate will be expected to teach qualitative and quantitative methods (which includes teaching in R) as well as research design in political science at the graduate and undergraduate level. The ideal candidate combines qualifications to teach research methods with a substantive research agenda in political science. The professorship will be part of the Cologne Center for Comparative Politics. Candidates are expected to integrate their work into the collaborative research environment of the faculty, which includes the Cluster of Excellence ECONtribute: Markets and Public Policy.

YOUR PROFILE

Candidates should ideally hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science and demonstrate a track record of international publications and grant applications, participation in international scientific networks, and a commitment to contribute to the academic self-administration of the Cologne Center for Comparative Politics and the research initiatives of the faculty. International experience, such as a Ph.D. from a leading international university or other international teaching or research experience, is highly appreciated. The successful applicant will be expected to teach in English and (within a three-year time limit) in German.

OUR OFFER

The University of Cologne provides a stimulating academic environment with a wide range of career development opportunities as well as support services for dual career couples and family-friendly working conditions.

The position is available as of 01.07.2022 or based on mutual agreement. Formal requirements are detailed in Section 36 of the Higher Education Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz – HG NRW). As a rule, the teaching load comprises nine semester hours per week (i.e., two hours per week is one 90-minute course per semester).

The University of Cologne is committed to equal opportunities and diversity. Women are especially encouraged to apply and will be considered preferentially in accordance with the Equal Opportunities Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Landesgleichstellungsgesetz – LGG NRW). We also expressly welcome applications from people with disabilities / special needs or of equal status.

Please submit your application via the University of Cologne’s Academic Job Portal (https://professorships.uni-koeln.de) by 06.12.2021. Your application should be addressed to the Dean of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Science. The application should consist of the following documents: cover letter, curriculum vitae including publication list and teaching record, research and teaching statement, and teaching evaluations. For further information please contact Prof. Dr. Sven-Oliver Proksch (so.proksch@uni-koeln.de).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/6/2021

Yale University
Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Political Behavior, Research Methods, Quantitative Methods

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2022. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample. Applications should be submitted on Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/96142.

The review process will begin on February 1, 2022. Please submit your application by that date to receive full consideration, although we will continue to accept applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2021
Salary: Negotiable
ejobs ID: 9556

New York University
Rank: Research Data Scientist
Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Open

We are seeking a Research Data Scientist to provide leadership and project management on our new, multilingual research infrastructure to monitor how the spread of disinformation across social media platforms will impact the upcoming U.S. elections. Through innovative data collection techniques that pair comprehensive, multi-platform digital trace data with national surveys in both English and Spanish, the project will provide a systematic view into the information
Americans consume — both offline and on — and how their beliefs and behaviors change over time.

With this information, CSMaP scholars will produce peer-reviewed research and quantitative descriptive reports examining several key questions, including which U.S. communities are targeted most by disinformation and on what platforms, how these dynamics are shifting as the online ecosystem changes, and what impact disinformation has on voters’ beliefs and behaviors. Beyond disinformation and elections, our flexible research design will also enable us to measure the impact of media diets on a variety of issue and policy areas, from Covid-19 to social justice.

Under the direction of the CSMaP Faculty Directors, this role is responsible for:

- Working closely with data engineers on social media data collection methodologies and procedures
- Managing multiple incoming streams of social media data and designing and implementing efficient methods for merging aggregates with survey data
- Overseeing an ongoing panel survey and developing and implementing procedures for sampling and quality control
- Working with the faculty directors and other scholars, assist or lead in designing successive waves of a panel survey, with the potential to embed encouragement experiments and innovate in other ways
- Managing a full-time project associate and research assistants
- Overseeing and/or contributing to the production of academic papers, and rigorous topical data reports for a non-academic audience describing both the political content across social media platforms, and the impact it is having on individuals
- Planning and executing the project management plans, such as project budgets, schedules

CSMaP consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as postdoctoral fellows, research engineers, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Some recent publications and working papers have focused on election misinformation, social media usage in an ethnically polarized setting, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The directors of the Center for Social Media and Politics actively encourage applicants from all backgrounds to apply. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long-range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

Qualifications

Required education: Master’s degree or PhD in data science, political science, or related field.

Required skills and experience:
- At least 3 years research experience in social sciences, public policy, or a related field (time in MA or PhD program counts)
- Experience with data analysis and data management, handling large volumes of JSON format data and merging data of multiple types, experience managing a data-science workflow
- Excellent project management skills
- Experience working with R and/or Python
- Ability to work with survey data and identify potential issues and sources of error
- Experience in quantitative analysis
- Ability to work both as part of a team and independently
- Ability to organize and oversee complex projects with multiple moving parts
- Strong interpersonal, collaborative, and communication skills
- Preferred knowledge and experience:
  - Experience working with social media and/or digital trace data
  - Experience working on a large High Performance Computing Cluster and/or with a cloud computing service
  - Experience working with survey applications (e.g. Qualtrics)
  - Background and/or familiarity with quantitative research methodologies a plus
  - Experience in survey design, and ability to to evaluate an existing survey questionnaire in accord with the basic principles of questionnaire design a plus

Application Instructions: To apply, please visit https://apply.interfolio.com/96184

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9533

University of Illinois, Springfield

Rank: Visiting Assistant Research Director
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

All applicants must apply through this URL: https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=142508&job=visiting-assistant-research-director

Primary Function:
The Institute for Legal, Legislative, and Policy Studies is looking for a Visiting Assistant Research Director. In this newly created role, the Visiting Assistant Research Director will work closely with the ILLAPS Research Director and outside partners to develop and distribute social science research products capturing key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from internally and externally funded projects and disseminating them to a wide audience. Over the next three years, ILLAPS aims to increase production of academic publications, policy briefs, white papers, and case studies while also expanding our ongoing projects with external partners and grants with this position playing a key role.

The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead and manage the process of research related content creation—working independently and collaborating with ILLAPS staff on producing and editing written materials including academic articles, policy briefs, case studies, guides, website content, blog posts, and social media. This position will also oversee distribution of the content, including publications and presentations. Further, this position will play a large role independently conducting and overseeing the research process of ILLAPS. The Visiting Assistant Research Director will also work closely with external partners on ILLAPS projects they fund to complete required deliverables, including overseeing and managing data collection, expenditures, and dissemination of findings. This is a two-year appointment, with the potential for continued employment depending on performance and funding.
Duties:

1. Developing and managing research projects for ILLAPS – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently lead ILLAPS staff and faculty in producing content that captures key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from ILLAPS research projects, both those sponsored by ILLAPS and outside partners. They will have lead authority in this area for their research projects. This research related content will include academic articles, policy briefs, white papers, written reports, syntheses of insights across projects, blog posts, and guides to existing resources. The Visiting Assistant Research Director may directly craft the content or may manage a collaborative production process involving other ILLAPS team members. This position will be responsible for all aspects of the research process, from data collection to analysis. Included in this as well will be developing externally funded research projects for partners. This position will be responsible for assuring that this work is completed in a timely and effective manner, including direct involvement with producing the final products and research.

2. Distributing research related content to target audiences—The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead ILLAPS staff and faculty in developing and distributing research content to target audiences and improving the visibility of the ILLAPS to policy makers, practitioners, and academic audiences. These responsibilities may include regularly updating the ILLAPS website, contributing to the Center for State Policy and Leadership and College of Public Affairs and Administration blog, creating research related content for ILLAPS or The Center’s newsletters, academic publications, reports written for external partners, conference presentations, and other potential distribution means. Having lead authority in ensuring all research related distribution objectives are the project are met.

3. Conduct independent research - Conduct research activities related to the researchers interests. This includes designing surveys or other data collection tools, developing data analysis plans, collecting and organizing data for purposes of analysis, conducting interviews and other forms of qualitative data collection, conducting complex statistical analyses and systematic analyses of qualitative data. This independent research will be published in academic articles, institute white papers, or through similar distribution channels outlined in other areas of this posting.

4. Manage and control data collection for research purposes – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently oversee ILLAPS staff and faculty in collecting data on internally and externally funded research projects. This process may include direct responsibility for collecting data through interviews, focus groups, data linkage, or other methodologies. These efforts may include data collection across a variety of quantitative and qualitative research methods, completing and managing all required internal paperwork, ensuring best practices are implemented and followed, facilitating meetings to update colleagues or partners on project progress, and direct involvement in the data collection process. This position will be responsible for successfully managing all aspects of this area for their projects.

5. Developing and managing research project expenditures–The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently develop and manage research project budgets. Included in this will be developing and controlling project budgets and expenditures, manage project budgets and budget revisions, draft budgets and budget revisions, review fiscal reconciliation project reports, and submit invoices for payment.

6. Supervising research staff—The Visiting Assistant Research Director will supervise any staff, including but not limited to visiting scholars, research assistants, student workers, or contractors, who are working on research projects the Visiting Assistant Research Director is overseeing. Included in this will be the responsibility for training staff for research related tasks, reviewing any work products, scheduling, and other related duties as needed. Serve on search committees as a member or chair for university academic searches.

Qualifications:

- ABD status in a PhD program with a master’s degree in a social science, public administration, public health, public policy, or related field. A completed PhD by the start date of the position is strongly preferred.

- Familiarity with state and local government, non-profits, or public policy.

- Work experience with external partners or clients, preferably government entities, grantees, or non-profits.

- Research interests in American politics or public policy, broadly defined.

- Strong research and research translation skills. Ability to identify core concepts and insights and synthesize into clear, plain language descriptions. Included in this is previous experience publishing academic articles, policy briefs, white papers, or books.

- Excellent writing and editing skills, including the ability to consistently and independently produce compelling, well-written, and error-free work products with only light-touch guidance.

- Strong project management capabilities, with a demonstrated ability to independently manage projects to completion, establish priorities among multiple simultaneous deadlines, develop and manage budgets, and sustain timely responses to deadlines and requests.

- Team player with the proven ability to build strong relationships and develop trust with colleagues and partners.

- Functional experience with research methods, including survey research, and statistical programs such as R, Stata, ArcGIS, or additional analysis programs. The ideal candidate will fill gaps in the skill set of current ILLAPS staff and faculty.

Organization: University of Illinois Springfield Center for State Policy and Leadership

Position Title: Visiting Assistant Research Director

Position Supervisor:
Research Director, Institute for Legal, Legislative and Policy Studies Executive Director, Center for State Policy and Leadership

Salary Range: $60,000 to $65,000

Position Time Period: This position is a visiting, two-year, full-time (12-month) academic-professional appointment, with the possibility of continued employment based on performance and finances.

Application Process:
Please select the “Apply For Position” tab below, create or update your profile and upload a cover letter of application addressing qualifications related to the position, a resume, and the names and contact information (phone and email address) for three professional references. Transcripts may be requested at a later date. Incomplete
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for an Assistant Professor in Political Methodology. The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, with appointment beginning July 1, 2022. We seek a scholar doing innovative research in any area of quantitative political methodology, broadly defined. We welcome applications from scholars whose work crosses traditional subfield or disciplinary boundaries, who show promise of research excellence and a desire to train and work with a diverse body of students.

The Political Science Department at UNC is committed to a vision of the University where all members of the community feel welcome, valued, and can thrive. The ideal candidate will share in this commitment. Accordingly, applicants should describe in their cover letters the specific ways in which their scholarship, mentoring, and service goals can support this vision.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes all to apply. We particularly encourage applications from women, BIPOC, veterans, LGBTIQA+, individuals with disabilities, and other groups of people from historically and currently marginalized backgrounds.

Review of applications will begin October 31, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link: http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/200087. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9491

---

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods
Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in the fields of formal theory or quantitative methods. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants must apply online at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/22583 and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. Ph.D. is required. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton Politics faculty members. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to F/Q Postdoctoral Fellowship Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 15, 2022.

This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Requisition Number D-22-POL-00012
University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa
Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Communication, Political Parties & Organizations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics beginning August 16, 2022. The successful candidate should have a strong research agenda which will lead to a body of high-quality peer-reviewed published work. The position is open to applicants in all areas of American politics, behavior and/or institutions, but we especially welcome candidates whose research and teaching interests lie in one or more of the following substantive areas: race/identity and politics, political communication, media and politics, political parties and interest groups, the presidency, and Congress.

The successful candidate will teach courses in our B.A. and M.A./Ph.D. programs. In addition to their specific substantive concerns, we are particularly interested in candidates who are prepared to teach graduate courses in quantitative research methods. A completed Ph.D. in political science is required for appointment at the level of Assistant Professor. The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, is a Carnegie-classified R1 Doctoral University and the flagship campus of the University of Alabama system. UA has approximately 38,000 students and is a leader among public universities nationwide for enrollment of National Merit Scholars. The Department of Political Science offers the B.A., M.A., M.P.A, and Ph.D. degrees. The Department also administers the International Studies major, the Economics major in Arts & Sciences, and the Public Policy minor.

To apply, go to https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/49325 and complete the online application. Include a cover letter that details research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, one writing sample, and sample syllabi and/or teaching evaluations if available. Graduate transcripts and three letters of reference should be emailed directly to the department, at pscsearchchair@ua.edu or mailed to American Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, University of Alabama, Box 870213, Tuscaloosa, AL 35487-0213. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. For more information, contact pscsearchchair@ua.edu.

The University of Alabama is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and actively seeks diversity among its employees. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. For additional information about UA’s strategic diversity plan, see https://provost.ua.edu/diversity/. In addition, the College of Arts & Sciences has developed a college-level strategic diversity plan, which can be viewed here: https://diversity.as.ua.edu/.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9429

---

Johns Hopkins University
Rank: Faculty Program Coordinator/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer - Data Analytics and Policy
Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Administration

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Location:
Washington, DC, 20036

Institution Description:
The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation’s oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master’s degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master’s degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:
The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks a Faculty Program Coordinator to teach in and provide administrative support to the Data Analytics and Policy program. The Master of Science in Data Analytics and Policy Certificate in Data Analytics and Policy prepare students to be data-driven leaders and decision makers. Of particular interest are candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds.

The Faculty Program Coordinator is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer. The Faculty Program Coordinator will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, Director of the Data Analytics and Policy Program, and the Program Coordinator for the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies. The position will report to the Associate Dean for AAP and the Program Director for Data Analytics and Policy. This position is expected to begin January 2022. The Program Coordinator will have the following faculty and administrative responsibilities:

Faculty Responsibilities
- Teaching 6 graduate courses per year, including the preparation for and time spent in the classroom (online or onsite), using best practices for online teaching, engaging and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, responding to student questions;
- Advising students;
- Providing input on the curriculum and new course developments to ensure the delivery of quality programs;
- Other academic duties normally performed by full-time or regular part-time faculty, such as participating on committees and in other academic service.

Administrative Responsibilities
- Assist with management of the MS in Data Analytics and Policy and Certificate in Data Analytics and Policy programs;
- Participate in adjunct faculty hiring and development;
- Assist the Program Director with administrative work to support the programs;
The successful candidate will possess a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field and contribute to research and teaching in public policy and research methods. Preference will be given to applicants with a strong background in American politics. The teaching load for this position is two four-credit courses per semester. Completion of the doctorate is required by the date of hire.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, and teaching statement via Academic Jobs Online. Applicants are required to describe how they will contribute to a diverse and equitable community in their letters of interest. Applicants should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted.

Serving approximately 90 undergraduate majors and 20 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a B.A. and M.A. degree as well as a Master of Public Policy. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Political Science Department website: https://polisci.cas.lehigh.edu/

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation’s highly ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University has some 5,000 undergraduates, 2,000 graduate students, and about 550 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Lehigh University ranks in the top 50 among national universities in U.S. News & World Report ratings and is in the most competitive category in both Peterson’s Guide and Barron’s Profiles of American Colleges. The university is located on a scenic, 1,600-acre campus in historic Bethlehem in a region of eastern Pennsylvania (USA) known as the Lehigh Valley. About 90 minutes from New York and Philadelphia, the Lehigh Valley is an attractive place to live and work with reasonable cost of living, easy commuting, good schools, and abundant cultural activities.

Lehigh University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, genetic information, marital status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status. We are committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Lehigh University is committed to a culturally and intellectually diverse academic community and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching and/or service, to this mission. Lehigh University is the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation award for promoting the careers of women in academic sciences and engineering http://www.lehigh.edu/luadvance/ and is among institutions of higher education recognized for excellence in diversity with the INSIGHT into Diversity HEED Award. Additional information about Lehigh’s commitment to diversity and inclusion is available at https://diversityandinclusion.lehigh.edu/. Lehigh University provides competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits, including domestic partner benefits. More information about Work/Life Balance for Faculty can be found at: https://www.lehigh.edu/-inprv/faculty/worklifebalance.html Lehigh University supports dual career efforts for following spouses/partners of newly hired faculty. Learn more about Dual Career Assistance at: https://www.lehigh.edu/-inprv/faculty/dualcareer.html.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. As a condition of employment,
This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Political Economy of Development Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 7, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00003

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9160

Princeton University
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, Quantitative Methods

Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, Quantitative Methods. The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in quantitative methods. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Junior candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Quantitative Methods Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on September 13, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00005

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9158

Rice University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2022. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized

Ashoka University
Rank: Professor / Associate Professor / Tenure-track Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Open

The Department of Political Science at Ashoka University invites applications for faculty positions with an expected start date of January 15th, 2022 (though this is negotiable to August 15th 2022). The position is open rank, as to either the level of tenure track Assistant Professor, or tenured Associate or Full Professor.

Ashoka is a research university based near New Delhi, India. We strongly encourage applications by women and members of other groups underrepresented in academia.

Applicants for the position of tenure track Assistant Professor should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) two samples of academic writings; 4) teaching evaluations (if available); 5) names of three references.

Applicants for the position of tenured Associate or Full Professor should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) two samples of academic writings; 4) name of three references.

Statements of teaching and research philosophy are optional but will be considered if submitted.

All materials should be submitted through interfolio at this link: https://apply.interfolio.com/94397 . The deadline for submitting a complete application is: November 30th, 2021.

For any queries or further information, please contact: polscience.recruitment@ashoka.edu.in

We are open to outstanding candidates in any subfield, with a preference for political theory, comparative politics and political economy along with related methodological approaches. Those with expertise involving regions outside South Asia are particularly encouraged to apply. A Ph.D is required by the time of appointment.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9337

Princeton University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Economy of Development

Assistant Professor, Political Economy of Development. The Department of Politics and the Princeton School for Public and International Affairs seek applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in the political economy of development. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate background checks are required in conformance with Pennsylvania law. Questions about this position should be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Brian Fife, at blf218@lehigh.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9343

Political Science Jobs

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in American political behavior. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods and the ability and willingness to contribute to graduate and undergraduate training in that area. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2022.

The application deadline is September 15, 2021. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at apply.interfolio.com/91456.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 9/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/2/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9113

Texas A&M University

Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Latin American Politics/Political Economy and quantitative methods

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of Latin American politics/political economy and quantitative methods. Expertise in Mexico preferred, but we are open to other areas as well. The successful candidate will teach courses on Latin American politics/political economy as part of the Department’s developing curricular concentration on the region and courses on quantitative methods that are part of the Department’s required curriculum.

Bush School faculty teach master’s degree students in international affairs, with a standard 2-2 load. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Political Economy by September 2022. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2022.

Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, three letters of recommendation, and other information demonstrating success in teaching at the Texas A&M Interfolio site apply.interfolio.com/88572 in DOC or PDF format.

The review of applications will begin September 7, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Butler University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Butler University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor for a one-year appointment with possibility of renewal for a second year. Applicants should have expertise in politics and/or public policy in the United States and a strong commitment to excellent, inclusive undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will teach an introductory American politics survey course, research and analysis methods (basic research design/methods), US Parties and Politics, and other courses aligned with their expertise, and will help build an inclusive learning environment for our increasingly diverse student population. We are particularly interested in candidates who could teach an introductory international politics survey course. This lecturer will teach four courses per semester, with no more than six distinct course preparations per year anticipated.

Review of applications is ongoing and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following to plsearch@butler.edu: a cover letter that highlights the applicant’s qualifications for this position and commitment to inclusive, excellent teaching and a curriculum vitae. Additional evidence of evidence of inclusive teaching excellence is welcome but not required at this stage. Applicants should have advanced to candidate or earned a doctorate in political science or a related field at the time of appointment. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts and to consent to a background check prior to a final offer of employment and will start August 2021.

The Butler Political Science Program, distinctively grounded in a firm commitment to social justice, democracy, and human rights, engages students in the study and practice of politics to promote the collective good at the local, national, and global level. The program defines politics broadly as the formal and informal ways societies govern themselves. The program offers an innovative curriculum that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to pursue positive social change. Political science alumni have pursued careers in electoral politics, teaching, law, government, journalism, business, and non-profit organizations, and have earned graduate and professional degrees in several fields.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/9/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8927
NON-ACADEMIC

Colorado State University

Rank: CSU STEPs Program Manager
Subfield(s): Administration, Methodology, Non-Academic
Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Quantitative Methods, Gender Politics & Policy

DESCRIPTION OF WORK UNIT:

This position is based out of the Office of the Provost and Executive Vice President and will work collaboratively with the Office of the Vice President for Inclusive Excellence, the Office of Equal Opportunity, and the CSU STEM Center. The position is crucial university-wide and will help launch a new program in faculty equity.

The Provost’s Office oversees — among other things — faculty affairs on campus, including assisting with faculty and staff diversity and inclusion initiatives, new faculty appointments, the promotion and tenure process, and faculty evaluations including annual reviews and post-tenure reviews. These structural pieces are all key to equity.

POSITION SUMMARY:

We seek a Program Manager in the area of gender equity in academia to help lead an NSF-funded ADVANCE grant, called CSU STEPs for Gender Equity. The successful candidate will play a pivotal role in developing this exciting new initiative. The position is intended to continue after the grant-funded work is complete. Applicants must have at least a bachelor’s degree in a relevant field, 3 years of relevant professional experience, and in-depth knowledge of organizational equity.

This position reports to the Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs and coordinates with the Principal Investigator (PI) of the ADVANCE grant.

Specific duties include: defining the processes, procedures, and reporting to manage the program; monitoring progress to make sure milestones are met across the various projects and overall program; managing the program budget; coordinating communications (teleconferences, face-to-face, written, etc.); organizing, leading and participating in regular group meetings; organizing internal and external reviews; coordinating progress reports including assisting with document preparation and submission. CSU STEPs is a new initiative and this is a new position. The successful candidate should have the ability to figure things out as they go.

CSU STEPs will implement specific activities and programming including creating a forum of department heads and chairs to deepen their understanding of DEI; further imbue faculty searches with principles of equity and inclusion; provide training and support for chairs of promotion and tenure committees; increasing retention.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Bachelor’s degree in a relevant field (e.g., Project Management; Educational Leadership; Organizational Development; Diversity, Equity, Inclusion; or a STEM discipline)

3 years of relevant professional experience requiring a high level of competency and responsibility. Examples of relevant professional experience would be work in the areas of diversity, equity and inclusion; project or program management; higher education; faculty matters.

- in-depth knowledge of organizational equity

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- in-depth knowledge of U.S. higher education

Demonstrated project management experience, including scope and time management, budgeting and procurement components; using project management software

experience communicating complex issues, building relationships, and working through conflict to consensus or resolution within and across varied groups

- direct experience working with faculty

Masters or PhD in a relevant field

- experience managing federally funded projects

demonstrated knowledge of intersectionality in diversity, equity, inclusion and social justice topics

- ability to generate enthusiasm and excitement in others

SALARY

$60,000 to $80,000 Salary is commensurate on experience and qualifications.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be received by 11:59 p.m. Mountain Standard Time on 11/07/2021.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS

Interested applicants must submit a cover letter (2 pages maximum) which addresses your interest in the position along with how your professional experiences align with identified required and preferred qualifications of the position, a current resume, and the names, e-mail addresses, and telephone numbers of three professional references. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates.

For full consideration, apply not later than 11/07/2021, 11:59 pm (MT) at https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/93165 - Applications must be submitted via this link – no other method of submission will be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/7/2021
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9560

---

Institute for Justice

Rank: Senior Research Analyst/Team Leader
Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

Do you want to use your empirical research skills to advance individual rights? This is what the Institute for Justice’s Strategic Research team does every day, creating data-driven research used by journalists, lawmakers, advocates, and courts to bring light to government abuse and achieve reform. We are seeking entrepreneurial researchers to join our nine-member team in leadership roles. Title is negotiable to reflect research and managerial skills and experience.
Responsibilities include:
• Developing and executing research plans on a wide range of cutting-edge topics, such as civil forfeiture, occupational licensing, qualified immunity, zoning/housing, and 4th Amendment rights.
• Working closely with IJ attorneys and researchers to generate research questions that advance our issues and to identify the strongest methods to answer them.
• Finding datasets or creative ways to build them, as well as managing data collection.
• Manipulating and analyzing large datasets with both descriptive and inferential statistics, as well as drafting and managing surveys.
• Mining research literature for new ideas, potential collaborators, and methodological insights.
• Leading both solo and team projects.
  • Managing and mentoring junior researchers and assistants to maintain high standards of accuracy, methodological rigor, and integrity.
  • Ensuring research findings reach key audiences, such as journalists and lawmakers, to bring important issues to prominence and create policy change.
• Writing clear, accessible reports for general audiences, as well as articles for peer-reviewed journals.
• Conducting media interviews; testifying before legislatures and city councils; writing media materials, such as op-eds and letters to the editor; speaking at public events.
• Strategizing with IJ’s communications, legislative, activism, and research teams to maximize distribution and impact.
Qualifications include:
• Passion for policy research and IJ’s mission of championing property rights, economic liberty, free speech, and educational choice.
• Strong background in research design and statistical analysis, preferably including survey methods.
• Ph.D. in social sciences or statistics with an emphasis on research methods, applied statistics, or applied economics; or master’s degree in applied statistics or applied economics with three years’ experience.
• Proficiency with statistical software such as Stata; proficiency with Python, R, or GIS is helpful.
• Experience conducting policy research, such as with a policy institute, in a legislative, executive, or regulatory role, or through a university-based research center.
• Excellent written and oral communication skills, especially for non-technical audiences.
• Proven ability to handle multiple projects and meet deadlines; experience managing project teams preferred.
• Strong problem-solving and critical-thinking skills.
• Self-motivation and enthusiasm for collaboration.

Working at IJ:
• Our culture is entrepreneurial, open, and resilient. We relentlessly pursue real-world change—while having fun. Our salaries and titles are commensurate with experience, as well as competitive with non-profit and academic salaries. This position offers the opportunity to work in any of IJ’s offices: Arlington, Virginia (headquarters); Tempe, Arizona; Seattle, Washington; Austin, Texas; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Miami, Florida; or Chicago, Illinois. IJ offers superior benefits including medical, dental, vision and life insurance, retirement benefits and generous paid leave. IJ also offers flexible work-day scheduling and the option to work from home two days a week, as well as fully remote up to four weeks a year. To be considered, please submit a resume, a cover letter, and a writing sample.

More about the Institute for Justice’s SR Team: IJ’s Strategic Research team creates social science and policy research, but our studies don’t just sit on a library shelf collecting dust. We put our research to work by combining it with IJ’s unique brand of cutting-edge litigation, award-winning communications and top-notch activism and legislative outreach. Our studies have been cited by the White House and the U.S. Supreme Court, as well as leading news outlets nationwide. They have been published in leading peer-reviewed journals. Our work helped certify a victorious class action lawsuit against Philadelphia’s civil forfeiture machine, ensure the return of cash wrongfully seized by the IRS, roll back needless occupational licensing, dismantle speech-squelching campaign finance laws, and protect programs that empower parents to choose the best schools for their children.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9536

Creighton University
Rank: Capitol Hill Internship Program - Executive Director
Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Other, Other

The United Methodist College Washington Consortium (UMCWC) seeks to fill the position of Executive Director of the Capitol Hill Internship Program (CHIP) to replace its current retiring director. The position begins in August 2022. The UMCWC is made up of representatives from eight liberal arts colleges that send students to Washington, D.C. to live and intern in the nation’s capital as participants in CHIP. The program is open to students from all majors and academic disciplines. Students live in the CHIP house at 510 C Street NE in Washington and are responsible for finding their own internships with the assistance of the director.

Job Description: The director teaches an internship seminar, coordinates the teaching of additional courses, leads Friday field trips around Washington, manages student housing, manages the program’s finances, updates the CHIP website, coordinates with the CHIP board or directors, and coordinates the program for each participating student.

The director works full time Monday through Friday and remains on call evenings and weekends from mid-August until mid-May. The director manages between 10-20 students during the fall and spring semesters, and another group during the January term. The director lives off-site and is responsible for his or her own housing expenses.

Compensation: Salary is competitive and negotiable. Retirement benefits are included; the director is responsible for his or her own health coverage.

Essential Qualifications/Characteristics include the following:
• PhD in Political Science or related field.
• Teaching experience at the college level.
• A thorough knowledge of Washington DC.
• Well-connected in the Washington DC community.
• Experience working with a diverse student body.
• A high energy level.
• Cool under pressure, with a proven ability to handle a crisis.
• Excellent communication skills.

Preferred but not required:

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
• Develop and foster strategic relationships with external stakeholders, including policymakers of all levels of the government, donors, and other mission-aligned individuals and institutions.

• Proactively and independently work closely with researchers and leadership to identify, lead, and implement a targeted and integrated program of engagement and communications along with staff at Inclusion Economics Yale.

• Develop strong relations with government officials, help conceptualize new research projects that align with our portfolios, as well as identify opportunities for replicating and scaling-up of projects.

• Work with government officials to encourage and enhance the use of rigorous evidence-based policymaking in their departments, and institutionalize practices to make such policy-engagements effective.

• Represent our research and policy engagements in a variety of written and in-person forums to engage effectively in the research-to-policy space and communicate effectively about our work to external stakeholders. Written communications may include policy briefs, published articles and blogs, and reports.

• Oversee and implement all aspects pertaining to administration of external-facing policy engagements ranging from policy dialogues and conferences to workshops and trainings. This oversight includes coordinating with collaborating institutions, developing and effectively delivering content, and ensuring all administration and logistics are executed effectively.

• Draft research-policy memos, presentations, op-eds, and background notes for high-level partner meetings, and oversee immediate follow-up on such meetings, including related to basic content and data-related requests.

• Develop and implement systems to effectively organize, monitor, and systematize policy engagement efforts and auxiliary support structures.

• Build capability and capacity in the research management team for effective partnership management, deeper understanding of the policy environment, and inform and support fundraising initiatives in the organization.

• Other activities to support our strategy in India and South Asia, as requested.

Basic Qualifications:
• Master’s degree in a relevant field such as economics, public policy/administration, and/or political science
• Strong understanding of research design, basic econometrics, and evaluation methodologies, as well as public policy-oriented topics and policy and implementation in South Asia – India in particular
• At least 5 years of experience in a position that includes significant external network development and stakeholder engagement
• Excellent oral and written communication skills in English and strong public speaking skills
• Demonstrated ability to communicate research findings to a non-technical audience
• Willingness to visit research project sites and engage in research content and methodology
• Ability to think creatively, innovate, strategize, set priorities, manage a workplan, and evaluate progress with minimal supervision
• Experience working across multiple projects and managing multiple internal and external relationships
• Experience managing stakeholder and policy programs, including convening policy forums, communications outputs, and thought leadership activities
• Proven track record of carrying out high-quality research, policy, and/or advocacy work

Preferred Qualifications:
• Working knowledge of Hindi
• 7 years or more of relevant experience, including at least three years of working closely with researchers and government officials in India
• Extensive experience in developing strategic engagement and communications programs, including building networks and collaborations to maximize impact on policy/reform
• Expertise in one or more of i.e. India’s core research areas
• A PhD in economics, public policy or political science is desirable, but not required

This position will be based in New Delhi, India, with frequent travel throughout the country when Covid-19 restrictions are lifted.

How to Apply:
If you are interested in this position, please fill out our Screening Questionnaire (https://forms.gle/XbBeNgrR0xHpaN7); you will be asked to upload a single PDF containing your CV, cover letter, writing sample, and academic transcripts. Label your file “Last name, First name – Policy Engagement Manager”.

To view other open positions, visit the MacMillan Center’s Employment Opportunities page (https://macmillan.yale.edu/faculty/employment-opportunities).

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8894

OPEN
Columbia University
Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Health Policy

Assistant or Associate Professor in Health Policy

The Department of Health Policy and Management of Columbia University’s Mailman School of Public Health seeks applicants for a position in health policy, at the Assistant or Associate Professor level, beginning September 1, 2022.

We seek scholars with a doctoral degree in health policy, or a closely related degree, such as political science, sociology, or health services research. We define the term health policy quite broadly, but are especially interested in candidates who conduct research that examines the ways that the policymakers and managers can minimize the disparities caused by the social (non-medical) determinants of health. The successful candidate must also be able to teach courses in health policy and/or research methodology at the master’s level.

All applicants must have the potential for excellence in teaching and research.

The Department of Health Policy and Management has a multidisciplinary faculty that trains Masters level students in health policy and health administration. We maintain close ties with Columbia’s Graduate School of Business, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, College of Physicians and Surgeons, and School of International and Public Affairs, as well as with many New York area healthcare delivery and research institutions.

Review of applications will commence December 1, 2021.

We encourage new graduates and current assistant or associate professors to apply. To apply, please submit a curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references via apply.interfolio.com/89495

Please address any questions to the search committee chair, Professor Miriam Laugesen (ml3111@cumc.columbia.edu).

Columbia University is an equal opportunity employer and an affirmative action employer. Columbia University is committed to ensuring that University employment is based upon personal capabilities and qualifications without discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, disability, pregnancy, sexual orientation, marital status, status as a victim of domestic violence, alienage or citizenship status, creed, genetic predisposition or carrier status, unemployment status, or any other protected characteristic as established by law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/28/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9633

University of Illinois, Springfield
Rank: Funded Pre-Doctoral Fellowship

The Political Science Department at the University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) invites applications for the on-campus Pre-Doctoral Funded Fellowship Program for Fall 2022. Area of specialization is open (American Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics, or Political Theory).

UIS celebrates its diversity with a campus comprised of students and faculty of various ages, backgrounds, and ethnicities. Of the approximately 4,000 students enrolled, about 20% are African-American and Hispanic students, and 13% are international. UIS is a welcoming university community committed to improving diversity in research, teaching, and service through the recruitment of graduate students who are completing their dissertation and represent diverse perspectives.

Benefits
Fellows will receive support for research, professional travel, and other related expenses. They will work with a faculty mentor and will have opportunities to present their research at a number of University and professional venues. Fellows will receive academic year faculty appointments and will be eligible for benefits, including health insurance. Annual salary is $30,000. Fellows should be eligible for employment.

Responsibilities
Fellows will teach one course each semester in an area related to their academic preparation and a need of the host department. Fellows will devote significant time to the completion of the dissertation. This is a full-time position and fellows may not be employed outside of the University, or receive additional fellowships or awards during the fellowship period unless approved by the University.

Minimum Qualifications
Fellows must be dissertation stage doctoral degree candidate (i.e., completed all coursework, passed comprehensive/qualifying exams, and a successfully defended and approved proposal by August 16, 2022, with anticipated degree date of Spring or Summer 2023) in one of the following fields: American Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics, or Political Theory.

Additional Qualifications

Political Science Jobs

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Qualified candidates who would enhance the diversity of UIS faculty and/or who have significant experience in educational programs and environments characterized by a strong emphasis on diversity, multiculturalism, and inclusion are strongly encouraged to apply.

Application Process
Go to: https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=154300&job=pre-doctoral-funded-fellowships-fall-2022-2-3-positions

Create or update your profile and upload: 1) a current CV/resume, 2) name and contact information (phone and email address) for your dissertation advisor, and 3) a cover letter addressing:
- Your interest in the position, how you would benefit from the PDFF program, and how you would contribute to campus diversity;
- Specific UIS department/school home (from those listed in the job posting);
- Anticipated timeline for degree completion (confirming you will have completed all coursework, passed comprehensive/qualifying exams, and a successfully defended and approved proposal by August 16, 2022, with anticipated degree date of Spring or Summer 2023)

To maintain the integrity and confidentiality of the search process, applicants are asked to upload their own materials. The search committee will give full consideration to those applicants who complete the online application and upload all required materials by December 15, 2021. Incomplete applications will not be evaluated. Review of applications will begin as they are submitted and will continue until the positions are filled or the search for Fall 2022 fellowships is terminated.

Questions about the program may be directed to: Monica Kroft, mkrof2@uis.edu.

Application deadline: December 15, 2021

About UIS: Located in the state capital, the University of Illinois Springfield is one of three members of the University of Illinois system. The University serves approximately 4,000 students in 21 graduate and 31 undergraduate programs. The academic curriculum offers students a strong liberal arts core, a wide range of professional programs, and close faculty interaction. Making the most of its location in the state capital, UIS is broadly engaged in public policy and service. Its diverse student body includes traditional, non-traditional, and international students. Twenty-five percent of majors are in 17 undergraduate and graduate online degree programs and the campus has received several national awards for its implementation of online learning. UIS faculty are committed teachers, active scholars, and professionals in service to society. The University emphasizes excellence in teaching, and faculty are also expected to provide a balance of scholarship and service activities to meet requirements for tenure and promotion. You are encouraged to visit the university web page at http://www.uis.edu

More About UIS & Our Springfield Community
The University of Illinois Springfield (UIS) is a premier public university that provides students with a high-quality liberal arts education, exceptional public affairs opportunities, and outstanding professional preparation programs. UIS is one of three universities of the world-class University of Illinois system and has been ranked by US News & World Report as one of the top 10 regional public universities in the Midwest.

UIS celebrates its diversity with a campus comprised of students and faculty of various ages, backgrounds, and ethnicities. Faculty members are accomplished teacher-scholars, and UIS has a national reputation for innovation in teaching and excellence in online education. Located in the state capital, UIS has established a reputation for Leadership lived, based upon four core strengths: the educational richness of its teaching-focused academic experience; the abundant opportunities it provides for students to collaborate with faculty and gain practical experience through institutional partners; the right-sized supportive community it offers; and its tradition of educating public servants and leaders in private and public sectors. UIS is a community-engaged campus whose students contribute over 66,000 hours of community service each year.

The surrounding Springfield community offers a wonderful quality of life. A lively entertainment scene includes jazz, blues, community theatre, municipal opera, comedy, and live music, including downtown music festivals. Additional cultural and sporting attractions are conveniently located a few hours away in St. Louis, Chicago, and Indianapolis. With a population of about 117,000, Springfield offers great restaurants, shopping, and other city amenities while retaining the friendliness and affordability of small-town living (and without the heavy traffic). The area also has a wide variety of recreational opportunities, including biking and hiking trails, ice rinks, sports complexes, and several first-class golf courses. Lake Springfield offers fishing, boating, and other recreational water activities. Springfield is also home to a wildlife sanctuary, zoo, lakeside memorial gardens, botanical gardens, and one of the world’s largest carillons.

Springfield was home to Abraham Lincoln, our nation’s sixteenth president and one of its most famous political figures. A historical downtown area features the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library & Museum, the Old State Capitol, the Lincoln historical district, historic reenactments and events, the Illinois State Museum, and a variety of specialty shops and restaurants which make Springfield the most prominent tourist destination in central Illinois.

Springfield is also home to the second Illinois Medical District (the first being in Chicago) and includes two major medical centers, Memorial Health Systems and HSISH St. John’s Health Systems, as well as the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine. The medical community and state government are the two largest employers in Springfield.

Springfield offers daily Amtrak service to St. Louis and Chicago as well as to points beyond. A regional airport offers daily service to major hubs in Chicago and Dallas. City bus service is provided from the UIS campus to various locations around the city.

UIS is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer with a strong institutional commitment to recruitment and retention of a diverse and inclusive campus community. Women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

As a qualifying federal contractor, the University of Illinois System uses E-Verify to verify employment eligibility.

The University of Illinois may conduct background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer of employment. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

New Policy: All offers for employment are contingent upon proof of vaccination against the COVID-19 virus pursuant to https://www.uis.edu/academicstaffhandbook/university-policies/fall-2021-covid-19-vaccination-policy-for-new-hires/.

November 2021

182 Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The University of Illinois System requires candidates selected for hire to disclose any documented finding of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment and to authorize inquiries to current and former employers regarding findings of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment. For more information, visit https://www.hr.uillinois.edu/cms/One.aspx?portalId=4292&pageId=1411899

UIS employment in this role is not covered by Social Security, and instead, is covered by the State Universities Retirement System. You don’t pay Social Security taxes and your earnings won’t be on your Social Security record. (Your record will, however, show your Medicare wages.) Your pension from the State Universities Retirement System may affect the amount of your Social Security benefit and Social Security benefit as a spouse.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Date Posted: 10/27/2021
Salary: $30,000 - $39,999
eJobs ID: 9631

Bilkent University
Rank: Open-Rank Positions in International Relations (Bilkent University).

The Department of International Relations at Bilkent University invites applications for multiple tenure-track and open-rank positions in international relations, to begin in September 2022. The department welcomes applications from scholars working in any area of specialization within the field of international relations.

Successful candidates will have a strong publication record, and at Bilkent they will be expected to produce peer-reviewed research and contribute to the undergraduate and graduate programs in the Department of International Relations. The positions entail a teaching load of two courses per semester, with a one-course reduction for each of the first four years of employment.

Bilkent University and the Department of International Relations are strongly committed to faculty diversity. We welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds, especially from those historically under-represented in the academy.

To apply, candidates must submit: 1) CV 2) cover letter that includes a description of research and teaching interests 3) contact information for three scholars who can provide letters of recommendation 4) a writing sample. Applicants are expected to have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or a related academic discipline by the beginning of the appointment. The deadline for submission is 20 December 2021.

Bilkent University is an English-medium private research university located in Ankara, Turkey. It is the country’s first private, non-profit university, and global rankings regularly highlight its place as one of the leading universities in Turkey. The university offers on-campus housing, International Baccalaureate schooling options for dependents, a diverse intellectual environment, and a variety of facilities and opportunities for its staff.

The Department of International Relations, which serves approximately 460 undergraduate students and 50 graduate students, fully embraces the university’s foundational objectives of providing high-quality education, producing high-impact research, and developing critical and analytical thinking.

Please direct questions about the application process and the positions to ir@bilkent.edu.tr.

To apply: https://stars.bilkent.edu.tr/staffapp/IR2022OR
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/20/2021
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9623

Middle Tennessee State University
Rank: Department Chair
Subfield(s): Administration, Open, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations invites applicants for the position of department chair (#128005). Applicants must be eligible to meet the criteria for the rank of either associate professor or professor. Expedited tenure upon appointment possible. The start date for the position is August 1, 2022.

The successful candidate will lead a department that offers undergraduate degrees and concentrations in Political Science, Pre-Law, Public Policy, and Management, and International Relations and an M.A. in International Affairs. The department seeks candidates who are committed to DEI and emphasize collaborative leadership and the ability to manage quotidian operations while focusing on long-range plans to foster growth and sustain quality programs.

The successful candidate will prioritize excellence in teaching, have a distinguished record of scholarship, and a commitment to equitable student success. In addition, the successful candidate will have demonstrated leadership abilities, strong interpersonal and problem-solving skills, and provide advocacy for diverse student and faculty concerns. A terminal degree in Political Science or a closely related field is required. While the research and teaching specialization are open, those specializing in public policy, public management, or pre-law may receive special consideration. In addition, candidates with prior administrative experience—including management of budgets, experience with assessment for learning improvement, and interest in recruitment and fundraising may also receive special consideration.

To apply or for more detailed information visit https://careers.mtsu.edu. MTSU is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that values diversity in all its forms. Women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9625

University of Houston
Rank: Assistant Professor - Sustainable Energy Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Open
Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, Regulatory Policy

The Hobby School of Public Affairs and the Cullen College of Engineering at the University of Houston seek to hire a Presidential Frontier Faculty tenure-track faculty member at the rank of assistant... professor specializing in sustainable energy policy. The Presidential Frontier Faculty program is a university-wide integrated interdisciplinary hiring campaign that is overseen by central university leadership, and encompasses hiring a large cohort of convergence research faculty to work on health, energy, sustainability and security. The position will begin in the Fall of 2022. We are interested in applicants who will help chart the future research and teaching on sustainable energy with fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset.

This joint position, with the Hobby School of Public Affairs being the primary college, is part of the energy thrust of the Presidential Frontier Faculty program. The energy thrust focuses on three areas: hydrogen; carbon capture, utilization, and storage; and energy storage. This thrust includes policy and business as new energy sources will need to overcome policy and regulatory hurdles as they are scaled up to industrial levels. The scientific and engineering challenges pertaining to energy conversion, storage and transmission are arguably the most compelling imperatives for our society. While most drivers of the transformation of the energy sector demand scientific and engineering breakthroughs which are seemingly internal to the industry, others come from economic, legal and political opportunities and constraints. Hence cutting-edge research and education on energy and sustainability should identify the nature of the problems that would require policy interventions; identify the scope of the required fiscal and regulatory changes; characterize the political economy considerations for the enactment and execution of the policies; and propose regulatory or statutory reforms needed.

The Hobby School faculty includes experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy. The Department of Petroleum Engineering in the Cullen College is a center of world-class petroleum engineering education, research, and service in the city of Houston, the hub of the world’s petroleum industry. This faculty search seeks to complement the collective expertise of the Cullen College and the Hobby School of Public Affairs, and integrate with a campus-wide multidisciplinary faculty hiring effort among, including both units, the Bauer College of Business and other schools, colleges, departments and centers across campus.

Duties and Responsibilities:

This position is designed to be a career-building step for scholars in sustainable energy and sustainable energy policy. Primary duties for the scholar are to develop his or her research program in environmental policy with applications to problems pertaining to the public policy dimensions of promoting the energy transition. In the selection process, the search committee will prioritize collaborative scholars who: (1) engage in nationally-recognized, interdisciplinary work on significant public policy issues, (2) work with diverse populations, communities, and organizations, (3) demonstrate an eagerness to contribute to undergraduate and graduate education and student success, and (4) pursue grants, awards, and other sources of funding to support research, academic programming, student success, community engagement, and impact.

Application Instructions:

Interested individuals should apply at https://jobs.uh.edu and provide: (1) a letter of interest, (2) evidence of teaching effectiveness and commitment to mentoring students, (3) a statement of research specialization and interests, (4) three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation, (5) a curriculum vita, and (6) up to three representative papers. Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants but not for senior applicants (we will inform applicants prior to asking for letters in that case). Review of candidates will start on November 1, 2021; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

About the Department of Petroleum Engineering, the Hobby School of Public Affairs and the University of Houston:

The Hobby School of Public Affairs was created in 2016 by the University of Houston System. Incoming faculty will have the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology, leadership development, and ethical analysis in its teaching, training, and research. It is the home of UH’s Center for Public Policy, Survey Research Institute, and Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center for Ethics and Leadership. The Hobby School offers: (1) a Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree, (2) a dual degree program combining public policy with degrees in other fields—multidisciplinary studies (UH’s Honors College), business, economics, law, psychology, and social work, (3) certificate programs in data analytics, energy policy, health care policy, public policy, and public administration, and (4) BS and BA degrees in public policy starting in January, 2022. We are in the planning process for launching a PhD program. The Hobby School also runs the Institute on the Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) and offers workshops in social science methods under the Inter-University Consortium of Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Institute.

The Hobby School and the Cullen College of Engineering are well-positioned for impactful research. Houston is the nation’s fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with its: (a) growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the world’s largest medical center (the Texas Medical Center), (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) diverse population, (d) outstanding, diverse restaurants, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: UH Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy https://uhsystem.edu/compliance-ethics/_docs/sam/01/1d51.pdf The position is also subject to the University of Houston’s background check policy.

Qualifications:

Required: PhD in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics, Engineering, Environmental Studies or related fields. Applicants with, or nearing completion of, a doctoral degree in fields mentioned above will also be considered. The successful candidate is likely to demonstrate expertise in quantitative methods, potential for publishing research, a collaborative/respectful approach to work, and the ability to effectively manage multiple projects to achieve performance objectives. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply. The applicant must also have strong written and oral communication skills.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for faculty appointments and will be requested upon selection of the final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/ Letter of Application, Research Statement, Publications, Evidence of Effective Teaching

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9624

Hobby School of Public Affairs
Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Health and Health Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Open
Specializations: Health Care, Economic Policy, Political Economy

The Hobby School of Public Affairs and Department of Economics at the University of Houston (UH) seek to hire a Presidential Frontier Faculty tenure-track faculty member at the rank of assistant professor in the fields of public health and health policy, to begin in the Fall of 2022. The Presidential Frontier Faculty program is a university-wide integrated interdisciplinary hiring campaign that is overseen by central university leadership, and encompasses hiring a large cohort of convergence research faculty to work on health, energy, sustainability and security. This search is part of a university-wide, multi-year, integrated, visionary hiring campaign to attract top scholars to support the University of Houston’s research focus on building an infrastructure for sustainable communities. We are interested in applicants who will bring fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset. Our faculty include experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy and economics. We seek to complement that collective expertise with this hire.

Competitive candidates will have expertise in areas including, but not limited to, health policy, public health, the economics of healthcare markets, and determinants of individual health outcomes with a focus on economic and social disruptions in the face of global climate change. Their approach to research may include, but is not limited to, survey methods, randomized control trials, policy evaluation, and structural and quantitative models.

About the Hobby School and Department of Economics:

The Hobby School of Public Affairs was created in 2016 by the University of Houston System. Incoming faculty will have the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology, leadership development, and ethical analysis in its teaching, training, and research. It is the home of UH’s Center for Public Policy, Survey Research Institute, and Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center for Ethics and Leadership. The Hobby School offers: (1) a Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree, (2) a dual degree program combining public policy with degrees in other fields—multidisciplinary studies (UH’s Honors College), business, economics, law, psychology, and social work, (3) certificate programs in data analytics, energy policy, health care policy, public policy, and public administration, and (4) BS and BA degrees in public policy starting in January, 2022. We are in the planning process for launching a PhD program. The Hobby School also runs the Institute on the Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) and offers workshops in social science methods under the Inter-University Consortium of Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Institute.

The Department of Economics is a research-oriented department which operates at the frontier of the profession. It has strength in applied microeconomics with specialists in labor markets, health, public economics, and development, as well as a group of macroeconomists with a focus on time-series analysis, international trade and finance, risk-sharing, and growth. Faculty members are associates of the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER) and the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR), and serve on editorial boards at general interest and top field journals. The department offers a PhD program, a Master’s in Applied Economics, and undergraduate BA and BS degrees that includes a Quantitative Certificate for students undertaking more rigorous coursework. In addition to regular seminars with leading economists from around the world, the department co-organizes conferences on international economics with the Federal Reserve and Bank of Mexico, macroeconomics with other research universities in Texas, and applied microeconomics with other Texas universities with support from the Stata Institute.

The University of Houston is a Carnegie-designated Tier One research institution and is the flagship campus of a state-assisted higher education system that enrolls over 70,000 students. The University of Houston is recognized as one of the most racially and ethnically diverse research institutions in the nation. As such, we welcome candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence.

Houston itself is a laboratory for the future. The city reflects what is happening in the United States and around the world in terms of demographic, cultural, political, and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (1) a growing economy, including a vibrant energy sector, robust manufacturing, a bustling port that serves as a hub for international trade, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center—the world’s largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award-winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) a relatively low cost of living among large cities.

Application Instructions: Interested individuals should apply at https://jobs.uh.edu and provide: (1) a letter of interest, (2) evidence of teaching effectiveness and commitment to mentoring students, (3) a statement of research specialization and interests, (4) three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation, (5) a curriculum vita, and (6) up to three representative papers. Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants but not for senior applicants (we will inform applicants prior to asking for letters in that case). Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.
The University of Houston is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committee anticipates holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and will favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at https://www.uh.edu/af/universityservices/policies/sam/1GenAdmin/1D5.pdf.

Qualifications:
PhD or Doctorate in related fields required.

In the selection process, the search committee will prioritize collaborative scholars who: (1) engage in nationally-recognized, interdisciplinary work on significant public health and health policy issues, (2) work with diverse populations, communities, and organizations, (3) demonstrate an eagerness to contribute to undergraduate and graduate education and student success, and (4) pursue grants, awards, and other sources of funding to support research, academic programming, student success, community engagement, and impact.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for faculty appointments and will be requested upon selection of the final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/ Letter of Application, Teaching Philosophy or Statement, Research Statement, Publications

https://uh.s.taleo.net/careersection/2/ex2_ufe/jsp/jobdetail.ftl?job=FAC001986&tz=GMT-05%3A00&tzname=America%2FChicago

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9617

CUNY-John Jay College
Rank: Assistant Professor of Law & Society

PLEASE SEE THE FULL ADVERTISEMENT HERE:

ABOUT JOHN JAY COLLEGE

John Jay College of Criminal Justice is a senior college of the City University of New York (CUNY) and an internationally recognized leader in educating for justice. Led by President Karol V. Mason, John Jay is a federally designated Hispanic-serving institution, it is ranked third in the nation in Black student success, and it is a top ten institution for promoting student social mobility. John Jay is proud to serve a diverse and dynamic student body of 15,000 students that includes nearly fifty percent students who are first in their family to attend college as well as students who are immigrants, from low-income families, or from other historically underrepresented groups in higher education.

The College participates in the doctoral programs of the Graduate Center of CUNY, and offers bachelor’s and master’s degrees both in traditional criminal justice-related fields of study as well as in a robust portfolio of liberal arts and sciences programs that highlight themes of justice across the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. The College seeks staff and faculty members who thrive in multicultural academic environments and are committed to access and excellence in higher education.

POSITION OVERVIEW

Performs teaching and related faculty functions in area(s) of expertise as noted below. Shares responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions. Position begins in Fall 2022.

The Law and Society major, housed in the Department of Political Science at John Jay College of the City University of New York, invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning Fall 2022 in Law and Society. The hiring rank is Assistant Professor. A Ph.D. is required, although outstanding ABDs will be considered. The Ph.D. discipline is open, provided candidates are demonstrably grounded in the Law and Society scholarly tradition. We especially welcome candidates who can add to the disciplinary diversity of the current program, which has three full-time sociologists, one full-time geographer, and one full-time anthropologist. Candidates holding only a J.D. will not be considered.

With over 600 students and a vibrant and award-winning faculty, the Law and Society major at John Jay is a nationally recognized leader in law and society scholarship and undergraduate education. In addition to having an active research agenda in law and society (preferably as a current and/or future member of the Law and Society Association), the successful candidate will bring enthusiasm and commitment to teaching and curriculum development. Area of research focus is open, but we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests diversify existing areas of faculty expertise. We particularly welcome candidates whose research examines one or more of the following areas: gentrification and housing, climate change, health, the US judiciary, or US constitutional law.

Applicants must demonstrate that they are qualified to teach undergraduate courses that introduce students to the interdisciplinary Law and Society approach. In particular, the successful candidate will teach the Social Research Colloquium in addition to other required courses in the program (Introduction to Law and Society, Research Methods in Law and Society) and courses in the applicant’s area of specialty. The successful candidate will also advise students and help revise the major’s curriculum. Forty-seven percent of John Jay students are first-generation college students, and John Jay is a recognized Hispanic and Minority-Serving Institution. The successful candidate must be eager and qualified to work with our diverse student body, and have a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. As demonstrated in John Jay College’s Seven Principles for a Culturally Responsive, Inclusive, and Anti-Racist Curriculum (the link provided...
New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Social Research and Public Policy

Specializations:
- Political Thought: Historical, Gender Politics & Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory
- Social Research and Public Policy

NYU Abu Dhabi

We are inviting applications from sociologists and those in related disciplines for a tenured faculty member to join the program in Social Research and Public Policy, for appointment on September 1, 2023, subject to final budget approval. We will consider applicants with an active research agenda in all areas of theoretically-informed social research, but are especially keen on strengthening our faculty in any of the following areas: social theory, political sociology, comparative-historical research, qualitative methods, migration, gender, and race/ethnicity.

NYU Abu Dhabi’s unique location in the Middle East makes it an ideal headquarters for social scientists working to better understand global societies, both past and present.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi, NYU Abu Dhabi (NYUAD) has assembled over the past decade a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others who have contributed to the growth of the UAE’s capital as a global hub of knowledge and culture while establishing a new model of higher education for today’s complex world.

NYUAD is animated by inspiring, diverse faculty, students, and staff working together in an exciting and dynamic city. As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students and providing an intellectually rich environment.

Students are drawn from among the world’s best. They are bright, intellectually passionate, and committed to building a campus environment anchored in mutual respect, understanding, and care. The NYUAD undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other global honors. Graduate education is an area of growth for the university and the current graduate student population of over 100 students is expected to expand in the next decade.

NYUAD is committed to building and strengthening a university-wide culture of inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity (IDBE). For more information on NYUAD’s commitment to IDBE and how these values are fundamental to our mission please visit https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/inclusion-diversity-belonging-and-equity.html

Working for NYUAD

A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it’s your home. In order for faculty to thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, plus more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority.

Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

This position requires a Ph.D. in Sociology or a related discipline.

We seek individuals who have a strong record of scholarship, teaching, and mentoring, and have the ability to develop and lead high-quality research.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items to: https://apply.interfolio.com/94902

- CV
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Teaching Interests
- Recent Teaching Evaluations (if available)
- Statement of Research Interests
- Three (3) Representative Writing Samples
- List of three references that may be contacted at a later date.

We will begin looking at applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in the academic year 2023-2024.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.sociology@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now.

Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/22/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9608

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Health)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow (Health) to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to quantify the impacts of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. By guiding the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research can generate solutions and ultimately improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
IPL is a highly collaborative environment. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies, as well as work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to develop related independent health research. Examples of previous studies produced by the lab include projects on the intergenerational impact of DACA on the mental health of children (Science), public health insurance and immigrant families’ location decisions (JAMA Pediatrics), and the impact of prenatal care for children of undocumented women (Obstetrics and Gynecology).

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but no later than July 2022. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for political science, economics, sociology, statistics, or computer science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of causal inference methods, data management, and data analysis. Knowledge of immigration and health policy will also be valued.

In addition, having experience working with medical claims data and executing and managing data analysis in a server-based environment is highly valued.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements and Recommendations
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe the candidate’s experience as a part of any of the diverse or underrepresented groups as outlined below, and any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

IPL encourages applicants from diverse and underrepresented groups to apply. In particular, IPL encourages individuals from historically underrepresented racial and ethnic groups (Black or African Americans, Hispanics or Latinos, American Indians or Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders, as described by the National Science Foundation), individuals with disabilities, and individuals from disadvantaged economic and educational backgrounds (low-income households and disadvantaged educational environments) to apply. IPL encourages that this information be shared in the “Contributions to Diversity Statement”.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19939 (ID19939). We will begin reviewing applications on November 1st, 2021. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact Elisa Cascardi at the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, directly (cascardi@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc (Health) 2021).

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9610

University of Michigan

Rank: Teaching Postdoctoral Fellowship in Japanese Studies (Academic Year 2022–2023)

The Center for Japanese Studies at the University of Michigan is now accepting applications for a Postdoctoral Fellowship in Japanese Studies for the 2022–2023 academic year. This Postdoctoral Fellow will be expected to teach three courses over the academic year, as well as to participate in Center events and related activities at U-M. The applicant’s research can cover any historical period of Japan—including contemporary Japan—and involve any academic discipline in the humanities and social sciences. The fellowship will cover up to a 12-month period between August 30, 2022 and August 28, 2023, and will carry a salary of approximately $60,000 plus benefits as well as $3,000 in research funds. There may be additional compensation for an instructional portion of this appointment, and this will be subject to the LEO/UM Collective Bargaining Agreement. The salary for this work will be determined at the time the instructional appointment is offered. The postdoctoral fellow will be provided shared office space and access to libraries and resources at the University.

Qualifications
- Applicants must have received their Ph.D. degree within five years of the postdoctoral appointment year (2017 or later).
- The successful applicant must have their Ph.D. degree conferred by August 31, 2022.
- Applicants are expected to have full command of the English language as University of Michigan classes, meetings and business are conducted in English.

Application Instructions
Applications must be submitted through the following website by December 1, 2021: https://apply.interfolio.com/97076
Start Date: Fall 2022
The University of South Carolina

Rank: Director

Director, Walker Institute of International and Area Studies/Tenured Associate/Full Professor College of Arts and Sciences

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of South Carolina (UofSC) invites nominations and applications for the position of Director of the Walker Institute of International and Area Studies and tenured faculty member at the rank of Associate of Full Professor to begin August 16, 2022.

The successful candidate will provide academic and administrative leadership within the Walker Institute, as well as dynamic teaching and scholarship. We seek a visionary leader with a Ph.D. in a field relevant to international, area, or global studies, broadly defined, as well as years of academic experience commensurate with appointment as a tenured Associate or Full Professor in a Department within the College of Arts and Sciences, a strong record of scholarly achievement and teaching excellence, evidence of administrative and leadership expertise, and the demonstrated ability to work collaboratively with faculty, staff, and students, consistent with the expectations and mission of a Research 1 University. Candidates should have clear visions for creating cross-campus international initiatives at UofSC, plans for strengthening the majors and minors housed in the Walker Institute, ideas for turning existing program strengths into competitive applications for national grants, as well as a vision and strategy for creating new interdisciplinary communities and programs at UofSC. The successful candidate will share the College’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applications and Nominations: All applicants must fill out an online application through the University’s employment system “USC Jobs” at https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/107030. Applications must include a cover letter, CV, and contact information for a minimum of three references. Nominations should be sent to Professor Jane Roberts at jerobert@mailbox.sc.edu. The committee will begin reviewing applications on November 5, 2021, and review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

As the largest college at the UofSC, the College of Arts and Sciences is the intellectual, artistic, scientific, and instructional heart of the university. The college is home to award-winning scientists, scholars and teachers that span the arts, humanities, natural science, and social science disciplines. The College’s 26 schools, departments, academic programs, and institutes offer 109 degrees to over 8,700 undergraduates and more than 850 graduate students. College faculty are consistently recognized both nationally and internationally for teaching and research excellence.

The UofSC’s main campus is located in Columbia, the state capital, close to the mountains and the coast. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has designated the UofSC as one of only 73 public and 35 private academic institutions with “very high research activity” and also lists UofSC as having strong focus on community engagement. The University has over 31,000 students on the main campus (and over 46,000 students system-wide), more than 450 degree programs, and a nationally ranked library system that includes one of the nation’s largest public film archives. Columbia is the center of a greater metropolitan area which has a population over 800,000.

The UofSC is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Minorities and women are especially encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities on the basis of race, sex, gender, gender identity, transgender status, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, genetics, protected veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9589

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Race and Global Politics; Critical Political Economies (two positions, open rank)

Description
The department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for two (2) open rank tenure-track appointments in distinct but related topical areas. For both positions, we welcome applications from all areas and fields across Political Science, though for each position we have particular interest in making appointments in either political theory or international relations. These positions may contribute to the department’s cross-field research theme in racial politics.

Qualifications
Under the heading of “Race and Global Politics” we intend to appoint a scholar whose work centers on the study of global politics and race, racism/anti-racism, ethnicity, minoritized groups, or postcolonial populations. We welcome applicants with historical or contemporary specializations as well as all methodological and theoretical approaches. Under the heading of “Critical Political Economies” we seek an innovative scholar whose work challenges the boundaries of political economy and conventional notions of political power, desire, and agency. Applicants drawing from a range of theoretical, historical, ecological and/or comparative approaches are encouraged to apply. We especially welcome applications from scholars rethinking the bearing of political economies on the formation of political subjectivities/identities, responses to historical inequalities/inequities, and enduring injustices.

Application Instructions
PhD in Political Science or related discipline required at time of appointment. Candidates should submit a letter of application, current CV, writing sample, and three letters of reference. Applicants should state in their cover letter how, through their research approaches, teaching methodology, and/or public engagement, they can contribute to the university’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Successful applicants will join a Department that recognizes faculty diversity as key to ensuring excellence in research and teaching. Successful applicants will also benefit from joining a School that enjoys vibrant interdisciplinary conversations and collaborations on race, racism, and anti-racism. All materials will be submitted online. Review of applications will begin on November 1st, 2021. All materials should be submitted through interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/96222

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
University of Houston

Rank: Post Doctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Open

Specializations: Political Economy, Environmental Policy, Political Economy

Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Public Policy, Circular Economy and Sustainability

UH Energy and the Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston are looking for a postdoctoral research fellow specializing in environmental policy with focus on the circular materials and the circular economy. The position is available immediately and for up to two years.

Duties and Responsibilities:

This position is designed to be a career-building step for scholars in environmental policy. Primary duties for the scholar are to develop his or her research program in environmental policy with applications to problems pertaining to the public policy dimensions of the circular economy, circular materials, life cycle of materials, and sustainability. The postdoctoral fellow will also support the Hobby School and UH Energy in research, grant applications and outreach. During the academic year the fellow will teach one or two courses on the public policy dimensions of the circular economy, environmental policy, and sustainability.

Application Instructions:

Interested candidates should submit the following:

(1) CV or resume

(2) Cover letter highlighting the skills relevant to the proposed position

(3) Two representative manuscripts or publications

(4) Contact information for three professional references

Review of candidates will start on 11/15/2021; applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Gail Buttorff (gbuttorf@central.uh.edu) or Pablo M. Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu).

Qualifications

Doctoral and No experience

Requires singular knowledge of a specialized advanced professional discipline or the highest level of general business knowledge, normally acquired through attainment of a directly job-related terminal degree or equivalent formal training in a recognized field of specialization that is directly related to the type of work being performed. No experience is required.

Position Qualifications:

Required: PhD in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics, Engineering, Environmental Studies or related fields.

Applicants with, or nearing completion of, a doctoral degree in fields mentioned above will also be considered. The successful candidate is likely to demonstrate expertise in quantitative methods, potential for publishing research, a collaborative/respective approach to work, and the ability to effectively manage multiple projects to achieve performance objectives. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply. The applicant must also have strong written and oral communication skills.

About UH Energy, the Hobby School of Public Affairs and the University of Houston:

UH Energy is an umbrella initiative that integrates the efforts across the University of Houston system to position the university as a strategic partner to the energy industry by producing trained workforce, strategic and technical leadership, research and development for needed innovations and new technologies. Issues of public policy, the convergence of policy, science, technology and business, and the role they play in providing solutions to the societal challenges of affordable, reliable and sustainable energy solutions lie at the forefront of the work of UH Energy.

Focusing on ethics, analytics, leadership, and contemporary public policy issues, the Hobby School currently offers a master’s degree in public policy, will launch an undergraduate degree in the Spring 2022, and is working to expand its curricula. The Hobby School culture places a premium not only on high-quality research and service to the region and nation but also on a supportive, collaborative, and professional work culture.

The Hobby School and UH Energy are well-positioned for impactful research. Houston is the nation’s fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with its: (a) growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the world’s largest medical center (the Texas Medical Center), (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) diverse population, (d) outstanding, diverse restaurants, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: https://uhsystem.edu/compliance-ethics/_docs/sam/01/1d51.pdf. The position is also subject to the University of Houston’s background check policy.

EEO/AA

Start Date: Open until Filled
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 9562
Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law
Rank: Pre- and Postdoctoral Fellow

Stanford’s Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law welcomes applications for its pre- and postdoctoral fellowship. Pre- and postdoctoral scholars working on topics related to democracy, development, and the rule of law are qualified to apply. The Center expects to award two or more fellowships for the 2022-2023 academic year.

This is a one-year, residential fellowship. Fellows spend the academic year at Stanford University completing their projects, participating in seminars, and interacting with faculty at the CDDRL and Freeman-Spogli Institute for International Studies.

Pre-doctoral fellows must be enrolled currently in a doctoral program or equivalent through the time of intended residency at Stanford, and must be at the dissertation write up (post course work) phase of their doctoral program. Post-doctoral fellows must have earned their PhD within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their Ph.D. dissertations by July 31, 2022.

To apply, include a cover letter (of no more than 3 pages), a CV, a research statement (5-10 pages), official transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. For more information, please see https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships

Applications are open, with a deadline of December 17, 2021. Apply online at https://webportalapp.com/sp/login/stanford_cddrl_fellowship
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 10/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9542

New York University
Rank: Research Data Scientist
Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Open

We are seeking a Research Data Scientist to provide leadership and project management on our new, multilingual research infrastructure to monitor how the spread of disinformation across social media platforms will impact the upcoming U.S. elections. Through innovative data collection techniques that pair comprehensive, multi-platform digital trace data with national surveys in both English and Spanish, the project will provide a systematic view into the information Americans consume — both offline and on — and how their beliefs and behaviors change over time.

With this information, CSMaP scholars will produce peer-reviewed research and quantitative descriptive reports examining several key questions, including which U.S. communities are targeted most by disinformation and on what platforms, how these dynamics are shifting as the online ecosystem changes, and what impact disinformation has on voters’ beliefs and behaviors. Beyond disinformation and elections, our flexible research design will also enable us to measure the impact of media diets on a variety of issue and policy areas, from Covid-19 to social justice.

Under the direction of the CSMaP Faculty Directors, this role is responsible for:

- Working closely with data engineers on social media data collection methodologies and procedures
- Managing multiple incoming streams of social media data and designing and implementing efficient methods for merging aggregates with survey data
- Overseeing an ongoing panel survey and developing and implementing procedures for sampling and quality control
- Working with the faculty directors and other scholars, assist or lead in designing successive waves of a panel survey, with the potential to embed encouragement experiments and innovate in other ways
- Managing a full-time project associate and research assistants
- Overseeing and/or contributing to the production of academic papers, and rigorous topical data reports for a non-academic audience describing both the political content across social media platforms, and the impact it is having on individuals
- Planning and executing the project management plans, such as project budgets, schedules

CSMaP consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as postdoctoral fellows, research engineers, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Some recent publications and working papers have focused on election misinformation, social media usage in an ethnically polarized setting, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The directors of the Center for Social Media and Politics actively encourage applicants from all backgrounds to apply. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long-range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

Qualifications
Required education: Master’s degree or PhD in data science, political science, or related field.

Required skills and experience:
- At least 3 years research experience in social sciences, public policy, or a related field (time in MA or PhD program counts)
- Experience with data analysis and data management, handling large volumes of JSON format data and merging data of multiple types, experience managing a data-sciences workflow
- Excellent project management skills
- Experience working with R and/or Python
- Ability to work with survey data and identify potential issues and sources of error
- Experience in quantitative analysis
- Ability to work both as part of a team and independently
- Ability to organize and oversee complex projects with multiple moving parts
- Strong interpersonal, collaborative, and communication skills
- Preferred knowledge and experience:
  - Experience working with social media and/or digital trace data
  - Experience working on a large High Performance Computing Cluster and/or with a cloud computing service
  - Experience working with survey applications (e.g. Qualtrics)
- Background and/or familiarity with quantitative research methodologies a plus

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
- Experience in survey design, and ability to to evaluate an existing survey questionnaire in accord with the basic principles of questionnaire design a plus.

Application Instructions: To apply, please visit https://apply.interfolio.com/96184

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9533

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University is recruiting for a tenure-track (Assistant Professor) position that is open with respect to subfield. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Strong research and teaching interests that cut across traditional subfields of political science would be highly valued. Ph.D. required. The starting date for this position is fall 2022.

The department offers Ph.D., MA, BA, and BS degrees and has 32 tenured/tenure track faculty members, 50 graduate students, and approximately 1000 undergraduate majors. Further information about the department is available at http://pols.tamu.edu. Texas A&M is a research-intensive flagship university with more than 60,000 students including 10,000 graduate students making it the sixth largest university in the United States. The student body includes 26% African American, Hispanic, Asian or Pacific Islander, and American Indian or Alaskan Native students, as well as approximately 5,000 international students from 130 countries. We seek candidates who can teach effectively in a diverse and global classroom. Texas A&M ranks among the top universities nationally in total research expenditures (with more than $800 million dollars per year). Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/ Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Applicants should submit the following materials electronically to http://apply.interfolio.com/93458: a letter of interest (referencing research agenda, past or planned contributions to advancing diversity, and teaching interests), a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, any available teaching evaluations, and a writing sample. Applicants should also have three letters of reference submitted electronically to Professor William Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at to http://apply.interfolio.com/93458. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Our review of applications will begin on October 21, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2021

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9527

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University is recruiting for a tenure-track (Associate or Assistant Professor) position that is open with respect to subfield. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Strong research and teaching interests that cut across traditional subfields of political science would be highly valued. Ph.D. required. The starting date for this position is fall 2022.

The department offers Ph.D., MA, BA, and BS degrees and has 32 tenured/tenure track faculty members, 50 graduate students, and approximately 1000 undergraduate majors. Further information about the department is available at http://pols.tamu.edu. Texas A&M is a research-intensive flagship university with more than 60,000 students including 10,000 graduate students making it the sixth largest university in the United States. The student body includes 26% African American, Hispanic, Asian or Pacific Islander, and American Indian or Alaskan Native students, as well as approximately 5,000 international students from 130 countries. We seek candidates who can teach effectively in a diverse and global classroom. Texas A&M ranks among the top universities nationally in total research expenditures (with more than $800 million dollars per year). Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/ Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Applicants should submit the following materials electronically to http://apply.interfolio.com/95722: a letter of interest (referencing research agenda, past or planned contributions to advancing diversity, and teaching interests), a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, any available teaching evaluations, and a writing sample. Applicants should also have three letters of reference submitted electronically to Professor William Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at http://apply.interfolio.com/95722. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Our review of applications will begin on October 21, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9528

California State University, East Bay

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Pre-Law/Judicial Politics)

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Open
Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

FACULTY EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, EAST BAY
FULL-TIME TENURE-TRACK

THE UNIVERSITY: California State University, East Bay (CSUEB) is a comprehensive university serving the San Francisco Bay Area/Silicon Valley. It is known for award winning programs, expert instruction, its diverse student body, and a choice of more than 100 career-focused fields of study. With an enrollment of approximately 15,000 students and 900 faculty, CSUEB is organized into four colleges. The University offers bachelor’s degrees in 49 fields, minors in 52 fields, master’s degrees in 34 fields, 16 credentials programs, 18 certificate options, and 1 doctoral degree program. http://www20.csueastbay.edu

California State University East Bay has a mission to support a diverse student body through academically rich and culturally relevant learning experiences. The successful candidate will bring with them expertise or an openness to creating a welcoming and supportive environment for all students. Cal State East Bay, one of the most diverse campuses in the CSU system, welcomes and prepares students to apply their education to meaningful lifework, and to be socially responsible contributors to society.

THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science prepares graduates to enter careers in government, public service, public administration, public policy analysis, legislative advocacy, business, international relations, and teaching. The department offers a B.A. degree that provides both a strong background in social science and excellent professional preparation for students. The major currently offers three distinct paths to completion, the traditional major and options in pre-law and public affairs and administration. Roughly half of our approximately 180 majors are pre-law. The department currently has five tenured or tenure-track faculty.

DUTIES OF THE POSITION: The Department of Political Science at California State University, East Bay seeks an Assistant Professor (tenure track) in Pre-Law, Legal Studies, or Judicial Politics. The successful applicant will also be expected to serve as a Pre-Law advisor and to attend the Pacific Association of Pre-Law Advisors meeting and similar events. In addition to teaching, all faculty have advising responsibilities, assist the department with administrative and/or committee work, and are expected to assume campus-wide committee responsibilities. Please note that teaching assignments at California State University, East Bay may include courses at the Hayward, Concord and Online campuses.

RANK AND SALARY: Assistant Professor. Salary is dependent upon educational preparation and experience. Subject to budgetary authorization.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT: Fall Semester, 2022.

QUALIFICATIONS: The successful candidate must hold a PhD in political science or a closely related social science discipline by the effective date of their appointment. We expect the successful candidate to have demonstrated teaching ability and the potential to have a successful research agenda. The department has a preference for applicants with prior teaching experience. The department also has a preference for an applicant dedicated to helping underrepresented communities find a path toward careers in the legal profession including law school and who shares our investment in social justice, equity, and inclusivity.

Candidates should demonstrate experience in teaching, mentoring, research, or community service that has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence. Additionally, applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly activity. This University is fully committed to the rights of students, staff and faculty with disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. For more information about the University’s program supporting the rights of our students with disabilities see: http://www20.csueastbay.edu/af/departments/as/

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications must be received on or before October 24, 2021 to ensure full consideration. Review will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must submit: 1) A Cover letter that addresses the requirements of the position, 2) A CV, 3) At least one sample of published research or a dissertation chapter, 4) A teaching statement, 5) Course Syllabi (esp. those that demonstrate successful teaching to a diverse student population), 6) A summary of teaching evaluations, 7) A diversity statement of approximately one page (Applicants’ statements should detail how their teaching, research, and/or service has supported the success of students from underrepresented communities in their academic field; applicants who have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further CSUEB’s commitment to social justice, equity and inclusivity), and 8) Name and contact for three confidential letters of recommendation.

Please submit a letter of application, which addresses the qualifications noted in the position announcement; a complete and current vita, and all other materials listed above via PageUp (https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/cb/en-us/job/504626/assistant-professor-of-political-science, see “Apply Now”). Applicants are required to also submit a one-page diversity statement that addresses how you engage a diverse student population in your teaching, research, mentoring, and advising.

Note: California State University, East Bay hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. All offers of employment are contingent upon presentation of documents demonstrating the appointee’s identity and eligibility to work in accordance with provisions of the Immigration Reform and Control Act. A background check (including a criminal records check and prior employment verification) must be completed and cleared prior to the start of employment.

As an Equal Opportunity Employer, CSUEB does not discriminate on the basis of any protected categories: age, ancestry, citizenship, color, disability, gender, immigration status, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran’s status. The University is committed to the principles of diversity in employment and to creating a stimulating learning environment for its diverse student body.

Any questions about the university, position, or application process can be directed to the search committee at ps.search.2122@gmail.com.

Applications close: Open Until Filled

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/5/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9508

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
University of Miami

Rank: Open-rank, open-field faculty position in Native American & Global Indigenous Studies (NAGIS).

The University of Miami Working Group in Native American and Global Indigenous Studies (NAGIS) is pleased to announce a tenure-track or tenure-eligible position (Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor) in Native American and/or Global Indigenous Studies beginning on August 15, 2022. The search is open to scholars of any rank, specializing in any region or period, working in any of the disciplines comprising the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS). Comparative, interdisciplinary, hemispheric, and/or global perspectives on indigeneity and Indigenous Studies are particularly welcomed.

The successful candidate will join an appropriate academic department within the College of Arts and Sciences and play a key role in the creation of a curriculum and associated program in Native American and Global Indigenous Studies. The successful candidate will also strengthen existing faculty and programming in NAGIS across the university through excellence in research, teaching, and service, including sustained community engagement and outreach. The expected teaching commitment is two courses per semester. The successful candidate should demonstrate creativity and technological sophistication in teaching and mentoring students. In addition, to be eligible for this appointment, candidates must hold a Ph.D. by July 31, 2022.

Applications should be submitted via the UM Careers website at https://umiami.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UMFaculty and shall include:
01) Cover letter
02) Current curriculum vitae
03) Brief document describing your plans for future research
04) Document describing your teaching philosophy
05) Document explaining your commitment to diversity
06) Contact information for three references

Please compile the above-mentioned application documents in a single PDF and upload under the Resume/CV section of the online application. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews are expected to be conducted via Zoom during the week of December 13, 2021. Inquiries, requests for information, and nominations can be sent to nagis@miami.edu.

The University of Miami is among the top research universities and academic medical centers in the nation, and one of the largest private employers in South Florida. With more than 16,000 faculty and staff, the University strives for excellence and is driven by a powerful mission to transform and impact the lives of its students, patients, members of the community, and people across the globe. The University is committed to fostering a culture of belonging, where everyone feels valued and has the opportunity to add value. Through values of Diversity, Integrity, Responsibility, Excellence, Compassion, Creativity, and Teamwork (DIRECCT) the U community works together to create an environment driven by purpose, excellence, community, and service.

UM is an Equal Opportunity Employer - Females/Minorities/Protected Veterans/Individuals with Disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants and employees are protected from discrimination based on certain categories protected by Federal law. Check here for additional information: https://www.hr.miami.edu/careers/co-ada/index.html

Start Date: Fall 2022

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Politics of Health and Health Policy - Open Rank

Apply Here: apply.interfolio.com/95875

Position Description
The Department of Government at The University of Texas at Austin seeks to fill a tenured or tenure-track position in the politics of health and health policy, to begin Fall semester of academic year 2022-23. The search is open to scholars of any rank, and the candidate's field of study may be in political science (any subfield) or adjoining disciplines, so long as their course of study and subsequent research centers on health and politics (e.g., health economics, biostatistics, sociology of health, public health). Please address any questions to John Gerrings (jgerrings@austin.utexas.edu), chair of the search committee.

Duties will include undergraduate and graduate teaching and research, as well as service to the departments of Government and Sociology, the College of Liberal Arts, and the University.

The Department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and service.

Qualifications
Applicants must hold a Ph.D. for appointment as Assistant Professor or expect to obtain it within a year of joining the faculty as Instructor.

The successful candidate will have a strong record of research and teaching.

Applicants should upload a vita, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, examples of scholarly work, teaching materials, and diversity statement.

Applications must include a diversity statement addressing past or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion through their research, teaching and/or service. In particular, the statement may highlight any experiences working with diverse populations - mentoring activities, research interests, committee service, courses taught, recruitment and retention activities - and describe how their professional skills, experience and/or willingness to engage in related activities would enhance campus diversity and equity efforts.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications. UT Austin is committed to addressing the family needs of
Political Science Jobs

November 2021

funding is subject to budget availability.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement
The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

Apply Here: apply.interfolio.com/95875

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9509

IE School of Global and Public Affairs
Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor School of Global and Public Affairs

IE University’s School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of Assistant Professor starting September 1, 2022. We seek candidates using quantitative methods and/or formal theory to study substantive questions of broad disciplinary relevance.

We are especially interested in scholars working within the subfields of comparative politics, public economy, and public policy. We are also particularly interested in candidates whose work speaks to contemporary policy issues and challenges, including (but not limited to) climate change, democratic erosion, education, health, and the governance of new technologies.

All in all, we seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy-relevant work and an overall commitment to institution-building (applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding IEGPA’s current network and partnerships).

Moreover, the successful candidates will demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets (both generalist and field journals) in the coming years and have good teaching skills.

Successful candidates will either have a Ph.D. from a recognized department of political science, public policy, economics, or a related field or demonstrate clear evidence that their Ph.D. will be complete by July 2022.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain, and is a full member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are a fast-growing department of professors committed to world-class academic research and teaching in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

Candidates may apply via Interfolio by November 5, 2021, using the following link: http://apply.interfolio.com/95848

Please contact Sara Flores Sara.Flores@ie.edu with questions regarding the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/5/2021
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9487

University of Oklahoma
Rank: Assistant Professor of Asian American Studies

The Honors College of the University of Oklahoma invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Asian American Studies who conducts qualitative research in any subfield, and who has an interest in community-engaged teaching and research.

The successful candidate will be a scholar whose qualitative research engages with any aspect of Asian American experiences, which encompass a wide range of immigration histories, national origins, ethnic identities, and cultural practices. The candidate’s area of expertise is open, but will ideally focus on pressing public issues, for example: equity, diversity, and inclusion; the social impact of immigration policies; human health and well-being; political participation and voting rights; media and disinformation; economic disparities; institutionalized racism; environmental justice; or issues in cultural studies.

The Honors College is a vibrant undergraduate unit at the University of Oklahoma with a faculty of teacher-scholars who are engaged in the interdisciplinary instruction of exceptional students from across the university. The successful candidate will teach a 2/2 load of introductory and advanced Honors seminars in their areas of expertise.

The University of Oklahoma is an R-1 university that provides faculty with strong support for research, as well as innovative teaching activities.

Qualifications
The successful candidate will be required to have PhD. in hand by August 15, 2022. The successful candidate will show promise for a robust research and publication agenda. The ideal candidate demonstrates commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. The ideal candidate prioritizes community-engaged scholarship and teaching, and will strive to build collaborative, reciprocal, and enduring relationships not only with colleagues across the university but also with one or more of the Asian American communities in Oklahoma City and beyond.

Application Instructions
Initial applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a graduate transcript. Applications should be submitted electronically via Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/95414

Applicants who move ahead in the process will be asked to submit an article-length writing sample, a sample syllabus of their own design, a statement on diversity, and three letters of reference.

The committee will begin reviewing applications on Nov. 29, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Initial interviews will take place via Zoom.

Application Process

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
This institution is using Interfolio’s Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity institution http://www.ou.edu/eoo/. Individuals with disabilities and protected veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9499

Dartmouth College
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Politics of Race and Ethnicity
Subfield(s): Open, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Dartmouth College invites applications for a Guarini Dean’s Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Department of Government. This fellowship supports scholars whose research addresses the politics of race and ethnicity in any subfield. In addition, the fellowship promotes student and faculty diversity at Dartmouth, and throughout higher education, by supporting research by underrepresented scholars, and others, with a demonstrated ability to advance educational diversity and inclusivity. Applicants will be selected on the basis of their academic achievement, promise in both research and teaching, and their demonstrated commitment to addressing underrepresentation in higher education.

This is a two-year residential fellowship, with one course taught in the second year. Throughout, fellows are expected to pursue research activities while participating fully in the intellectual life of the department and the college. Fellows receive an annual stipend of approximately $55,200 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses (exact funding levels will be set at the time of offer).

Guarini Dean’s Postdoctoral Fellows are part of the Provost’s Fellowship Program, a multidisciplinary cohort of approximately ten predoctoral and postdoctoral scholars who share a commitment to increasing diversity and inclusivity in their disciplines. Fellows participate together in mentoring and professional development programming, including guidance in preparing for faculty careers.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Qualifications
Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment.

Application Instructions:
1) Cover letter, including an overview of research areas and teaching interests; please also describe your prior contributions to advancing diversity and inclusivity in higher education and your motivations to join this multidisciplinary fellowship program;
2) CV;
3) Dissertation description (maximum two pages single-spaced);
4) Three confidential letters of recommendation, one of which should be from the dissertation advisor.

Applications must be submitted electronically at: https://apply.interfolio.com/95110 . Review of applications will begin November 1, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Prof. Yusaku Horiuchi (Yusaku.Horiuchi@dartmouth.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9486

Instituto Tecnologico Autonomo de Mexico
Rank: RESIDENTIAL FELLOWSHIP AT ITAM / INNOVATIONS FOR POVERTY ACTION, MEXICO CITY - POLITICAL ECONOMY OF SECURITY

The Department of Political Science at ITAM in Mexico City and Innovations for Poverty Action (IPA Mexico) invite applications for a residential fellowship (pre- or post-doctoral) for one academic year, beginning either in January or August 2022. Fellows should specialize in the study of the political economy of development.

Eligible candidates must be pursuing a PhD in political science or a related discipline, and conducting research on political economy of development topics with a focus on Mexico or Latin America. Preferred topics include security, order and violence, police reform, and institution building. Pre-doctoral fellows must have begun to write up their dissertation prior to the start of the fellowship. Post-doctoral fellows must have received their PhD prior to the start of the fellowship. Candidates with a strong quantitative background are especially encouraged to apply. Opportunities to collaborate in existing projects include the analysis of large, novel administrative data sets and ongoing experimental interventions.

All fellows will be expected to: (1) be in residence in Mexico City at ITAM for the duration of the fellowship, where they will be provided with office space and access to university resources; (2) work closely with faculty at ITAM’s Department of Political Science and IPA Mexico to develop new and existing projects—including an ongoing project on police reform—and pursue international funding opportunities; and (3) participate in relevant workshops and seminars at ITAM, as well as activities with the IPA office. In addition, post-doctoral fellows will be expected to (4) advance their own research; and (5) teach a three-session workshop on a method or topic of their specialty.

Monthly stipends are MXN$35,000 (about US$1,750) for a pre-doctoral fellow and MXN$40,000 (about US$2,000) for a post-doctoral fellow (the corresponding dollar amounts may vary slightly depending on the exchange rate). Fellows will additionally receive the standard benefits package offered by ITAM, including health insurance.

All applicants should submit a one-page letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and writing sample (article-length). All applicants should also arrange for two letters of recommendation to be submitted directly by the recommenders to Marta Cebollada, Academic Coordinator of the Department of Political Science, marta.cebollada@itam.mx. All application materials are due by November 30, 2021.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: $20,000 - $29,999
eJobs ID: 9455

Midwestern State University
Rank: Lecturer
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Open

Lecturer – Political Science
For academic year 2021-2022
Nine Month Contract in Political Science, starting Spring 2022.
Requirement: MA, ABD, or PhD in Political Science.
Field: American Government.

The Department of Political Science seeks a lecturer to teach Introductory American and Texas Government courses. This position is a nine month non-tenure track contract and is renewable given budgetary approval. Teaching load is 12 hours per semester (4 course sections), and candidates should have significant experience teaching introductory Texas and American government. Experience teaching in both in-person and online settings is a plus. Salary is $40,000 per year.

The Department is interested in candidates with an MA or PhD in Political Science, and who will contribute to the mission of the department and university. The Department of Political Science houses majors and minors in Political Science and Global Studies, as well as the minor in Women’s and Gender Studies and the Model United Nations program.

Midwestern State University is a diverse, public liberal arts university with an enrollment of approximately 6,000 students and a member of the Texas Tech System. MSU Texas is located in Wichita Falls, a city of 102,000 about 2 hours northwest of Dallas/Fort Worth (www.msutexas.edu). As a Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) member institution, Midwestern State University is particularly committed to excellence in teaching and seeks applicants that will contribute to this mission. This position is designated as security sensitive and requires the finalist to complete a criminal background check. EEO/ADAAA compliance employer.

Please send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and statement of teaching philosophy to:

Dr. Linda Veazey, Chair
Department of Political Science
Midwestern State University
3410 Taft Boulevard
Wichita Falls, TX 76308
linda.veazey@msutexas.edu

The position will remain open until filled, but priority will be given to applications received before November 1, 2021.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 9457

New York University
Rank: Research Operations Director

We are looking for a Research Operations Director (Researcher) to help direct the Center’s research portfolio, which currently includes 50 projects across diverse substantive and methodological areas. This position is responsible for working with our research community of faculty, postdocs, engineers, students, and staff to manage the center’s research operations. You will balance strategic insight with operational execution; you will not only identify and strategize new research processes and systems, but will also support each research project towards completion.

Responsibilities will include project planning and coordination for complex research; research implementation (e.g., fielding surveys, developing research plans, and scope and executing social media data purchases); managing and recommending research priorities for the leadership team; ensuring cross-center communication; overseeing on- and off-boarding; and supporting a positive and inclusive culture. You will also be responsible for directly overseeing a team of two research coordinators — a full-time project manager and part-time project associate — with possible team growth in the coming year(s).

To apply, please visit: https://apply.interfolio.com/94962

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9441

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. Scholars in all subfields of political science will be considered. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/22582 and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. For best consideration, apply by December 15, 2021. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in... collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Requisition No: D-22-POL-00011
Start Date: Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9416

Michigan State University

Rank: Research Associate

The College of Social Science (CSS) seeks Research Associates that will participate in a CSS Dean’s Research Associate Development Institute, with the goal of possibly transitioning into tenure-system positions at Michigan State University. Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry.

Program Description
The College of Social Science (SSC) Dean’s Research Associate Program at Michigan State University was established in 2018, as a major College initiative aimed at promoting an inclusive scholarly environment in which outstanding scholars in the social sciences support the advancement of diversity, equity, and inclusion in the academy. The Dean’s Research Associates will have a minimal teaching load, will be mentored and supported, and will participate in a SSC Dean’s Research Associate Development Institute, with the goal of possibly transitioning them into tenure-system positions at Michigan State University.

Appointments
Appointments will be made to applicants who show promise for tenure-track positions in Michigan State University’s College of Social Science in accordance with MSU academic hiring process. Each appointment is for a minimum of 9 months, renewable for an additional year, contingent upon a demonstration of meeting the performance expectation in research and teaching, with an emphasis on demonstrated research productivity. The selected candidate will receive a salary that is comparable to that of a starting Assistant Professor in the Research Associate’s discipline, plus benefits, and a budget for research and travel. Transitioning into a tenure-track faculty position at Michigan State University will require a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, which will include substantial peer input. MSU’s academic hiring process will be followed in appointing the candidates that advance into the tenure-track.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement
All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, citizenship, disability or protected veteran status.

Required Degree
Doctorate

Minimum Requirements
Applicants who will have a Ph.D. in hand from an accredited university by September 2022, and no earlier than May 2019, with degrees and research interests in areas covered by the College’s Departments and Schools.

Required Application Materials
To apply, submit application materials online through careers.msu.edu and electronically attach the following:
1. a 3 page statement addressing how your research, teaching, and service, contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion
2. a curriculum vitae
3. an academic research paper
4. a 3 page research proposal outlining research interests and plans for the fellowship year(s)
5. a ½ page statement describing your teaching philosophy, and the course(s) you could teach during the fellowship period
6. (6) three letters of reference which should address your potential for employment as a faculty member at MSU.

Together-we-will Statement
The university is requiring all MSU students, faculty and staff to be vaccinated against COVID-19 with limited exceptions. Learn more at: https://msu.edu/together-we-will/

Special Instructions
Review of applications will start on 10/15/2021, and will continue until positions are filled. Questions concerning the search may be addressed to Nwando Achebe, Associate Dean for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and Faculty Excellence Advocate, College of Social Science (achebe@msu.edu).

Political Science candidate inquiries can contact the following faculty by field:
American: Professor Eric Gonzalez Juenke (juvenke@msu.edu)
Theory: Professor Dustin Sebell (sebell@msu.edu)
All others: Professor Corwin Smidt (smitcr@msu.edu)

Michigan State University has been advancing the common good with uncommon will for more than 160 years. One of the top research universities in the world, MSU pushes the boundaries of discovery and forges enduring partnerships to solve the most pressing global challenges while providing life-changing opportunities to a diverse and inclusive academic community through more than 200 programs of study in 17 degree-granting colleges.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9397

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow

Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Economic Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Germany

Faculty Fellow
The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies
Faculty of Arts and Science
New York University

---

Political Science Jobs

November 2021

[54x-30]Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Ashoka University

Rank: Professor / Associate Professor / Tenure-track Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Open

The Department of Political Science at Ashoka University invites applications for faculty positions with an expected start date of January 15th, 2022 (though this is negotiable to August 15th 2022). The position is open rank, as to either the level of tenure track Assistant Professor, or tenured Associate or Full Professor.

Ashoka is a research university based near New Delhi, India. We strongly encourage applications by women and members of other groups underrepresented in academia.

Applicants for the position of tenure track Assistant Professor should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) two samples of academic writings; 4) teaching evaluations (if available); 5) names of three references.

Applicants for the position of tenured Associate or Full Professor should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) two samples of academic writings; 4) name of three references.

Statements of teaching and research philosophy are optional but will be considered if submitted.

All materials should be submitted through Interfolio at this link: https://apply.interfolio.com/94397. The deadline for submitting a complete application is: November 30th, 2021.

For any queries or further information, please contact: polscience.recruitment@ashoka.edu.in

We are open to outstanding candidates in any subfield, with a preference for political theory, comparative politics and political economy along with related methodological approaches. Those with expertise involving regions outside South Asia are particularly encouraged to apply. A Ph.D is required by the time of appointment.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9337

Illinois Institute of Technology

Rank: Senior Lecturer

Position Opening - Senior Lecturer - Department of Social Sciences, Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago:
Title: Senior Lecturer – Department of Social Sciences, Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago

Introduction: Founded in 1890, Illinois Institute of Technology was born different. It was built on the promise set forth in minister Frank Wakely Gunsaulus’ “Million Dollar Sermon” to provide access to higher education for students from all different backgrounds and to make a difference in the world through technology-oriented education. This guiding mission and purpose—where students, including those underrepresented in technology, could prepare for meaningful roles in a changing industrial society and achieve professional and economic advancement—remains just as relevant today. Thus, diversity and inclusion are part of the day-to-day experience at Illinois Institute of Technology and the centerpiece of its culture. Because of this, Illinois Institute of Technology is home to a diverse and global student population, and is committed to providing opportunities to enhance the diversity of its faculty and staff. To this end, Illinois Institute of Technology strongly encourages applicants from all backgrounds to apply for this position, especially those underrepresented in the field, including, but not limited to, African Americans, Latinx, Indigenous peoples and others.

Position Description: The Illinois Institute of Technology seeks an individual for a full-time, 9-month position as a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Social Sciences (https://www.iit.edu/social-sciences). Appointment periods are 3-5 years and renewable. The preferred start date is January 3, 2022. We seek candidates to teach a broad range of social science courses and to potentially develop inter/cross disciplinary programs with the engineering and science departments. The successful applicant is expected to be a dynamic and engaging lecturer and demonstrate potential for overall excellence in teaching.

Candidates are expected to demonstrate best teaching practices. Lecturers in the department teach three courses per semester in the fall and spring terms, become members of some service committees, mentor and advise undergraduates and help with recruitment activities. Opportunities for summer teaching employment and potential administrative duties may also be available for well qualified candidates. Annual salary is negotiable and dependent upon the candidate’s previous experience and qualifications.

Qualifications
A Ph.D. or foreign equivalent in political science, sociology, geography, public policy, applied economics, urban planning or a closely related field

Previous teaching experience is desirable but not required

Instructions
Please submit the following application materials by mail to: Prof. Jeff Terry, Interim Department Chair, Illinois Institute of Technology, 3101 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, IL 60616 or by email to terryj@iit.edu and provide names/contact information for three references who will be prepared to submit letters of recommendation upon request. The application should include:

Cover letter addressing the candidate’s qualifications
Curriculum vitae
Statement of teaching philosophy and interests including any available evidence of teaching excellence. If applicable, please include any experience in teaching, mentoring or engaging in research with a diverse population of students.

Review of applications will begin upon receipt and the position will remain open until filled. Complete applications received by October 1, 2021 will receive priority consideration. If you have a question about the details of this search or position, please contact the Interim Chair, Prof. Jeff Terry at terryj@iit.edu.

The Illinois Institute of Technology is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA employer; we are committed to enhancing equity, inclusion and diversity within our community. Illinois Tech seeks applications from all individuals regardless of race, color, sex, marital status, religion, creed, national origin, disability, age, military or veteran status, sexual orientation, and/or gender identity and expression. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2021
Salary: Negotiable
Jobs ID: 9315

University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level with a specialty in public policy (open subfield) to begin in Fall 2022. The successful candidate will have demonstrated excellence in teaching and be prepared to teach introductory courses in multiple subfields at the Fox Cities campus (the position’s home campus) and upper-division public policy courses and policy analysis at the Oshkosh campus. Other responsibilities include advising students, professional research, and service.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/29/2021
Date Posted: 9/10/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9316

University of California, Los Angeles
Rank: Junior Faculty Position Search 2021-2022
Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Open

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2022. Preference will be given to applicants in the fields of Political Theory and International Relations. In addition, we will consider especially strong applicants working in other fields. We are especially eager to consider applicants who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by October 15, 2021. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF06814

Help Contact: Evelyn Godinez, egodinez at polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/9/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9303

Georgetown University
Rank: Tenure-Line McCourt Chair of Public Policy

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applicants for the McCourt Chair of Public Policy. This is a tenure track position in the McCourt School of Public Policy. Candidates will contribute substantially to the mission and goals of individual institutions, including research, teaching and service. The endowed chair holder is expected to provide leadership and substantial impact, particularly with their research, in this position. The successful candidate is expected to have an outstanding scholarly track record and agenda, with evidence of both high productivity and high quality research. Applicants should also demonstrate evidence of national prominence in their respective field. The search is open as to field and research interest, with disciplinary backgrounds of interest including political science, sociology, economics, ethics, law, psychology, and demography, as well as public policy broadly.

The Committee will begin reviewing applications October 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

Please apply Here: http://apply.interfolio.com/92924

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/8/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9300

University of Pittsburgh
Rank: Mellon Chair in Political Science

Mellon Chair in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the Mellon Endowed Chair in Political Science, with the appointment to begin in the 2022-2023 academic year, pending budgetary approval. In filling this chair, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship.

We welcome candidates from any subfield and are particularly interested in scholars whose expertise contributes to or complements one or more of the following cross-cutting themes: 1) Global and Transnational Challenges, 2) Groups and Identities, 3) Democracy and Development, 4) Representation and Accountability, and/or whose leadership will shape an emerging initiative in Structural Racism, Opposition, and Black Political Experiences (see our ad for an assistant professor). In addition, we welcome candidates who can build on Pittsburgh’s interdisciplinary strengths in studying cities, public health, education, and technology.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh has faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Minimum qualifications: applicants must have a PhD, at least 6 years of experience, significant record of publications, and demonstrated ability to deliver high-quality instruction, to contribute to an inclusive climate, and to attract and retain a diverse study body.

The committee will begin looking at applications November 15, 2021 but will continue to accept materials until the position is filled. Candidates should send a letter of interest, a CV, and 3 names of people that can provide references when needed; cover letters should include a discussion how the candidate’s research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion. Please apply online at:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=21006309&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9241

University of Pittsburgh
Rank: Assistant Professor – Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor – Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for an assistant professor (pending budgetary approval) in any subfield of political science or related discipline whose work addresses structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, conceived domestically, comparatively, or globally. We encourage applications from scholars working on problems of racial oppression and racialized inequalities and hierarchies – in race and
The Department intends to make three hires in the coming years (pending budgetary approval), in coordination with a cluster in Race, Representation, and Anti-Black and Systemic Racism within the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences. The related University Race and Social Determinants of Equity and Well-being Cluster Hire and Retention Initiative is also aimed at creating and sustaining a cohort of scholars whose research, service, and community engagement are aimed at strengthening knowledge and addressing racial disparities in the social determinants of equity and wellbeing. We thus welcome applicants whose interests complement current and new cluster faculty pertaining to race and inequality and their impact on Black communities in the United States; desirable research and teaching interests include, but are not limited to: race and ethnic politics, identity, democratic behavior, activism and collective action, representation, urban or local governance, health and healthcare policy, technology policy or algorithmic bias, environmental justice, ethnic or international conflict, migration, post-colonialism/post-imperialism; scholars whose interests include Africa or the African Diaspora are also encouraged to apply.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2022. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department’s mission. Required qualifications: applicants have or expect to have a Ph.D. in hand before the appointment begins, research interests related to structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, and demonstrated ability or potential to deliver high-quality instruction, to publish high-quality scholarship, and to contribute to an inclusive climate and attract and retain a diverse student body.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a diversity statement (brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion), and a minimum of three letters of reference; references should send their letters directly to psjobs@pitt.edu. Please apply online at: https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=21006250&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by October 8, 2021, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOEC, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/27/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9237

---

Syracuse University

Rank: African American Studies Department Chair
Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: African American Politics, Africa, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of African American Studies (https://thecollege.syr.edu/african-american-studies/) in Syracuse University’s College of Arts & Sciences seeks a dynamic scholar to serve as Department Chair beginning Fall 2022. The successful candidate will possess a strong record of scholarship; teaching excellence; experience overseeing departmental administrative procedures and governance; demonstrated skill in collaborating with faculty on curricula and programming for undergraduate majors and minors and graduate students; and a commitment to community engagement.

Since gaining department status in 1979, African American Studies at SU has offered multi-disciplinary approaches to global studies of people of African descent. Unique departmental resources, such as the Martin Luther King, Jr. Library (https://thecollege.syr.edu/diversity-and-inclusion/mlk-library/) and the Community Folk Art Center (https://communityfolkartcenter.org/), have been integral to academic initiatives. Recent and pending faculty retirements have led to a critical juncture. The new chair will thus play a pivotal role in leading the department as it formulates strategic plans to engage changing social, political, cultural, technological, and pedagogical landscapes.

The position requires a Ph.D. with a principal research and teaching focus on aspects of Black life in the Americas, the Caribbean, Africa, or Europe. Scholars in any field of the humanities or social sciences are welcome to apply. Candidates who have met the standards for the rank of professor with tenure are preferred. However, full consideration will also be given to applications from advanced tenured associate professors. The teaching requirement during the three-year term as Department Chair will be one course per semester. At the end of the chair term, two courses per semester will be required.

Applications must include a current curriculum vitae; letter of interest; sample publication; diversity, equity, and inclusion statement; and three confidential recommendation letters. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The salary will be commensurate with qualifications.

To apply, visit Syracuse University Job Board, Department Chair/Professor - African American Studies: https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/88268

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9187

---

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science–Public Policy/Public Administration
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Open

Public Policy/Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in Public Policy/Public Administration. Applicants from any... area of the Public Policy/Public Administration fields are welcome, but we are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in public budgeting and finance, public service ethics, nonprofit and public management, and/or organizational theory. We are particularly interested in applicants who also have backgrounds in public policy and address substantively important questions related to inequality. We welcome all candidates doing excellent work in these areas, regardless of methodological specialty or approach (including but not limited to those using rigorous analytical approaches including the tools of computational social science and “big data” in their research).

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state’s flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their teaching and research experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, statements of research, teaching, service, and diversity if not included in the cover letter, and teaching evaluations (if available). Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/92424). All applicants should request letters from three references to be sent via Interfolio. Review of applications begins October 5, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Michael Jones at mjone239@utk.edu.

All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. In accordance with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Tennessee affirmatively states that it does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, or disability in its education programs and activities, and this policy extends to employment by the university. Inquiries and charges of violation of Title VI (race, color, and national origin), Title IX (sex), Section 504 (disability), the ADA (disability), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (age), sexual orientation, or veteran status should be directed to the Office of Equity and Diversity, 1840 Melrose Avenue, Knoxville, TN 37996-3560, telephone 865-974-2498. Requests for accommodation of a disability should be directed to the ADA Coordinator at the Office of Equity and Diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9172

Princeton University
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, Quantitative Methods

Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, Quantitative Methods. The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in quantitative methods. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on September 13, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00005
Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9158

Morehouse College
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor. Candidates should be interested in world politics, broadly, and trained to teach introductory courses in international relations and comparative politics. We are especially interested in candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program and contribute to the College’s distinctive mission of teaching the history and culture of Black people.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 3-3 load), advising, and mentoring students; developing and maintaining a scholarly research and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources. The start date for the position is August 2022.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2021. For questions about the search, please contact Dr. Andrew Douglas, andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu, 470-639-0732.

Submit application here: https://apply.interfolio.com/90999
Start Date: Fall 2022
Princeton University, Program in Latin American Studies
Rank: Visiting Fellow, Program in Latin American Studies

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year’s visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments will be for one month during the 2022-2023 academic year (September 1, 2022 to June 30, 2023). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:
For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 17, 2021. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21242.

Cover letter (in English) indicating when the applicant proposes to stay for one month during the academic year (September 1, 2022 to June 30, 2023), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
1) Curriculum vitae (in English);
2) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
3) The names and contact information of two referees. (The Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/17/2021
Date Posted: 8/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9026
spring semester: January 16, 2023 - June 1, 2023). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:
For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 17, 2021, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21241.

1) Cover letter indicating the applicant’s proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
2) Curriculum vitae;
3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/17/2021
Date Posted: 8/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9025

Stanford University
Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Earth, Energy & Environmental Sciences, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine). Selection criteria includes the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2022.

To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must have received their terminal degree no earlier than September 1, 2019. Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA, EdD, DSW, etc.) prior to the start of the fellowship.

Applicants for early career fellowships should submit their applications at https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18892. Applications should be submitted electronically and include a cover letter (detailing the candidate’s interest in the position), curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching interests, samples of written work, and three letters of recommendation (provide contact information for each and a system generated request will be delivered to each referee). In these materials, please include how your interests would be advanced by a fellowship, needs for laboratory access or special equipment, etc.

The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is October 1, 2021. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching, and clinical missions. Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2021
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 9099

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select postdoctoral scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. (Note if the Covid-19 pandemic prevents a residency at Princeton, Fellows will remain in their home country and participate in the program remotely.) The number of candidates hired will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The postdoctoral appointment will be for one academic year for scholars who have received a Ph.D. at an institution outside the United States and, who at the time of application, do not have a tenure-track faculty appointment. The candidates must also demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and have exhibited unusual intellectual promise.

During the academic year 2022-23, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be “Sustainable Futures.” The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. For more information about the theme of study, please see this link: http://piirs.princeton.edu/fungfip/about/annual-research-topics.

Applicants must apply online at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21301. Applications are due by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. EST).
To be eligible, post-doctoral applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements before 9/1/2022 but cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, 9/1/2022. If a candidate has turned in a final draft of their dissertation but not yet completed their Ph.D. before the start date, they may be temporarily appointed as a Senior Research Assistant with 10% reduction in salary. Upon providing verification of their Ph.D. degree, they would be promoted in rank and salary. The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates’ proposed research projects, the relationship of their projects to the program theme, the candidates’ scholarly records and their ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information on eligibility requirements and the Fung Global Fellows Program see http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/about/annual-research-topics. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. ET):

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (To be submitted by your referees by the November 15, 2021 deadline.)

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 7/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9041

Princeton University
Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired at this rank will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The fellowships will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar. They will also be expected to return to their positions at the conclusion of the fellowship. Lastly, they must have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and unusual intellectual promise. Early-career scholars will be appointed at the rank of Visiting Research Scholar.

During the academic year 2022-23, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Sustainable Futures." The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. For more information about the theme of study, please see this link: http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/about/annual-research-topics.

Applicants must apply online at: https://www.princeton.edu/academic-positions/position/21302. Applications are due by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. or equivalent no earlier than September 1, 2012. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate’s proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program theme, the candidate’s scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information see: http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/call-applications.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. ET):

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- For those applicants with a current faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant’s current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University. If applicant is an established independent scholar, please upload a PDF stating this as applicant’s current status.
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees by the November 15, 2021 deadline.)

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 7/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9042

Washington University in St. Louis
Rank: Junior Visiting Fellowship

The Department of Political Science at Washington University invites applications for a junior visiting fellow in political science. The appointment will begin in the Fall semester of 2022 and run for one academic year. We expect fellows to be in residence in St. Louis for the academic year and participate in the activities of the department. These activities include, but are not limited to, participating in departmental and relevant subfield seminars and presenting research at a departmental forum. There are no teaching or formal administrative responsibilities, and we offer a stipend of up to $55,000 or half of the successful applicant’s academic salary, whichever amount is lower.

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/.

Qualifications
We seek applicants with proven records of excellence in research. Applicants must have completed their PhD in the last six years OR hold an untenured faculty position.
KDI (Korea Development Institute) School of Public Policy and Management

KDI (Korea Development Institute) School of Public Policy and Management invites applications for full-time, tenure-track faculty positions at all levels in the field specified below. KDI was ranked 1st in Asia and 5th among non-U.S. think tanks in the 2020 Global Think Tank Index and the School has a vibrant and diverse academic community with some 140 countries represented among our student body and alumni. KDI School is the only international policy school with NASPAA recognition in Korea and the first in East Asia.

KDI School seeks applications for a position in the following areas:

1. Environmental Policy
2. Social and Welfare Policy
3. Political Economy of Development
4. Development Economics
5. Public Administration and Governance

As a graduate-level international policy school, we offer master’s and Ph.D. programs focusing on public policy, development policy, and public management. The normal class teaching load is four courses per year spread out over three trimesters and courses are taught in English. The School provides internationally competitive compensation, faculty housing options (when available), child education benefits (where applicable), moving expense support, generous research funding opportunities, and conference travel support.

KDI School is one of the leading academic and research institutions in Korea and Asia, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of leaders in today’s rapidly changing and globalizing world. The KDI School campus offers unparalleled access to South Korea’s policy and research leaders, given its location in the city of Sejong, the administrative capital of South Korea, and home to the National Research Complex that incorporates sixteen leading national policy research institutes. Geographically situated at the center of South Korea, Sejong is connected to Seoul via a high-speed train system with about an hour of travel time, and to all of the other major cities with a travel time of less than two hours.

As a school dedicated to mentoring a diverse student body, many of whom come from developing countries, we especially encourage applications from candidates who appreciate diversity and inclusion in their teaching and research. KDI School is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9043

Field Specific Descriptions

1. Environmental Policy
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics including sustainable development, climate change, environmental degradation, sustainable energy policy or transitions, or global environmental governance. Relevant fields might include environmental economics, applied economics, public policy and political science.

2. Social and Welfare Policy
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics including social policy, welfare policy, fiscal policy, and public finance.

3. Political Economy of Development
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics related to the political economy of development regardless of academic disciplines. Substantive expertise in a developing country/region and/or international organizations and institutions, field experience, training in causal inference including experimental methods, or background in working with non-traditional data using computational social science skills are preferred but not required.

4. Development Economics
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics related to development economics. Substantive expertise in a developing country/region, international development cooperation, field experience, and training in causal inference including experimental methods and impact evaluation are preferred but not required.

5. Public Administration and Governance
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics including, but not limited to, public organizations, public management, local government, data-driven government, policy design and evaluation.

We seek applications from scholars to our open field search, although we are especially interested in candidates with expertise in international development, applied microeconomics, public policy, or public management.

Number of Openings: Six or less, depending on the number of qualified candidates

Qualifications

Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.
Applicants must have a Ph.D. or should be expecting to receive one by August 31, 2022 in one of the above-mentioned academic fields.

Application Deadline

Application Instructions

To submit application materials electronically, please visit: http://apply.interfolio.com/96842

A complete application will include the following:
1. Curriculum vitae
2. Cover letter (Please specify the field for which you are applying; multiple applications to more than one field is not allowed)
3. Research Papers (one or two recent working papers or publications)
4. Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the interfolio by the referees

Contact Information

For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to recruit@kdis.ac.kr

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 10/29/2021
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 9634

Howard University

Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for an open-rank tenure-track position with research interests in the area of Black Politics and American Politics. The successful candidate will be a scholar whose research and teaching engages Black politics in the United States. Scholars’ research should focus on people of African descent and fall into one of the following areas: healthcare or health policy, American political institutions, American political development, and/or American political behavior. Substantive areas of teaching should include, but not limited to, American government and politics, Black politics, healthcare or health policy, public policy, electoral politics, and/or Black social movements. We welcome applications from candidates with a range of theoretical and methodological frameworks and approaches.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. Successful candidates will demonstrate a commitment to vigorously pursuing extramurally funded research programs in their areas of expertise, actively participate in the Department’s teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented minority students is highly desired. Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black private university, provides an educational experience of exceptional quality at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels to students of high academic standing and potential, with particular emphasis upon educational opportunities for Black students. Howard University is classified as Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is a residential campus of approximately 10,000 students located in the heart of the nation’s capital, Washington, DC.

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 15 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science. Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S. Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Community Development, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor. Required Qualifications: • Ph.D. in political science or related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc) from an accredited institution; • Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor; • Evidence of successful grant writing experience.

Completed applications should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee, Dr. Richard Seltzer, and submitted electronically via AmericanBlackPoliticsSearch@howard.edu. Screening will begin on September 20, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The desired starting date is August 15, 2022. Additional details and information can be found at http://coas.howard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/27/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9628

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Tenure Track Faculty Position at Assistant or Associate Rank Shri Shantinath Endowed Chair in Ahimsa Studies (Nonviolence Studies)

Tenure Track Faculty Position at Assistant or Associate Rank Shri Shantinath Endowed Chair in Ahimsa Studies (Nonviolence Studies)

The College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences at Cal Poly Pomona invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Rank of Assistant or Associate Professor effective 2022-2023 academic year. The successful candidate will hold Shri Shantinath Endowed Chair in Ahimsa Studies and serve as the Director of the Ahimsa Center, as well as teach and pursue an active research agenda.

Duties and Responsibilities: Teach undergraduate courses in area of expertise, including Nonviolence in the Modern World and a capstone seminar in nonviolence, have an active research agenda in the study of nonviolence, and direct the Ahimsa Center’s various activities.
Minimum Qualifications: Ph.D. in any discipline (preferably from Humanities or Social Sciences); evidence of teaching and scholarly potential in Nonviolence Studies; commitment to organizing public programs such as lectures, conferences, or symposia related to nonviolence; potential to offer programs anchored in nonviolence for professional development of K-12 educators; and commitment to mentoring students from underrepresented groups.

Preferred/Desired Qualifications: Strong interest in community outreach and working with the Center’s Advisory Board; one or more years of university teaching experience in nonviolence related area; readiness for designing innovative course work related to nonviolence studies; evidence of scholarly productivity and working with students from underrepresented groups.

Application Process: The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications received by?November 15, 2021. Early application is encouraged. For expanded position description, additional application information, and specific procedures, please go to https://apply.interfolio.com/97334

For general inquiries, please contact Dr. Tara Sethia, Search Committee Chair, at tsethia@cpp.edu

AA/EOE

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9621

Florida Atlantic University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies

The Center for Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies (WGSS) at Florida Atlantic University (FAU) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in Political Science and Global Studies to begin in Fall 2022. The Center is an interdisciplinary space supporting research and teaching in both social scientific and humanistic approaches to women’s studies, gender studies, LGBTQ studies, and sexuality studies. Offering an MA degree, an undergraduate minor, and elective classes, the Center seeks applications from scholars whose research addresses women and politics, gender and politics, transnational feminisms, global studies, and related research specialties. We encourage candidates with a diverse range of research methodologies, however candidates will be expected to teach quantitative and/or mixed methods courses. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion are core values of WGSS. We seek applicants whose work incorporates a global perspective and a demonstrated commitment to issues of diversity in higher education, particularly those with experience working directly with people from diverse racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Scholars who are members of historically under-represented and/or disenfranchised groups including those associated with diversity of gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and/or ability are especially encouraged to apply.

Possible areas of specialization include:
African and African diaspora studies
Gender and politics in Latin America

Florida Atlantic University is a Hispanic-serving institution with an emphasis on diversity, including significant support for first-generation students and a recent Afro-Latinx Studies cluster hire to support the Americas Initiative. Established in 1961, FAU officially opened its doors in 1964 as the fifth public university in Florida. Today, the University serves more than 30,000 undergraduate and graduate students across six campuses located along the southeast Florida coast and is ranked as a top public university by U.S. News and World Report. In 2021-2022, the University is seeking to bring in a large cohort of new assistant professors, including this hire. Located in the heart of South Florida, at the nexus of North America, the Caribbean, and South America, FAU provides a rich environment for scholarship engaging with questions of transnational feminisms, politics, and/or diasporic culture.

Minimum Qualifications:
PhD from an accredited institution in political science or related field, with a specialization or focus in women’s studies, gender studies, LGBTQ studies, and/or sexuality studies is required by the August 2022 start date.

Salary: Commensurate with Experience

Please apply at FAU Jobs: https://t.co/U5GqeNSswc?amp=1 REQ11682
Special Instructions to Applicant: This position is open until filled and may close without prior notice. This position is subject to funding.

Required Documents:
FAU’s Career Page permits the attachment of required/requested documentation.

PLEASE NOTE: A maximum of five (5) documents may be attached to your application. If more than five (5) documents are required for submission, please combine additional documents into one attachment to not exceed the maximum permitted.

When completing the online application, please upload all required documentation noted here: (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited for candidates placed on the long list).

Transcripts:
The selected candidate for this position is required to submit an official transcript sent directly from the institution is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment. Similarly, for degrees from outside the United States, the evaluation by an organization belonging to the National Association of Credential Evaluation (NACES), with an indication of the documents the evaluation was prepared from (official transcripts, diplomas, dissertation abstracts) is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment.

Background Screening:
Successful completion of a pre-employment background check is required for the candidate selected for this position.

Accommodations:
Individuals requiring accommodation, please call 561-297-3057. 711
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9599

National Center for State Courts
Rank: Court Research Associate
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Research Methods, Science & Technology, Quantitative Methods

The National Center for State Courts is an independent, nonprofit court improvement organization located in Williamsburg, Virginia. NCSC’s services – research, information services, education, consulting, association management, and technical on-site assistance – are focused on helping courts implement improvements that promote efficiency and effectiveness, while ensuring access to justice, timeliness, and procedural satisfaction.

The Research Division of the NCSC is looking for a highly motivated Court Research Associate to work on projects, in multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to social science, public administration, legal studies, public health, criminology, racial and social justice, and data science, to further the administration of justice in our state courts. We are seeking applicants who thrive in a collaborative environment and want to make a difference in the field of court administration and improvement.

The position is responsible for planning, organizing, and conducting research for improving various aspects of state court administration and disseminating research results. Work includes identifying and developing research initiatives; assisting to obtain research grant funding; conducting research and disseminating research results through various mediums (e.g., written products, presentations, online curricula, and technical on-site assistance).

For more information about current Research Projects at the NCSC visit: National Center for State Courts.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:
The Court Research Associate will be responsible for performing the duties listed below.

• Conducting empirical and applied research and program evaluation:
  Designing qualitative and quantitative data collection instruments;
  Conducting site visits (interviewing, focus groups, observations) with constituents, and Performing statistical analysis;
  Designing products that effectively communicate research findings to diverse audiences (e.g., data visualization);
  Presenting research findings (e.g., conferences, facilitated workgroups, publications); and Assisting in the development of funding proposals from federal, state, and private funding sources.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:
To be considered for this position, candidates must meet the following qualifications:

• A Ph.D. in the social sciences, public policy, or a related field; a J.D. combined with a Master’s degree in social sciences, public policy, or a J.D. and at least six years’ experience in conducting applied social science research;
• Experience using statistical/data management software such as Excel, SPSS, Stata, R, and Tableau;
• Knowledge of and demonstrated ability to competently perform quantitative and qualitative data collection and analysis;
• Ability to present research findings to diverse audiences (e.g., data visualization);
• Excellent writing skills (e.g., client reports, policy memorandums, journal articles); and
• Availability to travel periodically.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:
NCSC IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/DISABILITY/VETERAN EMPLOYER

Candidates are required to submit a cover letter and resume in addition to the completed application form. The position will remain open until filled. For first consideration apply by November 19, 2021. To apply visit: https://www.ncsc.org/about-us/all-jobs.

Starting salary may vary with additional experience and qualifications. Position is remote work eligible or may receive relocation assistance if desire to work in Williamsburg Office.

Minorsities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9598
Northwestern University
Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Instruction
Specializations: Criminal Justice, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

Northwestern University’s Center for Legal Studies invites applications for a full-time, benefits-eligible, faculty appointment as Assistant or Associate Professor of Instruction, beginning September 1, 2022. This is a teaching-track position that offers good prospects of job security and promotion, contingent upon continuing excellence in job performance. Duties include teaching six quarter-long undergraduate courses per academic year.

We welcome applications from stellar teachers, especially those with proven ability to teach a range of lower- and upper-division courses on law and society. We particularly welcome applicants who can teach courses on criminal law and mass incarceration. Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science, Sociology, or a related field, which must be conferred by September 1, 2022. Preference will be given to candidates who have demonstrated experience working with diverse student communities.

Details regarding promotion and reappointment for teaching-track positions are available online at http://www.weinberg.northwestern.edu/faculty/career/reappointment-promotion/promotion/.

Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, a CV, and the names of three references. Additional materials, including letters of recommendation from listed references, a writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (such as teaching evaluations, syllabi, and a statement of teaching philosophy) will be requested from selected candidates. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by November 12, 2021. Please submit all materials through the application link, accessible at https://legalstudies.northwestern.edu/people/open-positions/apoi2022.html. Address all inquiries to Charlene Mitchell at Charlene.Mitchell@northwestern.edu.

Northwestern University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer and does not discriminate against qualified individuals on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, parental status, marital status, age, disability, citizenship status, veteran status, genetic information, or any other protected class. Individuals from all diverse backgrounds are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States. For more information, please see the University’s Policy on Discrimination and Harassment (https://www.northwestern.edu/equity/documents/discrimination-harassment-policy-resources-procedures-final.pdf). Job applicants who wish to request an accommodation in the application or hiring process should contact the Office of Equity. Additional information on the accommodations process is available at https://www.northwestern.edu/equal-opportunity-access/accommodation/disability.html

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/12/2021
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9586

University of Pennsylvania
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Public Opinion, Science & Technology, Research Methods

Postdoctoral fellowship program in Science of Science Communication at the Annenberg Public Policy Center of the University of Pennsylvania

As part of its Annenberg Center for the Advanced Study of Communication, the Annenberg Public Policy Center (APPC; http://www.annenbergpublicpolicycenter.org) of the University of Pennsylvania’s postdoctoral fellowship program in the Science of Science Communication (SSC) is accepting applications for the 2022-2023 academic year. Fellows in the program will work closely with other fellows and senior researchers of APPC on scholarship designed to understand basic problems (e.g., source credibility, communication processes, attitude change, belief formation, conspiracy theories, and misinformation debunking) as well as applied ones (e.g., climate change, vaccines, and COVID-19). The program is interdisciplinary and is currently led by social psychologist and communication scholar, Dolores Albarracin (https://www.asc.upenn.edu/research/centers/social-action-lab).

Applicants should submit a cover letter as well as a curriculum vitae, a letter of reference from their dissertation advisor, and a description of the applicant’s scholarly interests. Two more references will be requested later in the process. First-year fellows will receive a stipend of $65,000 and serve in a 12-month appointment, beginning July 1, 2022. An allowance of up to $1,500 will be provided to offset pre-approved, receipt-documented relocation expenses, and APPC will reimburse up to $2,000 in travel to high-level conferences to present APPC research (subject to any applicable university Covid-19 travel restrictions). Renewal for a second year is contingent upon performance and budgetary considerations.

We are seeking fellows who apply a variety of disciplinary and methodological approaches, and have completed a Ph.D. in a social, behavioral, or computational science within the last five years.

Please send the letter of interest, CV, and names of two references to appc-apply@appc.upenn.edu. The letter of reference should be sent to the same email address by the dissertation adviser. Questions about current lines of research or other academic aspects may be directed to Dr. Albarracin at dalba@upenn.edu.

The application deadline is February 15, 2022 for a July 1, 2022 start. However, decisions will be made on a rolling basis.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9590

University of Texas at Dallas
Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Instruction
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Public Opinion, Science & Technology, Research Methods

Assistant or Associate Professor of Instruction

The Public Policy and Political Economy program in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences (EPPS) at The University of Texas at Dallas is seeking applications for a tenure-system Assistant Professor in Cybersecurity and Policy.
The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science or public policy-related field. The candidate’s research agenda should focus on issues of cybersecurity with an international/cross-national dimension. Research topics of special interest include ethical and legal aspects of cybersecurity, regulation across countries, the economics of information security, the interaction of security and privacy considerations, and the politics of developing and administering cybersecurity policies and programs. While expertise in the private sector, government agency, NGO or public policy organization will be an advantage, all exceptional candidates will be considered. Ideal candidates will demonstrate their ability to contribute to existing program strengths in quantitative methods.

Applicants should upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statements of teaching and research philosophy; teaching evaluations; and the full contact information for at least three academic or professional references.

The University of Texas at Dallas is committed to providing an educational, living and working environment that is welcoming, respectful and inclusive of all members of the university community. The University prohibits unlawful discrimination against a person because of their race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status.

apply online: https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/16876

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9587

---

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in political science and international relations, with a specialization in the relationships among emerging technologies, national security, and international relations.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022. The application deadline is Wednesday, December 1, 2021.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92233

Materials to be submitted:
- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach);
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9548

---

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2022-23 Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship

Specializations: Defense, Science & Technology, International Security

Council on Foreign Relations Seeking 2022-2023 Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship Applicants

The Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship offers younger scholars studying nuclear security issues the opportunity to spend a period of twelve months at CFR’s offices in New York or Washington, DC, conducting policy-relevant research. While in residence full time at CFR, selected fellows will lead a project of their own design, conduct original research, and write at least one policy-relevant document.

Fellowship Award

The duration of the fellowship is twelve months, beginning in September. The program awards a stipend of $110,000 for junior faculty and $80,000 for postdoctoral fellows. Fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR, and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance.

Application

The deadline to apply is December 15, 2021. Program details, eligibility requirements, and the online application can be found online at: https://www.cfr.org/fellowships/stanton-nuclear-security-fellowship.

If you have additional questions, please contact fellowships@cfr.org.

How to Apply

You can apply for this position online at https://www.cfr.org/fellowships/stanton-nuclear-security-fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9549

---

Graduate Center, CUNY

Rank: Research Associate (Postdoctoral Scholar) - Stone Center on Socio-Economic Inequality - 2 Vacancies

Position Title: Research Associate (Postdoctoral Scholar) - Stone Center on Socio-Economic Inequality - 2 Vacancies

Job ID: 22768

Compensation: $87,000/year plus an allowance for research-related expenditures, as well as an allowance for hiring Research Assistants from the Graduate Center’s student population.

Closing Date: November 8, 2021

---

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The Graduate Center, CUNY is the focal point for advanced teaching and research at The City University of New York (CUNY), the nation’s largest urban public university. With over 35 doctoral and master’s programs of the highest caliber, the Graduate Center fosters pioneering research and scholarship in the arts and sciences and prepares students for careers in universities and the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. The Graduate Center’s commitment to research and scholarship for the public good is exemplified by its more than 30 centers, institutes, and initiatives, including its Advanced Science Research Center (ASRC), a 200,000 square-foot facility in upper Manhattan, designed to promote collaboration among scientists in five areas of global research and innovation: nanoscience, photonics, structural biology, neuroscience, and environmental sciences.

The Graduate Center (GC) benefits from highly ambitious and diverse students and alumni—who in turn teach hundreds of thousands of undergraduates every year. Through its public programs, the Graduate Center enhances New York City’s intellectual and cultural life.

The James M. and Cathleen D. Stone Center on Socio-Economic Inequality conducts and promotes quantitative research using inequality as a lens on society and the economy. The faculty, the affiliated and postdoctoral scholars, and the students working within the Center share a commitment to scholarship that is data-driven, interdisciplinary, and policy-oriented, often addressing questions that are cross-nationally comparative or global in scope.

The Stone Center:
- Is home to a group of core faculty members who teach economics, political science and sociology, and who—with students and external affiliated scholars—are actively engaged in research addressing diverse aspects of socio-economic inequalities.
- Hosts the US Office of Luxembourg Income Study (LIS) database, an archive of internationally comparable data on income and wealth covering over 50 countries.
- Organizes three seminar series related to inequality, and collaborates with the Graduate Center’s Office of Public Programs on several large events each year.

For more information about the Stone Center visit https://stonecenter.gc.cuny.edu/

The Stone Center seeks to hire two Research Associates (Postdoctoral Scholars) to work on research related to socio-economic inequality in the United States, other countries, or through cross-country comparisons. These are full-time appointments for two years beginning in Fall 2022. Each position will report to a designated Stone Center Senior Scholar. The Research Associate will engage as an active member of the research team.

In addition to the responsibilities listed under “General Duties”, the incumbent will:
- Conduct self-directed research that contributes to the growing national and international conversation on inequality, and on feasible public and private strategies aimed at furthering fair, effective, and efficient policy and institutional reforms;
- Collaborate with senior scholars affiliated with the Stone Center;
- Contribute to public dialogue through lectures and presentations, organize public programs, develop informational materials, publish public-facing policy and research briefs, engage in professional quality social media, and build relationships with key stakeholders and other scholars;
- Perform other duties as assigned.

General Duties:
- Conducts academic research in connection with CUNY programs; may assist faculty, staff, and students in conducting research and lead research efforts involving others.
- Develops research plans and proposals and participates in acquiring funding
- Collects, analyzes, and assures validity of data
- Writes progress reports; writes and publishes findings
- Collaborates with internal and external colleagues
- Adheres to standards for safety and hygiene and ethical conduct as defined by the University and relevant outside parties

Minimum Qualifications:
Doctoral Degree in a related field and demonstrated research ability.

Other Qualifications:
A preferred candidate should have:
- Ph.D. degree in economics, sociology, political science, public policy, or a related social science discipline; applicants must have completed their Ph.D. no more than seven years prior to the application date, or demonstrate that it will be completed by the position start date.
- Research portfolio that demonstrates interest in and experience with empirical, methodological, or theoretical scholarship focused on socio-economic inequality.
- High level of technical skill, expertise in a range of quantitative methods, and experience with complex data sets.
- Experience with public policy and communicating research findings in a way that is relevant to the public.

For one position, priority will be given to candidates conducting research in the following areas:
- Distribution of wealth, wealth inequality, wealth concentration
- Intergroup wealth disparities (e.g., by gender, race, ethnicity, migration status)
- Determinants (including public policies) and consequences of wealth accumulation
- Estate, inheritance, gift, and wealth taxation

For the other position, priority will be given to candidates who examine racial/ethnic inequalities in the United States as part of their research agenda.

Other potential areas of interest include:
- Intergroup disparities along other dimensions, such as gender or migration status
- Distribution of earnings, income, and/or consumption
- Social mobility
- History and/or politics of inequality
- Public policy related to inequality

How to Apply:
Go to http://cuny.jobs/ and search for Job ID 22768.

Click on &quot;Apply Now&quot; which will bring you to the registration screen. If you are a new user, you must register to apply. If you already have a user ID, please use your existing ID to apply.

The following are all required:
1. Curriculum vitae
2. Statement of interest, not to exceed 1,500 words: Please summarize your qualifications, and describe your past work related to inequality; provide a description of the projects you expect to carry out during the two-year period and how they are related to the work of the Center’s core faculty; indicate your career goals.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
3. Contact details for three (3) professional references, including the name, title, and organization of each referee, their telephone numbers and email addresses.

Please upload all documents in Word or PDF format.

Equal Employment Opportunity: CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 9550

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law

Rank: Gerhard Casper Postdoctoral Fellow in Rule of Law
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, Other

The Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law (CDDRL) at Stanford University invites applications for the Gerhard Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2022-23. We welcome research on any aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, and the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdisciplinary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e social sciences, law) are welcome to apply.

This is a one-year, residential postdoctoral fellowship. Candidates must have earned their PhD or JD within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their dissertations by July 2022. The Gerhard Casper Fellow will be part of CDDRL’s larger cohort of pre- and postdoctoral fellows; for more information, see: https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships

Please apply through the CDDRL fellowship application process, and indicate in your cover letter that you would like to be considered for the Gerhard Casper Rule of Law Postdoctoral Fellowship. Application materials include a CV, cover letter (of no more than 3 pages), a statement of proposed research (5-10 pages), a complete set of transcripts, and 3 letters of recommendation.

The online application is available here: https://webportalapp.com/sp/login/stanford_cddrl_fellowship

For additional questions, please contact fellowship coordinator Kristin Chandler (kdchandler@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9551

University of Maryland, Baltimore County

Rank: Lecturer (Three Year, Renewable) - Asian Studies
Specializations: East Asia, Economic Policy, South Asia

The University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) Asian Studies Program (ASIA) invites applications for a three-year renewable lectureship beginning in August 2022.

The Asian Studies Program is an interdisciplinary program in the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences averaging seventy students pursuing a major, minor, or upper-division certificate in Asian Studies. Students are required to study an Asian Language through the advanced level (UMBC offers Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Hindi), and complete core courses and electives in a variety of disciplines relevant to the study of Asia: language, literature, culture, history, economics, political science, anthropology, media and communication studies, art, music, dance, and gender and women’s studies. All students are encouraged, but not required, to study abroad. Many of our students go on to work or study in Asia after graduation.

Qualifed candidates should have a doctoral degree in a social science or humanities discipline at the time of appointment and engage in interdisciplinary teaching and inclusive pedagogies. Candidates should have a basic proficiency in an Asian language (similar to advanced undergraduate language courses) and experience living, working, studying, or researching in Asia. Candidates should also have a specialization in the economics, political economy, politics, or international relations of Asia or East Asia; or Korean Studies including history, politics, economics and or culture. The Program is particularly interested in candidates with a dedication to diversity, equity, inclusive excellence in higher education and the commitment, skills, and experience to contribute to our mission of promoting social justice and equity in Asian Studies.

Responsibilities
- Teach 3 courses per semester in Asian Studies including ASIA 100: Introduction to Asian Studies and a 300 or 400 level capstone course
- Develop courses related to their own specialties and interests
- Advise and provide research mentoring to our students in the Asian Studies Program
- Engage in programmatic work with the director to develop new core and elective courses to expand and improve the existing programs
- Plan and implement student programs alongside the director

About UMBC

UMBC is located in Catonsville, Maryland in the Baltimore-Washington corridor. The University has 14,000 students and routinely ranks as one of the top institutions in the nation for undergraduate teaching and innovation in U.S. News and World Report. UMBC’s community redefines excellence in higher education through an inclusive culture that connects innovative teaching and learning, research across disciplines, and civic engagement. UMBC is especially proud of its diverse student population, and the work of the Asian Studies Program actively advances diversity, equity, and inclusion. UMBC hosts a number of dynamic interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Dresher Center for humanities research, the Center for Social Science Scholarship, and the Global Studies Program. UMBC also has strong programs in political science, economics, history, and modern languages and culture that support and collaborate with the Asian Studies Program.

Requirements:
- Ph.D. in social sciences or humanities at time of appointment
- Engage in interdisciplinary teaching and inclusive pedagogies
- Experience living, working, studying, or researching in Asia
- Basic proficiency in an Asian language (similar to advanced undergraduate language courses)
- Specialization in the economics, political economy, politics, or international relations of Asia or East Asia; or Korean Studies including history, politics, economics and or culture.
- Dedication to diversity, equity, inclusive excellence in higher education
- Application Instructions

Applicants should send a 1) current C.V., 2) a detailed cover letter that explains their qualifications as well as their teaching philosophy, 3) a description of their commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education, and 4) a list of three references, who may be contacted for letters of support.

Deadline for applications is December 1, 2021. Submit all applications to https://apply.interfolio.com/95944. Please contact Program Director Dr. Meredith Oyen at oyen@umbc.edu with any questions.

Screening of Applications Begins: Review of application materials will begin December 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9554

Converse University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Politics. Broadly trained Ph.D. in political science to teach introductory American Government and upper-level courses in American politics, public policy, political theory, and areas of interest to the candidate. Interest in collaborative work with other social science disciplines is a plus. Ph.D. in hand at time of appointment, demonstrated teaching experience, evidence of scholarly work. The deadline for applications is November 15, 2021.

To apply, submit the following to john.theilmann@converse.edu:
• CV;
• cover letter;
• three confidential letters of recommendation;
• statement of teaching philosophy;
• graduate transcripts (unofficial copies are acceptable for initial review; official copies are required for employment)
• employment application online at www.converse.edu/employment

Selected candidates must complete a background check that is satisfactory to the university and be qualified to teach in the US.

Converse is a private liberal arts university with an enrollment of ~1,250 traditional and non-traditional undergraduate and graduate students.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/8/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9537

Roanoke College
Rank: Assistant Professor

Roanoke College: Position at the Assistant Professor Rank

The Public Affairs Department invites applications for a tenure-track position in Criminal Justice beginning in August 2022. Successful candidates should be critical criminologists able to offer courses in Social Inequalities and Criminal Justice, as well as the department’s course in Research Methods. The ability to offer courses in Criminal Justice Policy and/or to teach for the Department’s Inside-Out Prison Exchange Program is preferred. All faculty members in the Department offer courses in the General Education curriculum. A Ph.D. with teaching experience is preferred, but an ABD will be considered.

The Public Affairs Department administers majors in Political Science, International Relations, and Criminal Justice. In addition to excellent teaching and collegiality the Public Affairs Department supports and expects active professional participation and research. Successful candidates are expected to teach six courses a year (3/3), as well as an additional course once every three years during Roanoke College’s intensive learning May term.

Roanoke College is a nationally ranked residential liberal arts college affiliated with the Lutheran Church (ELCA), located in the beautiful Roanoke Valley of Virginia. A Phi Beta Kappa institution, Roanoke College is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks diversity among its faculty, staff, and students; members of under-represented groups are especially encouraged to apply. We seek candidates with interests in mentoring under-represented students, diversifying curricular offerings, or sponsoring diverse community engagement. Applicants are asked to address their potential contributions in support of a diverse community in their cover letters.

Applicants should submit cover letter (including the statement in support of diversity), curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of recommendation via e-mail to: Judi Pinckney (pinckney@roanoke.edu), Secretary, Public Affairs Department. Please visit our Departmental website at: https://www.roanoke.edu/inside/a-z_index/public_affairs for more information. Review of applications will be on November 5 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/5/2021
Date Posted: 10/8/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9537

Columbia University
Rank: Lecturer in Discipline International Humanitarian Policy and Action

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline in the field of international humanitarian policy and action, to begin July 1, 2022.

Candidates must have a demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and in an appropriate field of research and/or practice related to international humanitarian policy or action. Research interests or practice should be policy relevant. Master’s degree required. Ph.D., J.D., or equivalent terminal degree and/or relevant professional experience at senior level strongly preferred.
Applicants should be qualified to teach courses related to international humanitarian policy/action and serve as director of focus area on that topic in demanding two-year Master's degree programs in international and public affairs. Responsibilities of director include advising students about their educations and careers and fostering co-curricular activities, such as guest speakers and panel discussions.

Please visit our online application site at: http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/5183 for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Screening of the candidates will begin as soon as possible. For further information, please contact Hazel May, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, at sipa_academicaffairs@sipa.columbia.edu.

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train students at the master’s and doctoral level for careers in global public policy.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA’s academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/5/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9518

Columbia University
Rank: Professor of Professional Practice in Global Policy
Subfield(s): Other, Public Administration, Administration
Professor of Professional Practice in Global Policy
Founding Director of MPA in Global Leadership Program
Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train graduate students for careers in global public policy.

SIPA now invites applications for a full-time appointment as Professor of Professional Practice to launch and run a new graduate degree program in a demanding academic environment. Preferred candidates will hold a graduate degree (PhD or equivalent preferred) and possess university-level teaching experience or show strong promise to succeed as an instructor in a demanding academic environment. Preferred candidates should also show strong promise to succeed as the founding Director of an important new degree program.

The Professor of Professional Practice will serve as founding Director of the Master’s in Public Administration in Global Leadership, an intensive 10-month degree designed to prepare senior leaders from around the world to make an even greater impact in their fields. The Director will serve as the academic leader of the program, recruiting instructors and guest lecturers for courses, seminars and workshops and overseeing academic advising of students. The Director will be expected to teach three courses per year in the program (organizing and overseeing the Summer session counts as one course). Working with a full-time Program Manager/Assistant Director and other SIPA professional staff, the Director will oversee student recruitment and admissions, build strategic partnerships, and build and nurture a strong alumni community. The new degree, which has been approved by Columbia University and the New York State Education Department, will enroll its first students in August 2023.

The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA’s academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

To submit your application, please visit our online application site here:
http://apply.interfolio.com/95921

Screening of applicants will begin on November 10.

For further information, please contact Hazel May, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at sipa_academicaffairs@sipa.columbia.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/6/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9522

Texas A&M University
Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship in International Affairs or Public Administration
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Other
Texas A&M University’s Accountability, Climate, Equity, and Scholarship (ACES) Faculty Fellows Program is a faculty pipeline initiative that connects those advancing outstanding scholarship with relevant disciplinary units on campus. ACES Faculty Fellows are hired as Visiting Assistant Professors with the expectation of transitioning to tenure track at the end of the two-year fellowship period. ACES Faculty Fellows will teach one course per academic year, thereby benefiting from dedicated research time.

In recognition of Texas A&M University’s Diversity Plan (https://diversity.tamu.edu/Diversity/media/diversity/PDF/Diversity-Plan-2010.pdf), the ACES Faculty Fellows Program promotes the research, teaching, and scholarship of early career scholars who embrace the belief that diversity is an indispensable component of academic excellence. From this experience at Texas A&M, fellows should develop an understanding of the value of diversity and inclusion and the power that it holds for students, faculty, and staff to enrich their lives. ACES Faculty Fellows will benefit from: prescriptive mentoring, access to instructional best practices, a vast array of world-class research and productivity resources, and a robust network of renowned Texas A&M scholars from across disciplines.
Qualifications
Applications are welcome from scholars with a strength in, and evidence of, a respect for diversity and inclusion. We invite applications from scholars whose work aligns with a field or department(s) in the Department of International Affairs (https://bush.tamu.edu/inta/) and /or other experiences have demonstrated a commitment to diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. USAFA’s Department of Political Science homepage can be found at: https://www.usafa.edu/academic/political-science/. Applicants should e-mail cover letter expressing their interest, CV, and two-letters of recommendation to Col Kris Bauman (kris.bauman@afacademy.af.edu), Eisenhower Center, Department of Political Science, USAFA. Application deadline: December 15, 2021.

United States Air Force Academy
Rank: Visiting Scientist
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

The Eisenhower Center for Space and Defense Studies within the Department of Political Science supports production and dissemination of knowledge relevant to cadets’ National Security learning outcome at the United States Air Force Academy (USAFA). In conjunction with USAFA’s Nuclear Enterprise Research Center, Department of Physics, the Eisenhower Center invites applications for a one-year visiting scientist (with potential to extend to two years) to research implications of integrated deterrence, which combines conventional and nuclear strategies across multiple domains, for nuclear posture and infrastructure. The visitor will teach one section of approximately twenty-five cadets per semester and participate with Physics and Political Science research centers on a project exploring “Deterrence and Nuclear Modernization.” Financial support of $100K plus a travel budget for the twelve-month term (July 2022-June 2023, one year renewable) will be provided by the Stanton Foundation (Cambridge, MA) through the Air Force Academy Foundation. Expectations for research and teaching will be communicated formally through a separate Volunteer Service Agreement with the Superintendent of the Academy. Ideal candidates will have received their Ph.D. in Political Science or related field and demonstrated technical expertise through a master’s degree and/or policy experience in a STEM field related to nuclear war, nuclear terrorism, nuclear proliferation, nuclear weapons, nuclear force posture, or, as it relates to nuclear security, nuclear energy. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. USAFA’s Department of Political Science homepage can be found at: https://www.usafa.edu/academic/political-science/. Applicants should e-mail cover letter expressing their interest, CV, and two-letters of recommendation to Col Kris Bauman (kris.bauman@afacademy.af.edu), Eisenhower Center, Department of Political Science, USAFA. Application deadline: December 15, 2021.

Creighton University
Rank: Capitol Hill Internship Program - Executive Director
Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Other, Other

The United Methodist College Washington Consortium (UMCWC) seeks to fill the position of Executive Director of the Capitol Hill Internship Program (CHIP) to replace its current retiring director. The position begins in August 2022. The UMCWC is made up of representatives from eight liberal arts colleges that send students to Washington, D.C. to live and intern in the nation’s capital as participants in CHIP. The program is open to students from all majors and academic disciplines. Students live in the CHIP house at 510 C Street NE in Washington and are responsible for finding their own internships with the assistance of the director.

Job Description: The director teaches an internship seminar, coordinates the teaching of additional courses, leads Friday field trips around Washington, manages student housing, manages the program’s

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

217
The University of Oklahoma’s Department of International and Area Studies, a multidisciplinary academic department in the College of International Studies, invites applications for a professorship at the Assistant Professor rank (tenure track) in contemporary Russian politics and society. This position is funded in part by an endowed gift, the Theodore Romanoff Fund, dedicated to enhancing the study of Russia at the University of Oklahoma. We are interested in scholars who analyze Russia in a comparative and global context and who work on any aspect of contemporary Russia. The successful candidate will provide evidence of fieldwork in Russia and strong command of the Russian language. The position carries with it funding to support fieldwork in Russia.

The person hired for this position will teach thematic undergraduate and MA-level courses on Russian politics and society and their areas of expertise and participate in broader cross-college initiatives in Russian Studies. We hope to welcome a new colleague with a demonstrated commitment to fostering inclusivity and mentoring members of underrepresented groups.

The Department of International and Area Studies (IAS) has approximately 350 majors and minors, an MA in International Studies, and an online Global Affairs MA with 125 students. The Department has 23 full-time faculty with collective research strengths in the areas of development, security, national identity, and area studies. For more information, please visit the IAS website at https://wwwou.edu/content/cis/ias.html. The University of Oklahoma (OU) is a comprehensive public research university with a Carnegie classification of very high research activity known for excellence in teaching and research. OU enrolls over 30,000 students and has more than 2700 full-time faculty members in 21 colleges. Norman is a culturally rich and vibrant town located just outside Oklahoma City. For more information, visit http://wwwou.edu/content/dam/provost/documents/facultyflipbook.pdf and https://wwwou.edu/irr/factbooks.

Applicants should expect to have the Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment, which begins on August 16, 2022. We invite applications from ABDs as well as scholars with up to several years of experience as a teacher and active researcher at the Assistant Professor level. The typical teaching load will be four courses per academic year (2-2). Salary and benefits are competitive. Applicants should submit a letter of application, statements of teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, complete teaching evaluations for at least one course, a writing sample, and a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion. Review of applications will begin on October 22 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity employer, and we especially encourage applications from women and members of underrepresented populations. Submit all materials electronically at: http://apply.interfolio.com/94479

The University of Oklahoma is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Protected veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

University of Oklahoma
Rank: Romanoff Assistant Professor in Contemporary Russian Studies

Romanoff Assistant Professor in Contemporary Russian Studies

The University of Oklahoma’s Department of International and Area Studies, a multidisciplinary academic department in the College of International Studies, invites applications for a professorship at the Assistant Professor rank (tenure track) in contemporary Russian politics and society. This position is funded in part by an endowed gift, the Theodore Romanoff Fund, dedicated to enhancing the study of Russia at the University of Oklahoma. We are interested in scholars who analyze Russia in a comparative and global context and who work on any aspect of contemporary Russia. The successful candidate will provide evidence of fieldwork in Russia and strong command of the Russian language. The position carries with it funding to support fieldwork in Russia.

The person hired for this position will teach thematic undergraduate and MA-level courses on Russian politics and society and their areas of expertise and participate in broader cross-college initiatives in Russian Studies. We hope to welcome a new colleague with a demonstrated commitment to fostering inclusivity and mentoring members of underrepresented groups.

The Department of International and Area Studies (IAS) has approximately 350 majors and minors, an MA in International Studies, and an online Global Affairs MA with 125 students. The Department has 23 full-time faculty with collective research strengths in the areas of development, security, national identity, and area studies. For more information, please visit the IAS website at https://wwwou.edu/content/cis/ias.html. The University of Oklahoma (OU) is a comprehensive public research university with a Carnegie classification of very high research activity known for excellence in teaching and research. OU enrolls over 30,000 students and has more than 2700 full-time faculty members in 21 colleges. Norman is a culturally rich and vibrant town located just outside Oklahoma City. For more information, visit http://wwwou.edu/content/dam/provost/documents/facultyflipbook.pdf and https://wwwou.edu/irr/factbooks.

Applicants should expect to have the Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment, which begins on August 16, 2022. We invite applications from ABDs as well as scholars with up to several years of experience as a teacher and active researcher at the Assistant Professor level. The typical teaching load will be four courses per academic year (2-2). Salary and benefits are competitive. Applicants should submit a letter of application, statements of teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, complete teaching evaluations for at least one course, a writing sample, and a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion. Review of applications will begin on October 22 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity employer, and we especially encourage applications from women and members of underrepresented populations. Submit all materials electronically at: http://apply.interfolio.com/94479

The University of Oklahoma is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Protected veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9476

James Madison University
Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor Black Politics

The Political Science Department at James Madison University is seeking a tenure-track faculty member specializing in Black Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. A doctoral degree in political science or other relevant field is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; ABD candidates are encouraged to apply. We welcome applications from scholars of any subfield of political science or related discipline whose work addresses any substantive area of Black Politics within or outside the United States. We are open to a range of theoretical and methodological approaches. The successful applicant will teach courses on Black Politics and other courses reflective of their expertise and departmental teaching needs. We encourage applications from candidates who can offer courses that might cross-list with JMU’s existing programs in African, African American, and Diaspora Studies (AAAD), Latin American, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies (LAXC), and Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies (WGSS).

The department seeks candidates with strong research and teaching skills and a commitment to an inclusive classroom and work environment. Scholars from historically excluded groups are especially encouraged to apply. This position builds on a successful Arts and Letters seven-faculty cohort hire in FY 20-21 that focused on racial and social justice, and an ongoing five-faculty cohort hire for Latinx studies. These hirings align with JMU’s commitment to an anti-racist and anti-discrimination agenda throughout Academic Affairs.

The successful applicant will teach courses on Black Politics and other courses reflective of their expertise and departmental teaching needs.

A doctoral degree in political science or other relevant field is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; ABD candidates are encouraged to apply. We welcome applications from scholars of any subfield of political science or related discipline whose work addresses any substantive area of Black Politics within or outside the United States. We are open to a range of theoretical and methodological approaches. Applicant must demonstrate the ability to teach the required courses. The department seeks candidates with strong research and teaching skills and a commitment to an inclusive classroom and work environment.

Per the Governor’s Executive Directive #18, new JMU employees upon hire must disclose to the University Health Center their COVID-19 vaccination status. Unvaccinated employees are required to be tested weekly.

Employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a criminal background check.

E-Verify Notice: After accepting employment, new hires are required to complete an I-9 form and present documentation of their identity and eligibility to work in the United States. James Madison University uses the E-Verify system to confirm identity and work authorization.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9459

U.S. Naval War College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, War Gaming Department

U.S. Naval War College seeks Assistant/Associate Professor, War Gaming Department, Center for Naval Warfare Studies.

The Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. We are actively seeking candidates with diverse academic, demographic, and professional backgrounds. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

War Gaming Department. War Gaming Department (WGD) conducts research, analysis and gaming to support the requirements of the Secretary of the Navy (SECNAV), the Chief of Naval Operations (CNO), the combatant commanders, the Navy component commanders, the Navy numbered fleet commanders, other Navy and Marine Corps commanders, the U.S. intelligence community and other departments and agencies of the U.S. Government. The desired effect is a program of focused, forward-thinking, timely and relevant research, analysis and gaming that anticipates future operational and strategic challenges; develops and assesses strategic and operational concepts to address those challenges; and assesses the risk associated with these concepts. Additionally, WGD provides support to the Naval War College mission to educate and develop leaders. The desired effect is to create leaders who are operationally and strategically minded critical-thinkers and who are proficient in joint and inter-agency matters; and skilled naval and joint warfighters who are prepared to meet the operational and strategic level-of-war challenges.

Responsibilities. The responsibilities of WGD faculty include, but are not limited to:

- Develop research, analysis, and gaming to assess challenges with respect to the Navy and the Nation;
- Conduct focused research, analysis, and gaming to help define future Navy challenges within the maritime domain at the operational level-of-war and to support development of concepts of operations and innovation in the employment of operational and functional capabilities;
- Assist in the development of the Nation’s security, defense and national military strategies and the Navy’s future maritime strategy;
- Provide warfare innovation, analysis and decision support capabilities to support senior Navy leadership and other national security decision-makers on a wide range of operational and strategic challenges.

Qualifications. Qualified candidates must have a Ph.D. in a field relevant to strategic research and experience in assessing and evaluating strategic, operational, and tactical warfare concepts. Candidates expecting to complete their Ph.D. prior to 1 July 2022 will be considered. Experience analyzing issues of armed conflict and the use of military force is required. Experience designing and executing analytical projects, integrating multiple research efforts, and communicating that work to a broad audience is highly preferred. Experience on research teams or war gaming experience is highly preferred. Other desired attributes include:

- Knowledge of naval and joint warfare in all phases of operations from peace time to high-end combat;
- Knowledge of U.S. and/or foreign naval and joint technical capabilities and concepts of operations;
- Experience evaluating functional capabilities such as fires, intelligence, logistics, command-and-control, movement, maneuver, and protection;
- Experience with military analysis and planning; decision analysis; leading teams in planning and executing analytic events; operations analysis and research; data science and analysis; and war gaming.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Candidates must be U.S. citizens capable of obtaining a Department of Defense security clearance at the TOP SECRET/SCI level. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and random drug testing thereafter. Any current or prior military service should be described including assignments, positions held, highest rank attained, and dates of service.

Salary Considerations. Salary is competitive and is accompanied by a generous Federal Civil Service package that includes health insurance, pension and retirement saving plans (with employer matching contributions), paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits. Rank and salary are commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with Department of the Navy Faculty Pay Schedule. This is a tenure track position.

Application Process. Applicants must reference VA#NWC-21-14 and submit their application package to: NWNC-21-14@usnwc.edu. The application package must include: (1) cover letter; (2) curriculum vitae or resume; and (3) names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted through 11:59 pm (EST) November 30, 2021.

Questions about this position should be directed via email to CAPT Meg Schult, USN, Deputy Chair, War Gaming Department, at margaret.schult@usnwc.edu.

NOTICE OF VETERANS PREFERENCE: There is no formal rating system for applying veterans’ preference to the excepted service; however, the Department of Defense considers veterans’ preference eligibility a positive factor for hiring. Applicants eligible for veterans’ preference must include that information in their cover letter or resume and attach supporting documentation (e.g., DD Form 214, Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty) to their submissions. Although the point-preference system is not used, applicants eligible to claim 10-Point preference must submit a Standard Form (SF) 15, Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference, and supporting documents required for specific type of preference claimed. (SF 15, which lists the types of 10-Point Preference and the required supporting documents, is available from the Office of Personnel Management Website at www.opm.gov.)

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement dated to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9445

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/2022-2023 CSDP Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Postdoctoral Research Associate/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) 2022-2023

Princeton University’s Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on September 1, 2022. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required. https://csdp.princeton.edu/apply

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2022-2023 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/22462. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Wednesday, December 1, 2021 at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day on Friday, December 3, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University’s dedication to excellence.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9417

Princeton University
Rank: Visiting Research Scholar/2022-2023 CSDP Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Visiting Research Scholar/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP)

Princeton University’s Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for the 2022-2023 academic year. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their position.
Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events. Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar’s salary is based on the financial support provided by their home institution. Selected candidates will be asked to indicate, or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm, what percentage of financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide during their visit, if any, and to submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary. Successful candidates will also receive applicable benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Verification of employment will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, a brief statement of anticipated (estimated) salary support from the home institution for the 2021-2022 academic year, and statement of the home institution’s leave policy. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2022-2023 should apply to https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/22461. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Wednesday, December 1, 2021 at 11:59 p.m. EST.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University’s dedication to excellence.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
Jobs ID: 9413

Texas A&M University
Rank: Professor of the Practice - City and County Governance

The Department of Public Service and Administration in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a full-time, 9-month, Academic Professional Track (Non-Tenure) Assistant or Associate Professor of the Practice position in the area of City and County Governance. We seek candidates whose demonstrated leadership and career achievements in the world of city and county government motivate, inspire, and mentor graduate students who seek similar careers. The successful candidate will be a recognized leader who has the expertise, networks, and professional judgement required to provide programmatic leadership for a new Program in City and County Governance at the Bush School of Government and Public Service. This foundational opportunity is designed to create a pipeline of dedicated and well-prepared public professionals committed to serving their fellow citizens and ensuring every city and county in Texas has competent civic leadership. The person hired into this position will serve as the faculty engine to establish the program and drive its long-term success.

The Department of Public Service and Administration is one of two departments in the Bush School of Government and Public Service. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu/psaa.

The anticipated start date for this position will be September 1, 2022. A Master’s degree in public administration, business administration, or related field required, terminal degree preferred, with 15+ years serving in an executive leadership/management position in city and/or county government desired.

Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, complete contact information for 3 references, and other information relevant to successful instruction in the Public Service and Administration department, at the Texas A&M Interfolio site http://apply.interfolio.com/92892 in DOC or PDF format.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9362

Texas A&M University
Rank: Professor of the Practice - Homeland Security

The Department of Public Service and Administration in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a 9-month, full time position, Academic Professional Track (Non-Tenured) Professor of the Practice position in the area of National Defense and Homeland Security. We seek candidates whose demonstrated leadership and career achievements in the fields of Homeland Security, Emergency Management and/or National Defense equip them to inspire and mentor graduate students who seek similar careers. In addition to credentials as a practitioner the successful candidate will have the professional contacts and knowledge of policy, law, and/or administration required to provide programmatic leadership for our tracks and concentrations in National Defense and Homeland Security.

The position is at the Texas A&M University main campus in College Station, Texas. The Department of Public Service and Administration is one of two departments in the Bush School of Government and Public Service. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu/psaa. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2022. Successful applicants will demonstrate evidence of commitment to teaching in a professional school of government and public service. Bachelor’s degree required; advanced degree in a field related to National Defense and/or Homeland Security strongly recommended. Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest at Interfolio site http://apply.interfolio.com/93185 in DOC or PDF. The letter should include reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, complete contact information for three references, and other information relevant to successful instruction in the Public Service and Administration Department. The Bush School at the Texas A&M

Applications are only accepted online. The review of applications will begin September 20, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position should be sent to sbustos@tamu.edu

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9361

APSA
Rank: Associate Director, Centennial Center for Political Science and Public Affairs

APSA is seeking candidates for the position of Associate Director, Centennial Center for Political Science and Public Affairs. The Associate Director leads all aspects of the Centennial Center’s mission, operations, and program development. This includes but is not limited to administering research and project-based grant programs and supporting the execution of the Institute for Civically Engaged Research. A central goal of these programs is to increase engagement with and support for a diverse collection of members from a variety of backgrounds, areas of specialty and institution types, and to create an overall environment of inclusivity. Thus, strong candidates will have experience working with diverse populations and will have experience furthering a climate of inclusivity and collaboration. The Associate Director works closely and cooperatively with staff across the association on collaborative programming, especially public engagement, international programs, diversity and inclusion, teaching and learning, and professional development. The Associate Director also works closely with key governance committees including the Centennial Center Advisory Board.

ESSENTIAL RESPONSIBILITIES
• Lead program development and administration of APSA’s Centennial Center Spring and Summer Research Grants, Research Partnerships on Critical Issues Grants, Growing Democracy Grants, Special Projects Fund Grants, and Pedagogical Partnerships Grants —including overseeing design of applications and marketing, convening review committees, making award decisions, evaluating grantmaking practices, and overseeing reporting and dissemination of grantee results.
• Tracks grant monitoring and evaluation; works closely with Finance office to ensure stewardship and use of temporarily restricted funds.
• Monitor and implement best practices for grantmaking with attention to diversity, equity and inclusion, impact, and program efficiency.
• Leads planning annual budget for Centennial Center, in conjunction with Finance office and Director of Grant Initiatives and International Programs.
• Develop Annual Meeting programming that highlights grant opportunities and grantee results.
• Prepare annual reports on grantmaking for APSA Council and Senior staff, donors, foundations and members. Evaluates grantmaking at regular intervals.
• Develop new programs and initiatives to fulfill the Center’s mission, in collaboration with Director of Grant Initiatives and International Programs, Deputy Director, Executive Director, and APSA staff.
• Provide strategic support to the Institute for Civically Engaged Research directors and participate in annual Institute.
• Serves as staff liaison for Centennial Center Advisory Board
• Oversees work of Program Assistant to ensure provision of support for grant programs

Rogers Smith Presidential Task Force
• Serves as primary staff lead working with the programs resulting from the 2018-2020 Rogers Smith Public Engagement Task Force. Works with Grant Initiatives and International Programs, Director of Finance, and Deputy Director to develop and distribute annual report to the Ivywood Foundation on grant activities.
• Tracks expenses related to task force; works closely with Finance office to ensure stewardship of any grant funds or gifts received and expended in relation to the task force work.
• Works with Director of Grant Initiatives and International Programs and development staff to identify and secure external funding to support Task Force programs.

Other
• Represent the association with external bodies, associations, and groups
• Other duties as required

ESSENTIAL SKILLS & EXPERIENCE
• MA in Political Science or related field; doctoral degree in Political Science or related field preferred

November 2021
Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
• 2+ years’ work experience, background in academia and/or grantmaking a plus
• Knowledge of trends in civic engagement research and practice, and programs supporting scholarship on democracy; or experience working with community-based civic organizations
• Strong organizational skills and ability to collaborate with a variety of individuals is essential
• Ability to communicate effectively with others in person and in writing
• Ability to work independently and as a member of a team
• Ability to set priorities and meet deadlines
• Excellent computer skills and knowledge of data base programs
• Experience with program development, management, and new initiatives for scholars, experience with civic engagement, diversity and inclusion, or cognate initiatives preferred

HOW TO APPLY
To be considered, submit your (1) resume with (2) cover letter indicating how your experience and skills align with the description of this position and the essential skills required of the position. Send all documents as PDF attachments to hr@apsanet.org. Please include “Associate Director, Centennial Center for Political Science and Public Affairs” in the email subject line. Consideration will begin on October 18th, and the position will remain open until filled.

ABOUT APSA
The American Political Science Association (APSA) is a 501(c)3 non-profit scholarly association that serves a membership base of 12,000 in over 80 countries. With a range of programs and services for individuals, departments and institutions, APSA is committed to transparency, open enquiry, scholarly pluralism, high standards of ethics and integrity, and a global perspective. To learn more about APSA, please visit www.apsanet.org.

APSA offers a comprehensive compensation and benefits package and has a Metro-accessible location in DuPont Circle in Washington, DC, with a full-time staff of over 30. In compliance with the CDC and DC guidelines regarding the Covid-19 pandemic, the APSA staff is working remotely until further notice. APSA is an equal opportunity employer committed to workplace diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9344

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Other

Announcement of Anticipated Part-Time Faculty Openings

Department: Political Science
Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year Spring 2022

CSUN’s Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. As both an AANAPISI & HSI (Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution & Hispanic Serving Institution), CSUN welcomes candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusive excellence. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: http://www.csun.edu

About the College:
For information about the College, visit our website at: https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences

About the Department:
For information about the department, visit our website at: https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:
Instructors for in-person Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below.

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current Salary Range:
Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($4229 - $5047)
Paid in 6 monthly installments

Courses or Specialization:
Upper division courses in:
1. POLS 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Qualifications:
Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field. University teaching experience is strongly preferred.

A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Process:
Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Political Science Jobs

For Spring 2022: November 8, 2021

(Checklist)PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:
__POLS 486SOC, Social Science Career Internship
__POLS 494IA, Political Science Internship
__POLS 499DC, DC Politics, Culture, and History
__POLS 499PR, Professional Development in DC

Inquiries and applications should be addressed to:
Dr. Tom Hogen-Esch, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
Department of Political Science
California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8254
tom.hogen-esch@csun.edu

General Information:
In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a ‘mandated reporter’ under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in CSU Executive Order 1096. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting the Political Science Department at (818) 677-3488.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9338

University of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Public and International Affairs
Rank: Assistant Professor - Race and Social Justice

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream faculty position at the assistant professor level in the area of race and social justice in public policy. The position will begin in August 2022. We advance this hiring opportunity cognizant that policy, structures, and institutions are appropriately implicated in contributing to racial disparities and also acknowledging that anti-racist and social justice-focused policy tools, processes, and analytical approaches are also central to addressing them. We seek a new colleague to work with us in generating new knowledge, disseminating new approaches, collaborating with new partners outside of academia, and advocating for change. GSPIA advances this hiring opportunity as part of a broader multi-year University of Pittsburgh Race and Social Determinants Cluster Hire Initiative, which seeks to hire at least 50 new faculty over the next four years.

We are eager to engage with candidates whose research addresses any topical area aligned with race and social justice in public policy. Examples include, but are not limited to, policing and criminal justice, education, food security, housing, health, and environmental justice. We are open as well to scale of research, including population, community, institutional, and regional (domestic, international). We invite candidates using intersectional and engaged approaches to research, teaching, and/or service, along with those whose work is explicitly framed within the social determinants of equity and well-being. Qualified applicants include those who currently hold or will hold a PhD at the time of appointment, including but not limited to those with degrees in public affairs, public policy, urban and regional planning, international affairs, political science, economics, sociology, and anthropology. As a new member of the GSPIA faculty community, the faculty member will have the opportunity to contribute to curricula in any of our degree programs: Master of International Development, Master of Public Administration, Master of Public and International Affairs, Master of Public Policy and Management, and PhD in Public and International Affairs. The faculty member will also have opportunities to align with key concentration areas including shaping the recently created social policy major, as well as public and nonprofit management, human security, policy research and analysis, urban affairs and planning, and more.

Interested candidates are encouraged to contact Search Committee Chair, Professor Daniel Jones (daniel.jones@pitt.edu), and/or Dean Carissa Slotterback (clostterback@pitt.edu) to discuss the position.

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs is a dynamic, multi-disciplinary professional school, focused on training future practitioners for careers in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors in the areas of public policy, international development, intelligence and security, nonprofit management, urban planning, energy and environmental policy and more. GSPIA is ranked in the top 15% among schools of public affairs. GSPIA is home to a number of research centers that serve as points of outreach and intersection for faculty within our school, at Pitt, and externally. GSPIA faculty are connected broadly with colleagues and schools at the University of Pittsburgh, including via the University Center for Social and Urban Research, PittCyber, University Center for International Studies, and more. GSPIA’s Washington DC Center offers scholarly and engagement opportunities for students, faculty, and alumni.

GSPIA’s students, staff, and faculty are committed to making significant contributions to society through public service. We are committed to helping realize the vision of a more equitable and inclusive society. We embrace the diversity of experience of all members of our community, including those arising from differences of race, gender and gender identity, ethnicity, abilities/disabilities, age, religion, sexual orientation, political beliefs, socioeconomic status, geographic region, migrant/immigrant/refugee status, and veteran status. Our goal is a diverse, cosmopolitan community of faculty, staff, students, and alumni. The search committee is especially interested in any of our degree programs: Master of International Development, Master of Public Administration, Master of Public and International Affairs, Master of Public Policy and Management, and PhD in Public and International Affairs. The faculty member will also have opportunities to align with key concentration areas including shaping the recently created social policy major, as well as public and nonprofit management, human security, policy research and analysis, urban affairs and planning, and more.

Interested candidates are encouraged to contact Search Committee Chair, Professor Daniel Jones (daniel.jones@pitt.edu), and/or Dean Carissa Slotterback (clostterback@pitt.edu) to discuss the position.

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs is a dynamic, multi-disciplinary professional school, focused on training future practitioners for careers in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors in the areas of public policy, international development, intelligence and security, nonprofit management, urban planning, energy and environmental policy and more. GSPIA is ranked in the top 15% among schools of public affairs. GSPIA is home to a number of research centers that serve as points of outreach and intersection for faculty within our school, at Pitt, and externally. GSPIA faculty are connected broadly with colleagues and schools at the University of Pittsburgh, including via the University Center for Social and Urban Research, PittCyber, University Center for International Studies, and more. GSPIA’s Washington DC Center offers scholarly and engagement opportunities for students, faculty, and alumni.

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs is a dynamic, multi-disciplinary professional school, focused on training future practitioners for careers in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors in the areas of public policy, international development, intelligence and security, nonprofit management, urban planning, energy and environmental policy and more. GSPIA is ranked in the top 15% among schools of public affairs. GSPIA is home to a number of research centers that serve as points of outreach and intersection for faculty within our school, at Pitt, and externally. GSPIA faculty are connected broadly with colleagues and schools at the University of Pittsburgh, including via the University Center for Social and Urban Research, PittCyber, University Center for International Studies, and more. GSPIA’s Washington DC Center offers scholarly and engagement opportunities for students, faculty, and alumni.

University of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Public and International Affairs
Rank: Assistant Professor - Race and Social Justice

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream faculty position at the assistant professor level in the area of race and social justice in public policy. The position will begin in August 2022. We advance this hiring opportunity cognizant that policy, structures, and institutions are appropriately implicated in contributing to racial disparities and also acknowledging that anti-racist and social justice-focused policy tools, processes, and analytical approaches are also central to addressing them. We seek a new colleague to work with us in generating new knowledge, disseminating new approaches, collaborating with new partners outside of academia, and advocating for change. GSPIA advances this hiring opportunity as part of a broader multi-year University of Pittsburgh Race and Social Determinants Cluster Hire Initiative, which seeks to hire at least 50 new faculty over the next four years.

We are eager to engage with candidates whose research addresses any topical area aligned with race and social justice in public policy. Examples include, but are not limited to, policing and criminal justice, education, food security, housing, health, and environmental justice. We are open as well to scale of research, including population, community, institutional, and regional (domestic, international). We invite candidates using intersectional and engaged approaches to research, teaching, and/or service, along with those whose work is explicitly framed within the social determinants of equity and well-being. Qualified applicants include those who currently hold or will hold a PhD at the time of appointment, including but not limited to those with degrees in public affairs, public policy, urban and regional planning, international affairs, political science, economics, sociology, and anthropology. As a new member of the GSPIA faculty community, the faculty member will have the opportunity to contribute to curricula in any of our degree programs: Master of International Development, Master of Public Administration, Master of Public and International Affairs, Master of Public Policy and Management, and PhD in Public and International Affairs. The faculty member will also have opportunities to align with key concentration areas including shaping the recently created social policy major, as well as public and nonprofit management, human security, policy research and analysis, urban affairs and planning, and more.

Interested candidates are encouraged to contact Search Committee Chair, Professor Daniel Jones (daniel.jones@pitt.edu), and/or Dean Carissa Slotterback (clostterback@pitt.edu) to discuss the position.

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs is a dynamic, multi-disciplinary professional school, focused on training future practitioners for careers in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors in the areas of public policy, international development, intelligence and security, nonprofit management, urban planning, energy and environmental policy and more. GSPIA is ranked in the top 15% among schools of public affairs. GSPIA is home to a number of research centers that serve as points of outreach and intersection for faculty within our school, at Pitt, and externally. GSPIA faculty are connected broadly with colleagues and schools at the University of Pittsburgh, including via the University Center for Social and Urban Research, PittCyber, University Center for International Studies, and more. GSPIA’s Washington DC Center offers scholarly and engagement opportunities for students, faculty, and alumni.

GSPIA’s students, staff, and faculty are committed to making significant contributions to society through public service. We are committed to helping realize the vision of a more equitable and inclusive society. We embrace the diversity of experience of all members of our community, including those arising from differences of race, gender and gender identity, ethnicity, abilities/disabilities, age, religion, sexual orientation, political beliefs, socioeconomic status, geographic region, migrant/immigrant/refugee status, and veteran status. Our goal is a diverse, cosmopolitan community of faculty, staff, students, and alumni. The search committee is especially interested in any of our degree programs: Master of International Development, Master of Public Administration, Master of Public and International Affairs, Master of Public Policy and Management, and PhD in Public and International Affairs. The faculty member will also have opportunities to align with key concentration areas including shaping the recently created social policy major, as well as public and nonprofit management, human security, policy research and analysis, urban affairs and planning, and more.

Interested candidates are encouraged to contact Search Committee Chair, Professor Daniel Jones (daniel.jones@pitt.edu), and/or Dean Carissa Slotterback (clostterback@pitt.edu) to discuss the position.
Political Science Jobs

in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to advancing this goal. Applicants are encouraged to address these issues in their application materials.

The committee will begin reviewing applications on October 21.

All who are interested, please apply at: https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=21006656&tz=GMT-04%3A00&crtname=America%2FNew_York

Qualified applicants should submit the following: 1) A letter of application of 1-2 pages describing research and teaching interests and experience. The letter must describe experience with and/or plans to address diversity, equity, and inclusion in research, teaching, and service. 2) A current curriculum vitae. 3) A sample of scholarly writing. 4) Three letters of reference. Letters of recommendation can be emailed directly to Kaylynn Pierra at GSFH@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOE, including disability/veterans

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9329

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor – Economic Inequality and Societies

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Economic Inequality and Societies. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022.

Candidates must have earned a PhD degree in any social science field relating to Economic Inequality and Societies by date of appointment or shortly thereafter, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. This may include Economics, Political Science, Sociology, or related fields. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests can complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Future of Democratic Societies, the Changing World Order, the Political Economy of Innovation, and the Digital World. The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level, and to establish an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The Committee especially welcomes candidates whose work focuses on the Global South.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, outstanding research papers, forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching may be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in the letters of reference.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including in the Munk School’s professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

We welcome applicants whose research can integrate the ample opportunities for collaboration within the Munk School and across the University of Toronto. We note that the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy is home to several research groups that connect with these issues of economic inequality and democratic societies, including the Global Justice Lab, the Policy, Elections, and Representation Lab, the Innovation Policy Lab, the Migration Policy Lab, and others. It is also home to several programs, including the Harney Program in Ethnic, Immigrant and Pluralism Studies and the Trudeau Centre for Peace, Conflict and Justice, with related undergraduate teaching programs.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates must therefore also submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three referees. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uofr.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 11, 2021.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement:

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized
The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Economic Inequality and Societies. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any social science field relating to Economic Inequality and Societies, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. This may include Economics, Political Science, Sociology, or related fields. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests can complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Future of Democratic Societies, the Changing World Order, the Political Economy of Innovation, and the Digital World. Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The Committee especially welcomes candidates whose work focuses on the Global South.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, strong endorsements from referees of high standing and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the field.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in the letters of reference.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including in the Munk School’s professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

We welcome applicants whose research can integrate the ample opportunities for collaboration within the Munk School and across the University of Toronto. We note that the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy is home to several research groups that connect with these issues of economic inequality and democratic societies, including the Global Justice Lab, the Policy, Elections, and Representation Lab, the Innovation Policy Lab, the Migration Policy Lab, and others. It is also home to several programs, including the Harney Program in Ethnic, Immigration and Pluralism Studies and the Trudeau Centre for Peace, Conflict and Justice, with related undergraduate teaching programs.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three referees. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in the PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by: October 11, 2021.

To apply please go to https://jobs.utoronto.ca/

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/11/2021
Date Posted: 9/5/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9287

University of Toronto
Rank: Associate Professor – Economic Inequality and Societies

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Economic Inequality and Societies. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any social science field relating to Economic Inequality and Societies, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. This may include Economics, Political Science, Sociology, or related fields. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests can complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Future of Democratic Societies, the Changing World Order, the Political Economy of Innovation, and the Digital World. Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The Committee especially welcomes candidates whose work focuses on the Global South.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, strong endorsements from referees of high standing and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the field.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in the letters of reference.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including in the Munk School’s professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

We welcome applicants whose research can integrate the ample opportunities for collaboration within the Munk School and across the University of Toronto. We note that the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy is home to several research groups that connect with these issues of economic inequality and democratic societies, including the Global Justice Lab, the Policy, Elections, and Representation Lab, the Innovation Policy Lab, the Migration Policy Lab, and others. It is also home to several programs, including the Harney Program in Ethnic, Immigration and Pluralism Studies and the Trudeau Centre for Peace, Conflict and Justice, with related undergraduate teaching programs.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three referees. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in the PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by: October 11, 2021.
All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement:

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committee members or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see http://uoft.me/UP.

Accessibility Statement:

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

To apply please go to https://jobs.utoronto.ca/

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/11/2021
Date Posted: 9/5/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9289

University of Toronto
Rank: Associate Professor – Innovation and Public Policy

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Innovation and Public Policy. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022.

Applicants must have earned a PhD in any social science discipline related to innovation, with a clearly demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. The field of innovation studies includes the interaction of innovation, growth, security, equity and prosperity, relevant government policy-making, and science-based initiatives. Within the broad field of innovation studies, the successful candidate will be pursuing research related to Science, Technology and Public Policy; Big Data and Public Policy; and/or the consequences of innovation-based economies.

Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and maintain an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy is home to the Innovation Policy Lab, and we particularly welcome applicants whose research integrates with its resources and global network.

We welcome applicants whose research can integrate the ample opportunities for collaboration within the Munk School and across the University of Toronto. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests can complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Political Economy of Innovation, the Digital World, The Changing World Order, and the Future of Democratic Societies.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, the submitted research statement presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the field, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in strong letters of reference.

The successful candidate will teach courses in both of the Munk School’s professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests. The successful candidate must be able to teach courses in innovation and technology policy. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three referees. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 11, 2021.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement:
The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committee members or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see http://uoft.me/UP.

Accessibility Statement:
The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

To apply please go to https://jobs.utoronto.ca/
Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/11/2021
Date Posted: 9/5/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9291

Ohio State University
Rank: Sr. Research Associate - PDG

The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law seeks a Senior Research Associate for the Program on Data and Governance (PDG). The Program on Data and Governance studies how to govern advanced analytics, artificial intelligence and other innovative uses of personal data so as to realize their social and economic potential while reducing the risks they pose to privacy, fairness, equity, and accountability. The Program conducts non-partisan, interdisciplinary research, hosts conferences and speaker events, advises policymakers and businesses, and engages students on vital questions regarding the governance of advanced analytics and AI. Under the direction of the Faculty Director, the Senior Research Associate will manage and implement the PDG’s research program. The Senior Research Associate will: suggest research directions and priorities; design, carry out and manage qualitative, quantitative and policy research and code and analyze the data; draft articles, white papers, periodical pieces, and content for the Program Website and social media accounts; conceptualize and plan conferences and symposia; identify funding opportunities and draft grant proposals; provide research-based briefings and trainings; catalyze and support interdisciplinary research collaborations; conduct scholarly and public presentations; supervise student research and papers; and perform other, relevant duties as assigned by the Faculty Director. Remote work may be possible upon mutual agreement with the Program Director.

This is a 2 year term position, with possible renewal for an additional year, salary range $55,000 - $65,000 annually.

Additional Information:
Required: Master’s level degree in the social sciences or related fields such as law or policy. Skilled in the application and implementation of quantitative and qualitative research methods such as survey and interview protocol creation and implementation, and coding and analysis of data; demonstrated record of scholarly publications and presentations; interest in the information society, advanced analytics and AI, and privacy law and policy; ability to initiate research projects and directions; excellent writing, editing and analytical skills; strong verbal, interpersonal, and presentation skills, including how to explain complex concepts to non-experts; ability to work as a collegial member of a project team or work independently, as needed; Desired: PhD in the social sciences (including public policy or law) or in computer science, or equivalent practical experience; previous experience managing research and grant-funded projects; knowledge of data science; interest in interdisciplinary research; experience and knowledge of academic centers and how they function and succeed.

Please Note: Attach the Cover Letter, References and Sample Writing together with the Resume in the same attachment.

Location:
Drinko Hall (0049)
Position Type:
Term (Fixed Term)
Scheduled Hours:
40
Shift:
First Shift
Salary Grade:
A&P Annual 63

Final candidates are subject to successful completion of a background check. A drug screen or physical may be required during the post offer process.

Thank you for your interest in positions at The Ohio State University and Wexner Medical Center. Once you have applied, the most updated information on the status of your application can be found by visiting the Candidate Home section of this site. Please view your submitted applications by logging in and reviewing your status. For answers to additional questions please review the frequently asked questions.

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ancestry, color, disability, ethnicity, gender
Political Science Jobs

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor of Chicano/Latino Studies (UC Irvine)

The Department of Chicano/Latino Studies at the University of California, Irvine (UCI) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position.

We seek outstanding scholars of the Latina/o/x experience and particularly invite applications from scholars whose research, teaching, and service address Latina/o/x heterogeneity, broadly or specifically construed (e.g., Afro-Latinidad, Central America, LGBTQ, indigenous, and multi-racial identities). The UCI Department of Chicano/Latino Studies is a multi-disciplinary unit and we welcome scholars who examine aspects of Latina/o/x heterogeneity via a broad range of disciplines within the social sciences, humanities, arts, and/or ethnic studies (e.g., anthropology, history, ethnomusicology, Latina/o/x cultural production and performance, etc.).

The successful candidate will hold a PhD in a relevant discipline. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching, and professional service. The successful candidate will produce nationally recognized research, teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students, obtain independent or collaborative research funding, and provide professional service to the program, the university, and/or the community.

The position is offered at the Assistant Professor level beginning July 1, 2022. The successful candidate will be expected to teach lower-division as well as upper-division undergraduate courses and graduate courses in their field of specialization and contribute to the overall research and pedagogical goals of the Department of Chicano/Latino Studies. See department website at: https://www.chicanolatinostudies.uci.edu/

Completed applications must include: a cover letter highlighting qualifications, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research, a statement of teaching, up to three publications, and three letters of reference by the deadline. A Inclusive Excellence Activities statement addressing how past and/or potential contributions to inclusive excellence will advance UCI’s Commitment to Inclusive Excellence must also be included in the application materials. Spanish language proficiency is regarded favorably.

The Department will begin to review applications on October 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Applications should be submitted through the University of California, Irvine RECRUIT utility at https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF07047. Inquiries can be directed to the Department Manager, Debbie Michel: e-mail: dmi-chel@uci.edu; phone: (949) 824-1424.

The Department of Chicano/Latino Studies is a top-ranked department with particular strengths in the areas of migration and health. Faculty and course offerings examine the historical and contemporary experiences of people of diverse Latin American origin. The Department offers a B.A. degree in Chicano/Latino Studies, a minor, a certificate program, and a graduate emphasis. More information is available at http://www.chicanolatinostudies.uci.edu/.

UCI is a top ten public research university that excels at improving outcomes for students from economically disadvantaged backgrounds and as a consequence has consistently been ranked as the best university in the nation in promoting upward mobility of its graduates. UCI is a Minority Serving Institution (MSI), designated as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI) and as an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI). These federal designations align with UCI’s aspiration to be a national leader and global model of inclusive excellence.

The University of California, Irvine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer advancing inclusive excellence. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, protected veteran status, or other protected categories covered by the UC nondiscrimination policy. A recipient of an NSF ADVANCE award for gender equity, UCI is responsive to the needs of dual career couples, supports work-life balance through an array of family-friendly policies, and is dedicated to broadening participation in higher education.

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in political science and international relations, with a specialization in the relationships among emerging technologies, national security, and international relations.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022. The application deadline is Monday, November 1, 2021.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92233

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
Eastern politics. This position involves teaching at the graduate and Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, Middle Eastern Politics. The Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

Rank:

Princeton University

Postdoctoral Fellowship in Middle Eastern Politics

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position in political science and international relations, with a specialization in the relationships among emerging technologies, national security, and international relations.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/92233

Materials to be submitted:

- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 11/1/2021

Date Posted: 8/12/2021

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 9153

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. The annual salary for this position is $50,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2022. The application deadline is Monday, November 1, 2021.

Applications should be submitted online at https://www.princeton.edu/dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs.

Junior candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Middle Eastern Politics Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on September 13, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00006

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/12/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9157

Princeton University

Rank: Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor Indigenous and Native North American Studies

Princeton University is undertaking a search for faculty members at all academic ranks in any field in the Humanities and the Social Sciences, and across all geographic areas, as part of a major effort to advance Indigenous and Native North American Studies in teaching and research across the university. The search is expected to yield multiple positions, including at least one at the rank of tenured full professor. These positions will support the significant expansion of Indigenous and Native North American Studies on campus, broadening and deepening curricular offerings and research opportunities. Appointment may be made in a single department or across units.

Applications must be submitted online at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21601.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, and a list of references (to be contacted later in the search process). No writing samples are required at this time.

Junior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a curriculum vitae, a list of references (to be contacted later in the search process), and one writing sample (article or dissertation/book chapter).

Applications must be submitted online at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21601.
Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2021.

Questions about this search may be directed to: IndigenousStudiesSearch@princeton.edu

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9140

University of Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor: Law, Societies & Justice
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

Position Description
The Department of Law, Societies & Justice (LSJ) at the University of Washington in Seattle invites applications for a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor who specializes in the social scientific study of race/ethnicity as it relates to law, rights, and justice. This position holds a 9-month service term and is expected to start in September 2022. LSJ offers undergraduate students a dynamic and engaged interdisciplinary liberal arts education focused on law, rights, and justice. LSJ also offers a graduate certificate in socio-legal studies for PhD students from a variety of disciplines. The successful candidate will teach a large introductory course that focuses on law, rights, and justice as well as other courses that reflect their areas of expertise. University of Washington faculty engage in teaching, research and service.

Qualifications
LSJ seeks to hire a scholar whose research and teaching focus on race, ethnicity, law, and rights, and whose scholarship includes topics not currently covered by the department such as environmental justice or health. Other considerations will include: evidence of research excellence and productivity; excellence in, and passion for, undergraduate teaching; interdisciplinarity and fit with the LSJ mission; service, leadership and collegiality; and clear evidence of a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. A PhD or foreign equivalent in a social science field is required by the start of the appointment.

Instructions
Applications should include a current CV, a cover letter describing research and teaching interests and fit with LSJ, up to two samples of publications or other scholarly work, a teaching statement and evidence of teaching effectiveness, a diversity, equity and inclusion statement, and three letters of recommendation. Candidate materials should be electronically submitted via Interfolio here: https://apply.interfolio.com/90932. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2021. Questions about the application process should be directed to: Professor Steve Herbert, Search Committee Chair; skherb@uw.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/10/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9140

Princeton University

Rank: The Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a position starting in September 2022. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical issues arising from developments in medicine, the biological sciences, or population health. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

The Shapiro Fellow will spend from one to three years at Princeton conducting research and teaching the equivalent of one course each year (subject to sufficient enrollments and approval by the Dean of the Faculty). They will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and will be invited to participate in other activities of the University Center for Human Values including a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty.

Qualifications
Applications welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree by the start date, normally beginning September 1, 2022. Applicants should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by the date of appointment. An applicant may have a background in any area of ethical studies, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be related to the field of bioethics. Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant’s previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University’s teaching program will also be taken into account.

Term of Appointment
The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2022, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate; the Shapiro Fellow will also carry the title of Lecturer, if teaching. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply
Candidates must submit an online application at https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=21382.

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words). Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
3. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant’s scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 15, 2021, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by Monday, November 22, 2021. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions will be announced in late March, 2022. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.
Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9116

Wheaton College
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Other
Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at Wheaton College in Norton, Massachusetts invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics to begin Fall 2022. The ideal candidate will possess the ability to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, judicial politics and other courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization. Teaching responsibilities include introductory sections of U.S. government & politics, and research methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality.

Classroom experience is highly desirable. The promise of excellence in teaching and scholarship is required. We are committed to providing our students with excellent educational and co-curricular opportunities, and our faculty has significant mentoring experience with new teachers in postdoctoral and junior faculty appointments. For example, we offer regular programming in professional development and all tenure-track faculty are entitled to a fully paid pre-tenure sabbatical and research funds to support scholarship. A Ph.D. in Political Science (with an emphasis in judicial politics) is preferred. ABDs will be considered. If the candidate does not have the Ph.D. in hand, they will be hired as an instructor until the degree is obtained. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Gerry Huiskamp, Chair and Professor, Political Science, huiskamp_gerard@wheatoncollege.edu.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to careers@wheatoncollege.edu.

To apply please visit our website https://jobs.wheatoncollege.edu/postings/3166. Instructions to applicants will be listed on our website, with the following materials required: letter of application describing your areas of specialty and a statement about your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; a graduate transcript; at least one scholarly writing sample; materials on your teaching history, including sample syllabi, course evaluations, and any other materials you wish to provide. Wheaton strives to be a community supportive of diverse perspectives and identities. Candidates should describe in their cover letter how their teaching and scholarship might support the college’s commitment to diversity and inclusion. Applications will be reviewed beginning September 24, 2021 and will be accepted until the position is filled.

To ensure full consideration, complete applications must be received by September 24, 2021.

Wheaton is a private coeducational liberal arts college within easy commuting distance of Boston and Providence. We have nearly 1,800 undergraduates from 38 U.S. States and 58 countries. Nearly 24% of our undergraduates are U.S. students of color and 8% are international citizens. Wheaton College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group on the basis of gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, race, color, religion, national origin, veteran status, genetic information, or disability. In a continuing effort to maintain and enrich an intellectually diverse learning environment, the Department and the College actively encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups. For more information about the college, visit our website at www.wheatoncollege.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9118

Princeton University
Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values at Princeton University invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2022-23. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines provided their research plans qualify. In recent years fellows have been drawn from fields including philosophy, political theory, literature, history, classics, economics, and law, but this list is not meant to be exhaustive.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. Fellows are expected to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period extends from September 1 to July 1. Fellows normally receive stipends of up to one-half their academic-year salaries (subject to a minimum and maximum set each fall). Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Stipends for independent scholars will not exceed the maximum for fellows holding appointments elsewhere.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

November 2021
• The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see http://uchv.princeton.edu/ for more information);
• The quality of a candidate’s previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;
• The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.

HOW TO APPLY
Candidates must submit an online application at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/20741.

The following materials will be required:
1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than about 12,000 words) written in the past three years;
3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 1, 2021, 11:59 p.m. ET. We do not accept application materials by any other method. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately and incomplete applications may be at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced in March 2022.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 7/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9058

University of Akron
Rank: Director, Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics at The University of Akron
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Other
Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The University of Akron’s Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics, in cooperation with the Department of Political Science, is seeking applicants for the position of Director. This 12-month position, starting as early as January 2022 but no later than July 1, 2022, includes an appointment as a tenured Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science.

The successful candidate will oversee the activities of the Bliss Institute, including managing its budget, supervising its full-time and part-time staff, coordinating research projects (including polling activities), administering its extensive internship program, and hosting conferences. The Director will be a faculty member of the Department of Political Science with teaching responsibilities and will be responsible for administering the Institute’s academic programs, including the Master of Applied Politics [MAP] degree program and the Undergraduate and Graduate Certificate in Applied Politics. Further responsibilities include liaising with university, local, state, and national officials, engaging with the media, and promoting the overall mission of the Institute.

The successful candidate must be a highly experienced scholar with a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, with a record of publications in peer-reviewed journals and/or academic presses; have a record of teaching at the university level; and have a strong record of administrative experience. It is desirable for the candidate to have a competency in research methods with a demonstrable interest in applied politics at the state and/or national levels; experience in public policy, especially at the state and local levels; and previous experience in hosting conferences in an academic and/or governmental setting.

To apply for this position (University of Akron Job ID# 12850), you must complete the on-line application (available at: https://www.uakron.edu/hr/jobs.dot) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a list of three (3) professional references to your profile. Please include contact information, including email addresses, for your professional references. After submission of your application, return to the &quot;My Activities&quot; link and upload the required documents under the &quot;My Cover Letters and Attachments&quot; section.

Applicants should fully describe their qualifications and experience with reference to the minimum and preferred qualifications. This is the information on which the initial review of materials will be based. A resume will not be accepted in place of any information requested on the application. Inquiries about the position can be sent to Dr. James T. McHugh at: mchugh@uakron.edu. For assistance with your application or attachments please call Hannah Kemp-Severence in Human Resources at 330-972-8399. Open until filled, however, initial review of applications will begin on September 1, 2021.

The University of Akron is committed to providing a safe environment for all students and employees. The University endeavors to protect the health, welfare and safety of all students, employees and visitors on our campus. As such, the University will require a pre-employment background check for all applicants selected for employment.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 4/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8821

POLITICAL THEORY
California State University, Chico
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Political Theory Position
Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
College of Behavioral and Social Sciences
California State University, Chico

CSU, Chico is committed to recruiting outstanding candidates who reflect the diverse, intercultural, and intersectional identities of our
The Position: Assistant Tenure-Track Professor

Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

Initial Review Date: 11/08/21; complete applications received after that date may be considered.

How to Apply: Applicants must provide a current cover letter, a CV, and contact information of three professional references. The successful candidate should provide evidence in the cover letter of their commitment to or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds. All applicants must apply online at: https://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/6864

Applications submitted via email or in-person to the department will not be considered.

Qualification Details:
Minimum Qualifications: The minimum education requirement for appointment to this position is a terminal degree in Political Science or related area such as Politics. Candidates nearing completion of their doctorate/PhD may be considered; however, all requirements for conferment of the degree must be met no later than August 17, 2022. Candidates must have expertise and the potential for teaching and professional success in the field of political thought, political theory, and/or political philosophy. The successful candidate must have a commitment to teaching diverse student groups and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications: The successful candidate will have the interest and ability to teach core theory courses such as: Origins of Western Political Thought, American Political Thought, and Contemporary Political Thought, as well as one or more of the following: Women and Politics; Theories, Practices, and Administration of Justice; Sexual Minorities, Law, and Politics; Black Political Thought; and Jurisprudence. The department also welcomes candidates who would develop new political theory courses examining race and identity. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department’s course offerings: http://catalog.csuchico.edu/viewer/21/POLS.html.

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of both undergraduate and graduate teaching, scholarship, and service. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our department’s programs.

Student body. The University proudly holds the Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) designation, and enrolls over 17,000 students, over half of whom identify as first generation college students. The ideal candidate will share Chico State’s demonstrated commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion, have prior experience working with culturally and socio-economically diverse populations, and will contribute to student success through inclusive pedagogy, research and service to the university and surrounding North State communities.

We acknowledge and are mindful that CSU, Chico stands on lands that were originally occupied by the first people of this area, the Mechoopda.

CSU, Chico is an Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status and only employ individuals authorized to work in the U.S. For disability-related accommodations, please call the ADA Coordinator at (530) 898-5959.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for California State University, Chico can be obtained by contacting the Chico State University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by visiting: https://www.csuchico.edu/clery/_assets/documents/annual-security-report.pdf

The person holding this position is considered a “mandated reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 (revised July 21, 2017) as a condition of employment.

All positions are contingent on funding.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9573

Questions can be sent to: academicpersonnel@csuchico.edu.
Tulane University

Rank: Faculty Fellow/Visiting Research Professor

The Center for Ethics and Public Affairs at the Murphy Institute at Tulane University invites applications for three Faculty Fellowships/Visiting Research Professorships for the 2022-2023 academic year. These fellowships are available to support outstanding faculty whose teaching and research focus on ethics; political and social philosophy; moral psychology, agency, and responsibility; philosophy of law; political theory; or questions of moral choice in areas such as, but not restricted to, business, government, law, economics, and medicine.

While fellows will participate in seminars, lectures, and conferences organized by the Murphy Institute, they will be expected to devote most of their time to conducting their research.

Faculty Fellows are appointed as Visiting Research Professors at Tulane University’s Murphy Institute, receive a salary of $67,500, and are eligible for faculty benefits, including medical insurance. Faculty Fellows enjoy the use of private offices in Tulane’s Tilton Memorial Hall on St. Charles Avenue and receive administrative assistance from the Murphy Institute staff and graduate assistants. The Murphy Institute’s Center for Ethics is one of the most active in the country, hosting fourteen guest speakers and sponsoring several international conferences each year.

Qualifications

Applicants must hold a doctorate in philosophy, political theory, law, political economy, or a related discipline at the time of application. Applicants must also hold a full-time college or university appointment at the time of application. Faculty Fellowships are open to full-time faculty at all ranks.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/95648. The application deadline is December 31, 2021. Required application materials include the curriculum vitae, a project description (with bibliography) of approximately 1500 words, a scholarly paper, and two confidential letters of recommendation. Please contact Margaret Keenan at mkeenan@tulane.edu with any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/31/2021
Date Posted: 10/15/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9570

University of Louisville

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory
Specializations: Political Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is accepting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin Fall 2022. The position is in political theory with a research emphasis on race, ethnicity and/or post-colonial identity in politics. The department welcomes candidates who address these topics from various traditions within political theory in conversation with American or comparative politics. The ideal candidate will contribute to the University of Louisville’s stated commitment to become “a premier anti-racist metropolitan research university.”

The successful candidate will be able to teach a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses related to the position’s focus, as well as one introductory-level course in another subfield of political science. Teaching experience is a plus, and candidates should have demonstrated research potential. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, but College policy requires completion of the PhD by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time professors and is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body. We have over 500 students enrolled in BA and MA programs. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university. The salary and benefits package are competitive.

Position is subject to final budgetary approval.

Interested candidates must apply online and attach a curriculum vitae. In addition, applicants should submit a cover letter, sample of written work, graduate transcripts, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of reference. We ask that in the cover letter, the candidate describe how their research, teaching, or service experiences support inclusive learning and diversity.

Materials should be sent to Dr. Tricia Gray, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292 or via email to polsci@louisville.edu. Priority application deadline is November 8, 2021; application review will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science encourages candidates to apply who have demonstrated capacity to create inclusive work environments, will work effectively on increasingly diverse teams, and will serve the increasingly diverse students we admit and want to attract. https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=177659559&Title=Assistant%20Professor%20of%20Political%20Science%20%28Job%20Id%3A%2042136%29&cID=7137

To apply for this position, follow the "Apply on Institution’s Website" button at the link above and then click on the "Apply Now" button. You must answer all required fields and submit your application by clicking the "Submit" button. Detailed instructions are available at louisville.edu/jobs in the "My Career Tools" section. If the posting description requested that you follow up and mail or email other documents, your application will not be considered complete until those have been received by the department.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9571

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor, Politics

The Department of Politics at Drexel University invites applications for a non-tenure-track, teaching faculty position in Political Science. We are seeking a teacher-scholar in the field of American politics, especially one who can offer classes on constitutional law and national institutions, broadly construed.
The successful applicant’s contract will begin in January 2022. The initial contract is for the 2021-2022 academic year, with the possibility of renewal thereafter. The workload is 36 credits of undergraduate courses over 3-4 quarters, primarily including face-to-face teaching but potentially including online or hybrid courses.

About Drexel University

Drexel is one of Philadelphia’s top 10 private employers, a comprehensive global research university and a major engine for economic development in the region. With over 24,000 students, Drexel is one of America’s 15 largest private universities. Drexel has committed to being the nation’s most civically engaged university, with community partnerships integrated into every aspect of service and academics and has recently recommitted to antiracism in its policies and practices via the implementation of recommendations from a university-wide Antiracism Task Force.

About the Department of Politics

The Department of Politics is one of thirteen departments in Drexel’s College of Arts and Sciences (CoAS), and Political Science is the College’s third-largest major. Faculty members teach and research across both traditional subfields and interdisciplinary programs including Africana Studies; Women’s and Gender Studies; Jewish Studies; Science, Technology, and Society; Public Policy; and War and Society. We pride ourselves on our small classes, rigorous methods training, and collegial atmosphere.

Qualifications

- Successful candidate will be required to teach courses in constitutional law with secondary teaching responsibilities open as to field;
- Will contribute to a diverse, inclusive campus culture, inside and outside the classroom;
- Preferably have Ph.D. in hand by January 2022 but will consider ABDs close to their defense date.

To Apply

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; and 3) the names and email addresses only of at least three references. Please do NOT submit reference letters at this time as such letters will be requested at a later date for short-listed applicants.

Only applications submitted via Drexel Careers at: https://careers.drexel.edu/en-us/job/496971/assistant-teaching-professor-politics will be considered.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until filled. Please address all queries to Prof. Richardson Dilworth at rd43@drexel.edu.

Drexel University offers an attractive benefits package including tuition remission, a retirement package, and an opportunity to join a talented team of professionals directly helping the University achieve its record growth and quality reputation.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, welcomes individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, and believes that an inclusive and respectful environment enriches the University community and the educational and employment experience of its members. The University prohibits discrimination against individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, status as a veteran or special disabled veteran, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions and any other prohibited characteristic. Please visit our website to view all University Policies and Workplace Postings.

Background investigations are required for all new hires as a condition of employment, after the job offer is made. Employment may not begin until the University accepts the results of the background investigation.

Start Date: Winter 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9561

University of South Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory

Organizational Summary

The School of Interdisciplinary Global Studies is an academic unit that includes programs in Africana Studies (BA, MLA), Latin American, Caribbean, and Latino Studies (MA), International Studies (BA), Political Science (BA, MA) and Poltics and International Affairs (PhD).

The College of Arts and Sciences at USF celebrates diversity and inclusive excellence in alignment with our Principles of Community. We believe our future success as an institution requires that we attract and retain a diverse workforce. We are proud to be an equal opportunity workplace and an affirmative action employer. All job decisions at USF are made without regard to race, color, ethnicity, religion or belief, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or any other status protected by the laws or regulations in the locations where we operate.

The University of South Florida is a high-impact global research university dedicated to student success. Over the past 10 years, no other public university in the country has risen faster in U.S. News and World Report’s national university rankings than USF. Serving more than 50,000 students on campuses in Tampa, St. Petersburg and Sarasota-Manatee, USF is designated as a Preeminent State Research University by the Florida Board of Governors, placing it in the most elite category among the state’s 12 public universities. USF has earned widespread national recognition for its success graduating underrepresented minority and limited-income students at rates equal to or higher than white and higher income students. USF is a member of the American Athletic Conference. Learn more at www.usf.edu.

Position Summary

The School of Interdisciplinary Global Studies at the University of South Florida invites applications for a 9-month, tenure-earning Assistant Professor position beginning on August 7, 2022. The teaching load is four courses per academic year. The primary teaching responsibility is Political Theory. Candidates must be able to teach both undergraduate and graduate level courses.

Salary is negotiable. The closing date for receiving applications is October 29, 2021. To apply, please visit http://employment.usf.edu.
Applicants should attach the following supplemental items to their application: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, sample syllabi, and a writing sample no longer than 40 pages. All documents must be combined and uploaded as one file.

QUALIFICATIONS

Minimum Qualifications
The minimum requirement for this position is a Ph.D. in Political Science, Politics, or Government with a specialization in Political Theory from an accredited institution. Applications from individuals who are ABD will be accepted, but the degree must be conferred by appointment start date. Must meet university criteria for rank of Assistant Professor.

Preferred Qualifications
We are particularly interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests contribute to the school’s focus on citizenship, justice, and identity in a global context; through an interpretive lens that sheds insight into the interconnecting strands of contemporary crises.

Information for Applicants
This position is subject to a Level 1 criminal background check.

Job Opening Number: 28656

How To Apply
Click on the Apply Now button. When applying to an opening you will have the opportunity to upload a cover letter and resume.

Apply online by completing the required information and attaching your cover letter and resume. Please include your experience as it relates to the qualifications stated above. YOUR COVER LETTER AND RESUME, PLUS ANY OTHER REQUESTED MATERIAL, MUST BE IN ONE ATTACHMENT. Only online applications are accepted for this position.

Click here for additional tutorial information.

Equal Employment Opportunity

USF is an equal opportunity, equal access academic institution that embraces diversity in the workplace.

Conclusion of this search is subject to final budget approval. According to Florida Law, applications and meetings regarding them are open to the public. USF is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Institution. For disability accommodations, contact Jamee Stiffler at (813) 974-0842 or jsstiffler@usf.edu, a minimum of five working days in advance.

The University of South Florida does not discriminate on the basis of sex and prohibits sexual harassment. Any person may report sex discrimination, including sexual harassment (whether or not the person reporting is the person alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute sex discrimination or sexual harassment), in person, by mail, by telephone, or by electronic mail, using the contact information listed for the Title IX Coordinator. Reports may be made at any time either online or directly to the University’s Title IX Coordinator.

Work Location

USF - Tampa Campus

About USF

The University of South Florida is a high-impact global research university dedicated to student success. Over the past 10 years, no other public university in the country has risen faster in U.S. News and World Report’s national university rankings than USF. Serving more than 50,000 students on campuses in Tampa, St. Petersburg and Sarasota-Manatee, USF is designated as a Preeminent State Research University by the Florida Board of Governors, placing it in the most elite category among the state’s 12 public universities. USF is a member of the American Athletic Conference.

Working at USF

With more than 16,000 employees at USF, the University of South Florida is one of the largest employers in the Tampa Bay region. At USF you will find opportunities to excel in a rich academic environment that fosters the development and advancement of our employees. We believe in creating a talented, engaged and driven workforce through on-going development and career opportunities. We also offer a first class benefit package that includes medical, dental and life insurance plans, retirement plan options, tuition program and generous leave programs and more.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/29/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9531

Whitman College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Indigenous Politics in a Global Context

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Indigenous Politics in a Global Context

Whitman College

Located in the historic community of http://www.wallawalla.org/, Whitman’s beautiful tree-lined campus is home to an intellectually diverse, dynamic, and supportive community of some 500 staff and faculty serving roughly 1,500 students from the local region and across the globe. With exceptional students, accomplished faculty and staff, along with a fiercely loyal and growing number of engaged alumni, Whitman College continues to build on its national reputation for academic excellence as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country.

The Department of Politics seeks applicants for a Tenure-track position beginning August 2022, with expertise in Indigenous politics in a global context, at the rank of assistant professor. Applicants must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

We welcome candidates with a wide range of methodological approaches and disciplinary backgrounds. The successful candidate will have broad latitude to design undergraduate courses at the lower- and upper-levels that build on their scholarly interests. Course topics could include, but are not limited to, Indigenous politics; racial politics in a global context; international politics; political theory; settler-colonialism and decolonization; land and territory; international law; and/or geographically-focused studies. The candidate selected for this position will have the opportunity to contribute to the college’s Center...
Political Science Jobs

for Global Studies, as well as interdisciplinary programs such as Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, and Race and Ethnic Studies, as appropriate. Whitman College has a formal, ongoing collaborative relationship with the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Reservation. The candidate selected for this position would have the opportunity to participate in that collaboration, if desired.

The annual teaching load at Whitman is five course equivalents, which includes thesis mentoring. The College provides a generous pre-tenure sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching.

Whitman College is committed to cultivating an inclusive learning community. Applicants should be able to demonstrate their commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion and articulate how their classroom and scholarly practices work to advance antiracism in the learning environment. This statement can be included in the cover letter or the teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should address their interest in working at a liberal arts college with undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction.

To apply, go to https://aptrkr.com/2542666. BambooHR will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a letter of application; separate statements addressing the candidate’s teaching interests and scholarly/ performance agenda; curriculum vitae; contact information for three references; graduate transcripts; and evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction.

Review of applications will begin November 4, 2021.

http://whitman.edu/ is cultivating a community built on inclusion and belonging. We recognize the value of those who can offer historically underrepresented perspectives and encourage applications from those whose background, knowledge, and insights from lived experience can add to the college’s working and learning environment. Whitman College is an EEO employer.

No applicant shall be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, gender, religion, age, marital status, national origin, disability, veteran’s status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other basis prohibited by applicable federal, state, or local law.

For additional information about Whitman College and the Walla Walla area, see http://www.whitman.edu/ and http://www.wallawalla.org/.

For full application instructions and position description, visit https://aptrkr.com/2542666

Copyright ©2021 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

https://www.jobelephant.com/

jeid-470b8965fe028342b912b5e4a3e61b9a

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9517

Tecnológico de Monterrey

Rank: Assistant and Adjunct Faculty Positions

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Health Care

School of Social Sciences and Government, Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico, Department of Political Science and International Relations Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues.

Subfields of political science of interest include international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and health and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2022.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is an equal opportunity employer, committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community, and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities. The university is committed to attracting and retaining outstanding and diverse faculty.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format:

• Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
• Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
• A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
• Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.

November 2021

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
• Three letters of recommendation. Ph.D. candidates should include a letter from their chair indicating defense date.
For sending materials please contact Talent Academic Acquisition Specialist Martha Junia Navarro mcayon@tec.mx
For informal inquiries please contact the following committee members:
Prof. Mariana Rangel: mariana.rangel@tec.mx
Prof. Gabriel Aguileras: gabe.aguilera@tec.mx

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:
For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/ The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey and other locations. For more information, visit https://tecmx/es/noticias/ciencias-sociales-y-gobierno

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/26/2021
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 9430

University of Houston

Rank: Open Rank

Assistant Professor – Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for an open-rank position (Assistant, Associate, or Full professor), to begin Fall 2022. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on Political Theory. Candidates from all areas of Political Theory are invited to apply, though special consideration will be given to candidates with a research interest in the History of Political Theory, American political thought, or Constitutional Theory/Constitutionalism. Successful candidates should have extensive training in the History of Political Theory, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Review of applications will begin October 11 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a Carnegie Tier-1 research university with one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of scholars.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Applications should be submitted through the University’s online job site. http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/. The position number keyword is FAC001954. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, sample of published work, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide a letter of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Alin Fumurescu, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at afumures@central.uh.edu.

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples. Additionally, the University prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.
Political Science Jobs

Purdue University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Philosophy

Purdue University’s Department of Philosophy is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Principal Duties: Purdue is a member of the American Association of Universities, and thus a strong research profile is expected of the successful candidate in addition to graduate mentoring. Teaching load is 4 courses/year (2/semester), undergraduate and graduate, including two courses per year in the College of Liberal Arts’ Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts first-year curriculum. This curriculum is highly flexible but emphasizes student engagement with primary texts in philosophy, literature, and history.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in philosophy or related field required prior to appointment.

The College: The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University is embarking upon 40 faculty searches for positions to begin in Fall 2022. These positions will advance research within and across disciplines, and intersect with technology, data science, and engineering in relevant and important ways. These positions include teaching in our innovative, nationally-recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts Program that educates students across the university. Purdue University, the College of Liberal Arts and the Department of Philosophy are committed to free and open inquiry in all matters. Candidates are encouraged to address in their cover letter how they are prepared to contribute to a climate that values free inquiry.

Application Procedure: All materials will be submitted electronically through careers.purdue.edu Requisition ID 16108 Applications must include: (i) a brief cover letter, (ii) curriculum vitae (including dissertation abstract and research statement), (iii) copies of official graduate transcripts, (iv) names, email addresses, and institutional affiliations of at least three references, (v) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (vi) a writing sample of approximately 8-10K words, and (vii) a diversity and inclusion statement. Letters of reference should not be included in the initial application but should be prepared for quick submission if requested. If letters are requested from the candidate at a later stage, instructions for how to submit letters will be communicated directly to the candidate. As Purdue Philosophy is advertising four positions, please indicate clearly in your cover letter the position for which you are applying.

Application Procedure: All materials will be submitted electronically through careers.purdue.edu Requisition ID 16108 Applications must include: (i) a brief cover letter, (ii) curriculum vitae (including dissertation abstract and research statement), (iii) copies of official graduate transcripts, (iv) names, email addresses, and institutional affiliations of at least three references, (v) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (vi) a writing sample of approximately 8-10K words, and (vii) a diversity and inclusion statement. Letters of reference should not be included in the initial application but should be prepared for quick submission if requested. If letters are requested from the candidate at a later stage, instructions for how to submit letters will be communicated directly to the candidate. As Purdue Philosophy is advertising four positions, please indicate clearly in your cover letter the position for which you are applying.

Application Procedure: All materials will be submitted electronically through careers.purdue.edu Requisition ID 16108 Applications must include: (i) a brief cover letter, (ii) curriculum vitae (including dissertation abstract and research statement), (iii) copies of official graduate transcripts, (iv) names, email addresses, and institutional affiliations of at least three references, (v) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (vi) a writing sample of approximately 8-10K words, and (vii) a diversity and inclusion statement. Letters of reference should not be included in the initial application but should be prepared for quick submission if requested. If letters are requested from the candidate at a later stage, instructions for how to submit letters will be communicated directly to the candidate. As Purdue Philosophy is advertising four positions, please indicate clearly in your cover letter the position for which you are applying.
undergraduate programs. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 18, 2021. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/106108.

Please contact the search committee chair, David Darmofal (darmofal@mailbox.sc.edu) with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department’s website: http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state’s flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 &quot;Best Colleges&quot; according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state’s educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities on the basis of race, sex, gender, gender identity, transgender status, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, genetics, protected veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9394

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow
Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Germany

Faculty Fellow
The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies
Faculty of Arts and Science
New York University

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies in Arts and Science at New York University invites applicants for a Faculty Fellow position in the field of European Studies. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2022, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

CEMS/NYU seeks a scholar experienced in advising student research and specializing in one or more of the following fields: comparative European politics, anthropology, sociology, or contemporary European history. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focuses on the European Union; on political, economic and social developments in contemporary Europe; and/or on identity and minorities in Europe.

Responsibilities include teaching three courses per year, with a focus on undergraduate and graduate seminars. Student advising is a key component of this position, as the faculty fellow will have a significant role in directing theses for both MA students and undergraduate honors students. Service to the program will also involve representing the Center at university occasions and committee meetings. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching.

Qualifications: Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2017 and no later than August 1, 2022.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, a statement of the research and interests, and a statement of diversity and inclusion. As diversity is an important part of the NYU mission, for the latter statement we ask you to provide a brief paragraph telling us how diversity figures into your past and present teaching, research, community engagement, and/or life experience, as well as how you would bring issues of diversity to bear on the teaching and programming of NYU CEMS. Information about diversity statements may be found at http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html.

Applications should be submitted through http://apply.interfolio.com/92354

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html.&amp;#160;EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9353

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position Search 2021-2022
Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Open

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2022. Preference will be given to applicants in the fields of Political Theory and International Relations. In addition, we will consider especially strong applicants working in other fields.
Political Science Jobs

We are especially eager to consider applicants who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by October 15, 2021. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF06814

Help Contact: Evelyn Godinez, egodinez at polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until filled
Date Posted: 9/9/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9303

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for tenure-track positions at all ranks beginning September 1, 2022. The positions are for scholars of exceptional caliber who will strengthen the political economy group’s research and teaching and make a distinctive programmatic contribution to the Graduate School of Business. The political economy group at the GSB is a collaboration of economists and political scientists. We welcome applications from across political economy broadly construed, both theoretical and empirical, and focusing on developed as well as developing countries. Outstanding research and teaching skills are essential. Applicants at all ranks will be considered and must have a PhD or expect to complete one before September 1, 2022.

Applicants should submit their applications electronically by visiting the web site http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/recruiting and uploading their curriculum vitae, research papers and publications, and teaching evaluations, if applicable, on that site. For an application to be considered complete, all applicants must submit a CV, and a job market paper. Applicants for non-tenured positions should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted by November 30, 2021.

Please note that we will be reviewing and considering applications as they come in. For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to Faculty_Recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Date Posted: 9/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9296

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Theory

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities invites applications for multiple full-time faculty positions in Political Theory beginning fall semester 2022 (08/29/22). The positions will be filled either by tenure-track assistant professors or by a tenured associate professor (please note the different application requirements below).

The appointments will be 100% time over the nine-month academic year (late-August to late-May), and will be made at the rank of either tenure-track assistant professor or tenured associate professor, consistent with collegiate and university policy. Salary is competitive, and dependent on qualifications and experience.

We seek outstanding colleagues committed to scholarly research and teaching at the highest level, and we especially welcome applications from underrepresented groups.

We seek candidates who are deeply conversant in the history of Western political theory, and can teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels that draw upon this canon.

Further, we seek candidates who will advance the substantive commitment of the department’s strategic plan: to investigate “democracy under threat” across its multiple dimensions. Democracy Under Threat is a department-wide initiative to guide hiring and research. It means that we are most interested in work that, in a sustained manner, draws upon global historical knowledge to understand contemporary threats to democracy (such as resurgent authoritarianism, legitimation crises of contemporary liberal democratic institutions, crises of political economy and/or late capitalism, racialized politics and inequalities, etc.). Scholars using intersectional approaches to feminist and democratic theories and/or who focus on such issues as justice and injustice, inequality, or global migration are of special interest.

We also seek candidates who share the department’s ongoing commitment to study the intersection of power, equity, and diversity and its effect on social science inquiry. Finally, we value candidates who actively place their research in dialogue with other subfields in political science, the social sciences and humanities, and with the broader university community and public.

More information regarding the department’s strategic plan can be found under the announcement for this search on the department’s
Political Science Jobs

News & Events webpage: https://cla.umn.edu/polisci/news-events/announcement/department-political-science-launches-political-theory-search

Qualifications:
Required Qualifications:
Ph.D. in political science or related field is required at the time of application.

Preferred Qualifications:
College/university-level teaching experience is preferred.

Candidates will be evaluated according to (a) overall quality of their academic preparation and scholarly work, (b) contribution of their scholarly research to the department’s academic priorities and fields of inquiry, (c) evidence of commitment to teaching and skills as a teacher, and (d) strength of recommendations.

Duties / Responsibilities:
Faculty in the Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts are expected to maintain an active research program, teach and advise undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute service appropriate for the rank of appointment to the department, college, University, and profession.

The Standards for Promotion and Tenure in the Department of Political Science are available at: https://faculty.umn.edu/sites/faculty.umn.edu/files/polsci.pdf

For information on faculty workload guidelines and principles in the College of Liberal Arts, visit: https://neighborhood.cla.umn.edu/college-knowledge/workload-principles-and-guidelines

About the Department / College / University:
The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in graduate and undergraduate education and to the conduct of leading social science research. For further information, please visit the department website, http://cla.umn.edu/polisci.

Established in 1868, the College of Liberal Arts supports the University of Minnesota’s land-grant mission as home to disciplines in the arts, humanities, and social sciences. The College of Liberal Arts is committed to intellectual freedom, the pursuit of new knowledge, and the belief that the liberal arts are the foundation of academic learning. CLA prepares students to be independent and original thinkers, innovators in their chosen fields; to create meaning in their lives and in their life’s work; and to become productive citizens and leaders in their communities and the world. The College of Liberal Arts values diverse cultures, experiences, and perspectives as key to innovation and excellent education. https://cla.umn.edu/

Founded in 1851, the University of Minnesota, with its five campuses and more than 65,000 students, is one of the largest, most comprehensive universities in the United States, and ranks among the most prestigious research universities in the world. It is both a major research institution, with scholars of national and international reputation, and a state land-grant university, with a strong tradition of education and public engagement.

The University recognizes and values the importance of diversity and inclusion in enriching the employment experience of its employees and in supporting the academic mission. The University is committed to attracting and retaining employees with varying identities and backgrounds.

The University of Minnesota provides equal access to and opportunity in its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, gender, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. To learn more about diversity at the U: http://diversity.umn.edu.

Application Instructions:
For All Applicants:
Applications will be reviewed beginning October 22, 2021. However, applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Interviews will be conducted during mid-spring semester 2022.

For questions about the position, please contact the Department of Political Science, at psearch@umn.edu or (612) 624-4144.

For questions about the application process, or to request an accommodation during the application process, please email employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

Any offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Our presumption is that prospective employees are eligible to work here. Criminal convictions do not automatically disqualify finalists from employment.

For Associate Professor Applicants:
Apply online through the University of Minnesota’s Job Center: https://humanresources.umn.edu/content/find-job
• Job Opening ID: 343150
• Job Posting Title: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)
• Job Code: 9402
• Jobs Posted Within: Last Three Months (or greater)
• Keyword(s): Political Science

Applications must be submitted online. To be considered for this position, please click the Apply button and follow the instructions. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position, and attach a cover letter and C.V.

Additional materials may be requested from candidates at a future date. Additional documents can be attached after application by accessing your “My Job Applications” page and uploading documents in the “My Cover Letters and Attachments” section.

For Assistant Professor Applicants:
Apply online through the University of Minnesota’s Job Center: https://humanresources.umn.edu/content/find-job
• Job Opening ID: 343150
• Job Posting Title: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)
• Job Code: 9403
• Jobs Posted Within: Last Three Months (or greater)
• Keyword(s): Political Science

Applications must be submitted online. To be considered for this position, please click the Apply button and follow the instructions.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

November 2021

243
You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position, and attach a cover letter and C.V. Additional documents must be attached to your “My Job Applications” page, by uploading documents in the “My Cover Letters and Attachments” section.

The following required materials must be attached to your online application:
1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Writing sample (in the candidate’s central area of research)
4. Brief statement of research interests
5. Brief statement of teaching philosophy and interests

Additional materials may be requested from candidates at a future date.

In addition to the electronically-submitted materials, applicants at the assistant professor-level are asked to arrange for at least THREE letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the department.

The letters of recommendation may be emailed to psearch@umn.edu, or mailed to:

Political Theory Search Committee
Attn: Alexis Cuttance
Department of Political Science
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities
267 19th Avenue South, Room 1414
Minneapolis, MN 55455

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9264

Princeton University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

The Department of Politics and the University Center for Human Values seek applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in political theory. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21626.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Political Theory Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 7, 2021.

Requisition Number: D-22-POL-00004

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/17/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9179

Dartmouth College
Rank: Tenure-Track or Tenured Faculty appointment at any rank in American Politics or Political Theory

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured faculty appointment at any rank. We seek qualified candidates whose research examines African American political thought, the political experiences of African Americans, and/or issues of race and racial injustice related to African Americans. The position includes the option of an affiliation with the Program in African and African American Studies (AAAS).

Applicants should have a strong commitment to teaching, scholarly work, engaging undergraduate students in research, and building a diverse and inclusive educational environment. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should discuss in their cover letter how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications:
Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Philosophy, or a related discipline, or have the Ph.D. conferred before the start date of their appointment.

Application Instructions:
1) Cover letter, including overview of research areas and teaching interests. Applicants should also state in their cover letter, or in a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
2) C.V.
3) Dissertation abstract or research statement (maximum two pages single-spaced)
4) Three confidential letters of recommendation, one of which should be from the dissertation advisor (for ABD applicants)
5) Writing sample of 20-40 pages

Applications must be submitted electronically at: https://apply.interfolio.com/92314. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be sent to Michelle.T.Clarke@dartmouth.edu or Jennifer.L.Jerit@dartmouth.edu.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9168

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
University of California, Irvine

Rank: Political Science Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Political Science is seeking applicants for temporary part-time lecturer positions to teach in the field of Political Theory contingent on departmental need. These positions will replace faculty on leave during the 2021-22 academic year.

Requirements - We are seeking candidates with strong teaching credentials who might contribute to our undergraduate program in Political Theory. Candidates should have a Ph.D.

These part-time positions are based on an annual salary range beginning at $56,381 and the number of courses could vary.

Service Period Dates for 2021-2022 Academic Year:
Fall Quarter: 9/20/21 – 12/10/21
Winter Quarter: 1/3/22 - 3/18/22
Spring Quarter: 3/23/22 – 6/10/22

Application Procedure - Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, vita, three letters of reference, evidence of teaching performance, and a Statement of Contributions to Diversity via our online recruit system: https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF06770

Priority for positions will be given to applications completed by August 15th, 2021. Please note this is a continuous recruitment to fill classes on an as-needed basis. The department will refer to the pool of applications on file to fill assignments as necessary throughout the year.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/20/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9047

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Bucknell University’s Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in political theory beginning in the fall semester of 2022. We seek a scholar whose research and teaching centers on feminist political theory. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in political theory, one or more electives in feminist political thought, and other courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute courses that bring comparative and nonwestern perspectives on political theory to the curriculum. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks.

We seek candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department’s commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in political science with a sub-field specialization in political theory.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at rdh013@bucknell.edu. Applications received by September 27, 2021 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9015

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time position at the rank of assistant professor in political theory.

Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed its student body in terms of socioeconomic status, ethnicity, race, and nationality. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst’s students are Pell grant recipients; 43 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 10 percent of our students are international students. Our expectation is that the successful candidate will excel at teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates may focus on the history of political thought, ancient or modern political theory, contemporary comparative/international political theory, or non-Western political theory. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2022.

We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialty and be able to direct undergraduate research projects. We expect candidates to offer the year-long sequence of courses covering ancient to modern political theory. The successful candidate must have the Ph.D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates are asked to submit electronically to https://apply.interfolio.com/89518, a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter). Review of applications will begin on October 11 and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Position Description
The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach our introductory course in political theory, POLISCI 108: Contemporary Political Ideologies. A description of this course can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog- .

Qualifying Education/Experience
Applicants must possess a Master’s Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of political theory. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information
A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crimes Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of sex discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University’s compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University’s...
Eligibility and terms

Candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Our curriculum empowers students to be agents of change in their communities and society. It provides them tools to examine relations of gender in local, national, and global contexts. Our courses situate gender within specific historical and cultural contexts, allowing students to examine how our lives are shaped by social and economic institutions, political movements, and individual experiences. “Putting Theory into Practice” since 1971, we place a strong emphasis on community involvement and activism, and we offer many opportunities for internships and service work credit.

The B.S. in Women’s and Gender Studies prepares students for careers in education, as professors, teachers, or curriculum specialists; counseling, as school counselors, psychological or family therapists; law; health; human services; student services; and public service. Sacramento State has been ranked as the 2nd most diverse campus in the Western United States, and has official designations as an}

California State University, Sacramento

Rank: Tenure Track Faculty - Women’s and Gender Studies

Tenure Track Faculty - Women’s and Gender Studies

Job No: 505369

Work Type: Instructional Faculty – Tenured/Tenure-Track

Location: Sacramento

Categories: Unit 3 - CFA - California Faculty Association, Faculty - Social Sciences, Tenured/Tenure-Track, Full Time

COLLEGE: College of Social Sciences and Interdisciplinary Studies

DEPARTMENT NAME: Women’s and Gender Studies

POSITION TITLE: Assistant Professor of Black Feminisms

DEPARTMENT SUMMARY:

Women’s and Gender Studies is a dynamic interdisciplinary department preparing students to be future leaders, scholars, and social justice activists. We are dedicated to studying the social production of gender and women’s experiences in relation to formations of sexuality, race, class, nationality, ability, ageism, and other categories of difference. Scholarship and research in the field of women’s and gender studies emphasize the importance of connecting what students learn in the classroom to political projects and personal experiences.

Our curriculum empowers students to be agents of change in their communities and society. It provides them tools to examine relations of gender in local, national, and global contexts. Our courses situate gender within specific historical and cultural contexts, allowing students to examine how our lives are shaped by social and economic institutions, political movements, and individual experiences. "Putting Theory into Practice" since 1971, we place a strong emphasis on community involvement and activism, and we offer many opportunities for internships and service work credit.

The B.S. in Women’s and Gender Studies prepares students for careers in education, as professors, teachers, or curriculum specialists; counseling, as school counselors, psychological or family therapists; law; health; human services; student services; and public service. Sacramento State has been ranked as the 2nd most diverse campus in the Western United States, and has official designations as an Asian American Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution (AANAPISI) and as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI). More than two-thirds of the student population identify as students of color, and 31% are first-generation students. Sacramento State provides robust support services for students, including mental health services, resources to help students with basic needs, and programs to help underrepresented student groups. The department and College are committed to providing resources to support the startup and ongoing success of faculty in pedagogy, scholarship, and service as well as facilitating opportunities for additional engagement and advancement on campus, and meaningful work in the region.

POSITION DETAILS:

The department of Women’s & Gender Studies is inviting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Black Feminisms starting Fall 2022. As a department advocating social justice and intersectionality as core principles of our program, we emphasize diversity in our curriculum and all our hiring. New tenure track faculty have a reduced course load in the first two years.

JOB DUTIES:

• Teach a wide range of courses in Women’s & Gender Studies, such as Introduction to Women’s and Gender Studies, Introduction to the Women’s Movement, Gender, Race & Class, Women of Color, and Seminar in Feminist Theory.
• Propose and teach introductory, mid-level and advanced undergraduate courses in areas of expertise.
• Supervise students in independent study and fieldwork courses.
• Engage in research and scholarship.
• Engage in Service to the College and University.
• Engage in community service.
• Involve in student advising and mentoring, and in the recruitment of majors.
• Work as an integral member of the Department, actively contributing to curriculum and department building.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

• Ph.D. in Women’s and Gender Studies or Ph.D. in other social science disciplines such as Ethnic Studies, American Studies, Cultural Studies, Sociology, Anthropology, Geography, or Political Science with research focus on women’s and gender issues. ABD candidates will be considered. If ABD, candidates will be required to complete the doctoral degree by January 2023.

Special Knowledge, Abilities and Experience:

• Specialization in Black Feminisms with focus on racialization and racism in the United States.
• Demonstrated knowledge of the Women’s & Gender Studies discipline.
• Demonstrated ability to teach courses from intersectional perspectives.
• Ability to propose and teach new courses in areas of expertise.
• Ability to conduct independent research.
• Ability to demonstrate an interdisciplinary approach to Women’s & Gender Studies.
• Ability to work with diverse students and colleagues, success in creating inclusive classrooms, and experiences with a variety of teaching methods and curricular perspectives.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

• We welcome all areas of specialization related to Black Feminisms, preferably from candidates with an interdisciplinary background in the social sciences to complement the department’s existing strengths in the humanities.
• Teaching experience in a Women’s & Gender Studies department using intersectionalist feminist frameworks.
• Teaching that reflects an interdisciplinary approach to Women’s & Gender Studies.
• Ability to propose and teach introductory, breadth, and advanced undergraduate courses in areas such as Black feminist intellectual history, school-to-prison pipeline, family and child welfare, criminal legal system, gender and racial violence, black women’s experiences with interpersonal and institutional racism, media and technology, activism and organizing, climate justice and environmental racism.
• Ability to teach large as well as small size classes.
• Experience or interest in curriculum design.
• Potential or proven track-record as a researcher.
• Experience working with community organizations.
• Experience communicating effectively with ethnically and culturally diverse communities and integrating diversity issues in curriculum.
• Innovative teaching and ability to enhance instruction through use of creative pedagogical strategies, digital technologies, and media.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021; position open until filled.

In order to receive full consideration, please submit application by the above deadline.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

• Cover letter that describes teaching and research interest
• Current curriculum vita
• Unofficial transcripts of all graduate work.
• Diversity statement addressing past and/or future contributions to DEI, social justice, and anti-racism through scholarship/creative activity, teaching, and service.
• Two sample course syllabi - a) Gender, Race & Class, and b) a course in area of specialization;
• Relevant teaching evaluations; and
• Writing sample (no more than 20 pages).

Confidential letters of recommendation will be requested from the references of candidates who are invited for a campus visit.

For information please email Dr. Tristan Josephson, Search Committee Chair, at mailto:tristan.josephson@csus.edu.

About Sacramento State

http://www.csus.edu/ is located in the heart of California’s capital city, five miles from State Capitol. The lush, 300-acre campus is situated along the American River, close to numerous bike trails and other recreational areas. Sacramento, also known as the “Farm-to-Fork Capital,” is one of the most ethnically diverse and livable cities in the country, with a population of half of a million. Sacramento State’s 31,000 students come not only from the Greater Sacramento Region, but also from across the state, country, and world. Our 1800 faculty and 1,500 staff are committed to meeting our mission: “As California’s capital university, we transform lives by preparing students...

As evidenced by the values embedded in our https://www.csus.edu/student-affairs/_internal/_documents/hornet-honor-code.pdf, Sacramento State is committed to creating an inclusive environment where all faculty, staff, students, and guests are welcome and valued. Our commitment is more than simply ensuring that our campus is free from bias and discrimination, but is one devoted to celebrating many diverse identities, life experiences, and perspectives that enrich our community, teaching and learning.

To learn more about why you should join the Hornet Family, please visit the https://www.csus.edu/academic-affairs/faculty-advancement/why-sac-state.html page.

Equal Employment Opportunity
California State University, Sacramento is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and has a strong institutional commitment to the principle of diversity in all areas. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, pregnancy, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. Sacramento State hires only those individuals who are lawfully authorized to accept employment in the United States.

It is the policy of California State University, Sacramento to provide reasonable accommodations for qualified persons with disabilities who are employees or applicants for employment. If you need a disability related reasonable accommodation as part of the application and/or interviewing process, visit https://www.csus.edu/administration-business-affairs/internal/your-hr/benefits/disability-parental-leave.html#reasonable-accommodations-interactive-process.

The University is committed to creating an education and working environment free from discrimination, sexual harassment, sexual violence, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. For more information on mandatory training for new employees, visit https://www.csus.edu/compliance/hr-compliance/mandatory-dhr-training.html.

Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Crime Statistics Act and Campus Fire Safety Right-To-know Act Notification:

Pursuant to the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, the current Annual Security Report (ASR) is available for viewing at https://www.csus.edu/clery. The ASR contains the current security and safety-related policy statements, emergency preparedness and evacuation information, crime prevention and sexual assault prevention information, and drug and alcohol prevention programming. The ASR also contains statistics of Clery Act crimes for Sacramento State for the last three (3) calendar years. Paper copies are available upon request at the Police Service Center located in the University Union.

Background Check Disclaimer
A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with California State University, Sacramento. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current California State University, Sacramento employees who apply for the position.

COVID-19 Vaccine Certification Information:

CSU requires faculty, staff, and students who are accessing campus facilities to be immunized against COVID-19 or declare a medical or religious exemption from doing so. Any candidates advanced in a currently open search process should be prepared to comply with this requirement. The systemwide policy can be found at https://calstate.policystat.com/policy/9779821/latest/.

Eligibility Verification
Candidate will be required to provide official transcripts of their highest degree earned and must furnish proof of eligibility to work in the U.S.. California State University, Sacramento is a sponsoring agency (ie. H-1-B Visa).

Advertised: October 07, 2021 (9:00 AM)
Applications Closes: Open Until Filled
To apply, visit https://apotrkr.com/2574560
Copyright ©2021 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.
https://www.jobelephant.com/
jcid-23061a7d8bed284daa4dc17f161828d3
Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9595

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science
Rank: Junior Faculty Position in Native American Studies
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration
Specializations: Social Movements, Native American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

Junior Faculty Position in Native American Studies
Department of Social and Cultural Analysis
New York University
Faculty of Arts and Science

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis at New York University invites applications for a junior ranked search in the field of Native American Studies.

We especially welcome applications from scholars whose research relates to urban indigeneity, Critical Indigenous Theory, settler colonialism, literature, Indigenous resurgence and governance, Queer Studies, Indigenous pedagogies, environmental studies, and/or language revitalization. We encourage applications from scholars who work in collaboration with First Nations or Native American nations and whose research engages with Indigenous communities. This search is part of a cluster hire in Native American and Indigenous Studies that includes the following departments and Schools: The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis, The Gallatin School, English, Cinema Studies (Tisch), Spanish and Portuguese, and History. More information about this cluster, and NYU’s broader Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative, can be found here, and here.

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis is comprised of programs including American Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Metropolitan Studies, Africana Studies, Latino Studies, and Asian/Pacific American Studies. Applicants who speak to one or more of these fields and have an interest in building Indigenous Studies curriculum/programming at NYU are encouraged to apply. Visit the SCA website: http://as.nyu.edu/sca.

The appointment will begin on September 1, 2022, subject to budgetary and administrative approval. Applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a research statement. Entry-level applicants should provide names and contact information of three recommenders. Ph.D. in hand by 9/1/2022 required. Because diversity and inclusion are an important part of the NYU mission, we request that you include a paragraph in your cover letter telling us how diversity and inclusion figure into your past, present, and future teaching, research, and community engagement. Information about diversity and inclusion statements may be found at http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html.

The search committee will begin their review of applications on November 1, 2021. Please apply online through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/94342.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9596

East Carolina University
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 16, 2022. The successful candidate will become one of the nucleus faculty for the NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program and will be expected to teach at both the graduate and undergraduate levels, in the classroom and online. The assigned teaching load will be a 3:2. Scholarly productivity and service to the university, community, and profession are expected.

A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or a related field such as Public Policy or Emergency Management Policy is required, however, ABD candidates may be considered. Candidates with Ph.D. conferred at the time of initial appointment will hold the probationary rank of Assistant Professor. ABD candidates will also be initially appointed with the probationary term rank of Assistant Professor and must have the terminal degree conferred prior to first reappointment. Qualifying degrees must be received from appropriately accredited institutions.

Given the department’s current needs, preference will be given to candidates whose teaching and research expertise are in the field of emergency management and policy analysis. Candidates should be willing and able to teach public administration and/or public policy analysis courses to MPA and undergraduate students. Teaching experience at the undergraduate or graduate level—both in the classroom and online—is preferred.

To apply, complete a candidate profile and submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, statements of research interests and teaching experience/philosophy, unofficial transcripts and a writing sample online at https://ecu.peopleadmin.com/. Candidates will add the names of 3 recommenders in the PeopleAdmin interface. Candidates should be aware that recommenders will be contacted through PeopleAdmin and asked to upload their letters through that interface. Letters of reference submitted via the PeopleAdmin applicant tracking system will be verified and considered towards meeting this requirement. Official transcripts are required upon employment.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions should be directed to: Dr. Olga Smirnova, Chair, Master of Public Administration Search Committee, Department of Political Science, (smirnovao@ecu.edu).

This position is contingent upon available funding.

The Department of Political Science is one of sixteen departments in the Thomas Harriot College of Arts and Sciences at East Carolina University in Greenville, North Carolina. The Department is composed of 15 full-time faculty. It offers BS and BA degrees in political science and minors in public administration, comparative politics/international relations, leadership studies, and security studies at the undergraduate level. It is also home to the multidisciplinary studies majors in security studies and international studies. At the graduate level, it offers a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration degree, a Master of Science in Security Studies, and certificates in public management and leadership and security studies. The department emphasizes excellent teaching, quality research, and a tradition of service to the community, university, and discipline. More information about the department can be found at its home page: https://politicalscience.ecu.edu/.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9575

Columbia University
Rank: Professor of Professional Practice in Global Policy
Subfield(s): Other, Public Administration, Administration

Professor of Professional Practice in Global Policy
Founding Director of MPA in Global Leadership Program
Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research.
in policy-related fields and train graduate students for careers in global public policy.

SIPA now invites applications for a full-time appointment as Professor of Professional Practice to launch and run a new graduate degree for senior leaders in global policy and management. The position is expected to begin July 1, 2022, or as soon as possible.

Candidates must have at least 10 years’ experience in senior positions and be widely recognized for their distinction in a global policy field related to SIPA’s areas of excellence. Candidates also must be willing and able to continue to make significant contributions in their field of practice and knowledge. Preferred candidates will hold a graduate degree (PhD or equivalent preferred) and possess university-level teaching experience or show strong promise to succeed as an instructor in a demanding academic environment. Preferred candidates should also show strong promise to succeed as the founding Director of an important new degree program.

The Professor of Professional Practice will serve as founding Director of the Master’s in Public Administration in Global Leadership, an intensive 10-month degree designed to prepare senior leaders from around the world to make an even greater impact in their fields. The Director will serve as the academic leader of the program, recruiting instructors and guest lecturers for courses, seminars and workshops and overseeing academic advising of students. The Director will be expected to teach three courses per year in the program (organizing and overseeing the Summer session counts as one course). Working with a full-time Program Manager/Assistant Director and other SIPA professional staff, the Director will oversee student recruitment and admissions, build strategic partnerships, and build and nurture a strong alumni community. The new degree, which has been approved by Columbia University and the New York State Education Department, will enroll its first students in August 2023.

The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA’s academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

To submit your application, please visit our online application site here:

http://apply.interfolio.com/95921

Screening of applicants will begin on November 10. For further information, please contact Hazel May, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at sipa_academicaffairs@sipa.columbia.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 12/6/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9522

THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

Rank: Tenure-Track Associate/Assistant Professor in Public Administration

THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

Tenure-Track Associate/Assistant Professor in Public Administration in the Department of Politics and Public Administration (Ref. 508214)

Applications are invited for appointment as Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in Public Administration in the Department of Politics and Public Administration (Ref. 508214), to commence on August 1, 2022 or as soon as possible thereafter, on a three-year fixed-term basis, with the possibility of renewal and consideration for tenure before the expiry of a second three-year fixed-term contract. Exceptionally outstanding candidates at the Associate Professor level may be considered for appointment on tenure terms subject to approval.

The Department of Politics and Public Administration has played a leading role in Politics and Public Administration research and education since its establishment in 1970. The Department offers two highly successful taught postgraduate programmes - Master of Public Administration (MPA) and Master in International and Public Affairs (MIPA) as well as a thriving undergraduate programme. More information about the Department can be obtained at https://ppa.hku.hk/.

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. degree and demonstrate achievements of excellence in research and teaching. While the areas of specialization are open, those with expertise in environmental policy, climate change, and sustainability are preferred. Applications from other areas, such as public policy, public management and leadership, social innovation and entrepreneurship, regulation and governance, philanthropy and nonprofit management, smart cities policy, and policy analysis are also welcome. This position sits within the Faculty of Social Sciences and is open to all theoretical approaches. The Faculty values diverse research methodologies. We are particularly committed to upgrading our expertise in quantitative methods, and welcome applicants with relevant expertise.

A highly competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience will be offered, in addition to annual leave and medical benefits. At current rates, salaries tax does not exceed 15% of gross income. The appointment will attract a contract-end gratuity and University contribution to a retirement benefits scheme, totalling up to 15% of basic salary. Housing benefits will be provided as applicable.

The University only accepts online application for the above post. Applicants should apply online at the University’s careers site (https://jobs.hku.hk) and upload (1) an up-to-date CV, (2) a letter of interest, (3) graduate transcripts, (4) writing samples, (5) a research statement, (6) a teaching statement, (7) teaching evaluations, and (8) the contact information of three referees. Review of applications will start on January 3, 2022 and continue until March 31, 2022, or until the post is filled, whichever is the earlier.

The University is an equal opportunities employer and is committed to equality, ethics, inclusivity, diversity and transparency.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9513

George Mason University

Rank: Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, International Relations

Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor

The Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University invites applications for three tenure-line hires. Rank and field are open. We encourage applications from talented scholars with diverse backgrounds who are committed to being part of and contributing to a nationally and internationally recognized school of policy and government. We seek candidates with very strong research records — which include publications in top journals — and trajectories for continued high research productivity. We also prefer applicants with an established track record of securing external funding that will support transformative research and doctoral students. The discipline for these hires is open, including but not limited to economics, management, political science, public policy, regional science, and sociology.

The Schar School is known among policy schools for its multidisciplinary breadth in scholarship, and for its successful educational programs at all levels, including a substantial PhD program. The School’s distinguished faculty currently includes 62 tenure-line members in a variety of disciplines, all with expertise linked to policy-relevant analysis and practice. The location of our graduate campus in Arlington, Virginia (10 minutes by metro or car from downtown Washington, D.C.) provides faculty with unparalleled access to policymakers, international media, and governmental and nongovernmental organizations.

Applications are welcome from scholars with a strength in, and evidence of, a respect for diversity and inclusion. We invite applications from scholars whose work aligns with a field or department(s) in the The Bush School of Government and Public Service (https://bush.tamu.edu/), particularly in the area(s) of:
- Department of International Affairs (https://bush.tamu.edu/inta/)
- Department of Public Service and Administration (https://bush.tamu.edu/psaa/)

Applicants’ should have earned their doctoral degrees (PhD) between January 1, 2018 and July 1, 2022.

Application Instructions
Prior to beginning the online application, individuals are encouraged to review the instructions and the requested materials. Applications are due by 11:59 pm Eastern on November 1, 2021. The application for the Texas A&M University’s ACES Faculty Fellows Program requires submission of the following online at http://apply.interfolio.com/92053:

- Your contact information (Name, email, phone number, address, and name of your doctoral-granting institution)
- Cover letter (1-3 pages)
- CV
- Proposal of scholarly project(s) (3-5 pages) that will be conducted during the fellowship years
- Statement (1-3 pages) explaining how your scholarship, teaching, and/or other experiences have demonstrated a commitment to diversity and how that commitment may benefit Texas A&M University
- One writing sample (e.g., book chapter, chapter from your dissertation, journal article, work under review, or work in progress)
- Contact information for three references including name, title, and contact information -- Please do not include your letters of reference with your application materials. The Office for Diversity will ask you for your letters if your application advances through the review process.

The positions will remain open until filled, but for best consideration applications should be completed by November 15, 2021.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9504

Texas A&M University
Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship in International Affairs or Public Administration
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Other

Texas A&M University’s Accountability, Climate, Equity, and Scholarship (ACES) Faculty Fellows Program is a faculty pipeline initiative that connects those advancing outstanding scholarship with relevant disciplinary units on campus. ACES Faculty Fellows are hired as Visiting Assistant Professors with the expectation of transitioning to tenure track at the end of the two-year fellowship period. ACES Faculty Fellows will teach one course per academic year, thereby benefiting from dedicated research time.

In recognition of Texas A&M University’s Diversity Plan (https://diversity.tamu.edu/Diversity/media/diversity/PDF/Diversity-Plan-2010.pdf), the ACES Faculty Fellows Program promotes the research, teaching, and scholarship of early career scholars who embrace the belief that diversity is an indispensable component of academic excellence. From this experience at Texas A&M, fellows should develop an understanding of the value of diversity and inclusion and the power that it holds for students, faculty, and staff to enrich their lives. ACES Faculty Fellows will benefit from: prescriptive mentoring, access to instructional best practices, a vast array of world-class research and productivity resources, and a robust network of renowned Texas A&M scholars from across disciplines.

Qualifications
Applications are welcome from scholars with a strength in, and evidence of, a respect for diversity and inclusion. We invite applications
The Department is seeking a scholar interested in contributing to the community through California State University’s Downtown Center, visit https://www.csus.edu/experience/anchor-university/sac-state-downtown/ and the Anchor University Initiative, visit https://www.csus.edu/experience/anchor-university/. Given the demographics of the Sacramento Region and California, the successful candidate should have evidence of a record in teaching, scholarship, and service that emphasizes service to diverse populations. Through previous work, and a clear plan, the successful applicant should have an applied research agenda focused on understanding and analyzing contemporary issues related to social and racial equity. Examples of desired subject areas include the study of public policy and administration through a defined lens of social justice and equity-related to political engagement, education, public finance, urban redevelopment, transportation, health care, climate change, affordable housing, homelessness, criminal justice, unemployment, poverty, environmental justice, or other similar issues.

JOB DUTIES:

Teach graduate courses over an academic year of two semesters with the potential for buyout or reassignment.

Engage in scholarly and professional activities related to public policy and/or public administration.

Supervise master’s projects related to public policy and/or public administration.

Provide service to the department, college, and university.

Provide service to the community in the expertise area of public policy and/or public administration.

Embrace the mission of the California State University and its students, visit https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/about-the-csu/Pages/mission.aspx. Our students are diverse and represent populations that have been historically under served in both undergraduate and graduate education. A successful applicant must be excited to serve our student populations through master-degree level advising and teaching as expressed in Sacramento State’s Inclusive Excellence Statement, visit https://www.csus.edu/diversity-inclusion/division-inclusive-excellence/diversity-inclusion-statement.html.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree (e.g., Doctorate in Public Administration) in public policy and/or public administration or a discipline (Economics, Political Science, Sociology, Urban Studies, etc.) closely related to it. ABD candidates will be considered. If ABD, all requirements for the degree must be completed by their start date.

Extensive knowledge and demonstrated research and teaching in public policy and/or public administration related to social and racial equity.

A strong commitment to diversity and issues of just, equitable, and inclusive education.

Interest in working with the public service community in Sacramento through California State University’s Anchor Initiative and Downtown Center.

Teaching experience and success in at least one of the core topics in the MPPA curriculum that includes public policy, qualitative or quantitative research methods, political environment of policy making, and public budgeting and finance.

Strong commitment to master’s level university teaching and project supervision to a diverse student body and broader community.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:
Experience working in an interdisciplinary academic department.

Interest in experimenting with different forms of student engagement in the classroom.

Publications (peer-reviewed journal articles and/or professional articles) in areas related to public policy and administration.

Teaching experience and success in more than one of the core topics in the MPPA curriculum that includes public policy, qualitative or quantitative research methods, political environment of policy making, and public budgeting and finance; or the elective courses of collaborative governance, urban public policy, or urban land development.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9497

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration and Public Policy

The Department of Political Science in the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Arkansas invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track assistant professor position in public administration and public policy to start in August 2022. This individual will serve as a core faculty member for its Master of Public Administration and Nonprofit Studies (M.P.A.) program.

The successful candidate should be able to teach some core M.P.A. courses (e.g., Human Resource Management, Public Budgeting and Finance, Organizational Behavior, Nonprofit Management, Policy Analysis, and Community Development) as well as related undergraduate courses. The department’s teaching load is two courses per semester, a total of four courses per year. The successful candidate should also be able to demonstrate potential to contribute to high quality scholarship in their area of specialization as well as contribute to graduate and undergraduate teaching, advising, and mentoring that support diverse, equitable, and inclusive practices.

Minimum Qualifications:
Applicants must hold or anticipate holding a Ph.D. in political science, public administration, public policy, or a related field by the start of employment.

Application Instructions:
Completed applications received by November 1 will be assured full consideration. Late applications will be reviewed as necessary to fill the position.

Interested applicants must submit a cover letter describing their teaching and research interests, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample preferably from a peer-reviewed publication or a dissertation chapter, a diversity statement, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations (if available). Applicants must also submit the names and contact information of three references who are willing to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

About the Department of Political Science and the University of Arkansas:

The Department of Political Science consists of 20 full-time faculty and offers a B.A. in Political Science, an M.A. in Political Science, and an M.P.A. in Public Administration and Nonprofit Studies. Faculty in the department are also actively involved in an interdisciplinary Public Policy Ph.D. program. The Department of Political Science is committed to strengthening the diversity of its faculty, student body, and curriculum.

Founded in 1871, the University of Arkansas is a land grant institution, classified by the Carnegie Foundation among the nation’s top 2 percent of universities with the highest level of research activity. The University of Arkansas works to advance Arkansas and build a better world through education, research and outreach by providing transformational opportunities and skills, promoting an inclusive and diverse culture and climate, and nurturing creativity, discovery and the spread of new ideas and innovations.

The University of Arkansas campus is located in Fayetteville, a welcoming community ranked as one of the best places to live in the U.S. The growing region surrounding Fayetteville is home to numerous Fortune 500 companies and one of the nation’s strongest economies. Northwest Arkansas is also quickly gaining a national reputation for its focus on the arts and overall quality of life.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9497

George Mason University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Environmental Policy & Politics (Tenure-Track)
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

*Apply for this position at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51696

George Mason University’s Department of Environmental Science and Policy (ESP) in the College of Science is seeking an enthusiastic and energetic individual for a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy & Politics beginning in August 2022.

George Mason University, a Carnegie Research I institution, is the largest, most diverse, and innovative public university in Virginia with more than 38,000 students from all 50 states and over 135 countries. Located in Fairfax, Virginia, Mason is part of the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area, offering easy access to the scientific and political... resources of the nation’s capital. Mason has a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff, and it strongly encourages candidates to apply who will enrich Mason’s academic and culturally inclusive environment.

Responsibilities:

This position will strengthen departmental expertise on domestic U.S. environmental policy and politics in relationship to one or more of the following focal areas: water and watersheds, planetary health, conservation, climate change and energy, and environmental justice. Candidates with strong research and teaching capacity in quantitative methodologies, such as data analytics, agent-based modeling, and social network analysis, are especially encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will be expected to establish a strong extramurally funded research program and provide mentorship to students in the department’s undergraduate, master’s, and doctoral programs. This position aligns with ESP’s focus on boundary-spanning and co-production of knowledge across science, policy, and society. As such, the candidate is expected to contribute to George Mason University’s commitment to transdisciplinary research. We especially encourage submissions from researchers who have experience engaging local, state, or federal policy systems to support and bring about changes that improve environmental or sustainability outcomes. The expected teaching responsibility for this position is two courses per semester. Service activities within ESP and the College of Science are expected.

Preference will be given to candidates who express an interest in expanding collaborative efforts such as the growing partnership between ESP and the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation, partnering with the Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE), furthering the department’s own initiatives in conservation and sustainability, and building new partnerships to develop transdisciplinary projects.

Required Qualifications:

+ Successful completion of a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, public administration, or a related field prior to the first day of the appointment;
+ Demonstrated expertise in quantitative social science methods;
+ The ability to share the department’s commitment to transdisciplinary education and research;
+ An established record of scholarly activity demonstrated by publication record in peer-reviewed journals;
+ Demonstrated potential to establish an independent extramurally funded research program;
+ Commitment and interest in teaching lecture courses at undergraduate and graduate levels;
+ Strong commitment to mentoring and supervising undergraduate and graduate students;
+ Effective interpersonal communication skills;
+ The ability to collaborate with other natural scientists and social scientists in research, teaching and outreach.

Preferred Qualifications:

+ Demonstrated experience in developing successful externally-funded research collaborations;
+ A record of seeking and securing extramural research support evidenced by proposal submission and/or recipient of funding awards;
+ Demonstrated successful teamwork in a collaborative environment.

About us:

ESP is well known for its truly transdisciplinary faculty focused on environmental natural and social sciences. ESP also includes additional graduate program faculty from across the university and numerous affiliated environmental professionals. The following degrees are awarded: B.S. in Environmental Science, B.A. in Environmental and Sustainability Studies, M.S. in Environmental Science and Policy, and a Ph.D. in Environmental Science and Public Policy. The Department also partners with the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation in Front Royal, VA, to offer graduate-level courses in biodiversity and conservation. Mason’s Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE) provides a unique opportunity for the selected candidate to work in a collaborative manner across disciplines at Mason and with external partners nationally and internationally.

Special Instructions to Applicants

For full consideration, applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51696; complete and submit the online application, and include:

(1) cover letter
(2) CV
(3) research statement – please address diversity, equity, and inclusion in your statement
(4) teaching philosophy – please address diversity, equity, and inclusion in your statement, and
(5) names and email addresses of professional references (minimum 3, from academic institutions)

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9466

James Madison University
Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor - Public Policy & Administration

The Political Science Department at James Madison University welcomes applicants for a tenure-track position specializing in Public Policy & Administration at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. The successful applicant will teach courses in our undergraduate Public Policy & Administration and NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration programs. Both programs emphasize community engagement in their pedagogy and a collaborative approach to program governance and operations. This faculty member will form part of the Master of Public Administration Governance Committee. Applicants must be able to teach courses on public budgeting and the budgetary process. Other specializations are open and will reflect a candidate’s expertise and teaching interests, as well as department needs, including introductory-level courses in public policy or public administration.

The department seeks candidates with strong research and teaching skills and a commitment to shared program governance and an inclusive classroom and work environment. Scholars from historically excluded groups are especially encouraged to apply.

The successful applicant will teach courses in our undergraduate Public Policy & Administration and NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration programs and other courses related to the candidate’s experience. Applicants must be able to teach courses on public budgeting and the budgetary process.
A doctoral degree in Public Policy & Administration or closely related field is required by the start date for appointment as Assistant Professor; ABD candidates are encouraged to apply. Applicants must demonstrate an ability to teach the required courses.

The department seeks candidates with strong research and teaching skills and a commitment to shared program governance and an inclusive classroom and work environment.

Per the Governor’s Executive Directive #18, new JMU employees upon hire must disclose to the University Health Center their COVID-19 vaccination status. Unvaccinated employees are required to be tested weekly.

Employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a criminal background check.

E-Verify Notice: After accepting employment, new hires are required to complete an I-9 form and present documentation of their identity and eligibility to work in the United States. James Madison University uses the E-Verify system to confirm identity and work authorization.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9458

Harvard University
Rank: PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy
2022-23 PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship

Established in 1996, under the direction of Paul E. Peterson (Henry Lee Shattuck Professor of Government), the Program on Education Policy and Governance has rapidly distinguished itself as a significant player within the educational reform movement.

PEPG’s fellowship program was initiated to attract top postdoctoral researchers to quantitative-based investigations of issues in education reform at Harvard. The program has been a resounding success since its inception in 2002. These fellows have collaborated on some of PEPG’s most important research papers and in organizing program conferences. Past fellows currently hold tenured and tenure-track positions at major colleges, universities and research centers in the United States and abroad.

The deadline to apply for the 2022-23 PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship is December 17, 2021.

PEPG is offering a one-year resident research fellowship at the postdoctoral level starting in the summer of 2022. The fellow will work at Harvard University and engage in independent projects that are related to the program’s focus. Additionally, s/he will be expected to collaborate with PEPG’s ongoing research and programs. This may include conference planning and administration, as well as working on PEPG publications. Applicants who have not yet received their Doctoral degree may apply. However, they must receive it by September 1, 2022, in order to participate. Fellows must begin their residency no later than the week of August 29, 2022.

Candidates must have received PhD (or equivalent degree) within five years of the applied-for academic year.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $75,000. It provides modest health insurance coverage but no housing. However, assistance in obtaining affordable housing will be provided.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
- Letter of intent with current contact information including email address.
- Current curriculum vitae (please include any past awards, scholarships and publications).
- A 2,000-word proposal describing one or more research projects that will be conducted and completed while at PEPG. The proposal should include relevant background information, discrete objectives, importance and feasibility, as well as the methodology that will be used.
- Two samples of writing, if not published, then of publishable quality. These should be pertinent to the proposed research.
- The names of and letters of recommendation from three or four people qualified and willing to evaluate the applicant’s project and scholarly qualifications. Recommenders should mail their letters directly to PEPG, or they can be emailed to the address below.

Applicants should email their materials to pepg_administrator@hks.harvard.edu (in PDF format). Incomplete applications may not be reviewed/considered.

All materials should be addressed to:

PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship Program
C/O Antonio Wendland
Harvard Kennedy School
79 JFK Street, Taubman 304
Cambridge, MA 02138

For further information, please email: pepg_administrator@hks.harvard.edu.

Link to job description: https://www.hks.harvard.edu/centers/taubman/programs-research/pepg/fellowships#postdoctoral-fellowship

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9449

Oakland University
Rank: Associate Professor of Political Science - Public Administration and MPA Director
Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Oakland University invites applications for an Associate Professor of Political Science-Public Administration, to begin August 15, 2022. The successful candidate will also be appointed to an initial 3-year term as MPA Director. This position is eligible for renewal during the 3rd year of each 3-year appointment.

We seek a scholar in public and/or nonprofit administration, able to teach broadly across the discipline at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Human Resource Management and Program Evaluation are immediate instructional needs in our NASPAA-accredited program.

The MPA Director supervises a full-time program coordinator and two graduate assistants, and responsibilities include overseeing curriculum development, student recruitment, and managing part-time faculty in the MPA program. The MPA Director position carries with it a two-course administrative release and stipend each regular academic year (and thus an annual teaching load of three courses in a normal academic year). Candidates must demonstrate experience with or a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications:

A PhD with a specialization in Public Administration or related field, with the ability to teach at least two MPA core courses. A record of scholarly achievement commensurate with rank of appointment according to department and Oakland University standards.

School/College/Dept Summary:

Our MPA (established 1979) is the second-oldest NASPAA-accredited program in Michigan, with concentrations in Health Care, Local Government, Criminal Justice, Nonprofit Management, and Court Administration. The MPA program has recently launched a nonprofit management certificate program and strives to be a metropolitan, community-engaged hub for public service education & training.

Oakland University is a nationally recognized doctoral university of high research activity located on 1,443 acres of scenic land in the cities of Rochester Hills and Auburn Hills in Oakland County, Michigan. The University has 142 bachelor’s degree programs and 138 graduate degree and certificate programs. Academics include programs in the College of Arts and Sciences, School of Business Administration, School of Education and Human Services, School of Engineering and Computer Science, School of Health Sciences, School of Medicine and School of Nursing. As an anchor institution in southeastern Michigan, Oakland University is committed to building ongoing and collaborative relationships with the surrounding communities. Community and civic engagement enhances the lives of our students and has a positive impact on our broader community.

Special Instructions:

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for at least three references to https://jobs.oakland.edu/posting/22506.

Candidates will also provide a Diversity Statement that describes their interest or efforts in furthering diversity and inclusion, consistent with the MPA program Diversity Philosophy: “The OU MPA Program is committed to creating a welcoming environment for all students, faculty, and staff. We will work to inculcate an awareness of the value of diversity and to impart the ability to interact respectfully and productively with all stakeholders in a variety of organizational settings, regardless of race, ethnicity, sex, class, nationality, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, age, and/or veteran status.” Once all required application materials have been uploaded through the online system, references will be contacted with a link through which they can submit letters of recommendation. Review of materials will begin on November 19 and will continue until the position is filled.

Please address questions to Dr. Douglas Carr, Search Chair, via email: carr@oakland.edu.

Link: https://jobs.oakland.edu/postings/22595

OU COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY

COVID-19 vaccinations are now required for all Oakland University students, faculty and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2021

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 9395

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description

The University of Oklahoma invites applications for a tenure-track position in public policy at the assistant professor level beginning in August 2022. We seek candidates who focus on sub-national policy, broadly defined. We are open to candidates studying any sub-national unit of government, including tribal nations, state governments, school districts, or city or county governments, among other sub-national governing entities. We are also open in terms of theoretical orientations and empirical approaches, although we consider an ideal candidate able to contribute to our graduate methods offerings. We encourage applicants from all substantive policy areas, but preference will be given to candidates with expertise in social policy, broadly defined (e.g., healthcare, education, housing, food security, welfare, family policy, disability, among others). We prefer candidates with a research agenda demonstrating the potential for external funding. The selected candidate will teach core public policy courses in our NASPAA-accredited MPA program and contribute to the department’s course offerings in public policy and research methods at the undergraduate and PhD levels.

This position is within the Department of Political Science, a large department with two undergraduate majors (Political Science and Public & Nonprofit Administration), multiple minors, two master’s degree programs (Public Administration & Political Science), and a doctoral program. The department is housed within the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Oklahoma. The University of Oklahoma is the flagship research institution for the state of Oklahoma, enrolling over 30,000 students, located in Norman, OK, a vibrant college town just 20 miles south of Oklahoma City.

Qualifications

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or a related field at the time the position begins in August 2022, be able to teach core public policy courses in the MPA curriculum and have the potential to contribute to the department’s course offerings in public policy and research methods at the undergraduate and PhD levels. Preference will be given to applicants with substantive focus in social policy, broadly defined, and whose research agenda shows potential for external funding and for publication in high-quality, peer-reviewed outlets. The teaching load for this position is two courses per semester.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, research and teaching statements, unofficial graduate transcript(s) (official transcript will be required for finalists), writing sample, and contact information for three references. Three letters of recommendation will be required for candidates who progress past the first screening. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Any questions can be emailed to the search committee chair, Dr. Deven Carlson decarlson@ou.edu. Applicants must apply online at http://apply.interfolio.com/93547.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9388

Utah Valley University
Rank: Faculty, Tenure-Track, Public Policy

The History and Political Science Department at Utah Valley University invites applicants for a teaching-focused tenure-track Assistant Professor position with a teaching load of 12 credits per semester. Under the supervision of the Department Chair, the candidate will have the opportunity to play an integral role in redesigning the Public Administration and Policy emphasis. The successful candidate will be required to teach lower-division courses in American Government, Introduction to Public Administration, and upper-division courses in Public Policy within our Public Administration and Policy emphasis. In addition to a policy course in the candidate’s area of interest, these courses could include State and Local Government, Program/Policy Analysis, Nonprofits, and other related topics. The area of policy specialty is open, but expertise in environmental policy is preferred. The candidate may also be asked to teach seminars in the online Master of Public Service program within the College of Public Service. The candidate will also be required to seek ways to enhance UVU’s dual-integrated mission, focusing on engagement, inclusion, and student success.

The History and Political Science Department currently consists of 13 full-time faculty members in Political Science and serves almost 300 students majoring in Political Science. Our approach to professional education is student-centered and demands a high level of faculty-student engagement, with substantial institutional support for engaging students in faculty research. The College of Humanities and Social Sciences and the institution also support work-life balance. UVU values diverse opinions and perspectives and seeks to be inclusive in all practices. We encourage applications from candidates who identify with groups that are historically underrepresented in academia.

Please apply at: https://www.uvu.jobs/postings/24544

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9387

Harvard University
Rank: Inequality in America Initiative Postdoctoral Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Inequality in America Initiative seeks applications from recent doctoral degree recipients interested in joining a multidisciplinary network of Harvard researchers working to address the manifold challenges of inequality. This program is intended to seed new research directions, facilitate collaboration across disciplines, and develop new leaders in the study of inequality who can publish at the highest level, reach the widest audience, and impact policy.

The fellowship is a two-year postdoctoral training program. The award includes $71,000/year plus fringe; office space; up to $17,500 for research expenses across 2 years; up to $3,000 (incl. taxes) for relocation from out of state; and up to $3,000 for a manuscript workshop in year two.

The program director will pair each fellow with two Harvard faculty mentors (one from outside the fellow’s primary discipline), participating in one or more of five research clusters:

- Mobility and Migration
- Science, Technology, Education, and Health
- Work, Family, and Opportunity
- Governance, Citizenship, and Social Justice
- America Inequality, Globally

Applicants to the fall 2022 program must have received a doctorate or equivalent terminal degree in April 2019 or later; applicants without a terminal degree must demonstrate that they will receive one by August 2022.

See more at https://inequalityinamerica.fas.harvard.edu/postdoctoral-program

Contact: Jennifer Shephard, iai@fas.harvard.edu, 1.617.495.7906

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/12/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9367

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Rank: Assistant Professor – Public Administration and/or American Politics

The Department of Political Science will be hosting a virtual Open House on Friday, October 1st, and Friday, October 8th, from 1-5pm. Please feel free to drop in with any questions you may have about the position, department, college, or university! The zoom link is: https://cpp.zoom.us/j/89856837598

Assistant Professor – Public Administration and/or American Politics
Deadline: October 15th, 2021

The Political Science Department in the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona (Cal Poly Pomona) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor for appointment beginning in the 2022-2023 academic year specializing in Public Administration and/or American Politics.

The Position:
The faculty member will be part of a collegial Political Science Department that grants a B.A. degree, and that also has a Master’s in Public Administration (MPA). The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to inclusive excellence and diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply. Cal Poly Pomona is a Hispanic-serving institution and the faculty member will be an advisor to many under-represented minorities and first-generation college students.

The faculty member will teach in both the Bachelor’s in Political Science program as well as the Masters in Public Administration program. While the faculty member need not have a Ph.D. in Public Administration, they must contribute towards the MPA program. A faculty member specializing in Public Administration, Public Policy, and/or American Politics will have the ability to teach two courses in the MPA program (one elective or core class and quantitative methods), and courses in American politics/quantitative methods (race and ethnicity is a plus) annually. In the MPA program they will be expected to teach new or existing core and elective courses within their area of specialization—topics may include but are not limited to theories of public administration, state and local government, or a substantive public policy issue (economic policy, immigration, environmental justice, social welfare, and/or education).

Minimum Qualifications
• Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, or a related field from an accredited university at the time of appointment
• University teaching experience as instructor of record and/or teaching assistant
• Evidence of scholarly potential (conference presentations, publications, grant development, etc.)
• Evidence of demonstrated ability to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching, and/or service and work
• Experience fostering an inclusive environment
• A Student Success Statement that demonstrates your commitment and record of contributions through applicant’s teaching, scholarship, and / or service, by addressing at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed in the full job ad (see the link under “Application Procedure”).

Preferred/Desired Qualifications
Research interests related to social or racial justice, gender inequities, and/or inequality would be a plus. Additionally, preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to mentor and advise under-served populations including, but not limited to, African-American, Latinx, and Native American students.

Application Procedure
The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications submitted by October 15th, 2021. Early submission is encouraged. Electronic submissions of all application materials must be submitted online via Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/94496.

A completed application will consist of:
• A cover letter that describes the candidate’s teaching performance, research experience and interests, and that addresses the duties and qualifications articulated in the position description;
• A curriculum vitae comprising at least those elements specified on the application form and including the names, titles, addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers of at least five individuals who can speak to the candidate’s potential for success this position;
• A ‘Student Success Statement’ about your teaching, or other experiences, successes, and challenges working with a diverse student population addressing at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed in the full job ad (see the link under “Application Procedure”) (approximately one page, single-spaced);
• Three recent letters of reference (on letterhead, signed and dated within the past two years), uploaded by recommenders through Interfolio;
• A completed application form available on the application website;
• An unofficial transcript showing the highest degree earned from an accredited education institution. Finalists will be required to submit an official transcript; and
• Recent teaching evaluation summaries and sample syllabi (Optional, if available).
• Please submit all electronic documents in PDF format. For further information or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Neil Chaturvedi, Search Committee Chair
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Email: nschaturvedi@cpp.edu

Jessica Castillo, Administrative Support Coordinator
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Email: jmcastillo@cpp.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9345

California State University, Northridge
Rank: Part Time Lecturer
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Other

Announcement of Anticipated Part-Time Faculty Openings
Department: Political Science
Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year Spring 2022

CSUN’s Commitment to You:
CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. As both an AANAPISI & HSI (Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution & Hispanic Serving Institution), CSUN welcomes candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusive excellence. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: http://www.csun.edu

About the College:
For information about the College, visit our website at: https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences
About the Department:
For information about the department, visit our website at: https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:
Instructors for in-person Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below. Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current Salary Range:
Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($4229 - $5047) Paid in 6 monthly installments

Courses or Specialization:
Upper division courses in:
1. POLS 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/AA. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Qualifications:
Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field. University teaching experience is strongly preferred. A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Process:
Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:
For Spring 2022: November 8, 2021

(Calendar)PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:
POL 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
POL 494I/AA. Political Science Internship
POL 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
POL 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Inquiries and applications should be addressed to:
Dr. Tom Hogen-Esch, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
Department of Political Science

California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8254
tom.hogen-esch@csun.edu

General Information:
In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a ‘mandated reporter’ under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in CSU Executive Order 1096. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting the Political Science Department at (818) 677-3488.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9358

Harvard University
Rank: Director of Content & Strategy, The Justice Health and Democracy (JHD) Impact Initiative
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Public Administration

The Justice Health and Democracy (JHD) Impact Initiative at Harvard University’s Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics (EJSCE) seeks a Director of Content & Strategy.

This is a new, grant-funded position that will be situated within the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics. At present, the Center has two major strategic initiatives, and the new JHD Director of Content & Strategy will oversee one of these—the Justice, Health, and Democracy Initiative. A collaboration with New America and Brown School of Public Health, the JHD Initiative develops principled, accessible policy guidance, designed for practitioner use, particularly focused on the intersecting problems of public trust, health equity, justice, democratic participation, and political economy, in the U.S. and around the globe. Through the Justice, Health and Democracy (JHD) Impact Initiative, EJSCE experts, in collaboration with colleagues at New America and Brown, work directly with local leaders and practitioners in a range of professional contexts to clarify overarching policy needs and objectives anchored in ethical principles, and to develop practical approaches to a new social contract that improves people’s lives. The model is multidisciplinary and responsive to the on-the-ground issues that practitioners face. It connects expertise to the needs of practice with “orient-to-learn-do” cycles of research, policy implementation and locally-driven innovation. The model is building an innovative approach to translational work (i.e. making academic expertise accessible to practitioners in real time) for the social sciences and humanities.

The JHD Initiative encompasses multiple project workstreams on themes ranging from genetic science and health equity to Covid recovery and technology and democracy. Each workstream is headed by a faculty member, post-doctoral fellow, or graduate student, often with the support of graduate and/or undergraduate research assistants and staff. The translational process involves agenda setting, stakeholder mapping and engagement, development of clear deliverable objectives, project management, dissemination, and implementation hand-offs. In addition, the JHD Initiative partners with on-campus initiatives to support webinars and programs building on the JHD research and translational work. The Principal Investigator for the JHD is Nien-hê Hsieh, Acting Director for the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics.

The JHD Director of Content & Strategy will engage in direction-setting and substantive work related to the project workstreams while also assuming overall project management and coordination from the PI. This will involve hiring key staff in the areas of project management and research, as well as coordinating closely with EJSCE leadership on hires for communications. In addition, the role involves establishing operational processes, tracking and managing workflow for the existing team as the professional team gets fully built out, and creating and managing budgets. The JHD Director of Content & Strategy will work in close collaboration with Professor Hsieh on all of the above. This position will also join the leadership team at the EJSCE and will work with the Executive Director to ensure alignment of the JHD initiative with the overall mission of the Center. As a leadership team member, the JHD Director of Content & Strategy will be responsible for internal communications with EJSCE staff related to the JHD initiative and for partnering with other leadership team members to ensure smooth operations across all domains of EJSCE work.

This term position will be renewed annually, based on business need and funding availability. The position is currently grant-funded for three years, with a strong likelihood of extension.

Job-Specific Responsibilities

Responsibilities will include:

Serve as subject matter expert on topics relating to initiative; serve as a delegate for the PI and other project leads in high-level meetings; serve on Center’s Leadership Team to ensure alignment of goals with Center’s priorities and mission. In consultation with the PI and partner project leads, identify goals and priorities; drive the strategic planning and implementation processes forward. Collaborate with faculty director and peer directors at partner institutions for specific project selection and research design; oversee programmatic work and execution of projects of the three research tracks (Justice, Health & Democracy), aligning with research track leads on content and ensuring deadlines are met and deliverables reached. Develop and implement staffing plan and provide oversight of human resource functions, including recruiting, hiring, and managing staff; explore and secure strategic partnerships; serve as liaison to Faculty Committee and other contributors to promote engagement with projects. Provide fiscal management including oversight of budget planning, and securing additional funding from philanthropic, government, and other sources. Manage sponsored research activities, including grant applications and reporting, in consultation with the Center’s Grants Manager. Develop organizational structure for the work and track workflows, providing project coordination and oversight until all key personnel are in place; manage transitions.

Interview and make hiring decisions for JHD administrative staff, in collaboration with Center staff and JHD team members; serve as supervisor for JHD admin staff (1 non-exempt FTE Project Manager position) and temp workers, as needed; assign and review work, conduct annual performance reviews and take corrective action, up to and through termination, as needed; provide administrative oversight for up to 6 JHD Graduate and 4 Undergraduate student researchers. Provide oversight and execution of administrative functions, including infrastructure development, compliance with Harvard and FAS policies and procedures, and space identification.

Basic Qualifications

Master’s degree; Minimum 5 years of progressively responsible administrative management experience in research, academic, or relevant setting, and including at least 2 years of direct professional staff supervision.

Additional Qualifications and Skills

PhD, MBA, or other terminal professional degree preferred in social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, public health, communications, or other relevant fields. Work experience generating subject area expertise also of interest as alternative to a degree. Familiarity with Harvard is desirable. Demonstrated success leading collaborative projects and achieving exceptional operational results.

Working Conditions

*Harvard will require COVID vaccination for all Harvard community members who will have any on-campus presence. Individuals may claim exemption from the vaccine requirement for medical or religious reasons. More information regarding the University’s COVID vaccination requirement and exceptions may be found at the University’s “COVID-19 Vaccine Information” webpage: http://www.harvard.edu/coronavirus/covid-19-vaccine-information/.

Additional Information

If you believe that you qualify for at least 70% of this job description, we encourage you to apply. We know that imposter syndrome and the confidence gap can prevent strong candidates from applying to a job unless they see themselves as a 100% fit. We would love to hear from you.

This term position will be renewed annually, based on business need and funding availability. The position is currently grant-funded for three years, with a strong likelihood of extension.

All formal offers will be made by FAS HR.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Harvard University

Rank: Fellow-in-Residence

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2022-23 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will continue its focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” Variations in national responses to the pandemic; disparate experiments with technology, economic, and health policies; and conflicts over foundational political institutions have thrown into stark relief different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other) around the world. Myriad challenges - including challenges relating to education, climate and the natural environment, migration, new technologies, public health, elections, racial justice, and economic well-being - call us to revisit and evaluate existing conceptions of the social compact at both national and global levels. We ask, is it time for a new social compact?

We invite applications connected to any dimension of this broad field of inquiry. We see the nature of the questions raised and the challenges to be addressed as so multifaceted as to make this theme not very restrictive; however, in our usual fashion, we will also consider applications that fall outside the parameters of this thematic description. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. 2021-22 will be a transitional year, and our hope is to resume in-person, fully residential programming for the 2022-23 academic year.

In addition, the Center offers the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following centers; potential affiliations are arranged to accommodate those who wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND

Faculty:
We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Doc:
The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2022-23. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioner:
Practitioner stipends are determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience, up to a maximum of $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

To apply, complete an online application form which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics
- CV
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample

Please note: Name and contact information for three professional references will be requested, but no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline to submit an application is November 15, 2021, with decisions likely in February 2022. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Please direct questions regarding this application process to ESafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive

Jobs ID: 9330

Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.
Troy University
Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank, tenure track position in Political Science (with a concentration in American Politics). This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate political science courses in American Politics; teaching master’s degree courses in our public administration (MPA) program, which will be delivered in person as well as online; and advising pre-law students. The position may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

The start date for the position is August 1, 2022. Candidate must have degree in hand by the start date. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021.

Please apply online at: https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/30415

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/9/2021
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 9313

University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth
Rank: Full Time Lecturer
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The University of Massachusetts Dartmouth seeks a full-time lecturer with a strong record in undergraduate teaching and expertise at the intersection of public health, public policy, non-profit/public administration, and health disparities (gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, class, or other areas). Cross-listed courses will support interdisciplinary undergraduate programs in Women and Gender Studies, Health and Society, and Political Science. Initial appointment is for a 2-year contract, with strong possibility for ongoing contract renewal upon successful performance review of teaching, advising, and service.

Applicants must be authorized for employment in the U.S. on a full-time basis. Employment-based visa sponsorship not available.

Starting date is September 1, 2022. The teaching load is 4 preparations per semester for courses across all levels of the curriculum. On-line teaching experience preferred.

Requirements: PhD in Political Science, or in a related social science field. The successful applicant will have a focus on the intersections between public health, public health related policy, non-profit/public administration, and health disparities (gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation/identity, class) and have demonstrated significant experience in undergraduate teaching. Ph.D. required by start date of Sept. 1, 2022; preferred that applicants have Ph.D. in hand by date of application.

To apply: Please send a letter of interest detailing teaching interests and qualifications, a curriculum vitae with contact information for three references, sample course syllabi, and course evaluations (if possible, evaluations should be pre-COVID). Please submit application materials via this link: http://careers.umassd.edu/dartmouth/en-us/job/507850/fulltime-lecturer-in-public-health/public-policy-gender-health

Completion of the search is contingent upon the availability of funding.

Formal review of applications begins October 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 9270

University of Tennessee, Knoxville
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science--Public Policy/Public Administration
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Open

Public Policy/Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in Public Policy/Public Administration. Applicants from any area of the Public Policy/Public Administration fields are welcome, but we are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in public budgeting and finance, public service ethics, non-profit and public management, and/or organizational theory. We are particularly interested in applicants who also have backgrounds in public policy and address substantively important questions related to inequality. We welcome all candidates doing excellent work in these areas, regardless of methodological specialty or approach (including but not limited to those using rigorous analytical approaches including the tools of computational social science and “big data” in their research).

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state’s flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: policsci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, statements of research, teaching, service, and diversity if not included in the cover letter, and teaching evaluations (if available).
Marshall University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Public Administration)

The Marshall University Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, Assistant Professor position in Public Administration beginning in August 2022. Applicants should demonstrate the ability to teach face-to-face and online undergraduate and graduate courses in Public Administration and American Government. Applications should also show evidence of an active research agenda. Marshall is a Carnegie-classified R2 institution. The successful candidate will play an integral role in the continued development of the department’s interdisciplinary MPA program as we build upon our existing strengths to pursue NAASPA accreditation. Our MPA is fully online. To view our curriculum, please visit www.marshall.edu/mpa. Our interdisciplinary MPA program benefits from synergy with the College of Business, Leadership Studies, and Geography. The program expects its faculty and students to contribute to Marshall University’s commitment to civic engagement through applied research and community service activities. Marshall University is an AA/EOE institution committed to developing a diverse faculty and staff.

The department requires a completed Ph.D. by the time of initial appointment in August 2022.

Please submit the following information through our online application website: https://marshall.peopleadmin.com/user/new 1) A cover letter 2) Curriculum vitae 3) Writing sample that suggests evidence of strong research agenda using the “Other Attachment” option. 4) Research statement, including descriptions of future research plans 5) Teaching statement, including descriptions of teaching interests 6) Names and contact information for three academic references. Marshall will contact references directly with instructions for submitting letters through our Applicant Tracking System. 7) Additional documents, e.g., sample syllabi, published articles, if applicable. Submit this information through the “Other Documents” section of the online application. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to ensure full consideration, complete applications must be submitted by 09/30/2021. Applicants interviewing on campus must have official transcripts (undergraduate and graduate) forwarded directly to the chair of the search committee by their degree granting institutions, prior to an on-campus interview.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9172

Miami University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Administration

Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Administration to teach courses across the public administration core and elective curriculum for the undergraduate major and courses for the MA program; advise students; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service; and participate in applied research projects through the Center for Public Management and Regional Affairs. The position will begin in the start of the academic year August 2022.

Required: Doctorate in public policy, political science, or a closely related field (ABDs may apply but all degree requirements must be completed by date of appointment). Doctorate is required by December 31, 2022. To be appointed to the rank of Associate Professor requires collegiate teaching expertise and high-quality research.

Consideration may be given to candidates with substantive expertise in an area of public policy and policy analysis.

Department will request letters of recommendation from references listed in the application. Inquiries may be addressed to Dr. Bryan Marshall at marshbw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin September 10, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9117

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank, tenure track position in Political Science (with a concentration in American Politics). This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate political science courses in American Politics; teaching master’s degree courses in our public administration (MPA) program, which will be delivered in person as well as online; and advising pre-law students. The position may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

The start date for the position is August 1, 2022. Candidate must have degree in hand by the start date. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021.

Please apply online at: https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/30415

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/28/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9091

---

PUBLIC LAW

Florida Atlantic University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Florida Atlantic University invites applications for two tenure-track positions in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor for the 2022-2023 academic year. Candidates should expect to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in American politics and quantitative research methods. Applications reflecting expertise in new techniques and technologies will receive special consideration. Preference will be given to candidates who have a broad range of quantitative methodological expertise in, but not limited to: R, Generalized Linear Models, Multilevel Modeling, and Bayesian approaches.

The Department is deeply committed to a community of excellence, equity, and diversity and welcomes applications from women, under-represented minorities, persons with disabilities, sexual minority groups, and other candidates who will contribute to the diversification and enrichment of ideas and perspectives. Preferred candidates have a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, experience working directly with people from diverse racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic backgrounds, and can demonstrate skill in the understanding of cultural differences.

Hires will have a teaching load of 3/2 and should be able to provide instruction in a variety of modalities, including online, hybrid and in-person. Ability and willingness to lead occasional faculty seminars on new methods are preferred. Candidates should also demonstrate an active research agenda in either methodology or American Politics, which includes potential for outside support through public or private grants. Undergraduate and graduate advising, mentoring, and thesis supervision related to the political science and data science majors are important components of this position.

The new hire will contribute substantially to FAU’s Comparative Studies Ph. D. program and to the M.S. in Data Science and Analytics degree. Depending on their area of study, the new hire may also contribute to interdisciplinary programs and have the opportunity to participate in college or department programs such as the Leon Charney Diplomacy Program and the Advanced Campaigning Program and/or contribute to the Study of the Americas Initiative in the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science from an accredited institution with a focus in American Politics and quantitative methodology. The successful candidate must have the Ph.D. completed by the start of the Fall 2022 semester.

- Salary: Commensurate with Experience

- Location: Boca Raton

- Application Deadline: 2022-01-21-08:00

- Special Instructions to Applicant: This position is open until filled and may close without prior notice. This position is subject to funding.

- Required Documents:
  - FAU’s Career Page permits the attachment of required/requested documentation.
  - Please apply online at: https://fau.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/FAU/job/Boca-Raton/Assistant-Professor-American-Politics_REQ11672/apply

IMPORTANT: There are two positions. Each of the positions is listed separately on the FAU website. For full consideration, you should apply to both of the following listings:

- REQU11672
- REQU11671

PLEASE NOTE: A maximum of five (5) documents may be attached to your application. If more than five (5) documents are required for submission, please combine additional documents into one attachment to not exceed the maximum permitted.

When completing the online application, please upload all required documentation noted here: (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae. Along with the cover letter and CV, please make sure the following is also included:

1. A sample syllabus for a class you have taught or would like to teach
2. A one-page research statement describing your work and future agenda,
3. A statement detailing your approach to engaging with diverse communities and articulating how your teaching, scholarship and/or service would contribute toward fostering an inclusive learning environment on campus,
4. The names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited for candidates placed on the long list).

Transcripts:

The selected candidate for this position is required to submit an official transcript sent directly from the institution is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment. Similarly, for degrees from outside the United States, the evaluation by an organization belonging to the National Association of Credential

---

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Evaluation (NACES), with an indication of the documents the evaluation was prepared from (official transcripts, diplomas, dissertation abstracts) is required for the Provost’s credential file prior to the first day of employment.

Background Screening:

Successful completion of a pre-employment background check is required for the candidate selected for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9607

Northwestern University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Instruction
Specializations: Criminal Justice, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

Northwestern University’s Center for Legal Studies invites applications for a full-time, benefits-eligible, faculty appointment as Assistant or Associate Professor of Instruction, beginning September 1, 2022. This is a teaching-track position that offers good prospects of job security and promotion, contingent upon continuing excellence in job performance. Duties include teaching six quarter-long undergraduate courses per academic year.

We welcome applications from stellar teachers, especially those with proven ability to teach a range of lower- and upper-division courses on law and society. We particularly welcome applicants who can teach courses on criminal law and mass incarceration. Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science, Sociology, or a related field, which must be conferred by September 1, 2022. Preference will be given to candidates who have demonstrated experience working with diverse student communities.

Details regarding promotion and reappointment for teaching-track positions are available online at http://www.weinberg.northwestern.edu/faculty/career/reappointment-promotion/promotion/.

Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, a CV, and the names of three references. Additional materials, including letters of recommendation from listed references, a writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (such as teaching evaluations, syllabi, and a statement of teaching philosophy) will be requested from selected candidates. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by November 12, 2021. Please submit all materials through the application link, accessible at https://legalstudies.northwestern.edu/people/open-positions/apoi2022.html. Address all inquiries to Charlene Mitchell at Charlene.Mitchell@northwestern.edu.

Northwestern University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer and does not discriminate against qualified individuals on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, parental status, marital status, age, disability, citizenship status, veteran status, genetic information, or any other protected class. Individuals from all diverse backgrounds are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States. For more information, please see the University’s Policy on Discrimination and Harassment (https://www.northwestern.edu/equity/documents/discrimination-harassment-policy-resources-procedures-final.pdf). Job applicants who wish to request an accommodation in the application or hiring process should contact the Office of Equity. Additional information on the accommodations process is available at https://www.northwestern.edu/equal-opportunity-access/accommodation/disability.html

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/12/2021
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9586

Towson University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor
Department of Political Science
College of Liberal Arts
CLA-3519

Position:
The College of Liberal Arts invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the Department of Political Science beginning August 2022.

Qualifications:
Applicants with Ph.D. in hand at the time of application will receive preference, although ABDs may be considered if degree will be completed by the spring of 2022. Successful applicants will possess a strong commitment to excellence in teaching, as well as demonstrate a solid potential for a productive scholarly program. The applicant should have a strong methodological background.

Responsibilities:
The position entails teaching the general survey course, The Judicial System, as well as upper-division courses such as The Supreme Court. Additionally, the applicant should be able to develop and teach courses in Courts & Public Policy, and Law & Society. Other responsibilities include advising students in the major and minor, and service to the Department, College and Institution.

As the University is striving to achieve Carnegie’s R2 status, grant-funded research is also a priority. Additionally, Towson University is committed to promoting the values of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and candidates must be sensitive to the needs of, and possess an interest in working with, a diverse student body.

Towson University:
Towson University (https://www.towson.edu/www.towson.edu) was founded in 1866, is recognized by U. S. News and World Reports as one of the top public universities in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions, is Baltimore’s largest university, and is the largest public, comprehensive institution in the University of Maryland System. TU enrolls almost 19,000 undergraduates and over 3,000 graduate students across six academic colleges (business, education, fine arts, health professions, liberal arts, science & mathematics), has almost 900 full-time faculty, and offers more than 65 bachelor’s, 45 master’s, and 5 doctoral programs. Our centrally located campus sits on 330 rolling green acres and is 10 miles north of Baltimore, 45 miles north of Washington D.C., and 95 miles south of Philadelphia.

Application Process:
Review of applications begins January 10, 2022 and continues until the position is filled. Interested applicants should submit the following:
1) letter of intent; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) one sample of written work; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy, and syllabi and teaching evaluations if available; 5) a reflective statement on ways the applicant can contribute to diversity and inclusion; 6) graduate transcripts; and 7) names and addresses, including email addresses, of three (3) references. If selected for the short list, letters of reference will be thereby requested.

Submit all application materials in a single PDF file to this address: https://towson.taleo.net/careersection/fac_ex/jobdetail.ftl?job=210000QBhttps://towson.taleo.net/careersection/fac_ex/jobdetail.ftl?job=210000QB@t/a&amp;

Note that the search number for which you are applying is CLA-3519.

Please direct questions about applications to: Dr. John McTaguemailto:jmctague@towson.edujmctague@towson.edu@t/a&amp;

A Criminal Background Investigation is required for the hired candidate and the results may impact employment.

The safety of our students, faculty, staff, and neighbors has been our top priority and the focus of every one of our decisions since the earliest days of the COVID-19 pandemic. The University System of Maryland (USM) has recently determined that mandating a COVID vaccine for all faculty, staff, and students at all schools in the USM is both a reasonable and necessary means of protecting our health and safety. As a prospective hire at TU, proof of your full COVID-19 vaccination must be demonstrated before you begin employment with the University.

Please be sure to visit the Applicant Data Form to complete a voluntary on-line applicant data form:

The information you provide will inform the university’s affirmative action plan and is for statistical-related purposes only. The information will not be used for any other purpose.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/10/2022
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 9565

Amherst College
Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Law
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, International Law & Organizations, Religion & Politics

Amherst College’s Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a full-time one-year visiting appointment for the 2022–2023 academic year (beginning July 1, 2022). The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the humanities, social sciences, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is in one or more of the following areas: global legality; post-colonial legality; law and science; law and critical race theory; law and religion; legal theory; legal history; and law and culture. The position requires a Ph.D or a J.D.

Applicants should submit electronically to Interfolio http://apply.interfolio.com/96654 a cover letter addressed to Professor Martha M. Umphrey, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on January 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/1/2022
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 9566

Harvard University
Rank: Environmental Fellow
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Science & Technology

APPLICATION DEADLINE: JANUARY 10, 2022

The Harvard University Center for the Environment created the Environmental Fellows program to enable recent doctorate recipients to use and expand Harvard’s extraordinary resources to tackle complex environmental problems. The Environmental Fellows will work for two years with Harvard faculty members in any school or department while also strengthening connections across the University’s academic disciplines.

The Award:

The fellowship includes a salary of $80,000 per year, employee health insurance eligibility, up to $2,500 reimbursement for relocation expenses, and a $2,500 annual allowance for travel and other professional expenses.

The Harvard University Center for the Environment expects to award approximately six fellowships for the 2022 cohort. The Center will organize a co-curricular program to ensure that the fellows get to know each other and each other’s work. All fellows will attend biweekly dinners with their colleagues, faculty members, and guests.

Program Requirements:

• Candidates for 2022 Environmental Fellowships should have received their terminal degree between May 2018 and August 2022.
(Fellows must have filed their dissertation before starting their appointment in September 2022.)

- Candidates with a doctorate or equivalent in any field are eligible, and they may propose research projects in any discipline. Applicants without a Ph.D. may apply if they have studied in fields where the Ph.D. is not the typical terminal degree. All successful candidates will be able to demonstrate experience performing scholarly research.
- Each candidate must secure a commitment from one or more Harvard faculty members to serve as a mentor and to provide office or lab space for the two-year fellowship.
- Candidates may have received their degrees at any university in the world. Foreign nationals are eligible for fellowships, though study at Harvard requires proficiency in English.
- Candidates who received terminal degrees from Harvard, and post-docs currently working at Harvard are eligible for the fellowship provided their research and host arrangements take them in new directions and forge new connections within the University. Harvard candidates should not propose to continue to work with the same professors or lab groups with whom they are currently associated. No candidate should propose to work extensively with their thesis advisor.
- Harvard is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.
- Successful candidates should be prepared to commit to work at Harvard for the full two years of the fellowship. This fellowship requires residency in the Cambridge area and any fieldwork trip must be scheduled for the summer or January recess.

Application Requirements:

1. Please complete the online application form found at https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/106708 by January 10, 2022 at 5 p.m. (ET) and attach the relevant supporting documents as PDFs:
   - A curriculum vitae including list of publications;
   - A detailed research proposal where applicants should explain their specific reasons for applying to a Harvard residential environmental fellowship (maximum of five pages, references counted separately). Note: While applicants should discuss the proposal with their potential faculty hosts, the final product should clearly be the work of the applicant; and
   - Up to three publications/writing samples.
2. Three letters of reference, including one from the applicant’s dissertation adviser.
3. A letter of support is also required from the applicant’s host committing to serve as a mentor and explaining their commitment to the proposed research, including the provision of office or lab space. Hosts should send their letters directly to the attention of James Clem at the Center at environmental_fellows@harvard.edu.

If you have questions about the fellowship or application process, please contact:

James Clem
Harvard University Center for the Environment
26 Oxford Street, 4th Floor
Cambridge MA 02138
617-495-0368
james_clem@harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/10/2022
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 9579

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law

Rank: Gerhard Casper Postdoctoral Fellow in Rule of Law

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Law, Other

The Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law (CDDRL) at Stanford University invites applications for the Gerhard Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2022-23. We welcome research on any aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, and the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdisciplinary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e. social sciences, law) are welcome to apply.

This is a one-year, residential postdoctoral fellowship. Candidates must have earned their PhD or JD within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their dissertations by July 2022. The Gerhard Casper Fellow will be part of CDDRL’s larger cohort of pre- and postdoctoral fellows; for more information, see: https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships

Please apply through the CDDRL fellowship application process, and indicate in your cover letter that you would like to be considered for the Gerhard Casper Rule of Law Postdoctoral Fellowship. Application materials include a CV, cover letter (of no more than 3 pages), a statement of proposed research (5-10 pages), a complete set of transcripts, and 3 letters of recommendation.

The online application is available here: https://webportalapp.com/sp/login/stanford_cddrl_fellowship

For additional questions, please contact fellowship coordinator Kristin Chandler (kdchandl@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9551

Indiana University Kokomo

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy at Indiana University Kokomo invites applications for a full-time, 10-month, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 1, 2022. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field. An appropriate level of university, professional, and community service is required, such as committee work, assessment of the major, and engagement in campus initiatives to increase retention and enrollment.

The course load will be three classes per semester, with an active research agenda. The candidates’ primary field should be American Politics and they should be a generalist able to teach Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory at the introductory level. Preference will be given to those who can teach upper-level classes in one or more of the following fields: public policy; campaigns and elections; political institutions; education policy; environmental policy; law and courts; health policy; gender and politics; or race, ethnicity, and politics. Willingness to teach some classes online and experience doing so are also desirable. The deadline for full consideration is November 8, 2021, but applications will be taken until the position is filled.

One of eight campuses of Indiana University, Indiana University Kokomo is a comprehensive, non-residential campus located 50 miles north of Indianapolis in Kokomo, Indiana, a city of a population of about 50,000. Committed to student success, the campus serves approximately 3,100. IU Kokomo has approximately 260 full-time faculty and staff. Baccalaureate and master’s degrees are offered. Additional information about Indiana University Kokomo can be accessed at http://www.iuk.edu. Persons with disabilities who need assistance to participate in this application process should contact the Office of Affirmative Action at 765-455-9316.

Indiana University Kokomo seeks faculty skilled at working with members of diverse cultures and committed to preparing students to be engaged members of an increasingly diverse society.

Interested candidates should review the application requirement and submit their application at https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/11622. The application must include a letter of application, current CV, evidence of teaching ability, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a statement on diversity. Three professional reference letters should be sent directly to Donna Bevington at dobew@iuk.edu. Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to Andrew McFarland, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History, Chair, Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, annmcfar@iuk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9532

California State University, East Bay
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Pre-Law/Judicial Politics)
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Open
Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

FACULTY EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, EAST BAY
FULL-TIME TENURE-TRACK

THE UNIVERSITY: California State University, East Bay (CSUEB) is a comprehensive university serving the San Francisco Bay Area/Silicon Valley. It is known for award winning programs, expert instruction, its diverse student body, and a choice of more than 100 career-focused fields of study. With an enrollment of approximately 15,000 students and 900 faculty, CSUEB is organized into four colleges. The University offers bachelor’s degrees in 49 fields, minors in 52 fields, master’s degrees in 34 fields, 16 credentials programs, 18 certificate options, and 1 doctoral degree program. http://www20.csueastbay.edu/

California State University East Bay has a mission to support a diverse student body through academically rich and culturally relevant learning experiences. The successful candidate will bring with them expertise or an openness to creating a welcoming and supportive environment for all students. Cal State East Bay, one of the most diverse campuses in the CSU system, welcomes and prepares students to apply their education to meaningful lifework, and to be socially responsible contributors to society.

THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science prepares graduates to enter careers in government, public service, public administration, public policy analysis, legislative advocacy, business, international relations, and teaching. The department offers a B.A. degree that provides both a strong background in social science and excellent professional preparation for students. The major currently offers three distinct paths to completion, the traditional major and options in pre-law and public affairs and administration. Roughly half of our approximately 180 majors are pre-law. The department currently has five tenured or tenure-track faculty.

DUTIES OF THE POSITION: The Department of Political Science at California State University, East Bay seeks an Assistant Professor (tenure track) in Pre-Law, Legal Studies, or Judicial Politics. The successful applicant will also be expected to serve as a Pre-Law advisor and to attend the Pacific Association of Pre-Law Advisors meeting and similar events. In addition to teaching, all faculty have advising responsibilities, assist the department with administrative and/or committee work, and are expected to assume campus-wide committee responsibilities. Please note that teaching assignments at California State University, East Bay may include courses at the Hayward, Concord and Online campuses.

RANK AND SALARY: Assistant Professor. Salary is dependent upon educational preparation and experience. Subject to budgetary authorization.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT: Fall Semester, 2022.

QUALIFICATIONS: The successful candidate must hold a PhD in political science or a closely related social science discipline by the effective date of their appointment. We expect the successful candidate to have demonstrated teaching ability and the potential to have a successful research agenda. The department has a preference for applicants with prior teaching experience. The department also has a preference for an applicant dedicated to helping underrepresented communities find a path toward careers in the legal profession including law school and who shares our investment in social justice, equity, and inclusivity.

Candidates should demonstrate experience in teaching, mentoring, research, or community service that has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence. Additionally, applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly activity. This University is fully committed to the rights of students, staff and faculty with disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. For more information about the University’s program supporting the rights of our students with disabilities see: http://www20.csueastbay.edu/af/departments/as/

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications must be received on or before October 24, 2021 to ensure full consideration. Review will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must submit: 1) A Cover letter that addresses the requirements of the position, 2) A CV, 3) At least one sample of published research or a dissertation chapter, 4) A teaching statement, 5) Course Syllabi (esp. those that demonstrate successful teaching to a diverse student population), 6) A summary of teaching evaluations, 7) A diversity statement of approximately one page (Applicants’ statements should detail how their teaching, research, and/or service has supported the success of students from underrepresented communities in their academic field; applicants who have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further CSUEB’s commitment to social justice, equity and inclusivity), and 8) Name and contact for three confidential letters of recommendation.

Please submit a letter of application, which addresses the qualifications noted in the position announcement; a complete and current vita, and all other materials listed above via PageUp (https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/en-us/job/504626/assistant-professor-of-political-science, see "Apply Now"). Applicants are required to also submit a one-page diversity statement that addresses how you engage a diverse student population in your teaching, research, mentoring, and advising.

Note: California State University, East Bay hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. All offers of employment are contingent upon presentation of documents demonstrating the appointee’s identity and eligibility to work in accordance with provisions of the Immigration Reform and Control Act. A background check (including a criminal records check and prior employment verification) must be completed and cleared prior to the start of employment.

As an Equal Opportunity Employer, CSUEB does not discriminate on the basis of any protected categories: age, ancestry, citizenship, color, disability, gender, immigration status, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran’s status. The University is committed to the principles of diversity in employment and to creating a stimulating learning environment for its diverse student body.

Any questions about the university, position, or application process can be directed to the search committee at ps.search.2122@gmail.com.

Applications close: Open Until Filled
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9508

Georgia State University
Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a full-time Lecturer position in Public Law to begin Fall 2022. Lecturers at GSU are full-time faculty who are eligible for promotion to Senior Lecturer after five years and Principal Senior Lecturer after ten.

Lecturers at GSU have both teaching and service requirements and are full members of the department’s intellectual community and leadership team. In addition to helping the university achieve excellence in undergraduate teaching and serving on MA thesis committees, Lecturers meet a broad array of vital service needs, such as coordinating our core courses, directing undergraduate programs, leading study abroad trips, coaching academic teams, and developing innovative experiential learning courses. GSU is an institutional member of the National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity, and the College of Arts & Sciences supports professional success for all faculty through mentoring programs and representation of faculty from all ranks (including Lecturers) in college-level program development.

Designated as a minority-serving institution, GSU has one of the most diverse study bodies in the country and is nationally recognized for its record in student success regardless of race, ethnicity, and income level. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative teaching and research by building a diverse faculty. Among the core values of the department are diversity, equity and inclusion. We invite people of all backgrounds and identities, including, but not limited to races, ages, ethnicities, nationalities, religious beliefs, genders, sexual orientations, and abilities, to apply for this position. (The department’s full vision, mission and values statement is here: https://bit.ly/3DZ6Y0n).

Required Qualifications:
- Ability to teach courses related to public law such as: Judicial Politics and Process, Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Constitutional Law, Introduction to American Law and/or other courses of particular interest to the candidate, both online and in-person.
- Ability to deliver effective online instruction and a commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates.
- Interest in teaching and mentoring students of diverse backgrounds to promote excellence in undergraduate learning.
- A Ph.D., in hand or evidence that a PhD will be awarded by Summer 2022.

Preferred Qualifications
- Ability to teach more specialized courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics
- Academic interest in pursuing the scholarship of teaching and learning.

Applicants should send a letter of application that details how the essential and preferred qualifications are met, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and any additional evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate detailed statement addressing how they will facilitate a diverse and inclusive learning environment both in and outside of the classroom. Finally, applicants should provide a list of at least three professional references (name, title, email address, and telephone number) who are willing to provide letters of reference in the future. Please submit all materials electronically to polssearch@gsu.edu, indicating NTT Public Law Position in the subject line. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials submitted by this date will be given full consideration.

GSU is a highly diverse urban research university located in downtown Atlanta. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University is an equal opportunity employer. It continues to be the policy of the University to implement affirmative action and equal opportunity for all employees, students, contractors, consultants and applicants for employment or admission without regard to race, color, religion, creed, national origin, sex, age, gender, transgender status, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or disability. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Mount Holyoke College

Assistant Professor of Politics

Department of Politics

Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Public Law. The position will be filled at the assistant professor level beginning in Fall 2022. Ph.D. in political science or related discipline is required. Teaching load is 2/2. Salary is competitive.

Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law. The ability to offer an undergraduate course in research methods is a plus.

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory American Politics course and a course in the subfield of public law, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate will have demonstrated record of strong teaching at the undergraduate level and experience mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is November 15, 2021. Please include contact information for three references as part of your application. Reference letters will be requested at a later date in the search process.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is a women’s college that is gender diverse. The College is committed to providing equal access and opportunity in employment and education to all students and employees. In compliance with state and federal law, Mount Holyoke College does not discriminate on the basis of race, ethnicity, color, genetic information, sex, national or ethnic origin, religion, age, physical or mental disability, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity or expression, ancestry, veteran or military status, or any other legally protected status under federal, state or local law. The College does not discriminate on the basis of gender in the recruitment and admission of students to its graduate program.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.
Candidates must hold Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of employment and demonstrate evidence of teaching and research promise.

SPECIAL CONDITIONS
The person holding this position is considered a ‘mandated reporter’ under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Following a conditional offer of employment, a background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate may start work with CSUSB. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may result in the withdrawal of the offer of employment. Note: CSUSB cannot deny an applicant a position solely or in part due to a criminal conviction history until it has performed an individualized assessment and linked the relevant conviction history with specific job duties in the position being sought. Please note: Current employees who are offered positions on campus will be required to undergo a background check for any position where a background check is required by law or that CSUSB has designated as sensitive. Sensitive positions are those requiring heightened scrutiny of individuals holding the position based on potential for harm to children, concerns for the safety and security of people, animals, or property, or heightened risk of financial loss to CSUSB or individuals in the university community.

For health and well-being, CSUSB is a smoke & tobacco-free campus. The university is committed to promoting a healthy environment for all members of our community.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT
To find out more about the Department of Political Science:
http://csbs.csusb.edu/political-science.

For more information regarding the position, please contact:
Recruitment Chair
Dr. Meredith Conroy
(909) 537-5414
mconroy@csusb.edu

Department Chair
Dr. Scot Zentner
(909) 537-5480
zentner@csusb.edu

HOW TO APPLY
Please submit
1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Cover Letter that includes:
   a. A statement of your teaching interest/philosophy
   b. A statement of your research experience/plans
3. If available, evidence of teaching effectiveness such as teaching portfolios, reports on teaching observations, and/or student evaluations of teaching.
4. Unofficial copies of all postsecondary degree transcripts (official transcripts will be required prior to appointment).
5. Reference List - names, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three (3) referees whom we may contact to obtain letters of recommendation. Confidential letters of recommendation will be solicited from those listed as references on the application if the applicant is moved forward in the recruitment process. Non-confidential letters of recommendation can be uploaded by the applicant during the application process.
6. Diversity Statement, which may include your interpretation of diversity, equity and inclusion, and must include specific examples of how your background and your educational and/or professional experiences have prepared you for this role at California State University, San Bernardino (maximum 1,000 words).

Formal review of applications will begin November 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

If you are interested in this opportunity, we invite you to apply by using this CSU Recruitment hyperlink at:

Salary is commensurate with experience.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a “mandated reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

California State University, San Bernardino is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status. This position adheres to CSU policies against Sex Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Violence, including Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, and Stalking. This requires completion of Sexual Violence Prevention Training within 6 months of assuming employment and on a two-year basis thereafter. (Executive Order 1096)

This position may be “Designated” under California State University’s Conflict of Interest Code. This would require the filing of a Statement of Economic Interest on an annual basis and the completion of training within 6 months of assuming office and every 2 years thereafter. Visit the Human Resources Conflict of Interest webpage link for additional information:
https://www.csusb.edu/human-resources/current-employees/employee-relations/conflict-interest

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9371

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

Political Science Jobs

November 2021
Harvard University
Rank: Director of Content & Strategy, The Justice Health and Democracy (JHD) Impact Initiative

The Justice Health and Democracy (JHD) Impact Initiative at Harvard University’s Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics (EJSCE) seeks a Director of Content & Strategy.

This is a new, grant-funded position that will be situated within the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics. At present, the Center has two major strategic initiatives, and the new JHD Director of Content & Strategy will oversee one of these—the Justice, Health, and Democracy Initiative. A collaboration with New America and Brown School of Public Health, the JHD Initiative develops principled, accessible policy guidance, designed for practitioner use, particularly focused on the intersecting problems of public trust, health equity, justice, democratic participation, and political economy, in the U.S. and around the globe. Through the Justice, Health and Democracy (JHD) Impact Initiative, EJSCE experts, in collaboration with colleagues at New America and Brown, work directly with local leaders and practitioners in a range of professional contexts to clarify overarching policy needs and objectives anchored in ethical principles, and to develop practical approaches to a new social contract that improves people’s lives. The model is multidisciplinary and responsive to the on-the-ground issues that practitioners face. It connects expertise to the needs of practice with “orient-do-learn-do” cycles of research, policy implementation and locally-driven innovation. The model is building an innovative approach to translational work (i.e. making academic expertise accessible to practitioners in real time) for the social sciences and humanities.

The JHD Initiative encompasses multiple project workstreams on themes ranging from genetic science and health equity to Covid recovery and technology and democracy. Each workstream is headed by a faculty member, post-doctoral fellow, or graduate student, often with the support of graduate and/or undergraduate research assistants and staff. The translational process involves agenda setting, stakeholder mapping and engagement, development of clear deliverable objectives, project management, dissemination, and implementation hand-offs. In addition, the JHD Initiative partners with on-campus initiatives to support webinars and programs building on the JHD research and translational work. The Principal Investigator for the JHD is Nien-hê Hsieh, Acting Director for the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics.

The JHD Director of Content & Strategy will engage in direction-setting and substantive work related to the project workstreams while also assuming overall project management and coordination from the PI. This will involve hiring key staff in the areas of project management and research, as well as coordinating closely with EJSCE leadership on hires for communications. In addition, the role involves establishing operational processes, tracking and managing workflow for the existing team as the professional team gets fully built out, and creating and managing budgets. The JHD Director of Content & Strategy will work in close collaboration with Professor Hsieh on all of the above. This position will also join the leadership team at the EJSCE and will work with the Executive Director to ensure alignment of the JHD initiative with the overall mission of the Center. As a leadership team member, the JHD Director of Content & Strategy will be responsible for internal communications with EJSCE staff related to the JHD initiative and for partnering with other leadership team members to ensure smooth operations across all domains of EJSCE work.

This term position will be renewed annually, based on business need and funding availability. The position is currently grant-funded for three years, with a strong likelihood of extension.

Job-Specific Responsibilities

Responsibilities will include:

Serve as subject matter expert on topics relating to initiative; serve as a delegate for the PI and other project leads in high-level meetings; serve on Center’s Leadership Team to ensure alignment of goals with Center’s priorities and mission. In consultation with the PI and partner project leads, identify goals and priorities; drive the strategic planning and implementation processes forward.

Collaborate with faculty director and peer directors at partner institutions for specific project selection and research design; oversee programmatic work and execution of projects of the three research tracks (Justice, Health & Democracy), aligning with research track leads on content and ensuring deadlines are met and deliverables reached. Develop and implement staffing plan and provide oversight of human resource functions, including recruiting, hiring, and managing staff; explore and secure strategic partnerships; serve as liaison to Faculty Committee and other contributors to promote engagement with projects.

Provide fiscal management including oversight of budget planning, and securing additional funding from philanthropic, government, and other sources.

Manage sponsored research activities, including grant applications and reporting, in consultation with the Center’s Grants Manager. Develop organizational structure for the work and track workflows, providing project coordination and oversight until all key personnel are in place; manage transitions.

Interview and make hiring decisions for JHD administrative staff, in collaboration with Center staff and JHD team members; serve as supervisor for JHD admin staff (1 non-exempt FTE Project Manager position) and temp workers, as needed; assign and review work, conduct annual performance reviews and take corrective action, up to and through termination, as needed; provide administrative oversight for up to 6 JHD Graduate and 4 Undergraduate student researchers. Provide oversight and execution of administrative functions, including infrastructure development, compliance with Harvard and FAS policies and procedures, and space identification.

Basic Qualifications

Master’s degree; Minimum 5 years of progressively responsible administrative management experience in research, academic, or relevant setting, and including at least 2 years of direct professional staff supervision.

Additional Qualifications and Skills

PhD, MBA, or other terminal professional degree preferred in social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, public health, communications, or other relevant fields. Work experience generating subject area expertise also of interest as alternative to a degree. Familiarity with Harvard is desirable. Demonstrated success leading collaborative projects and achieving exceptional operational results.

Working Conditions

*Harvard will require COVID vaccination for all Harvard community members who will have any on-campus presence. Individuals may claim exemption from the vaccine requirement for medical or religious reasons. More information regarding the University’s COVID vaccination requirement and exceptions may be found at the University’s “COVID-19 Vaccine Information” webpage: http://www.harvard.edu/coronavirus/covid-19-vaccine-information/.

Additional Information

If you believe that you qualify for at least 70% of this job description, we encourage you to apply. We know that imposter syndrome and the confidence gap can prevent strong candidates from applying to a job unless they see themselves as a 100% fit. We would love to hear from you.

This term position will be renewed annually, based on business need and funding availability. The position is currently grant-funded for three years, with a strong likelihood of extension.

All formal offers will be made by FAS HR.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9331

Moravian University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The political science department of Moravian University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics at the assistant professor level for a position starting Fall 2022.

Candidates must have completed a PhD or be ABD near completion in political science with a specialization in American politics by August 2022. Previous teaching experience is required. The successful applicant will be responsible for teaching introductory courses in US politics along with intermediate and advanced courses such as Congress and the presidency, constitutional law, civic rights, policy, and political culture. The political science department at Moravian University emphasizes engaged teaching and mentoring to prepare students for informed engagement in political and public affairs through a purposeful consideration of the theoretical nature of politics, the ends towards which politics can be directed, and the means employed to achieve those ends. Our citizenship in theory and practice track focuses on providing opportunities for students to participate in professional organizations and societies, complement existing faculty expertise in the four main subfields of political science, and contribute to interdisciplinary research and teaching collaborations between the School of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences and the School of Natural and Health Sciences.

Teach introductory, intermediate, and advanced political science courses

Mentor undergraduate student research

Participate and direct Student Opportunities for Academic Research (SOAR) Projects

Contribute to the University’s commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic community and participate in faculty self-governance with a high level of collegiality.

Our department welcomes applications from women, candidates of color, and other underrepresented groups. The University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer.

The deadline for applications is December 15, 2021.
All positions are subject to budget availability.

QUALIFICATIONS: A Ph.D. in political science with a specialization in American politics should be completed or near completion by August 2022.

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach the following to their online application by clicking “Apply Now”: (1) a cover letter that includes a statement of research interest; (2) a teaching statement including your approach to considering the global context of U.S. politics; (3) a statement addressing your approach to diversity, equity and inclusion; (4) a CV; (5) a graduate transcript; (6) a sample of scholarly writing; (7) two sample course syllabi; (8) two sets of course evaluations; (9) contact information, including email addresses, for three individuals who will provide letters of reference by December 15, 2021. Please attach documents as a single PDF file.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Khristina Haddad, chair of the political science department at haddadk@moravian.edu.

The application deadline is December 15, 2021; review of applications will begin immediately.

Incomplete applications will not be considered.

DEI Statement

Moravian University aspires to be a welcoming community that embraces and values the diversity of all members of the campus community. Learn more about the Office for Diversity, Equity, and Deep respect for others is fundamental to the Moravian University community. Moravian University does not discriminate against any person based on actual or perceived race, color, sex, religion, ancestry, genetic information, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, familial status, marital status, age, veteran status, disability, use of guide or support animals and/or mechanical aids, or any other basis protected by applicable federal, state, or local laws. In compliance with the requirements of Title IX, Moravian University does not discriminate on the basis of sex in its educational program and activity, including employment.

Concerns regarding all forms of discrimination, including sexual harassment and/or sex discrimination in employment:

Leah M. Naso
Title IX Coordinator/Compliance Officer
210 Colonial Hall
Moravian University
1200 Main St.
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
(610) 861-1529
TitleIX@moravian.edu

Concerns regarding gender and equity in athletics:
Rebecca May
Assistant Athletic Director
148 Johnston Hall
Moravian University
1200 Main St.
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
(610) 625-7791
mayr@moravian.edu

Concerns regarding the application of Title IX:
U.S. Department of Education
Office of Civil Rights
100 Penn Square East, Suite 515
Philadelphia, PA 19107-3323
(215) 656-8541
ocr.philadelphia@ed.gov

Report sexual harassment/sex discrimination online anytime (can be anonymous) at www.moravian.edu/titleix. Grievance procedures can be found in the institutional Equal Opportunity, Harassment, and Non-Discrimination Policy at www.moravian.edu/policy.

Please visit moravian.edu/benefits to review benefits offered at Moravian University.*

WORK ENVIRONMENT:
The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job.

The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

Pursuant to the ADA, Moravian University will provide reasonable services and accommodation(s) to employees with qualified disabilities in order to perform the essential functions of their employment, except when doing so would be unduly disruptive and/or result in undue hardship to the University. Accommodations are determined on a case-by-case basis through documentation review and an interactive interview process that includes the employee’s supervisor. Requests for accommodation or questions about this process should be directed to Human Resources at hr@moravian.edu or 610.861.1527. View the standard physical demands for positions at Moravian University. If this position requires additional or different demands, a Human Resources team member will notify you.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

*Please visit this link to review the benefit eligibility status associated with this position.

ABOUT THE ORGANIZATION Moravian University offers students a private education they will not find anywhere else: personal attention and preparation for life with a record of success longer than our nation’s history. Located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs, Moravian University has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change since 1742. Moravian University is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian University focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9171

University of Washington
Rank: Assistant Professor: Law, Societies & Justice
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

Position Description
The Department of Law, Societies & Justice (LSJ) at the University of Washington in Seattle invites applications for a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor who specializes in the social scientific study of race/ethnicity as it relates to law, rights, and justice. This position holds a 9-month service term and is expected to start in September 2022. LSJ offers undergraduate students a dynamic and engaged interdisciplinary liberal arts education focused on law, rights, and justice. LSJ also offers a graduate certificate in socio-legal studies for PhD students from a variety of disciplines. The successful candidate will teach a large introductory course that focuses on law, rights, and justice as well as other courses that reflect their areas of expertise. University of Washington faculty engage in teaching, research and service.

Qualifications
LSJ seeks to hire a scholar whose research and teaching focus on race, ethnicity, law, and rights, and whose scholarship includes topics not
Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Lecturer in Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for an 18-month, full time non-tenure track position, to teach undergraduate classes in the field of public law, beginning January 1, 2022 and concluding after the spring 2023 semester. (Contract end date June 30 2023.) Appointment is eligible for renewal. The appointment entails a 6-course teaching load (3/3) per academic year, a salary of $62,912, and includes full health and pension benefits. PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. Review of applications will begin after the priority deadline Sept 20, 2021.

The successful candidate will teach courses in the department’s undergraduate curriculum, especially our large lecture course introduction to public law and advanced classes in public law, constitutional law, American politics, and public policy. Experience working with graduate student teaching assistants a definite plus, as is research or teaching experience in government and business and regulatory policy. Applicants should have a track record of successful teaching they can document with syllabi and/or student evaluations.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other classification protected by law.

Applications must be submitted through Rutgers University Human Resources website at: https://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/138319

Wheaton College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Other

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at Wheaton College in Norton, Massachusetts invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics to begin Fall 2022. The ideal candidate will possess the ability to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, judicial politics and other courses in the candidate’s areas of specialization. Teaching responsibilities include introductory sections of U.S. government & politics, and research methods. We are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching specializations at the intersection of race, class, gender, and/or sexuality.

Classroom experience is highly desirable. The promise of excellence in teaching and scholarship is required. We are committed to providing our students with excellent educational and co-curricular opportunities, and our faculty has significant mentoring experience with new teachers in postdoctoral and junior faculty appointments. For example, we offer regular programming in professional development and all tenure-track faculty are entitled to a fully paid pre-tenure sabbatical and research funds to support scholarship. A Ph.D. in Political Science (with an emphasis in judicial politics) is preferred. ABDs will be considered. If the candidate does not have the Ph.D. in hand, they will be hired as an instructor until the degree is obtained. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Gerry Huiskamp, Chair and Professor, Political Science, huiskamp_gerard@wheatoncollege.edu.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to careers@wheatoncollege.edu.

To apply please visit our website https://jobs.wheatoncollege.edu/postings/3166. Instructions to applicants will be listed on our website, with the following materials required: letter of application describing your areas of specialty and a statement about your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; a graduate transcript; at least one scholarly writing sample; materials on your teaching history, including sample syllabi, course evaluations, and any other materials you wish to provide. Wheaton strives to be a community supportive of diverse perspectives and
To apply or for more detailed information visit https://careers.mtsu.edu. MTSU is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that values diversity in all its forms. Women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9625

University of Houston
Rank: Assistant Professor - Sustainable Energy Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Open
Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, Regulatory Policy

The Hobby School of Public Affairs and the Cullen College of Engineering at the University of Houston seek to hire a Presidential Frontier Faculty tenure-track faculty member at the rank of assistant professor specializing in sustainable energy policy. The Presidential Frontier Faculty program is a university-wide integrated interdisciplinary hiring campaign that is overseen by central university leadership, and encompasses hiring a large cohort of convergence research faculty to work on health, energy, sustainability and security. The position will begin in the Fall of 2022. We are interested in applicants who will help chart the future research and teaching on sustainable energy with fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset.

This joint position, with the Hobby School of Public Affairs being the primary college, is part of the energy thrust of the Presidential Frontier Faculty program. The energy thrust focuses on three areas: hydrogen; carbon capture, utilization, and storage; and energy storage. This thrust includes policy and business as new energy sources will need to overcome policy and regulatory hurdles as they are scaled up to industrial levels. The scientific and engineering challenges pertaining to energy conversion, storage and transmission are arguably the most compelling imperatives for our society. While most drivers of the transformation of the energy sector demand scientific and engineering breakthroughs which are seemingly internal to the industry, others come from economic, legal and political opportunities and constraints. Hence cutting-edge research and education on energy and sustainability should identify the nature of the problems that would require policy interventions; identify the scope of the required fiscal and regulatory changes; characterize the political economy considerations for the enactment and execution of the policies; and propose regulatory or statutory reforms needed.

The Hobby School faculty includes experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy. The Department of Petroleum Engineering in the Cullen College is a center of world-class petroleum engineering education, research, and service in the city of Houston, the hub of the world’s petroleum industry. This faculty search seeks to complement the collective expertise of the Cullen College of Engineering and the Hobby School of Public Affairs, and integrate with a campus-wide multidisciplinary faculty hiring effort among, including both units, the Bauer College of Business and other schools, colleges, departments and centers across campus.

Duties and Responsibilities:

This position is designed to be a career-building step for scholars in sustainable energy and sustainable energy policy. Primary duties for the scholar are to develop his or her research program in environmental policy with applications to problems pertaining to the public policy... dimensions of promoting the energy transition. In the selection process, the search committee will prioritize collaborative scholars who: (1) engage in nationally-recognized, interdisciplinary work on significant public policy issues, (2) work with diverse populations, communities, and organizations, (3) demonstrate an eagerness to contribute to undergraduate and graduate education and student success, and (4) pursue grants, awards, and other sources of funding to support research, academic programming, student success, community engagement, and impact.

Application Instructions:

Interested individuals should apply at https://jobs.uh.edu and provide: (1) a letter of interest, (2) evidence of teaching effectiveness and commitment to mentoring students, (3) a statement of research specialization and interests, (4) three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation, (5) a curriculum vita, and (6) up to three representative papers. Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants but not for senior applicants (we will inform applicants prior to asking for letters in that case). Review of candidates will start on November 1, 2021; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

About the Department of Petroleum Engineering, the Hobby School of Public Affairs and the University of Houston:

The Hobby School of Public Affairs was created in 2016 by the University of Houston System. Incoming faculty will have the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology, leadership development, and ethical analysis in its teaching, training, and research. It is the home of UH’s Center for Public Policy, Survey Research Institute, and Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center for Ethics and Leadership. The Hobby School offers: (1) a Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree, (2) a dual degree program combining public policy with degrees in other fields—multidisciplinary studies (UH’s Honors College), business, economics, law, psychology, and social work, (3) certificate programs in data analytics, energy policy, health care policy, public policy, and public administration, and (4) BS and BA degrees in public policy starting in January, 2022. We are in the planning process for launching a PhD program. The Hobby School also runs the Institute on the Empirical Implication of Theoretical Models (ETTM) and offers workshops in social science methods under the Inter-University Consortium of Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Institute.

The Hobby School and the Cullen College of Engineering are well-positioned for impactful research. Houston is the nation’s fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with its: (a) growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the world’s largest medical center (the Texas Medical Center), (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) diverse population, (d) outstanding, diverse restaurants, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected groups members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: UH Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy https://uhsystem.edu/compliance-ethics/_docs/am/01/1d51.pdf The position is also subject to the University of Houston’s background check policy.

Qualifications:

Required: PhD in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics, Engineering, Environmental Studies or related fields. Applicants with, or nearing completion of, a doctoral degree in fields mentioned above will also be considered. The successful candidate is likely to demonstrate expertise in quantitative methods, potential for publishing research, a collaborative/respectful approach to work, and the ability to effectively manage multiple projects to achieve performance objectives. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply. The applicant must also have strong written and oral communication skills.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for faculty appointments and will be requested upon selection of the final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/ Letter of Application, Research Statement, Publications, Evidence of Effective Teaching

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/26/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9624

Hobby School of Public Affairs
Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Health and Health Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Open
Specializations: Health Care, Economic Policy, Political Economy

The Hobby School of Public Affairs and Department of Economics at the University of Houston (UH) seek to hire a Presidential Frontier Faculty tenure-track faculty member at the rank of assistant professor in the fields of public health and health policy, to begin in the Fall of 2022. The Presidential Frontier Faculty program is a university-wide integrated interdisciplinary hiring campaign that is overseen by central university leadership, and encompasses hiring a large cohort of convergence research faculty to work on health, energy, sustainability, and security. This search is part of a university-wide, multi-year, integrated, visionary hiring campaign to attract top scholars to support the University of Houston’s research focus on building an infrastructure for sustainable communities. We are interested in applicants who will bring fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset. Our faculty include experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy and economics. We seek to complement that collective expertise with this hire.
Competitive candidates will have expertise in areas including, but not limited to, health policy, public health, the economics of healthcare markets, and determinants of individual health outcomes with a focus on economic and social disruptions in the face of global climate change. Their approach to research may include, but is not limited to, survey methods, randomized control trials, policy evaluation, and structural and quantitative models.

About the Hobby School and Department of Economics:

The Hobby School of Public Affairs was created in 2016 by the University of Houston System. Incoming faculty will have the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology, leadership development, and ethical analysis in its teaching, training, and research. It is the home of UH’s Center for Public Policy, Survey Research Institute, and Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center for Ethics and Leadership. The Hobby School offers: (1) a Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree, (2) a dual degree program combining public policy with degrees in other fields—multidisciplinary studies (UH’s Honors College), business, economics, law, psychology, and social work, (3) certificate programs in data analytics, energy policy, health care policy, public policy, and public administration, and (4) BS and BA degrees in public policy starting in January, 2022. We are in the planning process for launching a PhD program. The Hobby School also runs the Institute on the Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) and offers workshops in social science methods under the Inter-University Consortium of Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Institute.

The Department of Economics is a research-oriented department which operates at the frontier of the profession. It has strength in applied microeconomics with specialists in labor markets, health, public economics, and development, as well as a group of macroeconomists with a focus on time-series analysis, international trade and finance, risk-sharing, and growth. Faculty members are associates of the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER) and the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR), and serve on editorial boards at general interest and top field journals. The department offers a PhD program, a Master’s in Applied Economics, and undergraduate BA and BS degrees that includes a Quantitative Certificate for students undertaking more rigorous coursework. In addition to regular seminars with leading economists from around the world, the department co-organizes conferences on international economics with the Federal Reserve and Bank of Mexico, macroeconomics with other research universities in Texas, and applied microeconomics with other Texas universities with support from the Stata Institute.

The University of Houston is a Carnegie-designated Tier One research institution and is the flagship campus of a state-assisted higher education system that enrollment of 70,000 students. The University of Houston is recognized as one of the most racially and ethnically diverse research institutions in the nation. As such, we welcome candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence.

Houston itself is a laboratory for the future. The city reflects what is happening in the United States and around the world in terms of demographic, cultural, political, and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (1) a growing economy, including a vibrant energy sector, robust manufacturing, a bustling port that serves as a hub for international trade, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center—the world’s largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award-winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) a relatively low cost of living among large cities.

Application Instructions: Interested individuals should apply at https://jobs.uh.edu and provide: (1) a letter of interest, (2) evidence of teaching effectiveness and commitment to mentoring students, (3) a statement of research specialization and interests, (4) three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation, (5) a curriculum vita, and (6) up to three representative papers. Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants but not for senior applicants (we will inform applicants prior to asking for letters in that case). Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committee anticipates holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and will favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at http://www.uh.edu/af/universityservices/policies/sam/1GenAdmin/1DS.pdf.

Qualifications:
PhD or Doctorate in related fields required.

In the selection process, the search committee will prioritize collaborative scholars who: (1) engage in nationally-recognized, interdisciplinary work on significant public health and health policy issues, (2) work with diverse populations, communities, and organizations, (3) demonstrate an eagerness to contribute to undergraduate and graduate education and student success, and (4) pursue grants, awards, and other sources of funding to support research, academic programming, student success, community engagement, and impact.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for faculty appointments and will be requested upon selection of the final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/ Letter of Application, Teaching Philosophy or Statement, Research Statement, Publications

https://uhs.taleo.net/careersection/ex2_uhf/jobdetail.ftl?job=FAC001986&tz=GMT-05%3A00&tzname=America%2FCentral

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Ithaca College
Rank: Diversity Scholar Pre/Post Doc

Politics Department Diversity Scholar Pre and Post-Doctoral Fellowship

The School of Humanities and Sciences at Ithaca College announces its Diversity Scholars Fellowship Program search for 2022-2023. Applications for Politics Department Diversity Scholar Fellowship are welcome.

Please read the following descriptions and include reference to specific criteria in your cover letter.

We are especially interested in candidates from underrepresented groups, and who work in the areas of U.S. Politics and Public Policy.

Special consideration will be given to candidates whose work is in primarily in U.S.-focused Ethnic, Race, Social and/or Gender Justice/Studies, Constitutionalism, Transnational and/or Internationalist Politics (or the intersections of U.S. and International Politics) and one or more of the following policy fields: Immigration, Environmental, Public Health, Housing, Indigenous, and Labor Policy.

More information on the Politics Department, and contact information here: https://www.ithaca.edu/academics/school-humanities-and-sciences/politics

Interested applicants must apply online and include (1): unofficial transcripts from an accredited PhD granting institution; (2) a cover letter outlining your teaching philosophy, teaching experience if any, dissertation research and timeline to completion (if applicable) and experience working with underrepresented groups in you teaching and/or research or service.; (3) a CV; (4) one syllabus of a course you propose to teach and (5); name and contact information of candidate’s doctoral advisor. The committee will begin reviewing application on November 29th.

IC Diversity Fellows Program
The Ithaca College Diversity Fellows Program was created to increase the racial and ethnic diversity of Ithaca College faculty and, in so doing, bring fresh perspectives to the college’s curriculum and the learning experiences offered to students.

Fellowships are for the academic year (August 15, 2022 to May 31, 2023) and are non-renewable. Fellows will receive a $42,000 stipend, $5,000 in travel/professional development support, relocation reimbursement, office space, health benefits, and access to Ithaca College and Cornell University libraries. Fellows will teach one course in the fall semester and one course in the spring semester; will be mentored by a faculty member in the host department; will be expected to participate in one official function per semester and monthly professionalization meetings; and must partake in an exit-interview.

Applicants must be enrolled in (pre-doc) or have graduated from (post-doc) an accredited program Ph.D. program; display a commitment to a career in teaching at the college or university level and scholarly promise. Applicants must also be authorized to work in the United States. Prior to August 15, 2022, fellows applying as a pre-doctoral fellow must be advanced to candidacy at their home institution, with an approved dissertation proposal. Preference for the pre-doctoral fellows will be given to candidates in the last year of dissertation writing. Candidates applying for a post-doctoral position must have completed their degrees no more that three years prior to the start of the fellowship year. Preference will be given to those who have finished their degree during the year preceding the fellowship.

Questions about online application should be directed to the Office of Human Resources at (607) 274-8000. Questions about the Diversity Scholars Program should be directed to Belisa González at bgonzalez@ithaca.edu or 607-274-3921.

Visa sponsorship is not provided for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/15/2022
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 9615

University of Iowa College of Public Health
Rank: Open-rank tenure-track Faculty Position

The Department of Health Management and Policy in the College of Public Health at the University of Iowa invites applications for an open-rank tenure-track faculty position. We seek candidates with expertise in Health Services Research, Health Economics, Health Organization and Behavior, or Health Policy.

The successful candidate must provide evidence of peer reviewed publications and/or research productivity commensurate with years of professional experience. Candidates seeking the position at rank of Associate of Full Professor must demonstrate evidence of extramural funding support and the ability to mentor junior faculty. Candidates at rank of Assistant Professor must show promise of obtaining extramural funding. Candidates must be able to demonstrate an ability to offer instruction and mentorship within departmental degree programs. Candidates must have training and experience in health services research methods broadly defined.

Candidates must possess a doctoral degree in Health Services Research or related field at the time of appointment, examples include economics, political science, public administration, public health, public policy, or sociology. The candidate should be able to engage in multidisciplinary collaboration between academic departments across the university, with public health agencies, and with non-government organizations. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to promoting a diverse academic environment.

The Department of Health Management and Policy is one of five academic units within the College. The Department of Health Management and Policy has 11 primary faculty members who serve as PIs on over $18 million in research grants and contracts and 54 adjunct professors. The Department has strong collaborative relationships with non-government organizations and state agencies, University of Iowa Health Care, and the Iowa City VA Health Care System, as well as with other colleges, departments, and centers throughout the University. The Department’s PhD, MHA, EMHA, MS and MPH in Policy programs have an excellent history of recruiting, training, and placing graduates. The Department’s over 1,100 alumni work in a wide variety of healthcare settings, academic units, government, consulting, and professional organizations throughout the nation and internationally.
Political Science Jobs

and provide significant financial, instructional, and advisory resources to the Department. The College is in a beautiful state-of-the-art, LEED Platinum building. Iowa City http://www.thinkiowacity.org is one of the most livable cities in America with a moderate cost of living, nationally ranked public schools and healthcare facilities, numerous recreation and leisure options, and diverse cultural and employment opportunities.

The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment free from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, age, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, religion, association with a qualified individual with a disability, or status as a protected veteran.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9616

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Rank: Assistant Professor

American Politics: The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, with appointment beginning July 1, 2022. We seek a scholar doing innovative research in any area of American politics or public policy. We welcome applications from scholars whose work crosses traditional subfield or disciplinary boundaries, who show promise of research excellence and a desire to train and work with a diverse body of students.

The Political Science department at UNC is committed to a vision of the University where all members of the community feel welcome, valued, and can thrive. The ideal candidate will share in this commitment. Accordingly, applicants should describe in their cover letters the specific ways in which their scholarship, mentoring, and service goals can support this vision.

Review of applications will begin November 8, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link: https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/213797. Please include a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, evidence of teaching excellence, and diversity statement. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see http://help.interfolio.com/enTRIES/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.”

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/25/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9619

Lingnan University
Rank: Professor / Associate Professor / Assistant Professor
Specializations: East Asia, Political Behavior, Environmental Policy

Lingnan University, a distinctive liberal arts institution in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, is committed to the provision of quality whole-person education by combining the best of Chinese and Western liberal arts traditions. It strives to pursue excellence in teaching, learning, scholarship and community engagement. With three academic Faculties, it offers a wide range of undergraduate degree programmes in arts, business and social sciences. Lingnan’s liberal arts education is characterised by a broad-based interdisciplinary curriculum with specialised disciplinary studies; close student-staff relationship; a vibrant residential campus; ample global learning opportunities; active community engagement and multifarious workplace experience. The School of Graduate Studies also offers postgraduate programmes up to doctoral level in various disciplines and provides professional education for the wider society. Applications are now invited for the following post, which will be tenable from mid-August 2022 or by mutual agreement.

Professor / Associate Professor / Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science
(Post Ref.: 21/263/APS)

The Department of Political Science (https://www.LN.edu.hk/polsci/) is committed to preparing students for a competitive and globalized working environment. The Department combines teaching and research in the governance and public policy of Hong Kong and China, international politics, Asian international relations, and comparative politics. It contributes with the Department of Applied Psychology, the Department of Economics and the Department of Sociology and Social Policy to the integrated Social Sciences Programme in the University, having embarked on a 4-year curriculum with a disciplinary major in political science. Applicants are recommended to visit the Departmental website and Programme website (https://www.LN.edu.hk/soscc/soscc) for more information.

The Department is seeking to appoint a full-time Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professor who specializes in the field of Comparative Politics with a focus on East Asia (China, Taiwan, Japan and/or Korea). Applicants whose research intersects with big data approach on IPE or environmental politics or political behaviour are strongly encouraged to apply. Applicants should provide evidence of their scholarship (or substantial promise for research and publications for the Assistant Professor level) and a statement of their current and future research as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness. The Department offers undergraduate and postgraduate degrees; undergraduate degrees with majors and also offers a taught self-financed MA degree in International Affairs. The appointee will be expected to teach introductory courses in Political Science through advanced undergraduate and graduate-level courses in their fields.
Political Science Jobs

General Requirements
Applicants should have a PhD degree in the relevant discipline, with relevant teaching experience and a good research record. For appointment as Full Professor, applicants should be international well-known and have an outstanding track record in research and scholarly activities. For appointment as Associate Professor, applicants should have at least five years of relevant experience and a sound track record in research and scholarly activities. For appointment as Assistant Professor, applicants should have relevant teaching experience and a good research record.

Applicants should have excellent communication and presentation skills. Administrative experience will be an advantage. The appointee is expected to have a strong commitment to teaching excellence and services to the Department and the University community, and to engage actively in quality research and publication.

Appointment
The conditions of appointment will be competitive. The rank and remuneration will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits include annual leave, medical and dental benefits, mandatory provident fund, gratuity and incoming passage and baggage allowance for the eligible appointee.

Appointments will normally be made on an initial contract of three years, which, subject to review and mutual agreement, may lead to longer-term appointments with possibility of consideration for substantiation.

Application Procedure (online application only)
Applicants are invited to submit their applications and resumes at our online system https://lingnan.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/284?c=lingnan. Applicants shall provide names and contact information of at least three referees to whom applicants' consent has been given for their providing references. Personal data collected will be used for recruitment purposes only.

We are an equal opportunities employer. Review of applications will start from 31 January 2022 and continue until the post is filled. Qualified candidates are advised to submit their applications early for consideration.

The University reserves the right not to make an appointment for the post advertised, or to fill the post by invitation or by search. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled Date Posted: 10/24/2021 Salary: Competitive eJobs ID: 9614

New York University Abu Dhabi
Rank: Social Research and Public Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Open
Specializations: Political Thought: Historical, Gender Politics & Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory
Social Research and Public Policy
NYU Abu Dhabi

We are inviting applications from sociologists and those in related disciplines for tenured faculty positions in Social Research and Public Policy, for appointment on September 1, 2023, subject to final budget approval. We will consider applicants with an active research agenda in all areas of historically-informed social research, but are especially keen on strengthening our faculty in any of the following areas: social theory, political sociology, comparative-historical research, qualitative methods, migration, gender, and race/ethnicity.

NYU Abu Dhabi’s unique location in the Middle East makes it an ideal headquarters for social scientists working to better understand global societies, both past and present.

About NYU Abu Dhabi
Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi, NYU Abu Dhabi (NYUAD) has assembled over the past decade a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others who have contributed to the growth of the UAE’s capital as a global hub of knowledge and culture while establishing a new model of higher education for today’s complex world.

NYUAD is an international, diverse community of faculty, students, and staff working together in an exciting and dynamic city. As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs and draw outstanding students and providing an intellectually rich environment.

Students are drawn from among the world’s best. They are bright, intellectually passionate, and committed to building a campus environment that values mutual respect, understanding, and care. The NYUAD undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other global honors. Graduate education is an area of growth for the university, and the current graduate student population of over 100 students is expected to expand in the next decade.

NYUAD is committed to building and strengthening a university-wide culture of inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity (IDBE). For more information on NYUAD’s commitment to IDBE and how these values create fundamental to our mission please visit https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/inclusion-diversity-belonging-and-equity.html

Working for NYUAD
A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it’s your home. In order for faculty to thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, plus more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority.

Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications
This position requires a Ph.D. in Sociology or a related discipline.

We seek individuals who have a strong record of scholarship, teaching, and mentoring, and have the ability to develop and lead high-quality research.

Application Instructions
To apply for this position, please submit the following items to: https://apply.interfolio.com/94902

CV
Cover Letter
Statement of Teaching Interests
Recent Teaching Evaluations (if available)
Statement of Research Interests
Three (3) Representative Writing Samples
List of three references that may be contacted at a later date.

We will begin looking at applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in the academic year 2023-2024.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now.

Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9608

Stanford University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Health)
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

About the Lab
Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow (Health) to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to quantify the impacts of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. By guiding the people who set public policy, as well as those who serve immigrant communities, our research can generate solutions and ultimately improve lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position
IPL is a highly collaborative environment. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies, as well as work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc’s time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to develop related independent health research. Examples of previous studies produced by the lab include projects on the intergenerational impact of DACA on the mental health of children (Science), public health insurance and immigrant families’ location decisions (JAMA Pediatrics), and the impact of prenatal care for children of undocumented women (Obstetrics and Gynecology).

The initial appointment will be for one year (with potential to renew for a second year). Start date is flexible, but no later than July 2022. Salary is standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications
The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for political science, economics, sociology, statistics, or computer science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of causal inference methods, data management, and data analysis. Knowledge of immigration and health policy will also be valued.

In addition, having experience working with medical claims data and executing and managing data analysis in a server-based environment is highly valued.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research missions.

Application Requirements and Recommendations
Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, contributions to diversity statement, and at least two letters of recommendation. The “Contributions to Diversity Statement” should describe the candidate’s experience as a part of any of the diverse or underrepresented groups as outlined below, and any past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion as a postdoc at Stanford and IPL community member. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process.

IPL encourages applicants from diverse and underrepresented groups to apply. In particular, IPL encourages individuals from historically underrepresented racial and ethnic groups (Black or African Americans, Hispanics or Latinos, American Indians or Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders, as described by the National Science Foundation), individuals with disabilities, and individuals from disadvantaged economic and educational backgrounds (low-income households and disadvantaged educational environments) to apply. IPL encourages that this information be shared in the “Contributions to Diversity Statement”.

Applications will only be accepted through https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19939 (ID19939). We will begin reviewing applications on November 1st, 2021. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact Elisa Cascardi at the Immigration Policy Lab at Stanford University, directly (cascardi@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc (Health) 2021).
Political Science Jobs

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/22/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9610

National Center for State Courts
Rank: Court Research Associate
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Research Methods, Science & Technology, Quantitative Methods

The National Center for State Courts is an independent, nonprofit court improvement organization located in Williamsburg, Virginia. NCSC’s services—research, information services, education, consulting, association management, and technical assistance—are focused on helping courts implement improvements that promote efficiency and effectiveness, while ensuring access to justice, timeliness, and procedural satisfaction.

The Research Division of the NCSC is looking for a highly motivated Court Research Associate to work on projects, in multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to social science, public administration, legal studies, public health, criminology, racial and social justice, and data science, to further the administration of justice in our state courts. We are seeking applicants who thrive in a collaborative environment and want to make a difference in the field of court administration and improvement.

The position is responsible for planning, organizing, and conducting research for improving various aspects of state court administration and disseminating research results. Work includes identifying and developing research initiatives; assisting to obtain research grant funding; conducting research and disseminating research results through various mediums (e.g., written products, presentations, online curricula, and technical on-site assistance).

For more information about current Research Projects at the NCSC visit: National Center for State Courts.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:
The Court Research Associate will be responsible for performing the duties listed below:

- Conducting empirical and applied research and program evaluation: Designing qualitative and quantitative data collection instruments;
- Conducting visit sites (interviewing, focus groups, observations) with constituents, and Performing statistical analysis;
- Designing products that effectively communicate research findings to diverse audiences (e.g., data visualization);
- Presenting research findings (e.g., conferences, facilitated workshops, publications); and
- Assisting in the development of funding proposals from federal, state, and private funding sources.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:
To be considered for this position, candidates must meet the following qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in the social sciences, public policy, or a related field; a J.D. combined with a Master’s degree in social sciences, public policy, or a J.D. and at least six years’ experience in conducting applied social science research;
- Experience using statistical/data management software such as Excel, SPSS, Stata, R, and Tableau;
- Knowledge of and demonstrated ability to competently perform quantitative and qualitative data collection and analysis;
- Ability to present research findings to diverse audiences (e.g., court-related leadership organizations, practitioners, and lay people);
- Excellent writing skills (e.g., client reports, policy memorandums, journal articles); and
- Availability to travel periodically.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:
NCSC is an equal opportunity/disability/veteran employer

Candidates are required to submit a cover letter and resume in addition to the completed application form. The position will remain open until filled. For first consideration apply by November 19, 2021. To apply visit: https://www.ncsc.org/about-us/all-jobs.

Starting salary may vary with additional experience and qualifications. Position is remote work eligible or may receive relocation assistance if desire to work in Williamsburg Office.

Minorities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9398

Princeton University
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior IT policy researcher

The Center for Information Technology Policy (CITP) is an interdisciplinary center at Princeton University. The Center is a nexus of expertise in technology, engineering, public policy, and the social sciences on campus. In keeping with the strong University tradition of service, the Center’s research, teaching, and events address digital technologies as they interact with society.

CITP is seeking applications for the CITP Fellows Program for 2022-23.

There are three tracks:
- Postdoctoral track: for people who recently received a Ph.D.
- Visiting Professional track: for academics and professionals (e.g., lawyers, journalists, technologists, former government officials, etc.)
- Microsoft Visiting Professor track: for academics

In this application cycle, we especially welcome applicants with interests in: Artificial Intelligence (AI), Data Science, Blockchain, Cryptocurrencies, and Cryptography.

The Center for Information Technology Policy Fellows Program offers scholars and practitioners from diverse backgrounds the opportunity to join the Center’s community. The goals of this fully-funded, in-residence program are to support people doing important research and policy engagement related to the Center’s mission and to enrich the Center’s intellectual life. Fellows typically will conduct research with members of the Center’s community and engage in the Center’s public programs. The fellows’ program provides freedom to pursue projects of interest and a stimulating intellectual environment.

Application review will begin in the middle of December 2021.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

November 2021
For more information and to apply, please see our Fellows Program webpage at https://citp.princeton.edu/programs/fellows/.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9602

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy

The UCR School of Public Policy invites applications for an Assistant Professor position in Public Policy with a focus on topics broadly situated within the areas of Race, Ethnicity, and Immigration Policy and/or Poverty and Inequality Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who employ a racial, social and economic justice lens in their research and teaching.

Applicants should have an established record or promise of outstanding research and teaching accomplishments in one or more of these areas and be committed to advancing UCR’s existing research and training in empirical and applied research on race, immigration, poverty, and inequality. Instructional and mentoring activities include teaching four, 10-week courses per academic year and guiding the research of undergraduate and graduate students.

Applicants must have an earned doctorate by the time of appointment in a relevant field such as Anthropology, Economics, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Political Science, Social Work, or Sociology or in an interdisciplinary field with substantial preparation in the social sciences such as Demography, Education, Environmental Studies, Public Health, Public Policy, and Urban Planning.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
1) a letter of interest that clearly describes their scholarly areas of interests and training
2) a statement of contributions to diversity and inclusion
3) curriculum vitae
4) statement of research
5) teaching statement and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness
6) writing samples
7) 3 letters of recommendation

All materials must be uploaded using UCR’s on-line application system via https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/JPF01489. To ensure full consideration, applications and supporting materials should be received by December 10, 2021. Review of applicants will continue until the position is filled. Salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2022.

About the UCR School of Public Policy

Established in 2012, the UCR School of Public Policy is one of only four public policy schools in the 10-campus UC system. It is home to the only Master of Public Policy (MPP) program offered by a major research university in inland Southern California, as well as the only public policy school with an undergraduate public policy major in the entire University of California system; and we will be launching the first public policy five year BA-MPP program in the UC system Fall 2022.

At the UCR School of Public Policy, our motto is “Solutions for the Region, Solutions for the World.” While our research has global implications and relevance, Southern California—particularly, the inland region in Southern California—offers us a “living laboratory” in our own backyard to explore, investigate, and learn. As such, the theories that we test, issues that we analyze, and the solutions that we identify that concern Southern California and the Inland Empire’s most pressing policy challenges have relevance to the state, nation, and world. By engaging in research that identifies the drivers of policy successes, as well as policy failures, we offer decision-makers, students, and society a more complete understanding of what works, what doesn’t, and why.

Our mission is to train a new generation of forward-thinking public policy leaders equipped to address the complex, interrelated challenges of poverty, disease, illiteracy, climate change, energy security, pollution and more. Their training is informed by (i) a diverse, interdisciplinary curriculum that emphasizes evidence-based policy research as well as cross-learning from both international and domestic problem-solving experiences, and (ii) a rich internship program that emphasizes experiential learning.

The School is located on the campus of UCR, which is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

University of California COVID-19 Vaccination Program Policy

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. For new University of California employees, the applicable deadline is eight weeks after their first date of employment.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/10/2021
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9605

University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Tenure Track Business and CSR/ESG Position

The Department of Business, Government & Society (BGS) at the University of Texas at Austin’s McCombs School of Business invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure track) position in strategic corporate social responsibility/ESG effective September 1, 2022. The BGS department (https://www.mccombs.utexas.edu/departments/BGS) teaches future leaders at all levels of McCombs’ curriculum how to recognize and respond to the regulatory, legal, ethical and social expectations that businesses face. BGS aims to contribute to important public policy debates in these and related areas through research that applies social science research methods to relevant questions. A willingness to also engage with UT-Austin’s recently launched Global Sustainability Leadership Institute (https://
The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. in economics, political science, sociology, or strategic management and be prepared to publish in top outlets and teach on CSR/ESG and non-market strategy. Additionally, candidates’ research should focus on business at the organizational- (i.e., macro- or firm-) level and primarily apply rigorous quantitative methods to observational data.

Interested parties should submit the following: 1) a cover letter that includes brief statements of research and teaching interests, 2) a CV, 3) any evidence of teaching and research effectiveness, and 4) three letters of recommendation. All applications submitted by Tuesday, November 23, 2021 will receive full consideration, although the search will continue until a suitable candidate is identified. UT-Austin uses Interfolio’s Faculty Search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials free of charge. The posting is available here:

https://apply.interfolio.com/97220

Direct any inquiries to Timothy Werner (timothy.werner@mccombs.utexas.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/23/2021
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9600

University of Texas at Dallas
Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Policy - Technology Policy
Apply online: https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/16991

The Public Policy and Political Economy Program in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences (EPPS) at The University of Texas at Dallas is seeking applications for a tenure-system assistant professor in Technology Policy.

The successful candidate for this position will have a PhD in a social science or public policy-related field. The area of specialization within Technology Policy is open, but candidates focusing on cross-border issues between policy and technology (such as the innovation policy, socioeconomic impact of technology, global technology infrastructure and impact, global politics of technology, technology and health, regulation and ethics etc.) are particularly encouraged to apply. Ideal candidates will demonstrate their ability to contribute to existing program strengths in quantitative methods.

The selected candidate should have a clear trajectory for impactful, policy-relevant research, and with the potential for obtaining external grant support. The candidate should also possess very strong collaborative and organizational skills based on experiences working with diverse communities through partnerships on technology-related issues. Working in close collaboration with the existing faculty and local research community is highly encouraged. Ideal candidates will demonstrate their ability to contribute to existing program strengths in quantitative methods.

The school’s faculty includes multiple winners of internal and external teaching awards. The candidate is expected to incorporate best practices as identified by the scholarship on teaching and learning into their pedagogical approach. The successful candidate will be expected to teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. Faculty typically teach two courses per semester.

The University of Texas at Dallas was recently ranked 39th among the 100 best universities in the world under 50 years old by Times Higher Education magazine. UT Dallas is one of the youngest universities to achieve the Carnegie Commission’s highest research classification of “Doctoral Universities – Very High Research Activity.”

Applicants should upload a letter of application; current curriculum vitae; a sample of written work; statements of teaching and research philosophy; instructional materials such as syllabi and course evaluations and the full contact information for at least three academic or professional references.

Additional questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Dohyeong Kim (dohyeong.kim@utdallas.edu)

The University of Texas at Dallas is committed to providing an educational, living and working environment that is welcoming, respectful and inclusive of all members of the university community. The University prohibits unlawful discrimination against a person because of their race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status.

The University of Texas at Dallas is an equal opportunity/affirmative action university.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9601

Brown University
Rank: Watson Climate Solutions Postdoctoral Associate 2022-2024
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Political Economy, International Political Economy

Brown University invites applications for a two-year Postdoctoral Research Associate in Climate Solutions at the Watson Institute for International & Public Affairs. We seek a scholar to help us address one or both of two major topics: climate and trade, and the geopolitics of the global energy transition. The postdoc will help research on questions like how climate should fit into the United States’ China strategy, how US policymakers can work with the EU on issues such as carbon tariffs and border adjustment measures, or how states and market actors can work together to finance decarbonization. Ability to conduct and write policy-oriented research, as well as academic research, is essential. There are no teaching responsibilities. The selected candidate will devote 50 percent time to projects at the Climate Solutions Lab, under the supervision of Professor Jeff Colgan, and 50 percent time to his or her own (climate-related) research projects. The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

Eligibility and terms

Scholars of all nationalities with a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, sociology, economics, or closely related disciplines will be considered. Dissertation must be complete by June 30, 2022. Candidates must be untenured and within 5 years of Ph.D. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $65,000 for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus.

For more information, please visit: http://watson.brown.edu/climatesolutionslab

Application requirements

Candidates should submit a cover letter of application, a CV, three letters of reference and a short writing sample (15-20 pages) through Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/95524. Applications received by December 1, 2021 will receive full consideration. Final notifications are expected to go out in Winter 2022. This two-year Postdoctoral Research Associate appointment will be effective July 1, 2022, and is not renewable.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9594

California State University, Sacramento
Rank: Tenure Track Faculty - Women’s and Gender Studies
Tenure Track Faculty - Women’s and Gender Studies

Job No: 505369
Work Type: Instructional Faculty – Tenured/Tenure-Track
Location: Sacramento
Categories: Unit 3 - CFA - California Faculty Association, Faculty - Social Sciences, Tenured/Tenure-Track, Full Time
COLLEGE: College of Social Sciences and Interdisciplinary Studies
DEPARTMENT NAME: Women’s and Gender Studies
POSITION TITLE: Assistant Professor of Black Feminisms

DEPARTMENT SUMMARY:

Women’s and Gender Studies is a dynamic interdisciplinary department preparing students to be future leaders, scholars, and social justice activists. We are dedicated to studying the social production of gender and women’s experiences in relation to formations of sexuality, race, class, nationality, ability, ageism, and other categories of difference. Scholarship and research in the field of women’s and gender studies emphasize the importance of connecting what students learn in the classroom to political projects and personal experiences. Our curriculum empowers students to be agents of change in their communities and society. It provides them tools to examine relations of gender in local, national, and global contexts. Our courses situate gender within specific historical and cultural contexts, allowing students to examine how our lives are shaped by social and economic institutions, political movements, and individual experiences. “Putting Theory into Practice” since 1971, we place a strong emphasis on community involvement and activism, and we offer many opportunities for internships and service work credit.

The B.S. in Women’s and Gender Studies prepares students for careers in education, as professors, teachers, or curriculum specialists; counseling, as school counselors, psychological or family therapists; law; health; human services; student services; and public service.

Sacramento State has been ranked as the 2nd most diverse campus in the Western United States, and has official designations as an Asian American Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution (AANAPISI) and as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI). More than two-thirds of the student population identify as students of color, and 31% are first-generation students. Sacramento State provides robust support services for students, including mental health services, resources to help students with basic needs, and programs to help underrepresented student groups. The department and College are committed to providing resources to support the startup and ongoing success of faculty in pedagogy, scholarship, and service as well as facilitating opportunities for additional engagement and advancement on campus, and meaningful work in the region.

POSITION DETAILS:

The department of Women’s & Gender Studies is inviting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Black Feminisms starting Fall 2022. As a department advocating social justice and intersectionality as core principles of our program, we emphasize diversity in our curriculum and all our hiring. New tenure track faculty have a reduced course load in the first two years.

JOB DUTIES:

• Teach a wide range of courses in Women’s & Gender Studies, such as Introduction to Women’s and Gender Studies, Introduction to the Women’s Movement, Gender, Race & Class, Women of Color, and Seminar in Feminist Theory.
• Propose and teach introductory, mid-level and advanced undergraduate courses in areas of expertise.
• Supervise students in independent study and fieldwork courses.
• Engage in research and scholarship.
• Engage in Service to the College and University.
• Engage in community service.
• Involve in student advising and mentoring, and in the recruitment of majors.
• Work as an integral member of the Department, actively contributing to curriculum and department building.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

• Ph.D. in Women’s and Gender Studies or Ph.D. in other social science disciplines such as Ethnic Studies, American Studies, Cultural Studies, Sociology, Anthropology, Geography, or Political Science with research focus on women’s and gender issues. ABD candidates will be considered. If ABD, candidates will be required to complete the doctoral degree by January 2023.
Special Knowledge, Abilities and Experience:

• Specialization in Black Feminisms with focus on racialization and racism in the United States.
• Demonstrated knowledge of the Women’s & Gender Studies discipline.
• Demonstrated ability to teach courses from intersectional perspectives.
• Ability to propose and teach new courses in areas of expertise.
• Ability to conduct independent research.
• Ability to demonstrate an interdisciplinary approach to Women’s & Gender Studies.
• Ability to work with diverse students and colleagues, success in creating inclusive classrooms, and experiences with a variety of teaching methods and curricular perspectives.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

• We welcome all areas of specialization related to Black Feminisms, preferably from candidates with an interdisciplinary background in the social sciences to complement the department’s existing strengths in the humanities.
• Teaching experience in a Women’s & Gender Studies department using intersectional feminist frameworks.
• Teaching that reflects an interdisciplinary approach to Women’s & Gender Studies.
• Ability to propose and teach introductory, breadth, and advanced undergraduate courses in areas such as Black feminist intellectual history, school-to-prison pipeline, family and child welfare, criminal legal system, gender and racial violence, Black women’s experiences with interpersonal and institutional racism, media and technology, activism and organizing, climate justice and environmental racism.
• Ability to teach large as well as small size classes.
• Experience or interest in curriculum design.
• Experience working with community organizations.
• Experience communicating effectively with ethnically and culturally diverse communities and integrating diversity issues in curriculum.
• Innovative teaching and ability to enhance instruction through use of creative pedagogical strategies, digital technologies, and media.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021; position open until filled.

In order to receive full consideration, please submit application by the above deadline.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

• Cover letter that describes teaching and research interest
• Current curriculum vita
• Unofficial transcripts of all graduate work.
• Diversity statement addressing past and/or future contributions to DEI, social justice, and anti-racism through scholarship/creative activity, teaching, and service.
• Two sample course syllabi - a) Gender, Race & Class, and b) a course in area of specialization;
• Relevant teaching evaluations; and
• Writing sample (no more than 20 pages).

Confidential letters of recommendation will be requested from the references of candidates who are invited for a campus visit.

For information please email Dr. Tristan Josephson, Search Committee Chair, at mailto:tristan.josephson@csus.edu.

About Sacramento State

http://www.csus.edu/ is located in the heart of California’s capital city, five miles from State Capitol. The lush, 300-acre campus is situated along the American River, close to numerous bike trails and other recreational areas. Sacramento, also known as the “Farm-to-Fork Capital,” is one of the most ethnically diverse and livable cities in the country, with a population of half a million. Sacramento State’s 31,000 students come not only from the Greater Sacramento Region, but also from across the state, country, and world. Our 1800 faculty and 1,500 staff are committed to meeting our mission: “As California’s capital university, we transform lives by preparing students for leadership, service, and success. Sacramento State will be a recognized leader in education, innovation, and engagement.” As the regional hub of higher education, Sacramento State is dedicated to https://www.csus.edu/experience/student-success/, https://www.csus.edu/diversity-inclusion/, https://www.csus.edu/experience/anchor-university/, https://www.csus.edu/university-advancement/, and https://www.csus.edu/campus-safety/.

As evidenced by the values embedded in our https://www.csus.edu/student-affairs/_internal/_documents/hornet-honor-code.pdf, Sacramento State is committed to creating an inclusive environment where all faculty, staff, students, and guests are welcome and valued. Our commitment is more than simply ensuring that our campus is free from bias and discrimination, but is one devoted to celebrating many diverse identities, life experiences, and perspectives that enrich our community, teaching and learning.

To learn more about why you should join the Hornet Family, please visit the https://www.csus.edu/academic-affairs/faculty-advancement/why-sac-state.html page.

Equal Employment Opportunity

California State University, Sacramento is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and has a strong institutional commitment to the principle of diversity in all areas. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, pregnancy, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. Sacramento State hires only those individuals who are lawfully authorized to accept employment in the United States.

It is the policy of California State University, Sacramento to provide reasonable accommodations for qualified persons with disabilities who are employees or applicants for employment. If you need a disability related reasonable accommodation as part of the application and/or interviewing process, visit https://www.csus.edu/administration-business-affairs/internal/your-hr/benefits/disability-parental-leave.html#reasonable-accommodations-interactive-process .

The University is committed to creating an education and working environment free from discrimination, sexual harassment, sexual violence, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. For more information on mandatory training for new employees, visit https://www.csus.edu/compliance/hr-compliance/mandatory-dhr-training.html .
Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Crime Statistics Act and Campus Fire Safety Right-To-know Act Notification:

Pursuant to the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, the current Annual Security Report (ASR) is available for viewing at https://www.csus.edu/clery. The ASR contains the current security and safety-related policy statements, emergency preparedness and evacuation information, crime prevention and sexual assault prevention information, and drug and alcohol prevention programming. The ASR also contains statistics of Clery Act crimes for Sacramento State for the last three (3) calendar years. Paper copies are available upon request at the Police Service Center located in the University Union.

Background Check Disclaimer
A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with California State University, Sacramento. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current California State University, Sacramento employees who apply for the position.

COVID-19 Vaccine Certification Information:
CSU requires faculty, staff, and students who are accessing campus facilities to be immunized against COVID-19 or declare a medical or religious exemption from doing so. Any candidates advanced in a currently open search process should be prepared to comply with this requirement. The systemwide policy can be found at https://calstate.policystat.com/policy/9779821/latest/.

Eligibility Verification
Candidate will be required to provide official transcripts of their highest degree earned and must furnish proof of eligibility to work in the U.S., California State University, Sacramento is a sponsoring agency (i.e. H-1-B Visa).

Advertised: October 07, 2021 (9:00 AM)

Applications Closing:
Open Until Filled

To apply, visit https://apprkr.com/2574560

Copyright ©2021 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

https://www.jobelephant.com/

jeid-23061a7d8bed284daa4dc17f161828d3

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9595

Georgetown University

Rank: Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and Assistant Professor of Climate Change, Colonialism, Displacement

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Immigration Policy, Developing Nations

Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and Assistant Professor, Climate Change, Colonialism, and Displacement

Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University

Georgetown University’s School of Foreign Service invites applications for a Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellow and tenure-line Assistant Professor position. We seek an interdisciplinary scholar who is working at the intersection of climate change, colonialism, and displacement. We seek scholars who broadly approach climate change in relation to colonial extraction and expropriation in the context of the Global South, and who use innovative methods to engage in scholarship on displacement and migration with attention to racialization and border regimes. Applicants are welcomed from a wide variety of disciplines and fields including, but not limited to, anthropology, geography, history, political science, sociology, science and technology studies, and environmental humanities.

The Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Fellowship program is in its inaugural year at Georgetown University. The program is designed to bring in a cohort of new faculty from a wide range of backgrounds who demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Provost’s Distinguished Fellows are on the tenure track and will be exempt from teaching and service duties in the first year of their appointments, devoting their full-time efforts to building their research program. Fellows will be assigned senior faculty mentors. After the first year, the Fellow will then begin as a tenure-line Assistant Professor, with a 2-2 teaching load.

The new hire may be affiliated with at least one program housed in the School of Foreign Service based on their areas of research expertise, such as the Culture and Politics Program; Science, Technology, and International Affairs; Institute for the Study of International Migration; and SFS graduate programs. We encourage candidates to acquaint themselves with the SFS and our programs upon application.

Applications for this position must be made via Georgetown’s online application management system at http://apply.interfolio.com/96446. Questions about the search should be directed to Carol A. Benedict, SFS Faculty Chair (benedicce@gourney.edu)

Qualifications include:
1. Candidates must have received their PhD by August 1, 2022, before the 2022-23 academic year begins.
2. Candidates must be committed to academic excellence and diversity, equity, and inclusion in their teaching/mentoring, research, and service. This commitment can be demonstrated in many ways, including those whose scholarship/teaching focuses on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or those who have demonstrated a commitment to fostering diversity, equity, and inclusion through their service activities.
3. Candidates must upload the following documents by November 19, 2021: a. Letter of application; b. Curriculum vitae; c. Statement (no more than 1 page) describing your past/present contributions to equity, diversity and inclusion; d. One writing sample; e. Statement (no more than 1 page) describing your approach to teaching (and if possible evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Candidates should also have three letters of recommendation uploaded to their application on Interfolio.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, please click here for more information, or contact the Office of Institutional Diversity, Equity & Affirmative Action (IDEAA) at (202) 687-4798.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/19/2021
Date Posted: 10/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9593

University of Pennsylvania
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Public Opinion, Science & Technology, Research Methods

Postdoctoral fellowship program in Science of Science Communication at the Annenberg Public Policy Center of the University of Pennsylvania

As part of its Annenberg Center for the Advanced Study of Communication, the Annenberg Public Policy Center (APPC; http://www. annenbergpublicpolicycenter.org) of the University of Pennsylvania’s postdoctoral fellowship program in the Science of Science Communication (SSC) is accepting applications for the 2022-2023 academic year. Fellows in the program will work closely with other fellows and senior researchers of APPC on scholarship designed to understand basic problems (e.g., source credibility, communication processes, attitude change, belief formation, conspiracy theories, and misinformation debunking) as well as applied ones (e.g., climate change, vaccines, and COVID-19). The program is interdisciplinary and is currently led by social psychologist and communication scholar, Dolores Albarracin (https://www.asc.upenn.edu/research/centers/social-action-lab).

Applicants should submit a cover letter as well as a curriculum vitae, a letter of reference from their dissertation advisor, and a description of the applicant’s scholarly interests. Two more references will be requested later in the process. First-year fellows will receive a stipend of $65,000 and serve in a 12-month appointment, beginning July 1, 2022. An allowance of up to $1,500 will be provided to offset pre-approved, receipt-documented relocation expenses, and APPC will reimburse up to $2,000 in travel to high-level conferences to present APPC research (subject to any applicable university Covid-19 travel restrictions). Renewal for a second year is contingent upon performance and budgetary considerations.

We are seeking fellows who apply a variety of disciplinary and methodological approaches, and have completed a Ph.D. in a social, behavioral, or computational science within the last five years.

Please send the letter of interest, CV, and names of two references to appc-apply@appc.upenn.edu. The letter of reference should be sent to the same email address by the dissertation adviser. Questions about current lines of research or other academic aspects may be directed to Dr. Albarracin at dalba@upenn.edu.

The application deadline is February 15, 2022 for a July 1, 2022 start. However, decisions will be made on a rolling basis.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9590

University of Texas at Dallas
Rank: Assistant Professor - Cybersecurity
Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Public Policy

The Public Policy and Political Economy program in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences (EPPS) at The University of Texas at Dallas is seeking applications for a tenure-system Assistant Professor in Cybersecurity and Policy.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science or public policy-related field. The candidate’s research agenda should focus on issues of cybersecurity with an international/cross-national dimension.
Research topics of special interest include ethical and legal aspects of cybersecurity, regulation across countries, the economics of information security, the interaction of security and privacy considerations, and the politics of developing and administrating cybersecurity policies and programs. While experience in the private sector, government agency, NGO or public policy organization will be an advantage, all exceptional candidates will be considered. Ideal candidates will work for at least three academic or professional references.

Applicants should upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statements of teaching and research philosophy; teaching evaluations; and the full contact information for at least three academic or professional references.

The University of Texas at Dallas is committed to providing an educational, living and working environment that is welcoming, respectful and inclusive of all members of the university community.
The University prohibits unlawful discrimination against a person because of their race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status.

apply online: https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/16876

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/19/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9587

Harvard University
Rank: Environmental Fellow
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Science & Technology

APPLICATION DEADLINE: JANUARY 10, 2022

The Harvard University Center for the Environment created the Environmental Fellows program to enable recent doctorate recipients to use and expand Harvard’s extraordinary resources to tackle complex environmental problems. The Environmental Fellows will work for two years with Harvard faculty members in any school or department while also strengthening connections across the University’s academic disciplines.

The Award:
The fellowship includes a salary of $80,000 per year, employee health insurance eligibility, up to $2,500 reimbursement for relocation expenses, and a $2,500 annual allowance for travel and other professional expenses.

The Harvard University Center for the Environment expects to award approximately six fellowships for the 2022 cohort. The Center will organize a co-curricular program to ensure that the fellows get to know each other and each other's work. All fellows will attend biweekly dinners with their colleagues, faculty members, and guests.

Program Requirements:

• Candidates for 2022 Environmental Fellowships should have received their terminal degree between May 2018 and August 2022. (Fellows must have filed their dissertation before starting their appointment in September 2022.)
• Candidates with a doctorate or equivalent in any field are eligible, and they may propose research projects in any discipline. Applicants without a Ph.D. may apply if they have studied in fields where the Ph.D. is not the typical terminal degree. All successful candidates will be able to demonstrate experience performing scholarly research.
• Each candidate must secure a commitment from one or more Harvard faculty members to serve as a mentor and to provide office or lab space for the two-year fellowship.
• Candidates may have received their degrees at any university in the world. Foreign nationals are eligible for fellowships, though study at Harvard requires proficiency in English.
• Candidates who received terminal degrees from Harvard, and post-docs currently working at Harvard are eligible for the fellowship provided their research and host arrangements take them in new directions and forge new connections within the University. Harvard candidates should not propose to continue to work with the same professors or lab groups with whom they are currently associated. No candidate should propose to work extensively with their thesis advisor.
• Harvard is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.
• Successful candidates should be prepared to commit to work at Harvard for the full two years of the fellowship. This fellowship requires residency in the Cambridge area and any fieldwork trip must be scheduled for the summer or January recess.

Application Requirements:

1. Please complete the online application form found at https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/106708 by January 10, 2022 at 5 p.m. (ET) and attach the relevant supporting documents as PDFs:
   - curriculum vitae including list of publications;
   - detailed research proposal where applicants should explain their specific reasons for applying to a Harvard residential environmental fellowship (maximum of five pages, references counted separately). Note: While applicants should discuss the proposal with their dissertation adviser.
   - up to three publications/writing samples.
2. Three letters of reference, including one from the applicant’s dissertation adviser.
3. A letter of support is also required from the applicant’s host committing to serve as a mentor and explaining their commitment to the proposed research, including the provision of office or lab space. Hosts should send their letters directly to the attention of James Clem at the Center at environmental_fellows@harvard.edu.

If you have questions about the fellowship or application process, please contact:
James Clem
Harvard University Center for the Environment
26 Oxford Street, 4th Floor
Cambridge MA 02138
617-495-0368
james_clem@harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: 1/10/2022
Date Posted: 10/18/2021
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 9579

Tulane University
Rank: Faculty Fellow/Visiting Research Professor

The Center for Ethics and Public Affairs at the Murphy Institute at Tulane University invites applications for three Faculty Fellowships/Visiting Research Professorships for the 2022-2023 academic year. These fellowships are available to support outstanding faculty whose teaching and research focus on ethics; political and social philosophy; moral psychology, agency, and responsibility; philosophy of law; political theory; or questions of moral choice in areas such as, but not restricted to, business, government, law, economics, and medicine.

While fellows will participate in seminars, lectures, and conferences organized by the Murphy Institute, they will be expected to devote most of their time to conducting their research.

Faculty Fellows are appointed as Visiting Research Professors at Tulane University’s Murphy Institute, receive a salary of $67,500, and are eligible for faculty benefits, including medical insurance. Faculty Fellows enjoy the use of private offices in Tulane’s Tilton Memorial Hall on St. Charles Avenue and receive administrative assistance from the Murphy Institute staff and graduate assistants. The Murphy Institute’s Center for Ethics is one of the most active in the country, hosting fourteen guest speakers and sponsoring several international conferences each year.

Qualifications

Applicants must hold a doctorate in philosophy, political theory, law, political economy, or a related discipline at the time of application. Applicants must also hold a full-time college or university appointment at the time of application. Faculty Fellowships are open to full-time faculty at all ranks.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/95648
The application deadline is December 31, 2021. Required application materials include the curriculum vitae, a project description (with bibliography) of approximately 1500 words, a scholarly paper, and two confidential letters of recommendation. Please contact Margaret Keenan at mkeenan@tulane.edu with any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/31/2022
Date Posted: 10/15/2021
Interested candidates should submit the following:

Application Instructions:

(1) CV or resume
(2) Cover letter highlighting the skills relevant to the proposed position
(3) Two representative manuscripts or publications
(4) Contact information for three professional references

Review of candidates will start on 11/15/2021; applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Gail Buttorff (gjbuttor@central.uh.edu) or Pablo M. Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu).

Qualifications

Doctoral and No experience

Requires singular knowledge of a specialized advanced professional discipline or the highest level of general business knowledge, normally acquired through attainment of a directly job-related terminal degree or equivalent formal training in a recognized field of specialization that is directly related to the type of work being performed. No experience is required.

Position Qualifications:

Required: PhD in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics, Engineering, Environmental Studies or related fields.

Applicants with, or nearing completion of, a doctoral degree in fields mentioned above will also be considered. The successful candidate is likely to demonstrate expertise in quantitative methods, potential for publishing research, a collaborative/respective approach to work, and the ability to effectively manage multiple projects to achieve performance objectives. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply. The applicant must also have strong written and oral communication skills.

About UH Energy, the Hobby School of Public Affairs and the University of Houston:

UH Energy is an umbrella initiative that integrates the efforts across the University of Houston system to position the university as a strategic partner to the energy industry by producing trained workforce, strategic and technical leadership, research and development for needed innovations and new technologies. Issues of public policy, the convergence of policy, science, technology and business, and the role they play in providing solutions to the societal challenges of affordable, reliable and sustainable energy solutions lie at the forefront of the work of UH Energy.

Focusing on ethics, analytics, leadership, and contemporary public policy issues, the Hobby School currently offers a master’s degree in public policy, will launch an undergraduate degree in the Spring 2022, and is working to expand its curricula. The Hobby School culture places a premium not only on high-quality research and service to the region and nation but also on a supportive, collaborative, and professional work culture.

The Hobby School and UH Energy are well-positioned for impactful research. Houston is the nation’s fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with its: (a) growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the world’s largest medical center (the Texas Medical Center), (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) diverse population, (d) outstanding, diverse restaurants, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: https://uhsystem.edu/compliance-ethics/_docs/sam/01/1d51.pdf. The position is also subject to the University of Houston’s background check policy.

EEO/AA

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2021
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 9562

University of Houston

Rank: Open Rank Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) seeks to hire up to three tenure or tenure-track faculty members to begin in the Fall of 2022. We are interested in applicants who will help chart the future of the school with fresh ideas, practical experience, and an interdisciplinary mindset. Our faculty include experts in theoretical, practical, and analytical disciplines associated with public policy. We seek to complement that collective expertise with the three hires.

Competitive candidates are likely to have expertise in one or more of the following areas or in another foundational area of public policy or policymaking:

A core area of public policy and policymaking, including, but not limited to, defense, education, energy, the environment, health, housing, immigration, justice and law enforcement, national and foreign economic policy, political institutions, political economy, public finance, public management, social mobility, transportation, urban and community development, and voting and representation. Policy data formulation and analysis, including but not limited to, data visualization, decision algorithms, GIS, laboratory and field experiments, natural language processing, network analysis, probabilistic forecasts, project evaluation and randomized control trials, small area models, and survey methods. Philosophy or ethics: (1) applied to an area of public policy or (2) focusing on a theoretical perspective (e.g., race, gender, governance, and markets) that cuts across and informs policy areas.

In the selection process, the search committee will prioritize collaborative scholars who: (1) engage in nationally-recognized, interdisciplinary work on significant public policy issues, (2) work with diverse populations, communities, and organizations, (3) demonstrate an eagerness to contribute to undergraduate and graduate education and student success, and (4) pursue grants, awards, and other sources of funding to support research, academic programming, student success, community engagement, and impact.

Interested individuals should apply at https://www.uh.edu/human-resources/careers/ and provide: (1) a letter of interest, (2) evidence of teaching effectiveness and commitment to mentoring students, (3) a statement of research specialization and interests, (4) three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation, (5) a curriculum vita, and (6) up to three representative papers. References may be contacted to submit letters. We will inform applicants prior to asking for letters. Review of applications will begin on November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the search committee co-chairs—Pablo M. Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu) or Alan Witt (witt@uh.edu).

We are committed to the active recruitment and retention of a diverse faculty and students. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committee anticipates holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and will favorably consider an individual’s record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at https://uhsystem.edu/compliance-ethics/_docs/sam/01/1d51.pdf. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

The Hobby School of Public Affairs was created in 2016 by the University of Houston System. Incoming faculty will have the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology, leadership development, and ethical analysis in its teaching, training, and research. It is the home of UH’s Center for Public Policy, Survey Research Institute, and Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center for Ethics and Leadership.

The Hobby School offers: (1) a Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree, (2) a dual degree program combining public policy with degrees in other fields—multidisciplinary studies (UH’s Honors College), business, economics, law, psychology, and social work, (3) certificate programs in data analytics, energy policy, health care policy, public policy, and public administration, and (4) BS and BA degrees in public policy starting in January 2022. We are in the planning process for launching a PhD program. The Hobby School also runs the Institute on the Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) and offers workshops in social science methods under the Inter-University Consortium of Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Institute.

The University of Houston is a Carnegie-designated Tier One research institution and is the flagship campus of a state-assisted higher education system that enrolls over 70,000 students. The University of Houston is recognized as one of the most racially and ethnically diverse research institutions in the nation. As such, we welcome candidates whose experience in teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence.
Houston itself is a laboratory for the future. The city reflects what is happening in the United States and around the world in terms of demographic, cultural, political, and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (1) a growing economy, including a vibrant energy sector, robust manufacturing, a bustling port that serves as a hub for international trade, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center—the world’s largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award-winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) a relatively low cost of living among large cities.

The University of Houston is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Qualifications:
A PhD in the discipline and a scholarly record consistent with the rank is required.

Notes to Applicant: Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of final candidate. All positions at the University of Houston are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check. Incomplete applications may not be considered.

Required Attachments by Candidate: Curriculum Vitae, Cover Letter/ Letter of Application, Research Statement, Publications, Evidence of Effective Teaching
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/13/2021
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 9559

Eastern Illinois University
Rank: Instructor, Comparative Politics/Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University invites applicants for a non-tenure track instructor beginning August 16, 2022. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses primarily in Comparative Politics and Public Policy.

Successful candidates must have a doctorate or Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or ABD status with evidence of substantial progress toward degree completion. Candidates must demonstrate commitment to teaching excellence, along with dedication to mentoring, applied learning, diversity, and promoting inclusive excellence.

Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate courses in Introduction to Politics and non-western comparative politics, graduate courses in Public Policy Analysis and Public Administration Ethics, and additional courses depending on fields of expertise. The teaching load is typically 7 classes per year. Online teaching is required for the graduate courses; training is provided by the university. The position also includes student research mentoring.

To apply, please submit a letter of application, CV, unofficial graduate transcripts, and names and contact information for three professional references to Interfolio at this link: http://apply.interfolio.com/96624.

Application review begins November 8 and continues until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Illinois University offers undergraduate majors in Political Science, International Studies, and Civic and Nonprofit Leadership, an M.A. in Political Science, and an online M.A. in Political Science with a Public Administration/Policy option. Learn more about the department at www.eiu.edu/polisci. Questions about the search may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Karen Swenson (kbswenson@eiu.edu).

The University & Community

Eastern Illinois University takes pride in creating a warm, welcome environment for all faculty, staff, and students. Established in 1895, EIU boasts a rich, 125-year tradition of preparing students for their personal and professional goals. A traditional regional residential institution, EIU offers a superior education at a relatively low cost while consistently earning high rankings and distinctions for its affordability, academic program quality, career placement rates, campus safety, online degree options, student support, and sustainability initiatives.

EIU focuses on individualized attention and superior student relationships, and has earned recognition as the highest-ranking independent public regional university in Illinois and a place among the Midwest’s top public regional universities according to U.S. News and World Report. EIU hosts more than 175 student organizations on campus, and offers a variety of cultural events, NCAA Division I athletics, and active research opportunities for its students to enjoy and to thrive. EIU has become recognized for providing the resources of a large institution while creating the kinds of individual relationships that support student and alumni success.

Eastern Illinois University is located in Charleston, Illinois—a comfortable and safe east central town within a two-to three-hour drive of three major metropolitan areas—Chicago, Indianapolis, and St. Louis.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9555

Bilkent University
Rank: Open-rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) Position in Public Policy

Bilkent University, Department of Political Science and Public Administration

Applications are invited for a full-time open-rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) position in Public Policy. Applicants are expected to have a PhD in Political Science and/or Public Administration, or a cognate field at the time of appointment. They must demonstrate an active research agenda and a strong record of publications. Applicants are also expected to offer high-quality teaching at undergraduate and postgraduate levels, including MA and/or PhD supervision.

The anticipated starting date is September 2022.

Further information on Bilkent University is available here: http://w3.bilkent.edu.tr/bilkent/about-bilkent/
How to apply: Please submit your application by uploading the following items at this address: https://stars.bilkent.edu.tr/staffapp/POLS2021

a) cover letter (inclusive of teaching and research statement)
b) CV
c) names and contact details of three referees (or three letters of recommendation, if available)
d) two sample publications (article/s or introductory chapter of a monograph)

Application deadline: 15 December 2021 (or until filled).

Contact details: pols@bilkent.edu.tr

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9540

European University Institute
Rank: Loyola de Palacio Chair in European Energy Regulation and Policy

The Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies (RSC) seeks to recruit a Chair in European Energy Regulation and Policy at the Florence School of Regulation (FSR). The Chair holder is expected to lead, shape and implement an inspiring research and teaching agenda in this field. As Chair in European Energy Regulation and Policy, it is expected that she/he will collaborate closely with the researchers and professors at FSR and with the FSR’s key stakeholders.

Candidates will have a strong publication record, a demonstrated interest in applied European regulation and policy, experience in developing and managing research networks. They should enjoy an international reputation in European energy regulation and policy and be capable of promoting FSR both in Europe and globally. They will be expected to have a strong competence in the promotion, design and delivery of executive education, and should have a proven track-record in mobilising external funds, including research funds. The Chair holder has the vocation to become FSR Director when this position is available.

The EUI is an equal opportunities employer and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation.

Interested applicants should consult https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts for further particulars.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/11/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9540

Yale University
Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Political Behavior, Research Methods, Quantitative Methods

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2022. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample. Applications should be submitted on Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/96142.

The review process will begin on February 1, 2022. Please submit your application by that date to receive full consideration, although we will continue to accept applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2021
Salary: Negotiable
ejobs ID: 9538

Bureau of Governmental Research
Rank: President & CEO

The Organization. The Bureau of Governmental Research (BGR) is a private, nonprofit, independent research organization dedicated to informed public policy making and the effective use of public resources for the improvement of government in the New Orleans metropolitan area. Since its founding in 1932, BGR has served as a constructive, nonpartisan voice in the local policy landscape, providing in depth research and reporting on important public policy issues. BGR has published more than 1,500 policy reports to improve the efficiency, effectiveness, transparency and accountability of local government.

BGR’s reports educate citizens and policy makers alike, and lay the groundwork for reform initiatives to align government’s performance with better practices. BGR activates its research with communication strategies and in-person and virtual events to inform and engage the public and the media. More information, including a report library, can be found at www.bgr.org.
A Foundation for Success. Today BGR is positioned well as a bold, dynamic, relevant and impactful organization. Its next President & CEO will step into a thriving organization with an annual operating budget of $1.1 million, a professional staff of seven, and governing board of 31. BGR’s research team is highly skilled and firmly committed to its mission, and has a track record of producing highly influential, award-winning reports. A strategic vision is in place to guide the Board and staff in prioritizing and achieving organizational goals. BGR’s membership is growing and engaged, and donors and foundations annually sustain core operations with generous support. Three separate endowments provide BGR with financial independence and sustainability. This includes the Samuel Zemurray Chair in Research Leadership, established in 2018 by the Zemurray Foundation to endow the position of President & CEO.

The Next Leader. BGR seeks a leader who can harness its current momentum to uphold and extend its legacy of organizational excellence. The next President & CEO must be a visionary leader, an analytical thinker, a skilled researcher, an astute observer of local public policy, an effective communicator, and a persuasive fundraiser. With the next phase of leadership, BGR will reach for new opportunities for organizational achievement, while safeguarding the existing foundation for success.

The Opportunity. The President & CEO will have the opportunity to generate transformative change in local government, working across a broad spectrum of competencies to advance the organization’s mission-driven public policy work. Key areas of responsibility include:

Organizational Leadership. Lead BGR with visionary ideas, prudent execution and dynamic presence and readily accept role as organizational spokesperson and public figure. Ensure BGR’s credibility, independence and community standing while inspiring confidence and trust in the organization’s work.

Research, Analysis and Reports. Oversee and guide overall research strategy and priorities, from inception through publication. Work closely with the research team, providing leadership to ensure relevant research topics, accurate and sufficient research and analysis, impactful policy recommendations, and effective report presentation.

Membership. Execute a successful strategy to sustain and grow existing membership base across all levels. Oversee membership outreach and value-added campaigns for members, including the production of a dynamic program of events.

Fundraising. Lead efforts to annually raise revenue required by the budget, including cultivating, soliciting, and stewarding donors and granting organizations. Build a solid foundation for increased philanthropic support.

Communications and Community Engagement. Ensure effective communication strategies for all BGR output, including reports and events. Establish strategies to broaden BGR’s reach and visibility, including increasing media opportunities, social media presence, and community engagement. Work with other organizations, committees and commissions to achieve common goals while ensuring BGR’s independence.

Marketing and Public Relations. Create and execute a comprehensive marketing strategy about BGR’s brand, mission and report library in order to raise its regional profile.

Administration: Manage internal operations consistent with best practices for nonprofits. Review management and operating systems to achieve new efficiencies. Lead, manage and mentor staff. Prepare an annual budget and manage quarterly budget updates. Manage all committee processes.

Board Governance. Work closely with the Board of Directors to ensure that BGR’s strategic, operational, and financial direction remain strong and in alignment with the organization’s mission, strategic vision and goals. Maintain all processes for Board committees with clear and efficient communications. Consult with Board committees at all appropriate intervals to allow for maximum benefit of Board expertise and experience to improve BGR’s work.

The Candidate. The most competitive contenders for the role will embody a solid combination of the following traits and experiences:

? Bachelor’s degree in public policy or administration, political or social sciences, finance, communications, journalism or a related field.
? An advanced degree (JD, PhD, MBA, MA) is favored.
? No less than five years of professional experience, including substantial leadership and management experience and work for a board of directors.
? A commitment to, and alignment with, BGR’s mission.
? Focus on and commitment to safeguarding BGR from conflicts emanating from bias and partisanship and upholding the standard of excellence in research and reporting upon which BGR’s success is built.
? Clear, logical and independent thinker who relies on facts, evidence and data.
? Outstanding writer and editor, with the ability to write concisely and directly.
? Credible, captivating and persuasive public speaker, with experience in-person and virtually.
? Experience serving as a spokesperson, especially in media interviews, is a plus.
? Demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion and ability to work across diverse constituencies.
? Ability to foster collaborations and bring individuals and groups together in partnership around shared outcomes.
? Working knowledge of regional and local public policy issues, municipal structures and government processes, municipal budgeting and tax practices, and local fiscal issues.
? Knowledge of successful and creative communication and marketing strategies to grow organizational reach and visibility, including use of social media, podcast and other forms of media.
? Demonstrated experience in nonprofit fundraising and stewardship of donors, and the ability to advance established fundraising processes, particularly in the context of major gifts.
? Demonstrated ability to manage high pressured, complex issues and situations to successful outcomes, including on public platforms.
? Commitment to a culture of teamwork, accountability, high performance and continuous improvement.
? Reputationally independent of partisan ideology and able to uphold BGR’s nonpartisanship on and off the clock.

Salary

? Annual salary range is $175,000-$225,000, depending on qualifications and experience.
? A competitive benefits package is provided.

The candidate search is being conducted by The Jones Group of New Orleans. To apply or to nominate a candidate, please email cover letter, resume, and three references to admin@thejonesgroupnola.com.
Applicant screenings are expected to begin on November 1, 2021. No calls, please.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/5/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Above $159,999
eJobs ID: 9526

Duke University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Energy Policy, International Security, Environmental Policy

The Sanford School of Public Policy seeks to hire a tenure-track political scientist with a focus on international policy at the rank of assistant professor. The preferred candidate will have at least two years of experience since receiving their Ph.D. and will have expertise that aligns with one or more of the following areas: energy, environment, health, international development, international security, media and democracy, social policy, or technology. We value applications from faculty with a strong interest in policy engagement.

Candidates should be able to teach courses in their area of specialization and core courses in the Sanford curriculum on topics such as globalization, international governance, policy analysis, and/or statistics.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. and a record of (or demonstrated capacity for) scholarly publication and excellence in teaching.

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, four Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. Current faculty members have degrees in a variety of disciplines including demography, economics, history, law, medicine, philosophy, political science, psychology/social psychology, public policy, public health/health policy, and sociology. The Sanford School houses several interdisciplinary research centers and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at https://www.sanford.duke.edu.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that describes their research and teaching interests and experiences, CV, writing sample, and names and contact information for three references. These materials should be submitted via the following website: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/job/19958.

Applications submitted by November 12, 2021 will be guaranteed full consideration. For further information, contact Sarah Bermeo, search committee chair, at sarah.bermeo@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/12/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9530

---

Indiana University Kokomo
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy at Indiana University Kokomo invites applications for a full-time, 10-month, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 1, 2022. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field. An appropriate level of university, professional, and community service is required, such as committee work, assessment of the major, and engagement in campus initiatives to increase retention and enrollment.

The course load will be three classes per semester, with an active research agenda. The candidates’ primary field should be American Politics and they should be a generalist able to teach Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory at the introductory level. Preference will be given to those who can teach upper-level classes in one or more of the following fields: public policy; campaigns and elections; political institutions; education policy; environmental policy; law and courts; health policy; gender and politics; or race, ethnicity, and politics. Willingness to teach some classes online and experience doing so are also desirable. The deadline for full consideration is November 8, 2021, but applications will be taken until the position is filled.

One of eight campuses of Indiana University, Indiana University Kokomo is a comprehensive, non-residential campus located 50 miles north of Indianapolis in Kokomo, Indiana, a city of a population of about 50,000. Committed to student success, the campus serves approximately 3,100. IU Kokomo has approximately 260 full-time faculty and staff. Baccalaureate and master’s degrees are offered. Additional information about Indiana University Kokomo can be accessed at http://www.iuk.edu. Persons with disabilities who need assistance to participate in this application process should contact the Office of Affirmative Action at 765-455-9316.

Indiana University Kokomo seeks faculty skilled at working with members of diverse cultures and committed to preparing students to be engaged members of an increasingly diverse society.

Interested candidates should review the application requirement and submit their application at https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/11622. The application must include a letter of application, current CV, evidence of teaching ability, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a statement on diversity. Three professional reference letters should be sent directly to Donna Bevington at dobeving@iuk.edu. Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to Andrew McFarland, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History, Chair, Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, ammcfar@iuk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/8/2021
Date Posted: 10/7/2021
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 9532

---

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Columbia University

Rank: Lecturer in Discipline International Humanitarian Policy and Action

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline in the field of international humanitarian policy and action, to begin July 1, 2022.

Candidates must have a demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and in an appropriate field of research and/or practice related to international humanitarian policy or action. Research interests or practice should be policy relevant. Master’s degree required. Ph.D., J.D., or equivalent terminal degree and/or relevant professional experience at senior level strongly preferred.

Applicants should be qualified to teach courses related to international humanitarian policy/action and serve as director of focus area on that topic in demanding two-year Master’s degree programs in international and public affairs. Responsibilities of director include advising students about their educations and careers and fostering co-curricular activities, such as guest speakers and panel discussions.

Please visit our online application site at: http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/5183 for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Screening of the candidates will begin as soon as possible. For further information, please contact Hazel May, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, at sipa_academicaffairs@sipa.columbia.edu.

Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train students at the master’s and doctoral level for careers in global public policy.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA’s academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: 11/5/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9518

Purdue University

Rank: Tenured Full Professor in Political Communication

Professor of Political Communication

https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=16375&company=purdueuniv

Job Summary:
The Brian Lamb School of Communication and the Department of Political Science are jointly searching for a scholar in Political Communication to be appointed at the rank of full professor. The person who fills this position will work, collaboratively, with faculty and students in both units within the College of Liberal Arts. Applicants at the associate level who have a scholarly record that merits appointment at the level of full are eligible to apply.

Principal Duties:
The person holding this position is expected to maintain an active and nationally recognized research program that aligns well with extramural funding sources. The individual who fills this position will play a key role in the Center for C-SPAN Scholarship & Engagement (CCSE) and will help shape the future of the Center. A high level of commitment to PhD student mentoring and a culture of diversity and inclusion is expected. In addition, the person holding this position will create and disseminate relevant knowledge through student instruction.

Qualifications:
The candidate must have a PhD in communication, political science, public policy, or related field with a record of scholarship, extramural funding, student mentorship, and teaching that merits appointment to the rank of full professor. This position requires strong communication skills and the ability to publish high-quality peer-reviewed research and apply for grant opportunities. Preference will be given to candidates who can offer a collaborative vision for the future direction of the CCSE and contribute expertise to the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) program through research that utilizes cutting-edge social science research methods.

The College and University:
Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Faculty members in the Brian Lamb School of Communication and the Department of Political Science are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers on campus, including the CCSE, AMAP cluster, Integrated Data Science Initiative, and the many Research Centers at Discovery Park.

The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University is embarking upon 40 faculty searches for positions to begin in Fall 2022. These positions will advance research within and across disciplines, and intersect with technology, data science, and engineering in relevant and important ways. These positions may include teaching in our innovative, nationally-recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts Program that educates students across the university.

Purdue University, the College of Liberal Arts, the Department of Political Science and the Brian Lamb School of Communication are committed to free and open inquiry in all matters. Candidates are encouraged to address in their cover letter how they are prepared to contribute to a climate that values free inquiry.

Application Procedure:
To apply, please visit careers.purdue.edu requisition number 16375. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Curriculum Vitae, 2) Recent research paper or other writing sample, 3) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant’s research and teaching fit the principal duties of the position, 4) Names of at least four references, and 5) a Diversity and Inclusion statement described below.

Purdue University’s Brian Lamb School of Communication and the Department of Political Science are committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Screening of applicants will begin November 1 and continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact search committee co-chairs Dr. Jennifer Hoewe (jhoewe@purdue.edu) or Dr. Eric Waltenburg (ewaltenb@purdue.edu).

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9516

Symphony Talent
Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in Political Science
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Social Movements, Research Methods
Post-Doctoral Associate in Political Science
Division of Social Sciences
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint a Post-Doctoral Researcher in Political Science starting September 2022. Later start dates are also possible. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

About NYU Abu Dhabi
NYU Abu Dhabi is a pioneer of higher education in a global world, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, while advancing cooperation and progress on humanity’s shared challenges. Part of the NYU global network, NYU Abu Dhabi offers an outstanding liberal arts and science education to students from the United Arab Emirates, United States, and around the world, focusing on intercultural understanding and leadership. It supports innovative research that pushes the frontiers of knowledge forward and responds in powerful and interdisciplinary ways to vital global and local questions. NYU Abu Dhabi advances NYU as a model university for the 21st century and contributes in multiple ways to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based economy in Abu Dhabi.

As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students, and providing an intellectually rich environment.

About the Social Science Division: More information can be found here:
https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/divisions/social-science/faculty.html?_charset_=UTF-8&program=political-science-major&affiliation=&keywords=

Working for NYU Abu Dhabi
A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it’s your home and in order for you to research, teach, and thrive, we’re offering a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. Start with generous relocation allowances to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by competitive salaries, housing and transportation allowances, and educational assistance for your dependents. Health and wellness services round out our offerings, plus more. Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications
Applicants have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in political science, with a particular interest for interdisciplinary interactions with the other fields in the Division, in particular in Economics, Sociology and Public Policy.

Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

Application Instructions
To apply for this position, please submit the following items to: https://apply.interfolio.com/93481
· CV
· Statement of Teaching Interests
· Research Sample/Job Market Paper
· Names and contact information for three (3) references. (References will be contacted and asked to submit their confidential letter through the online application system, Interfolio.)

We will begin reviewing applications on October 1st and will continue on a rolling basis. Shortlisted candidates are expected to interview in the Fall. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in academic year 2022-2023.

Note: We will continue to consider applicants until all positions are filled.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now.
Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.
UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9515

University of Illinois, Springfield
Rank: Visiting Assistant Research Director
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy
All applicants must apply through this URL:
https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=142508&job=visiting-assistant-research-director

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Primary Function:
The Institute for Legal, Legislative, and Policy Studies is looking for a Visiting Assistant Research Director. In this newly created role, the Visiting Assistant Research Director will work closely with the ILLAPS Research Director and outside partners to develop and distribute social science research products capturing key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from internally and externally funded projects and disseminating them to a wide audience. Over the next three years, ILLAPS aims to increase production of academic publications, policy briefs, white papers, and case studies while also expanding our ongoing projects with external partners and grants with this position playing a key role.

The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead and manage the process of research related content creation—working independently and collaborating with ILLAPS staff on producing and editing written materials including academic articles, policy briefs, case studies, guides, website content, blog posts, and social media. This position will also oversee distribution of the content, including publications and presentations. Further, this position will play a large role independently conducting and overseeing the research process of ILLAPS. The Visiting Assistant Research Director will also work closely with external partners on ILLAPS projects they fund to complete required deliverables, including overseeing and managing data collection, expenditures, and dissemination of findings. This is a two-year appointment, with the potential for continued employment depending on performance and funding.

Duties:
1. Developing and managing research projects for ILLAPS – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently lead ILLAPS staff and faculty in producing content that captures key insights, evidence, and lessons learned from ILLAPS research projects, both those sponsored by ILLAPS and outside partners. They will have lead authority in this area for their research projects. This research related content will include academic articles, policy briefs, white papers, written reports, syntheses of insights across projects, blog posts, and guides to existing resources. The Visiting Assistant Research Director may directly craft the content or may manage a collaborative process involving other ILLAPS team members. This position will be responsible for all aspects of the research process, from data collection to analysis. Included in this is well will be developing externally funded research projects for partners. This position will be responsible for ensuring that this work is completed in a timely and effective manner, including direct involvement in producing the final products and research.

2. Distributing research related content to target audiences – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will lead ILLAPS staff and faculty in developing and distributing research content to target audiences and improving the visibility of the ILLAPS to policy makers, practitioners, and academic audiences. These responsibilities may include regularly updating the ILLAPS website, contributing to the Center for State Policy and Leadership and College of Public Affairs and Administration blog, creating research related content for ILLAPS or The Center’s newsletters, academic publications, reports written for external partners, conference presentations, and other potential distribution means. Having lead authority in ensuring all research related distribution objectives are the project are met.

3. Conduct independent research – Conduct research activities related to the researchers interests. This includes designing surveys or other data collection tools, developing data analysis plans, collecting and organizing data for purposes of analysis, conducting interviews and other forms of qualitative data collection, conducting complex statistical analyses and systematic analyses of qualitative data. This independent research will be published in academic articles, institute white papers, or through similar distribution channels outlined in other areas of this posting.

4. Manage and control data collection for research purposes – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently oversee ILLAPS staff and faculty in collecting data on internally and externally funded research projects. This process may include direct responsibility for collecting data through interviews, focus groups, data linkage, or other methodologies. These efforts may include data collection across a variety of quantitative and qualitative research methods, completing and managing all required internal paperwork, ensuring best practices are implemented and followed, facilitating meetings to update colleagues or partners on project progress, and direct involvement in the data collection process. This position will be responsible for successfully managing all aspects of this area for their projects.

5. Developing and managing research project expenditures – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will independently develop and manage research project budgets. Included in this will be developing and controlling project budgets and expenditures, manage project budgets and budget revisions, draft budgets and budget revisions, review fiscal reconciliation project reports, and submit invoices for payment.

6. Supervising research staff – The Visiting Assistant Research Director will supervise any staff, including but not limited to visiting scholars, research assistants, student workers, or contractors, who are working on research projects the Visiting Assistant Research Director is overseeing. Included in this will be the responsibility for training staff for research related tasks, reviewing any work products, scheduling, and other related duties as needed. Serve on search committees as a member or chair for university academic searches.

Qualifications:
ABD status in a PhD program with a master’s degree in a social science, public administration, public health, public policy, or related field. A completed PhD by the start date of the position is strongly preferred.

Familiarity with state and local government, non-profits, or public policy.

Work experience with external partners or clients, preferably government entities, grantees, or non-profits.

Research interests in American politics or public policy, broadly defined.

Strong research and research translation skills. Ability to identify core concepts and insights and synthesize into clear, plain language descriptions. Included in this is previous experience publishing academic articles, policy briefs, white papers, or books.

Excellent writing and editing skills, including the ability to consistently and independently produce compelling, well-written, and error-free work products with only light-touch guidance.

Strong project management capabilities, with a demonstrated ability to independently manage projects to completion, establish priorities among multiple simultaneous deadlines, develop and manage budgets, and sustain timely responses to deadlines and requests.
Team player with the proven ability to build strong relationships and develop trust with colleagues and partners.

Functional experience with research methods, including survey research, and statistical programs such as R, Stata, ArcGIS, or additional analysis programs. The ideal candidate will fill gaps in the skill set of current ILLAPS staff and faculty.

Organization: University of Illinois Springfield
Center for State Policy and Leadership

Position Title: Visiting Assistant Research Director

Position Supervisor:
Research Director, Institute for Legal, Legislative and Policy Studies
Executive Director, Center for State Policy and Leadership

Salary Range: $60,000 to $65,000

Position Time Period: This position is a visiting, two-year, full-time (12-month) academic-professional appointment, with the possibility of continued employment based on performance and finances.

Application Process:
Please select the "Apply For Position" tab below, create or update your profile and upload a cover letter of application addressing qualifications related to the position, a resume, and the names and contact information (phone and email address) for three professional references. Transcripts may be requested at a later date. Incomplete applications will not be evaluated. To maintain the integrity and confidentiality of the search process, applicants are asked to upload their own materials. Send letter of application, resume and a list of three professional references. Application deadline is July 30, 2021.

The University of Illinois may conduct background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer of employment. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

UIS is an affirmative action/equal employment opportunity employer; veterans, persons with disabilities, women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

The University of Illinois System requires candidates selected for hire to disclose any documented finding of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment and to authorize inquiries to current and former employers regarding findings of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment. For more information, visit https://www.hr.uiillinois.edu/cms/One.aspx?portalId=4292&PageId=1411899

As a qualifying federal contractor, the University of Illinois System uses E-Verify to verify employment eligibility.

UIS employment in this role is not covered by Social Security, and instead, is covered by the State Universities Retirement System. You don’t pay Social Security taxes and your earnings won’t be on your Social Security record. (Your record will, however, show your Medicare wages.)

Your pension from the State Universities Retirement System may affect the amount of your Social Security benefit and Social Security benefit as a spouse.

All applicants must apply through this URL:
https://jobs.uis.edu/job-board/job-details?jobID=142508&job=visiting-assistant-research-director

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: 10/24/2021
Date Posted: 10/6/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
ejobs ID: 9529

George Mason University
Rank: Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, International Relations

Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor

The Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University invites applications for three tenure-line hires. Rank and field are open. We encourage applications from talented scholars with diverse backgrounds who are committed to being part of and contributing to a nationally and internationally recognized school of policy and government. We seek candidates with very strong research records — which include publications in top journals — and trajectories for continued high research productivity. We also prefer applicants with an established track record of securing external funding that will support transformative research and doctoral students. The discipline for these hires is open, including but not limited to economics, management, political science, public policy, regional science, and sociology.

The Schar School is known among policy schools for its multidisciplinary breadth in scholarship, and for its successful educational programs at all levels, including a substantial PhD program. The School’s distinguished faculty currently includes 62 tenure-line members in a variety of disciplines, all with expertise linked to policy-relevant analysis and practice. The location of our graduate campus in Arlington, Virginia (10 minutes by metro or car from downtown Washington, D.C.) provides faculty with unparalleled access to policymakers, international media, and governmental and nongovernmental organizations.

Applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51429, complete and submit the online application, and upload a cover letter and CV. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should also provide and CV. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should also provide application a list of three professional references with contact information; senior candidates will be asked for references if they are short-listed.

The positions will remain open until filled, but for best consideration applications should be completed by November 15, 2021.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9529

United States Air Force Academy
Rank: Visiting Scientist
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

The Eisenhower Center for Space and Defense Studies within the Department of Political Science supports production and dissemination of knowledge relevant to cadets’ National Security learning outcome at the United States Air Force Academy (USafa). In conjunction with USAFA’s Nuclear Enterprise Research Center, Department of Physics, the Eisenhower Center invites applications for a one-year visiting scientist (with potential to extend to two years) to research implications of integrated deterrence, which combines conventional and nuclear strategies across multiple domains, for nuclear posture and infrastructure. The visitor will teach one section of approximately twenty-five cadets per semester and participate with Physics and Political Science research centers on a project exploring “Deterrence and Nuclear Modernization.” Financial support of $100K plus a travel budget for the twelve-month term (July 2022–June 2023, one year renewable) will be provided by the Stanton Foundation (Cambridge, MA) through the Air Force Academy Foundation. Expectations for research and teaching will be communicated formally through a separate Volunteer Service Agreement with the Superintendent of the Academy. Ideal candidates will have received their Ph.D. in Political Science or related field and demonstrated technical expertise through a master’s degree and/or policy experience in a STEM field related to nuclear war, nuclear terrorism, nuclear proliferation, nuclear weapons, nuclear force posture, or, as it relates to nuclear security, nuclear energy. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. USAFA’s Department of Political Science homepage can be found at: https://www.usafa.edu/academic/political-science/. Applicants should e-mail cover letter expressing their interest, CV, and two-letters of recommendation to Col Kris Bauman (kris.bauman@afacademy.af), Eisenhower Center, Department of Political Science, USAFA. Application deadline: December 15, 2021.

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 10/5/2021
Salary: $100,000 - $109,999
eJobs ID: 9511

California State University-Sacramento
Rank: Asst/Assoc Tenure Track Professor in Public Policy or Administration
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Urban Politics, Political Economy

APPLICATION LINK:

DEPARTMENT SUMMARY:
Public Policy and Administration (PPA) is a department within the College of Social Sciences and Interdisciplinary Studies at California State University, Sacramento (Sacramento State). The mission of the PPA Department at the “Capital Campus” of Sacramento State is to prepare future leaders to address the complex issues that face California. We serve the State of California and the Sacramento Region by developing leaders with strong analytical tools and a deep commitment to public service. We are excited to be part of “Sac State Downtown”—a hub for innovative teaching, learning, and research, fostering collaborative partnerships to address real-world issues and improve the quality of life in the Sacramento region.

The Master’s in Public Policy and Administration (MPPA) Program (https://www.csus.edu/college/social-sciences-interdisciplinary-studies/public-policy-administration/) offered by the PPA Department provides professional training for graduate students—many of whom work in state or local government. Our core academic program is a Master of Public Policy and Administration (MPPA). We also offer a Certificate in Collaborative Governance for matriculated graduate students. We participate in, or affiliate with, the Doctorate in Educational Leadership degree, the Judicial Administration Certificate Program, and the Executive and Judicial Fellows Programs (part of the nationally recognized Capital Fellows Programs).

PPA faculty focus on developing engaging curricula that include project-based work and application to current policy and administrative issues in California. Courses are taught primarily during evenings to accommodate students who are full-time working professionals. Our curriculum is evidence-based, with a strong focus on ensuring that students leave the program with the ability to: (1) synthesize, analyze, and offer ideas to improve policy and practice; (2) apply knowledge and skills in a professional setting; and (3) recognize the role of profession in society. A particular focus we instill in all our graduates is how to analyze systems and practices to surface systemic biases, including structural racism, that advance or impede a more just and equitable society.

POSITION DETAILS:

The position is for a tenure-track assistant or associate professor (depending upon qualifications and previous experience) starting in Spring 2022 or Fall 2022. Through this position, the university is making a further commitment to its role as an anchor institution in the region by focusing on a hire with expertise related to public policy and/or public administration, with an exhibited focus in teaching, research, and community service related to social and racial equity. Furthermore, we prefer that the hire has an interest in actively helping to shape the PPA Department’s future and possibly taking a leadership role in the PPA Department as a chairperson within the next two to five years.

The Department is seeking a scholar interested in contributing to the community through California State University’s Downtown Center, visit https://www.csus.edu/experience/anchor-university/sac-state-downtown/ and the Anchor University Initiative, visit https://www.csus.edu/experience/anchor-university/. Given the demographics of the Sacramento Region and California, the successful candidate should have evidence of a record in teaching, scholarship, and service that emphasizes service to diverse populations. Through previous work, and a clear plan, the successful applicant should have an applied research agenda focused on understanding and analyzing contemporary issues related to social and racial equity. Examples of desired subject areas include the study of public policy and administration through a defined lens of social justice and equity-related to political engagement, education, public finance, urban redevelopment, transportation, health care, climate change, affordable housing, homelessness, criminal justice, unemployment, poverty, environmental justice, or other similar issues.

JOB DUTIES:

Teach graduate courses over an academic year of two semesters with the potential for buyout or reassignment.

Engage in scholarly and professional activities related to public policy and/or public administration.

Supervise master’s projects related to public policy and/or public administration.
Provide service to the department, college, and university.

Provide service to the community in the expertise area of public policy and/or public administration.

Embrace the mission of the California State University and its students, visit https://www2.calstate.edu/csustystem/about-the-csu/Pages/mission.aspx. Our students are diverse and represent populations that have been historically under served in both undergraduate and graduate education. A successful applicant must be excited to serve our student populations through master-degree level advising and teaching as expressed in Sacramento State’s Inclusive Excellence Statement, visit https://www.csus.edu/diversity-inclusion/division-inclusive-excellence/diversity-inclusion-statement.html.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree (e.g., Doctorate in Public Administration) in public policy and/or public administration or a discipline (Economics, Political Science, Sociology, Urban Studies, etc.) closely related to it. ABD candidates will be considered. If ABD, all requirements for the degree must be completed by their start date.

Extensive knowledge and demonstrated research and teaching in public policy and/or public administration related to social and racial equity.

A strong commitment to diversity and issues of just, equitable, and inclusive education.

Interest in working with the public service community in Sacramento through California State University’s Anchor Initiative and Downtown Center.

Teaching experience and success in at least one of the core topics in the MPPA curriculum that includes public policy, qualitative or quantitative research methods, political environment of policy making, and public budgeting and finance.

Strong commitment to master’s level university teaching and project supervision to a diverse student body and broader community.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Experience working in an interdisciplinary academic department.

Interest in experimenting with different forms of student engagement in the classroom.

Publications (peer-reviewed journal articles and/or professional articles) in areas related to public policy and administration.

Teaching experience and success in more than one of the core topics in the MPPA curriculum that includes public policy, qualitative or quantitative research methods, political environment of policy making, and public budgeting and finance; or the elective courses of collaborative governance, urban public policy, or urban land development.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9497

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration and Public Policy

The Department of Political Science in the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Arkansas invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track assistant professor position in public administration and public policy to start in August 2022. This individual will serve as a core faculty member for its Master of Public Administration and Nonprofit Studies (M.P.A.) program.

The successful candidate should be able to teach some core M.P.A. courses (e.g., Human Resource Management, Public Budgeting and Finance, Organizational Behavior, Nonprofit Management, Policy Analysis, and Community Development) as well as related undergraduate courses. The department’s teaching load is two courses per semester, a total of four courses per year. The successful candidate should also be able to demonstrate potential to contribute to high quality scholarship in their area of specialization as well as contribute to graduate and undergraduate teaching, advising, and mentoring that support diverse, equitable, and inclusive practices.

Minimum Qualifications:

Applicants must hold or anticipate holding a Ph.D. in political science, public administration, public policy, or a related field by the start of employment.

Application Instructions:

Completed applications received by November 1 will be assured full consideration. Late applications will be reviewed as necessary to fill the position.

Interested applicants must submit a cover letter describing their teaching and research interests, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample preferably from a peer-reviewed publication or a dissertation chapter, a diversity statement, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations (if available). Applicants must also submit the names and contact information of three references who are willing to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

About the Department of Political Science and the University of Arkansas:

The Department of Political Science consists of 20 full-time faculty and offers a B.A. in Political Science, an M.A. in Political Science, and an M.P.A. in Public Administration and Nonprofit Studies. Faculty in the department are also actively involved in an interdisciplinary Public Policy Ph.D. program. The Department of Political Science is committed to strengthening the diversity of its faculty, student body, and curriculum.

Founded in 1871, the University of Arkansas is a land grant institution, classified by the Carnegie Foundation among the nation’s top 2 percent of universities with the highest level of research activity. The University of Arkansas works to advance Arkansas and build a better
Rutgers University
Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy, Tenure Track
Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Theory, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, seeks a full-time tenure-track faculty member at the assistant professor level with a specialty in public policy. While topical areas are open, we are particularly interested in scholars in the areas of public finance, policies impacting racial and economic disparities, and political institutions and processes. The faculty member will teach in the NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Policy (MPP) program and related graduate and undergraduate programs in the Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy. The faculty member will teach at least one required course for MPP students in the area of public policy theory, public economics, or policy analytical methods.

The ideal candidate is required to show clear signs that she/he/they will:

- Have a PhD in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics or a related discipline. A focus on applying a racial equity and social justice lens is highly desirable.
- Be clearly establishing a research profile of refereed research in high-impact journals and through conference presentations.
- Demonstrate willingness and ability to secure peer-reviewed external grant funds and the ability to be a team leader on funded research supporting and supervising doctoral students and postdoctoral associates.
- Demonstrate interest, skills and hands-on experience with teaching, with knowledge of inclusive and active teaching practices.
- Demonstrate ability to network with external stakeholders and to communicate with the public via social media and other sources.

The Bloustein School values interdisciplinary scholars. Applicants must have a doctorate degree, and we they must have their degree by May 31, 2022. As a campus with a continually growing diverse student body, we encourage applications from women, minorities, and individuals with a commitment to mentoring students from under-represented groups. We are committed to a diverse workforce and maintaining a learning and working environment that is welcoming to all.

The standard teaching assignment will include a mix of undergraduate and graduate courses. Salaries and benefit packages and other forms of professional support offered by the university are competitive. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and the names and contact information of three professional references. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021.

If you have questions about the Bloustein School or this position please email blousteinsch@ejb.rutgers.edu.

APPLY ONLINE AT https://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/142527
Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/1/2021
Date Posted: 10/4/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9501

University of Toronto at Scarborough
Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Scarborough invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Public Policy. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022, or shortly thereafter.

We are seeking scholars who will play a leadership role in further developing our Public Policy major. We especially encourage applications from scholars interested in the way that public policy makers are responding to the climate crisis and promoting just transitions, broadly construed. This could involve public policy with respect to any of the following: climate change, energy, economic restructuring, community resilience, liveable cities, public transportation, public finance, or social policy.

Candidates must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and enhance our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference. Evidence of expertise in experiential education is an asset. Applicants must also show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion and to the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment, as demonstrated through the application materials.

The position will include a graduate appointment in the Department of Political Science on the St. George campus of the University of Toronto. Candidates should also explain in their one-page statement how they can contribute to the development of the tri-campus graduate program. For information about the graduate program please visit our website at https://politics.utoronto.ca.
Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Toronto Scarborough is a research-intensive institution with an interdisciplinary commitment, a multicultural student body, and a modern campus. The University offers the opportunity to conduct research, teach, and live in one of the most diverse cities in the world. Additional information on the Department can be found at https://www.utscc.utoronto.ca/polisci/.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking https://jobs.utoronto.ca/job/Toronto-Assistant-Professor-Public-Policy-ON/550852217/. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample; and a teaching dossier that includes a strong teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto’s recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at http://uoft.me/how-to-apply. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sue-Ann Hicks at sueann.hicks@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by November 22, 2021.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 11/22/2021
Date Posted: 9/30/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9473

George Mason University
Rank: Assistant Professor, Environmental Policy & Politics (Tenure-Track)
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

*Apply for this position at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51696

George Mason University’s Department of Environmental Science and Policy (ESP) in the College of Science is seeking an enthusiastic and energetic individual for a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy & Politics beginning in August 2022.

George Mason University, a Carnegie Research I institution, is the largest, most diverse, and innovative public university in Virginia with more than 38,000 students from all 50 states and over 135 countries. Located in Fairfax, Virginia, Mason is part of the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area, offering easy access to the scientific and political resources of the nation’s capital. Mason has a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff, and it strongly encourages candidates to apply who will enrich Mason’s academic and culturally inclusive environment.

Responsibilities:
This position will strengthen departmental expertise on domestic U.S. environmental policy and politics in relationship to one or more of the following focal areas: water and watersheds, planetary health, conservation, climate change and energy, and environmental justice. Candidates with strong research and teaching capacity in quantitative methodologies, such as data analytics, agent-based modeling, and social network analysis, are especially encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will be expected to establish a strong extramurally funded research program and provide mentorship to students in the department’s undergraduate, master’s, and doctoral programs. This position aligns with ESP’s focus on boundary-spanning and co-production of knowledge across science, policy, and society. As such, the candidate is expected to contribute to George Mason University’s commitment to transdisciplinary research. We especially encourage submissions from researchers who have experience engaging local, state, or federal policy systems to support and bring about changes that improve environmental or sustainability outcomes. The expected teaching responsibility for this position is two courses per semester. Service activities within ESP and the College of Science are expected.

Preference will be given to candidates who express an interest in expanding collaborative efforts such as the growing partnership between ESP and the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation, partnering with the Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE), furthering the department’s own initiatives in conservation and sustainability, and building new partnerships to develop transdisciplinary projects.

Required Qualifications:

• Successful completion of a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, public administration, or a related field prior to the first day of the appointment;
• Demonstrated expertise in quantitative social science methods;
• The ability to share the department’s commitment to transdisciplinary education and research;
• An established record of scholarly activity demonstrated by publication record in peer-reviewed journals;
• Demonstrated potential to establish an independent extramurally funded research program;
• Commitment and interest in teaching lecture courses at undergraduate and graduate levels;
• Strong commitment to mentoring and supervising undergraduate and graduate students;
• Effective interpersonal communication skills;
• The ability to collaborate with other natural scientists and social scientists in research, teaching and outreach.

Preferred Qualifications:

• Demonstrated experience in developing successful externally-funded research collaborations;
• A record of seeking and securing extramural research support evidenced by proposal submission and/or recipient of funding awards;
• Demonstrated successful teamwork in a collaborative environment.

About us:
ESP is well known for its truly transdisciplinary faculty focused on environmental natural and social sciences. ESP also includes additional graduate program faculty from across the university and numerous affiliated environmental professionals. The following degrees are awarded: B.S. in Environmental Science, B.A. in Environmental and Sustainability Studies, M.S. in Environmental Science and Policy, and a Ph.D. in Environmental Science and Public Policy. The Department also partners with the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation in Front Royal, VA, to offer graduate-level courses in biodiversity and conservation. Mason’s Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE) provides a unique opportunity for the selected candidate to work in a collaborative manner across disciplines at Mason and with external partners nationally and internationally.

Special Instructions to Applicants
For full consideration, applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51696; complete and submit the online application, and include:

- (1) cover letter
- (2) CV
- (3) research statement – please address diversity, equity, and inclusion in your statement
- (4) teaching philosophy – please address diversity, equity, and inclusion in your statement, and
- (5) names and email addresses of professional references (minimum 3, from academic institutions)

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 9466

James Madison University
Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor - Public Policy & Administration

The Political Science Department at James Madison University welcomes applicants for a tenure-track position specializing in Public Policy & Administration at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. The successful applicant will teach courses in our undergraduate Public Policy & Administration and NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration programs. Both programs emphasize community engagement in their pedagogy and a collaborative approach to program governance and operations. This faculty member will form part of the Master of Public Administration Governance Committee. Applicants must be able to teach courses on public budgeting and the budgetary process. Other specializations are open and will reflect a candidate’s expertise and teaching interests, as well as department needs, including introductory-level courses in public policy or public administration.

The department seeks candidates with strong research and teaching skills and a commitment to shared program governance and an inclusive classroom and work environment. Scholars from historically excluded groups are especially encouraged to apply.

The successful applicant will teach courses in our undergraduate Public Policy & Administration and NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration programs and other courses related to the candidate’s experience. Applicants must be able to teach courses on public budgeting and the budgetary process.

A doctoral degree in Public Policy & Administration or closely related field is required by the start date for appointment as Assistant Professor; ABD candidates are encouraged to apply. Applicants must demonstrate an ability to teach the required courses.

The department seeks candidates with strong research and teaching skills and a commitment to shared program governance and an inclusive classroom and work environment.

Per the Governor’s Executive Directive #18, new JMU employees upon hire must disclose to the University Health Center their COVID-19 vaccination status. Unvaccinated employees are required to be tested weekly.

Employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a criminal background check.

E-Verify Notice: After accepting employment, new hires are required to complete an I-9 form and present documentation of their identity and eligibility to work in the United States. James Madison University uses the E-Verify system to confirm identity and work authorization.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9458

George Mason University
Rank: Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor

Full, Associate, or Advanced Assistant Professor

The Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University invites applications for three tenure-line hires. Rank and field are open. We encourage applications from talented scholars with diverse backgrounds who are committed to being part of and contributing to a nationally and internationally recognized school of policy and government.

We seek candidates with very strong research records — which include publications in top journals — and trajectories for continued high research productivity. We also prefer applicants with an established track record of securing external funding that will support transformative research and doctoral students. The discipline for these hires is open, including but not limited to economics, management, political science, public policy, regional science, and sociology.

The Schar School is known among policy schools for its multidisciplinary breadth in scholarship, and for its successful educational programs at all levels, including a substantial PhD program. The School’s distinguished faculty currently includes 62 tenure-line members in a variety of disciplines, all with expertise linked to policy-relevant analysis and practice. The location of our graduate campus in Arlington, Virginia (10 minutes by metro or car from downtown Washington, D.C.) provides faculty with unparalleled access to policymakers, international media, and governmental and nongovernmental organizations.

Applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51429, complete and submit the online application, and upload a cover letter and CV. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should also provide with their application a list of three professional references with contact information; senior candidates will be asked for references if they are short-listed. The positions will remain open until filled, but for best consideration applications should be completed by November 15, 2021.

George Mason University is a Tier-1 Research University as well as the largest and most diverse university in Virginia. The Schar School is deeply committed to building a faculty that reflects the highly diverse demographics of our student body and region; underrepresented minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, or any characteristic protected by law.

For full consideration, applicants must apply at https://jobs.gmu.edu/postings/51429; complete and submit the online application; and upload a cover letter, resume, and a list of three professional references with contact information.

George Mason University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, committed to promoting inclusion and equity in its community. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability or veteran status, or any characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Application Deadline: Open until Filled Date Posted: 9/28/2021 Salary: Negotiable eJobs ID: 9450

Harvard University

Rank: PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

2022-23 PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship

Established in 1996, under the direction of Paul E. Peterson (Henry Lee Shattuck Professor of Government), the Program on Education Policy and Governance has rapidly distinguished itself as a significant player within the educational reform movement.

PEPG’s fellowship program was initiated to attract top postdoctoral researchers to quantitative-based investigations of issues in education reform at Harvard. The program has been a resounding success since its inception in 2002. These fellows have collaborated on some of PEPG’s most important research papers and in organizing program conferences. Past fellows currently hold tenured and tenure-track positions at major colleges, universities and research centers in the United States and abroad.

The deadline to apply for the 2022-23 PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship is December 17, 2021.

PEPG is offering a one-year resident research fellowship at the postdoctoral level starting in the summer of 2022. The fellow will work at Harvard University and engage in independent projects that are related to the program’s focus. Additionally, s/he will be expected to collaborate with PEPG’s ongoing research and programs. This may include conference planning and administration, as well as working on PEPG publications. Applicants who have not yet received their Doctoral degree may apply. However, they must receive it by September 1, 2022, in order to participate. Fellows must begin their residency no later than the week of August 29, 2022.

Candidates must have received PhD (or equivalent degree) within five years of the applied-for academic year.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $75,000. It provides modest health insurance coverage but no housing. However, assistance in obtaining affordable housing will be provided.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
- Letter of intent with current contact information including email address.
- Current curriculum vitae (please include any past awards, scholarships and publications).
- A 2,000-word proposal describing one or more research projects that will be conducted and completed while at PEPG. The proposal should include relevant background information, discrete objectives, importance and feasibility, as well as the methodology that will be used.
- Two samples of writing, if not published, then of publishable quality. These should be pertinent to the proposed research.
- The names of and letters of recommendation from three or four people qualified and willing to evaluate the applicant’s project and scholarly qualifications. Recommenders should mail their letters directly to PEPG, or they can be emailed to the address below. Applicants should email their materials to pepg_administrator@hks.harvard.edu (in PDF format). Incomplete applications may not be reviewed/considered.

All materials should be addressed to:

PEPG Postdoctoral Fellowship Program
C/O Antonio Wendland
Harvard Kennedy School
79 JFK Street, Taubman 304
Cambridge, MA 02138

For further information, please email: pepg_administrator@hks.harvard.edu.

Link to job description: https://www.hks.harvard.edu/centers/taubman/programs-research/pepg/fellowships#postdoctoral-fellowship

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 12/17/2021
Date Posted: 9/28/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9449

Augustana University

Rank: Nef Family Chair of Political Economy
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: International Political Economy, Political Economy, Economic Policy

The Nef Family Chair of Political Economy
Augustana University

Augustana University (Sioux Falls, SD) invites applications for an endowed chair in political economy. The Rudy & Marilyn Nef Family
Chair of Political Economy will advance the study of market economies and representative democracies, both within the campus community and in the region. This tenure-track faculty position will be housed in the Government and International Affairs Department, but will draw on a breadth of research and extensive teaching experience to provide recognized scholarship and enthusiastic, effective instruction to the University’s offerings in economics, political science, public policy, and business. The NeF Family Chair will also provide collaborative and creative leadership in partnership with the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies.

We seek an outstanding teacher/scholar who reflects the foundational relevance of economic analysis in the design and administration of public policies, and who speaks authoritatively to the positive role of free markets, localized decision making and competition in a free society. The unique nature of this endowed chair position grants wide latitude to the instructor in terms of the courses offered, save a required course on capitalistic economic systems. Candidates capable of teaching upper-level Comparative Politics, Comparative/International Political Economy, Policy Analysis or Microeconomics are strongly encouraged to apply.

Additional responsibilities will include student advising, student research mentorship, and planning and facilitating public symposia relevant to the scholar’s teaching and research. Interacting with students, faculty and leadership with different backgrounds and points of view and a deep appreciation of and respect for academic values and culture must be a top value of the candidate. A doctorate is required. Compensation, rank and length of tenure track will be commensurate with experience. The starting date for this 12-month appointment is August, 2022. Screening will begin November 7th and continue until the position is filled. Finalists will be expected to present an engaging topic as part of the interview process.

Located in the growing and vibrant city of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Augustana University has, for more than 160 years, provided a strong student-centric education based on its five core values: Christian faith, liberal arts, excellence, community, and service. The institution continues to expand its pre-professional and graduate offerings, while remaining true to its liberal arts tradition. Guided by the Viking Bold: Journey to 2030 strategic plan, Augustana seeks to grow its enrollment from just over 1,900 students to more than 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

Application Procedure:
Please send a letter of interest; curriculum vitae; Augustana University employment application; statement of commitment to diversity; statement of teaching philosophy; addresses, phone numbers and email addresses of three current references; and unofficial transcripts electronically to Human Resources at humanresources@augie.edu. Official website: www.augie.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9443

Oakland University
Rank: Associate Professor of Political Science - Public Administration and MPA Director
Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Oakland University invites applications for an Associate Professor of Political Science-Public Administration, to begin August 15, 2022. The successful candidate will also be appointed to an initial 3-year term as MPA Director. This position is eligible for renewal during the 3rd year of each 3-year appointment.

We seek a scholar in public and/or nonprofit administration, able to teach broadly across the discipline at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Human Resource Management and Program Evaluation are immediate instructional needs in our NASPAA-accredited program.

The MPA Director supervises a full-time program coordinator and two graduate assistants, and responsibilities include overseeing curriculum development, student recruitment, and managing part-time faculty in the MPA program. The MPA Director position carries with it a two-course administrative release and stipend each regular academic year (and thus an annual teaching load of three courses in a normal academic year). Candidates must demonstrate experience with or a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications:
A PhD with a specialization in Public Administration or related field, with the ability to teach at least two MPA core courses. A record of scholarly achievement commensurate with rank of appointment according to department and Oakland University standards.

School/College/Dept Summary:
Our MPA (established 1979) is the second-oldest NASPAA-accredited program in Michigan, with concentrations in Health Care, Local Government, Criminal Justice, Nonprofit Management, and Court Administration. The MPA program has recently launched a nonprofit management certificate program and strives to be a metropolitan, community-engaged hub for public service education & training.

Oakland University is a nationally recognized doctoral university of high research activity located on 1,443 acres of scenic land in the cities of Rochester Hills and Auburn Hills in Oakland County, Michigan. The University has 142 bachelor’s degree programs and 138 graduate degree and certificate programs. Academics include programs in the College of Arts and Sciences, School of Business Administration, School of Education and Human Services, School of Engineering and Computer Science, School of Health Sciences, School of Medicine and School of Nursing. As an anchor institution in southeastern Michigan, Oakland University is committed to building ongoing and collaborative relationships with the surrounding communities. Community and civic engagement enhances the lives of our students and has a positive impact on our broader community.

Special Instructions:
Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for at least three references to https://jobs.oakland.edu/posting/22506.

Candidates will also provide a Diversity Statement that describes their interest or efforts in furthering diversity and inclusion, consistent with the MPA program Diversity Philosophy: “The OU MPA Program is committed to creating a welcoming environment for all students, faculty, and staff. We will work to inculcate an awareness of the value of diversity and to impart the ability to interact respectfully and productively with all stakeholders in a variety of organizational settings, regardless of race, ethnicity, sex, class, nationality, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, age, and/or veteran status.” Once all required application materials have been uploaded through the online system, references will be contacted with a link through which they can submit letters of recommendation. Review of materials will begin on November 19 and will continue until the position is filled.

Please address questions to Dr. Douglas Carr, Search Chair, via email: carr@oakland.edu.

Link: https://jobs.oakland.edu/postings/22595

OU COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY
COVID-19 vaccinations are now required for all Oakland University students, faculty and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/22/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9395

University of Oklahoma
Rank: Assistant Professor

Description
The University of Oklahoma invites applications for a tenure-track position in public policy at the assistant professor level beginning in August 2022. We seek candidates who focus on sub-national policy, broadly defined. We are open to candidates studying any sub-national unit of government, including tribal nations, state governments, school districts, or city or county governments, among other sub-national governing entities. We are also open in terms of theoretical orientations and empirical approaches, although we consider an ideal candidate able to contribute to our graduate methods offerings. We encourage applicants from all substantive policy areas, but preference will be given to candidates with expertise in social policy, broadly defined (e.g., healthcare, education, housing, food security, welfare, family policy, disability, among others). We prefer candidates with a research agenda demonstrating the potential for external funding.

The selected candidate will teach core public policy courses in our NASPAA-accredited MPA program and contribute to the department’s course offerings in public policy and research methods at the undergraduate and PhD levels.

This position is within the Department of Political Science, a large department with two undergraduate majors (Political Science and Public & Nonprofit Administration), multiple minors, two master’s degree programs (Public Administration & Political Science), and a doctoral program. The department is housed within the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Oklahoma. The University of Oklahoma is the flagship research institution for the state of Oklahoma, enrolling over 30,000 students, located in Norman, OK, a vibrant college town just 20 miles south of Oklahoma City.

Qualifications
Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or a related field at the time the position begins in August 2022, be able to teach core public policy courses in the MPA curriculum and have the potential to contribute to the department’s course offerings in public policy and research methods at the undergraduate and PhD levels. Preference will be given to applicants with substantive focus in social policy, broadly defined, and whose research agenda shows potential for external funding and for publication in high-quality, peer-reviewed outlets. The teaching load for this position is two courses per semester.

Application Instructions
Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, research and teaching statements, unofficial graduate transcript(s) (official transcript will be required for finalists), writing sample, and contact information for three references. Three letters of recommendation will be required for candidates who progress past the first screening. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Any questions can be emailed to the search committee chair, Dr. Deven Carlson decarson@ou.edu. Applicants must apply online at http://apply.interfolio.com/93547.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9388

Utah Valley University
Rank: Faculty, Tenure-Track, Public Policy

The History and Political Science Department at Utah Valley University invites applicants for a teaching-focused tenure-track Assistant Professor position with a teaching load of 12 credits per semester. Under the supervision of the Department Chair, the candidate will have the opportunity to play an integral role in redesigning the Public Administration and Policy emphasis. The successful candidate will be required to teach lower-division courses in American Government, Introduction to Public Administration, and upper-division courses in Public Policy within our Public Administration and Policy emphasis. In addition to a policy course in the candidate’s area of interest, these courses could include State and Local Government, Program/Policy Analysis, Nonprofits, and other related topics. The area of policy specialty is open, but expertise in environmental policy is preferred. The candidate may also be asked to teach seminars in the online Master of Public Service program within the College of Public Service. The candidate will also be required to seek ways to enhance UVU’s dual-integrated mission, focusing on engagement, inclusion, and student success.

The History and Political Science Department currently consists of 13 full-time faculty members in Political Science and serves almost 300 students majoring in Political Science. Our approach to professional education is student-centered and demands a high level of faculty-student engagement, with substantial institutional support for engaging students in faculty research. The College of Humanities and Social Sciences and the institution also support work-life balance. UVU values diverse opinions and perspectives and seeks to be inclusive in all practices. We encourage applications from candidates who identify with groups that are historically underrepresented in academia.

Please apply at: https://www.uvu.jobs/postings/24544

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9387

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks a Faculty Program Coordinator to teach in and provide administrative support to the Data Analytics and Policy program. The Master of Science in Data Analytics and Policy and Certificate in Data Analytics and Policy prepare students to be data-driven leaders and decision makers. Of particular interest are candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds.

The Faculty Program Coordinator is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer. The Faculty Program Coordinator will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, Director of the Data Analytics and Policy Program, and the Program Coordinator for the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies. The position will report to the Associate Dean for AAP and the Program Director for Data Analytics and Policy. This position is expected to begin January 2022. The Program Coordinator will have the following faculty and administrative responsibilities:

Faculty Responsibilities
- Teaching 6 graduate courses per year, including the preparation for and time spent in the classroom (online or onsite), using best practices for online teaching, engaging and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, responding to student questions;
- Advising students;
- Providing input on the curriculum and new course developments to ensure the delivery of quality programs;
- Other administrative duties as assigned.

Position Description:
The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation’s oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master’s degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master’s degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Minimum Qualifications:
- Master’s degree in Political Science, Public Policy, Statistics, Data Science, Public Finance;
- 1-3 years of teaching experience at the graduate and/or undergraduate level;
- 1-3 years of work experience, including but not limited to outside consulting or collaborative work within the fields of public policy, public finance, program evaluation, risk analysis and/or data science;
- Experience using and teaching the R programming language.

Preferred Qualifications:
- Terminal Degree in Political Science, Public Policy, Statistics, Data Science, Public Finance;
- 4 or more years of teaching experience at the graduate level, including online teaching experience;
- 4 or more years of work experience in a relevant field including but not limited to outside consulting or collaborative work within the fields of public policy, program evaluation, risk analysis and/or data science;
- Strong organizational skills;
- Ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines;
- Excellent oral and written communication skills;
- Interest in revising and/or developing courses in one or more advanced areas of analytics, such as text analysis, machine learning and predictive analytics.

Application Instructions:
The position will remain open until filled.

Candidates must submit the following:
- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- 3 references and their contact information
- Teaching evaluations for the most recent two semesters.

Candidates can apply here: https://apply.interfolio.com/94475

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9380

Stanford University
Rank: 2022-2023 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow on Contemporary Asia
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2022-2023 Postdoctoral Fellowships on Contemporary Asia
The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2022-2023 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows on Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2022) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2022-2023 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 20, 2021, until January 3, 2022.

For additional information and to apply, visit https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship

About the Center:

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 1/3/2022
Date Posted: 9/20/2021
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 9378

Harvard University

Rank: Inequality in America Initiative Postdoctoral Fellowship
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Inequality in America Initiative seeks applications from recent doctoral degree recipients interested in joining a multidisciplinary network of Harvard researchers working to address the manifold challenges of inequality. This program is intended to seed new research directions, facilitate collaboration across disciplines, and develop new leaders in the study of inequality who can publish at the highest level, reach the widest audience, and impact policy.

The fellowship is a two-year postdoctoral training program. The award includes $71,000/year plus fringe; office space; up to $17,500 for research expenses across 2 years; up to $3,000 (incl. taxes) for relocation from out of state; and up to $3,000 for a manuscript workshop in year two.

The program director will pair each fellow with two Harvard faculty mentors (one from outside the fellow’s primary discipline), participating in one or more of the following research clusters:

- Mobility and Migration
- Science, Technology, Education, and Health
- Work, Family, and Opportunity
- Governance, Citizenship, and Social Justice
- America Inequality, Globally

Applicants to the fall 2022 program must have received a doctorate or equivalent terminal degree in April 2019 or later; applicants without a terminal degree must demonstrate that they will receive one by August 2022.

See more at https://inequalityinamerica.fas.harvard.edu/postdoctoral-program

Contact: Jennifer Shephard, iai@fas.harvard.edu, 1.617.495.7906

Start Date: Application Deadline: 9/16/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9367

McGill University

Rank: Full-time tenured position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Tenure-Track Faculty Position
Full or Associate Professor, Diamond-Brown Chair in Democratic Studies
Max Bell School of Public Policy and Department of Political Science

McGill University

The Max Bell School of Public Policy and the Department of Political Science at McGill University invite applications for the newly created Diamond-Brown Chair in Democratic Studies. The Chairholder will be jointly appointed, teaching in both units and strengthening the ties between them.

We seek an internationally renowned scholar who conducts leading-edge empirical research on contemporary democratic governance and politics. The search is open with respect to regional specialization and methodology. We invite applications from scholars of political behaviour and/or political institutions, from scholars of ongoing politics in consolidated democracies, and from scholars of democratization or democratic fragility in different regions of the world.

This position will provide a highly visible forum for a scholar studying recent worldwide challenges to democratic institutions and movements, and allow the Chairholder to enhance the policy orientation of fundamental research and to improve the public’s engagement with these issues. The Chairholder should have considerable experience participating in policy processes broadly understood, through a combination of public service, work with policy-oriented organizations, and advising policymakers. Demonstrated expertise in enhancing the public impact of policy-related research is an important asset. The Chairholder will be encouraged to build connections with McGill’s various research centres which focus on democracy, including (but not limited to) the Centre for the Study of Democratic Citizenship.

An applicant’s record must provide evidence of outstanding research, active engagement in the policy process, and success in teaching and
Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, material pertinent to teaching skills, and the names and contact information of three referees. The position start date is August 1, 2022.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2021, and continue until the position is filled. Please apply online at: https://mcgill.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/McGill_Careers/job/Sherbrooke-680/Associate-Professor-or-Professor_JR0000003606
https://ntu.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/NTU-Main-Campus-Singapore/Assistant-or-Associate-Professor--International-Political-Economy--Tenure-Track-TenuredRSIS__R00007562).

All applicants should submit the following:
- A cover letter specifying how your qualifications match the job description;
- A detailed curriculum vitae (including records of competitive grants, fellowships, and graduate supervision, if applicable);
- Statements of research and teaching interests and teaching evaluation;
- Three (3) published articles or writing samples;
- Google Scholar citation report if available;
- Applicants applying for the Assistant Professor position, please include the name and details of THREE referees of the rank of Associate Professor/Professor; and applicants applying for the Associate Professor position, please include the name and details of FOUR referees of the rank of Professor.

If you have any questions about this position, please write in (or email) to:

The Search Committee
S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies
Nanyang Technological University
50 Nanyang Avenue
Singapore 639798
Email: rsisrecruitment@ntu.edu.sg

Applications will be accepted until 15 December 2021
We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

For further information about RSIS, please visit our website: www.rsis.edu.sg.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 12/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9354

Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, American Government and Politics

The faculty members in the Department of Political Science at Lehigh University are seeking applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in August 2022.
The successful candidate will possess a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field and contribute to research and teaching in public policy and research methods. Preference will be given to applicants with a strong background in American politics. The teaching load for this position is two four-credit courses per semester. Completion of the doctorate is required by the date of hire.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, and teaching statement via Academic Jobs Online. Applicants are required to describe how they will contribute to a diverse and equitable community in their letters of interest. Applicants should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted.

Serving approximately 90 undergraduate majors and 20 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a B.A. and M.A. degree as well as a Master of Public Policy. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Political Science Department website: https://polisci.cas.lehigh.edu/

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation’s highly ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University has some 5,000 undergraduates, 2,000 graduate students, and about 550 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Lehigh University ranks in the top 50 among national universities in U.S. News & World Report ratings and is in the most competitive category in both Peterson’s Guide and Barron’s Profiles of American Colleges. The university is located on a scenic, 1,600-acre campus in historic Bethlehem in a region of eastern Pennsylvania (USA) known as the Lehigh Valley. About 90 minutes from New York and Philadelphia, the Lehigh Valley is an attractive place to live and work with reasonable cost of living, easy commuting, good schools, and abundant cultural activities.

Lehigh University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, genetic information, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status. We are committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Lehigh University is committed to a culturally and intellectually diverse academic community and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching and/or service, to this mission. Lehigh University is the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation award for promoting the careers of women in academic sciences and engineering http://www.lehigh.edu/luadvance/ and is among institutions of higher education recognized for excellence in diversity with the INSIGHT into Diversity HEED Award. Additional information about Lehigh’s commitment to diversity and inclusion is available at https://diversityandinclusion.lehigh.edu/. Lehigh University provides competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits, including domestic partner benefits. More information about Work/Life Balance for Faculty can be found at: https://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/faculty/worklifebalance.html Lehigh University supports dual career efforts for following spouses/partners of newly hired faculty. Learn more about Dual Career Assistance at: https://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/faculty/dualcareer.html.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. As a condition of employment, background checks are required in conformance with Pennsylvania law. Questions about this position should be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Brian Fife, at bfh218@lehigh.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 11/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/15/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9343

Purdue University

Rank: Full Professor, Environmental Politics and Policy

Department of Political Science: Full Professor of Environmental Politics and Policy

Principal Duties: Purdue University’s Department of Political Science is seeking an environmental politics and policy scholar for an academic year appointment at the full professor level. Advanced associate professors with records commensurate with the rank of full professor are eligible to apply.

The successful candidate will develop and/or lead a nationally recognized research program in environmental policy. The person holding this position is expected to maintain an active research agenda that aligns well with extramural funding sources. In addition, the person holding this position will create and disseminate relevant knowledge through student instruction, and through engagement with external audiences. A high level of commitment to PhD student mentoring and a culture of diversity and inclusion is expected.

Qualifications: The candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field. This position requires strong communication skills, a proven ability to publish high-quality peer-reviewed research, and a record suitable for appointment as a full professor at Purdue (though the applicant need not already hold the rank of Full Professor at their present institution). Preference will be given to candidates who can contribute expertise to the Advanced Methods at Purdue program through research that utilizes cutting-edge social science research methods.

The College and University:

This position is one of seven hires this year in the Department of Political Science. The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University is embarking upon 40 faculty searches for positions to begin in Fall 2022. These positions will advance research within and across disciplines, and intersect with technology, data science, and engineering in relevant and important ways. These positions include teaching in our innovative, nationally-recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts Program that educates students across the university.

Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with many interdisciplinary programs and centers on campus, including the Ecological Sciences and Engineering program, Purdue Climate Change Research Center, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, the Human Rights Program, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. In addition to the major and the PhD, the Department is home to graduate and undergraduate certificates and minors in environmental politics and policy, public policy, and human rights.

Application Procedure: To apply, please visit careers.purdue.edu. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Curriculum

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs

313
themes ranging from genetic science and health equity to Covid achieving these aims requires that practitioners face. It connects expertise to the needs of practice and locally-driven innovation. The model is building an innovative approach to translational work (i.e. making academic expertise accessible to practitioners in real time) for the social sciences and with “orient-do-learn-do” cycles of research, policy implementation and securing additional funding from philanthropic, government, and other sources.

Manage sponsored research activities, including grant applications and reporting, in consultation with the Center’s Grants Manager. Develop organizational structure for the work and track workflows, providing project coordination and oversight until all key personnel are in place; manage transitions.
Interview and make hiring decisions for JHD administrative staff, in collaboration with Center staff and JHD team members; serve as supervisor for JHD admin staff (1 non-exempt FTE Project Manager position) and temp workers, as needed; assign and review work, conduct annual performance reviews and take corrective action, up to and through termination, as needed; provide administrative oversight for up to 6 JHD Graduate and 4 Undergraduate student researchers. Provide oversight and execution of administrative functions, including infrastructure development, compliance with Harvard and FAS policies and procedures, and space identification.

Basic Qualifications

Master’s degree; Minimum 5 years of progressively responsible administrative management experience in research, academic, or relevant setting, and including at least 2 years of direct professional staff supervision.

Additional Qualifications and Skills

PhD, MBA, or other terminal professional degree preferred in social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, public health, communications, or other relevant fields. Work experience generating subject area expertise also of interest as alternative to a degree. Familiarity with Harvard is desirable. Demonstrated success leading collaborative projects and achieving exceptional operational results.

Working Conditions

*Harvard will require COVID vaccination for all Harvard community members who will have any on-campus presence. Individuals may claim exemption from the vaccine requirement for medical or religious reasons. More information regarding the University’s COVID vaccination requirement and exceptions may be found at the University’s “COVID-19 Vaccine Information” webpage: http://www.harvard.edu/coronavirus/covid-19-vaccine-information/.

Additional Information

If you believe that you qualify for at least 70% of this job description, we encourage you to apply. We know that imposter syndrome and the confidence gap can prevent strong candidates from applying to a job unless they see themselves as a 100% fit. We would love to hear from you.

This term position will be renewed annually, based on business need and funding availability. The position is currently grant-funded for three years, with a strong likelihood of extension.

All formal offers will be made by FAS HR.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/14/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9331

Harvard University
Rank: Fellow-in-Residence
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2022-23 academic year, the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will continue its focus on the theme of “A New Social Compact?” Variations in national responses to the pandemic; disparate experiments with technology, economic, and health policies; and conflicts over foundational political institutions have thrown into stark relief different conceptions of the social compact (a phrase we use loosely to refer to shared understandings of what members of societies believe they owe to each other) around the world. Myriad challenges - including challenges relating to education, climate and the natural environment, migration, new technologies, public health, elections, racial justice, and economic well-being - call us to revisit and evaluate existing conceptions of the social compact at both national and global levels. We ask, is it time for a new social compact?

We invite applications connected to any dimension of this broad field of inquiry. We see the nature of the questions raised and the challenges to be addressed as so multifaceted as to make this theme not very restrictive; however, in our usual fashion, we will also consider applications that fall outside the parameters of this thematic description. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply. Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term. The coronavirus pandemic resulted in a waiver of this requirement for the 2020-21 academic year. 2021-22 will be a transitional year, and our hope is to resume in-person, fully residential programming for the 2022-23 academic year.

In addition, the Center offers the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with the following centers: potential affiliations are arranged on a case-by-case basis:

Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.

ELIGIBILITY
Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND
Faculty:
We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.
Post-Doctoral:
The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $60,000 for 2022-23. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.
Practitioner:
Practitioner stipends are determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience, up to a maximum of $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS
To apply, complete an online application form which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:
- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics
- CV
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample
- Please note: Name and contact information for three professional references will be requested, but no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline to submit an application is November 15, 2021, with decisions likely in February 2022. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Please direct questions regarding this application process to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/29/2021
Date Posted: 9/10/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9316

St. Lawrence University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Health Care, Education Policy, Immigration Policy

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American and comparative public policy. The successful candidate will be prepared teach foundational courses in public policy/policy analysis from a comparative perspective, other upper-level courses in their areas of expertise (such as advanced policy courses, parties and elections, state and local politics, Congress, etc), as well as the introductory course in American politics and, on occasion, the introductory course in comparative politics. Candidates who specialize in health or education policy are particularly invited to apply, though all policy areas will be considered. The position begins August 2022 and the teaching load is three courses per semester. The successful candidate will join a department of 11 full-time faculty members who are passionate about supporting our liberal arts curriculum through diverse and inclusive pedagogies and scholarly agendas. Our supportive department colleagues regularly provide feedback and mentoring to new faculty to foster pedagogical and professional development. We encourage applications from candidates who identify with groups that are historically underrepresented in the academy.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants should have their Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy by August 15, 2022, but ABD candidates may be considered.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter indicating teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, graduate school transcript, writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate document with a statement indicating how they can contribute in tangible ways to St. Lawrence University’s commitment to cultivating a diverse and inclusive community and classrooms. These documents can be uploaded in the “Applicant Documents” section of your online application.

Additionally, three confidential references are required (the required information input in the reference contact information section of your application will be utilized to send a system-derived email requesting a recommendation letter from each reference).

Please access the online application here: https://employment.stlawu.edu/postings/2485

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021. Applications submitted after this date will be reviewed as needed. Questions about the position may be sent to Dr. Kristin McKie (kmckie@stlawu.edu), Search Chair.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Political Science Jobs

---

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Line McCourt Chair of Public Policy

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applicants for the McCourt Chair of Public Policy. This is a tenure track position in the McCourt School of Public Policy. Candidates will contribute substantially to the mission and goals of individual institutions, including research, teaching and service. The endowed chair holder is expected to provide leadership and substantial impact, particularly with their research, in this position. The successful candidate is expected to have an outstanding scholarly track record and agenda, with evidence of both high productivity and high quality research. Applicants should also demonstrate evidence of national prominence in their respective field. The search is open as to field and research interest, with disciplinary backgrounds of interest including political science, sociology, economics, ethics, law, psychology, and demography, as well as public policy broadly.

The Committee will begin reviewing applications October 1, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

Please apply Here: http://apply.interfolio.com/92924

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/8/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 92907

---

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for tenure-track positions at all ranks beginning September 1, 2022. The positions are for scholars of exceptional caliber who will strengthen the political economy group’s research and teaching and make a distinctive programmatic contribution to the Graduate School of Business. The political economy group at the GSB is a collaboration of economists and political scientists. We welcome applications from across political economy broadly construed, both theoretical and empirical, and focus on particular areas of interest: critical race theory, globalization, health disparities, sustainability/ climate justice, aging, racial justice. Multiple fellows will be hired so this list reflects a broad swath of interest for a pool of fellows.

Applicants should submit their applications electronically by visiting the web site http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/recruiting and uploading their curriculum vitae, research papers and publications, and teaching evaluations, if applicable, on that site. For an application to be considered complete, all applicants must submit a CV, and a job market paper. Applicants for non-tenured positions should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted by November 30, 2021. Please note that we will be reviewing and considering applications as they come in. For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to Faculty_Recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

---

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: IDEA Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Communication

Stony Brook University invites applications for the College of Arts and Sciences’ Inclusion, Diversity, Equity & Access (IDEA) Fellows Program (2022/2023), a full-time, 12 month, non-tenure-track faculty position at the lecturer level at the annual salary of $70,000 including full benefits, to commence Fall 2022. The fellow will be a part of a mentored research environment and, with a successful and demonstrated contribution to inclusion, diversity, and equity, will be invited to join the tenure-track faculty at Stony Brook University after two years [24 months of fellow support].

The successful candidate’s primary appointment will be in one of the following departments: Africana Studies, Anthropology, Studio Art (digital), Asian and Asian American Studies (Korean American), Economics, Geosciences, Psychology (clinical), Political Science, Music, Sociology or Chemistry. Candidates must have demonstrated plans to contribute to inclusion, diversity and equity, excellence in innovative research and potential to participate in the teaching mission of the Department they join. The successful candidate will be expected to be an effective interdisciplinary teacher and mentor at the undergraduate and graduate levels to guide research and professional development, and be an active participant in community outreach activities.

Stony Brook prides itself on attracting an incredibly diverse student body, including many first generation immigrants and first generation college students. Recent studies have shown that Stony Brook is one of the top universities in the U.S. for supporting the upward mobility of its students.

We are interested in scholars with the potential to offer a critical perspective based on experience in or understanding of groups historically underrepresented in higher education in these particular areas of interest: critical race theory, globalization, health disparities, sustainability/ climate justice, aging, racial justice. Multiple fellows will be hired so this list reflects a broad swath of interest for a pool of fellows.

eJobs ID: 92907
Salary: Competitive
Date Posted: 9/7/2021
Application Deadline: 11/30/2021
Start Date: Fall 2022

---

---

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

---

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
A record of research related to one of the possible appointing departments or related field.

Preferred: Evidence of or potential for excellence in research and service; undergraduate and graduate teaching; interdisciplinary collaboration; and community outreach.

&lts;&gt;Application instructions;&lt;/b&gt;
A complete application will consist of six items, including the required Application form. Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at the posting here: https://apply.interfolio.com/92220https://apply.interfolio.com/92220&lt;/a&gt;

1. A cover letter that indicates the department applying for and addresses the criteria for the position
2. CV
3. Sample of representative scholarly work (no more than three publications)
4. Diversity Equity and Inclusion (DEI) statement
5. Research statement
6. Teaching statement

In addition, three letters of reference should be requested and submitted through the Interfolio portal.

Review of applicant files will begin on September 30, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to the College of Arts and Sciences, Office of the Dean mail to: CAS_Dean@stonybrook.eduCAS_Dean@stonybrook.edu&lt;/a&gt; For this position, we are unable to sponsor candidates for work visas.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 10/15/2021
Date Posted: 9/3/2021
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 9281

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Assistant Professor of Sustainability
Specializations: Political Economy, Economic Policy, Energy Policy

The Hertie School is recruiting a tenure-track Assistant Professor working on key sustainability topics such as climate, energy, air pollution, transport and land-use. We particularly welcome scholars whose research covers regions beyond Germany and Europe. The candidate should combine state-of-the-art empirical, policy-relevant research with a teaching profile that matches the needs of a public policy school.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. We are looking for a candidate with a strong background in economics. The successful candidate will be appointed as Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts) with the possibility of tenure. The expected start date is 1 August 2022.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a strong commitment to high-quality teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policymakers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School’s Master, Executive, and PhD programmes. As a professional school of public policy, the Hertie School’s degree programmes are exclusively at the master’s or doctoral level. This position will be based in the School’s new Centre for Sustainability, and the successful candidate will actively contribute to its research, outreach and teaching activities. Collaboration within the School is encouraged.

As a private non-profit university, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin’s vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German Academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School takes a family friendly workplace seriously. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 31.10.2021. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (including publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Two letters of recommendation from professors familiar with the applicant’s work should be provided.

Please upload the requested documents here: https://apply.interfolio.com/93260

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org. For questions about the position, please contact Professor Christian Flachsland (flachsland@hertie-school.org). Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: 10/31/2021
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9268

University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth

Rank: Full Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The University of Massachusetts Dartmouth seeks a full-time lecturer with a strong record in undergraduate teaching and expertise at the intersection of public health, public policy, non-profit/public administration, and health disparities (gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, class, or other areas). Cross-listed courses will support interdisciplinary undergraduate programs in Women and Gender Studies, Health and Society, and Political Science. Initial appointment is for a 2-year contract, with strong possibility for ongoing contract renewal upon successful performance review of teaching, advising, and service.
Political Science Jobs

November 2021

Applicants must be authorized for employment in the U.S. on a full time basis. Employment-based visa sponsorship not available.

Starting date is September 1, 2022. The teaching load is 4 preparations per semester for courses across all levels of the curriculum. On-line teaching experience preferred.

Requirements: PhD in Political Science, or in a related social science field. The successful applicant will have a focus on the intersections between public health, public health related policy, non-profit/public administration, and health disparities (gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation/identity, class) and have demonstrated significant experience in undergraduate teaching. Ph.D. required by start date of Sept. 1, 2022; preferred that applicants have Ph.D. in hand by date of application.

To apply: Please send a letter of interest detailing teaching interests and qualifications, a curriculum vitae with contact information for three references, sample course syllabi, and course evaluations (if possible, evaluations should be pre-COVID). Please submit application materials via this link: http://careers.umassd.edu/dartmouth/en-us/job/507850/full-time-lecturer-in-public-health/public-policy-gender-health

Completion of the search is contingent upon the availability of funding.

Formal review of applications begins October 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/2/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9270

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Middle East, Africa, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellows’ program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acadpositions/position/21442

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2022 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:
• Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
• Current curriculum vitae including publications;
• 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
• One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
• Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 9, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9104

Princeton University, School of Public & International Affairs
Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Middle East, Latin American, Africa

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellows’ program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2022 - July 1, 2023).
Political Science Jobs

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 6, 2021 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21444

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 p.m. EST) on Thursday, December 9, 2021. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2021 - July 1, 2022) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Stanford King Center on Global Development

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford University King Center on Global Development’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high-quality, policy-relevant research on critical issues related to global development.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2022 for a one- or two-year appointment. The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program is intended for promising new PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy-relevant research on topics related to international development and poverty alleviation. The King Center’s postdoctoral fellows should expect to be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University.

The King Center’s Postdoctoral Fellows Program particularly encourages applications from women and minority PhD recipients, and from scholars from low- and middle-income countries, as well as from others whose backgrounds and experience would contribute to the diversity (broadly defined) of the program.

The King Center provides a competitive fellowship stipend, plus support for travel and research expenses.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 12/1/2021

Date Posted: 9/1/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9265

Texas A&M University

Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in Grand Strategy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of grand strategy. By grand strategy, we mean the use of statecraft by great powers to achieve foreign policy goals, broadly defined. We seek candidates whose work applies the very best scholarly credentials, the ideal candidate will also have an interest in applying their scholarly work to some aspect of the formulation and implementation of grand strategy.

Bush School faculty teach master’s degree students in international affairs, with a standard 2-2 load. The successful candidate will be expected to teach at least one section of the department’s required course in international politics. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at http://bush.tamu.edu. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science by September 2022. The individual selected will be a core faculty affiliate of the Center for Grand Strategy (CGS). Additional information about CGS is available at https://bush.tamu.edu/grand-strategy/. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2022.
Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, three letters of recommendation, and other information relevant to successful instruction in the international affairs graduate department, at the Texas A&M Interfolio site http://apply.interfolio.com/86435 in DOC or PDF format.

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values. Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9243

University of Chicago
Rank: Assistant Professor - Development Economics

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions at the Assistant Professor level in development economics. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by the beginning of the appointment and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago’s Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/92762. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, 4) research statement, and 5) teaching statement. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2021. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2022.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University’s Statements on Diversity are at https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Date Posted: 8/26/2021

Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9232

University of Chicago
Rank: Associate or Full Professor - Development Economics

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for a tenured faculty position in development economics. The position can be at the rank of tenured associate or full professor.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago’s Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/92764. Applicants must upload: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) one sample publication, 3) research statement, and 4) teaching statement. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2021. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2022.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University’s Statements on Diversity are at https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Date Posted: 8/26/2021
Salary: Competitive
EJobs ID: 9233

Bowdoin College
Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, Latino Politics

As part of a larger multi-year cohort initiative, the Bowdoin College Department of Government and Legal Studies seeks applicants for a full-time tenure-track position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, pending final approval. The position would begin July 1, 2022. We expect to hire at the rank of assistant professor but will consider applications from candidates at all levels. A PhD in political science or a related field is required by the start of this appointment. Research and teaching on U.S. politics is preferred, but a focus on other areas of the Americas will be considered. Teaching load is two courses per semester, across all levels of the curriculum.

Bowdoin requires its faculty to have a promise of long-term successful scholarly or artistic engagement and a strong commitment to inclusive excellence in their teaching. (For a description of inclusive excellence, please consult the following resource https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive.) Bowdoin College offers opportunities for professional development, a fully-funded, year-long junior sabbatical leave (after three years of teaching and successful reappointment), and regular, generously funded, post-tenure sabbaticals.

Bowdoin is a community that warmly welcomes people of all backgrounds. We encourage applications from candidates committed to the support of an inclusive campus community and those who will enrich and contribute to the College’s multifaceted diversity. We especially encourage people from historically excluded groups to apply. We recognize that recruiting and retaining faculty may involve considerations of spouses and domestic partners. To that end, where possible, the College will attempt to accommodate and respond creatively to the needs of partners and spouses of members of the faculty.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please visit https://careers.bowdoin.edu to submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a description of your research plans; 4) a statement that describes your teaching philosophy and how your teaching, scholarship, and mentorship supports our commitment to equity and inclusion (https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive); and 5) the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2021 and continue until the search is concluded.

Founded in 1794 on the Maine coast, Bowdoin is one of the oldest and most selective coeducational, residential liberal arts colleges in the country. Located in Brunswick, a 30-minute drive north of Portland and 2+ hours north of Boston -- connected to Boston and beyond by public transportation -- the College is in an area rich with natural beauty and year-round outdoor activities. Bowdoin’s reputation rests on the excellence of its faculty and students, intimate size, strong sense of community, and commitment to diversity (35% students of color, 7% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students). Bowdoin College complies with applicable provisions of federal and state laws that prohibit unlawful discrimination in employment, admission, or access to its educational or extracurricular programs, activities, or facilities based on race, color, ancestry and national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, age, marital status, place of birth, genetic predisposition, veteran status, or against qualified individuals with physical or mental disabilities on the basis of disability, or any other legally protected statuses. For further information about the College and our department, please visit our website: http://www.bowdoin.edu. For additional information about the Department of Government and Legal Studies, see https://www.bowdoin.edu/government/ or contact department chair Andrew Rudalevige (arudalev@bowdoin.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/24/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9201

Middle Georgia State University
Rank: Assistant Professor, American/comparative politics or public policy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

JOB SUMMARY: The Department of Political Science at Middle Georgia State University (https://www.mga.edu/political-science) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in political science, with a specialization in American politics, comparative politics, or public policy, at the rank of assistant professor, to be primarily based on the Cochran campus. This is a 10-month position with a teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester (4-4) of undergraduate courses in political science, typically including multiple sections of the introductory American Government course, as well as more advanced undergraduate courses in political science in the candidate’s area of specialization.

MAJOR DUTIES: Teaching responsibilities may include day and/or evening courses, partially and fully online courses, and courses taught via video conferencing; faculty are also expected to travel to teach and attend meetings at other campus locations when needed. Tenure-track faculty are expected to have an active scholarly agenda, including publication in peer-reviewed outlets; student advising and service to the department, school, university, and community are also expected for promotion and tenure. Summer teaching opportunities may also be available, contingent on student demand.

QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates should have earned a doctorate in political science, or a doctorate in related field including at least 18 semester hours of graduate coursework in political science, from a regionally-accredited institution; ABD candidates will only be considered if they will earn their doctorate by January 1, 2022. Experience as an instructor of record, demonstrated expertise in American politics or comparative politics, and/or the ability to contribute to one or more of the minors offered by the department are desirable. Candidates must have a record of teaching and potential for scholarship that warrants appointment at the rank of assistant professor.

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications accepted until the position is filled; we expect to begin reviewing complete applications the week of September 13, 2021.

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Informal inquires about the position may be made to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, Chair of the Department of Political Science at Christopher.lawrence@mga.edu.

TO APPLY: Application materials should be emailed as one PDF attachment to recruitment@mga.edu with the subject line “10018053 Assistant Professor of Political Science 8.24.2021”. Application materials must include (1) an MGA faculty application, (2) a letter of interest, (3) a curriculum vitae, (4) a statement of teaching philosophy, (5) names and contact information of three references, and (6) unofficial transcripts. Paper application materials will not be accepted.

Background checks will be conducted on all final candidates.

Start Date: Winter 2022
Application Deadline: 9/13/2021
Date Posted: 8/24/2021
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 9208
Bentley University

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Global Studies Department at Bentley University invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative race and ethnicity. We seek applications from scholar-teachers who focus on race and ethnicity in comparative, transnational or global perspective, with at least one area of specialization in the United States.

Our department is multidisciplinary, built around a core of faculty from cultural studies, geography, and political science. We welcome candidates from any discipline, including but not limited to anthropology, geography, and political science, to complement and deepen existing strengths. While the position is open with respect to further thematic specializations, we are particularly interested in candidates whose work contributes to understanding the intersectionality of race and ethnicity with sustainability, health, development, immigration/migration, or public policy, preferably through comparativist lenses.

As guided by our Academic Affairs Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion Strategic Plan, Bentley University seeks to enhance our faculty capacity in the scholarship, pedagogy, and engagement related to diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice. To achieve that, we are hiring a cohort of new faculty in multiple academic departments and disciplines with expertise in DEI. This position is intended to be part of our DEI faculty cohort, which will enrich our DEI expertise across Business and the Liberal Arts & Sciences. Learn more about Bentley University’s DEI strategic plan here: https://issuu.com/bentleyuniversity/docs/de_i_strategic_plan_presentation_1.pptx

We seek a candidate whose teaching and scholarship will contribute to one or both of our undergraduate departmental majors in international affairs and public policy, and someone who can amplify our department’s commitment to anti-racism. Black, indigenous, and Latinx faculty, as well as faculty from other underrepresented groups, are strongly encouraged to apply.

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a continuing research agenda focused on publication and a strong dedication to excellence in teaching, with preference for candidates with classroom teaching experience. We especially welcome candidates who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to the classroom. Incoming tenure-track faculty typically have a 2-2 teaching load.

The position will be filled at the Assistant Professor rank for a Fall 2022 start.

Minimum Qualifications:
PhD required. Requirements for the doctoral degree must be completed prior to the start of the Fall 2022 semester.

Instructions to Applicants:
Applicants submit all materials through Bentley’s on-line employment site: https://bentley.wdl.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty/job/Bentley-Campus/Tenure-Track-Assistant-Professor--Global-Studies_R0002083.

Applicants should submit the following materials:
1. A cover letter that summarizes overall strengths, including the nature of the candidate’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
3. A teaching statement of no more than two pages.
4. A research statement of no more than two pages detailing the candidate’s research strengths and plans for future research directions.
5. The names and contact information for three professional references. Bentley will contact these confidential references for those candidates moving forward in the process.

Questions about the position can be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Joni Seager at jsager@bentley.edu

Position will remain open until filled. However, priority consideration will be given to applications received by September 27, 2021.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 9/27/2021
Date Posted: 8/20/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9196

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy of Development

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions at the Assistant Professor level in the political economy of development. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by the beginning of the appointment and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago’s Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/92469. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, 4) research statement, and 5) teaching statement. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2021. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2022.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University’s Statements on Diversity are at https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University’s Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 9177
University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science—Public Policy/Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Open

Public Policy/Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in Public Policy/Public Administration. Applicants from any area of the Public Policy/Public Administration fields are welcome, but we are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in public budgeting and finance, public service ethics, nonprofit and public management, and/or organizational theory. We are particularly interested in applicants who also have backgrounds in public policy and address substantively important questions related to inequality. We welcome all candidates doing excellent work in these areas, regardless of methodological specialty or approach (including but not limited to those using rigorous analytical approaches including the tools of computational social science and “big data” in their research).

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state’s flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Gender, Women, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, statements of research, teaching, service, and diversity if not included in the cover letter, and teaching evaluations (if available). Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/92263). All applicants should request letters from three references to be sent via Interfolio. Review of applications begins October 5, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Michael Jones at mjone239@utk.edu.

All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. In accordance with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Tennessee affirmatively states that it does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, or disability in its education programs and activities, and this policy extends to employment by the university. Inquiries and charges of violation of Title VI (race, color, and national origin), Title IX (sex), Section 504 (disability), the ADA (disability), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (age), sexual orientation, or veteran status should be directed to the Office of Equity and Diversity, 1840 Melrose Avenue, Knoxville, TN 37996-3560, telephone 865-974-2498. Requests for accommodation of a disability should be directed to the ADA Coordinator at the Office of Equity and Diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/16/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9172

Harris School of Public Policy

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science/Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions in Political Science or Political Economy at the Assistant Professor level. The search is open with respect to subfield. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by July 31, 2022 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago’s Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/92263. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, 4) research statement, 5) teaching statement, and 6) no more than one-page abstract from their job market paper or dissertation. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a cover letter, additional writing sample, and/or a third letter of reference. Review of applicants will begin on September 11, 2021. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2022.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University’s Statements on Diversity are at https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University’s Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2021
Salary: Competitive
ejobs ID: 9151

Current eJobs listings at www.apsanet.org/jobs
Duke University - Sanford School of Public Policy

Rank: Adjunct Professor of the Practice of National Security Policy

Specializations: United States, Defense, Leadership Studies

The Sanford School of Public Policy at Duke University invites seasoned national security policy professionals to apply for several teaching positions in an exciting new hybrid Executive Masters of National Security Policy for mid-career students seeking to advance in their leadership roles in the national security policy realm in the public and private sectors. Selected candidates will work with existing Duke faculty to build an ambitious new program and stand up the new degree curriculum. They also will have the opportunity to participate in the American Grand Strategy and Counterterrorism and Public Policy Fellows Programs, and collaborate with the Sanford School’s national security faculty on related policy and research projects and proposals.

Applicants may apply to teach one or more classes and may retain professional engagement elsewhere while teaching in the program. The full course list is here; courses of particular need are National Security Leadership, National Security Ethics, National Security Budgeting, National Security Institutions. As a hybrid program responsibilities include teaching synchronously online, building asynchronous online content, and occasional on-campus immersion sessions. Some classes will start in the summer of 2022, and some in the subsequent semesters of the academic year 2022/2023. The positions will allow for some preparation time in advance of class launches.

Applicants should have a Master’s degree or higher and substantial professional experience in such areas of national security policy and policymaking as defense, diplomacy, development, leadership, ethics, cyber, technology, terrorism, biological threats, and/or global environment. Experience creating and executing applied learning experiences such as simulations, war games, table-top exercises, and leading client-based research programs is a plus, as is online teaching experience. Policy research and writing are of interest, but not required.

Applicants may reside in NC or in any of the partner states with which Duke has employment agreements (California, Florida, Georgia, Maryland, New York, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Washington DC).

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, three other Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. Current faculty members have degrees in a variety of disciplines including demography, economics, history, law, medicine, philosophy, political science, psychology/social psychology, public policy, public health/health policy, and sociology. The Sanford School houses several interdisciplinary research centers, and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, India, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at www.sanford.duke.edu.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that traces their professional experience and makes it clear why they would be interested in joining the Sanford School of Public Policy and how their expertise would meet the needs of the curriculum. The letter, along with a CV and the names and contact information of three references (no letters at this stage), should be submitted at https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/19142. Applications submitted by October 31, 2021, will be guaranteed consideration. For further information contact Professor Bruce Jentleson, Search Committee Chair, bwj7@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Application Deadline: 10/31/2021
Date Posted: 8/10/2021
Salary: Competitive
Ejobs ID: 9139

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Teaching Post-Doctoral Fellow in Political Science and Public Policy

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Education Policy, Economic Policy

The Heinz College of Information Systems and Public Policy at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship position. The teaching post-doctoral fellowship is designed for those who are interested in a teaching career. They will be mentored by outstanding teaching faculty at CMU and will benefit from the rich inter-disciplinary environment at CMU.

We seek candidates that have expertise and could offer courses to graduate students in American politics and/or in selected policy areas including, but not limited to environment and energy, local and/or national economic development, education, and social justice. We are seeking an individual committed to effectively training our graduate students to be leaders that affect meaningful change by inculcating evidence-based practices to policy evaluation and decision-making, as well as the ability to synthesize and communicate recommendations.

Postdoctoral fellows are expected to teach and/or co-teach up to two semester equivalent courses per semester. Fellows can pursue research related to their interests and are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of the College and become involved in Carnegie Mellon’s rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2022, to July 31, 2024. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2019, and August 1, 2021.

The application deadline is Monday, February 14, 2022.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/90675

Materials to be submitted:
• Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant’s academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program.
• CV.
• Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach) and a discussion any relevant experience in teaching a globally and culturally diverse group of intellectually curious students.
• Research Statement (Brief statement of research interests and a discussion of how it supports excellence in the classroom)
• Two writing samples of scholarly work.
• Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
Miami University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Administration

Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Administration to teach courses across the public administration core and elective curriculum for the undergraduate major and courses for the MA program; advise students; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service; and participate in applied research projects through the Center for Public Management and Regional Affairs. The position will begin in the start of the academic year August 2022.

Required: Doctorate in public policy, political science, or a closely related field (ABDs may apply but all degree requirements must be completed by date of appointment). Doctorate is required by December 31, 2022. To be appointed to the rank of Associate Professor requires collegiate teaching expertise and high-quality research.

Consideration may be given to candidates with substantive expertise in an area of public policy and policy analysis.

Department will request letters of recommendation from references listed in the application. Inquiries may be addressed to Dr. Bryan Marshall at marshab@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin September 10, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9117

Connecticut College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government and International Relations

Constitutional Law and Public Policy

The Department of Government and International Relations at Connecticut College invites applicants for a tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor in the U.S. politics subfield, whose focus is on constitutional law and public policy, and who can teach a range of courses in both fields. In addition to an introductory U.S. politics course, the successful candidate must be able to teach a two-course sequence in constitutional law, including both an institutions course (e.g. separation of powers, check and balances) and a course on civil rights and civil liberties. The successful candidate’s research and teaching focus will also include public-policy making. The new hire should be able to teach an introductory public policy course, along with upper-division courses in the particular policy area in which the candidate specializes. These policy courses could, for example, focus on health, immigration, anti-poverty initiatives, education, or criminal-justice reform.

Required: ABD in Political Science. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but is required to complete the Ph.D. within one year of hire.

Salary is competitive. In addition to providing ongoing support for teaching and research, the College offers the following resources for pre-tenured faculty: a 2-2 teaching load in the first year, a research fund in the first two years, and a semester’s sabbatical (at full salary) after a successful third-year review.

The College’s Board of Trustees, President, administration, faculty and staff share a commitment to diversity. To this end, the College, located in New London, CT is continuing what has been a very successful initiative to diversify its faculty, staff, and student body. We encourage applications from candidates who share this understanding and will contribute to the diversity of our college community, including members of historically underrepresented groups. The College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Please visit our website, http://www.conncoll.edu http://www.conncoll.edu &lt;/a&gt;, for more information about the College and our faculty searches.

Offering two popular majors (a government major and an interdisciplinary international relations major), Government and International Relations is a collegial department with 11 full-time faculty members. There are also opportunities for collaboration with interdisciplinary programs on campus. Moreover, the College’s general education program, Connections, provides ample opportunity for collaborative and interdisciplinary teaching. For an overview of this innovative curriculum, please visit http://www.conncoll.edu/connections/http://www.conncoll.edu/connections/ &lt;/a&gt;

Applicants should upload a letter of application, a C.V., teaching evaluations, a writing sample, graduate transcripts, and at least three letters of recommendation to http://apply.interfolio.com/89957 http://apply.interfolio.com/89957&lt;/a&gt;. Email inquiries should be sent to Tristan Anne Borer, Chair of the Department of Government and International Relations, at tabor@conncoll.edu. Applications received by October 8th will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/12/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9027

Butler University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Butler University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor for a one-year appointment with possibility of renewal for a second year. Applicants should have expertise in politics and/or public policy in the United States and a strong commitment to excellent, inclusive undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will teach an introductory American politics survey course, research and analysis methods (basic research design/methods), US Parties and Politics, and other courses aligned with their expertise, and will help build an inclusive learning environment for our increasingly diverse student population. We are particularly interested in candidates who could teach an introductory international politics survey course. This lecturer will teach four courses per semester, with no more than six distinct course preparations per year anticipated.

Review of applications is ongoing and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following to plsearch@butler.edu: a cover letter that highlights the applicant’s qualifications for this position and commitment to inclusive, excellent teaching and a curriculum vitae. Additional evidence of evidence of inclusive teaching excellence is welcome but not required at this stage. Applicants should have advanced to candidate or earned a doctorate in political science or a related field at the time of appointment. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts and to consent to a background check prior to a final offer of employment and will start August 2021.

The Butler Political Science Program, distinctively grounded in a firm commitment to social justice, democracy, and human rights, engages students in the study and practice of politics to promote the collective good at the local, national, and global level. The program defines politics broadly as the formal and informal ways societies govern themselves. The program offers an innovative curriculum that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to pursue positive social change. Political science alumni have pursued careers in electoral politics, teaching, law, government, journalism, business, and non-profit organizations, and have earned graduate and professional degrees in several fields.

Start Date: Fall 2021
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/9/2021
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 8927